Hanna Declines Liberal Nomination --- Prohibitionist May Run

TARIFF PROGRESS IN WASHINGTON DECIDEDLY SLOW

Many Senators Engaged With Other Investigations In U.S.

FIRST MILESTONE

Flexible Clauses Defeated—Serious Blow To Administration

Washington, Oct. 3.—The United States Senate at present reminds one of a kitchen range with trying pans all over the stove and an enormous roast in the oven. Needless to say, the roast is the tariff bill Senator Smoot, as chief in charge, keeps opening and shutting the oven door so frequently as to keep the suspicion that he is not certain whether it is a turkey, a goose or a sirloin of beef that he has in the oven. He has the right of way on the floor of the Senate, but many of his colleagues are busy with various committees. They are frying fish of their own on the top of the stove and diverting attention from the labors of the chef.

There is first the naval affairs committee, which is investigating the charges of "perfidious" propaganda brought against three of the largest shipbuilding companies in the United States. These companies are building or have built ten-thousand-ton armored cruisers for the United States Navy. It is pretty plain that they employed William B. Shearer, self-styled naval expert, to attend the Geneva naval conference in 1927, and subsequently to lobby as best he could for the passage of the cruiser bill. Shearer posed as one hundred per cent. American and the spokesmen for some of the many "patriotic societies" which spring up like fungi in every part of the country. He turned out to be about the most hard-boiled witness a Senate committee ever ran up against. An on-looker might have been uncertain whether the committee was investigating the committee. So many senators "flocked to the committee room when Shearer was called to the stand, that only a corporal's guard was left in the Chamber to carry on in a "perfidious" way the tariff debate.

REFUSED ENTRANCE TO THE NETHERLANDS

Amsterdam October 3.—Leon Trotsky, the exiled Soviet War Commissar, has made an indirect inquiry as to entering Holland, but will be refused. The Foreign Minister said since the Dutch Government could not assume responsibility for M. Trotsky if he did come to Holland, he therefore would not be admitted if he asked permission.

Await Plans By Liberal Party Stalwarts This Afternoon

Prohibition leaders in this city are endeavoring to get a meeting together for next Tuesday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. building to discuss the advisability of running a dry campaign in West Hastings in the coming election. Much of their plans will depend on the outcome of the Liberal convention, which is held at 8 p.m. tomorrow. It is thought that the Liberal nomination of a candidate who will consent to take the "dry" pledge it is likely that the Prohibitionists will be content to throw their support to him. But if the Liberals refuse the nomination if he should be pressed to run, Mr. Ackerman said this afternoon that he had not been approached as yet and that he had not even thought of the probability of his again getting into the political game.

Rev. Dr. W. S. MacTavish has been suggested as an alternative candidate for the "dry" if Mr. Ackerman is not available, but he told The Intelligencer today that under no condition would he enter the field. "Politics are not in my line," was his comment when asked if he had political ambitions.

RETURN GRAFT MONEY TO CITY

London, Ont., October 4.—A cheque for twelve thousand dollars representing amounts paid to local plumbers who were unsuccessful in securing contracts on public buildings in this city was sent to the City Treasurer today by Jared Vining, Counsel for the now disbanded branch of the Amalgamated Builders Council in this city. In the Waldron probe here it was revealed in evidence that various payments were made to plumbers who failed to get work on public buildings, including three thousand paid in connection with Technical School estimates, four thousand in Municipal offices, and five thousand in Western Fair building.

PROVIDING FOR TRAINED HELP IN BUILDING TRADE

spector of Apprenticeship,

TECHNICAL TRAINING

Lack of Skilled Labor Apparent in Building Trades

In an endeavour to further the interests of apprentices engaged in the building industry, Mr. J. R. Johnston, District Inspector of Apprenticeship paid his first visit to Belleville today. He was scheduled to address the carpenters last night but the inclement weather was a deterrent to a good attendance and the meeting will be held in the Oddfellows Hall on Friday night.

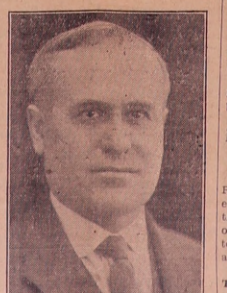

This movement was only conceived a few short years ago but the results have been so spontaneous that it has been recognized by the Government and Legislation has been enacted to ward supporting the contentions of the joint committee composed of the trades and labor Congress and the Associated Builders.

Mr. Johnston explained today that in 1922 he needed more experienced tradesmen in the Building Industry was felt the condition having been brought about by the lack of efficient training methods for boys entering the trade. Employers had been supplying their demand through immigration and the result was that skilled labor became so abundant that it was felt that the situation needed attention. Instead of the Contractor being a builder he was merely an assembler of manufactured products. The Association of Builders took the matter up, made an investigation and it was found that the number of apprentices was small. In order to place the system in operation throughout the Province of Ontario the Joint Committee of the Trades and Labor Congress and the Associated Building Industries was formed. In 1926 they again applied to the Ferguson Government with the result that they were instructed to experiment further and make any improvement.

Placed in Schools
In 1928 Legislation was passed and all minors working at any building trade after three months' in service must now be placed under contract by their employer for a period of four years. The employer must guarantee steady employment and must send the boy to an approved technical school for eight weeks during his first year and a similar period during the second year. He is under the supervision of his employer who must report on the youth's progressiveness at least once a week. If he fails to take an interest in the training afforded he may be reprimanded and if he cannot be induced to attend his studies he should be dismissed and is not permitted to enter as an apprentice again in Ontario.

It is the intention of the Joint Committee of the Trades and Labor Congress and the Associated Building Industries to make it a Dominion-wide measure. Experiments will be made and application will be made to the other Provinces to enact similar Legislation as exists in Ontario for the Building Industry only.

GERMAN FOREIGN MINISTER DIED LATE LAST NIGHT

Dr. Gustav Stresemann, Great Post-War Statesman, Passes

Berlin, October 3.—Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister and the Reich's greatest post-war statesman, died at 5:45 a.m. today from a heart attack which followed apoplexy at 10:00 o'clock last night. He was only 51 years old but he had been ill-health for many months. Although a paralytic stroke made useless his entire right side his physicians hoped he would rally. To heart attack came suddenly before dawn, however, and caused his death. Frau Stresemann and his two sons were at his bedside.

For several days recently he was confined to his bed with a bad cold and trouble, but he got up yesterday to participate in the Reichstag debate on the issuance of industrial insurance, a big political issue. His physicians hoped the strain of bitter debate during the day badly weakened his system.

Although Dr. Stresemann was not chancellor, he personally was regarded as the backbone of the German Cabinet, headed by Dr. Mueller, and many did not see how it could survive his death.

CATHOLIC WOMEN HELD TEA TODAY

Home of Mrs. Dan Doyle
Scene of Delightful Affair

Mrs. Dan Doyle, 190 William Street, was hostess this afternoon at a delightfully arranged tea and sale of homecooking, held under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League. Although the weather was decidedly poor for such an occasion the tea was a great success and a large number enjoyed the splendid hospitality.

The tea table was decorated in red and white, with a huge silver basket of asters in the same colors occupying the centre. Mrs. Fitzpatrick and Mrs. L. P. Hughes poured tea. Assisting them were Mrs. Bernard Collins, Walter Allaire, Mrs. Goyer and Mrs. Connell. Mrs. F. S. Anderson conducted the guests to the tea room and Mrs. J. Trautsch and Mrs. Dan Doyle received. Miss Norah O'Callaghan was the capable treasurer for the afternoon.

A successful sale of homecooking took place under the supervision of Mrs. P. J. Lee and Mrs. Lynch. This evening all those who assisted in the affair will be entertained at a bridge by Mrs. Dan Doyle.

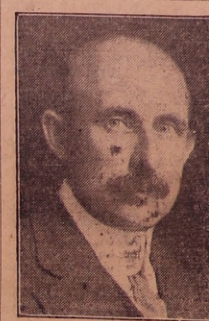

RUSSIAN MONOPLANE STARTED FOR SEATTLE

Sitka, Alaska, October 3.—The Russian monoplane "Land of the Soviets" took off here early today for Seattle. The aircraft is expected to fly the outside passage to Seattle and hoped to reach there within nine hours. They are flying from Moscow to New York.

TRAWLER RESTING NEAR SHORE

Halifax, N.S., October 3.—French trawler, "Renchicunah" which went ashore at Sandwich Point, near here today, is resting easily with no list about a hundred yards from shore. The tug has not at hand but no attempt has yet been made to pull her off.

ENTHUSIASM SHOWN

Hon. Geo. S. Henry Tells of Government's Work On The Highways

Amidst enthusiastic applause W. H. Ireland, more generally known as "Bill," was nominated as the Conservative standard-bearer for the coming Provincial election at the party convention this afternoon in Trenton. No other name was mentioned but the crowded opera house cheered the popular member as he smilingly accepted the honour.

Weller's opera house was crowded as convention was called to order at 2:30 with Mr. H. F. Ketchum the presiding officer. Belleville was well represented. Optimism and unbounded confidence in the Ferguson government permeated the meeting, the party stalwarts having little doubt of the success even if the Liberal party put a candidate in the field.

Good Road's Program

Hon. George S. Henry, minister of Public Works and Highways, was the only speaker of any length. Following Mr. Ireland's acceptance of the nomination Mr. Henry reviewed the work of the Ferguson government in providing one of the best highway systems to be found anywhere for the Province of Ontario, and outlined some of the plans which the government hopes to put into effect within the next year or two. The inclusion of the road from Trenton to Stirling has aroused great enthusiasm locally as it provides much needed transportation facilities from the north into the town of Trenton.

HELPLESS CRAFT FLOUNDERED IN LAKE ONTARIO

Archie Goyer And Herb Collins Won Battle
With Waters

Drifting on Lake Ontario for twenty hours when the engine of the fish boat they were cruising went dead Archie Goyer and Herb Collins, both of Belleville, landed safely twenty five miles west of Rochester, N.Y. early this morning, after wind had driven them across the sixty miles of open water to the south shore. Today repairs are being made to the boat and it is expected that the two men will return to Concession, the scene of their fishing operations, this afternoon.

Early yesterday morning Mr. Goyer and Mr. Collins went out in their boat a twenty-foot open motorboat, to lift their nets, which were situated a few miles from Concession. A heavy wind was blowing and when the engine gave out, the two were unable to make their way back to shore and drifted farther out in the lake. As it happened no other boat was around and the little craft drifted further and farther away from the Ontario shore.

Relatives and friends in Belleville will be glad to know that both men, although suffering from exposure, are well and safe. Mr. Goyer telephoned to Mr. Leonard Tisdale, of Belleville, this morning.

GUIDE OFFICIALS CONVENED HERE

Local Executive Played Hosts To Visitors At Luncheon

Holding a business meeting at the Bay of Quinte Country Club today, nine members of the executive of the Ontario Girl Guides' Association were in this city. They came from London, Toronto, Cobourg, Oshawa, Belleville, and Kingston and the entire morning was spent in a business session.

At one o'clock this afternoon the local executive played hosts to the visitors at a luncheon in the clubhouse. At the luncheon, Mrs. Horace Pearson was one of the main speakers while Mrs. W. R. Goyer was another. Mrs. Goyer last night attended the Girl Guide regular meeting in the Collegiate gymnasium and addressed the girls. Mrs. Branscombe's troop was the fortunate one to hear Mrs. Goyer last night. She spoke to them on matters pertaining to Girl Guide work and watched them in their regular evening drill period. Mrs. Branscombe was complimented on the smart showing of her girls.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE MET

Rev. J. R. Nitram And Rev.
C. E. Rogers Were
Chief Speakers

Yesterday's conference of the ministers of the Bay of Quinte Conference in Bridge Street United Church was well attended, practically every church being represented. Rev. W. J. H. Smyth acted as chairman at the morning session, at which the Missionary and Maintenance work was fully discussed, and many of the more intricate problems in this work were straightened out.

Rev. J. R. Nitram, of India, and Rev. C. E. Rogers, of Peace River, were present and delivered addresses, giving the others present an insight into the work which has been and will be accomplished through the missionary appeal. These men have been in the missionary work for years and all have had personal knowledge of all that is being done, thus giving the others the benefit of their own personal experiences. The allocations to this fund set last year by the conference were reviewed and an appeal made to bring the fund up to the allocations made.

The afternoon session was devoted to evangelism and social service, and Rev. S. C. Reddick was in the chair. He is chairman of the Presbytery Committee. Dr. W. T. G. Brown, of Kingston, delivered an address and this was followed by an informal discussion. At the evening session of the conference, the service of consecration was led by Dr. Bell, of Bridge St. United Church.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"If trading stocks and bonds is immoral, then the church should 'degrade' it."
—Bishop Cannon.

COKE'S SON, DUKE'S SON

Hon. Evan Morgan, son and heir of the wealthy Vincent Tredgar, has poor opinion of Canada as a place wherein to settle. He appears to regard the Peace River country as the best part of Canada, believing it "to hold the future of the whole Dominion," but lacking hospitals and public buildings, that is, saloons, he feels he cannot go back to Britain and recommend his fellow countrymen to come here and suffer these privations.

His coupling of the hospital and the saloon is significant. In his experience the one is necessary to the other. Possibly his mind might arrive at the induction, if he turned his attention to the point, that Saloons being absent, hospitals were not so essential as he imagined.

Mr. Morgan has not had sufficient experience of the world to understand what democracy is, and the essential principle of democracy, that a man shall make his own living by his own exertions. This requires an amount of personal independence of which perhaps Mr. Morgan is not possessed.

There are plenty of tramps and hoboes who are quite content to exist upon the dols that can be extracted from other people. There are others of a similar type located somewhat higher upon the social scale, but the disposition differs little, whatever the rank.

Mr. Morgan was traveling in the observation car when, to use his own language, "a fellow in uniform came along and asked me for my ticket. I told him it was probably in my coat back in my compartment. He made me walk all the way through the train—and, my word, it was a long train—and produce my ticket. The chaplain was most probably right, but the incident was most annoying. It wouldn't have happened in England. I'm known there."

Mr. Morgan must learn that in a democratic country God and his agents here on earth are no respecters of persons. Mr. Morgan had not the intelligence to carry his ticket about him as other travelers soon learn to do. And he had not learned that it is not unusual for tramps and hoboes to attempt to beat their way on trains, and not always on the rods. He should read W. H. Davies' "Autobiography of a Super Tramp" and learn what Mr. Davies, who was a real tramp, thought of Canada, where he lost a leg at Renfrew, probably for want of a railway ticket, such as Mr. Morgan had only to walk through the train to produce.

It is not likely that Mr. Morgan will prevent many people wogly to live in Canada from coming here. Those who require the combination of hospitals and saloons are better off where this combination is readily attainable.

CRITICS ANSWERED

Canada is vitally interested in the criticism which has been made in a British engineering publication of the two great airships, the R-100 and the R-101, which, it is expected, will soon be making trans-Atlantic voyages to this Dominion. In anticipation of these services, an airship base has been constructed at St. Hubert, near Montreal, and elaborate preparations have been made for the reception and accommodation of the huge air vessels, with a mooring tower and the most efficient equipment. The article went so far as to condemn the airships as "obsolescent"; it was declared that they could not carry the number of passengers specified and that their speed would be very much less than advertised. The ten million dollars spent on their construction was practically wasted. It was charged. These assertions have, at least, afforded those responsible for the airships a chance to give out much interesting information regarding their performances, which not merely contradicts the critics, but contains the assurance that the speed and lifting power of the R-100 (for which Commander Burrey speaks) will be even greater than promised. The world flight of the Graf Zeppelin would seem to have set all doubts at rest as to the feasibility and commercial success of lighter-than-air craft. It is acknowledged by Dr. Eckener himself that many of the features of the British airships are superior to those of the Graf and that in future construction some of these improvements would be adopted by the German designers. The test, of course, will come when the ocean flights are actually undertaken, but there appears to be no reason for believing, in spite of the pessimists, that these great British air vessels will not live up to promise.

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

"That Walks in Path to Prov Health Fine"—headline. Fidence dismissed as immature and irrelevant!—H. I. Phillips, New York Sun

From a real estate magazine! "The New York columnist is in every instance a mediocre reporter who could not hold down a sub-editor's job on a poultry journal. He shows no originality in subject matter, writes slovenly, perpetrates meth-eaten gags, and in ordinary conversation is as dull as a dishwater. He continues to hold his job as a mystery. Heavens! May be it's the sex appeal.—O. O. McFlynn.

You know a man is successful when the newspapers start quoting him on subjects he knows nothing about.—Norristown (Pa.) Times Herald.

Jack Sharkey does most of his fighting in the newspapers, according to Tommy Loughran. Well, the worst he can get there is a black I.—Russie Croges, New York Evening Post.

The reporter came idly into the office.

"Well," said the editor, "what did our eminent statesman have to say?"

"Nothing."

"Well, then it down to a column"—ouville, Courier-Journal.

PASSING YEARS

From The Intelligencer of This Day 30 Years Ago

Ald. Hagley is confined to his home through illness.

Mr. W. H. Carrington's condition today was improving.

Mr. G. Graham, M.P.P., of Brockville, Grandmaster of the A. O. U. W. was here today.

Messrs. Frank Y. Brenton and Walter W. Mills went to Rochester today where they will remain for a short time.

Rev. C. W. Watch and Mr. William Johnson, of this city, left today for Quebec City.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Jordan of Sidney, were yesterday, the victims of a runaway accident. No serious injuries were sustained but both suffered from bruises.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Appleby and Mr. W. Appleby left on Saturday for the North for a few days' hunting.

While Auntie arranged the pantry shelves, her little niece handled the "spice boxes" and called each spice by name. Presently she said: "Auntie, I can read." "Can you, dear?" answered Auntie. "Yes, Auntie," came the reply, "but I don't read like you do, I read by the smell."

A Chamotte ice-cream manufacturer advertised that he would give a cone free to every boy who called at the plant and brought along his dog.

One dog was reported near collapse after assisting all the boys in one neighborhood to obtain their cones.

Four-year old Patricia was washing her hands in her mother's bathroom. She had no towel of her own in there, so when she had finished washing she looked towards her mother's towel rack, then hesitatingly towards her father's; then confidently to her mother, saying: "Till use your towel, Mommie; we women must stick together."

The Renaissance of the English Folk Dance

"Merrie England!" and the splendid days of Queen Elizabeth with Maypole and Morris Dance are being given new life in the Old Country within the present century. It is no great feat, the popularity of the revival that Hyde Park, the great London rendezvous of rank and society, has been gay with annual festivals of Folk-dance in colorful motion. A century of industrialism has not been sufficient to kill the ancient urge and Cecil Sharp, thirty years ago, was astonished to see countrymen in an English village, fantastically apparelled, come dancing through the snow on Boxing Day to the strains of a concertina. Eleven years later he founded the English Folk Dance Society which today has a membership of 15,000 with over fifty branches. Certificated teachers from this society have been doing excellent work in Canada and will be encouraged greatly by the visit to this country.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James N. Bar-On, M.D.

HOW WE ESCAPE ILLNESS

A number of years ago in examining bodies after death, traces of tuberculosis were discovered in cases which had died of some other ailment. So often was this found that the statement was made that at least half the people who died had tuberculosis at some time in their life. Now we are told that practically everybody has traces of tuberculosis in some part of the body not always in the lungs of course. Now why do the majority of people escape the effects of tuberculosis if it exists within their bodies?

Because the cells of the body are able to resist most organisms that cause tuberculosis and other ailments that is if these cells are in good condition and doing their work properly.

RAINBOW

Out of the greenness Shone this lovely thing,
So on dew-drops boughs
Drooped the nightingales sing,
And from a drab earth
Sweetest roses spring.

Suddenly it came,
But I could not see
Where it had begun
Or where it end could be,
Suddenly it shone there Beautiful, for me.

Someone snatched the red
Of a sunset's glow,
The blushes from the thief,
And the sun-warmed rose
And robbed the woods
Where the violets grow;

And spun of them a dream,
And hung it high
Between the dead stars
And the clouds that swing by,
Hanging it in the grey
And aullen sky.

SAVE HAWTHORNE'S HOME AS A SHRINE

Concord, Mass.—"Wayside," a rambling old New England house which has the distinction of being the only home of Nathaniel Hawthorne ever owned, may be saved as a literary shrine. The ancient wooden building more than two centuries old and possessing an endowment of literary associations left by three authors, has been opened to the public as an experiment. The Concord Antiquarian society hopes to ascertain within the next few weeks whether public interest will warrant the raising of money to purchase and preserve the property.

The rich literary associations began before Hawthorne's occupancy. The Alcott family bought the house in 1845—when it was begun no one is certain—and here Louisa May Alcott, played as a girl with her sisters. Impressions she gained at that time went into the writing of "Little Women."

The Alcotts called the place "Hillside" but when Hawthorne bought it in 1863 he renamed it "Wayside."

Hawthorne made many changes but his outstanding addition was a tower rising above the house. The tower is just a large, square study. To this study, it is said, Hawthorne climbed a ladder through a dark and narrow passage. Then, to insure privacy, according to tradition, he closed a trapdoor.

Nevertheless the removal of points of infection, and the proper care of the body from the standpoint of food, sleep, and exercise, put the cells of everybody in the best possible condition to ward off ailments.

Tobacco is a poor crop in Essex County.

Hawthorne made many changes but his outstanding addition was a tower rising above the house. The tower is just a large, square study. To this study, it is said, Hawthorne climbed a ladder through a dark and narrow passage. Then, to insure privacy, according to tradition, he closed a trapdoor.

MOOSE EUCIRE AND DANCE

A large crowd was in attendance at the Moose Eucire and dance last night at the auditorium, Front Street. The new Bon Ton Orchestra furnished the music for the occasion and a selection of the latest dance melodies was rendered. This opened the Moose social season and from all appearances these functions will be even more popular than ever.

The prize winners in the eucire competitions were: Ladies, Mrs. George Bell, Mrs. N. Cooper, Mrs. A. Holloway, Gentlemen, Mr. Chas. Cooke, John Deiderfeld and Mr. H. Taylor.

SUCCESSFUL TEA

Despite inclement weather a good number enjoyed the afternoon tea at the home of Mrs. Tibbcock, Maura St. on Tuesday, held under the auspices of the Daughters of England. The tea table was attractively decorated with a silver basket of pink gossies and pink candles in silver holders. Mrs. Myers, president, poured tea.

NEW IMPLEMENT INVENTED

A well-known Belleville man, Mr. J. N. Boyd, George Street, is the inventor of a new farming implement called the vegetable trim-pull, a new tool for removing tops and pulling mangolds, turnips and other root crops. The tool is a great time and labor saver, and one man with this tool can do the work of eight men pulling and topping by hand. Mr. Boyd has had the implement patented, and it is expected that they will be made in marketable quantities in the near future. The trim-pull first cuts the top off the root, and then hooks on the root itself, one pull bringing it out of the ground.

CAR WAS STOLEN

Mr. Emma Connor, Pinnacle Street, reported the theft of her Chevrolet coupe last night from in front of the Children's Shelter, where it had been parked. Police along the highway were notified and it is expected that the car will be recovered shortly. It is thought that "hackers" making their way east stole the car and probably abandoned it in or near Kingston.

WILL DISTRIBUTE PHOTOS

The J. Hirschman, of the Hollywood Screen Gems Inc., of New York and Hollywood, is in the city arranging for the distribution of free photos of the movie stars. This time, he said, "I am just picking my Maitland Red; now, have about twenty-five barrels put up, and this rain won't help me in my work."

JOHN DEACON RECITAL

John Deacon, Belleville's tenor soloist, will be presented on Tuesday evening next, the 8th of October, by the ladies of Bridge Street United Church in a recital. An added attraction will be the presence of Mr. Harold Bradley, of Niagara Falls, a noted pianist. Miss Gwendolyn Williams will act as accompanist to Mr. Deacon.

BIG ROTARY MEETING

Twenty-five Rotarians from this city will motor to Cobourg tonight for a big inter-city meeting in which the clubs from Trenton, Campbellford, Port Hope and Peterborough will take part. The Toronto Rotary Club will provide the programme. It is expected that at least two hundred will attend the meeting.

RUSSIAN TOWN TOTALLY BURNED

Fifteen Hundred Persons Homeless in Disastrous Blaze

Warsaw, Oct. 3.—Fire early today destroyed almost the entire town of Slupia Nowa, near Kielce and made fifteen hundred persons homeless. During the blaze ammunition and hand grenades stored in the homes of alleged communists exploded. The police said the town apparently had been used as a centre for supplying arms to the Southern Polish communists. A number of communists were arrested.

Warsaw despatches to the Daily Mail said five persons were killed and others among one hundred burned were not expected to be recovered.

Foreign Exchange

New York, Oct. 3.—Foreign exchange steady, demand rates Great Britain 485 7-18 Canadian dollar 29 32 of one percent discount.

RAIN WILL HELP WITH PLOWING

Apple Farmers, However, Not Pleased With The Weather

Rain which started yesterday afternoon, continued unabated all night and for the greater part of today, has come too late to be of much use to the farmers. The Intelligencer was told this afternoon, "It may help us in our plowing," one farmer from the front of Sidney said today, "but it is too late to do any good to anything else."

On the contrary, the rain will not help the apple industry to any extent, this same farmer said, "I was sorry to see the rain come just at the present time," he said, "I am just picking my McIntosh Red; now, have about twenty-five barrels put up, and this rain won't help me in my work."

Although the skies showed signs of clearing shortly after one o'clock today, by press time it was still gloomy overhead and it looked as though a ball game would not be able to be played here tomorrow. "Strong winds and showers" the probabilities read today.

COMMITTEE TO EXAMINE BANK

Labor Will Appoint Board To Investigate Bank of England's Policy

Brighton, England, Oct. 3.—The appointment of a committee to investigate all aspects of British Banking and finance was announced today by Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of Exchequer speaking at the annual conference of the Labour party. He said the committee would investigate particularly relations of the present Banking and fiscal policy to industry and would invite suggestions for improvement of these relations.

For some time Labor has agitated for a probe into the financial policy of bank of England.

The Chancellor's announcements followed a detailed explanation of causes leading to the recent rise in the bank rate. He expressed doubt that anything effective could be done to control unnecessary trans shipment of gold except by international co-operation. The Chancellor's statement was followed by an uproar when the chair man endeavored to apply closure after limiting the discussion on Snowden's address to only two speeches.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

MRS. E. DONALD

Word has been received in Belleville today that Mrs. E. Donald, of Regina, that city, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Donald was a sister of Mr. Alfred Gillen, local postmaster, and also a sister to Mrs. S. A. Hyman.

MRS. PHILIP CONGER

Toronto, Oct. 2.—Born near Picton, Prince Edward County, of U.E. Loyalist parents, Melissa Cronk, widow of Phillip Conger, died at her residence, 221 Major Street, yesterday, in her 91st year. She was educated in Prince Edward and for some eight years before marriage was a school teacher. For the past 30 years she had resided in Toronto and enjoyed good health until the last few weeks, when she developed pleuro-pneumonia. For many years she was an active member of Trinity United Church. One son, Arnold B. Conger, of Vancouver, B.C., and one daughter, Miss Grace, at home, survive. Another son, Edward, died in 1912, leaving a widow.

MRS. HARRIETT EMILY MOORMAN

Mrs. Harriett Emily Moorman, relict of the late George Moorman, passed away in the Belleville General Hospital Monday after a long illness. Mrs. Moorman was born in Thurston Township 75 years ago, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garbutt. She has resided in Belleville and this vicinity all her life. She was a member of the United Church and active in all branches of the church work. She leaves to mourn her loss one son, B. M. Moorman of this city, two sisters, Mrs. W. Underdunk, Albany, Mrs. R. McMurter, Frankford, and four brothers, Robert Garbutt, Thurston, William, of Carrying Place, George, of Port Hope, and Charles of Greencourt, Alberta. The funeral will be held from the residence of her son and interment in Belleville cemetery.

WEDDINGS

FRATELLI—ST. JOHN
Yesterday morning at eight o'clock a pretty autumn wedding took place at St. Michael's Church when Hazel, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. St. John, Emily Street, became the bride of Mr. Nicolini Fratelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michele Fratelli, of Montreal. Rev. Fr. C. J. Killen officiated at the impressive ceremony. The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was beautifully gowned in white georgette. Her frock was made on Princess lines with long skirt at back and white lace. She wore a long tulle veil in coronet effect, caught at each side with orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was of butterfly roses.

Miss Elizabeth Lupinette was maid of honour, and wore a pretty frock of pale peach georgette. Miss Laura Melchior acted as bridesmaid, in green georgette. Both carried bouquets of Ophelia roses. Little Frances Dornico and Adeline Depere were the dainty flower girls and carried baskets of autumn flowers. The groomsmen were Mr. Joseph Lupinette.

Immediately after the wedding the party repaired to the home of the bride's parents where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served and a reception held with the bride's parents assisting the happy couple to receive the many guests. Mr. and Mrs. Fratelli will make their home in Montreal.

TRIAL OF MARY DUGAN AT BELLE THEATRE

Patrons of the Belle are privileged to see and hear on the screen for the three days commencing yesterday the famous Broadway stage success "The Trial of Mary Dugan".

In transferring this gripping trial story to the speaking screen, nothing of its powerful dramatic appeal has been lost and Wednesday's large audiences saw and heard one of the finest and most successful trial pictures ever offered on the speaking screen. Norma Shearer, Canadian Star, as Mary Dugan, on trial for her life, accused of murdering her lover, brings her personality and undoubted ability to the speaking screen, and plays a difficult role in a masterly way. Lewis Stone, H. B. Warner, and Raymond Hackett are other well known names which contribute in no small way to the success of the play. It is safe to say that no more intensely absorbing picture has been shown here, and as an all talking picture, reproduced clearly and strongly with the Belle Northern Electric Equipment, "The Trial of Mary Dugan" should do much to popularize talking in this city.

Two short comic reels, all talking and singing, round out a first class one hundred per cent sound program at the Belle.

JAPAN KEEPING NAVAL STRENGTH

Program of Eight 10,000 Cruisers Capable of 33 Knots

Tokyo Japan, (By Canadian Press)—With a programme of eight 10,000-ton cruisers, each capable of 33 knots and armed with ten 8-inch guns, more than half completed, high naval authorities of Japan are publicly discussing the possibility that the government for auxiliary craft was informally agreed will have to lay down more fighting vessels at the three-power conference ships of this class in order to keep in Geneva in 1927.

peace with the United States and Great Britain.

There has been no thought of suspending or abandoning work on the eight new ships, four of which are already afloat with the other due to take to the water within twelve months. The public and semi-public utterances of naval officers, from Admiral Takarabe, Minister of Marine, down, indicate too Japan's intention of insisting at the next naval conference on a ratio of 10-10-7 in the allotment of auxiliary warships (tonnage) to England, America and this country. Japan asked for the ratio for capital ships at the Washington conference but finally accepted 5-5-3. The higher ratio she possibility that the government for auxiliary craft was informally agreed will have to lay down more fighting vessels at the three-power conference ships of this class in order to keep in Geneva in 1927.

Health in Modern Industry

Modern industry lays great stress on health—physical and mental fitness of the worker.

One might easily infer from the pictures that they were taken in a city hospital. As a matter of fact they show a part of the medical equipment on the ninth floor of the Bell Telephone Company's new headquarters building, Montreal. Seven hundred and fifty employees completed the medical department during the past month. This service is a part of the Company's territory-wide health program. This program includes free medical examination, visiting nurses, health courses, first aid and accident prevention.

The talk gave rise to recent newspaper reports that a supplementary programme, calling for four additional 10,000 tonners, 15 first class destroyers, submarines, gunboats and others, had been decided upon. The navy department later said that no announcement would be made at this time, lest it embarrass the MacDonald-Dawes conversations in London. It was remarked, however, that no outright denial of the reports was forthcoming.

Naval officers and publicists are giving the Japanese press surveys designed to support the claim for the 10-10-7 ratio, asserting that the programmes which America and Britain have in hand will give each of these powers between 250,000 and 300,000 tons of modern cruisers, or more than 7,000 tons, whereas Japan by the completion of her eight Nachi class ships will have a corresponding tonnage of only 108,400, that is, eight 10,000-ton ships and four of the Furutaka class of 7,100 tons each. Hence, it is argued, that unless the two leading sea powers agree to reduce drastically their cruiser fleets Japan must build several more 10,000 ton fighters to keep within halting distance.

Japan, it is authoritatively indicated, hopes for such actual reduction by Britain and America, thus making an increase in the present Japanese cruiser strength unnecessary.

Of the eight new cruisers two, the Nachi, from which the class takes its name, and the Myoko are in commission. Two others, the Haguro and Ashigara are undergoing trials. The Take and Atago are on the ways at the naval dockyards in Yokosuka and Kure and are due for launching this year. The Chokai is in the hands of the Mitsubishi yards at Nagasaki and the Maya is being built at Kobe. Both should take the water in 1930.

The Nachi and her three junior sisters are to form part of the Second Fleet, based on Kure, whether the Myoko has just steamed from Yokosuka after being commissioned. On her way to the western naval base she stopped for two days in Ise Bay to permit her officers to worship at the Great Shrine of the Sun Goddess at Ise, the highest temple of the national cult Shinto. Each of the principal units of the navy is thus dedicated to the service of the nation.

Each of the eight Nachi-class cruisers is named for a mountain of rich religious and historical association, and aboard each is installed a miniature Shinto shrine enclosing some relic from the principal temple of the mountain which gives the vessel its name. The Myoko, for example, is named for Mount Myoko in central Japan, whither thousands of pilgrims flock each summer.

CAN KILL WHALES WITH ELECTRICITY

Washington—Modern science has been extended to the whaling industry with an invention to kill the huge mammals by electricity. A report received from its representatives in Norway by the Department of Commerce said that a new electrical method for killing whales has been perfected by a Norwegian engineer. One of the advantages of the new method, it was reported, will be that the dead whale remains floating in contrast to the present method of killing, which causes it to sink.

HAVELOCK ROBB BACK FROM TRIP TO THE COAST

Former Belleville Bird Poet Had Most Interesting
Tour

Kingston, Oct. 3.—Wallace Havelock Robb of Abbey Dawn, Poet of Canadian Birdland, has returned to Kingston after a memorable trip to British Columbia and the Pacific Coast.

Although in Vancouver just two days, its character and astonishing growth, since he was there two years ago, made such an arresting appeal to Mr. Robb that he wrote, spontaneously, a dramatic interpretation, "Vancouver Morning Breaks!" a poem of twenty-seven lines. The theme of the piece represents Vancouver as a soaring eagle to whom the setting and the rising sun are all one, a phenomenon known on the north Pacific. The Vancouver Daily Province ran the poem in special type, and the Canadian Club invited the poet to attend its luncheon to Sir James Murdoch, and to broadcast the poem by radio, which was done. Los Angeles and other cities down the coast reported hearing Mr. Robb clearly. In answer to questions about "Abbey Dawn," its location was given as Kingston. This resulted in several ex-Kingstonians proving their birth by exact knowledge of The Limestone City.

Mr. Robb spent four days hunting and fishing in the Okanagan Valley, in the heart of the B. C. Rockies, the guest of Major Allan Brooks, D.S.O., famous bird artist, and Mrs. Brooks.
The Brooks home and studio is on Lake Okanagan in the centre of the fruit growing district, but a place abounding in wild life of every sort.
The Sea-Serpent-Monster Agogogo, the most seen, but divided and disappeared after making only a few wiggly splashes. It has become the habit of naturalists, who see the strange creature, to scratch their heads in astonishment, then remain silent, but Agogogo keeps going.
Plans for further development of Canada's wonderful collection of bird paintings in the Royal Ontario Museum of Zoology, Toronto, were discus-ed during this visit, with the results importance to all lovers of out-of-doors.

"Dad" Quick
While in Vancouver Mr. Robb called on "Dad" Quick, one hundred and nine year old saddlemaker, the first man to use steel needles in that work.
Needles he made from umbrella ribs, for which skill a famous circus of that time (somewhere in the eighteen forties) kidnapped him. He can see without glasses to sew the intricate patterns he makes with the machine needle on leather. When the poet, seeking to solve the riddles of life, asked this smart and healthy old man the secret of his happiness, he answered,
"Contentment, with reasonable ambition thrown in." His recipe for long life is, "Get a good wife!" to which he added with a twinkle, "I'm thinking of getting married again, my self, but, dash it all, I can't find a girl my own age! A fellow doesn't Playing 'em as they lies

Maybe there is nothing in this superstition business about hoodoos, jinxes, black cats and Friday the Thirteenth, but look what happened to Ted Birkett, a member of the Rivermead Club of Ottawa, while playing the thirteenth hole of the famous Jasper Park Golf Course—on Friday, the Thirteenth of September.

Despite all the hoodoo and jinxes attached, Birkett, who was a guest at Jasper Park Lodge accepted starter's ticket No. 13 and started on his round over the course. All went well until he played into the rough approaching the thirteenth hole. The ball landed in a pile of rocks and bounced into the low branches of a jack-pine tree.

With the well-known stoicism of a hardened golfer, who walks under ladders "everything, Birkett said, "I'll play 'er as she lies".
Here is the answer as secured by a Canadian National's Tailways photographer who was on the ground at the crucial moment.

want to rob the cradle! I have courted a few young flappers around eighty, but you can't depend on them, their heads are chuck full of new-fangled nonsense. I had in mind a wife and companion, but they were looking for a young aviator who would lift them to a seventh heaven. I'm all alone. I had a seventy-five year old apprentice last year, a nice young chap, but these young guffers of today can't stand the pace. He's gone like all the others, but I expect to live to one hundred and fifty!"

LABOR FEVERISHLY TO PREVENT FLOODS

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 2.—Sixteen hundred men laboured feverishly today to prevent the flood waters of the Savannah River from breaking through the thirteen mile levee that protects Augusta and inundating the city.
Heavy rains are responsible for the unusual height of the water.

APPEAL SENTENCE AS UNDER WRONG CHARGE

Patrick McFadyen Claims Error Was Made In His Conviction

Toronto, Oct. 2.—The appeal of Patrick E. McFadyen, who was convicted by Judge J. P. Wills in County Court, at Belleville, of unlawfully stealing $950 from Frances A. Bickford and sentenced to two years imprisonment, was adjourned for one week by the First Divisional Court, at Osgoode Hall, when it was discovered that copies of the evidence had not been filed.

The accused was convicted on an alter charge of theft, but sentences were to run concurrently. The appeal is taken on the ground that the accused was not charged under the section of the criminal code by which he was convicted.

no less than 32 languages. What a boon it is that those who enter that province can have the Bible in their own tongue. Were it not for the splendid enterprise of the British and Foreign Bible Society such a condition would be impossible.

IRRIGATION OF SAHARA DESERT

Most Gigantic Scheme That The World Has Ever Seen

Marseilles, France.—The most stupendous engineering scheme the world has ever known is in the process of being blue-printed by three local engineers. They have spent four years in a preliminary survey and in three years more will be ready to propose a plan which will change the entire map of North Africa, join the Mediterranean islands to the mainland, and 430,000 square miles to the possessions of France and Italy, and turn the Sa- hara desert into the world's most pro- ductive garden.

At least a hundred plans for irrigat- ing the Sahara desert have been ad- vanced within 50 years, but none has been so thorough as this one. The scheme is to build two super-dams, one at Gibraltar and one at the Dar- denelles, and bottle up the Mediter- ranean until it becomes a fresh-water lake supplied by the European and African rivers. Enormous pumps would be installed to force this water into canals leading to the desert.

The engineers' estimates present in- teresting figures. Figuring the sur- face of the Mediterranean at approx- imately 2,550,000 square kilometers, they claim that the two dams and the water pumped into the canals would account for 4,000 cubic kilometers of water which would lower the level of the sea some five or six hundred feet.

This, the engineers point out, would mean a gain of some 430,000 square miles for the countries bordering on the Mediterranean. A study of the sea bed has convinced them that 60 per cent of this land now so extremely inhabitable. They also claim that half of the reclaimed desert would be fertile within 20 years.

They admit that tourists would be rather upset if they attempted to travel under the guide of an old Ba- deker. The Adriatic sea would be no more than a gulf. Tram lines would run along the dry canals of Venice. A nice automobile tour from Naples would be to Capri and then along the mountain road to Malta or Sicily. Marseilles would be a wading city of the past some 30 miles from the sea.

Though the engineers admit that they do not expect the governments of Europe to take kind to their scheme, they seem to be enjoying themselves.

JEWESSES TAKE OVER SERVICES

Toronto, Ont. (By Canadian Press)

For the first time in the city's history, as far as Jewry is concerned, women took complete charge of a memorial service in an orthodox synagogue, when a collection for families of Jews killed in Palestine by Arabs was taken up.

Sixty women's organizations, from synagogues, Women's Auxiliaries, Hadassahs, the Council of Jewish Women, and other bodies were represented at the memorial service, which was under the chairmanship of Mrs. David Dunkelmann, President of the Toronto Hadassah.

Scarcely an eye was dry after the holstered as they were in black horse- hair. Although it was not the Queen's way to indulge any of her children, she had this small chair made for her eldest son with the back and sides of it upholstered in tarta.

Now that the chair is to go to Princess Elizabeth the Queen has had it renovated and beautifully upholstered in an old brocade of rose, with tiny golden stars powdered all over it, which is in keeping with its style.

The front legs, in spite of polishing and repolishing still show signs of the dents and scrapings which are the re- sults of kicks by restless little feet. But the chair is a most comfortable one for a child, although if the Princess goes on growing as she is doing at present it will hardly fit her for many more years.

Her name seldom appeared in the press her work to a great extent was unknown to the public at large and her praise unsung. She neither desired nor sought publicity, but was content to fill the measure of her days with good deeds and loving mis- trations. Hundreds of women and others whose lives were made better by her presence mourn the death of this good woman, who proved a verifi- cable ministering angel to them in time of perplexity and grief. Never a day of the twenty-two years she spent at the Mission Union did not see some Christlike act of loving devotion to others performed by Miss Cook.

Toronto, Ont. (C.P.)—An editorial in the "Globe" pays tribute to a woman who was appropriately called "Charity".

The City of Toronto is poorer through the passing of Miss Charity Cook, for more than a score of years Miss Woman of the Toronto Mission Union.

Hundreds of women and others whose lives were made better by her presence mourn the death of this good woman, who proved a verifi- cable ministering angel to them in time of perplexity and grief. Never a day of the twenty-two years she spent at the Mission Union did not see some Christlike act of loving devotion to others performed by Miss Cook.

Toronto, Ont. (C.P.)—An editorial in the "Globe" pays tribute to a woman who was appropriately called "Charity".

The City of Toronto is poorer through the passing of Miss Charity Cook, for more than a score of years Miss Woman of the Toronto Mission Union.

Her name seldom appeared in the press her work to a great extent was unknown to the public at large and her praise unsung. She neither desired nor sought publicity, but was content to fill the measure of her days with good deeds and loving mis- trations. RAIN STOPPED
PLAY-OFF GAME

Nationals And Bell Telephone Play Second Game Here Friday

Yesterday's semi-final ball game between the Bell Telephone team of Toronto and the Nationals was rained out, for the threatening clouds finally broke about two o'clock and from then on, until far into the night the rain failed to let up.

Friday afternoon, at three-fifteen is now the time for the game to start, and it is believed the third game will be played in Toronto on Saturday afternoon, as the Nationals lost the first and second games. Manager Walt Gervase had intended to pitch "Vinny" Uttroni right back at the Telephone boys again, but will be undecided until game time now as to who will pitch, although both Alex Weir, Uttroni and Feinert are all set and waiting to go.

The Telephone team manager was ready to send Carlton again at the Nationals and he had pitched the same kind of ball he did last Saturday. He would have been a hard nut for the locals to crack. All the rest of the team will be here on Friday, but the Nationals win the Bell will be considerably weakened for the Saturday game, as the Siderman brothers and Harry Bateson will not be playing. Bateson will be at Montreal with his Queen's rugby team, while the Siderman boys will not be able to make the grade Saturday.

Thus it promises to be a busy week end for the Nationals, who are standing with their backs to the wall. They are not down yet, and if they do lose, it will only be after a real battle. But we still think they can win this Toronto series. After that comes only one more team, Walkerville, and although they are good, it was shown last year who was the better of the two and history may repeat itself again this year.

For your new Radio Set call Heinzman Co. They have the new Victor, Rogers, Majestic, and the new Fada. All direct from the factory. Time payments arranged.

TYRUS COBB FAVORS
ATHLETICS TO WIN

New York, Oct. 2.—Back from vacation in Europe Ty Cobb jumped into the world series discussion today with prediction that athletics would beat the Cubs. "Superior pitching and the managerial experience of Connie Mack will win the series for Philadelphia," he said.

WILL STUDY AIR
THIRTY MILES UP

Sydney, Australia.—The air 30 miles above the earth will be studied by the Sir Douglas Mawson Australian antarctic expedition at the end of this year. It is perhaps the only polar expedition to attempt such lofty altitude penetration. The work will be done with a special spectroscopic and photographic, to learn more about the reputed existence of a rich layer of ozone.

These experiments are important says Dr. Duffield, director of the Commonwealth observatory, for one thing because ozone is believed to absorb the bulk of ultra-violet light. "Ozone," he says, "occurs 20 to 30 miles up. By taking part in the world-wide scheme of measurement of ozone originated at Oxford, England, we hope to find out more about the conditions under which it is formed."

Experiments may show whether reception of wireless signals is in any way connected with ozone, for the place where it occurs is not far from the zone of ionization that plays so important a part in the propagation of wireless waves.

Sir Douglas already has more than 1,000 applications for the eight scientific berths on the expedition. This personnel will comprise a marine biologist, specialist, chemist, survey officer, echo-sounding specialist and a physician. There will be a crew of 25, and one photographer, one airplane pilot and one air mechanic. The greater part of the scientific work will be in weather observations, soundings of ocean depths for the story they reveal about the nature of the land buried under Antarctica's ice, and plankton research—that is, study of the food supply of south polar fish.

The expedition will sail in Scott's famous old ship, the Discovery, which left England in August headed for Cape Town, South Africa, to pick up the scientific members of the party. The Discovery travels about seven knots an hour.

KANSAS CITY WIN
OPENING BATTLE

First Game of Little World's Series Attracts Big Crowd

Kansas City, October 3.—Rochester's International League championship baseball club went down to defeat here yesterday in the first contest of the 1929 Little World Series. The Kansas City Blues, of the American Association, pleased close to 10,000 of the fans by their showing as they took the Red Wings down, 4-3, in ten innings.

Joe Kuhel, sensational young first-sacker of the Blues, turned in a scratch double to left field to score George Knopke, shortstop of the victors, with the winning run. Kuhel's single was the only extra base blow of the home club, but turned in the run which brought victory and gave the homesters an edge on the first of nine games.

Rochester's hitters were limited to seven blows, but four of them were for extra bases. Several hot sunbathers were converted into outs by the Blues outfield to help the veteran Tom Sheehan through the holes into which he was placed. Sheehan gave five bases on balls, but pitched cautiously in the pinches.

Rochester tallied in the first inning. Southworth walking and coming home on the double of Watkins to right centre. In the second the Blues tied up the count, getting a tally on Grigsby's single, his trip to third base on Gerken's single and Peters' infield roller on which Joe Brown made a wild throw.

OLDEST SAILOR ON PACIFIC TO RETIRE

Vancouver, B.C. (By Canadian Press).—Oldest sailor on the Pacific, still hale and hearty at 73, after sixty-two years of active service on the seven seas, Bouswain H. McEwen, of R.M.S. Empress of Russia, will make one more trip to the Far East before returning to Vancouver to spend his years of retirement.

"I've been everywhere and seen everything, so I might as well take a rest," said the veteran seafarer who shipped as an apprentice back in the early sixties when nearly all ships on the Pacific depended on sail and a steamer was a rare sight.

"To be correct, I'm 72. I had a birth day July 31, if you can count that, and the very same day our ship passed the meridian where we skip a day. I was cheated out of my last birthday," said Bouswain McEwen. "But my shipmates gave me a party anyway."

McEwen was eleven years old when he first went to sea, signing on at the port of London. He has served on the ships of half a dozen nations and during the Franco-Prussian war his ship ran coal through the German fleet's blockade of French ports. He rounded Cape Horn more times than he can remember. He joined the Canadian Pacific Railway service in 1893.

Terribly burned by an electric arc, David Laudels, 49, died in the Niagara Falls General Hospital.

YEARS FOR DAYS OF RIVER BOATMAN

Telegraph Creek, B.C. (By Canadian Press).—William Macdonald wags his head and sighs for the old, colorful days when the boatman was king on the rivers of British Columbia's northland. Year after year he has watched the slow march of progress in this remote land, and now he has seen the last of the romantic canoes of "other days" replaced on the Dease and Liard rivers by power transport service. And in time, old William knows, even power boats will be largely displaced by aircraft, for already the ability of planes to save time over the vast north is making a tour of the Caribbean, arrived yesterday afternoon from Panama.

Charles Hartley died in Goderich.

Within recent weeks the Hudson's Bay Company adopted for the first time power vessels between its posts on the Dease and Liard, and the last of the long canoes has been beached perhaps never to be used again.

Macdonald was taken from the northern rivers to serve the British army as a boatman for navigation of the swift water above the cataracts of the Nile in the Egyptian campaign of Gordon of Khartoum.

LINDBERGH REACHES MANAGUA

Managua, Nicaragua, October 3.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who is making a tour of the Caribbean, arrived yesterday afternoon from Panama.

LARGEST PLANE
READY FOR TESTTrial of New British Airship Planned in a Few Days

London, October 3.—Whether Great Britain's latest and greatest airship, the R-101, is fully up to expectations or whether its doubts already voiced about her capabilities are well founded will probably be known in a few days. At least in a very few days. The R-101 was to have started her trial flights today but weather conditions will prevent them for at least 72 hours.

The R-101 apparently has been singled out, her sister ship, the R-100, not figuring so prominently in the critical articles that have been published. The Canadian Press today reported every part of the great R-101, as she lay in the giant hangar at Cardington, near Bedford. She was riding easily under almost full gas capacity. Upon her performance in "interior trials"—tests of the engines and other individual parts—there is no reason to believe the R-101's makers are any thing but satisfied. She was to far equipped today as to be able to take her crew and full complement of 230 passengers on board with an hour's notice. The trials, however, are expected to last at Cardington from three to six months and ultimately will be extended to the bases abroad.

In view of the exhaustive tests being planned, it is certain that some considerable time will elapse before the R-101 is moved to the great airship mooring mast already prepared at the St. Helier Airport, outside Montreal.

Incidentally, Lieut.-Commander Pressy, one of the chief petty officers and two petty officers, attached to the Naval Branch of the Canadian Department of National Defense, are expected to be buying themselves in learning the intricacies of managing a mooring mast.

"What her future routes are to be all in the air in a double sense," the Canadian Press was informed. "We must put the R-101 and her sister, the R-100 at Howden in Yorkshire, through their trials here, first, through a programme to test their capacity for regular flying on definite routes has been provisionally drawn up. Conference have been held between the Director of the Canadian Meteorological Service and the chief of the Washington Air Bureau, with the British Air Ministry here. General principles have been agreed on in connection with the transatlantic demonstration flights."

Major G. H. Scott, internationally famous expert, will be responsible for the trials of both airships. Squadron Leader E. L. Johnson will be navigating officer.

BRITISH SHIPS HEAD ZEPPELIN

One Will Not be Able to Fly Over Equator, Other Will

(London, Eng., (By Canadian Press))—The two British airships, R-100 and R-101, the largest yet built, and designed to make for greater safety and economy in maintenance, will soon start their preliminary trials before making flights to Egypt and India and across the Atlantic to Canada. It is not without significance, writes the aeronautical correspondent of the Times, that the Graf Zeppelin in its world tour planned its route to avoid any approach to the equator. So far no petrol-fueled airship has traveled in tropical regions, but Great Britain, with Australia as one goal and India and South Africa as half-way houses, must definitely accept conditions in which hydrogen and petrol make unpleasant companions, and therefore both R-100 and R-101 were designed to eliminate petrol as fuel.

But early hopes were falsified by experiments and the R-100 fell back on aero engines using petrol, and the R-101, while able to install compression engines using kerosene oil, has done so at a heavy cost in efficiency. Thus R-100 is barred from the tropics and must be used mainly upon a difficult airship route, that across the Atlantic, and R-101, though she can face any temperatures, unfortunately has nearly 1,000 horse-power less if a five specifications originally called for and about five tons of extra weight in its power cars. This is a serious disappointment, for it means the ship will be slower and has sacrificed five tons of useful commercial load which could have been translated into passengers, mail or greater range. "It does not mean," says the correspondent, that the experiment has been a failure, but that a higher price has been paid for security from the risk of fire and that further development is needed to reach the point at which Empire airships become a reasonable commercial enterprise.

On the other hand, we have learned much which will be useful in the construction of future airships. The transference of the R-100 to the Atlantic route alters the relation of useful load and fuel load in a manner not provided for originally. Traveling to Canada, the ship must be prepared for long periods of head winds and, consequently, part of the passenger weight must be translated into extra fuel though on the return trip the balance can be restored. Dr. Cockburn himself, after his last double flight over the Atlantic, expressed the view that the Graf Zeppelin was not suitable for transoceanic service and added that next Zeppelin would approach the British ships more closely in design, apart from actual methods of construction, in the external shape of the ship and here all theoretical considerations, fully confirmed by tests in wind tunnels, show that the latter shapes of the British vessels give through the air better than the more elongated Zeppelin form.

FINE RECEPTION GIVEN TOURISTS

Chamber of Commerce Trip Made Delightful by Western Friends

(Edmonton, Alta., (By The Canadian Press))—"I never met a more charming group of women anywhere," declared one woman from Eastern Canada referring to the reception given by the Women's Canadian Club of Peace River in honor of the wives and daughters of the visiting delegates on the Canadian Chamber of Commerce tour.

"I suppose that as a manufacturer of cottons, silks and woolen goods, I noticed particularly the way the people were dressed," said one man in the party. "There seemed little evidence of poverty. The girls were as prettily dressed and as up-to-date in the clothes they wore as the girls of Montreal, Toronto and Edmonton. The men too when not in their overalls, were as well dressed as any of us on the party."

"It is a wonderful country for young people," said Mrs. M. Kennedy, mother of R. H. Kennedy, treasurer of the Quebec board of trade, who took the trip with her son. "I think that young couples starting life in that country could make a great deal of money," she said. "The settlers' homes seemed primitive but very comfortable and certainly in that country they never need want for food. With their own cow, their own butter, fowl, and beautiful gardens they can provide better dinners than you usually can have in the city. The beautiful scenery, so different from the east, is an attraction."

Miss Lambert, of London, who is traveling with her father, Hon. George Lambert and several other younger members of the party had a "glorious time" they said. They loved the motor trips and like their seniors were impressed with the culture and progressive spirit which they had thought impossible so far removed.

Cascarets Good for the System

What do you do when a sluggish system tells you the bowels need a little help?

The best thing yet discovered for the purpose is still the little candy Cascarets! Take one whenever the liver and bowels are not functioning as they should.

Cascarets are pleasing to the palate, and pleasant in their action. You eat them just like candy. They work while you sleep. Gentle, but thorough. Cascarets don't stir up the stomach or upset the system. But they cleanse the entire thirty feet of bowels in one comfortable, thoughtful action that leaves the system clean and sweet; leaves you with an untainted breath, uncoated tongue, and clear head.

Cascarets are made of cascara—long regarded one of the most beneficial laxatives known to medical science. They are sweetened with pure cane sugar and flavored with real licorice. Children love them. So do most grown-ups! Why take anything harsh when constipation threatens? Whenever a dull headache, lassitude, or sick stomach with loss of appetite warns you of poor elimination, a Cascaret or two is the most harmless form of help you could give a lagging system.

Take a candy Cascaret tonight, and see how fine you'll feel in the morning—and for days after.

BUTTER IMPORTS CUT BY TARIFF

U.S. Officials Think Restriction on Canadian Products Detrimental

Washington, D.C., (By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—Possible changes in the United States tariff on dairy products affecting the dairy industry of Canada would probably be met by some division of the government to make up the present lack of butter and the surplus would be taken up by the making of high quality cheddar cheese. P. F. Brokens suggests this in his review of the competitive position of the dairy industry of Canada for the United States Department of Agriculture.

"The very considerable importation of butter into Canada during recent years," he says, "has been taking place under remonstrances by Canadian dairy interests and any added restriction to their market outlet to the United States might be expected to react on the Canadian policy affecting importation. In the event, the line of resistance would appear to lead in the direction of making up the present deficiency in the butter supply of the country."

Mr. Brokens summarizes the situation of the Canadian dairy industry in three words: "So vast are its resources for dairying in Canada that there is little apparent relation between the physical possibilities of expansion on the one hand and on the other the very moderate gradual increase now in progress in volume of dairy production and an actually declining national surplus of dairy products." He finds the key to conditions in the persistent tendency of Canadian farmers to utilize the agricultural resources of the country in the maximum production of goods and services, and along with this more or less extensive agriculture, a rapid industrialization of the country as a whole with its attendant growth in domestic demand for the Canadian output of dairy products.

The history of the dairying industry in Canada corresponds to that in the United States, he finds, and the Dominion's dairy farmers are now in the position occupied by their neighbors to the south a generation ago. When exports of butter and cheese from the United States have reached a peak in the eighties Canadian exports especially of cheese were increasing. But about 25 years ago the exports of Canadian cheese began to decline. Now among the major exports is that of fresh cream and milk fresh or preserved. Cheese, however, still constitutes fully 60 per cent of the total value of Canadian dairy exports although a greater worth of cream is exported to the United States. In 1927 more than 13,000,000 pounds of high grade cheese was imported from Canada. "Its importance in our market," says Mr. Brokens, "is indicated in some measure by the fact that Canadian cheese has amounted to as much as one sixth of our total cheese importation and by the further important fact that it is of the cheddar type selling in direct competition with the bulk of our domestic cheese and more and more on a basis of high quality of product."

Mr. Brokens concludes his summary with the prophecy: "Further

TOO MANY COOKS SPOIL THE BROTH

Toronto, Ont., (By The Canadian Press)—Bride Broder in a Mail and Empire editorial writes: "If, as the old adage says, too many cooks spoil the broth, it is equally true that too many people, engaged in the same money-making enterprise, in one small corner, succeed in preventing everyone from getting a decent living. One example we are thinking of at the moment is the fate of the village in which it is next to impossible to get fresh meat, not because there is no butcher, but because there are four. One man was making a comfortable living in this village and everybody who wanted it was sure of fresh meat. Now, with four on the scene, there are too few customers to go round, and each man is afraid to lay in a stock of meat for fear of being out of business. The dairy development of Canada in view of potential dairy resources, can continue, without abandonment of extensive farming to maintain a strong position in world markets."

any size and so between the multitude of butchers there is nearly always a meat famine.

The same situation is now being created in the tea-estate business. Within three or four tea rooms in a ten-mile area brought a modest income to the women who presided over them, dozens have opened up, and there are rather sad tales of food discontent.

Much of the trouble is due to lack of initiative. There are people, so constituted that they cannot think out a line for themselves, but are first with a consuming desire to imitate the initiative of others. There are all sorts of openings for original ideas and methods. Why enter crowded fields? she asks.

GAMBUSSIA AFFINIS DRAFTED FOR SERVICE

Kamloops, B.C., (By Canadian Press)—A tiny fish with a very long name—gambusia affinis—has been drafted for service in the war against mosquitoes in the Kamloops Lake country.

Eric Hearle, Dominion entomologist here, has netted more than 300 of these gambusia affinis, or "mosquito fish" as they are commonly called, and they have been shipped here from Banff to be planted in local waters infested with the insect pest. The mosquito fish were originally planted at Banff by Mr. Hearle in 1918 and have since multiplied into the millions. Their unremitting warfare against the mosquitoes at Banff is said to have resulted in virtually annihilating the annoying skaters and nibbling they are expected to accomplish the same results here.

There has been considerable controversy about the origin of the mosquito fish, some old-timers claiming that it is fish used to disport themselves in the sulphur waters at Banff years before Mr. Hearle arrived. An authority claimed that these "original inhabitants" of the Banff pools were an imported species from Japan.

But now Mr. Hearle has settled the dispute by recalling that when he went to Banff in 1918 with his first shipment of gambusia affinis there were other tiny fish already in the pool. But these fish were promptly devoured by the gambusia affinis which has cannibalistic tendencies as well as an appetite for mosquitoes, so that in time only the gambusia affinis remained to carry on the war against the mosquito, which in turn have also been routed.

Rev. J. M. Norton, of Courage, has been invited to pasture of Welland Baptist Church.

All Records Shattered!

by New "900" Series STEWART-WARNER RADIO

A new champion has arisen in radio—Stewart-Warner. A champion that has won its spurs through side-by-side tests conducted throughout the nation. Stewart-Warner Radio out-performed them all, including sets costing double its price and more.

An amazing combination of super features, gives

Selectivity, tone, volume and distance-getting ability beyond that ever before known

Among the super features, these deserve special mention: The Balanced Bridge Circuit, which eliminates oscillation howls—the most advanced and powerful combination of tubes known to radio (eight tubes including rectifier)—all connections are gold-plated.

Here is a set so selective that a fractional turn of the dials brings in new stations and different programs. Stations you never knew existed come booming in. Far away programs are heard with "local" volume. Music is played or sung with realism never before obtained.

Yes, here is the new champion of the air—that shatters all records of radio performance. The "set with the punch." With features five years in advance, including plug-in for television.

Even though you aren't thinking "radio" right now, enjoy the thrill of listening to the radio that has shattered all previous "bests" in radio performance.

Your Stewart-Warner dealer will be proud to demonstrate Model "900." A small initial payment puts a new Stewart-Warner in your home.

REPORT OF HUDSON EXPEDITION REVEALS DARING DEED OF DANGER

14 Months Trip Mapped Routes Through Arctic Waters

Fyles Report

Squadron Leader T. A. Lawrence R.C.A.F. Recently Returned from Arctic

Toronto, Ont. (C.P.)—Covering 14 months struggle in the shadow of the Northern Lights, Squadron Leader T. A. Lawrence, Royal Canadian Air Force, recently filed a report of the Hudson Strait Expedition, organized to ascertain the exact conditions of this proposed water route between the Canadian prairies and Europe, with Group Captain J. Lindsay Gordon, director of Civil Government Air

Operations, and behind the formal document lies a gripping story of adventure and hardship. It is nearly a year since the members of that small expedition returned to civilization. They are practically forgotten in these busy days, but for sheer, monumental courage and attention to duty and detail, the men in this party scored high. For 14 long weary months they struggled on, flying in weather which would have deterred other courageous aviators, and the spirit of "carry on" shines through the lines of even that most formal of documents—the official report.

Narrow escapes of some members of the personnel from death are passed over as mere incidents in the work of the expedition. The fact that one pilot, a mechanic and an Eskimo, climbed ice hummocks for seven days, after a forced landing on flow ice, and for some time were forced to live on raw walrus meat, is also mentioned—but only casually.

The squadron sailed from Halifax, N.S., aboard the C.G.S. Stanley, and the steamer Larch on July 17, 1927. They did not return until October, 1928.

The personnel consisted of Squadron Leader Lawrence, five other officers, and 12 airmen, with six Eskimo guides, and one Moth seaplane. They carried a thirty foot motor launch, a tractor, radio apparatus, steel masts for wireless, arms and ammunition, fuel, ample bedding and enough food to last through more than two years if necessary.

Ten days after expedition sailed the ship reached Port Burwell, at the tip of Labrador. The little Moth plane was first put into action, and sailed forth to scout out a likely place for an air base.

Bases were eventually established at Port Burwell, at Wakeham Bay, about half way from the Atlantic entrance to Hudson Bay itself, and at Nottingham Bay. Headquarters was established at Wakeham Bay.

At each base, the men built sturdy hangers and other buildings, erected wireless masts, and constructed runways or slips for the launching and beaching of the seaplanes. Derricks had to be erected for the handling of the great crates of supplies and equipment, and for the removal of giant boulders which interfered with the operation of the machines. By the end of November, all was in readiness for the long winter months, and the two vessels of the expedition sailed away south.

Since the real object of the expedition was to procure, by means of aerial photography and reconnaissance, definite information for the establishment of an absolute time limit for marine navigation through the Hudson Strait, to test the feasibility of the use of aircraft as an aid to navigation; and to test the suitability of air bases, aeronautical and other equipment necessary to air operations, with a view to establishing air operational bases in the district, there was no time lost.

Communication between the officers in charge of the three bases was maintained by wireless, and the aircraft were obliged to communicate with their own operating bases every few minutes. For outside communication a short wave radio set had been established at Wakeham Bay, and this was in direct touch with Ottawa. In addition, communication was also provided through Father Point on the St. Lawrence, and thence by land wire to Ottawa.

Regular patrol areas were mapped out, and planes covered certain sections of the Strait on every possible occasion, which meant that, regardless of weather conditions, the fliers went up until the very depth of winter.

All planes were equipped with cameras, and to the report was added many pictures. It was found, among other things, that maps of the area were completely wrong. Land existed where none is shown on existing maps, and there was no land where there should be, according to the maps.

During the summer and fall of 1927, the planes were operated on pontoons but in the winter, skis were used. At Wakeham Bay, it was possible to use the skis until beyond the middle of June, which was, however, regarded by the expedition as being a very exceptional circumstance.

Perhaps the greatest adventure was that of Flying Officer A. Lewis, who with his mechanic, Flight Sergeant R. C. Terry, and Bobbie, an Eskimo guide, landed on strange ice and were almost lost.

The report says: "The third and last incident came very closely to a disastrous ending when Flying Officer A. Lewis and a mechanic and native on patrol from Port Burwell became lost in heavy snowstorms on their return from Resolution Island. After picking up a point of land, which he felt sure he recognized, Lewis took up a course to bring him out to Port Burwell. After following this course until the petrol supply was exhausted, a forced landing was made on rough hummocky flow ice. The crew fortunately were unhurt, and while the machine had only minor damages, it became impossible to abandon it. Lewis and his party, carrying their full emergency kits, started east across the ice, and only after one day's travel in that direction did they realize they were actually on a flow of ice in the Atlantic Ocean off the Labrador Coast and not in Ungava Bay, as they had at first estimated.

They then travelled westward seven days, reaching the Labrador Coast after much privation and hard travelling. During this time food supplies became exhausted, and they were forced to live on raw walrus meat, walrus shot by their native companion. The ice over which the party was forced to travel was very rough and highly rafted.

"Endless lanes of open water had to be crossed, these crossings being effected by the use of the inflatable rubber rafts carried as part of their emergency kit."

"After reaching the land, Flying Officer Lewis and his party travelled north alone, the Labrador Coast for four days. During this time they saw no sign of life of any description, human, animal or bird, and having no food, they were forced to suffer from cold, hunger and exposure."

Every careful housewife knows it is the best.

"SALADA" TEA

"Fresh from the garden"

On the fifth day, they were favored by fortune and came in contact with an Eskimo hunter and his wife. Through their native companion they were able to make known their requirements and arrange for food of a kind, and transportation by dog-team back to Port Burwell at which point they arrived at midnight on the 13th day of absence from their base.

Squadron Leader Lawrence himself was cut off from his home station when he landed at Sigluk Point in a snowstorm. For nine days, he was unable to take off, and while awaiting clear weather, a search plane arrived. Later, the two planes were able to return to Wakeham.

Flight Lieut. A. A. Leitch, M.D., D.F.C., was the hero of another incident. He landed on the flow ice when a sudden storm came up while he was enroute from Erik Cove to Nottingham Island. The report says:

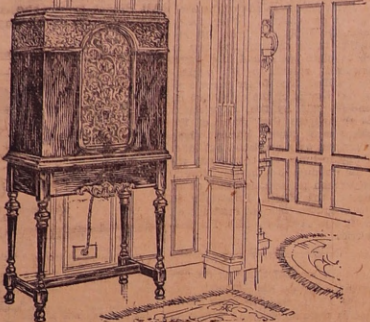

"The aircraft arrived back at its base with about one quart of petrol in the tanks. The temperature at this time was approximately 16 degrees below zero, and there was frequent rain, but only a few minor frost bites were experienced by the personnel."

The result of the bravery and hardihood displayed by the expedition was that 227 pictures were made, and a total of 369 hours flown. Nearly 3,000 successful film exposures were made, and few films spoiled.

During this time, the temperatures in the country of operations ranged from 30 degrees to 40 degrees below zero, and there was frequent rain, snow, fog and other unpleasant flying conditions.

Two of the planes were wrecked by storms, but fortunately no lives were lost, and the entire party was brought home by steamer and rail.

THE COMPANY AND ITS BUSINESS

The Second Public Utility Investment Company Limited is incorporated under the laws of the Dominion of Canada to carry on the business of an investment trust. Its operations follow the principles employed by representative English and Scottish investment trusts which have been remarkably successful over a long period of years and have paid increasing dividends regularly.

The business of the Company is confined to the investment and reinvestment of its resources in seasoned marketable securities, domestic and foreign.

The primary object of the Company is to afford to investors the means of participating in an investment portfolio protected by unusual distribution of risk through broad diversification in seasoned investments which are leaders in their class, such as bonds of governments and corporations and the preferred and common stocks of financial, public utility and industrial corporations.

ASSETS AND EARNINGS

The assets of the Company consist of cash and readily marketable investment securities. Revenues are derived from interest, dividends, bonuses, rights, etc., on its investments, together with such profits as may accrue upon disposal, from time to time, of the securities it may own. The Company owns all of the deferred common shares of the (First) Public Utility Investment Company and has thus acquired control of and an equity in all assets of the latter Company.

Following the best practices of successful British investment trusts, it is the policy of the Company to maintain a reserve fund out of income and profits and to distribute only moderate dividends until such reserve shall attain substantial proportions.

Results to date indicate that all operating and administrative expenses, including moderate fees to Directors and the Executive, shall be less than 1% of the capital employed, which is equal to the results obtained by outstanding English and Scottish Investment Trusts.

On September 30, 1929, the Company paid an initial dividend of $1.00 per share following five months of operation.

MANAGEMENT

The Company will have the benefit of the management responsible for the success of the (First) Public Utility Investment Company, which, during its first year of operations, paid two dividends on its common shares equal to prevailing yields on high grade fixed interest-bearing securities. Furthermore, the shares of the Company have shown a marked appreciation of over 50% within eighteen months of the original offering.

therefore, the shares of the Company have shown a marked appreciation of over 50% within eighteen months of the original offering.

POLICY AND RESTRICTIONS—GENERAL

The following restrictive regulations, among others, have been adopted by the management:

(a) Not more than 25% of the Company's resources may be invested in securities originating in any one country, excepting Canada and the United States.

(b) Not more than 2 1/2% of the total funds which may be invested in securities originating in any one country may be invested in any one security other than Government obligations, excepting Canada and United States, where not more than 5% of the Company's resources may be invested in any one security.

(c) The Company cannot, under any consideration, purchase or hold a controlling or managerial interest in any enterprise, except the (First) Public Utility Investment Company, which it controls through ownership of all its deferred shares.

(d) Every security purchased must be seasoned and marketable and, in the case of common stocks, dealt in on some recognized Exchange.

(e) All bonds and stocks must be bought at figures which, in view of previous and prospective earning power, seem well below intrinsic values.

(f) The resources of the Company may not be employed in any country which, in the opinion of the management, has not stable government.

(g) The Company will not act as a broker or underwriter. It will buy and sell securities entirely for its own account.

(h) Substantially, the Company's investment holdings will consist of 40% bonds and 60% preferred and/or common stocks, with a preponderance of public utility securities in the latter group.

(i) If, on account of changing conditions, any security be considered ineligible under these restrictions, it will be disposed of without delay.

No share of stock, either deferred or common, has been or will be sold for any other consideration than cash. There is no bonus or promotion stock.

There are no bonds or preferred shares authorized and regulations governing dividends are detailed above. Application will be made in due course to list this stock on recognized stock exchanges.

NEW FAD FOR FISHBONE JEWELRY

An announcement some time ago of the inception in Edinburgh of a class for teaching the fashioning of shell and ornaments from fishbone may have appeared to some people to be almost incredible.

The association of fish and jewelry, most people would conclude is pretty remote and imaginative. Yet we must not forget that even herring scales are being made into artificial pearls on the continent and in America; and anyone who has held a herring scale in her hand—particularly from a fish newly landed at one of our herring fishing ports—must have been struck by the resemblance of the sheen and shading of the scale to those of a pearl and will thus be better able to appreciate the ideas behind this novel scheme—an American one originally.

As to making jewelry and ornaments out of fishbones, in the writing of the younger days in an East Coast fish village sits at play on the beach and the rocks used to amuse themselves often by making crude ornaments out of dried fishbones. But out of fishing they had no facilities for finishing and fixing them properly or for coloring them in the charming fashion now possible to those who are finding it an interesting and entertaining hobby to make ornaments out of fishbones.

Certainly quite a vogue in this respect has recently grown up. Moreover, it is a fashion which any woman, with what are generally referred to as "a good pair of hands" and with some expert tuition and studious practice, can make both a pleasurable and profitable recreation. All she requires are some fishbones left over from the supper table, pins for mounting or fixing them in the desired

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

With cooler days hearty dishes which have been shunned during the hot weather come again into favor. Stuffed, baked potatoes are always popular and the variation in seasoning, given below, should make them even greater favorites.

Tomato Stuffed Potatoes

Bake as good-sized potatoes and when done cut out one end of each and scoop out the contents. Mash this, add one chopped onion, one-half cup of canned tomatoes, three-fourths teaspoon mustard, one-fourth teaspoon celery salt and salt and pepper to taste. Mix well and refill the potato shells. Return them to the oven to heat thoroughly.

Pork Roll

Cut one whole pork tenderloin lengthwise and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Make a potato dressing, without sage, and spread this over the meat. Roll as you would a jelly cake with a string and put into a baking pan. Add a little boiling water and bake, basting frequently until the meat is tender. A strip or two of bacon may be laid over the meat before putting it in the oven. Remove the meat from the oven, slice it as a jelly roll and arrange the slices on a hot platter. Make a gravy of the liquid in the pan and add to it a tablespoon tomato catsup with salt and pepper to taste.

Veal Heart Loaf

Boil a veal heart until tender and put it through a meat chopper. Add half a cup of moist bread crumbs as is of the heart and season liberally with salt, pepper, sage and red pepper with a dash of nutmeg if you like that condiment. Moisten with the liquor in which the heart was cooked and put the mixture into a square pan which has been well buttered. Dust the top of the loaf with bread crumbs, dot with butter and bake for thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Serve hot or cold, cut in thin slices.

SOME HELPFUL HINTS FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

If you have one of those old-fashioned wash stands with drawers and a double door compartment, remove the towel rack at the back, if there is one. Have just a table effect.

Cover the top with the material you have selected for the bedroom. Make a fringe extending across the front and both sides, the full height of the stand. This may be of dotted Swiss edged with a coloured band or one of the pretty prints or checks now in vogue may be used. If there is a full length opening at the front the valance may be drawn back, making easy access to the contents of the drawers or compartment.

This discarded piece of furniture will make an attractive dressing table and the drawers will be found useful for storing articles.

The formal fur trimmed suit is very smart.

Oxford covert is again the vogue for autumn suits.

The princess silhouette in tulle over satin is smart.

The classic silhouette sponsored by Vionnet is the vogue not only for evening but in coat frocks and afternoon dresses.

Shirred and flared side panels of irregular length are being featured for the new evening frock.

White and eggshell blouses in flared crepe or white lead all others, reports New York.

In keeping with the modern trend in furnishing a great deal of burnished metal is being used in decorative schemes.

STORM WARNINGS FOR LOWER GREAT LAKES

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 2.—Northeast storm warnings for the lower great lakes region were issued by the weather bureau here today. A wind velocity of more than thirty miles an hour was recorded at Lake Erie. High winds are likely to continue throughout the day and tonight, the weather bureau said.

The earth is likely to be struck by a comet only once in 20,000,000 years, scientists declare.

No More Piles

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and sawing cannot do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick and lasting relief to pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back—30-day guarantee. Get Hem-Roid from any drug store or mail order house.

"STARVED HEARTS"

BY Mildred Barbour

CHAPTER I THE LION'S DEN

"So Madelon is coming home today?"

Stephen Lane looked up from his book, frowning at the interruption.

Ann Ordway, standing by the window, absently twirling the cord of the lace-edged shade, was the only woman in the world who dared disturb him while he read. . . . But then Ann had been a family friend for upward of thirty years, and, moreover, feared neither man nor devil.

Lane answered briefly between compressed lips.

"We expect her."

"I wonder if she will prove to be like her mother?" mused Ann. "Remember Elise, Stephen? All big-violent eyes and ridiculous little hands with queer foreign gestures! She must have had French blood in her, perhaps that's why Madelon was left to the French nuns when she and your brother died. . . . How devoted they were, remember? It's hardly curious that he didn't survive her a fortnight."

Lane rustled the pages of his book with ill-concealed irritation.

"Is it necessary to comment on something that is now history? The past is done. The result of my brother's unwise alliance is the unpleasant task which now devolves upon me. I have to welcome his daughter with her ridiculous foreign ideas, into my home and try to knock the French nonsense out of her. . . . I dare say, I'll have the devil's own time doing it."

"But you'll accomplish it, my friend. It's humanly—or satanically—possible."

Was Ann's invective aimed at Lane? She turned her eyes from the broad, unlit boulevard of the great middle western city, where the afternoon traffic flowed sluggishly, to the room behind her. They lingered on the man who sat by the reading table in the dimness of the richly somber library.

Don-grey hair on a large, well-shaped head, almost leonine in the proportions; a high intellectual forehead; pale, cold, grey eyes which maintained an habitually inscrutable expression; a nose, finely chiselled, with the flaring nostrils of quick passions; the mouth, a thin cruel line. . . . The face of a man whose will has never been gainsaid.

Suddenly aware of her scrutiny, Lane flung down his book with an exclamation.

"My dear Ann, is it possible that after thirty years, you are not thoroughly familiar with my features?"

She flushed a little and withdrew her gaze.

"Sorry if I annoy you," she shrugged lightly.

"I never permit myself to be annoyed," he told her loftily, his tone implying that her presence held just that degree of insignificance.

But he turned the tables upon her maliciously. His eyes measured her coolly.

She was a trim, plump little figure with brown hair frankly greying above her temples, nice, brown eyes, and a kindly face, innocent of artifice.

Lane's appraisal of her was cruelly deliberate. He worshipped beauty, and she, who had never known even pretences, shrank inwardly from his scrutiny.

Lane's first wife, who had died, had been a belle. The present Mrs. Lane, nee Barbara Pearson, was acknowledged the most beautiful woman in the city. Her husband was more than twice her age. . . .

Ann moved restlessly away from the window and picked up her gloves.

"I'll be off now and leave you in peace. Let me know if there is anything I can do to make little Madelon comfortable. I fancy she and Barbara will come to be great pals. . . . The two of them, so near an age, ought to bring some light and laughter into this gloomy old place."

Her eyes swept over the dark richness of paneled walls, heavy, somber rugs and draperies, dim paintings of frowning ancestors. The sound of the household bell echoed, like the summons in a house of death.

"This suits me quite as it is," Lane rebuked her.

"But there are others besides yourself, my dear Stephen, though I doubt if that thought ever occurs to you."

Ann's tone was crisp. She was thinking of her lovely young wife, Barbara, who moved like a pale wrath through the gloomy splendours of the big house.

"Stephen," she said suddenly, "what makes you such a—such a—mummy? I can't believe that any one can act as frozen as you and still live."

One of the things that was in her pose—that it amused you to make people fear you, that it flattered you to see them cringe. I thought perhaps you did it to impress them with your position, to give them confidence in you, make them put their money in your banks, buy bonds, and give mortgages. But now that you've arrived, become a rich man, you could drop the pretence, couldn't you. . . .

Stephen, you're worth a lot of money, aren't you? You must be a millionaire several times over."

There was malice in the smile that touched his thin lips momentarily.

"Some people have thought so," he answered blandly.

Ann snatched shut the last button of her glove.

"Two women have thought so," she corrected him.

He sat staring at the library door after it had swung to upon her parting shot. Her thrust had gone home. Even he knew that both wives had been in for his money. He himself had married because he loved and wanted children to carry on the Lane name and fortune—an ambition as yet denied him.

He thought bitterly of his second wife, the pale, beautiful creature, who had linked her young life with his more than two years before. . . . It had been a fair-enough bargain. She had nothing but, her beauty and an impoverished family who needed the highest price she could bring. He saw in her youth, health, intelligence, a fitting mother for his potential children.

But she had failed of her bargain, and pity was not a quality that Stephen Lane possessed. . . .

The library door swung open again and the object of his bitter reflections stood hesitantly on the threshold.

SUFFRAGE LEADER DEAD IN LONDON

London, Eng., (By Canadian Press).—In an editorial on Dame Millicent Fawcett, the veteran women's leader, whose death occurred in London in August at the age of 82, the Daily News says:—

"Dame Millicent Fawcett was perhaps the greatest as she was the oldest figure in the women's suffrage movement. She was on the platform at the first meeting held in London, and for over 60 years she was associated with the cause. During the period it went through many vicissitudes before it came to its final triumph during the present year, and her influence was still powerfully felt even when the tactics of the militant suffragists had taken the forward wing of the movement away from her. To the end of her life the cause of women found her a ready and instructed champion. Though she was born

TELLS OF WORK OF THE 'N.C.A.A.'

Montreal, (C.P.)—Hon. Mrs. Stuart, (Bouverie), of Godalming, England, who is at present passing a few days in the city, and who is a member of the executive of the "N.C.A.A." or National Children's Adoption Association, London, told something of its work to a reporter.

While the offices are in London, and the results of the work of the association have the five continents for scope. Founded before the war by Miss Clara Andrews, the N.C.A.A. took as its aim the placing of orphan babies in the homes where children are longed for. The extraordinary feature of the work, it is pointed out, is that there are always as many people wishing children as there are children needing homes.

The children usually arrive at Cressy Tower when a few weeks old. There they are tended by a trained staff and students, the "Princesses Alice nurses," who pay a fee for the privilege of the nursing training which they receive at the hospital. Usually the children are adopted when between a month and six weeks old, and all had homes while still babies. It is in the method of securing the foster homes that the association's work is unique.

A complete record is obtained of each child's parentage and of the background of its relatives. The foster parents who apply are given this information in its entirety, and care is taken to place each child in a home environment suited to its original rights in life. The foster parents assume full charge of the child, and no stipend is paid by the association. This it happens that many of the children have found homes where they are not only cherished but inherit family fortunes, for the human desire for children has brought several titled women as well as other of all estates to the office. Practically all of the adoptions turn out most successfully, it was stated by Mrs. Playdell-Bouverie.

as far back as 1847 she was an eloquent defender of the maiden girl, and few tributes could be more correct than this from so splendid a type of the Victorian age."

CLIPS CURLS BEFORE GETTING NATURALIZED

Edmonton, Alta.—(C.P.)—In a little brown paper package, now resting on the desk of W. C. Munro, supreme court orderly, there is a story of an immigrant's development into the making of age-old European ideals for those of Canada of today. Some time ago, Mr. Munro noticed a young immigrant awaiting in the court house corridors to go before a justice for naturalization. With him was a pretty blonde girl, who judging from her dress and talk had just that day arrived from the continent. The observant orderly concluded they were sweethearts who had just been reunited after the youth had spent long years making a home here for his future bride. The girl had a small brown paper parcel clutched tightly in her hand.

Next morning a parcel on the bench where the young couple had sat was observed, and found to contain a mass of beautiful blonde hair.

Evidently the youth was profoundly convinced the first step in becoming a Canadian citizen was to have his sweetheart's hair correctly bobbed. In fact he even considered this step should be taken before applying for his naturalization.

Women Why Suffer Periodic Pains?

Welland, Ont., R.R. No. 2, March 19, 1929 Niagara Laboratories, Limited,
Toronto, Ontario.

Dear Madam: Received your letter of March 15th, and in reply would say I am still using Niagra Tablets, and find them a great help for irregularities, as I have not used up that box and the second one I have ordered. I have gained from long hours and the pain has been reduced to one hundred and fifty pounds. I take them along for my nervous as well as the monthly sickness, and will recommend them to all women suffering as I do. If anyone is in doubt as to Niagra, recommend them to me, I will answer any letters.

NO OPPOSITION YET FOR IRELAND

Convicts Surrender After Ruthlessly Slaughtering Prison Guards

LIBERAL CONVENTION FAILED TO FIND A MAN TO OPPOSE IRELAND BUT WILL HOLD A NEW MEETING

APPOINT ECONOMIC MINISTER TO OFFICE

Berlin, Oct. 4.—President Von Hindenburg today appointed Dr. Julius Curtius, minister of Economics to be foreign minister and interim successor of Dr. Gustav Stresemann, who died yesterday. Dr. Curtius has held prominent position in German political life during the past few years and was Chancellor for short time in 1927. He is a member of the Peoples party of which Stresemann had been leader.

TRAFFIC OFFICER FOUND INJURED

Picked Up Unconscious Beside Wreck of Motorcycle

Hamilton, Oct. 4.—Found lying on the roadside, injured fatally it is feared, Traffic Officer Fred Bingley of Hagersville, was brought to St. Joseph's hospital tonight. His motorcycle was wrecked against a tree. What occurred the officials are at a loss to know. Bingley is still unconscious and suffered a fracture of the skull, it is believed.

J. McDoGall, of 11 St. Clair Ave., manager of the Stevenson Fruit Co., was driving two miles south of Caledonia on the provincial highway about 7:30 o'clock when he saw the prostrate form just at the edge of the cement. A few feet away lay the motorcycle, smashed beyond repair. McDougall hurried to the scene, picked up the injured man and after medical attention he was brought on to the local hospital. His left leg was badly crushed and there is a long deep laceration on the scalp. Bingley suffered also from loss of blood, but it is not known what time elapsed between the time of the accident and the discovery.

GALES CAUSED HEAVY DAMAGE

Uprooted Tree On Dundas Street Tears Down Electric Wires

High winds which raged here last night caused considerable damage to Hydro and Telephone poles in this city, the chief damage being done on Dundas Street, where a large tree was uprooted and fell across the roadway, carrying with it three hydro and telephone poles, as well as taking out a corner of a house owned by D. S. Larue, at the corner of Church and Dundas Streets.

City police who were called, kept by the scene, as several live wires lay on the pavement in two or three places even burning holes in the pavement. Fortunately no serious damage was done, and today the poles are being replaced and City men are busy sawing up the tree, for a time completely blocked the street, which is the main Provincial Highway through the city.

CONVICTED OF KEEPING LIQUOR

William Vivian, 329 Front Street, appeared for trial this morning on a charge of keeping liquor for sale, contrary to the Liquor Control Act. After all the evidence had been heard His Worship Magistrate Mikel reserved judgment until next Friday, October 11th. Sergeant Harman testified that when the Vivian apartment was raided on September 19th, he found 117 bottles of beer and a part bottle of whiskey, while P. C. Isard swore that he had seen parties coming and going from the apartment for a period of weeks. P. C. Thompson and P. C. Howard corroborated the other two constables' evidence. E. J. Butler appeared for the accused and B. C. Donnan, Crown Attorney, prosecuted.

Invite All Elements Opposed To Ferguson To Join Movement

WETS AND DRIES

Harold Holton, Mayor Fraser And Dr. Faulkner All Suggested

Liberal party plans for the coming election are to say the least, chaotic. There are too many "ifs." Mayor W. A. Fraser, of Trenton, might be a candidate, but will not make a decision until after next Thursday, on which day a meeting is being planned open to "all those opposed to the Ferguson Government." The same condition applies to Dr. J. A. Faulkner, of Belleville who was another of those asked to take up the forlorn hope of a Liberal candidature in West Hastings.

The Liberal Convention, held in the party's local committee rooms yesterday afternoon, was slimly attended. Less than twenty were showing up. Mr. E. J. Butler took the chair and Harold Holton was appointed secretary of the meeting. Charles Hanna, ex-M.P., whom pre-convention talk had mentioned as the possible nominee, absolutely refused to run; for business reasons, so the convention had to cast around for a substitute. Mr. Butler refused and Colonel Roscoe Vanderwater, of Sydney, also turned down the nomination on the plea that the party should be a Belleville man.

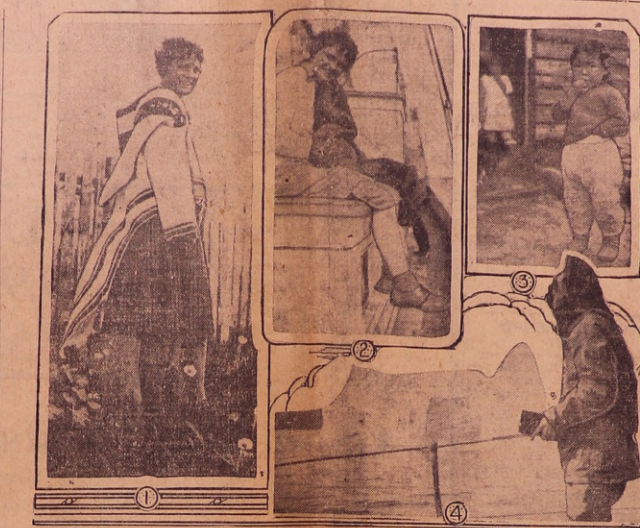

At this stage it was suggested by Mr. Hanna that the convention adjourn and arrangements be made for a meeting next week to properly organize the party in the riding. Colonel Vanderwater followed with a motion to the effect that a meeting be held on October 10th to which should be invited all opponents of the Ferguson Government, so as to secure if possible, the support of the Prohibitionist element. This resolution was passed and it is hoped by party workers that a reasonably-sized turnout will be secured for the next meeting.

Dr. J. A. Faulkner, who had been asked to accept the nomination, withheld his decision for a few days and will probably not take any action until after next Thursday. Mayor Fraser, of Trenton, called on the telephone this morning, said that he would not be in a position to say anything until after the forthcoming meeting, at which he hoped an opponent would be secured for the Conservative nominee.

A Wide Platform
So there the matter rests. The candidate, if a candidate is secured, will be the straight nominee of the Liberal party, but will invite support from all elements which can be arranged against the Conservative Government. The appeal will be wide and varied. "Wet" Liberals, who would like to see the Liquor Control Act broadened out to be as welcome as the "dry" Liberals who abhor the thought of liquor. It is hoped, too, to gather in the net the out-and-out prohibitionists who acknowledge no party and such "dry" Conservatives as do not believe the Government should make a profit from the liquor trade.

It will be a strenuous party and any candidate who can satisfy the diverse elements of its make-up will deserve to be elected, but he probably won't be.

W. C. T. U. Takes a Hand
It is understood that later in the afternoon the leaders of the W. C. T. U. and the Royal Templars Society held a quick conference and informed the Liberal chiefs that they would no support any candidate who was not above reproach as a prohibitionist. Mr. Harold Holton was suggested as a suitable man and the suggestion was made to him that he enter the field on a bone dry platform. Mr. Holton reserved to himself the right to be brought up at next week's meeting.

TWENTY LIVES IS GHASTLY TOLL IN PRISON RIOT

Ringleaders of Plot Commit Suicide Rather Than Surrender

Canon City, Colo., Oct. 4.—The definite end of the prolonged and chaotic prison riot at Colorado penitentiary came at dawn today when the beleaguered convicts, more than 150, walked from cell house number 3 in orderly fashion with their hands high above their heads.

The end of the riot came after half a day and a night of furious fighting during which a number of guards, held hostage by the prisoners, were murdered when their demands to Warden P. E. Crawford for safe conduct from the prison were refused. During the riot dynamite, barages of machine gun and rifle bullets and tear gas bombs failed to vanquish the prisoners.

In the cell house today the guards found the bodies of the ringleaders dead about two hours. It was noted that the rebellion had calmed about two hours before the prisoners surrendered. The exodus of convicts followed immediately upon the receipt of the news that the ringleaders of the rebellion which took the lives of at least twenty men had shot themselves early this morning.

One of the remaining guards held hostage, for it is believed having been put to death by convicts, on his release said that Danny Daniels, Major Please Turn To Page Three

AVIATORS LOST ON COAST LINE

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 4.—The sparsely-inhabited coast line of British Columbia holds a secret of the whereabouts of the Russian aviators piloting the monoplane "Land the Soviets" from Moscow to New York. The aviators left Sitka, Alaska early yesterday on a flight of nine hundred miles to Seattle and since then nothing has been heard from them.

No great fear is felt for the aviators however, as they might easily have come down with safety in their seaplane at any one of the several safe harbors on the Pacific coast and yet be out of communication with the outside world for some time.

MARRIED 5TH TIME

Three Rivers, Que., Oct. 4.—Madame Jacques Bourassa, 78 years of age, went to the altar for the fifth time yesterday, marrying Moise Bellemare, 81 years of age. Both were residents of the Parish of St. Barnabe, near this city.

EXPECT FIGHT IN PRINCE EDWARD

H. S. Colliver May Be Opposed By Former Picton Mayor

Picton, Oct. 4.—The Prohibition Union, Liberals and Progressives have called a mass meeting for Friday, October 4 in the Parish House, A. W. Roebuck, K. C., of Toronto, will be the chief speaker.

At an executive meeting of the three above mentioned parties J. H. Porte, optometrist, ex-Mayor of Picton for many years in the jewelry business, was recommended to the convention, and he will likely be the choice Mr. Porte is a Conservative but broke away to support Mr. Raney in the last election.

To date no other name than the present member H. S. Colliver, has been spoken of in regards to a government candidate. It may be a close battle if these two men contest Prince Edward. Both are Conservatives, widely known and have wide interests. Organization is being carried on by both parties.

Frank Dempsey has been appointed returning officer succeeding John Weese who declined the post. Both are prominent Ameliasburg farmers. Mr. Dempsey lives near Albany.

URGE SUPPORT FROM CITIZENS FOR ICE ARENA

Five New Members Added To Board of Directors At Recent Meeting

TO COST $104,000

Launch Extensive Campaign To Sell Stock For New Rink

Rapid strides are being made in the erection of Belleville's new artificial ice arena and if the present plans mature, the rink will be ready for use by December 1st. The new arena will fill a long-felt need here as Belleville hockey teams have always been more or less handicapped through insufficient facilities for training. This year they will not be forced to wait until January before starting to practice.

Belleville fans have always been loyal to their hockey teams and clean sport has always flourished here; the players have always given their best, and as a result, Belleville has earned the name of being one of the finest sporting towns in Ontario.

Some eighteen months ago a movement was made to promote a stock-selling plan to raise sufficient funds to build a rink but the response, while it was enthusiastic at the start, was not sufficient to justify the promoters in continuing the campaign. Last spring an old Belleville boy, Mr. William J. Hulme, announced that he would contribute $50,000 toward the erection of a modern arena providing Belleville people would guarantee the remainder. A stock company was formed, composed of local citizens and Mr. Bryan, an old friend of the rink, was named director. This group of men together with a number of other public-spirited men and "Red" Riley, three of the rink's directors.

OPTIMISM RADIATED FROM PARTY CONVENTION WHICH BACKED 'BILL' IRELAND TO WIN ON OCTOBER 30

Hon. Geo. S. Henry Shows Great Record of Ferguson Government

DERIDES SINCLAIR

Exposes Shallowness of Liberal Pretensions of Friendship For Temperance

Reviewing the accomplishments of the Conservative Government, Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways, made a stirring appeal for the return of W. H. Ireland the party Whip in the approaching election at the Conservative convention held in Weller's Opera House yesterday afternoon. The auditorium was comfortably filled for the gathering at which the Conservatives fired the first volley in the battle which will terminate on October 30th.

Mr. Ireland's was the only name mentioned and he was unanimously given the acclamation to contest the riding in the forthcoming election. Amid cheers the popular member for West Hastings accepted the confidence placed in him by party stalwarts and promised, if returned, to represent the Conservative cause to the best of his ability in the Provincial legislature.

Mr. R. J. E. Graham, of Belleville in presenting Mr. Ireland's nomination said it was gratifying to see such a large assemblage of loyal supporters of the party. "I am going to nominate a gentleman who needs no introduction to you," said Mr. Graham in proposing Mr. Ireland's name. "You know what he has done, he has represented this constituency faithfully and well, and had the distinction only recently of presiding over the largest gathering ever held in Ontario. He has saved the city of Belleville and the County of Prince Edward thousands of dollars in relieving them of any further costs in connection with the Bay Bridge and just recently we have been informed that largely through his efforts the road from Trenton to Stirling has been made a part of the Ontario Highway system. I take pleasure in submitting the name of Mr. W. H. Ireland, a Prince of Good Fellows as the Conservative motto."

Just before closing his remarks Mr. Graham paid a tribute to the member's gracious wife whom he said had been a great source of inspiration to him. Mrs. Grass, of Sidney Township, seconded the nomination and among cheers Major R. D. Ponton proposed that the ballot be closed.

Thanked Supporters

Mr. Ireland, moved by the sudden turn of events, thanked his supporters in a modest way for the overwhelming reception. "My reward for anything that I may have done is contained in your endorsement. I know that from your spontaneous reception that I am out victorious on October 30th. Paying his earnest tributes to Premier Howard Ferguson, Mr. Ireland said "I don't think that the Province ever had a more efficient Government since Confederation than it has at the present time. Both the Liberals and the Conservatives are endorsing him as their leader," he said.

The nominee brought a round of applause when he stated that he was of the opinion that the Toronto Star, which at the present time is conducting a concerted empty bottle campaign, will have a number of empty seats instead. Mr. Ireland expressed his thanks to Mr. James Hill of East Hastings for any assistance that he has lent in the house. "There is an important job ahead and I am counting on your sincere and whole-hearted support."

Hon. George S. Henry in the course of his address, meted out a vigorous and pointed opposition for their attitude in making the Liquor Question an integral part of the campaign. Mr. Sinclair, leader of the Liberal Party, is proposing a plebiscite but I have failed as yet to grasp anything concrete in any suggestions that he has offered," said Mr. Henry. "He has absolutely no definite line of legislation. In 1926 a popular majority of 350,000 said we want to change to law. The O. T. A. was obviously a wartime measure and the law was passed and legislation enacted on the ground that a referendum would be submitted later. Those overseas returned and when the people got a real chance to express themselves they did so in no uncertain terms and in an overwhelming majority, he emphasized."

"The Government finally believed that conditions are improved over what they were."

PETERBORO INCREASE POPULATION BY 475

Peterboro, Oct. 4.—The assessment rolls on which the taxes of 1929 are based were returned yesterday by city clerk S. R. Armstrong; the figures give Peterboro a total assessment of $27,704.87 and a total population of 22,397. The increase in assessment over last year's figures is $605,185 and the increase in population is 475.

LEGION ON THE AIR NOV. 11TH

Canadian Legion Speakers Will Be Heard On Armistice Night

The secretary of the local branch of the Canadian Legion has received information, that through the kindness of Mr. H. Hatch, Manager of Gooderham & Worts and Mr. Ashworth, Manager of Radio Station C. K. G. W., that arrangements have been made for a program of Legion speakers and well-known artists to be sent over the radio from Station C.K.G.W. (Toronto). This is being done because in previous years the demand was greater than the supply in the way of speakers for each district, so the Ontario branch appealed to Mr. Hatch with the result that the Legion will be on the Air at 8:30 p.m., Monday, Nov. 11th, 1929.

Arrangements are under way for the Local Branch to have a radio installed in the Veteran's Memorial Hall for that night, to which the General Public will be invited to attend. The complete program will be published at a later date.

ADVOCATE STRICT PENALTIES FOR AUTO DRIVERS

Jury At Hamilton Assizes Plead For Strenuous Regulations

Hamilton, Oct. 4.—Stricter motor laws and more severe penalties for reckless drivers, especially those who drink liquor, were advocated by the Grand Jury in its presentment to Justice Wright at the Assizes yesterday afternoon.

That portion of the presentment which deals with the traffic question follows: "We sincerely believe that more specific laws are necessary for the enforcement and control of traffic on our highways. More cases of reckless driving should reach the courts before killings result. We would recommend that the more serious offense the more adequate should be the penalties provided for the rigid control of our highways. We further believe that convictions for reckless driving should result in the cancellation of drivers' permits for periods commensurate with the seriousness of the offense. It is recognized that a high percentage of such offenders are drivers who imbibe intoxicants, and we think some means ought to be sought to reduce this class of drivers. Although a little more might be made on the battle to give our drivers reckless courage, it is certainly not wanted on our highways."

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Work was made for man, and not man for work. Man is not work's servant, save as an almost universal perversion has made him such.—J. O. Holland.

NOTHING TO OFFER AGAINST FERGUSON

There should be and actually appears to be, as little doubt of Mr. W. H. Ireland's election on October 20th to represent West Hastings in the Ontario Legislature, as there was of his selection by the Conservative Convention yesterday afternoon. Mr. Ireland has represented this riding for the past ten years with credit to himself and distinction and profit to his constituency. He is the trusted and valued lieutenant of perhaps the greatest political leader whom Ontario has produced, and is thus in a unique position to serve his riding.

On all political questions Mr. Ireland has stood square with his party, and this loyalty has been repaid by the trust and confidence of Premier Ferguson and his cabinet. It is easily recalled that the stretch of road between Belleville and Trenton was the first section east of Oshawa to be permanently paved when the ambitious project of a hard pavement from Windsor to Montreal was launched. More recent favours such as the taking over of the Bay Bridge and the incorporation of the Trenton-Stirling road as part of the Provincial Highway system are fresh in the minds of the people of West Hastings.

The policy of the Ferguson Government deserves support and commendation. The good roads we now enjoy, our fine systems of primary and secondary education, a balanced budget, the most efficient Workmen's Compensation Act to be found anywhere, a humane Mother's Allowance Act, Old Age Pensions, and many other advanced pieces of Legislation, testify to the efficiency, broad-mindedness, and intelligence of the present government of Ontario. West Hastings will do well to send back a supporter of such a government.

The attacks of the opposition seems to have largely centred on the handling of the liquor question, but even critics of the government admit that Ontario has the best system of Liquor Control to be found in Canada, and a great majority of the people of this Province decided three years ago that Prohibition was unworkable. Premier Ferguson admits that the Liquor Control Act is not perfect, but says that it will be amended as experience shows its weaknesses. An honest man of intelligence could not say more.

Mr. Sinclair, the Liberal leader in Ontario, is vague and uncertain in his promises. If he should be put into power he will administer the act he says until such time as enough people show that they want it changed when he will be pleased to submit a plebiscite. What the plebiscite will be, or what his policy is, no one knows, least of all Mr. Sinclair.

On such an uncertain and nebulous platform the people of Ontario are not going to be fooled enough to turn out their present strong government to place their affairs into the hands of such a man as Mr. Sinclair. The Conservative government under Premier Ferguson will be returned on October 20th, and equally certain Mr. Ireland will be sent again to Toronto as one of its supporters.

SIGN OF STRENGTH TO SEE WEAKNESSES

Opposition candidates, of a certainty, will strive to make capital of the assertion of Hon. W. H. Price attorney general, that stern enforcement of the Liquor Control act will follow the government's return to office. It will be charged that this is an admission of inadequate enforcement during the last three years. The public, on the other hand, is not likely to overlook the fact that there has been better enforcement of the Liquor Control act than there ever was of the O.T.A., and that penalties for infraction of the new legislation are much more severe than formerly.

Bootlegging admittedly has not been completely abolished, but it has been curtailed to a point where it is now an irritation, like a persistent itch, instead of a major malady. And if as much progress is made in the war against illicit traffic in the next few years as has been made since the Liquor Control act became law, the bootlegging trade will be but a rash on Ontario's complexion. It is an optimist, indeed, who can see the day, under any form of liquor legislation or prohibition, when there will be no bootlegging, for human nature being what it is, there will always be those who will pit themselves against the law.

Hon. Mr. Price told his Parkdale constituents that the government intended, if returned to office, "being sterner with the man on the highway who thinks he is the only man on the road; with the man who endangers the lives of others." Terrible toll has been taken on our highways this year and the havoc goes on apace. There are those who will insist that this destruction of life and limb is an outgrowth of the Liquor Control act, though only a small percentage of accidents are traceable to intoxication. There has been a steady increase in the number of motor vehicles, and congestion on the highways has been a challenge to the recklessly inclined.

The government would be remiss, indeed, if, in the face of the accident statistics, it declared itself to be content with existing highway legislation. Mr. Price did not say what form the sternness of the government would take, but it may be presumed it is recognized that fines are impotent to curb the reckless and that imprisonment will be experimented with as a deterrent. The government, in admitting that existing legislation is inadequate, has displayed not weakness but strength.

A LITTLE MORE PRIDE WOULD HELP

The holiday season is over, except for a few stragglers. Many Canadians have visited the United States and must have noticed one or two things of comparative interest.

For instance, did they notice many Union Jacks there? Over here a visitor from Mars might have difficulty in knowing whether he was in Canada or the United States. Tourist homes, hotels and refreshment booths fly Old Glory side by side with the Union Jack. They think it makes an appeal to the tourist from the States. The U. S. tourist home, hotel or refreshment booth proprietors appear to think differently. Anyway, they don't bother to fly any Union Jacks.

Ask any of the Canadians why they fly Old Glory, and they will say it is a compliment to the visitors. Bunk! They merely hope the U. S. flag will act as a bait to Americans to deal with them. Those who exhibit the U. S. flag merely cheapen themselves and cheapen their country. When a man visits another country he wants the country to be itself and not to ape his own country.

Then again, did Canadian tourists in the United States have any difficulty about spending Canadian money there? Within about one hundred miles of the border it was easy enough, but beyond that what did they get when they tendered Canadian dollar bills? A dirty look and ninety cents on the dollar in most cases.

"We're afraid of the United States," a Canadian bank manager said, "and haven't the pluck to treat their money as they treat ours. We are afraid of offending the Yankees by refusing to accept their money. The Yankees stand up for their money and we must admire them for that. We haven't the courage to stand up for our money as the unit of circulation in our own country. I admire the Americans for their stand; but why shouldn't we have backbone enough to stand up for our currency?"

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James N. Bar'ou, M.D.

THE CAUSE OF GAS FORMATION
I spoke once before about a hockey player, who was always bothered with distension of gas before the game and during the rest periods. Once into the game he seemed to be all right; apparently forgot about it. In his case it was due to the swallowing of air, as the gas expelled from his stomach through the mouth was absolutely without odor.

However, most of the gas which distends the stomach and intestines is not due to this swallowed air but to some other cause.
If it doesn't amount to much and there is no distress it is just as well to forget about it. If, however, it becomes a "constant companion," then it would be wise to try and locate the cause.

Now food is naturally the first thought, and there is no question but that food like onions, cabbage, raw fruits, eggs and others just naturally cause more gas than other foods.

Then there is the habit of chewing which is one of the commonest causes of gas distension. If the food is well chewed, moistened, and mixed with saliva or mouth alkaline digestive juice it reaches the stomach in the right condition for the stomach juice to do its work, and very little if any gas will be formed.

Sometimes it is a low or "dropped"

THE RED LEAF

The wine of life is ebbing with the year,
Dreaming of peace I trod the grassy wild.

The curtain of the morning parts,
And folds

On fold draws back, and slowly now appear
The veiled splendors of the Mountain Park.

Each dim, primeval rock is filled with
With royal crimson—oh, a clambering weed

Is now a climbing glory, a great

In wilderness aflame with fires of God!
This, so they tell us, once upon a time

Was a huge crater ringed with tongues of fire,
This softly sloping meadow of smooth rock—

Earth's youthful fires are dead in dust and tears,
The fires of life are fading with the years.

REGULAR ADMISSION

MONTREAL MAN IS VICTIM OF CRASH

Brookville, Ont., Oct. 4.—Jay A. Burns, of Montreal, died in St. Vincent de Paul Hospital this morning of injuries received when the automobile in which he was driving left the Provincial Highway No. 2 at the western town limits early on Sunday morning and entered the ditch. Miss Harold, former teacher for many years at Queen Mary School, Miss Burns was presented with a silver salver by the staff, the address being read by Miss E. E. Styles and the presentation being made by Miss Helen Cooper. Following the banquet, the party adjourned to the home of Inspector and Mrs. H. J. Clarke, where a social evening was held.

MINOR MOTOR CRASHES OCCUR

Considerable Property Damage as Cars Figured In Accidents

Two accidents causing considerable property damage occurred in the city yesterday. About four o'clock yesterday afternoon Richard Smith, of Sydney, while driving out the west entrance of Albert College, failed to look in the right direction before coming out on the Highway and crashed into the side of a car driven by Mrs. Walter McCloud, of Redoubtville. The McCloud car was sent into the left ditch, where it upset, doing some damage to the body and taking off two wheels.

About ten o'clock, on the upper part of Front St., another accident occurred. James A. Robertson, 24 Hillcrest St., had backed out from the curb and was just ready to go ahead when he was struck in the rear by a car driven by John Lee, 26 Peters St. Hamilton. The front of the Lee car and the rear of the Robertson car were badly damaged, but the owners settled the charges amicably.

ated by the Rev. Farnsworth. The bearers were J. Garbutt, John Garbutt, Harry Garbutt, Charles Babcock, M. Maybrie and W. Fanklin. Interment took place in the Belleville Cemetery.

EDWARD O. KEELER
The funeral of the late Edward Oscar Keeler took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Services were conducted at the family residence, 115 St. Street, by the Rev. Dr. Seymour, pastor of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church. Interment took place in the family plot at the Belleville cemetery. The bearers were: Walter Brown, Harry Morgan, T. E. Ketcheson, E. P. Dickens, W. J. Thompson and Harry Stock.

Made Plans For Siege
Canon City, Oct. 4.—Fifteen feet inside the door of the cell house lay the body of one of the guards murdered last night by Daniels, the convicts said. A few feet further along lay the body of Daniel himself. The riot leader and murderer of at least three defenseless guards. The bodies of James Pardue and Major Davis, other ringleaders were also found. They had shot themselves.

The convicts had made provision for long siege. In one corner they had stacked twenty-five huge loaves of prison bread. Two long butcher knives that might have been used as weapons were found nearby. Marvin Duncan was still alive when taken from his cell. Previously he had been numbered among the dead.

The bodies of two guards, Charles Shepard and McClelland were also found. These guards it appeared had been murdered when the rioting was at its height last night.

ed citizens laid the plans for the rink and as a result building operations were started. The arena is now well under way and it is gratifying to know that the building will be completed in time for use this winter. The new rink will obviously mean increased interest in skating and hockey and will provide entertainment for not only the adults but the children as well.

Public Institution
Belleville citizens now have the opportunity to assist in this enterprise. It will be their rink and will be a well public institution and loyal citizens should have a monetary interest in the movement. The shares will be disposed of at $10 each and this amount is not beyond the reach of the average adult. The directors realize that the cost of the artificial ice-plant will run into considerable money and consequently they are conducting this stock-selling campaign. Doubtless citizens will support their efforts to provide Belleville with an up-to-date skating rink that the city may take its place with other progressive centres.

Additional Directors
Five new Directors have been added to the official board namely: Fisher Wilmore Director and General Manager of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company, W. E. Rowsome Director and General Manager of the Stewart Warner-Alentine Corporation of Canada Ltd; George Stokes, District

ORGANIZE GUIDES IN NORTHLAND

Distinguished Guests Attended Meeting of Girl Guide Executive

Girl Guide officials from nine cities and towns including London, Toronto, Cobourg, Oshawa, Kingston and Belleville, representing the Provincial Executive of Ontario, gathered together at the Bay of Quinte Country Club yesterday to conduct a business session and two fine speakers were heard, morning and afternoon.

Fine Speaker
Mrs. R. W. Lang, of Toronto, spoke on "The Meaning of Guiding" and her address was illuminating and instructive. She gave a clear, concise meaning of the term and handled her subject in a splendid manner.

Mrs. Horace Parsons, also of Toronto, was the other speaker of the day and her talk on "Guide Organization in Northern Ontario" was interesting. Mrs. Parsons is a speaker of note and her touches of humour made a great appeal to her audience. Many interesting facts of Girl Guide work "back north" were related and the progress of the movement traced with many humorous sketches.

Luncheon was served at 12:30 o'clock with Mrs. W. N. Ponton presiding in the absence of Mrs. National. Group No. 3 of the Girl Guides, under the leadership of Mrs. Brucecombe, helped to serve the large number of guests present.

The out-of-town guests included Mrs. Johnston, Commissioner for Trent and 19 Trenton ladies, Mrs. Horace Parsons, Toronto; Mrs. W. R. Lang, Toronto; Mrs. King, Niagara Falls; Mrs. Boscaw, Kingston; Mrs. Routledge, London; Mrs. Rathcliff, Oshawa; Mrs. Boucher, Kingston; and Mrs. Fullerton, Cobourg. Mrs. W. N. Ponton and Miss Anne Hurley are the Belleville members on the Provincial Executive.

At the conclusion of the afternoon's business session the members of the executive were entertained at tea by Mrs. W. N. Ponton, at her home "Sunny Cottage," Trent Road, Misses Mary Lou Robinson and Eileen MacLaurin presided at the tea table and Misses Margaret Chant and Dorothy Boyle, served.

Superintendent of Canadian National Railways at Belleville; P. H. Wills, Belleville, Manager of Biggar, Turner and Crawford, Stock Brokers, G. A. Payne, of Belleville; and Mrs. Arnold, Belleville.

At a meeting of the Directors Mr. W. E. Rowsome was appointed chairman in charge of the subscription and a canvass will be made and the charge are confident that they will be met by a ready response. Mr. Hume has already donated $50,000 toward the construction of the arena while the estimated cost will be $104,000. Mr. Hume's liberality should be recognized by the citizens and everyone is urged to subscribe to the best of his ability. The Directors are shouldering a heavy responsibility and the support of the community is due them.

Propose Ball Game

The contractor has assured the Directors that the arena will be ready by December 1st. Mr. S. R. Burrows, one of the Directors in order to promote amateur sport in the city has intimated that he will donate a cup of the value of 100.00 for competition among the Industrial teams of the city. It is proposed that the rink will be used equally for skating and hockey purposes.

It has been suggested that the Belleville Baseball Club who have already received liberal support from the citizens should play an exhibition game for the benefit of the arena. An all-star team can be picked from the city of Belleville from the Industrial League and "Hoot" Gibson is now in the city employed at the Stewart Warner plant and would be available to pitch against the Nationals.

REBELS CLASHED WITH LOYALISTS

Unofficially Reported Three Thousand Troops Disarmed

London, October 4.—An exchange telegraph despatch from Hong Kong said it was unofficially reported there many had been killed and three thousand disarmed at Wuchow, where the rebels and loyalists had clashed. There were said to be large numbers of troops of doubtful persuasion at both Wuchow and Doong.

Some of these generals who were expected to throw their lot with the rebel movement have now sent assurances of loyalty to the Nanking Government. The Nationalist troops have reached Ichang. A large number of Nationalist soldiers embarked on trains ports at Hankow apparently bound for Canton.

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

Vegetable Casserole

Several vegetables can be utilized in this dish, and it is also a good way to use leftover vegetables.

Dice four cooked potatoes and two cooked carrots, and put in the bottom of a casserole. Add to this a cup each of cooked peas, lima beans or string beans, or both kinds of beans. Then put in one-half cup of cooked onions and a minced green sweet pepper. Now add four diced raw tomatoes mixed with salt, pepper, a pinch of sugar, and dot over well with butter.

To top off this dish, cover with a layer of buttered bread or cracker crumbs, or seasoned mashed potatoes. A little stock or gravy added gives richness—put the casserole in the oven and bake slowly until the top shows a nice rich brown.

This is really a very fine dish and most attractive looking.

Baked Eggs with Ham and Rice
Chop one cup of cold ham fine and mix with it one cup of boiled rice, salt and pepper and one tablespoon of butter. Put into buttered patty pans, set them in a large pan and put into the oven till warm. Take out and break into each little dish one egg, sprinkle with salt and pepper, return to the oven and allow the whites to become firm. Remove, place each dish on a small plate and serve.

GOLDEN WEDDING

An amusing story which the Rev. S. Baring-Gould—author of over one hundred books and many noted hymns including "Onward Christian Soldiers"—used to tell was about a garden party given in celebration of the Golden Wedding of the saintly Dean Lefroy of Norwich. A guest brought a visiting Frenchman along with him to the party and introduced him to the Dean.

"Sir," said the Frenchman making a profound bow "I do not quite understand what is a golden wedding."

The Dean put his hand on his wife's shoulder, patted it, and said: "This good lady and I have lived together for fifty years."

"Ah," said the Frenchman as his face lighted with intelligence, "now I understand. So now you are at last about to marry her."

COME INTO THE KITCHEN DAYS

Flavor is the most important thing about pickles, and they must have a lot of it. It is for their flavor that pickles are eaten and for their crisp spiciness that stimulates our appetites for other wholesome but less flavorful foods, and causes us to eat them with relish. For a food to add this subtle quality of enjoyment to a meal is indeed an enhancement of its nutritive worthiness.

The flavor of pickles may be predominantly sour. Those made from fruits are likely to be of the first type, because of their very sweetness by nature, but those made from vegetables may be flavored either way.

Most vegetables offer an excellent medium for pickling because of the large quantity of water they contain. This is easily drawn out by brine or vinegar and replaced by a highly spiced sauce that not only flavors but also preserves the food.

This is only a start in understanding where pickles get their flavor; for the true flavor really comes from spices and herbs, carefully selected and perfectly blended to suit the given food. We travel far and spend time and money freely to secure these spices and herbs, as many of the best known ones thrive only in foreign countries. Among these are thyme, turmeric, mace, cloves, cinnamon, allspice (which is a berry of a single plant having the flavor of a combination of several others).

There are others, though, used both in homemade and commercially made pickles that thrive equally well in this country, and in many cases are found in our own yards. Mustard seed is the most popular of these, and we are all familiar with dill. Though tarragon is seldom requested in our city markets, it may be found there and is in demand by connoisseurs; bay leaves are a regular household staple found in any grocery store. The leaves of the cherry tree and the grapevine are often used in old family recipes, some of which we have published in this department, and give a distinctly pleasing and unusual flavor to them. Thus we see that the flavor of pickles may come from many different parts of the plant: from the fruit or seed as in allspice, mustard, celery, and so on; from the leaf or blade as in tarragon, bay, cherry, grape, and so on; from the flower bud as in cloves, dill, and so on; from the root as in ginger, turmeric, and so on. And that spices may be used either dried or fresh.

The question of flavor, in the selection and enjoyment of foods, has always been one of the utmost importance and greatest consideration to people with an appreciation of fine foods.

With the growing interest in such foods, the use of pickles for their flavor has aroused renewed attention to them in planning menus of artistically blended combinations of foods. In such cases pickles and pickle flavorings are essential.

"STARVED HEARTS"

BY Mildred Barbour

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND THE CHARTERS

Stephen Lane, wealthy, middle-aged despot, has opposed his brother's marriage some twenty years before and now resents the guardianship of his orphaned niece, who has been reared in a French convent. Childless himself, he accepts her as the only Lane heir, but determines to rule her with a tyrant hand as he rules.

Barbara, his lovely wife who sold herself into a loveless marriage and is pitted by Ann Ordway, spinster and lifelong family friend.

II. ENTER MADELON

Barbara Lane was dressed for the street. Her costume was faultlessly in mode. Rich furs wrapped her slim, frail loveliness.

"You are going out?" Lane's tone showed he was habitually overbearing. Her great purple-black eyes sought his face anxiously.

"I was going to meet Madelon," she faltered.

Lane drew himself up in his chair. His eyes were accusative.

"You were going to a railway station, a public place, in that costume?" Barbara's glance travelled downward over her gown, then lifted appealingly to him. A little flush crept through her warm pallor.

"Is there anything wrong?" Lane fairly snorted.

"Is there anything wrong with a costume that would be overlooked for an afternoon tea? My dear Barbara, you are either a child or a fool," he sank back in his chair. "Sometimes, I think you are both."

She made no reply. Indeed, she accepted the situation as though it were a customary procedure, which, perhaps, it was.

Slipping the furs from her shoulders, she tossed them to a chair, removed her smart toque, and, sitting quietly down before the fire, began to strip the long gloves from her hands.

Lane watched under shaggy, iron-grey brows, but he made no comment. Presently he forgot her in the book he was reading.

The afternoon sunlight, that lay golden on the window ledges but dared not penetrate the gloomy chamber, waned and fled. The noise of the street traffic was deadened by thick, ivy-hung walls. The chime of a cathedral clock off somewhere in the recesses of the house and the crackling of the log fire were the only sounds that broke the stillness.

Barbara sat motionless, a beautiful lay figure, her slim white hands folded in her lap. It seemed incredible that she even breathed.

Presently a car dashed by the window, followed the driveway to the porte cochere. The two in the library heard it come to a stop and the sound of Masters, the butler, opening the entrance doors.

Lane looked up from his book. "I fancy Madelon has arrived," Barbara rose with swift grace.

"Shall I be the one to welcome her?" He made a motion of dissent.

"That is unnecessary. Masters will show her in."

an to find a home and real kin half way across the world."

Lane accepted one of the proffered hands.

"I am glad you have arrived safely, Madelon," he said stiffly. "Did you have a pleasant journey?"

"This girl stood waiting with upturned eyes expectant face. After a moment's hesitation, Lane bent and placed cold lips against her forehead. Then he turned to Barbara, lingering in the shadow:

"This is your aunt, Barbara."

Madelon advanced hesitantly. Some of her buoyant assurance had dropped from her. But Barbara kissed her warmly.

"We're so glad you're here at last, Madelon. We've been looking forward to this for a long time, your uncle and I."

Warmth and joyous color flashed again into the girl's face. She was a slim, young creature with big, dark-lashed eyes closely resembling the color of a Parma violet, so deeply, velvety blue they were. They contrasted oddly with hair that swirled round her pretty piquant face like an aureole.

She was gowned in the height of Parisian fashion.

"Uncle Stephen," her eyes flashed mischievously, her pretty voice was archly pleading, "there is a young man waiting outside in the car, such a nice young man, who was so kind on shipboard. May he not come in?"

Lane's face hardened.

Sour Stomachs Sweetened While You Eat

An occasional touch of indigestion is nothing serious, but if you are troubled frequently with sour stomach, heartburn, belching or excessive gas, it's a sure sign of too much acid; a condition that may lead to chronic disorders.

You needn't go on a diet or give up things you like to eat. A little Pape's Diapepsin will instantly neutralize the acids without impeding the assimilation of food, as most stomach remedies do. It will soothe, heal and strengthen the inflamed stomach lining, promote a normal, painless digestion and bring about a permanent correction of the acid conditions.

Don't let sour stomach drift into serious disorders. Take the tried and true way to permanent relief that millions have found effective. All druggists—60c.

"Certainly not! Shipboard acquaintances are dangerous. Barbara, please tell Masters to ask this young person colors this summer."

A look of dismay crossed Madelon's expressive face.

"But Uncle Stephen I was so sure he would be welcome, that I asked him in myself. You see, he is not just a shipboard acquaintance. He is an old childhood friend of mine, whom I saw often at the convent."

He was in the first place properly presented in Paris by my chaplain, Mme. Guilbert, who was a schoolmate of his mother's. Mr. Farley is an American architect who has been studying in Paris. You will find him."

"Madelon," Lane's voice was hard as steel, "the first rule of this house is obedience. If you remain, I shall expect you to observe it."

Madelon bowed her head mutely. Her eyes were dazed, half-frightened, like a child, unaccountably hurt.

In the end it was Barbara who prevailed upon Lane to receive young Duane Farley.

PHOTOGRAPHS IN REGISTRATION OF HOLSTEIN COWS

Breeders Will Forward Pictures Along With All Applications

The Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, through the Secretary, Mr. W. A. Clements, announces that applications for registry accompanied by photographs will now be accepted from breeders who would prefer to do it that way, rather than draw markings of the animal. A machine for the purpose of carrying on the work has recently been installed in the offices at Brantford, Ont., and under this, the latest and most improved method, it is fully expected that more satisfactory and accurate results, at less inconvenience, will accrue to both the registry office and the breeder.

The Holstein-Friesian Association is the first live stock organization in Canada to adopt the policy of making use of photographs in connection with registrations—a big forward move, considered by many prominent breeders to have several distinct advantages, one being that in the case of an animal with numerous color markings, the photographic method will be found a much easier way of obtaining a true likeness.

For the purpose of making the photograph, all the breeder has to do is to make use of a small camera that will produce a film not smaller than 2½ x 3¼ inches, or larger than 3¼ x 5¼ inches. A reproduction of both sides of the animal is necessary. Two unmounted photographic prints of both sides are then attached by a clip to the application form for registry and mailed to the Secretary, who will mount one set on the application, and the other on the certificate returned, at no additional cost.

A circular covering full particulars for taking the photographs and filing them with the application form has been prepared for general distribution among breeders of Holstein cattle.

LEGIONNAIRE IS DEAD IN BERLIN

Hard-Boiled Sergeant Committed Suicide In German Jail

Sidi-Bel-Abbes, Algeria. (By Canadian Press.)—No tears were shed by the hard-boiled corporals and buck privates of the French Foreign Legion when they heard that Peter Klems, a former legionnaire sergeant and one of the most audacious adventurers ever to set foot in North Africa, had committed suicide in a Berlin police station.

Klems had escaped from a French firing squad after being sentenced to death by a court martial for desertion and enlisting with Abd-el-Krim, to whom he became chief of staff.

Six years ago Klems, fleeing before the German police, reached Marseilles and enlisted in the Foreign Legion. He took part in several combats against Abd-el-Krim and behaved so well that he was promoted to a sergeant. Klems' adventurous soul felt, however, that there was more opportunity for advancement with the rebel forces and he deserted to the Rifians. Abd-el-Krim appreciated the skill of Klems as a soldier and made him his chief adviser.

Klems taught the Rifians many modern war methods, especially with artillery. One morning in May, 1926, the second French division, under General Marty, operating along the Moulaya River, reached the foothills of the Rif range.

Targuist, Abd-el-Krim's military capital, lay twenty miles to the north and General Marty in his hurry to capture the rebel chief ordered the line of hills two miles away to be stormed. Four companies were instructed to reach the top of the hills and dig them selves in.

All Song and Dialogue Triumph, featuring Betty Compson, with her violin of stage fame—Coming to The Belle Theatre, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday—Matinee Daily.

Just as the black domes of the Senegalese appeared over the top of the range, 77 millimeter guns raked the ground with appallingly effective shots. It seemed as if the Rifians had had their two long batteries trained upon this point. Twenty-three men were killed and sixty wounded before the four companies could be brought back.

That evening at mess, General Marty said: "Every one of those shells was counted 'Klems.' He must be captured when we get that Rifian army."

But Klems escaped. When Abd-el-Krim's collapse came and it was a year later before a dark-haired girl, employed by the French, enticed him into Foreign Legion territory. He was sentenced to be shot. Five days later he stole the uniform of a French interpreter and walked through the lines, fleeing to Germany. He took up his old trade of burglary, was caught and was being questioned in a Berlin police station, when he slashed his throat with a razor blade.

MINISTER'S SON TO BE MARRIED

London, Eng. (By Canadian Press.)—The romance of a Cabinet Minister's son and the adopted daughter of the late Lord Northcliffe's secretary was disclosed when the announcement was made of the forthcoming marriage of Leslie Montague Thomas, second son of Hon. J. H. Thomas, M.P., Lord Privy Seal, and Miss Ursula Mary Owen, niece and adopted daughter of Miss Louise Owen, of Buckingham Gate.

The father of the bride elect is Herbert Owen, of Canthampton. Her brother and her sister, Barbara, who recently married Harrison Bloom, were also adopted by Miss Louise Owen, who was for 20 years Lord Northcliffe's secretary, and was the plaintiff in the litigation concerning his will.

Miss Mary Owen, a pretty blonde of 23, excels at riding, swimming, golf and tennis. She has travelled widely and is a good linguist.

Leslie Thomas is 24 and is on the London Stock Exchange.

JAPANESE GIRLS GET LEGS STRAIGHTENED

Tokyo. (By Canadian Press.)—The erstwhile demure maids of Japan, like their obese Oriental sisters in Turkey, are finding considerable distress in the mode for short skirts. Time was when the graceful, clinging kimono, trailing the ground, wrapped Japanese femininity in a kindly obscurity. But the advent of occidental hosiery displays have brought pitilessly to public attention the fact that the average Japanese girl would scarcely qualify for the front row of a Broadway revue. Legs here are usually fleshy, lumpy or bowed.

So the girls are going to the surgeons. This started when Miss Hisako Tano went to Aichi Medical University Hospital and emerged with such improved appearance that she is going on the stage as a dancer. Now U.S. university has two or three applications, daily for similar operations.

COLLEGIATE CHATTER

The Bay of Quinte Girls' Basketball League was reorganized last Saturday with four schools in the league.
Belleville, Picton, Trenton and Nap-es, Miss Agnew, of Belleville, was elected president for this year. It was decided to play home and home games for the first time in the history of the league. This gives each team six games. Last year Picton, the winner of the senior cup got into the finals in the Eastern Ontario League.
They eliminated Kingston in the semifinals and in the final match with Ottawa, they were tied at the end of the game and were defeated in overtime play. The games are to be played every Friday night commencing October 11th. The games start at this early date to allow for play-offs and also because, in two of the schools in the league, the girls are not allowed on the gym floor once the boys are finished playing Rugby.

There are two students in the special class who have come to the way from Quebec to study English in our College. They are Ludger Bolvin from Lac St. Jean and Jacques Bellais from Shawinigan Falls.

TO REORGANIZE FRANCE'S ARMY

Paris, France. (By Canadian Press.)
Machine guns; more machine guns and machine guns always. A smaller army, fewer soldiers, but a compact force of trained men and military officers of career.

These are the broad outlines of a plan for the reorganization of the French army, published in the "Review of the Living" under the initials
"ZZZ," when everyone's consent with French military matters has recognized as one of the high officers in the present army.

Plans for the reorganization of the French army have been numerous recently. It has been officially admitted by the French Ministry of war that the French troops were not reorganized at the time of Marshal Foch's death.

The school apparently is not settled yet because the time tables of two forms had to be changed on Wednesday in order to give the students of those forms a proper methodical way of getting their desired subjects without congestion of some classes and delection of others.

Bicycles have been missing from the boys' bicycle room and it seems that some people consider it a good joke to take another's wheel on a rainy day, ride away on it and then leave it elsewhere when they are done with it.
This is a mean trick to play because the wheels are not always found by the rightful owners and some times disappear for ever.

The looker keys have been issued and the pupils are allowed to go to their lockers after the 3rd period in the morning and at the end of the 2nd period in the afternoon by this method, the students are not forced to carry a large number of books for any length of time and may get their books for the last two periods of the morning and afternoon at the end of the previous period.

he was busy with Minister of War Painleve and several advisers with General Weygand. Foch's former right hand man, as collaborator to the Minister of war.

That the French military mind still regards Germany as possible menace to France was shown by the trend of "ZZZ's" article.

"The experience of the late war has proved that a machine gun barrage is impassable, providing the barrage is assured by one machine gun to every 400 yards," he said. "Reduce our eastern and northern frontier to 360 miles —neglecting to take into consideration those sections of it which are made impenetrable by forests, rivers and marshes. Thus we find that 1,500 machine guns are necessary for the establishment of a continuous barrage, requiring 375 squads or 100 companies.

In the present state of our organization, 100 machine gun companies represent 100 infantry battalions, or 11 divisions, which should be occupying our northern and eastern frontiers.
Our present army cannot assure that service."

So widely distributed is the wealth of Australia that only 35,000 persons are taxed on incomes of $3,750 or more.

For several years there has been on foot movement of the higher taxpayers of taxable income. Comparing the year 1926-7 with the year 1925-6, the greatest diminution of taxable income was in the grade $25,000 and more. It amounted to $2.7 per thousand. The other grades in which considerable decreases occurred were $5-250 to $7,500 (21.7 per cent) and $20-100 to $25,000 (14.3 per cent).

The rates are so graded that apart from those who escape taxation altogether most of the tax is paid by a few. The Federal income tax yielded $3,550,770 in 1926-7 and $3,824,259 in 1925-6. This was paid by the 35,104 persons whose taxable incomes were $3,750 or more. The 190,294 whose incomes were less than $3,750 contributed only $4,109,940. The rate of taxation increases so heavily as income rises, that 1,734 persons—those in the $25-100 and more class—paid more than three times as much as the 190,294 who were taxed on incomes of less than $3,750.

BELL TELEPHONE AND NATIONALS HOOK UP TODAY

If Belleville Wins, Third Game Will Be Played In Toronto Tomorrow

Playing baseball today aren't out of the question, a good fast game of rugby being more to the point, but the Nationals and the Toronto Bell Telephone team took the field this afternoon at the Belleville Fair Grounds in the second game of their series for the right to meet Walkerville in the Provincial Finals.

At press time it was not known who was pitching, but Manager Walter Gerow was thought to have selected Utromski to work against the Hello Boys. Utromski was all over their last Saturday in Toronto, and he may be able to go right back in there and copyboy Park.

top them in their tracks. If the Nationals win today there is sure to be a real crowd on hand tomorrow at Conboy Park for the third and final match. The Toronto fans turned out well to support their team a week ago and they saw the best game played this year in the Toronto City League. They will be out for more tomorrow. The team will leave on the early morning train for the Queen City. All this, of course, being dependent on winning the game today, and tomorrow's game will be at three fifteen at able to go right back in there and copyboy Park.

TRI-COLOR WORK OUT IN THE RAIN

Players Disport On Soggy Field—Regular Team One of Heaviest

In spite of the driving rain Queen's rugby squad held a brisk workout on the Lower Campus on Wednesday afternoon, when Gils McGilvey was in charge in the absence of Coach B. Stone, and the players were given a taste of what they might expect if there is wet weather in Montreal on Saturday.

Queen's, when they step on the field against McGill on Saturday, will have one of the heaviest teams the Tri-Color have had in years, the twelve regular players totalling over 2,000, while McGill's regular team goes just a hundred pounds heavier.

The weights of the Queen's players are: Beilston, 184; Carter, 171; Blumore, 142; Munro, 175; Sutton, 138; Abbott, 160; Basserman, 168; Nichol, 165; Kilgour, 210; Stuart, 178; Gourley, 164; Dickey, 178; Elliott, 137; Caldwell, 160; Glad, 190; Hamlin, 160; Gorman, 160; Hendershot, 156; Thomas, 179; De Diana, 151; Hastings, 170; Day, 145; Ralph, 159; Glas, 130; Purvis, 160; Waugh, 195; Davis, 143.

The McGill team is one of the heaviest the Red and White ever had, their weights being: Littlejohn, 210; Macmillan, 210; Holleran, 205; C. Chetoch, 190; Yeung, 185; Nichol, 175; S. Germalin, 175; Urquhart, 172; Swaby, 168; Halpenny, 160; Doherty, 160; Krizewiser, 150; Smyth, 150; Talpis, 140; and Russell, 172.

Montreal—Rain and mud held no terrors for the McGill rugbyists as they floundered around the Molson Stadium yesterday afternoon in the teeming downpour. Indeed, from every point of view the practices were the best the red team has gone through so far, and with three straight days of drills under their belts, the senior red team demonstrated that they are rounding out into a fast, cohesive unit.

Yesterday's drill gave a fairly good indication of just how McGill will line up against Queen's Saturday with the possible exception of three positions, namely snap, quarterback and flying wing. Coach Burridge's last move to assure a competent string of signal shouters was to use Sammy Granger at the keystone position yesterday. Sammy, though short on weight for most of the jobs on a senior twelve, has two years experience in senior football at outside wing behind him and yesterday showed that he will make a big bid for the quarterback job. Coach Burridge feels that Granger is too good a tackler to leave off the regular team though Sammy is somewhat small for an outside wing job. Defensively he mixes with the best of them but his lack of persistence tells against him on the attack, particularly when extension plays are pulled around his end.

Talpis and Nichol were also working at quarter yesterday and when the former R. M. C. man was not shouting signals he got a turn at flying wing. Jerry Halpenny has been bidding for a job at the rover position, too, so there is also competition here. In any case, McGill has five good men for the two jobs and substitute material of high calibre is not lacking.

RACING PROGRAM WAS POSTPONED

Terrific downpour of rain all afternoon caused the postponement of the races scheduled to be held at Brookville under the auspices of the Brookville Fair Association, until Saturday afternoon when the same program which was arranged for yesterday will be staged.

More than forty horses were at the grounds ready for the start, but the rain came down so heavily that racing was out of the question. All the horsemen however agreed to stay for Saturday, when, if the weather is clear, there will be a big crowd in Brookville.

Announcement was made that there will be plenty of entries in the four races to be held. One of the races will have ten entries, while nine horses are ready for another event. Substantial prizes are being given in each event, and the entire program promises to be one of the best ever staged in Eastern Ontario.

SUBMARINE MOUNTAIN DISCOVERED IN SEA

San Francisco.—Word that a submarine mountain, located off the Pacific Coast, west of Catalina Island, has shifted 30 feet from its last known position was wireless to the Examiner short wave station K U P from the Carnegie Institution Experimental yacht Carnegie, which made the discovery. The message stated that the peak, itself about 10,000 feet high, is covered by 5,000 feet of water. The absence of soundings south and east of its peak, it was explained, leaves open the possibility that it may be a ridge instead of an isolated peak.

Pember

Beauty Advisor to smart Toronto society tells why he agrees with Massé of Paris on "foundation cleansing" with Palmolive soap.

MEMBER of Toronto, and of Canadian beauty specialists, speaks with the authority of long experience and expert knowledge on all matters of skin care. "Foundation cleansing," he says, "can best be done with the palm and olive oils found in Palmolive soap. This is the basis of all facial treatments. The skin refreshed and cleansed with Palmolive is most responsive to my own exclusive methods."

The famous Palmolive beauty treatment: With both hands make a bland lather of Palmolive soap and warm water. For two minutes, massage this well into the skin. Then rinse, gradually cooling the water to icy temperature.

This simple method removes all impurities and leaves the skin smooth, refreshed, radiant with healthy, natural color. Palmolive cleanses more gently, more thoroughly.

PALMOLIVE SOAP

BOWLING

The C.N.R. Shop Bowling League got away with a good start at the Recreation Bowling Alley last night when four teams got away for their first league.

The Round House took three points from the Machine Shop. For the Round House, H. Baldree was high with a single of 203 and a total of 586. For the Machine Shop T. Austin was high with a single of 202 and a total of 551.

The Night Hawks and Labourers broke even with two points each. For the Night Hawks, J. Collyer was high with a single of 218 and a total of 621. For the Labourers, S. Symon was high with a single of 218 and a total of 552.

EGYPTIANS HAD A MONETARY SERVICE

Berlin.—Recent investigations have shown that the Egyptians had a regular monetary system a thousand years before the First Greek coins were struck seven centuries B. C. according to Professor Baron Friedrich W. Blass, eminent Egyptologist, writing in the scientific journal Research and Progress.

This Egyptian money was called "shek" and served as a standard in determining the value of food, clothing or payments made in kind for work done. Two shek was a laborer's daily wage. The ratio of value for the same weight was gold 12, silver 6, and lead 3 shek. Duly stamped gold dinars represented the opiate standards. This money fell into disuse in the Middle Kingdom period, centuries before Tut-Ankh-Amen's time, when the Egyptians reverted to primitive barter, owing to the less scientific, but more commercially astute, trading methods of the Phoenicians.

ENGLISH RUGBY SEASON OPENS

Brilliant Prospects of Wales Winning International Honours

London, England. (By Canadian Press)—The international rugby championship for which England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland and France compete yearly looks as if it will be quite as exciting this season as it was last when Scotland won on the post.

Wales have now definitely established themselves as really serious rivals for the honours, a position they have not occupied since 1922. From that year Welsh rugby was extremely disappointing until twelve months ago when, after several experiments, they discovered a back division of considerable value, possessing as it did youth, pace and enterprise.

The Irish and Scottish teams this season will be much the same as last year, though Scotland still relies on J. M. Bannerman, one of the greatest players the game has produced, who is now in the United States. George Stephenson, who though the record holder of "cape", is not by any means a veteran, hopes to attain his ambition and lead an Irish team to the title. This season Ireland plays England in Dublin.

SPORTING SECTION

England will have a number of new faces on their team. Such great stand byes of the past as Coope Smith and Periton will probably not appear again.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Pretty graft is everywhere, so I am told. It's pay or suffer and when you pay you still suffer.
—E. E. Dudding, president Prisoners' Aid Society.

THE COST OF RACKETS

A writer in the October issue of Harper's Magazine estimates that the various "rackets" now being practiced in Chicago cost that city a total of $136,000,000 a year—which figures up to about $45 for every man, woman and child in the city.

That is the price Chicago is paying for having allowed the underworld to establish itself. Or, rather, that is part of the price; that doesn't include any of the indirect losses caused by vice and lawlessness. It is simply the total in cold cash that is extorted from the pockets of Chicago citizens each year.

Chicago, it is good to note, is gradually making headway in its fight against its underworld. It will be a long, slow fight; but Chicago at last is aroused, and the gangsters are losing their power, by degrees.

But it will be a long time before the situation is really cleaned up. Meanwhile, Chicago's citizens will continue to pay their $45 apiece.

EARLY RETIRING

A great deal too much has been said in praise of the old "early to bed and early to rise" slogan.

To be sure it may well lead to health. And health, possibly, may sometimes lead to wealth. But wisdom—well, that's something else again.

There are two kinds of wisdom in this world. One is the kind that enables a man to go about his daily business, keeping out of trouble, earning a living and finding ways of laying aside a little bit of extra money now and then. The other kind doesn't bring such definite rewards. It is the wiser wisdom that keeps a man from getting discouraged and downcast; the soothing knowledge that the world isn't such a bad place, after all, and that most of its pitfalls are affairs that men dig for themselves.

This is the kind of wisdom that leads to contentment and peace. And, oddly enough, you can often gain it by staying up late at night.

This isn't written in support of night clubs, late parties and the like. There is precious little wisdom to be found in such activities. If you are going to get any real good out of keeping late hours, keep them alone; keep them alone and get out of doors.

The mind works better around midnight. To be sure, there is sleepiness to contend with, at first; but after a little while this drops away, somehow, and one is able to think more clearly, to understand more easily, to find reasons for hope where none was visible before.

Then, if one picks his nights right, there is the moonlight.

Moonlight, late at night, when all of the day's noises have gone away to bed, is queer stuff. Nothing looks as it does by daylight. Familiar houses are made to look like enchanted castles. An ordinary row of trees looks mysterious and exciting. The commonness of streets, lying deserted in this strange whiteness, becomes enticing and picturesque with a haunting sort of beauty.

Now all of this is only another way of saying that things look prettier by moonlight than they do by sunlight. Everybody, very likely, knows that. But why do we make it for granted that it is the moonlight that is false?

Maybe we're mistaken. Maybe the unattractive colors that the familiar scene wears by daylight are simply disguises, put there to deceive us. Maybe it is the sunlight and not the moonlight that puts a wrong aspect on things.

Does this sound reasonable? After midnight, when the moonlight floods your back yard, it does. Then it seems quite likely that the enchantment of moonlight is genuine. Then it is easy to believe that we have misjudged our world, and that it is infinitely more beautiful, more mysterious and more enjoyable than we generally suspect.

Maybe this notion is all a mistake. But it's a good notion to entertain just the same. And you'll never get it if you don't stay up late at night once in a while.

"Of course," he said, "we have better winter climates than the Riviera right here at home, but all along the Riviera the hotels are good."

"Now, our southern hotels, when you get off the beaten track—well, I'll tell you a story."

"A southerner advertised his hotel as a winter bower of roses and humming birds. A New Yorker read the ad., and the name of the southern town, Ossawatimie, sounded very attractive and old world to him, so he wrote and asked for terms."

"The southern hotel man hurried home to his wife with the New Yorker's letter."

"Mother," he panted, "here's a letter from a New Yorker. He wants to come down here for the winter, but he asks if we got a bath. What'll I tell him?"

"Tell him the truth," the hotel man's wife said. "Tell him if he needs a bath he'd better take it before he comes."

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James A. Barton, M.D.

DIFFERENT TYPES OF WAKEFULNESS

You most people frequently who tell you that they never sleep, that they lie awake night after night and get perhaps but a few minutes sleep each night.

Now such a thing as complete wakefulness for any time, even a few days is so rare that it is only seen in severe brain conditions. As a matter of fact these "sleepless" individuals get more sleep than they think, but because they find themselves awake during the night, dream considerably, or have some difficulty in getting off to sleep, imagine they get little or no sleep.

Now although the cause of sleep is unknown there is nothing more important to healthy sleep and if you are not getting the amount you need the reason should be sought at once.

There is the individual who has considerable trouble in getting off to sleep, sometimes it takes two or three hours, but finally he gets to sleep, and sleeps pretty well until morning. Then there is the other type where the individual has no difficulty getting off to sleep, in fact can hardly wait to get to bed, he is so sleepy, but in two or three hours he awakes and finds it difficult to get off to sleep again.

Now where there is difficulty going to sleep it is usually because the individual has something on his mind, is worrying, and finally from sheer exhaustion he ceases to worry, and so goes off to sleep.

Where the individual goes off to sleep readily but wakes during the night it is usually because he is not well, and is exhausted, or because of infection, perhaps he is overworked. After two or three hours of sleep, these physical causes that "irritate" his body and mind become active again, and he awakes.

The above types of sleeplessness and their causes may help you to go after the cause of your own sleeplessness. Remember, being too drowsy all the time, or wanting to sleep all the time, if often a sign of infection or poisoning from neglected teeth or constipation. Sleep is as important as food, so see that you get enough, but not too much.

Sunlight, and a long bright wind. The shadows running black on the grass.

The low clouds race, and the ruffled wings of blown birds lift and pass.

Out of nowhere the long wind comes, And who can say where at last it goes?

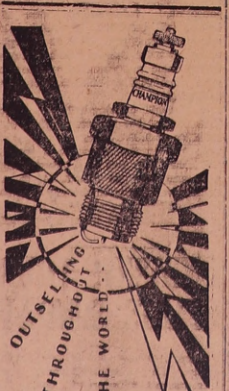

And where does a shadow have an end? There is never a soul who knows.

Out of nowhere we each have come, And where, and when, and how shall we go—

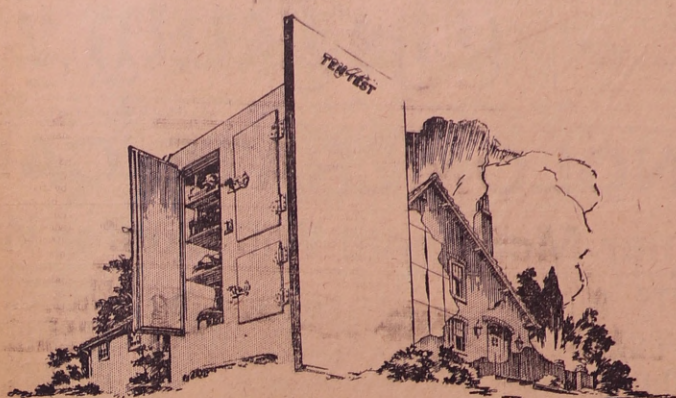

The wind, and the blowing bird, and I, And the shadows—who can know?—Grace Noll Crowell in The Century Magazine.

ANOTHER MYSTERY OF SARGOSSA SEA

Vancouver, B.C. (By Canadian Press) Another mystery of the sea has been added by the report of Captain Carleton, master of the Motorship Parrakoola, which arrived from Europe recently.

The ship left Europe on May 1 for Australia and ten days later was at the Sargossa Sea. Sighting a derelict caught in the great desolator, Captain Carleton turned the Parrakoola as close as possible and the captain read the name "Quasco Queen" in the wreck was lumber-laden and badly weather-beaten.

Wireless notification of the presence of the derelict was broadcast by Captain Carleton and the same night the United States freighter Eastern Glade replied that she had sighted the derelict on March 30.

Lloyd's lists carry no such name as the Quasco Queen, and shipping lines dating back many months do not show her. It is possible she has been a derelict for years and has finally been caught in the toils of the great net of all ocean graveyards, the Sargossa Sea, where wrecks drift, endlessly through the years until they disintegrate from wear of seasons and rust and rot.

In sailing ship days many a staunch craft was caught in the floating marine vegetation and abandoned, because there were no means of rescue once the vessel was well within the tangle.

QUEEN HELPS GIRL GUIDES

An interesting secret gift by the Queen was revealed when her Majesty opened a new Girls' Hostel at Shore-ditch.

Lady Bertha Dawkins, who is connected with the Girls' Guild of Good Life, under whose auspices the hostel has been built, announced that she had been permitted to reveal that the Queen had been one of their chief benefactresses.

"The total cost of the hostel is $15,000," said Lady Bertha. "Out of that her Majesty has paid more than half. She was the first contributor to the building fund when she gave $100 and then she gave us $5,000 from the proceeds of the exhibition of her Doll's House at Wembley."

"Last autumn, when we did not know which way to turn for further funds, the Queen gave us another $2,000. In all her Majesty has thus contributed $8,100."

BLACK BROADCLOTH IN HIGH FAVOR

There is every indication that the black broadcloth suit is building up a case for itself that will soon place it in the line of "types in demand." It would not be surprising as a matter of fact, to discover as the fall season gets under way that the black broadcloth suit will become one of those styles with the good fortune of familiar classification like the "twisted suit," the "black crepe dress," or the "chiffon dance frock."

The first strong wave of encouragement that gave the black broadcloth suit authority was its general acclaim at the August couture openings in Paris. The repeated showing of suits throughout the collections made the suit a type something that was taken for granted, particularly when they were done in tweed, as many of them were.

But it was a different story when suits were presented in black broadcloth—a story that had the backing of several leading couturiers. However, the fact that a style idea happens to be repeated in several showings does not mean immediate success.

PUDDINGS THAT WILL PLEASE (Barbara B. Brooks)

According to an old proverb, "The proof of the pudding is in the eating," and now is a good season of the year to test the truth of the saying. Every one's appetite is whetted by the sharp air, and the ices and parfaits which were so popular in hot weather, retreat to the background as our choice turns to hot puddings or heavier desserts with which to finish off the meal.

Puddings may contain cereals, eggs, fruits or honey as well as other products, but these foods are considered important for our general well-being and we are wise to consider this factor in selecting our dessert. Following is a pudding recipe that will please:

Hubby Date Pudding

2 cups dates, seeded and chopped fine
1/2 cup nut meats, cut fine
2 eggs, beaten light
3/4 cup honey
1/2 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup all bran.

Mix well, bake 20 minutes in moderate oven (375 degrees F.). Serve with cream, whipped or plain. May be rolled in powdered sugar and serve.

A noted European educational states that all children up to the age of 18 or 20 should seriously study singing.

Tweeds and woollens led the costumes at the big day last Saturday at Belmont.

At one of New York's leading dress openings this week skirt lengths varied for sports wear and three inches below the knee was advocated, extending to eight inches in afternoon costumes, while for evening wear ankle length was stressed with attentions to the floor at the sides or back.

Women's footless skating socks are being featured for the coming season's winter sports by a Glasgow manufacturer of knitted garments, and a narrow band which passes under the instep, leaving apertures for the heel and toes, holds the sock in place, thus providing the necessary warmth around the ankle without causing undue bulk inside the boot.

SOME HELPFUL HINTS FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

If you make the top and bottom hems of glass curtains the same width, you can turn them after laundering and thus lengthen their lives tremendously for the portion that blows against the screen is the part that wears out.

It is a good plan to have a small magnifying glass, such as an inexpensive linen tester, handy on the bathroom shelf to make sure the children's scratches, cuts and other minor wounds are perfectly clear of extraneous material. This tester will discover tiny bits of dirt, hair or fuzz that the naked eye can never see. Removed, the wound becomes simply a matter of healing. Many bad cases of infection might have been prevented by just such a simple device.

IS YOUR APPETITE POOR?

PERHAPS by dieting or other means, you have been treating the symptoms, rather than the cause. Loss of appetite, heartburn, sour stomach, are symptoms that the blood is impure. This explains the successful use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in all such cases. Here is a typical example—

"I began to feel easily tired," writes Miss Margaret White, of Perry Sound, "and when I sat down to a meal I felt I did not want to eat. A doctor told me I was anemic but I made little progress with his medicine. When I started taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I soon noticed that my appetite was improving, that the headaches came less frequently and that I was not so easily tired. Now my weight has increased, my cheeks are rosy and my aches and pains have vanished."

"STARVED HEARTS"

BY Mildred Barbour

III. LOVE POINTS A DOOR

From the first moment that the young architect entered the library, Barbara was aware that he was in love with Madelon.

She glanced apprehensively at Lane, hoping that it escaped his sharp eyes. He had withdrawn to his chair by the reading table. His whole attitude indicated that the young man's presence was annoying to him.

Madelon seemed serenely unaware of the strained situation. She settled herself comfortably before the fire and chatted with Barbara.

Duane Farley devoured her with his eyes.

Barbara's throat tightened. They were so young, so happy. She shivered as she felt Stephen Lane's gaze up on them.

When Masters brought in the tea, Lane unbent to hospitality sufficiently to offer young Farley a Scotch and soda. He even vouchsafed a remark or two. Finally he left the room with out apology.

A few minutes later, Barbara, with rare tact, excused herself and left the lovers alone.

Young Farley moved promptly to Madelon's side, caught both her hands in his, pressed them to his lips.

Madelon looked down at him smiling. She was in love with love. Farley was only an attractive personification of the abstract, but in her experience, she did not realize that.

"What do you think of my new family?" she asked.

He hesitated.

"Do you want the truth?"

"Of course," she nodded.

"Then—I think your uncle is going to prove an old tyrant."

She looked thoughtful.

"He does seem a bit formidable, doesn't he? But Barbara's darling. Do you know I believe she is afraid of him?"

Farley nodded. His eyes were troubled.

"I don't like the atmosphere of this place. Forgive me, if I seem to criticize your relatives, but—" he broke off and drew her closer. "Marry me, sweetest, now, today," he pleaded earnestly. "Why must we wait? Let me take you away from here; let me ask Lane for you now."

She laughed happily.

"Such impatience!"

Barbara, moved impulsively, she laid her lips against his hair in a fleeting caress. It was remarkable that she thought tawny, with the veriest suspicion of the wave across the top. His eyes were tawny, too, blending harmoniously with the tawny of his skin.

A splendid, clean-lined youngster with the shoulders of an athlete and the sensitive hands of an artist!

"Come, dear," he pleaded, "give me an answer now! You've kept me waiting long enough. I haven't much to offer, it's true, but with you beside me, I can accomplish wonders. Don't shut yourself up in this place. Why, it's like a mausoleum! And Mrs. Lane—did you notice her? She looks like a ghost, an echo of something that was once alive."

Barbara's returning footsteps in the hall made them move apart hastily. Lane followed her into the room. He was angry that she had left them alone. His glance, flashing lightning like, rested upon Farley. His expression said plainly: "Is that young putty still here?"

The young man rose instantly, and made his adieux to Barbara and Madelon. To Lane, he said:

"May I be a few minutes of your close as possible, tomorrow, Mr. Lane. I will call at your office, if you will appoint me an hour."

His manner, Madelon's swift flush, would have been illuminating to one less astute than Lane.

He smiled grimly.

"Tomorrow at eleven," he said briefly.

His nod was dismissive.

"Thank you, sir," Farley bowed. He lingered over his handclasp with Madelon as long as he dared.

"Till tomorrow," he managed to whisper.

"Goodnight!" there was a happy lilt in Madelon's young voice.

"Goodbye!" said Lane grimly. Madelon's eyes followed Farley's departing figure, lingered on the door after he had swung to behind him. She felt a strange premonition of trouble. Catching Lane's glance, she shivered unaccountably.

Barbara was standing by the window, gazing out into the gathering dusk. Unconsciously, Madelon moved to her side as to a comforting presence, and Barbara reached out and drew her into the shelter of her arm.

For Barbara knew, as well as if an oracle had spoken, that as far as Madelon's future was concerned, this was the end of Duane Farley.

IV. THE WILL OF THE TYRANT

Luncheon in the Lane household was an awkward meal. At dinner, under the influence of savory food and a little wine, Lane unbent to partial geniality. The breakfast coffee—and rolls was not a public function.

Barbara was not required to preside, and Lane ate hastily with one eye on the financial pages of the morning newspaper. But luncheon, to which he returned punctually each day at 1 o'clock—and was to the chef if it were not ready promptly on the hour—was a ceremony at which the presence of every member of the family was required.

Madelon, on her first attendance at this midday function, found herself wondering why Lane demanded their presence. He ate in silence, cold, taciturn, remote. Barbara scarcely spoke except to issue occasional, low-voiced orders to Masters. A wave of utter depression swept over the girl.

When, at a nod from Barbara, she was permitted to withdraw from the table, Lane looked up abruptly.

"Come into the library in half an hour. I want to talk to you."

Swift color flew to Madelon's cheeks.

Surely that must mean that Duane Farley had carried out his determination to ask for her hand!

She hurried into the music-room to while away the intervening thirty minutes and was rambling through McDowell when Barbara stopped in the doorway.

"When you have finished your talk with your uncle, will you come to my sitting room, Madelon?"

sitting room, Madelon? Ann Ordway, an old and very dear friend of the family, is dropping in to meet you. Barbara's eyes were very kind. There was wistfulness in the gaze she bent on the younger girl. "She seemed about to say more, but changed her mind and turned away."

Madelon heard the soft trailing whisper of her chiffon tea-gown across the parquet floor. It sounded like a sigh.

Stephen Lane was sitting by the table, drumming absently on its inlaid surface, when Madelon entered the library on the stroke of the appointed hour.

He didn't ask her to be seated and he wasted no time in coming to the point.

"That young puppy, Farley, had the impertinence to ask my permission to marry you when he called this morning."

Madelon caught her breath. Her eyes shone.

"I sent him about his business, of course."

She gasped.

Costly car beauty at an amazingly low price

NEVER before has an inexpensive car been distinguished by such stylish lines, rich colors and artistic finish as are now winning sweeping success for the new Whippet.

From an engineering standpoint, too, the new Whippet is the most advanced car in its class. It is the only low-priced car that offers all these important advantages; extra-long wheelbase, with larger bodies and roomier interiors; oversize ball-joint tires, shock absorbers and longer springs for greater riding comfort; big, four-wheel brakes—more braking area than any competitive car; higher compression engine for more speed, power and pick-up; invar-strut pistons; full force-fed lubrication; silent timing chain; "Finger-Tip Control"; and, in the Six, a seven-bearing crankshaft.

Yet, with all its superiorities of design and construction, Whippet's price is so low as to make it the outstanding Four or Six value. Dependable performance and low operating costs make Whippet's upkeep a negligible factor in your budget.

GOOD IN EVERY WAY.

Baby's Own Tablets. Banish Baby's hood and Childhood Ailments.

A medicine that all mothers prize—one good in every way—one that will quickly banish the minor ills of babyhood and childhood is the medicine to keep in the medicine chest. It is the only medicine that can be used in emergency. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets—they are helpful at all times. They are mild but thorough laxative, act by stimulating the bowels and stomach, banish cold and simple fever, correct constipation and indigestion, relieve colic and diarrhoea and make the cutting of teeth easy.

Thousands of mothers use no other medicine for their little ones. Among them is Mrs. J. H. Bromley, of New York, who writes: "I have four children and whenever any of them are ill I always use Baby's Own Tablets and have found them good every way. I would not be without the Tablets and the book, 'Care of the Baby in Health and Sickness.'"

Baby's Own Tablets are sold at medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from T. B. Williams.

ALEX WEIR HERO OF YESTERDAY'S BALL GAME AS LOCALS DEFEAT POWERFUL BELL TELEPHONE TEAM

Nationals Playing Crucial Fixture at Conboy Park Today

A WHITE-WASH

"Peeny" Mills Hammers Out 4 Hits And Leads In Batting

By PERCE COLE
Staff Sports Writer

Showing the fighting spirit which has been manifest in Belleville base ball teams for the past few years, the Nationals pulled out on the long end of a 5 to 0 score yesterday afternoon in the second game of the series with the Toronto Bell Telephone squad, and caused the series to go three games.

Strutting in much the same manner as last Saturday's game at Toronto, the core for five and a half innings was nothing to nothing, but in the sixth the heavy bats of the Nationals began their work and the game was in the bag. The Nationals scored two in the sixth and three in the seventh, while Alex Weir, ace of the Nationals, held the Hello boys, runless.

Every man on the Belleville team turned in a fine game, only one error being recorded against them, and that one was somewhat excusable. And added to their fielding they hit the ball hard and often, getting twelve hits to their opponents' five. Although the field was muddy, following the rain of the past two days, showing that pick-up, and throws and throws were the features of the game.

Toronto Today

Belleville fans were loving the day for Toronto where the third game will be played this afternoon and the Nationals are assured a real hard of rollers. They are all confident that the Hello boys will come through with a win and there is a real chance to meet Walkerville Chicks in the series for the Ontario finals. If the Nats. win this afternoon, the next game will likely be at Walkerville on Wednesday afternoon.

Manager Walter Grow had no made up his mind who to pitch today and it is just a toss-up between Utroki and Alex Weir. Weir's arm was in fine condition after yesterday's game, and if he is right he may be sent right back at the Toronto team. He held them to five hits yesterday and allowed only two walks, as against the record set up by Utroki who allowed four hits, walked six and hit one in the first game at Toronto a week ago today.

Yesterday's game was the first shut-out the Nationals have had this year, although they have won games by one run many times this year. And in addition to this, the game was the fastest played on the local lot this year at least, it taking just one hour and twenty-seven minutes to complete. To many of the fans in the stand it seemed too long at that for a cold wet wind blew across the Fair Grounds and unless the fan was fortunate and had dressed more warmly than usual, he or she suffered considerably.

Alex Weir's Double
When Alex Weir doubled out a long double in the sixth with Peeny Mills on base as well as his brother Harry. The fans in the stands shouted themselves hoarse, and from that time on the Bell Telephone did not have a chance. In fact they blew wide open in the seventh and allowed three more runs to slip over the plate making one error, and aided by four bally hits off Giliepie the fourth right hander of the Telephone team.

"Peeny" Mills, starting catcher for the Bell Telephone team on two different occasions why he is rated the best backstop in amateur ball today in this province, when he caught two runners off first base before they had a chance to get back to safety. In addition to this bit of head work he clouted out four hits in four times at bat for a perfect average, scoring one run himself and drove in two more with a long double in the seventh. It was certainly his day, and he made the most of it with a vengeance.

Harry Mills and V. Weir came out of their batting slumps yesterday for they accounted for three hits between them. V. Weir getting two. Both scored one run each, and their fielding was all that could be desired. Harry Mills, especially playing great. Clarke's Three-Bagger. He accepted fifteen chances at first without a slip, and some of the stops he made were out of the ordinary. Alex Weir made five assists during the game in the sixth making three stops and throws to first to retire the side.

"Pinky" Clarke got the longest hit of the day when he banged out a three bagger in the sixth innings, but third base was as far as he got, being left stranded there when the next man up hit to A. Weir for an easy out. Mipper Jones, Bell Sniderman and Weir were the others who made safeties. Jones getting two singles.

Giliepie started off well, the Nationals seeming to be unable to fathom his delivery. He had a nice working drop at the first of the game, but when the local finally got to him, he clouted it all over the lot. It was just as he was about to get to the hearing for the Bells this afternoon, and if Carlton is the choice the Nationals will have to get their eye on the ball better than they did last Saturday as he limited them to only six hits on that occasion.

Giliepie had five strike-outs, and Weir had six, while Weir walked two and Giliepie one. Until the sixth innings it looked like a repetition of the game a week ago, for up until that time only six hits had been made there by each team. The Nationals sure broke out on a batting spree then, however, and they gave Weir a commanding lead which let him simply coast to victory.

Harry Blakely at short and Pinky Clarke at the same position for the Bells both turned in nice games. Clarke having three put outs and Blakely making four assists and one put out. Clarke nearly robbed Peeny Mills of his first hit, for he went away in behind record to knock it down, but was out of position to throw the ball anywhere.

The Toronto team made the only double play of the game, this being made to order and pulled them out of a bad hole in the seventh. With the bases loaded, and Bennett on third, H. Mills was ordered to bunt for an attempted squeeze play, but he dummed the ball in the mud in front of the plate and Thompson stepped on the plate forcing Bennett and then threw to first to get Mills. Belleville scored their runs when H. Mills singled in the sixth after V. Weir had struck out and Peeny followed with his third hit of the afternoon. Blakely went out to Thompson at first, but Alex Weir came through with his first hit of the series and drove out a long double, which on a dry field would have been a homer, but at that it was sufficient to score the Mills Brothers. V. Weir must go the lion's share of the credit for the win, as well as his battery mate, Peeny Mills. They worked well together and yesterday stood out head and shoulders over the opposition battery.

In the seventh, Sonny Green started off with a single and Bennett was safe on an error by Giliepie who threw the ball wide of first base. Green continued on to third and Bennett to second. Bob Scott then came through with a single, scoring Green and Bennett was held on second. Very Weir then singled and the bases were loaded, but Bennett was out at the plate and H. Mills was out at first when a squeeze play failed. Big Peeny then connected with the ball for his fourth hit of the day, a rousing double, which scored Bob Scott and V. Weir with the fourth and fifth runs respectively.

These two innings took whatever fight there was left in the Bell Telephone out of them and from then on they were never close to scoring.

Frigid Weather Failed to Restrain Belleville's Die-Hard Ball Fans

(By SAM R. CURRY)

Oh! Clunk! Wotta Game. Wotta Game. I just splendid the way those Nationals of ours performed yesterday. Wasn't it exciting, and oh say, you see that "Peeny" Mills, the way he played, wasn't it just gorgeous. Gee, and don't you think we'll beat them today?

Yes, Sir, yesterday's ball game was all that and more.

It certainly was not baseball weather, no, no, by a jug-full, but fifteen hundred fans will testify that it was the best game played here this year.

The players were apparently stung by the chilling breezes, as well as the cash customers. At any rate they completed the game in record time: one hour and thirty minutes to be exact.

Usters and fans were in order yesterday and the less windy even appeared in over-shoes. They were the die-hard variety, those fans who graced the stands, loyal fans, loyal to the team and every mother's son of them had no regrets at having attended when it was cold.

The day broke clear and cold and detestable persons gloated loudly as a few spatters of rain early yesterday morning threatened to call a second postponement. The weather men say it was not a joking mood, either and not once did the sun appear all day to lend the least encouragement to the gloom.

Belleville fans do not let disagreeable weather interfere when there's a ball game and in mid-afternoon, they came, hundreds of them in Ford's and in Packards, bent on seeing the Nationals in action.

The grandstand at the Exhibition park is not the most cozy place on a cool October afternoon, but what mattered yesterday. The executive of the ball club, apprehensive as to the attendance, were gratified as the turnstiles commenced to click. The diamond was anything but a hot bed and on second thought we were glad that baseball was not our calling.

The track was a quagmire with little pools of water transforming it into a virtual Flinders. Some of the players were huddled in the dug-out and several appeared to be shivering. They wished they had chosen some other vocation besides ball-playing.

Others tilted away around the diamond unmindful of the weather and tried vainly to keep warm.

At three o'clock the ump's' appear. One of them is wearing a heavy mackinaw. A wise guy, that!

A new ball is tossed out and the teams are on their way. The Bell Telephone went out in rapid order with Frank Bennett supplying the fielding feature, when he speared a long drive.

"Come on you old war-horse," from one fan, as Mr. "Peeny" Mills strode to the plate. "Hell walk you Peeny" from another. But "Peeny" didn't walk. He hit a hard one at "Pinky" Clarke and the little short-stopper did a Johnny Wiesmuelser through the mud but he missed it and the pellet clinked on to centre-field.

Here comes Blakely! Oh you Harry! He sent a grounder at the pitcher, who lurched madly at it, floundered in the mud for a minute but recovered in time to throw out the runner.

Three balls on Harry Sniderman. "Take your time, Alex," But Alex failed to put the other one in the groove and Mr. Sniderman, who is a member of the Hebrew faith, was given a New Year's box in the form of a walk. (The Jewish New Year started yesterday.)

Murphy Green furnished a bit of fireworks a few minutes later when he drifted one toward left field which was a foul by inches. The crowd did not protest and then Mr. Green laid one down to the third-baseman, who's as stabbed easily.

Somebody hit a foul ball over the fence and if it hit anybody nobody cares. Another new shiny one is thrown out and the game goes on.

A Bell Telephone player got a long hit. The crowd sighed. A minute later the stand was in chaos as the same player was caught flat-footed off first base.

Frank Bennett came to bat and he was given a hand by the crowd. He did nobly but lined to the centre-fielder. V. Weir poked one over the head of the short-stop and the stands rocked.

3:55—The fans were playing a merry game on the floor of the stand vainly endeavouring to shake that cold feeling.

Summary

Earned Runs: Belleville, 4; Two-base hit, A. Weir, W. Mills. Three-base hit, Clarke. Bases on balls off Giliepie, 1 (V. Weir); off A. Weir, 2 (H. Sniderman, Worthy). Struck out: by Weir, 6; Giliepie, 3; Thompson, 2; A. Scott, 1; by Giliepie, 5 (V. Weir, A. Weir, E. Green, Bennett). Left on bases: Toronto, 7; Belleville, 8. Doubt play: Thompson to Gayley. Passed on balls: Toronto, 1. Errors, Giliepie and E. Green.

Umpires—Kay and Lebart, Peterborough.

Time of game, 1 hour, 27 minutes.

ing, with little apparent result. A Bell Telephone player came to bat. He swung viciously at two offerings. Called for a new bat which was promptly given him and then accompanied the crowd by striking out.

The bat-joy goes in search of some hot balls.

Bennett was called out on three pitched balls and didn't even take his bat off his shoulder. Probably he was 100 c.c.

"Who's U's guy batting?" Pinky Clarke, the home-run king. He struck madly at two wide ones. A chorus of "Oh's" from the stand. And then he pelted out a home-run three-bagger. He was left at third, however.

Then the sixth. Two on and two out. Here comes Alex Weir. He takes of his sweater and advances resolutely to the plate, in a Casey style. The pitcher wound up. It was a nice ball. Oh Boy. It's a hit. Two bases. Go-hi! Two runs. There was no dodging that crowd. They simply unleashed their pent-up feelings and cheered loud and lustily.

The lucky seventh is history now. You will find it fully explained in other columns of this journal.

4:30—A few of the fans push for a exit. Hoh, sit down! Belleville's! von alright, come let's go.

Back at the office. "Ting! Ting! Hello. A secret feminine voice: "Who won the ball game?" "Belleville, 5-0." "Gee, that's great; think they'll win tomorrow?" "Sure as you live."

KING FOOTBALL ASCENDS THRONE

Toronto, Ont. (By Jack Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer)—King Rugby, mighty monarch of Canada's autumn sport, will ascend his eastern throne today. Until he abdicates in favor of King Hockey a few weeks hence he will have the allegiance of thousands of devotees of the gridiron sport. His Majesty will be welcomed at eight games today by bands, flags and the usual spectacular exercises that accompany the inaugural ceremonies.

Sixteen teams in the three rugby unions in Ontario and Quebec will battle for the eastern title and the right to oppose the western champions for the dominion title won last year by the Hamilton Tigers, champions of the Interprovincial Union.

The prairie squads have been in action for two weeks in their respective leagues.

The latest candidate for intercollegiate honors, Western University of London, Ont., will make its official debut under the critical eyes of the thousands who will pack the University of Toronto Stadium; but it is expected to have a hard time in their training.

Normie Smyth and Davie Munro, who turned out a few days ago for practice. Their backfield trip of Munro, Loherty and St. Germain, is a formidable combination, and McGill is expected to put up a strenuous fight before relinquishing the intercollegiate honors. Two weeks ago injuries crippled the squad, but many are ready for today's game with Queen's.

WAR DECLARED ON BILLBOARDS

Victoria, B.C. (By C.P.)—The British Columbia government has declared an on-going war on outdoor advertising during the next few weeks all billboards and boardings devoted to subjects other than road directions will be removed.

The government is thus taking action that will provide a uniform system along the Pacific Highway from British Columbia to Mexico. The Oregon state government has already taken action to have all advertising matter removed from the state highways and legislation of similar effect is before the Washington state authorities.

"We don't want to be hard on the people who have spent money on advertising," said Hon. Nels Lougheed, Minister of Public Works, "but we place first consideration on the beauty of the province's scenery and we believe that the public has a right to enjoy that scenery without having it marred by the unsightly eye on the clearest."

defaced by a lot of unsightly advertising matter."

The government does not propose to interfere with the advertising matter put up by resort hotels or similar interests who have a legitimate reason for informing travelers of what they have to offer. These have a definite value to the public and will be allowed to remain. All other signs must meet government test and unless they meet with official approval they will be destroyed.

SONG-WRITER ILL

London, Eng. (By Canadian Press)—Charles Coburn, noted music hall comedian and writer, who achieved fame many years ago with his song, "The Man Who Broke the Bank of Monte Carlo," was taken seriously ill with pneumonia, recently while walking from London to Blackpool, though 77 years of age. He had reached Ormskirk when illness forced him to quit, only two stages of his journey remaining to be covered. Ormskirk to Preston, thence to Blackpool.

HANNA HOSPITAL UNIQUE MODEL

Small Alberta Town Provides Own Institution At Small Expense

Hanna, Alberta. (By Canadian Press)—Residents of this district are carrying themselves with pride these days, when they think, as they frequently do, of what they have done to provide hospital accommodation for themselves. Ten years ago the first plans for the Hanna Hospital, a campaign were fired in this district and not in vain did the echoes of the volleys penetrate the homes. In 1921, the hospital with provision for 22 patients, was formally opened. For a short time the accommodation sufficed, but soon the nursing staff found itself in the position of the famous O'ld Woman Who Lived in a Shoe. They had so many patients they did not know what to do with them or where to put them. With the aid of magic, the accommodation was stretched to almost unbelievable lengths, and when on one occasion the 22 bed hospital had to provide for 60 patients, the board realized that something must be done, and that right speedily. And it was. During the past summer a wing increasing the accommodation to 54 beds, was erected, and this was recently opened by the Hon. George Hoadley, Minister of Public Health.

The original hospital campaign in 1919, met with some opposition. The recent vote to provide for the building of the extension, demonstrated this change in public opinion wrought by the intervening years. The vote was carried by a majority of 600, only 83 ratepayers opposing; and the increased support came largely from districts which in the first place had objected to the scheme.

During the eight years of its operation, the Hanna Municipal Hospital, has demonstrated that from a humane point of view it is necessary from an economic standpoint it is worth while, and that a hospital built under the Alberta Municipal Hospitals' Act can be a financial success under conditions not always ideal. It has also demonstrated conclusively that by having a hospital, the best type of doctors is attracted to the community; and that a hospital is a strong influence in creating content among the people, as it gives the assurance that in case of illness, they can get proper care near home and "their old folk."

The system of financing by taxation lays no burden on the family and with all sharing in the expense, the thought of the hospital bill does not hang like a cloud over a patient's head. If people are not feeling well they will not stay at home and take a chance to save $1.00 per day.

Even at that low rate, the revenue derived from taxation, fees, and from the Government grant of fifty cents per day per patient, has enabled the board to "carry on" expend over $30,000 on special equipment, furnish a hospital at Calgary at a cost of $8,000, and accumulate a surplus of $66,000.

But Hanna does not reckon the value of its hospital in terms of money. People look back to the time when they had no hospital, and frequently the memories are sad ones. From maternity work alone they consider their efforts in providing a hospital well worth while. More than 700 babies have been born in the Hanna Hospital since it was opened, and in all those years only four others have died in confinement. Surely a good record.

NAMING STREETS WHAT HAVE YOU?

Mimico, Ont. (C.P.)—For nights and nights on end Mimico's civic fathers have been sitting up late trying to think up 54 new street names. Each name has to be different from anything in Toronto. Each has to be of a character and equality which will not cost the proposer his seat in Council. And the Council has found that there can be lots of political dynamite in a street name proposal.

But things are different in the Council Street-Naming Committee since they have 12,000 names from which to choose. The only difficulty now is the selection of 54 names from the 12,000. That is what the coming late committee sittings will be all about.

Some nerve-racked member of the committee wrote advice to the Pullman Company of Chicago for a list of Pullman car names, and got back a complete answer—12,000.

The first name on the list is said to be Alcibiades, and there was some dispute in committee as to whether that would do. Algernon, whether used as a prefix to "street" or "avenue," also seemed exotic. Armageddon didn't seem to fit. And so the Council is skipping all the "A's" and is starting anew down in the "B's," in which Bathydrastidae heads the list.

MIDDLE AGED WOMEN FLOCKING TO PARIS

Paris, (By Canadian Press)—The increasing number of middle-aged unmarried English women who come to Paris for their summer holidays is one of the most striking aspects of the yearly summer tourist invasion.

"One meets them everywhere—milling, dignified, unobtrusively enjoying themselves at whatever they do. On the boat-train the other day there were scores of cheery old ladies, many quite alone and able to speak only a few words of French. They came through the customs ordeal with flying colours and seemed to find all the best seats on the boat while hard-eyed travellers were obliged to stand. Once in Paris they find themselves comfortable rooms in inexpensive boulevard hotels and set about enjoying themselves with tremendous zest."

"One sees them in theatres and cinemas at the matinee, on the river in the art galleries at concerts and music-halls. Paris must be losing her evil reputation or else the maiden ladies of today are more enterprising than they are said to be."

NO WONDER HE HAS BECOME A PREMIER!

Toronto, Ont. (By Canadian Press)

Under the caption: "A Premier's Start in Life," the Toronto Globe says:

"Little wonder Hon. J. T. M. Anderson has attained to the Premiership of Saskatchewan. He once was St. Joseph's Island correspondent for the Sault Daily Star, and as Editor Curran remarks, that is sufficient to start any young man on the way to fame—

"bound to be Premier or something else important." But Mr. Anderson, the young school teacher of St. Joseph's Island, was not as the average country correspondent. He, christened a community—called it Harmony—and then added to his sheaf of news everything that happened in the little village of his own naming. He was also a circulation promoter, and the Sault Star editor says young Anderson introduced him to everybody on the island—at least every potential subscriber—

The pace on bicycled—was fast, and he editor admits that "one night at Sea Gull we fell over the handlebars trying to keep up, and somewhere off in the dark future Premier laughed."

So it is evident that Saskatchewan has something original in the way of Premiers. He may be there a long time but if he isn't, Editor Curran of the Sault Star, says candles are burning in all the windows on St. Joseph's Island in case the Hon. J. T. M. Anderson ever should need "a job again."

AN EASILY MADE DESSERT

Caramel Pudding, one of the most delicious desserts one can serve, and one especially loved by children, can be made practically to make itself. Here it is:

Place an unopened can of Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk in a kettle of boiling water and simmer for two and a half hours, being careful not to let the kettle boil dry. Remove can, cool and chill. Remove top of can, cutting along the side of can—not the top—so that the contents may be removed whole; place on a serving dish and garnish with broken nut meats and whipped cream. To serve individually, cut in slices, garnish with nut meats and whipped cream—or use plain unwhipped cream, with or without garnish. 65-11

LITTLE DAMAGE IN FREIGHT WRECK

Premier Enjoys Freedom of White House - Series Opens Tuesday

FREIGHT PILE-UP OCCURRED TODAY IN LOCAL YARDS

Four Cars Thrown From Tracks When Locomotives Collided

TRAVELLING SLOWLY

Yard Foreman H. D. Sharpe Leaped To Safety Before Accident

Proceeding from the west at 5.30 this morning, a heavy C.N.R. freight train in charge of Engineer William Clark, 55 Baldwin St., Belleville, crashed into the rear of the Yard Engine piloted by William Adams, Bull St., damaging both engines and wrecking four freight cars. The morning was foggy and although the signal was against the freight, the engineer was unable to stop his heavy train in time to avoid the yard engine.

Three of the front cars on the freight were thrown off the track and into the ditch, the cargo being strewn along the track in a conglomeration of cork, powdered talcum, sacks and various other articles. The cars were splintered into matchwood, but by eight o'clock the line was again clear and trains were running as usual. No one was injured, as the freight was travelling at a slow rate of speed when it struck the yard engine, and according to the engineer, William Clark, he had had another car length to go he would have been able to stop his train.

One car in the middle of the freight train buckled the engine, when the heavy load behind and the application of the brakes in front, strained it too much, and it was hurled into the ditch just at the Cannifton Road crossing. It was ruined, while the car behind was not so badly damaged.

The front of the freight engine and the rear of the yard engine were both badly damaged, but were able to proceed under their own power to the roundhouse where they will be repaired. Yard Foreman H. D. Sharpe, 100 Chatham St., who was in charge of the yard engine which was making up the north way freight, narrowly escaped death or serious injury in the wreck as he was between the yard engine and one of the cars just a moment before the crash came. He happened to look up just in time to see the oncoming freight and jumped clear as the east-bound engine struck. Conductor R. Carr was on the freight piloted by Engineer William Clark.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Baseball "Big show" comes to town tomorrow featuring the highly trained white elephants of Cornelius McGillicuddy and the Batting Bruns of Joseph McCarthy in the main event of the games colorful Carnival.

In other words the Philadelphia Athletics meet the Chicago Cubs for the world's championship honors that go with it and perhaps the richest money reward for participants in series history.

If the series goes five games, as it seems quite likely to do, it will be a million dollar affair. Six games at the rate of two hundred thousand dollars a game and a sell out already as late as Friday night, the Cubs are back in the series after the years lapse. Tomorrow the modern A's will be favored to win in the betting at seven to five.

ENJOYED A FEW HOURS FREEDOM

Herbert Peterson Convicted On Charge of Theft In Local Court

Herbert Peterson, no known address, who claims Picton as his birthplace, was released from the County Jail last Friday, had his free day for half a day and was arrested again Friday night on a charge of breaking, entering and theft. He was found guilty on that charge this morning by Magistrate Mikel and was sent back on the Hill again for another month.

Peterson pleaded not guilty to breaking and entering Harry Hill's blacksmith shop on Front street, but several witnesses declared they had seen him there, and had heard the sound of a window breaking. When the police arrived they saw Peterson leaving the gateway and he was carrying some heavy object, which later proved to be an electric drill, taken from the blacksmith shop. Sergeant Booth, Mr. Harry Hill, Constable Evans and Traffic Officer Prink all gave evidence against the accused, as did Frank Elliott, who was the man who raised the alarm when he heard the window being broken.

Peterson admitted having been in jail twice last year, and of having been deported from the States this year as an undesirable.

Madame Hall Miller

Madame Hall Miller, style artist and interpreter of fashions, who has just returned to Canada from a tour of the style centres of Europe, presided this forenoon and afternoon at the presentation of Fall Fashions by the Canadian Department Stores, in their spacious Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Shop. Madame Hall Miller, in speaking of the new mode presented the last word in original model from Paris, fashion of black panne velvet with white polka dots and lingerie collar and cuffs. It showed a Russian blouse effect with godets placed low in the skirt. An original Agnes tunic completed the striking costume. Later, Madame Hall appeared in an evening frock from Molyneux, of eggshell moiré. Ruby jewelry was worn with this and shock to ruby kid. A white lapin fur coat and a magnificent feathered fan finished Madame Miller's evening attire and she carried 14 inch eggshell suede gloves.

Entire Change in Mode

In speaking of the new mode Madame Hall Miller said: "We are on the brink of a new mode and I am afraid that we will all have to have new clothes. There has been no change in fashion for the last ten years and we are now entering a more feminine age. Everything

A NIMROD'S LUCK

Colton-Tails Play Contemptible Trick
On Two Belleville Hunters

It's a funny thing but the old axiom, "Far away fields look greenest" is very true in the lives of most people.

This was certainly the case in respect to one of Belleville's well-known business men. This gentleman in the company of another, decided on some rabbit hunting, and being of the opinion that there were no good grounds for hunting, they made for greener pastures, or rather they hunted grounds that would yield plenty. A place was agreed upon and they made for Co. Hill and the vicinity. They hunted around for the spoor of the rabbit all day long but never once did they sight a cotton tail. The gentleman and they had set out for seemed to have a great draught of the furry-coated life whitetails.

It was dusk when these modern Hiawatha's set their faces homeward—very disgruntled.

They played a trick in many cases but the outcome could not have been more contemptible. They arrived in the city and happened to make a visit to the police station. There in the centre of the road, in the much-hatted market square, several rabbits stood on their haunches placidly facing in the surroundings.

In the parlance of their kind they might have been giving them the merry "ha, ha."

VESSEL WRECKED AND 35 LIVES ARE LOST

Trendheim, Norway, Oct. 7.—A telegram from Florio today stated it was feared thirty-five persons were lost in the foundering of the steamer Haakon seventh last night after a collision. The steamship company operating the vessel was without detail and there was hope that this estimate of the casualties was exaggerated.

PREMIER ASSAILS LIBERAL LEADER ON HIS POLICIES

Ferguson Promises Amendments To Tighten Up Liquor Act

Midland, October 7.—Determined to stamp out such small bootleggers as still exist, Premier G. Howard Ferguson today declared that dismissal of a jail term will be provided in the L.C.A. for the permit is user who opens the way to illegal vending by selling more than one permit to the same man.

This first intimation of the mooted amendments to the present liquor law came in a speech that was declared by his friends to be the most stirring made by the premier to far this campaign.

In stinging terms, he renewed his challenge to W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader to "pump up his courage, come out in the open and fight" on this liquor question. Mr. Ferguson read from newspaper reports, various speeches of Mr. Sinclair in connection with the liquor issue, holding the Liberal leader up as ineffectual and asserting that it was utterly impossible for anybody to judge exactly where he stood. The temperance wing thought him prohibitionist and others considered him as standing for the Liquor Control Act.

The premier also, for the first time, turned his guns on the English Language League orators who are attacking the government's bilingual schools policy.

He resented the few babbling, violent, cheap generalizations, the premier asserted, "who are going around the province today saying that Ferguson has betrayed his trust, his brilliant language and has sold out to the French people. I believe in the Dominion of Canada and the Empire. I stand for this government stands for the province of Ontario as an integral part of the British Empire."

Prolonged applause greeted the fighting peroration with which the premier concluded a plea for a fair trial of the persuasive rather than the coercive method of teaching English to French-speaking children.

BUSINESS MAN DIED ON SUNDAY

John Caspar Wills Was Well-Known In Belleville And District

Belleville lost a well-known citizen and a respected business man on Sunday with the death of Caspar John Wills. A member of the firm of Peck and Wills, he had resided in this city or the past sixty-one years and was known not only in this city, but by the surrounding district as well. Seventy-one years of age he had been connected with the business fraternity of this city for a long time.

Three years ago his wife predeceased him. The late Mr. Wills was a member of Holloway Street United Church, in which church he had been a member for many years. He was a member of several lodges and fraternities, being the Past Noble Grand in the Oddfellows Lodge No. 81, I.O.O.F. He was also a member of the Quintina Rebekah Lodge.

He leaves surviving one daughter, Mrs. Claude Hayes of this city; three sons, Charles and James, of Toronto, and Jack, of Niagara Falls. Three sisters, Mrs. Edward Teagle and Mrs. Agnes Scott, both of Toronto; and Mrs. Thomas Blanchard, of Peterboro.

REGRET MISTAKE IN POLICE NEWS

Possible Unwarranted Injury Accidentally Done
To Mr. H. Whitfield

Through the accidental confusion of names a serious injustice has possibly been done to Mr. Herbert Whitfield, who lives on Highway No. 14 between Belleville and Foxboro, though the people who know Mr. Whitfield would easily recognize that the report appearing in Saturday's Daily Intelligencer was a mistake and could not possibly refer to him.

In the police court news of Saturday's paper, a story appeared to the effect that Herbert Whitfield of Point Anne was charged with assaulting and seriously injuring his young wife doing actual bodily harm. The name should have been Brooks, of Point Anne.

There was a minor charge against Mr. Whitfield, whose horse had escaped onto the highway through some person carelessly leaving the gate open. Mr. Whitfield was fined a nominal sum of $100 as the police realized there was no intentional carelessness.

The Intelligencer is pleased to print this explanation and exceedingly regrets that through a mistake of a substitute police court reporter there is the chance that the name of an innocent man might be connected with a particularly offensive action. However, Mr. Whitfield is too well known for many to entertain the idea that it could be him.

BEARS IN HASTINGS

Bruins Created Havoc In Apple Trees; Battered Sheep In Fens

In the neighborhood of Loon Lake bears have been making themselves a bane to the lives of the farmers.

On Saturday last three bears were shot by a farmer of the neighborhood who had been pestered with the attention of these animals for a long time. Several Belleville men were in the neighborhood on Saturday and saw the pelts of these bears which had been shot by the farmer. They were also shown the damage that had been committed by the bears around the farm. It appears that the bears were fond of apples and would climb the trunk and help themselves to the luscious fruit. Much havoc was caused to the fruit crop all season by them. Not only did they confine themselves to the apples but they paid a visit to the sheep-pens and it is understood several were killed by their foraging. The farmers of the district have become tired of these visits and have been out on the warpath after them.

This particular farmer had determined to put a stop to this. The result so far is that he had the killing of three bears to his credit. Several Belleville men of good authority state that they saw the three pelts of these bears that the farmer had shot.

Sees Legislators At Work
Today—Miss Ishbel Popular

Washington, Oct. 7.—President Hoover and Premier MacDonald returned from the Hoover Mountain retreat today ready to push forward their hopes for a further limitation of the naval armament. Bright sunshine favored the return journey. Secretary Simon rode in the car with the President and the British Premier. Mrs. Hoover and Ishbel MacDonald made the journey in a landau.

Sees Congress at Work
Today the distinguished visitor will visit the capitol to see legislators of the United States at work upon the new tariff bill. He may briefly address the Senate. The Premier turns his mind to a round of activity which is bound to put to test his apparently inexhaustible store of energy.

At Secretary Simon's state dinner in Wednesday evening the Prime Minister will be afforded the opportunity of greeting a number of Senators and congressmen. He will meet William Borah head of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate Wednesday afternoon. Today's programme announced luncheon at the White House at which it is expected only the President and Mrs. Hoover and Premier MacDonald and Ishbel will be present.

The Official Dinner
In the evening comes the official dinner when there will be about ninety guests. Among them will be heads of the United States government and members of the diplomatic corps. Comment on every hand is that visit of Premier is meeting highest expectations.

The personal charm and affability of the Prime minister is the admiration of officials and the diplomats while unaffected graciousness of Miss Ishbel has charmed everyone who has had the pleasure of meeting her.

Washington, Oct. 7.—President Hoover and Premier MacDonald in a joint statement today said gratifying progress had been made in the review of all the questions that might give rise to the friction between Great Britain and the United States. The announcement said the conferences were continuing.

The statement was made immediately after the arrival of the Chief executive and the British prime minister at the White House after their review at Mr. Hoover's rapid camp where they conversed intimately in a rustic setting.

STOCK PRICES MADE RECOVERY

Close Observers Believe Market Improved After Last Week's Shake

New York, N.Y., Oct. 7.—Stock prices made a further recovery in today's market but several spot spots developed as the shares bought for supporting purposes last week were thrown back into the market. Scores of issues were marked up to ten points and Columbia Carbon soared 3-4 to a high record at 335 1-2. Trading was in fairly heavy volume with the ticker showing an average deal of about twenty minutes during the morning. While most observers were agreed that last week's shake out one of the most dramatic on record had materially improved the markets position, the opinion was still widely divided as to the future course of the prices.

The credit conditions were somewhat easier. Call money dropped from six and a half to six per cent, and time money market displayed an easier undertone.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"If all the men over 50 got out of the world, there would not be enough experience left to run it."
—Henry Ford.

OUR BALL TEAM

After a most successful season the Belleville Baseball team was eliminated from the running on Saturday afternoon. They did not win a championship but at least they made a gallant effort to retain the laurels captured last season. Belleville fans were naturally disappointed when they learned the result of Saturday's game played in Toronto, but it was with a feeling of gratification and pride as well, because they knew that the Belleville Ball Club had fought gamely to the last and it was only when the last man was out that they finally submitted.

Belleville and Baseball have been associated for a good many years. In 1919 the team first won the Ontario championship and since that time they have been steadily in the fore in the realm of sport, particularly baseball.

The city has received more direct advertising from the exploits of these boys in the past ten years than any publicity program attempted. They have distinguished themselves on and off the field like gentlemen and opposing teams and supporters have always cherished the highest regard for the members of the local club. Time, thought and money is spent on building a baseball team, such as represents Belleville, and after a long strenuous campaign which began on the first of May, the boys have no sincere regrets at laying down their paraphernalia for another year. Hats off to the Belleville Baseball team, may they return to the diamond next summer to recover the championships that will rest on other shoulders this year.

TRIBUTE TO "BOB" COOKE

At a recent meeting held in Baneroff, the Liberals of the riding of North Hastings endorsed Hon. R. J. Cooke as their candidate in the approaching election. They discussed the matter thoroughly, viewing it from every angle and ultimately reached the conclusion that the Liberals had benefited by his services equally with the Conservatives and as fair as the opposition party followers are concerned in the north, he will be tendered an acclamation.

A representative of the prohibition and Progressive parties approached the President with a question as to whether the Liberal party would support a candidate placed in the field to oppose Mr. Cooke. It was the unanimous opinion of the meeting that no opposition either direct or indirect should be offered toward Mr. Cooke.

The action of the Liberal party in North Hastings is a fine tribute to Hon. "Bob" Cooke, who during his years in the Legislature has sought to please not any particular party followers, but his constituents in general. Mr. Cooke has been a prominent figure in the Hydro Power development and he has made a close study of this situation and should be returned to carry out his proposed program.

From early indications he may receive an acclamation in his riding. However if the combined forces of the prohibitionists and the Progressives decide to oppose Mr. Cooke, he is almost certain to be elected by a sound majority.

A QUESTION OF COST

An important subject under consideration at the Tenth Assembly of the League of Nations was that of the yearly budget. The sum required for next year in round figures amounts to $5,700,000.

There are still quite a few scoffers who take delight in trying to belittle the efforts of the League in the interests of world peace. These no doubt will suggest that this is a mighty big bill for a big talking pow-wow which has little practical effect in world politics.

The unprejudiced observer however will be quite a different opinion. He shows that not only has the League done more for international peace than any agency devised by man but that it has actually prevented ten European wars since 1918. That is a fine record but it is not the whole story. The League has created a new atmosphere in international diplomacy and by bringing together the world's greatest statesmen in annual conference has been the chief agent in limiting to the minimum that secret diplomacy which for centuries has been a potent source of distrust, suspicion and war.

Is it possible that any sane man or woman will cavil against an expenditure of five million dollars for the cost of one dreadnaught is from $15,000,000 to $35,000,000. The cost to the whole world of a single week in the late war was $100,000,000. Such comparisons could be continued indefinitely and they would show in the final analysis that more than one third of all taxes in all countries can be traced to the last great conflict.

There is a real will-for-peace in the world today. It is more vocal and insistent than at any time in history and eventually the peoples of all countries will insist on some practical form of disarmament. In the meantime the great bulk of them have become to believe in the League of Nations as the most practical agency yet devised to deal with problems of international peace. They will be ready to spend a hundred times the yearly budget of the League if they believe that it is getting results.

Margie would embarrass her mother every time she came out on a friend by asking for something to eat. She was threatened with punishment if she ever did that again. The next time they called on that friend, just before lunch time, Margie piped up: —"Mrs. Smith, are you hungry?" —"No, Margie," answered the hostess. —"I am not hungry." —"Well," said Margie with a sigh, "I wish I was you."

"What's the idea of that set of traffic lights over the market?" inquired the young man calling on the daughter.

"It's father's idea," she explained. "The green stays on until 11.30, then he flashes the amber, and at 12 the red. And you know," she added, "father is a traffic cop."

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James N. Harben, M.D.

SYMPATHETIC SYSTEM AND EMERGENCY SYSTEM

When you put fuel into a furnace whether that fuel is wood, coal, or oil, you get the heat from that fuel and it is completely burned or used. Similarly when you put fuel food into your system you get the heat and energy therefrom until it is all burned.

However, in addition to giving you that heat, the food also gets built into the body, as the food you eat actually becomes a part of your body. However, you know that if you were to stop eating for days or even weeks, the heat would still be kept up in your body, and you would still be able to do mental and a certain amount of physical work.

Because of that wonderful "sympathetic system" of yours, of which I have spoken before.

When any extra hard work is to be done or when no food is coming into the system the sympathetic system sets to work and the liver immediately gives up some sugar to supply the needs of the body.

An animal or a man in whom the sympathetic system is so damaged that it does not work, cannot have this increase of sugar in the blood when it is needed.

For instance during excitement there is an increase of 34 per cent of sugar in the blood which is needed at this particular time. Where the sympathetic system is not working there is no increase, the animal simply cannot bring this sugar out of its storage place in the liver.

The advantages of the sympathetic system to you therefore is that if denied starch foods for any time the liver would give up some of its stored sugar until you were able to get some starch foods again. And it is quite possible that such a condition of affairs should arise.

In the meantime that body of yours goes along just the same.

Supply your sympathetic system is well named.

Dr. Walter B. Cannon puts it: "You can live without the sympathetic system, but nevertheless the sympathetic system is necessary to meet the shocks and stresses of life. It is an emergency system."

PERMANENCE

We grow in spirit or there is no growth.

For age the strongest arm will render weak.

Two men there are and time shall conquer both.

The champion and the next his place to seek.

For every man is followed up the way By him who shall succeed him in his day.

The place we spend our skill and strength to gain.

The glittering tokens of our conquests won.

Younger and stronger hands shall soon attain.

All, all are baubles when our race is run.

But that sweet learning with its magic powers

Once it is ours, remains forever ours.

The strong man to the stronger gives his post.

The rich are soon by richer thrust aside.

Always are rising champions to boast.

At every goal is permanence denied.

But he who grows in wisdom is secure.

The treasure which he gathers shall endure.

The kindly man will never lose his place.

No kindlier one will rush to seize his crown.

The noble spirit has no foe to face.

The gentle life is sure of its renown.

Who grows in wisdom, fortitude and Holds all he gains against oncoming youth!

COLLEGIATE CHATTER

The Rugby game between Picton High School and Belleville Collegiate was played last Saturday. The game was a very good one although a loss to the Collegiate. When the game started the Collegiate scored a touchdown but lost throughout the rest of the game. Louis Maraskas and "St" Williams played very well for Belleville. Louis made a large number of good tackles while Jack Graves did very well in broken field running.

The method of selling tickets for such games as hockey, rugby and basketball has been changed. Instead of one or two boys going around from room to room selling tickets, they are issued to the form teachers and are sold to the pupils in their own work. A certain time is set apart for this and a bell is rung when that time is up. This eliminates the interruption of classes as was the case in the old method. The tickets are sold for five cents to the student and at the school but everyone must pay twenty-five cents at the gate unless they have a ticket.

The computation fees are being asked for and should be promptly paid by the students. After all, one dollar is not much from each person to buy 24 to 29. Great credit is due the child-basketball and other sport equipment men and also their teacher, Miss Helen which is necessary to keep the school in its place among other schools. The boys Athletic Society and the Girls Athletic Society both receive a certain amount of the sum collected and can account for every cent given them. They spend the money for the betterment of their sport.

The girls of the Collegiate have been practicing basketball and some are aspiring to be on the basketball team either. Senior or Junior which will be chosen by Miss Agnew at an early date.

It will not be long now before Senior literary society holds its first meeting and with the first meeting comes the privilege of hearing Ralph Connor who has been secured for this occasion. The last time he spoke to the student body was down in the City Hall but now he will speak to us from the stage of the Auditorium of the Collegiate.

CHATTERTON

We are proud of our school who was successful in getting the $200 prize offered for the best school in March at the Stirling Fair, September not much from each person to buy 24 to 29. Great credit is due the child-basketball and other sport equipment men and also their teacher, Miss Helen

21ST BATTALION HELD RE-UNION

Veterans Renewed Friendships Made On Muddy Fields of Flanders

Vivid memories of war-time days were recalled at the 11th Annual Reunion of the 21st Battalion which was held at the Armoury in Peterboro, on Saturday afternoon and evening.

Comradeship cemented on the muddy fields of Flanders were renewed as the veterans of "The Good Old 21st" fought again those battles which had such a direct bearing on the result of the world struggle.

A large number of ex-members of the unit from the Belleville district all report a splendid time and state that Peterboro veterans left no stone unturned to provide a great reception.

Among those from Belleville who attended were: Messrs. P. J. Willis, Garn Dobbs, Reg. Hinchey, E. A. Blain, Harold Pollis, Sam Symons, W. Wessels, Joe Weymark, Harry Thompson, Sergt. Major T. Jodan, A. E. Baldwin, Clinton Bickman, George Caldwell, Wm. Shepard, L. D. Cook.

Comrade "Tim" Jordan, M.C., D.C.M. was Chairman of the proceedings which were proposed by former officers of the battalion, Lt. Col. M. H. Park, V.C., Lt. Col. H. E. Pense, D.S.O., M.C., W. E. Kidd, M.C., and others, while the replies were offered by Comrade W. St. Pierre Hughes, D.S.O.; His Worship Mayor Rollie D'Amore, of Peterboro, and Judge E. C. Huxley.

The 21st is the one Canadian unit to hold annual reunions and among those who attended from a distance were Edward Jones, of East Orange, New Jersey. The Battalion originally recruited from Kingston, was first in command of Brig. Gen. W. St. Pierre Hughes, who he had as his subordinate staff well known men: Lt. Col. Harry Pense, D.S.O., M.C.; Lt. Col. Elmer Jones, D.S.O.; Lt. T. F. Elmitt, of Ottawa, and others.

The soldiers paraded through the streets of Peterboro on Saturday evening and at the cenotaph. The Last Post was sounded while a wreath was laid at the foot of the Soldiers' Memorial out of respect to Peterboro's fallen heroes, by Sergt. Major T. Jodan.

Another old "Original" of the unit was present in the person of Johnson Paudash, an Indian sniper, who is at present making his home in the vicinity of Rice Lake. Paudash saw service throughout the war with the 21st as a scout and sniper. It is said that he will over a hundred of the enemy fell victim to his prowess as a sharpshooter.

The 21st pipe band, of Kingston, lead the parade. Following the banquet Mr. Fred Hart, one of the "Originals" of the 21st and to whom great credit must be given for the success of the reunion was presented with a beautiful brier pipe, the presentation being made by Brig. General W. St. Pierre Hughes.

It was decided to hold the next reunion in the city of Toronto.

TO SING AT FRANKFORD
The Y's Men's Male Chorus will open their Fall campaign tomorrow night when they will journey at full strength to Frankford where they will entertain at a Fowl Supper arranged under the auspices of the Frankford United Church. On Wednesday evening they will put on a program at the Foxboro United Church. The Male Chorus has several other engagements for late in the season, and a most successful term is being looked forward to.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK
National Fire Prevention Week is being observed in Canada this week and daily parades of the Fire Brigade will feature the week here. Acting Fire Chief Lynch had the Belleville fire-fighters out in full force this afternoon and considerable attention was attracted. Citizens are warned to use only safety matches and not to keep gasoline or coal oil near stoves and to try in all possible ways to prevent fire, which annually takes a terrible toll in life and property damage.

WEDDINGS

EMBURY-McARTHUR

Miss Carolyn Gertrude Embury, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. McArthur, of Toronto, and Mr. Frederick George Embury, only son of Dr. A. T. Embury and the late Mrs. Embury of Bancroft, were married on Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, with Rev. J. B. Creegan officiating. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white silk velvet with yoke and sleeves of rose-point lace. Her tulle veil was arranged in a cap of the lace and caught with orange blossoms.

After a wedding supper of Penzance and Lily-of-the-valley, Miss Muriel Embury, sister of the groom, and Miss Eida Robertson of this city were her attendants, wearing frocks of amber georgette, made in period style, with natural lace trimming and lace caps. Their shoes were of amber satin and they carried old-fashioned brocade bags. Mr. Franklin McArthur, brother of the bride, was best man. Mrs. Stanley Hargreaves of this city played the wedding music and Mr. Charles Jones sang. A reception was held afterwards, and Mrs. McArthur received wearing a gown of French flowered transparent velvet with corsage of orchids and Lily-of-the-valley.

After a wedding trip to Bancroft, Embury will live at 25 Sherwood avenue, Toronto. The bride's travelling costume was a lava grey ensemble, with silver fox fur and felt hat.

ROBLIN'S MILLS FAIR A SUCCESS

Hundreds Attended '74th Annual Exhibition On Saturday

On Saturday the 74th annual exhibition of Ameliasburg Agricultural Society of Roblin's Mills came to a conclusion.

It was a very fine day for the holding of such an event and many attended the fair. This Agricultural Society was formed in the year of 1855 and since then the tradition of the fair has been ably upheld. This year was no exception to the others. Success attended the function at every turn. Much credit should go to the officers in charge.

The opening of the fair commenced on Friday when the grounds and all the exhibits, except the live stock, were placed in position under the direction of the various officers in charge. On the second day of the fair the various prizes were given to the winners.

Taking up a great section in the exhibits were the domestic manufactures testifying to the work and zeal which the ladies of the countryside had done in order to make their section of the fair a success. Then there was the embroidery, not yet a lost art by any means, to judge from the array of beautiful work that was to be seen. Place d'oyles, Irish crochet, centrepieces and drawn thread work predominated. Fruits were very prevalent, especially apples.

Passing over to the Fine Arts section the onlooker was greeted with views of many kinds. There were Marine views, landscapes from forms of stencilling. Water colours took a very prominent place in this very fine exhibit. The hand-decorated china came in for a great deal of admiration. Then there was quite a display of plants and flowers with many luxurious plants intermingling their tendrils along the long exhibit row. Begonias, geraniums, ferns, chrysanthemums, fuchsias and others with their four schemes attracted the eye. In the grain section were exhibits of rye, barley, wheat, oats, corn in both varieties, alfalfa, timothy, beans and clover seed.

When the judging of the horses and cattle came up there was a general stampede to the scene where the judging was to take place. To the lovers of good horseflesh it was good to see the mighty muscles on the agricultural horses and general purpose horses and then to note with approbation the general conformation, action, style and speed of the roadster horses.

All breeds of cattle were on view with the Holstein Friesian, Durham Ayrshire and Jersey predominating. All breeds of sheep were shown. Cotswolds, Leicester, Lincoln, Southdown, Shropshire and the Oxford and Hampshire came in for their scrutiny. Next came the judging of the hogs in their respective classes of Berkshire, Jersey Red Suffolk and Essex with the larger breed consisting of Yorkshire, Chester Whites, Chinese and Tamworth.

The poultry exhibit drew favourable comment. The officers of the Fair were as follows:

Afternoon wear shows draperies and flares which touch the ankle. Skirts for evening wear must touch the floor at Christmas or all around. Waists are going up, belts must never be lower or higher than the hip bone. We can be as feminine as we please with labials, lace collars and cuffs, many strings of pearls and costume jewelry is in high favour.

The Leading Colors

"Black holds its own," said Madame Hall Miller with brown running it a close second, from the dark Tete de Negre to light blue. Green comes next and all the shades from bottle green to light green are popular. Next comes white and then blue.

In materials, woollens are getting lighter and silks heavier. It now takes twice the material to fashion Milady's gown. Crepe back, satin moire and transparent velvet are fashionable and in highest vogue is Pansie velvet.

Costs are luxuriously turred and the skirts are two inches longer. The colours correspond with dresses worn underneath. Long gloves are worn with 10, 12 and 14 buttons and wrinkled around the wrist.

Long Skirts Stressed
"Long skirts give women an air of more of being charming and when a woman falls to charm she is a woman dead and infinitely less fortunate," said Madame Hall Miller. "Long skirts are not a prediction," she continued, "they are a fact. They're here now, not at Christmas or next year."

Hats are fashioned of velvet and felt and both are striving for first place. You must show half of your forehead and both eyebrows. The manipulation of brims is the work of artists this season.

Beautiful Furs Modelled
A Kolinsky rat coat, retailing for $1,000 was just one of several outstanding models. Another was made of caracul and trimmed with Fisher dyed fur. Both Rice Lake and New York State seal were shown, some having self collars and others trimmed with Kolinsky. Persian Lamb is coming back to its own and several beautiful models were shown.

Madame Hall Miller had with her six attractive models, who represented differing types of customers, namely—small slender, who wear sizes 40-42, short, stout modelling size 18-24 and "slacks" as smart as her more slender sister, and sizes 16, 18 and 20.

The gowns and wraps shown were all distinctive and beautiful and delighted the eyes of many feminine beholders who turned out both morning and afternoon in large numbers.

BOUGHT EIGHT DRESSES IN YEAR

A girl who earns only $15 a week can buy seven dresses a year and still have money left for such things as cosmetics, according to a survey at the Exposition of women's arts and industries.

Emily N. Bartlett, prize winner in the budget contest, who earns approximately $15 a week, bettered the average. Her clothing for the year, which cost a total of $29.69 included eight dresses, four pairs of silk stockings, eight pairs of silk stockings and two and three of each type of underthings. The survey showed girls who earned small salaries spent a greater proportion of their earnings on clothing than did those who made more money.

said she became engaged and every six months she acquired herself another husband.

She is a beauty, despite her advanced years, and Paris was her chief shopping grounds. It is reported that a rich American magnate was her richest court. She soon grew tired of him, however, and after settling with him for a fortune, left him.

A previous husband informed police of her habits and on a trip home here, she was seized and locked up.

WHAT'S NEW (From a Woman's Standpoint)

Chantilly lace frock edged in net is a novel new model.

Sables are the autumn's smartest for neckpiece and the three or four skin scarfs top the list, while silver or blue fox or baumarten are other choices.

"STARVED HEARTS"

BY Mildred Barbour

"Oh, Uncle Stephen—why?"

"I called you here," he went on grimly, "to tell you that this must be the end of such nonsense. You are not to see young Farley again, under stand me? If he calls, Masters has orders to turn him away. If I learn of your meeting him elsewhere," he finished with a gesture that was significant.

Madelon's eyes flashed indignantly. "You are unfair, Uncle Stephen. What right—"

He rose. He seemed to tower over her.

"I am your guardian and your only living relative. My will is law and no one dares to question it. . . . See that you obey me to the letter."

"But Uncle Stephen—"

"Don't attempt to argue with me. I know better than you. Your young architect is aware that you will be a rich woman some day, if I have no other heirs. You will find that his order can be measured by dollars and cents. . . . You may go now, and see to it, that there is no more of this nonsense. I shall not be so patient next time."

Madelon went out quietly enough, but she was seething inwardly with indignation. Rebellious thoughts crowded through her consciousness. How dared he order her about like a slave, even if he was her guardian? How dared he accuse Farley of mercenary motives? Wild plans of eluding his watchfulness leaped into her brain.

But, as she sat in her room staring straight before her, the old lessons of obedience instilled by the patient nuns in the quiet convent so far removed from worldly strife, came back to her. Lane had taken her in, a penniless orphan. The food she ate, the gown that encased her slim loveliness, were alike paid for with his money. He had the moral right to demand obedience. She could only wait and hope for a change of heart.

She cried a little when she had reached her decision to give Duane Farley up. He was her first lover and the plamor of young romance hovered about him. His devotion was immensely flattering to a school-girl heart, as yet untouched by real love.

Barbara tapped on her door and called to her softly:

"Ann is here, Madelon. Will you come?"

A flushed and tear-stained Madelon flung open the door, cast herself impulsively into Barbara's arms, hid her face in the scented laces on Barbara's breast.

"He's sent Duane away," she wailed. "He made me promise never to see him again."

Barbara's eyes were soft with pity. "Will you see Duane for me, if he comes—and I know he will? Tell him I'll wait. Tell him—"

Barbara soothed her gently. "I will see that he gets your message," she promised, ignorant of the fate to which that promise bound her.

V. A DANGEROUS PROMISE

Madelon had not been mistaken in her belief that Duane Farley would not lightly accept his dismissal at Lane's hands.

But his efforts to see Madelon were neatly foiled by that master antagonist. Even her mail was controlled, and no message from her lover found its way to her.

Barbara and Ann Ordway, whom she had met and instantly liked, kept her diverted as much as possible. Barbara took little part in the activities of the fashionable world in which her position and her beauty earned her leadership. But Ann was a cheerful, companion-loving, soul. She had great vogue with the younger set, as well as those nearer her own age. Scarcely an evening but what a group of young people descended unheralded upon her, rolled up the rugs in her charmingly appointed apartment, and danced until dinner time.

She had tea and cakes and a cheerful greeting for them all. Sometimes she wasn't even at home when they came, but their welcome was an accepted fact and they went ahead with their fun just the same.

Madelon, with the spontaneity of youth, found it hard to be unhappy over Farley. She missed his devotion, but, when she faced the matter squarely and truthfully, she realized that her resentment at Lane's arbitrary dismissal of his suit was greater than her actual unhappiness at having to put him out of her life.

There came a day when Farley made one last effort. He determined to see Barbara and beg her intervention. It was a vain hope, he felt, but he desired to leave no avenue untried. Masters admitted him distrustfully.

His impassive countenance betrayed a momentary flicker of surprise when Farley handed him his card and requested that it be given to Mrs. Lane.

Barbara did not keep him waiting long.

"It is very good of you, Mrs. Lane, to grant me the privilege of an interview," he said after she had greeted him kindly. "It was rather an imposition, my asking it."

"I promised Madelon that I would see you," she told him gravely.

He looked up eagerly.

"Then she has not entirely forgotten—"

"Hardly," Barbara smiled. He looked so unhappy, so forlorn.

"You know about everything?" he asked.

Barbara inclined her head.

"You know there isn't any hope?"

"Mr. Lane rarely changes."

"There was dejection in his pose. Barbara had an absurd desire to reach over and lay her white fingers on his tawny hair. He looked so boyish, so wretched."

"I am sorry," she said quietly. "Perhaps, in time."

She knew she was holding out a vain hope.

"Oh, Lane," he echoed with the impatience of youth. "I want to marry Madelon now. I don't want to wait until we're both old and gray. I can support her. True, I'm just starting out in my profession, but I've something from a legacy and I've got a big plan that the Chamber of Commerce here is considering. I'll go through, I know it. . . . I say," he looked at her, boyishly appealing, "may I tell you a little about it—and you can tell Madelon?"

"Please do," smiled Barbara. . . .

So Circe may have invited Ulysses Down through the ages, woman has unlocked man's heart with the key of his confidence.

Farley talked eagerly. Half an hour passed. Barbara was a flatterer and listener. He found himself divulging his hopes and fears, his plans for the future, basking in her sympathetic silence.

He did not realize—yet—that she was beautiful, that her hair was a dusky halo framing the pallor of her face, that her lips were living crimson and softly curved and through the lace of her graceful gown, gleamed white shoulders and flawlessly rounded arms. He only knew that her purple-black eyes were eloquent with sympathy and appreciation, and her silence was invitation to further confidence.

He did not even sense the light foot steps of Madelon passing the drawing room door on her way to keep an engagement with Ann.

Ann was planning a tea Madelon.

"Drop in this afternoon and meet some of the youngsters in advance," she invited. "We'll make plans for the big shindig next week."

A number of girls and young men were gathered in Ann's cozy living room when Madelon arrived. The rugs were rolled back in the library and hall, and a victrola blared dance music from an unseen corner. Ann called a greeting from behind the tea cup, and introduced everybody with informal carelessness.

It was nearing the end of afternoon when the maid entered in a late-comer, who was hailed with delight by the entire company. Through the eager circle that immediately closed around him, Madelon caught a glimpse of a good-looking, bronzed young man, who towered over the dancing youths beside him.

Ann deftly extricated him from the laughing group and led him up to Madelon.

"This is Julian Barton, Madelon."

Watch him, he's a heartbreaker!"

Madelon looked up into dazzlingly brilliant grey eyes.

Something stirred in her heart.

This man was to be her fate.

(To be Continued.)

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

String Beans Lyonnabe

2 cups cooked beans.

1-2 teaspoon chopped parsley.

1-2 tablespoon lemon juice.

1 small onion.

Nutmeg, pepper, salt.

3 tablespoons butter.

Melt two tablespoons of butter, add finely sliced onion and brown delicate ly.

Add the beans and seasoning.

Heat thoroughly, add the rest of the butter and serve at once.

Hungarian Baked Rice

1-2 pound rice.

3 eggs.

3 tablespoons sour cream.

Paprika.

Salt.

Grated parmesan cheese.

Butter.

Boil the rice until it is more than half done in salted water, strain and let cool. Select a piece of fat ham, which has been already boiled, chop fine but not too fine, and mix with the boiled rice.

Butter the baking dish in which the rice will be served and fill with the mixture of rice and ham.

Beat the eggs well, yolks and whites together, blend in the sour cream and paprika and pour over the rice, taking care that every bit of the rice is allowed to absorb the liquid.

Sprinkle well with grated parmesan cheese, dot with butter and bake in moderately hot oven until the rice is well done and the cheese brown. Serve immediately and very hot.

SOME HELPFUL HINTS FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

Not many people can rear palms and other ferns until they reach a good ripe age, but if a few simple precautions are taken right from the start, healthy plants can be maintained for years.

Leaves can be prevented from fading by wiping quite dry after they have been watered.

House ferns should have their leaves sponged weekly with lukewarm water, to which a little milk has been added, then stand the pot in lukewarm water for two hours just high enough to cover it entirely.

A little castor oil dropped on the roots of drooping ferns which are then soaked in a pail of water all night, will work wonders.

Standard factory cheese is generally used in cooking. It grates easily and melts smoothly and quickly, and its flavor adds zest and piquancy to many ordinary dishes. In buying this type of cheese it is well to remember that younger or fresh cheese is quite mild in flavor and that old cheese is strong.

Petrol's business streets are now cleaned every day.

In response to a very large number of letters from listeners all over Eastern Canada and New England and to a petition voluntarily drawn up, signed by four thousand citizens of Greater Montreal and presented by the Amateur Radio Association to P. F. Sise, the President of the Company, the Northern Electric Company is returning to the air early in October with a series of extra fine programmes and the broadcasting of Church Services, a feature of which is the Carillon from the Church of St. James the Apostle. C.H.Y.C. will now use the new 5 K.W. Station which Northern Electric Engineers have just completed at St. Hyacinthe, P. Q.,

Studebaker's New Model

Subject illustrated above is the new Dictator Brougham recently announced by Studebaker. This model is available for both the six and eight cylinder Dictators. Six wire wheels and trunk are standard equipment. Beautiful in appearance and practical for town or country motoring, the Dictator Brougham offers the motorist luxurious comfort with championship performance.

CANADIAN FIRM AFFILIATES WITH ENGLISH AGENCY

McConnell & Ferguson Join Hands With London Adv. Agency

Mr. M. F. Travers Cleaver, M.C., President of Travers Cleaver Limited, Advertising Agency, 8 Grosvenor Place, London, England, has just left London, Ontario, after having completed an affiliation with McConnell & Ferguson, Limited, one of Canada's leading advertising agencies. In an interview to the press Mr. Cleaver said: "I came over to Canada with the commission representing the Sales Managers' Association of Great Britain because I realized the possibilities in this wonderful country. The longer I stay the more I am convinced. I decided to establish an affiliation with a good Canadian Advertising Agency in order that the clients of my Company in Great Britain, who are interested in the Canadian market, would have the advice and experience of a well organized Advertising Company in Canada, with offices from coast to coast, and knowing intimately Canadian sales conditions.

This affiliation also places at the disposal of clients of McConnell & Ferguson, Limited, a British Advertising and Sales organization which knows conditions intimately in Great Britain. The arrangement is, therefore, a reciprocal one which will help both British and Canadian sales organizations interested in the two countries.

"I consider there are tremendous possibilities for business between the Old Country and Canada, and I am going to do everything I can to foster it. This is my first visit to Canada, and it is my intention to return every year to promote the interests of clients of my company and familiarize myself with conditions here."

"I expect to do considerable public speaking and lecturing in England when I return and hope to be able to assist in influencing the right kind of people to come to Canada. You need a greatly increased population of the right kind. British business men are realizing this more and more all the time and are taking a very keen interest in the great possibilities of Canada."

"When I met Mr. McConnell, President of McConnell & Ferguson, Limited, I concluded that he and his company are the people with whom we wanted to be associated. They have the interests of the British advertiser and want to see more British people in Canada and more British trade developed. British business men share these sentiments and it is my intention to do everything I can to promote their realization."

FORD COMPANY MAKES CAREFUL TIRE SELECTION

Made At The Best Known Canadian Tire Factories

Recognition that Model A Ford owners in Canada desire to travel frequently beyond the city streets and "aved highways, across broad prairie stretches or up into mountain trails, prompts the Ford Motor Company of Canada to give the most careful attention to the tires with which the car is delivered.

Tires used by the different Ford assembly plants are made at the best known tire factories in Canada, but every tire must meet Ford specifications. The rubber must be of the finest grade—new, live rubber that has been properly cured. Just so much of this rubber, to within a fraction of an ounce, and no less, must be used.

Often from which the tire cord is manufactured must be of the finest, one fibre variety, tough and durable. Each shipment of tires received at the assembly line at East Windsor, Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg or Vancouver receives a careful inspection and test to ascertain that specifications have been met.

The importance of tires has resulted from the fact that the Model A Ford was a new car in its class, with power, speed, acceleration and brake control that almost immediately gave it a record of extraordinary performance.

When the car was being developed extensive experiments were being carried on with tires and the first test models of the car disclosed that the accepted tires would have to be larger, tougher and better able to withstand wear, heat from road friction and the damaging action of bumps against the tread and sidewalls than were tires of former automobiles of this class.

Tires with which the Model A Ford is equipped, while designated as 30-4.50 in size actually give an effect equal to that of tires measuring 30-4.75, when fitted to the special drop centre steel spoke wheels of the car.

The designers of the Model A Ford realized that this car would go into many parts of the world and find many varied road conditions. So the tires with which the first few test models of the new car were equipped were subjected to every possible type of service and from these tests Ford engineers were able to determine specifications that would produce a truly modern balloon tire with all the excellence of design, workmanship and material to insure its giving a service in a par with that of the Model A car itself.

The care given to Ford has been reported as experiencing no trouble, not even a puncture.

Numerous soda fountains have been ordered from U.S. by merchants in African Gold Coast.

LARGE TRUCK BY DODGE BROS. IN GREAT DEMAND

Dependability and Economy Feature New Three Ton Jobs

Dependability and economy, characteristic of Dodge Brothers, are combined in the company's three-ton heavy duty trucks which have earned unusual popularity in the commercial hauling field since their introduction last year. The trucks are offered on three wheelbases, the 135-inch for lump bodies, semi-trailers and other heavy duty work; the 155-inch for 12 foot bodies, oil tank service, etc., and the 185-inch for 15-foot bodies, including moving vans and other open or closed bodies for hauling of bulky commodities.

Powered with a six-cylinder engine having a crankshaft supported by seven main bearings, the three-ton truck is featured by a four-speed heavy duty transmission and four-wheel internal expanding hydraulic brakes. Power and acceleration meeting every demand is insured by mechanical refinements in the engine design and optional gear ratios.

The equipment is complete in every detail, including speedometer, ammeter, oil pressure gauge, engine heat indicator, thermostat, radiator shutters, crank-case ventilator, gasoline filter, air cleaner and oil filter.

The cabs have been designed to provide for driver comfort comparable with that of a passenger car. Seat backs and cushions are of sedan construction, being built over well-padded spring frames. The corner posts are of steel to provide sturdiness and strength. The windshields are one-piece construction and equipped with automatic wipers.

The complete range of four and six-cylinder trucks built by Dodge Brothers enable the company to offer the most extensive truck line of any manufacturer in the industry, exactly meeting the demands of more than 90 per cent. of all hauling requirements. Sixteen chassis types on twelve different wheelbases and 42 body styles are represented in the line, while highly specialized and unusual need can be supplied by the company's special equipment division.

So popular has the Dodge Brothers complete Truck line become that retail sales volume is exceeding $1,000,000 weekly through the world-wide Dodge sales and service organization.

PLYMOUTH CAR FINE FEATURES

Attract Considerable Attention In Low Price Car Field

The outstanding success which has been enjoyed by the Plymouth, the Chrysler car, in the low price field, naturally has attracted considerable attention to its features of engineering, design, manufacture and body construction, points out the local dealer.

"Study of these and a demonstration of the car's abilities," says the local dealer, "reveal it as combining unusual performance ability with fine body construction and luxurious appointments never known heretofore in cars in the low price field."

"Buyers in any price field seek the greatest value for their dollar in appearance, performance, refinements and all-round genuine worth," he continues. "The days of buying more brass and back—are gone forever. The buyer of the low-priced car demands as much for his dollar as he who pays $1,500 or more for a car. Chrysler sensed this, a year ago when Plymouth was introduced and the success is proof that this car meets a need heretofore never fulfilled."

"Plymouth is Chrysler's greatest achievement in the low price field—a car embodying features of engineering, design, appointments, refinements, luxury and roadability that are truly remarkable accomplishments."

QUEEN'S ARGOS CAPTURE FIRST GAME OF SEASON

St. Mike's, Windsor, Tigers
And Balm Beach Four Other Winners

Dimmed in a slight degree since the great tricolor team of four years ago swept through to their fourth straight college title, the star of Queen's championship hopes rose in its ascendancy once again at Molson Stadium Saturday afternoon. Reminiscent only at times of that great football machine on which Harry Eastone was the shining figurehead, another none-the-less powerful tricolor twelve, this year coached by the widely respected veteran demonstrated its mighty threat to 1929 intercollegiate football honours when it soundly whipped a highly-touted red team before a crowd of 14,000 stunned and badly disappointed McGill supporters. The final score was 11-1, and Ottawa, October 7 - Led in dashing although giving little hint of the close-faction by that great piece of football borough, where he is employed as hired ness of the play was truly indicative of the decisiveness of the defeat.

Windsor, Ont., October 7 - Toronto Varsity Orphans bowed to Windsor in the opening game of the Senior O. R.
F. U. season here on Saturday, 11-7.
Close to two thousand fans saw the first senior Canadian rugby game in the border city. Fumbles figured in all five touchdowns and one converted try. Varsity netted one touch and two rouges.

Hamilton, October 6 - Forced continually back by the weight of an irresistible attack and unable to retalliate against a stonewall defence, Montreal went down to a crushing 15-0 defeat before Hamilton's Dominion champion Tigers here yesterday as the 1929 Big Four campaign got under way.

From a local standpoint it was a perfect day. Golden weather prevailed.
An enthusiastic crowd of eight thousand and busted it way into the stands all set for a gripping struggle to result in a Tiger victory. Was to make the day one of complete joy. The fans got their victory, but as the game, not exciting from the start, grew less gripping as it progressed, the crowd's ardor pertered out and it watched its Tigers surrender to triumph in comparative uniformity. The final score was 11-1, and Ottawa, October 7 - Led in dashing although giving little hint of the close-faction by that great piece of football machinery. Frank Turville, the Toronto Argonauts on Saturday, defeated Ottawa Senators, 8 to 6, in the opening of the local Big Four rugby season. A huge crowd turned out in beautiful weather to see the Queen City caramen score an impressive victory over Joe Miller's team.

Argonaut superiority was in evidence throughout. They were in command in the opening minute of play when Turville commenced his first of a series of great plays and retained this command until the final whistle blew.

Toronto, October 5 - Balm Beach came from behind to beat Kitchener-Waterloo Panthers 19-11, in the last quarter of their senior Ontario Football Union game here today. The game was featured by an 85-yard run by Lefter Hill of the Kitchener squad for a touchdown which was not converted.

Camp Borden, October 7 - St. Michael's, of Toronto, made their debut in senior O. R. F. U. at the Camp field here Saturday defeated Camp Borden by 1-0 to 4. Young scored a touch in the first quarter on a fumble, but Wettlaufer failed to convert. Wett-laufer added two more singles in the second quarter and featured with a 40-yard run.

NONAGENARIANS ARE GUESTS OF K. OF C.

Toronto, Ont. (By Canadian Press)
- The Knights of Columbus recently gave a picnic for 350 old people, residents of the House of Providence, at the Exhibition Grounds.

Two couples took the floor when a waltz was suggested. A lady in a flat black hat that bobbed as she danced, did a solo. Then the men joined in.
The first was a merry old chap with a gay red muffer, who was the life of the party. In just a few minutes there were eight women and five men, dipping and circling, laughing and joking, while their friends cheered them on. One little lady, Mrs. Edward Price, who curtsied and tapped as graciously as any, admitted smilingly to 82 years.

UTRONKI AND POINTER

Baseball Season Here Now Officially Closed After Successful Year(By PERCE COLE)
(Staff Sports Writer)

The final chapter in the history of the 1929 Belleville Nationals baseball team was written Saturday afternoon at Toronto, when Bell Telephone trimmed the locals in the third and final game of the series 8 to 4. Although beaten, the Nationals were by no means disgraced, and went down fighting to the last ditch, scoring three of their four runs in the ninth, and when the final out was made, there were three more men on bases.

Fresh from their 5 to 0 win from the same team here on Friday, the Belleville ball coxers fully expected to come through with a win in the third game, but everything seemed to be against them, and when the breaks finally did come their way, the Telephone team had too big a lead and it was all over. It's all over for another year, and although the Nats won the Central League honours, they failed to come through for their second Ontario Championship in two years, which was the ambition of every player on the squad. They deserve all kinds of credit for the showing they have made this year, for they started the season practically without a pitcher, as Utronki had shown little or nothing last year, and Alex Weir had his first chance as a pitcher this year. Utronki developed to a certain extent, but failed to make the headway which was expected of him, and it remained for Weir to become the first string pitcher, which he undoubtedly was. Next year he should be at the top of his form, and with the same team behind him again, the Ontario Championship again is not too much to expect.

Utronki Started

The team, Manager Walter Gerow and the executive of the Ball Club deserve all kinds of thanks from the citizens of Belleville, too, both for the baseball they have given the fans and for the advertising the team has done for the city. They are real sportsmen on and off the field, and have made Belleville well and creditably known all over this province.

To get back to the game, Utronki was selected as the starting pitcher, he seemed to have the most zip on the ball in the pre-game workout, but an unfortunate error in the first innings seemed to upset him and he was derailed in the third, after four runs had been made from his delivery. Tommy Pointer, of the Corbyville team in the Industrial League was then sent to the mound and the Bells scored four more off him in seven innings. Two of these runs came as the result of his own inexperience, but Pointer pitched a good game, and next year should be a decided acquisition to the Nationals.

Norman Moffat, the third pitcher, carried by the Bells, was given the pitching assignment for the Toronto team, and although the Nats got to him for three runs in the ninth, he was fairly effective all the way through. He was given sensational support at some times, however, to pull himself out of bad holes, the running shoe string catch by Harry Sniderman in the seventh from the bat of Murney Green being a heart breaker for Belleville.

Each team pulled a double play apiece, Belleville's coming first, from V. Weir to H. Blakely to H. Mills while the Bells play was from Bill Sniderman to Cayley. Although runner had hit, the Sniderman brothers would not "play," they were there as large as life, and they certainly made their presence felt, each getting a hit and playing heads up ball in the field.

Assumed Early Lead

Bill Telephone certainly had the best of the play yesterday, being just about as far ahead of Belleville all through the game as Belleville was ahead of them last Friday. They took a commanding lead of three runs in the first and added another in the second which looked like a million to the locals and all others, and although Belleville notched one in the fourth, so did the Bells in their half of the same innings, and then went out and scored another in the seventh and two in the eighth. Belleville pined out four for three runs in their half of the ninth, but with the bases loaded, Harry Mills, who had hit safely on two previous occasions, smacked one out to Clark on short and the game was over.

Alex Scott, Pinky Clarke and Moffat were the heavy hitters for the Bells, Scott having a home run and a triple to his credit, Clarke a triple and a double and Moffat a double and a single, although both the latter's hits were of the decidedly "fluke" variety. One went down the first base line and kipped over the tag, while the other went the base line right, and Moffat's a left hand throw.

Error Started Scoring

Vern Weir led the way for the Bells

in batting with three singles, while Harry Mills and Blakely had two each. Big "Penny" had a bad day after such a fine one on Friday, and managed to notch only one knock of four times up. Weir was charged with an error in the first innings when he ran far into the field for a high fly which should have been fielded by Sunny Green, but the two collided and the ball was dropped. Immediately afterwards "Pinky" Clarke lifted on past Alex Weir for a triple, and then Scott hit his home run, which was a drive into the left field bleacher. Extra base clotting was noticeable by its absence on the Belleville team, no one hit being over a single.

Pointer in his colour on the mound hit three players, and walked one. Utronki walked only one, but made a balk in the second which put a man on second. Moffat walked four men but struck out eight to Utronki's none and Pointer's four. Three errors were made behind Utronki in his two innings stay on the mound, while two more were made after Pointer took over the heating duties.

Alex Kay at the plate and Joe Oswin of Toronto on bases were the officials, and although Oswin had few close plays, both teams took exception to the way Kay called the strikes and balls at times. However, as there were four runs difference between the teams, the Umps could not be blamed for the loss of the game. There may be a change for the better next year, and we can only hope.

PICKTON DEFEATED COLLEGIATE TEAMPrince Edward Squad Defeated Locals In Rugby Fixture

Pickton proved to be too good for the collegiate team on Saturday afternoon when the locals were defeated at rugby by the score of 10 to 5. Although the collegiate players succeeded in getting the first touchdown, Pickton soon evened up the score and then forged ahead to a win. In the last quarter though, Pickton was fighting hard to avert a tie score, or, perhaps, a beat-

Albert College should have little trouble in polishing off Pickton next Saturday, if they don't play any better than they did over the week-end. In the first quarter, towards the end of the period, Cy Williams, for the collegiate piled Moss Pickton's line for a touchdown. In fact, Williams played nice game throughout and was the outstanding player for the locals. It was after half time that Carl Reid, for Pickton, smashed his way across the collegiate line to even up the score and in the third quarter Don Knight, of Pickton, put over the winning points. It was a hectic game throughout. The ball saw-sawed back and forth one minute at one end of the field and the next at the other. A lad who has credit coming to him is Louis Maraskus, for Collegiate, who by his outstanding tackling made a mark for himself on Saturday. Maraskus is proving to be one of the most valuable men on the collegiate's line-up, and should go far before the end of the season.

Palter, for Pickton, seemed to do the most work in the game. Palter, who carried the ball again and again, was always good for yards and his weight seemed to crash through the collegiate line at will. Although Palter was not credited with a touch, nevertheless he was responsible for Pickton's success in no small way. Another lad who played a nice game was Don Knight, carrying the ball frequently and usually making his yards.

Cyril Mott, once again, made the stellar play of the game. Mott made yet another stellar tackle when he stopped a Pickton player from a sure touchdown. Mott tackled from behind and had to go through the air a good distance to do it.
The following is the line-up—Belleville—Byrnes, Coach. Manager Mott. Williams, in the backfield; inside, Rowsome and Higgs; middle; Twiddy and Mott; outside, Yarrows and Maraskus; snap, Rogers.
Pickton—Wright, Hicks, Van Dusen and Hyatt; Caughey and Palter in line; Knight and Red, middle; Payne and Stainer, outside; Flying Wing, Yerkes; snap, Parks.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—There was virtual-ly nothing to worry about at Wrigley Field today until next Tuesday when worrying will start in earnest. Neither Joe McCarthy on the threshold of his first world series as manager of the Chicago Cubs, nor Connie Mack, too whom the world series are old stories, have viewed with alarm approaching test. Each has indicated the confidence in his ball club and the respect for his adversary.

The Cubs had a matter of finishing their National League schedule still to consider: a game today, with Cincinnati and the season's finale tomorrow against the Pittsburgh Pirates. The playing field where two first games of October classic will be played is ready. Its seating capacity of about forty thousand has been augmented by the construction of extra bleachers that rise above the sidewalk outside the park.

Each team, barring accidents, will have the same available strength that enabled them to win the championship of their respective leagues.

ANSWER PROMPTLY

By the time this woman finishes her hand of bridge and reaches the telephone the party calling will have given up. The tardy bridge-player will be told "Sorry — there's no one on the line now, Madam".

Both of them will be annoyed — the person calling and the person called. Both of them have wasted time. Remember — it takes three to complete a call — and she did not answer promptly.

There are over one million local calls in Ontario and Quebec every day which fail to get through. These uncompleted calls mean two million minutes a day wasted — congestion of traffic — constant irritation — a handicap to business.

Some of them are unavoidable and some of them are our own errors. But many of them are mistakes made by the person calling or the person called. It takes three people to complete a call.

We are constantly striving to reduce our own errors. We are now pointing out some of the common errors in telephone usage because our aim is to provide the best possible telephone service and in telephone service, co-operation is essential.

Answer promptly when your telephone rings. If it is not convenient to answer in your home, consult us about it. And when you make a call, wait a reasonable time before giving up and causing a "No one on the line now".

*Extensive new construction and replacements of both local and long distance telephone plant will mean an outlay in 1929 of more than $27,000,000.

The Canadian Chambers of Commerce who have been making a tour of western Canada, has reiterated its previous stand in favor of a continuance of assisted emigration of selected British settlers of a desirable type. A report of the national committee on immigration, under the chairmanship of George W. Allen, K.C., of Winnipeg, which has made an exhaustive survey of the subject, has been presented and accepted.

Expressing the firm conviction that China was desirous of obtaining foreign capital and that it held no sympathy for Bolshevism, Tsung Chi, one of the Chinese delegates to the recent International Postal Congress at Geneva, reached Quebec recently on S.S. Empress of Scotland, en route for Shanghai.

Back from a six weeks' inspection trip in the United States and western Canada, W. R. MacInnes, Vice-President, and George Stephen, Freight Traffic Manager, Canadian Pacific Railway, said that tourist traffic to Vancouver, Victoria and the Rockies showed very satisfactory increases this year. They emphasized that there was no feeling of pessimism in the Prairie Provinces.

It is expected that His Majesty King George, or His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, will unveil the Vimy War Memorial in 1932, stated Brigadier-General T. H. Hughes, of Victoria, chief engineer of the Canadian Battlefields Memorial Commission in France and Belgium, interviewed on S.S. Montserrat on his arrival in Canada recently.

"We manufacture 15 million pieces of toilet paper per day in Great Britain, but not enough of it comes into Canada and we are seriously considering the opening of a Canadian factory to cater direct to the Canadian people," said Sir Harry Mackintosh, head of the famous British candy firm of the same name, interviewed on his arrival aboard S.S. Duchess of Bedford at Quebec recently.

One of the most beautiful and costly displays in the recent Exhibition at Toronto was the exquisite diamond replica of the latest Canadian Pacific Hotel, the Royal York, in Toronto. To build this unique miniature which was valued at over $300,000, more than 15,000 Ellis faultless quality diamonds were utilized. These were mounted on a framework of satin wood covered with the finest wax. The miniature was drawn true to scale and measured 15 inches high by 12 inches broad.

The farm of James H. Walker, at Raymond, Alberta, of which 70 acres were sown to Kharkov wheat, yielded 2,800 bushels of 40 bushels to the acre, says the Lethbridge Herald. This particular crop was produced on a summer fallow field. The farm is diversified and rotated. Sugar beets do well on it and there is a flock of 200 sheep to help keep it in shape.

In a summary of the wheat situation the Manitoba Free Press points out that wheat is growing so high this year as to afford to a considerable degree the shortage in the crop. "Western Canadian wheat," it says, "has never averaged so high in many years. The protein content of samples so far checked equals the highest that the West has known since the practice of testing for protein was inaugurated."

PREDICT BITTER ELECTION FIGHT IN AUSTRALIA

Canberra, Australia, Oct. 5.—(By The Canadian Press).—Economists have long been shaking their heads in concern for the economic welfare of Australia. Ever-soaring wages with consequent increase in costs of production and decreased spending power, falling values of wool, and a spell of drought years which have seriously curtailed the wheat yield, have produced the requisite set of circumstances to cause the country seriously to think. The British Economic Mission of 1929, headed by Sir Arthur Duckham, very temperately told the people of Australia, in effect that Nature's bounteous gifts can be discounted by false standards of economics, among which the conflict of Federal and State systems of industrial legislation was mentioned as the most damaging.

This conflict is the dominant note in the elections campaign which concludes with polling on October 12. The Government of Premier Stanley M. Bruce is solidly behind the principle of carrying Labor arbitration back to the states; the strong Labor Opposition is bitterly opposed to abolition of the Federal labor court.

Premier Bruce, leader of the Nationalists, better described as the Anti-Socialists, allied with the Country or Farmers' Party, has long seen the need for an overhaul of the industrial system. Undoubtedly the comments of the Economic Mission steered his resolve to grasp the nettle. Either the Federal Government must have wider powers in the field of industrial arbitration to prevent the serious and stupid overlapping of its Courts' awards by the dissident awards of the separate Industrial Courts of the six States, or the Commonwealth must reduce its control to the two great industries really all-Australian in their incidence—shipping and transport.

Before the World War, and since, Rt. Hon. W. M. Hughes, first Socialist, now Independent Nationalist, had, either as Attorney-General or Prime Minister, sought increased industrial legislative powers from the electorate and had several times been rebuffed. Mr. Bruce has since had the same experience. It has been Australia's misfortune that the State Legislatures—many think that with the advent of Federation they should have been reduced to something akin to glorified County Councils—have persisted in pressing for State Rights. The same set of Federal voters, balloting in their State units, sided with the "State Righters" and rejected the Commonwealth's invitation to give it increased domain. Mr. Bruce this year, with the economic outlook worse than ever, tried the last expedient of seeking the consent of the State Premiers to the change. Once more a rebuff, and he came down with his Bill for the Commonwealth to restrict its arbitration ambit to the shipping and transport industries.

It was defeated and the government forced from power.

Mr. Hughes has been the champion of arbitration and conciliation; but he

If you are a wife or mother think this over

The scene is a thriving Canadian City. Time: Spring of 1919. Jimmie Robb and Johnnie Nebb, chums and playmates for years, both in their teens. The "Flu" epidemic of 1918 had left them, like hundreds of other children, without a father's care and support.

Johnnie—"Gee! Jimmie, we have to move over to Smith St., near the railroad track."

Jimmie—"Why?"

Johnnie—"I heard Mother telling Mr. Scott, who comes for the rent, that Dad had died. I came home one evening and said Mr. Wright of the Confederation Life Association had been discussing more Life Insurance. Protection, and he thought he would arrange for some more. Mother said to Mr. Scott, 'Oh! how I wish I had encouraged my husband to buy it instead of telling him that we could not afford it. I simply have to move now to a cheaper place.'"

Jimmie—"I heard Mother say the other day she was so thankful she had agreed with Dad's idea of taking more Life Insurance. She said Dad mentioned, when he was sick, how pleased he was that he had increased his Life Insurance."

has been largely responsible for the principle having been vitiated. During the war, when Australia had an unpleasant crop of industrial troubles, Mr. Hughes, armed with wartime license, called industrial conferences to arrange settlements which might have been left to the Arbitration Court. Mr. Hughes encouraged the unions to think that around conference tables they could drive hard bargains impossible of achievement in the sterner atmosphere of a legal tribunal. This led to persistent flouting of the authority of the Court. Extremists have been encouraged to win control of the unions and exploit the lethargy of the bulk of their members to the damaging disadvantage of Australia. Again the prestige of the Federal Court has been undermined by the facility with which a genuinely Federal union could, as it invariably did, go to each of the six State courts, get six separate awards chosen what was best in each of them, ignore the rest, and in the long run bring the whole principle of arbitration into contempt.

Mr. Bruce's bill gave Mr. Hughes the opportunity he had long awaited. He had never concealed his antipathy to the Cambridge Blue who won honors on the battlefield, came home wounded, and, to his own great surprise, found himself wafted into politics as a Nationalist under the banner of Mr. Hughes. A cabinet shuffle was ordered and Mr. Bruce, man of big business, became Treasurer in the Hughes Ministry. The farmers demanded and won a share of the administrative cake, and not long afterward it was decided that Mr. Hughes should relinquish the privilege of cutting it. He was literally forced to retire. Mr. Bruce became head of a two-party ministry (Nationalists and Country party), and Mr. Hughes passed into relative obscurity. Only a few months before he had received his Anglo-Australian testimonial of $125,000 for his wartime services.

But Mr. Hughes loves politics and a fight. He became the carping critic of the Coalition government's policy, and several times seriously embarrassed it to the open joy of Labor. Now he has vigorously stepped forward in defence of the federal court and demanded that the country be consulted as to whether the child Arbitration shall be boarded out to the states. Though elected as a Nationalist, Mr. Hughes voted against the government's bill and with three colleagues and the Labor opposition overthrew the government. Some more of Mr. Bruce's supporters found it easier to follow Mr. Hughes' espousal of the electorate's prerogative, and Mr. Bruce found himself in a minority of one.

Labor, in magnanimity inspired by hope of success, is not opposing Mr. Hughes in North Sydney. As everybody expected, the Nationalists have confronted him with a strong official candidate and forced him to stand as an independent. Mr. Bruce could have set the seal on his political career by personally taking up Mr. Hughes' challenge in North Sydney. Such a course would have given the Nationalist campaign the impetus and inspiration it now lacks.

Hon. Chas. McCrea Says Shafts Will Be Sunk To Seams

Sudbury, Ont., October 3.—The Ferguson Government will sink two shafts to the coal seams of the large deposit of lignite coal recently discovered under the direction of the present administration in the James Bay district. Hon. Chas. McCrea, Minister of Mines announced here today. One hundred tons of coal, he stated, of the quantity in sight, ranging from 30,000,000 to 40,000,000 tons, would be tested as speedily as possible. Construction of a winter road from Cochrane to Blacksmith Rapids on the Abitibi River was already being proceeded with to reach this large supply. Mr. McCrea declared as a step in the development of Northern Ontario.

The announcement of Mr. McCrea came after his unanimous selection as Conservative standard bearer for the constituency of Sudbury in the Ontario election. From every section of this vast nickle area delegate were present. His was the only name placed before the convention, and nomination proceedings took only a quarter of a minute. It was the sixth consecutive occasion on which Mr. McCrea was chosen as Conservative candidate for the riding.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Our days are marked by the revival of Paganism. I see everywhere worshippers of the Sun, although it is the only deity on which the worshippers turn their backs.

—William Lyons Phelps. (Scribner's).

FORD IN EUROPE

Something like consternation appeared to have taken possession of certain groups of European manufacturers at the announcement of Mr. Henry Ford that he will establish seven great automobile factories in different countries—England, Ireland, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Spain, Italy, Russia, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Rumania—by reason of the fact that the announcement is accompanied by the intimation that the same scale of wages will be paid to the European workers as obtains in the American plants. It is feared that a rate of wages of $6 a day will put other employers practically "hors de concours." It is said that Ford has contributed $25,000 to the International Labor bureau at Geneva, to have a special investigation into the standards of living in the seventeen cities where he intends setting up his new factories. Whatever these standards may be at present, part of the contract for employment, it is reported will be that the worker shall live according to American standards. It is not easy to see how this will work out. There is such a vast difference in these cases that it would appear to be impracticable to compel so drastic a change. It is foreseen that the homes and ways of the workers will necessarily be revolutionized. Will they be expected, too, to get themselves motor cars, and add garages to their homes? That would be a shrewd stroke of business.

Of course, European workers are correspondingly exultant. They hope that the standards inaugurated by Mr. Ford will become, in time, the common standards and that industrial conditions in Europe will more nearly approximate conditions in the United States. Observers are inclined to think that the experiment will fail. They claim that European workmen will refuse to be driven at the high speed necessary for the assembly line. But similar predictions of failure were made when Mr. Ford first introduced his well-known methods on this continent, with exceptionally high wages for his employees. Others had to follow out. Moreover, many of the workers in the plants of the United States and Canada come from these European countries, and what they are capable of doing out here they should be capable of doing in their native land. It will be interesting to watch the effect of the enterprise, whether sweeping industrial changes follow or not.

W. J. CONNORS

The Fourth Estate has lost a pious figure in the passing of William J. Connors, sen., publisher of the Buffalo Courier-Express. Dubbed "Pinky" for no known reason when, as a brother of a lad, he made the docks of Buffalo his playground, the nickname stuck with this fighting, four-square Irishman to the end of his days and it will be as "Pinky" Connors, we think, that his remarkable man would prefer to be remembered. Dated even a semblance of an education, the boy, possessed of course, determination and natural executive talent, lifted himself up by his own boot latches. Wealth came to him such as is known to few men, but the fabric of Connors remained unchanged. It was natural that politics should claim him, and just as natural that no party should ever be able to snap a whip and make him jump through political hoops. It is a matter of record that he was a Republican in 1892, that he voted for President McKinley in 1896, and then cast his lot again with the Republican forces until three years ago when he supported the senatorial candidacy of a Democratic aspirant—and saw his judgment vindicated by the people of the state. The foundations of Connors' fortunes were laid in the dock district, and, with a natural aptitude for the solving of shipping problems, he eventually found his way to undisputed lake traffic leadership, the Great Lakes Transit Company, organized in 1916, with a capitalization of $20,000,000, being his dream come true. It was in 1908 that Mr. Connors entered the newspaper field acquiring the Buffalo Enquirer which by a process of merging has become the Courier-Express of today one of the most influential and highly esteemed newspapers of the United States. "Pinky" Connors was unostentatious in his philanthropies, only a few of his beneficences becoming known to the world at large. In 1924, 300,000 of stock of the famous toll highway which he built through the Everglades of Florida was distributed among 37 employees of his newspaper and just a few years ago Mr. Connors established a fund of a million dollars for Buffalo's charity organizations, to be administered without regard to race, creed or color. There was set aside in support of this fund, if such support was ever needed, an additional sum of $400,000. Having known poverty himself, Connors was ever kindly to those who felt its sting. He will be mourned by every walk of life in the United States.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By JAMES N. BARTON, M.D.

VALUE OF PERSPIRATION

As students were taught that perspiration or sweating took liquid and wastes from the skin the skin took considerable work off the kidneys.

In the warm weather the skin was so active and so much sweat was produced that the kidneys did not need to throw off much urine, but in the cool weather it was just the reverse and the kidneys had to do more work.

Thus drugs and other methods were used to induce sweating and so to move "poisons" from the system. Then a little later we were taught that the amount of poison removed by the skin even when sweating did not amount to anything, the benefit coming simply from the loss of heat and moisture by the body.

However physiologists now believe that the skin can relieve the kidneys of much of their work, as they find that sweat contains some of the principal substances of the urine. In acute inflammation of the kidneys the sweet glands cannot take the place of the kidneys, but in old or chronic inflammation of the kidneys patients can be kept alive by sweating.

Where there is high blood pressure and inflamed kidneys sweating is not always safe, nor is it considered wise to use drugs or moist heat to induce sweating. Some patients collapse from this treatment. Dry heat is the method that is safe and effective.

Dr. P. M. Allen, describes the construction of a chamber which is 20 feet square and 8 feet high, properly ventilated, and hot dry air used at a temperature of 140 to 160 degrees.

The treatment can be given for twelve to fourteen hours a day, but the patients sleep in a cooler room.

As much as four quarts of sweat can be lost. This dry heat chamber has been found useful in rheumatic affections, skin ailments, and nose, throat and lung conditions.

While the humid heat of the Turkish bath certainly helps many individuals, this dry heat is more effective and is much safer. It is certainly not so exhausting.

The small electric light cabinet bath is helpful in mild cases.

SECOND PUBLIC UTILITY INVEST. COMP. OFFERING

No Par Value In Common Shares At $28.00 Per Share

Public offering of 40,000 shares of Second Public Utility Investment Company is announced by Brown, Urquhart & Company, Limited, Montreal Investment Bankers. The stock, a substantial portion of which has already been disposed of, is being offered at $28.00 per share.

The Company is an investment trust of the British management type with headquarters in Montreal. Directors will include: Lt.-Col. P. L. Browne, M.C., President of Brown, Urquhart & Co., Ltd.; A. G. Urquhart, Vice-President of the same Company; J. H. A. Acer, President Dryden Paper Company Ltd.; Hon. L. A. David, Provincial Secretary for Quebec; Ernest T. L. Tremblay, C.M.G.; D.S.O., General Manager & Chief Engineer Quebec Harbour Commission; Dr. Hector Cyphert, Director Montreal Life Insurance Co.; C. G. Dunn, of Dunn, O'Moore & Co. Ltd., Quebec. It is stated to be the intention to enlarge the Board to the members.

Capitalization of the Company consists of 50,000 authorized and 40,000 issued no par value common shares and 10,000 authorized and issued deferred common shares, the latter having been purchased by the underwriters for cash. There are no bonds or preferred stock. The common shares are entitled to preferential dividend up to $2.00 per share in any one year before any dividend can be paid on the deferred shares. The deferred shares will then be entitled to dividend up to $1.00 per share and in their dividend distributions in any one year, the common shares and deferred shares will rank equally, share for share. Application will be made to list the stock on recognized exchanges.

Second Public Utility Investment Company has been functioning since the early part of this year and paid an initial dividend of $1.00 per share at the end of five months' operations, during which interval earnings are stated to have been approximately $3.00 per outstanding share. The Company controls the (first) Public Utility Investment Company which is expected to pay dividends this year aggregating around 8% on the original offering price of its shares. The subsidiary Company's shares have shown a market appreciation of more than 20% in the past eighteen months and offerings are noticeably scarce.

The Company's investment restrictions prevent it from participating in underwritings or holding a controlling or managerial interest in any enterprise, except the subsidiary Company. It is also restricted as to the proportion of its funds which may be invested in any one country or security or industry. Its resources are invested approximately in the proportions of 40% in bonds and 60% in preferred or common stocks with a proportion of public utility securities in the latter group.

It is understood that the Company had not invested any of its funds prior to the severe market reaction last March and was thus in a position to take advantage of low prices prevailing in security markets at the outset of its career.

CANADA FAILS AS SOURCE OF SUPPLY

Ottawa, Ont. (By Canadian Press)—"Canada will no doubt always have a sufficient supply of soft wood to satisfy her own needs but as an Empire supply she is a failing source," says Prof. Fraser Story in an article in the Empire Forestry Journal on the forestry situation in Canada. The article is endorsed by F. H. Finlayson, Director of Forestry in the Department of the Interior, Canada, who regards it as an indictment of the forestry methods used in the Dominion and says the words quoted are true.

In an interview Mr. Finlayson is quoted as saying: "Although we may temporarily show an increase in export of forest products, I have stated times without number that this has been done or is being done at a cost of using our woods' capital. We are robbing Peter to pay Paul. Along with this statement however, I coupled the following: 'If we will only afford more adequate protection to our young stands of timber; if we will but apply more conservative methods in extraction of mature timber from the woods; if we will only apply the ordinary common sense business methods that we attempt to apply in every other phase of business and personal life—that is, if we will but determine and live within our annual income of wood, that is the wood which the forest produces annually, we will not only maintain, but we will be able to increase our exports of wood products.'"

A TIME PROVEN MEDICINE for the LIVER AND KIDNEYS

For nearly half a century these pills have been for sale in drug stores and known to the general public.

For at least a generation before that they were used extensively in the medical practice of a celebrated physician.

Their value was proven to the public by the giving away of millions of samples. Now they are universally known to the medical profession and to the public generally and are found in the great majority of homes. Since the sale of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is continually increasing, we believe that this is the best proof of their medical value and of the way they are appreciated by the people who use them.

REGULATES THE LIVER

Medical men often refer to the liver as the governor of the human system and blame the liver for many human ills which affect the digestive system.

When healthy and active, the liver filters the poisonous bile from the blood and passes it into the intestines where it acts as a cathartic to regulate the action of the bowels.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act very promptly and very directly on the liver. They quickly arouse the torpid sluggish action of the liver and thereby relieve biliousness, headache, dizzy feelings, indigestion and all the distressing symptoms which accompany liver complaint.

AROUSES THE KIDNEYS

Kidney troubles usually result from chronic liver derangements. The blood is overloaded with poisons and in an effort to purify the blood, the kidneys break down and the poisons go through the system, resulting in backache, lumbago, rheumatism and other painful and dangerous diseases.

It is not sufficient to treat the kidneys. Medical treatment must also awaken the action of the liver and bowels.

Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills do this very thing they are most effective in relieving disorders of the kidneys.

Their combined and direct action on these great filtering systems of the human body accounts for their remarkable success.

RELIEVES CONSTIPATION

The evils of constipation scarcely need explanation. There is no greater rule of health than "Daily Movement of the Bowels." In this way only can the human system be thoroughly rid of poisonous impurities.

There is no more effective treatment for constipation than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The action of this medicine is prompt and effective. This is why so many thousands of people depend on Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a regulator of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

Even when you are not ill, it is a good rule to take one pill at bedtime once a week in order to ensure the health and activity of these organs. This will keep you feeling well and add years to your life.

OVERCOMES THESE SYMPTOMS

Some of the common symptoms arising from derangements of these organs are:

Headache, Coated Tongue, Fickle Appetite and Indigestion, Feelings of weight about the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Depressed Spirits and Irritable Temper, Irregularity of Bowels, Loss of Weight, Kidney Disorders, Tired, Languid Feelings.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are for sale by all dealers in medicines and are manufactured by The Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Canada.

HEARD AT CHATTERTON

The Y's Men Male Chorus were responsible for the programme at Scott's Church, west of Chatterton, at the annual Fowl Supper, which was held last night. The affair was most successful, a large crowd being on hand for both the supper and the entertainment. Tonight the same band of musicians will deliver another concert at Frankford United Church Fowl Supper.

APPEARED IN TORONTO

Detective Sergeant Lavett of Toronto Police Headquarters, was in Belleville yesterday afternoon, and returned to Toronto last night with Everett H. Black, automobile salesman of this city, who was arrested here on Monday on a warrant issued by the Toronto police. He appeared for trial this morning in Toronto at ten o'clock but it is not believed that his trial will be proceeded with until next week.

BOAT NEARLY SWAMPED

Chief of Police Alex Kidd and Highway Traffic Officer Frink, yesterday went down the Bay on a fishing expedition, but so high did the waves roll that they were unable to make their way home again last night, the waves nearly swamping their boat. Fortunately a "Good Samaritan" in the person of a Harold Saunders, was at Massena Point, and the two fishermen remained there all night, returning this morning after the waves had subsided.

SUCCESSFUL DANCE

Another successful social season was launched by the Palencia Club last evening when they held their first monthly dance at Johnson's Academy with a fine attendance. Approximately 90 couples enjoyed the splendid programme of dance music rendered by Jack Denmark's Merry-makers. This affair is steadily gaining in popularity and is becoming well-known by patrons of Wong's Cafe where they play each evening from 9:30 to 12:30. Refreshments were served at eleven thirty and the dance continued until one o'clock.

SUBSCRIBE $500

The Directors of the Belleville Arena announced this afternoon that a subscription of $500 has been received from the Honorable J. B. Gibson, through their local representative, Mr. James L. Bone. The Gibson Company have announced that they will assist in the project wherever possible. The generosity of this firm is more than appreciated by the Directors.

CAFE SUBSCRIBED $500

It was stated in yesterday's edition that Wong Brothers had subscribed $500 to the Arena Fund. This may be conflicting as there are two Chinese establishments under the same name operating here. To avoid any misunderstanding we have been requested to state that Wong Brothers, operating a cabaret and restaurant next to the Intelligencer, are the donors.

SOFTBALL GAME

Some good softball will be seen in the Belleville armories on Friday night when the Whoopees and the Frontenacs, those old time rivals will take each other measure. The fans are guaranteed some real ball. It is well known that when these two teams are lined up against each other that some fun is in the offing.

Department had granted a substantial amount to clear up the indebtedness of the United Empire Loyalist Celebration at Deseronto. Mr. Hill said he was behind the Ferguson government because the Province is in a better financial condition than ever before. He referred to the work of the Health department under the direction of the Hon. Forbes Godfrey, and stated that the Hon. G. S. Henry, Minister of Highways, has succeeded in building hundreds of miles of roads at a comparatively small cost. "Hon. G. Howard Ferguson is the best premier Ontario has ever had," including Sir James Whitton," Mr. Hill declared.

Among those on the platform were Past Pres. of the Conservative Association, C. L. Goodman, of Moira, who acted as Chairman, W. E. Tunnison the federal member, Mrs. Molner and John Kingston.

TEMPLARS NAME OFFICIAL BOARD

Rev. Dr. MacTavish Will Lead Organization For Ensuing Year

West Hastings Temperance workers organized last night at a special meeting which was largely attended, and an enthusiastic gathering elected Dr. MacTavish president of the organization. W. H. Finkle, of Trenton, was chosen as vice-president, F. H. Henry, Belleville, secretary and G. F. Cole, Belleville, treasurer. Chairmen of four districts were also appointed, these being N. J. McNair, for Trenton, C. Powell for Frankford, Edwin Adams for Sidney and H. W. Ackerman for Belleville.

Earlier in the evening the Royal Templars in Temperance held their meeting at which T. A. Robertson of Toronto showed slides which were much appreciated. Mr. Robertson launched a vigorous attack on the Liquor Control Act which he said, was inadequate to cope with the present situation. Nothing of a political nature was discussed, although the organization will support only a candidate, who may be selected at the Liberal Convention to be held here tomorrow night.

YOUNG ARTISTS DELIGHTFUL IN JOINT CONCERT

John Deacon And Harold Bradley Receive Great Ovation Here

A splendid audience of music lovers greeted John Deacon, tenor, and Harold Bradley, pianist, in Bridge Street Church last evening and listened with rapt attention to the delightful, satisfactory programme. A voice of ravishing quality, clear and strong, the pianist, pianissimo, powerful, ringing tones, a gracious manner—all these you have in John Deacon, a boy of Belleville, and proud indeed should his home-town be of him. He sang his ballads and English songs with great beauty of tone and excellent expression.

Particularly good were "Passing By"—Purcell, "Where Ever You Walk"—Handel, "Who Is Sylvia"—Schubert and "Lift Thine Eyes"—Loren. But it was in his opera arias from La Boheme and Puccini that his voice showed to best advantage and in them he displayed much histrionic ability. Mr. Deacon was fortunate in having a gifted pianist in Miss Gwendolyn Williams who indicated rare ability and talent in her accompaniments.

Very fortunate was Mr. Deacon to have with him on the programme Mr. Harold Bradley who made his first appearance in Belleville and played his way into the hearts of the audience. A delicate lightness of touch was his with fine dynamic ability, delightful rhythm and splendid interpretation. His "Moonlight Sonata" was a treat, the Chopin numbers exquisite and the Liszt Rhapsody a wonderful display of dynamics. In his lighter numbers—a Mendelssohn Scherzo, a Debussy tone poem and the "Music Box" by Lindow, he was outstanding. Both artists were generous with encores.

Returning To New York

John Deacon, a Belleville boy, received his elementary education at the old Belleville High School. Always a lover of music he first studied under Mr. Sam Anglin, well-known vocal instructor at Albert College while he was also associated with Bridge Street Choir for several years.

He entered Toronto University as a student engineer and while there he displayed such aptitude in his vocal training that he was advised by his instructors to proceed to New York where he studied under Edgar Schofield. A brilliant career was predicted for him, and he was chosen by the famous Romy from among hundreds of others to play a major part in the program from the famous Broadway play-house. He was heard at frequent intervals over Station WJZ. Since May he has been under contract with the Canadian Pacific Concert Company at Banff Spring Hotel and Chateau Lake Louise.

Mr. Deacon will proceed to New York after leaving Belleville where he will continue his studies. His many Belleville admirers wish him renewed successes in his future career.

FARE FIXED FOR MOTOR COACHES

New System Planned On Ambassador Bridge At Detroit

Detroit, October 9.—Announcement as made today that the motor coaches which will operate across the Ambassador bridge between Detroit and Windsor will charge passengers a twenty-five cent one-way fare. The fare was agreed to at a meeting of the Street Railway Commission in the office of Mayor J. C. Lodge today. Of the twenty-five cents, four cents will go to the bridge company and the remainder will be divided equally between the Department of Street Railways and the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario. The equipment and personnel will be divided equally between the Department of Street Railways and the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario. The equipment and personnel will be furnished equally by two commissions and the operation of the service will be under joint control.

MARY L. JOHNSON

One of Belleville's best and finest residents died yesterday in the person of Mrs. Mary L. Johnson, widow of William J. Johnson and daughter of the late Melissa and William Lyon. She was the daughter of the late Benjamin Ketcheson. Mrs. Johnson made many friends in this city who will mourn her passing. She was associated with one of the oldest families in the Bay of Quinte District and it is said that the Indians from Grape Island gathered at the home of the late Benjamin Ketcheson for their quarterly meeting. Mrs. Ketcheson was one of Belleville's pioneer contractors.

While the late Mrs. Johnson was a student of Hamilton Ladies' College, the W.M.S. of the Methodist Church had its inception and she served as a member of the B.W.U. In the formative years of the W.C.T.U. the local W.C.A. and Hospital, she bore a part. Her co-operation with her husband in this work for young people was her chief contribution to this, and other communities.

The surviving members of the family are: William H. Johnson, of Toronto; James S., of Boston; Mrs. F. H. Howard, Warkworth; Arthur L., of Moose Jaw; Mrs. J. S. Gilbert, of Essex.

WILLIAM J. KEMMER
The funeral of the late William J. Kemmer took place yesterday from his late residence, 33 Grove Street.

Service was held in the home at 1:30 following which the funeral procession went to the Belleville Cemetery where the remains were interred. Many floral offerings testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held by those who knew him. This was held by the Rev. A. E. McCutcheon assisted by the Rev. L. S. Wright. The bearers were: Messrs. B. M. Moorman, W. J. Hart, B. Langabeer, J. P. Thompson, H. W. Dillnutt and C. Reid.

CASPAR JOHN WILLS

Caspar John Wills, respected Belleville citizen and well known in all walks of life in this city, were laid to rest yesterday afternoon. After the service, held in the home of the deceased, 122 Yeoman Street, by the Rev. L. S. Wright, the funeral cortege proceeded to the Belleville Cemetery, where the last obsequies were held. There were a great many friends who attended the funeral, marking the esteem and regard in which he was held. Floral offerings were many and beautiful. At the cemetery the Masonic service was conducted by W. B. H. W. Dillnutt and W. B. James, under the auspices of Belleville Lodge A.F. & A.M., with which lodge the deceased had been affiliated during his life.

"Y" CAMPAIGN IS EXTENDED TO OCTOBER 12TH

Following a bounteous spread served by the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. the workers of the various teams engaged in the "Membership Fight" voted to extend the Campaign to Saturday night, Oct. 12. This action followed the suggestion made by individuals on different teams but met with the approval of everyone present at last night's meeting.

A report of the progress made in the "Around the World Fight" was submitted by Physical Director, Morden while Mr. J. E. Smith, General Secretary and A. J. Armstrong, Chairman of Membership both contributed short, peppy messages of encouragement to the workers, pointing out there was still a large field to work in and an honest effort was sure to obtain results.

The standing of the teams last night in the "Around the World Fight" was as follows:

1. "Spirit of Fellowship" (Business Girls) 5600 Miles.
2. "Spirit of Health" (Employed Boys) 3800 Miles.
3. "Spirit of Energy" (Junior School) 3150 Miles.
4. "Spirit of Happiness" (Teen Age Girls) 2900 Miles.
5. "Spirit of Comradeship" (Seniors) 2100 Miles.
6. "Spirit of Youth" (Preps) 1800 Miles.
7. "Spirit of Aggressiveness" (Senior School) 1200 Miles.

IN MEMORIAM

RYAN—In loving memory of my dear husband, Frederick Ryan who died on October 9th, 1928. All is sad within our memory. For the one we loved so dearly, we forever passed away. We never knew the pain he bore, we did not see him die. We only know he passed away and never said good-bye. God knew that he was suffering. And the hills were dark to climb. So he closed his weary eyelids. And whispered peace be thine. Sadly missed by his wife and daughter.

DEATH NOTICE

JOHNSON—Died at her late home, 184 Victoria Ave., Belleville, Ont., on Tuesday, Oct. 8th, 1929, Mary Louise Johnson, widow of the late William Johnson, aged 85 years. The funeral service will be held in the Sunday School room of Bridge St. United Church tomorrow, Oct. 10th, 1929, at 2:30 p.m. Interment in Belleville Cemetery. Please omit flowers.

Just For The Feminine Reader

An old-fashioned cookie jar, or brown-paper bag from the bakery— which shall it be? Leave it to the children and the question is easily answered. And homemade cookies are so really good for little folks who are too busy growing to eat at regular meal-time! Why should not the cookie jar be kept brimming over?

Actually, cookie making is fun, once one gets the swing of it. One may roll the dough in the good old-fashioned way, one may drop it on a buttered cookie sheet from the end of a spoon; one may chill it to a solid cylinder in the refrigerator and then slice it wafer thin; one may press it from a pastry bag and tube; or one may grind it out in various ornamental forms from the end of a cunning little machine made expressly for cookie manufacture; or one may roll it between the palms into tiny balls.

Different types of cookies naturally ademand different treatment, but usually any good recipe may be changed or adapted so that the dough may be either dropped, chilled, rolled or ground into shape. A good, easily followed recipe for cookies is a treasure. The richest are made without milk or water or leavening, but these are not usually the kind that one makes for the children; theirs should be rather substantial, nourishing and wholesome but there is no reason why they should not be attractive and dainty.

Honey Ginger Cakes are temptingly good and easily made. Melt half a cupful of shortening over hot water—it must not cook—and add a cupful of strained honey, half a teaspoonful of ginger, a quarter teaspoonful of cinnamon, one cupful of milk, and about two and a half cupfuls of flour sifted with half a teaspoonful of soda. Mix all well, make into a roll and chill overnight; then slice very thin and bake about fifteen minutes in a moderate oven.

Gram of Whole-Wheat Cookies, which are the very best of after-school fare, require two cupfuls of brown sugar, one cupful of shortening, one egg, one cupful of sugar or butter milk in which one level teaspoonful of salt have been dissolved, and Graham or whole-wheat flour to make a soft dough. Flavour as preferred. Drop the cookies on a well-greased and floured baking sheet, and place a raisin or a halved date in the centre of each. Bake ten to fifteen minutes at a temperature of 350 degrees. The dough may be stiff enough to roll. Then cut in squares, brush with milk and dot with chopped peanuts.

Cream Cheese With Fruit Conserve. A most delicious combination and one which is especially good for tea and Sunday night suppers. One or two bricks of cream cheese may be used, depending on the number to be served. Use fruit conserve or any jam such as raspberry, grape, or apricot, pouring it over the cheese. If jam or conserve is too stiff, beat it with a fork so that it will pour more easily.

Asparagus Tip Salad. For an individual service arrange 3 asparagus tips on crisp lettuce leaves. Garnish with a teaspoonful of tomato conserve on one side of the tips and a teaspoonful of mayonnaise on the other side. Serve very cold.

Banana Butter Cream Pie. One Cup Banana Butter. One and a Half Tablespoons Butter. Three Tablespoons Flour. Pinch of Salt. Juice of One Lemon.

Two Eggs.

Three-Quarters Teaspoon Vanilla.

One Cup Boiling Water.

One Baked Pie Crust.

Two Tablespoons Sugar.

Blend butter and flour in saucepan and place over fire. Stir constantly and when thoroughly mixed remove from fire and gradually add the cup of boiling water, stirring vigorously to keep smooth. Return to fire and let it boil gently for five minutes. Then add banana butter and mix thoroughly. Five yolks well beaten and add to mixture, stirring rapidly to prevent uneven cooking of eggs. Cook until quite thick. Remove from fire and add vanilla. Cool and pour into baked pie crust. Cover with meringue. Put in moderate oven (350°F) from eight to ten minutes until delicately browned. Serve very cold.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Much milk will be used for the formal coat.

Some of the new long-sleeved sheet metal cloth dresses are built on foundations or have underslips of satin, for a satin with a rather hard surface is employed so that the metal cloth hangs gracefully over it.

CHARLES W. LUKE WAS AMAZED AT CANADA

Montreal, Que. (By Canadian Press) Charles W. Luke, of the executive staff of the London Times, Trade Section, who recently sailed for England after a four months' visit to Canada, expressed himself as amazed at the "wonderful development of the Dominion." Mr. Luke had visited all the most important centres in the West, in addition to touring the Peace River country with the Canadian Chamber of Commerce party, during September.

"The whole visit has been an inspiration and will be an imperishable memory," Mr. Luke said. "The kindness with which I have been received and the unbounded hospitality extended to me, will linger long in my mind. Canada is a great country I hope to do something to awaken the English people to a proper appreciation of its possibilities."

It is rumored that golf course, air port and large club house are to be constructed on Macdonald farm, 4th concession of Colchester South.

Be Sure to Ask for Kotex

There is no substitute for this feminine hygienic necessity

Doctors and Nurses advise women everywhere to use Kotex, the New and Improved Sanitary Napkin, because it assures ample hygienic protection. The cellulose absorbent wadding which is used in Kotex is five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton. Kotex is wonderfully soft and pliable. Nothing else can be so comfortable, and still bring you such security and freedom from worry. No embarrassment when buying. Just say Kotex at any drug, dry goods or department store. Regular size 60c for box of a dozen. Super-size 75c. Directions in every package.

5 Features of the New and Improved Kotex

1. Kotex is soft—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
2. Safe, secure... keeps your mind at ease.
3. Kotex filter—is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.
4. In hospitals... Kotex is the identical material used practically exclusively by surgeons in most leading hospitals.
5. Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a patented process.

ROYAL TEMPLARS HOLD RALLY FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

A. H. Lyle, Field Sup't And Capt. Tom Robertson Were Heard Here

Under the auspices of the Royal Templars of Temperance at their annual fall rally occasion, there was held yesterday afternoon, in their quarters in 115 W. M. C. A., an old time gathering of juveniles.

Boys and girls representing all public schools and others round about flocked to the community centre to witness pictures in story form by Mr. A. H. Lyle, of Hamilton, Field Superintendent of the Royal Templars.

Stirring songs were sung under the rousing leadership of Capt. Tom Robertson, of Toronto, general manager of this temperance organization. Mr. F. H. Henry presided over the deliberations of the hour. Following the hearty rendition of the National Anthem, a novelty of the programme was the imitable and clever "rattling of the rattles" by Guy Osborne, accompanied by his mother, at the piano.

BOYS AND GIRLS HEIFER CLUB IN THIS DISTRICT

Younger Element Will Judge Holstein Cattle In Peterborough County

Breeders of Holstein cattle at a well attended meeting held at Peterborough October 1st, decided to organize a Boys and Girls Heifer Club and already a membership of twelve has been secured for the newly formed organization. The young men who are to engage in the work, sponsored by the County Breeders' Club and the Agricultural Representative, were present with marked enthusiasm, entered into the discussion relative to their duties covering every detail in connection with the project. Heifers, fall bred, two-year-olds, will be purchased immediately, and one particularly pleasing and interesting feature of the movement, is that eight head of those bought for the purpose, will go into herds made up entirely of grades, thus providing an initial start in Holsteins for many. In the absence of Mr. O. A. Brotherton, ex-M.P., President of the Peterborough County Holstein Breeders' Club, the meeting was in charge of Mr. C. E. Moore, Secretary and the Agricultural Representative.

Mr. J. B. Nelson, in whose office it took place. These three officials, along with Mr. C. E. Moore, the Federal Live Stock Promoter for Ontario, were authorized to do the buying of the heifers, instructions carrying explicit orders to obtain animals of type, quality and breeding that will not cause any future unwarranted disappointment to the boys and girls.

Peterborough County, extensively engaged in dairying is particularly well suited for the breeding of Holstein cattle, so that the boys and girls have a promising future to look forward to in making rural life more attractive and profitable. The meeting was a success, application forms for heifers at the meeting were Jos. Tully, Arnold Moore, Carman Seymour, Gordon McCreary, Frank Seavign, Lloyd Stinson, Ralph Scott, B. Harvey and Earl Petrie.

PRaise Canada ON GENEVA HOME

Jean Browne Returns From Successful Convention of Junior Red Cross

Toronto, Ont.—(By The Canadian Press)—Canada is well represented and well served at Geneva by the permanent Canadian office which has been established there under the management of Dr. W. A. Riddell since 1925 in the opinion of Miss Jean Browne, R.N. Director of the Junior Red Cross in Canada, who has recently returned from the Junior Red Cross convention in Geneva at which there were representatives from 37 nations.

Miss Browne said the office not only lent to Canada's dignity as a member of the League of Nations, but was a very important factor in making the work of Canadian delegates to international conferences in Europe thoroughly effective.

"The office has become the headquarters for Canadians visiting Geneva, particularly those interested in the League of Nations or the International Labor Office," continued Miss Browne. "It is much used and greatly appreciated by all such official visitors. Information is supplied by it as to any or all the activities of these organizations. Arrangements are willingly made for desired interviews with officials or members of staffs of this or other offices of other nations. Then, too, although its first duty is to act as a link between the Government of Canada and the League of Nations it performs many other functions.

"For instance, secretarial assistance is most efficiently supplied to all Canadian delegations attending the various conferences in Geneva and any research work which may be needed is done expertly by the staff before-hand. If there happens to be in the European press or at a conference any mistaken reference to our country the office is there to make the necessary correction and makes it. Not only that but it serves as an information bureau to proposed immigrants, to inquiring journalists and to students of all of whom are given what they ask for or are referred to the proper sources at Ottawa."

Miss Browne stated the world conference of Junior Red Cross Societies at which she represented Canada has a highly successful meeting. Figures were tabulated showing this international body of school children working in the interests of health and peace now numbered over 11,000,000. Every evidence was given that in even the most conservative countries the movement is now being recognized and encouraged as an educational factor valuable in all 41 countries where it is now firmly established.

VETERAN PITCHER'S TANTALIZING OFFERINGS EFFECTIVE AGAINST CUBS IN OPENING SERIES BATTLE

Howard Ehmke Hangs Up New Record For Strike-Outs

Chicago, October 9.—With a twirling masterpiece that astonished the baseball world in general and the Chicago Cubs in particular, Howard Ehmke, long, lean right hander, slow-balled the Philadelphia Athletics to victory over the National League champions yesterday, 3 to 1, in the opening game of the world's series.

At the age of 35, when he was supposed to be well on the downward path and a second string man at best in the A's cast of stars, Ehmke baffled the batting Bruins, justified the unexpected faith of the veteran Connie Mack and brought his triumph to a climax by smashing 7 n's world's series record for strikeouts.

When the towering, angular Ehmke in an exciting ninth inning finish fanned pinch-hitter Charley Tolson for the third out, with two men on bases, he checked off the last of the three Cubs threats in dramatic fashion with his thirteenth strikeout victim of the game. This surpassed the former world's series of twelve strikeouts, made in 1906 by Big Ed Walsh, the famous White Sox iron man, who also had the Cubs as victims on that occasion.

Just a few moments before Ehmke, hit hard in the side by a line drive from Hack Wilson's bat, had fallen to the ground seemingly hurt at a moment when he had victory and the record in his grasp. There was a dramatic pause until he jumped up, a hurried consultation before he resumed pitching. His hopes of a shutout were blasted when the Cubs scored their only run on a two-base wild throw by Dykes on Guyler's grounder, and a single by Stepien. But the tall moundman finished the game in a blaze of glory.

39,740 In Attendance

A colorful opening day crowd of 39,740 fans, who contributed to a near-record "game" of $219,738, saw Ehmke's slow curves turn back their favorites and beat the best that Charley Root, leading finger of the National League had to offer.

For six innings Root easily held his own in a scoreless duel, but he retired in the seventh for a pinch-batter, after yielding a home run to Jimmy Foxx, young first-sacker of the Athletics. This mighty drive that fell into the centre field bleachers started a carnival of the Cubs, but the clinching blow of the game was a rousing single to centre by Bing Miller, supposedly ailing Mack outfielder, who drove Coach and Simmon across the plate after Edwood English, young Cub short stop, had contributed two successive errors to the final splurge of the A's hit.

Otherwise the game was all a triumph for the towering Ehmke, who celebrated his debut in world's series competition in his thirteenth major league season with one of the finest pitching performances on record. The Cubs were game. They fought hard and they threatened on three separate occasions to break through the barrier of slow curves, floaters, and a change of sideman pace, but except in the ninth when they had a three-run disadvantage to overcome, they failed to show anything like a punch in the chin.

The biggest guns in the Cub attack Rogers Hornsby and Hack Wilson, were spiked more effectively than any others. Twice these two sluggers were fanned in succession by Ehmke's tantalizing delivery, one in the third inning with runners on second and third

The photograph here shows Phil Edwards in New York. It will be remembered, was a member of the Canadian Olympic track team in 1928. He is recognized as one of the fastest half-milers in the world and runs for Hamilton Olympic Club, which club he assisted in the meet with combined Universities Oxford-Cambridge at Hamilton last summer. He flew part of the way from Denver to compete.

and again in the sixth, when the A's star retired the whole Cub side on a five in a row for Ehmke at the time. All he needed was one more to tie Hod Eller's record, made against the White Sox in 1919, but the next man up in the seventh frame, Kiki Guyler, is well as the next batter, Biggs Stephenson, singled.

WINGS DEFEATED KANSAS CITY 8-1

"Tex" Carleton Pitches Masterful Ball And Rochester Won

Rochester, October 9.—Rochester jumped back into the thick of the "Little World Series" baseball conflicts yesterday afternoon in the first game on its home soil, turning back the invading and pace-setting Kansas City Blues, 8 to 1. "Tex" Carleton, in a blaze of effectiveness, pitched his second victory of the series to put the Red Wings just one game behind the Blues, Champions of the American Association.

While the 4,425 fans shivered and froze, the champions of the International League, bunched three hits in the fifth inning and four more in the seventh to draw within one victory of making the event all even. These two rallies warmed up the assemblage, much-needed following the rain and hail of yesterday morning, the burning of gasoline on the infield to dry it out so that the contest could be started, the drop in temperature to around 42 degrees, and also following the easy manner in which Max Thomas, southpaw hurler, set down the Wings in the first four sessions as only 12 men faced him and he gave but one solitary blow.

The Red Wing cast was not downhearted, even with the one-run advantage piled up by the chesty visitors in the third inning, the last and final shaky session of Carleton. "Tex" allowed Kuhl a double and a base on balls to Tucker in the first, he gave two hits after two warm-ups in the second, and two more hits, along with a passed ball in the third, produced a run. From then on, "Tex" was supreme; he acted just as if he were well at home in the freezing weather.

RECREATION BOWLING

Last night at the Recreation Alley in the Ladies League the Nationals took 3 points from the Clacoo No. 1. For the Nationals Miss M. Lynch was high with a single of 234 and a total of 601. For the Clacoo No. 1, Miss S. Frain was high with 460.

The Clacoo No. 2 and the Lucky Strikes broke even with 2 points each. For Clacoo No. 2, Miss M. Carmichael was high with 499 and for the Lucky Strikes, Miss H. Rowbotham was high with 455.

JIMMY FOXX IS TEAM YOUNGSTER

Will Be 22 Years Old On October 22, 1929

Philadelphia, Pa. (By Brian Bell, Associated Press Sports Writer)—Jimmy Foxx will be the baby of the 1929 world's series but he may prove a crutchy infant. The Maryland boy, who led the American League in batting for months before being displaced by his teammate, Al Simmons, will be 22 years of age October 22. His world's series' cheque from Commissioner Landis will be available if he wishes to purchase himself a birthday present.

Connie Mack almost robbed the hitter, Frank Baker, the old Athletics' third baseman, now a Maryland farmer, sent him to the Athletics from the Eastern Shore League and there never was a thought that he belonged anywhere else. The only difficulty Manager Mack found was in discovering a place where "Foxx", as he calls his young star, could do the most good. He was first a third baseman, had a fling at catching and then tried the outfield when he was only a juvenile "down home."

Ticketed as a catcher he came to the A's, a case of sending a load of coal to Newcastle if there ever was one, for the one thing Mr. Mack did not need was a catcher. "The fine sure hands of Foxx made him a great infield prospect and last year he played both third and first base. He was tentatively assigned to third when the players reported for spring training this year but the boss of the Athletics left his permanent assignment open."

"Foxx can play anywhere," Connie Mack said at Fort Myers. "It's just a question of finding where we need him most. First, third, the outfield, it makes no difference to Foxx."

As usual the wise old man was right. When the situation adjusted itself finally to its own accord, Foxx was on first base and his work had a great part in the winning of the championship. The youth is not yet a great fielder but his batting is impressive. He swings from his heels and he is a threat every time he goes to bat. He gets extra base hits frequently from bad balls that a more conservative hitter would scorn to try to hit. Three

SPEED BALLERS IN WORLD SERIES

New York N. Y. (By Canadian Press)

—Speed ball pitching comes back to the world series spotlight this year for the first time since Walter Johnson burned 'em over in 1924 and 1925. Two series of this fast ball business—Pat Malone, of the Cubs and Lefty Grove of the Athletics—were all steamed up and ready to begin shooting streaks of lightning when the 1929 classic opened in Chicago October 8. Both Malone and Bush lead their leagues in strikeouts. And it takes super-speed to rate this ranking with such stars as Vance, former major league strike-out king, competing against the Big Bruin hurler, and George Earnshaw and George Pugsley bidding for American League strikeout honors. The two kings of speed far more than their 1929 performances recommend them as strikeout aces.

When it comes to setting the boy back on strikes, Grove stands alone in the American League. He has led the league in this department for four straight seasons. He worked 194 1926, 174 in 1927, 182 in 1928 and, on September 18, had 191 to his credit. In 1929 Malone has been a big league only two seasons but he has shown it boys some smoke in that brief period. He fanned 155 last year, finishing second to Vance.

This year the Chicago giant has a clear field to the league strikeout title. Pat had 186 in the bag on September

BALL REPORTER KNEW HIS STUFF

That Is How William L. Veck Got His Job With Cubs

Chicago, Ills.—Once there was a baseball reporter who knew more about running the home town club than the man who got paid for the job. And that's how William L. Veck, president of the Chicago Cubs, got his job.

Back in 1918 Bill was writing baseball for the Chicago Evening American. His specialty was writing things wrong with the Cubs and talking about them in print. But his criticism was constructive. One day when Veck was on his way to the press box to cover a game he met William Wrigley, owner of the team.

"You seem to know so much about running a ball club," said Wrigley, referring to a rather pointed criticism Veck had written that day, "how could you like to have the job?" Veck, stunned for a second, recovered and accepted. He was hired on the spot.

Bill—nobody calls him William—polished himself for the myriad duties of handling a big league club by engaging in such occupations as a newsboy, a drug store apprentice, printer's devil, a few other things and finally as a baseball reporter. He was born in Booneville, Ind., some 40 odd years ago, of Dutch parents.

Veck has a remarkable personality and is immensely popular with the public and players. It was his counsel with Wrigley that brought Joe McCarthy from Louisville as the team manager.

If these big boys get started on the same day, speed ball pitching may become one of the series' greatest attractions. Give either, or both, one of those dark, cloudy October afternoons and there may be a day off for the remainder of the team.

Massachusetts motorists will be entitled to reduction of $9,000,000 from their taxable incomes under Federal income tax for 1929.

SCHOOLS BATTLE HARD FOR CUP

Queen Victoria Team Appear To Be Best of Football Squads

WON TWO GAMES

Youngsters Show Splendid Ability In Fight For Trophy

Queen Victoria and Prince of Wales school teams met Monday afternoon on the Pine street grounds in the first football game for the Harvey Cup. The visitors lost the toss and the homesters took advantage of the wind behind them. Stapley kicked off and Nunn passed out to Angell who made a nice dribble but shot by. From the goal kick Macdonald and Elvins got away but Hammett kicked clear and Morgan centred and Dickie shot over. The Victorias kept up the attack and Angell opened the scoring with a hard shot. From the kick-off Curlette and Adams made headway but Rigby cleared with a big kick and play went to the other end. The ball was handed near the visitors goal but they packed the goal mouth and cleared the free kick. Collins in goal stopped a lot of shots but good combination resulted in Morgan scoring the second goal. Half-time came soon afterwards with the score 2-1 for the Victorias. Changing over the visitors had the wind and for a time Rigby and Morgan were busy defending. At last R. Morgan and Rowbottom raced away Dickie shot by. A free kick for hands brought relief and Kaiser put the ball down to the other end. Rigby got possession and dribbled up the field and passed to Angell and back to Rigby who scored the third goal. The visitors tried hard to score but the whistle blew for time with the score 3-0 for Queen Victoria. Morgan, Rigby and Angell were the best while Stapley, Collins and Kaiser were good for the losers.

The teams were as follows:

Queen Victoria	Prince of Wales
Yeomans	Goal Collins
Morgan, Rigby	Backs Kaiser, Lucas
Hope	Halves Townsend
Nunn	Nunn
Hammett	Howe
Morgan	Forwards Macdonald
Rowbottom	Elvins
Dickie	Stapley
Myhrrest, Angell	Curlette, Adams

Queen Victoria and St. Michael's teams met on Pine street grounds Tuesday afternoon for the Harvey Cup. The visitors were 7 men short and played Connors, Burt and Robinson. Langton lost the toss and kicked off. The ball went down as far as Hope who passed to Morgan who centred to Dickie but Connors cleared. Then Robinson got away and dribbled to the other end but Rigby cleared. End-to-end play followed, first one side attacking and then the other. A free head for hands against St. Michael's resulted in a goal. Morgan took the kick and placed it just under the bar to open the scoring. From the kick-off Blair and Burt took the ball to the other end and Hammett cleared. Rowbottom handed and Lynch took a shot at goal and Rigby headed clear. Farrara rushed to the other end and Nunn robbed him near goal. Angell and Dickie played good combination and Angell shot by. Mid-field play followed and half-time came with the score 1-0 in favour of the home team. Dickie kicked off for the Victorias and passed over to Angell who went up the wing and passed over to Rigby who shot in by the upright giving the goal-keeper no chance. This roused the visitors and from the kick-off Langton, Farrara and Blair went to the other end and forced a corner which was cleared and by good combination the home team went to the other end. A nice pass by Angell to Morgan looked dangerous but Robinson robbed him near goal. No further scoring took place and Queen Victoria were winners by 2 goals to 0. The teams lined up as follows:

Queen Victoria	St. Michael's
Yeomans	Goal Hughes
Morgan, Rigby	Backs Lynch, Barrett
Hope	Halves Dimone
Nunn	Lapalim
Hammett	Connors
Morgan	Blair
Rowbottom	Langton
Dickie	Myhrrest, Angell
Robinson, Burt

Referee, Mr. Robinson

For the Queen Victorias, Hope, Nunn and Hammett were the best, while Langton, Robinson and Lynch were the best for St. Michael's.

COMMISSIONER DOES NOT DOLE OUT EMPLOYMENT

Many Think All He Has To Do Is Give Friends a Job

London, Eng. (By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Despatch). "People seem to think I have hundreds of jobs to give away," declared Hon. George Lansbury, First Commissioner of Works. "They seem to think I am a great-hearted sort of fellow, who, now I have found a job myself, can find a job for them as well. That is not the way things are done at the office of Works. It is a good thing, too, because otherwise it would lead to a good deal of favoritism."

George Lansbury was addressing an audience of women at Bromley, which forms part of the vast East-end of London which he knows so well, where he has lived so long. Just now he is busy going all over the parks and other open spaces which belong to the Crown, and for the care of which he is therefore responsible, to see how their amenities may be extended. He is talking of introducing sunbathing at Hyde Park, and mixed bathing in the Serpentine. It was the earlier Labor Government which was responsible for removal of the ban upon taxis being driven through Hyde Park. Privately the Parks roads could only be used by private carriages.

In some ways Mr. Lansbury is the most interesting inclusion in the present Cabinet. His fierce independence, his impetuosity, and his plain manner of speech seemed to render it impossible that he could ever become a Minister of the Crown. But those who really know him are aware that a gentle, kindly spirit lies behind his plainness of utterance. Like many another man of the "ray what I mean type" he is himself most sensitive to criticism. His devotion to the Church of England is considerable, and at Church Congresses he used often to keep a gathering of gathered bishops and other dignitaries close interested. He was at one time editor of the Daily Herald, and had an uneasy year once as chairman of the Labor Party.

Collegiate Chatter

Yesterday, a meeting of the Junior Literary Society was held after the auditorium period.

To-morrow is the day that Ralph Connor is to speak in the Collegiate auditorium. The Senior Literary Society has been able to procure him for their first meeting, which is to be held in the evening at 8:15. The admission fee is seventy-five cents, which is a very small price to pay for the opportunity of hearing such a well-known speaker. We are expecting a large audience.

Hereafter, students who wish to attend special events such as hockey and baseball games are required to procure a note from home one or two days before the time they wish to attend the special event. Probably this will eliminate the temptation to take advantage of this privilege to escape school work.

The terrace of the school-yard is being sodded and from this glimpse of grass we can picture in our mind's eye the appearance of the rest of the yard with its lawn, shrubs and flower bed.

At last, not of the Fall Fairs are over and the school attendance is not as broken as it was. During the Fall Fair period, students stayed at home whenever their particular home fair took place. This made the attendance very irregular.

Yesterday morning the school was told that five drill would take place sometime during the day. Accordingly at ten minutes to four the fire going sounded and the school was emptied of students in a speedy and orderly manner.

Room 201 is now open at the noon hour for students who wish to study at that time. This room is also supervised by a teacher during this period of time in order to keep order and give those who desire to work, a chance to do so. During this period, much homework can be done.

ZERO WEATHER ON NORTH FRONTIER

Edmonton, Alta. (By Canadian Press). "Old Man Winter is already making deliveries of ice in the far north," says the Edmonton Journal, quoting Thomas Creighton, prospector and hunter arrived in this city from the Copernicus River delta. Most of the lakes in the far north are already frozen, the prospector said, and blizzards which have been raging along the Arctic coast during the past week made flying hazardous. "Coming well from the barrens to reach the Mackenzie River at Fort Norman, Creighton found that this post, notable for its oil rush which occurred some years ago—was also suffering from an unprecedented cold snap for this time of the year. WALKER STORES NEW MANAGER IS POPULAR FIGURE

H. W. Newby Takes Charge of Belleville's Up-To-Date Store

OTHER CHANGES

Comes Here Highly Recommended From Niagara Falls

Mr. H. W. Newby for the past eighteen months manager of the Walker Stores at Niagara Falls, has been transferred to Belleville and has taken charge of the local store. Mr. D. J. Hurley who has been here for the past month, has returned to Brockville while Mr. James Murray, who was local manager for the past three years, has been assigned to the Niagara Falls store.

Mr. Newby, previous to his affiliation with the Walker Stores, was connected with the McLaren Company as assistant manager of the store at Niagara Falls. Mr. Newby was exceedingly popular in Niagara Falls and the staff of the store in that city made him a presentation previous to his departure last Saturday.

Mr. Newby's wife and family of two boys will remain in Niagara Falls for some weeks until he is settled here. Speaking with The Intelligencer this morning, he said, "I am pleased to become a resident of Belleville and I feel that I will like it here. We will be glad to render the same service to any of our old customers as well as any new ones."

Sincere regrets were expressed by the staff of the Niagara Falls store when the announcement of the transfer was made. He made a host of friends and was regarded as a mark of appreciation, the staff presented him with a handsome travelling case. The following address was read by Mr. James Black, while the presentation was made by Miss Wilson.

Dear Mr. Newby:
We, the staff of the Walker Stores, Niagara Falls, wish to express our sincere regret at the severance of your connection with us and your departure for a new community.

We also wish to thank you for your kind and considerate manner, while working with us and we wish you long life, happiness and prosperity in your new community. As a token of our esteem accept this travelling case with our good wishes.

Signed on behalf of the staff,
Miss Mackenzie.

Born in Norfolk County, England, Mr. Newby was, in his younger days, a prominent football player. He came to Canada twenty-seven years ago settling in the Niagara Peninsula, where he has made a legion of friends.

ALTERATIONS TO JOHN ST. CHURCH ARE COMPLETED

"Ralph Connor" Will Be Speaker At Sunday Services

Rev. Robt. Hall, pastor of John Street United Church, announced today that the Church will be re-opened on Sunday with special services. Extensive alteration operations which were started in July have practically been completed by the Mother-Well Company of Ottawa, well-known building contractors. J. Arnold Thomson of Thomson and Johnston, was the architect.

Members of John Street congregation and visitors will note tremendous changes in the interior of the Church at the first service on Sunday. The members of the advisory Board were faced with the problem of additional room in the Sunday School and Church, and the extensive alterations were planned. The enlargement includes an up-to-date Sunday School parlor while the church has been extended to accommodate the choir at the rear of the pulpit.

It was found necessary to make space for the magnificent new pipe organ presented to the church by Mr. R. J. Graham and family which will be fitting memorial to the late Mrs. R. J. Graham who was for many years a devoted supporter of the church.

The organ is being built and installed by Casavant Freres of Ste. Hyacinthe, Quebec, and will be delivered before Christmas.

Mr. Hall was fortunate in securing the services of Rev. C. W. Gordon D.D., noted author and preacher to conduct the opening services. Dr. Gordon is more popularly known as "Ralph Connor" and is the author of several popular books including "The Man from Glengarry" and "The Prospector."

Dr. Gordon will preach the services in the morning and in the evening and on Monday evening will begin a preaching mission to run each evening throughout the week, concluding Sunday, October 20th. Dr. Gordon is a former moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada and has an overseas chaplain. He is a popular speaker and will no doubt be greeted by a large congregation on Sunday.

With the jubilant Athletics on their way home from Chicago, the ticket speculators boosted the prices substantially today. PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS MEET IN COLLEGIATE

Interesting Program Is Prepared For District Teachers

VISITING SPEAKERS

Ralph Connor Will Be Chief Speaker At Tonight's Session

Three hundred Public School teachers convened at the Belleville Collegiate Institute this morning for the Annual Teachers' Convention and a most interesting and instructive programme was promised. The convention opened at ten o'clock this morning, with Principal H. E. Williams, of Queen Victoria School, in the chair. More teachers arrived at noon for the final sessions and practically every school in the district is represented.

Following the reading and approval of the minutes of the last convention, which was held in Queen Mary School a year ago, Dr. S. S. Sileo, M.A. B. Ed., of Stratford Collegiate Institute, delivered an address on the Teachers' Reading Habits and the Teachers' Library, which was greatly appreciated. Dr. Sileo is a talented speaker and pointed out many hints which will undoubtedly prove helpful to those in the teaching profession.

Professor Hunt, of this city, then demonstrated the method of teaching pupils rhythm by means of rhythm band. Each pupil has some sort of an instrument on which to beat time and in this manner, with careful instruction, practically any child can learn time in music. Inspector H. J. Clarke, of Belleville, then spoke regarding the school registers and reports which he had inspected and told the assembly where the usual mistakes were made and how to avoid them.

Mr. R. J. Graham, addressed the gathering this afternoon and gave a most educational address on Java and East Indies. Mr. Graham was in both of these islands last year and possesses the happy faculty of retaining impressions which he is able to pass on to others in a singularly interesting manner. During the afternoon session, Mr. James Bankier rendered several vocal selections, accompanied by Mr. Leo Riggs.

At three o'clock the teachers divided into grade meetings, the teachers of the first grade grouping together, the second grade teachers going together and so on. In these grade meetings, problems peculiar to their own classes were discussed.

The evening session will be held at the Collegiate and Ralph Connor, (Dr. Gordon) will speak.

COMB BARRENS FOR TRACES OF LOST AVIATORS

McAlpine Party Believed Waiting Relief In Northland

Winnipeg, Man., October 10.—The outpost of the search for the eight lost explorer today was pushed far into the barrens. Three aeroplanes had pressed through to Baker Lake, 390 miles west of Hudson Bay, to join Capt. G. S. Blanchet's advance party of two men. The newest move places the five aircraft on the border of the barren area where Col. C. D. H. McAlpine and his mates are believed to have been waiting rescue for nearly five weeks.

According to a message received today at the headquarters of the air hunt, here, five aeroplanes to the outpost fleet, piloted by Andy Cruickshanks, H. Hollick-Kenyon and J. D. Vance, arrived at Baker Lake after a one-day hop from Stony Rapids, an old search base in North Saskatchewan. Today the new arrivals arrived beside the Blanchet planes, piloted by Roy Brown and William Spence.

GOTHAM TENDERS BIG DINNER TO BRITISH PREMIER

Ramsay MacDonald Will Open Tour of Canada
On Monday

New York, October 10.—A three-day programme of the official and private engagements, including a luncheon which is expected to be the largest in attendance ever given in this city, will greet Premier Ramsay MacDonald upon his arrival from Washington this evening.

The Prime Minister of Great Britain and his party will remain in New York until Monday, when they will depart for Canada, visiting Niagara Falls as guests of the New York state Minister, in connection with crossing the Reservation Commission and crossing the International Peace Bridge at Buffalo on Tuesday.

After his arduous activities at Washington, Premier MacDonald will be given an opportunity to rest at his hotel upon his arrival here. The only event on his programme tonight is a visit to the home of Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Company.

Washington, October 10. (By Rees Furman, Associated Press Staff Writer) Isabel MacDonald's farewell to Washington is a message from the Premier of the British Commonwealth, which he is to carry to the United States. He is almost ready to depart, but Miss MacDonald reveals the full import of her visit. She came to America dedicated by her Country Women as the feminine aid to her father, the British Prime Minister, in his efforts to bring about the Organization of the League of Nations, a better international understanding.

Miss MacDonald said that just before she left London, a group of several hundred labouring women of the Poplar district, had come to bid her God speed on her journey. She represents the Poplar district, one of the poorest sections of her city, on the London County Council.

"In tears, they asked me to give a message to the United States women, that they were looking and praying for peace," she related. "They said for me to tell you that they are hoping that the United States women also, will look and pray for peace."

WEST HASTINGS LIBERALS GATHER

Harold Holton's Name Mentioned As Opponent For
W. H. Ireland

Mr. Harold Holton will be the Liberal candidate for West Hastings in the forthcoming Provincial election. He and Col. Vandewater were the two nominees at the Liberal Convention this afternoon, but the latter withdrew leaving Mr. Holton to carry the Liberal banner for this riding.

Liberals of West Hastings met in their club rooms on Bridge Street this afternoon to name a candidate to oppose Mr. W. H. Ireland, on October 30th. The stalwarts of the party met here last Wednesday for the same purpose but the meeting broke up without any choice having been made. It is almost a certainty, however, that the Liberals will name the man to contest the seat today.

Harold Holton

Mr. E. J. Butler, Acting President of the local association, informed the Intelligencer at noon today that the party plan to place a candidate in the field but he was unable to offer any suggestions as to who it might be.

The name of Mr. Harold Holton has been prominently mentioned in political circles during the past week as a representative of the Sinclair forces. Mr. Holton was approached by the Liberal organizers at the conclusion of last week's meeting and was offered the support of the party, should he decide to enter the fight. It is believed that the prohibition forces in West Hastings are behind him while the Royal Templars will offer their support. As Mr. Holton, if tendered the nomination of the Liberal party will run on a "Done Dry" platform.

New officers of the local association were named today while Mr. Nelson Parliament, a prominent Liberal of Prince Edward County former member addressed the gathering.

Reviews Accomplishments of Conservative Gov't Under Ferguson

POWER SYSTEMS

Cites Condition in England Where Many Jails Have Been Closed

Electors of East Hastings yesterday afternoon had the opportunity of hearing Col. Price, Ontario's Attorney General, speak at the Plainfield Conservative Convention, which was exceptionally well attended, and at which James F. Hill, M.P. for East Hastings, again received the nomination. Col. Price and Mr. Hill each endorsed the Ferguson Government and each explained why they support him.

"Good roads and cheap power for the farmers are two of the main planks in Premier Ferguson's policy," declared Mr. Price. "Enough has not been done for the farmers of Eastern Ontario—not nearly as much as has been done for those of Western Ontario. The reason is that the eastern section of the province has been more or less out of the province's control, and much power has had to be bought from Quebec. Western Ontario farmers have cheaper light and power because of the close proximity of Niagara Falls. We are not just talking now, we are going to act, and if you are in favour of putting electric light into the farmers' homes at a cheap price, support Mr. Ferguson and his candidate," declared the Attorney General.

Another feature mentioned by the speaker was the development of Northern Ontario. It is a land that we have a great empire to the north of us, but how many people really think of it as belonging to Ontario? "Put Northern Ontario in any country in Europe and watch it develop," declared Mr. Price. There are at present some 35,000 persons in Northern Ontario, developing the vast empire, but the time has come for stock-taking, and the country should be opened up with new good roads and with the development of water power through the whole country.

"Regulation of the liquor traffic cannot wait just as it did years and years ago," said the speaker, going on to show that although a law may seem to be just the thing that is needed, something always crops out which calls for continued legislation. "In the beginning," quoted Col. Price, there was very little regulation of the liquor traffic. Then the authorities made it an adjunct of the hotels, after which came Local Option, and the Whitney administration. Local Option continued on Page Four

CIVIC NIGHT AT EUREKA LODGE

Officials of City Occupy Chairs In Unique Masonic Ceremony

"Civic Night" was held at Eureka Lodge last evening and two new members were initiated, Harry Evans and Charles Mott, both well-known Belleville men. All those taking part in the ceremony were civic officials and Mr. J. O. Herity, manager of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, delivered an inspiring address. "Back to the Center," Very Worshipful Brother Leoni Wainman expressed the appreciation of the Chapter to Mr. Herity for his fine effort.

Those assisting in the initiation ceremony were Fred Chamberlain, City Auditor; Hope McGuinnis, Sanitary Inspector; Mayor, Harry Greenleaf; Jesse Harris, Superintendent; T. E. Ketcheson, City Assessor; ex-Ald. R. Adams; Ald. G. A. Reid, W. H. Adams and F. W. Watson, City Department, and a number of members were present, among following the initiation the Eureka Orchestra played several selections. A fine musical programme was also carried out.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"Fullness of knowledge always and necessarily means some understanding of the depths of our ignorance, and that is always conducive to both humility and reverence."
—Robert Andrews Millikan. (Forum)

WISE CHOICES

Conservatives of two adjacent ridings made wise choices yesterday in the candidates for the approaching campaign. Popular opinion in both constituencies has swung toward the selection of the conventions and the return of the candidates is almost assured.

"Jim" Hill in East Hastings has installed himself a popular favorite in every part of the riding. He is an unquestionable type of man but he is a worker, and East Hastings has received its share of roads and finances from the Government, through Mr.
Hill's aggressiveness and his influence with the powers that be.

The Milltown subway has been a trap for motorists for years and it was chiefly due to Mr. Hill's persuasions that the menace has been supplanted by a modern subway. Danger signs were erected at the entrance to the place but these have been of little use in halting the highway accident rate which is increasing at an alarming rate. The new subway provides a straight passage and will rectify a condition which has been a distinct danger to motor traffic.

Mr. Hill was instrumental in having the Government shoulder a portion of the cost of the Deseronto United Empire Loyalist celebration which certainly was a tremendous undertaking for the people of the community.
He succeeded in convincing the Government of the need of new bridges and the Tweed-Belleville Highway when completed, will be a tribute to his indefatigable work. Mr. Hill is a quiet, persevering man, slow to tell of his work for his constituents but these improvements are only a few of the changes that have been the result of his influences.

In Prince Edward the work of Horace Collier has been rewarded by his choice as the Conservative nominee.
Mr. Collier, serving his first term in the Legislature has distinguished himself well in the eyes of the people of Prince Edward. In many cases both Conservatives and Liberals have endorsed him as their candidate and his re-election is almost a certainty. Mr.
Collier's big item was the Bay Bridge question and largely through his efforts the County has been relieved of any further costs in connection with the structure. Mr. Collier was honored with an acclamation in 1926 and while he is faced with a keen fight this time he is prepared to enter it with all the zeal that has characterized his term in the Legislature. Mr.
Collier will be opposed by Mr. J. H.
Porte, a man who styles himself an adherent of the Liberal cause, a supporter of bone-dry prohibition and a friend of the Progressive party. Mr.
Porte has no definite platform and for this reason, it is not at all likely that the good people of Prince Edward will endorse him in the campaign.

THE MILK SHORTAGE

Fortunately Belleville district is not faced with the Milk Shortage that is feared in other parts of the Province.
Many farmers, particularly in Western Ontario, have been reduced to the necessity of disposing of their choice herds, some of which embrace the outstanding "bossies" in the country.
The owners say the drought of the past summer prevented them from growing fodder for autumn use and most of the producing herds are munching purchased food. Because of the demand, feed prices have soared and in some districts it is reported that supplies are being rationed the dairymen. If the auction sales continue, the shortage of milk may become alarming, and the hand of the distributors who are opposing any increase at this time may be forced.

If the distributors have to raise the price to keep the dairymen in business, it will follow, that the extra charge will be passed along on major part, if not the whole of it, to the general public. One of the most serious aspects of the situation is that the United States dairymen are sending their agents into Ontario territory to the auction sales and some of the best breeds are being taken across the border. Western Ontario is the chief sufferer in the acute shortage of milk.
It is such a necessary article of sustenance, vitally important to health, that the shortage is causing great harm.

We in Belleville have been assured that the situation here, while it is not equal to that in the other parts of the Province is such, that almost certainly must be exercised on the farm to conserve the supply. The failure of the corn crop in Prince Edward County will mean a shortage of ensilage and this condition is causing the farmers in that locality some concern. There is, however, a sufficient surplus of cheese to sustain Central Ontario owing to the small demand from the British market.

COLLEGIATE NIGHT SCHOOL

The evening classes arranged by the Board of Education at the Collegiate Institute are well under way with a plentiful attendance. Some years ago these classes were first conceived here and although the facilities for carrying on the work were limited at first, the best equipment possible is available now. Last year there was a large membership and early indications are that the people of Belleville are taking a greater interest than ever this year.

The subjects taught are chosen by the pupils themselves and the teachers strive to serve the students well.
The classes are conducted in such a way as to bring the students into in-imate contact with the instructors, discussion being encouraged. Requests have been made each year for different classes and practically all subjects are included in the curriculum now. A special effort was made to induce wage earners to attend and those who have enrolled in past years, have found that the training has been of untold benefit in their varied vocations. The subjects chosen are all of a character to make a practical appeal and while the interest centres largely in technical work, cultural requirements have not been neglected and it is gratifying to find that keen interest has been manifested in such subjects as literature and reading. It will well repay, particularly the younger element who have not been afforded Collegiate educations, to inform themselves of the opportunities offered in this Autumn and Winter course and to avail themselves of the advantages offered. Fees in all classes are practically nominal.

PASSING YEARS

From The Intelligencer Of This Day 29 Years Ago

Mrs. E. Gus Porter has gone to Montreal for a ten days visit.

Mr. Thos. Parsley of this city is visiting friends at Brockville.

Mr. Thos. Nightingale of Prince Edward County left yesterday for Camloops, B.C. for the benefit of his health.

Mrs. John Armstrong and son Leonard of New York City have returned home after spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gunn, Bayville.

Mrs. Porter, Mrs. D. M. Waters, Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Hunt left on the noon train today for New York City.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

She: "If woman was given the credit she deserves man would not be so prominent in the world's history."

He: "Quite true, dear. And if she could get all the credit she wanted she'd be in the poorhouse."

A Scottish farmer being elected to the school board, visited the village school and tested the intelligence of the class by the question:
"Now, boys, can any of you tell me what naething is?"

After a moment's silence a small boy in a back seat rose and said:
"It's what ye'd me the other day for holding yer horse."

He was spending his first term at a boarding school, and his parents anxiously awaited the arrival of his first letter.

It was not received for more than a week, and it was short—and to the point:

"Dear People—I don't think I shall be able to send you many letters while I'm here. You see, when things are happening I haven't time to write, and when they aren't happening, I haven't anything to tell you—With love to all, Harry."

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James N. Barton, M.D.

TONSILS AND THE HEART

Do you know that the majority of all the little bits of man start at the mouth entrance of the body?

Do you know that the ailments that carry off more human beings than any other is heart disease?
Do you know that the majority of cases of heart disease are caused by rheumatism, rheumatic fever?
Do you know that the majority of cases of rheumatism are caused by bad tonsils?
Do you wonder then that I talk about tonsils so often, and try to have you use your common sense in this matter, whether it is yourself or your youngster that is being considered?
It is known now that children of the public school age are more often affected than are other individuals.

First named delegate to be chairman.

Also that nearly twice as many children develop a first attack of rheumatism when the tonsils are present, as when they are not. And that the second or more attacks of rheumatism occur 10 per cent less often in children who have had their tonsils removed after a first attack of rheumatism than in those whose tonsils were not removed.

Further, that although St. Vitus dance occurred as a complication in acute rheumatism just as often in children with tonsils as with those in whom the tonsils had been removed, nevertheless there were fewer cases with heart involvement in children whose tonsils had been removed. This,
I believe is a definite proof that the tonsils are the cause of heart ailments.

Now this doesn't mean that all tonsils should be removed so as to avoid heart trouble.
Nature put tonsils there to do some important work—filtering poisons from the blood, and killing off harmful organisms—and it is a big mistake to remove healthy tonsils. You are just depriving your youngster of one of Nature's protecting organs.

However, when they become infected, and the throat specialist states that they harm they are doing greatly outweighs any good that they possibly do, don't hesitate to have them removed. rhuma-rim, rhumatic typhoid etatin moved.
Remember again the train—Ifected tonsils—rheumatism, heart disease.

in Ontario cut the number of bars down from 3,200 to 1,600.

A War-Time Measure

The speaker emphasized the fact that the Ontario Temperance Act was a great war time measure, and when it was passed in 1916 it entered Ontario under most favorable auspices. "I would have liked to see the Liquor Control Act come in then instead of the Ontario Temperance Act, for, instead of having to take the abuses it does today, it would have been off for a wonderful start. I voted for the O. T. A. every time except the last, when it was seen to be impractical. For ten years it had a fair trial and failed, and although the L. C. A. is not perfect, I believe it is the best legislation we have had yet."

Under the Ontario Temperance Act which the speaker believed had done much good but which had started many more evils, the people were losing their respect for law and order. The Government knew they must do something, and accordingly the Government Control methods of other provinces were studied carefully, and the best points of each picked out. These were incorporated in the Liquor Control Act. Mr. Price read an article from the Toronto Star, a newspaper which does not support the Ferguson Government, dated January 25 1929, which states: "With all its faults, the Liquor Control Act of Ontario is the best of its kind in Canada. Its best features are the ban on public drinking and the ban on liquor advertising."

Accidents Blamed to Liquor

Reputing statements made at various points that accidents have been on the increase in proportion to the cars used since the L. C. A. went into force, Mr. Price quoted the following figures: "Since 1926 there has been an increase in the number of cars on Ontario highways from 278,000 to 487,000, an increase of over 210,000. The accidents have not increased in like proportion, although there are more accidents than heretofore. In 1926 120,000,000 gallons of gas were used on Ontario highways, and in 1928 169,000,000 gallons were used, showing the great increase even in the past two years in motor vehicle traffic. Counting United States tourists' cars which are in this country, there are three times as many cars as in 1926, and there certainly are not three times as many accidents.

Jails Closed in England
General E. Higgins, one of the leaders of the Salvation Army, interviewed at London, has the same views on the Liquor Control Act as Premier Ferguson. He believes that the only way to stop the traffic is by education of the young and not by legislation. English speaking people will not stand for a prohibitory law, and that was one of the reasons why the O. T. A. did not succeed. As far as prohibiting the manufacture of liquor in Canada was concerned, however, "nothing apparently can be done, as that is controlled by the Federal Government, at Ottawa."

More than a score of jails in England have closed their doors in the past twenty years, owing to the fact that their Temperance Education is beginning to bear fruit. In the past ten years twenty-five per cent. consumption was cut off in England, and in that way the English people are becoming more and more temperate all the time.

Blind Pigs Operate

"A shining example of prohibition is the United States," declared Col. Price. "General Smedley D. Butler, the man who for three years tried to clean up Philadelphia and failed, says there are 20,000 places where a man can get a drink in that city. And it was impossible to close them up. The bootlegger has practically vanished from Ontario, and although there may yet be the

W. E. Tummion, M.P. for South Hastings, W. H. Ireland, M.P. for West Hastings and other prominent men in political life were present, and both Mr. Tummion and Mr. Ireland spoke for a few moments. Mr. Tummion in his remarks declared that the Conservative Government had always legislated in a manner commensurate with public opinion, and would continue to do so. The Conservative leader was merely showing the way and doing the will of the people as a whole and he would make laws as the people demanded them.

Mr. Ireland who received the Conservative nomination a few days ago for West Hastings again, spoke very briefly, corroborating what has already been said by his colleagues.

ADVOCATES PROMOTION BETTER INTELLIGENCE OF GOVERNMENTS

R. K. Finlayson Is Heard With Interest By Canadian Club

A distinguished orator, well versed in his subject and possessing a rare ability to capture the interest of his hearers, Mr. R. K. Finlayson, M. A., L.L.B., of the city of Winnipeg, who spoke on "The American & Canadian Systems of Government" to the members of the Women's Canadian Club at yesterday afternoon's meeting held in the Lecture Room of the Arm ouries. That such a lecture could be heard and appreciated by the women of today exemplifies the fact that more feminine minds are turning to matters of state; and whereas twenty-five years ago such a lecture would have commanded an entire audience of men it is now common to see such gatherings made up entirely of women. Mrs. W. N. Ponton in introducing Mr. Finlayson spoke of him as a soldier and an eminent Canadian gentleman. Mr. Finlayson entirely absorbed his audience from the first sentence of his lecture to his closing words, when he said "If we can do some small part in creating understanding, if we can join in doing something in Canada to promote a greater understanding of the American and Canadian Systems of Government, we will be doing a work that is worth while for our country." Mr. Finlayson gave a very comprehensive explanation of both American and Canadian Systems of government. After thoroughly discussing the system in Great Britain, Mr. Finlayson understood more fully the origin of the system in Canada and Canada's strong government. He touched upon many historical events and related with interest how Great Britain's present government was gradually built up, from the days of William the Conqueror to the present. In speaking of Great Britain's system Mr. Finlayson said, "first comes the Crown which is the source of law and order, the Crown or king gathers around him his ministers which constitutes the House of Lords, after the ministers more people are called in, in order to supply funds for wars and other projects, and we then have the House of Commons. The House of Commons represent the people and thus they have a voice in the affairs of the country. The King chooses a premier who is directly responsible to the Crown for the government of the country. The mistakes of the sovereign are placed on the head of the Premier and he is to blame if affairs of the state go wrong." Canadian Government After thoroughly discussing the system in Great Britain, Mr. Finlayson understood more fully the origin of the system in Canada and

BELL TEAM LOST AT WALKERVILLE

'Chicks' Proved Too Strong For Conquerors of Belleville Nationals

Windsor, Ont., October 10.—Taking a leaf from the baseball book that Howard Ehmke wrote at Wrigley Field, Chicago, Tuesday afternoon, "Boots" Boudiller, curve-balled Walkerville Chicks to a well-earned victory over Toronto Bell Telephone's here yesterday afternoon in the first game of the O.B.A.A. senior championship series. The final count was 3-4. It was miserable baseball weather that faced the rivals for Ontario senior title honours this afternoon, yet close to 1500 fans braved the elements to d' over through nine innings of hard hitting clever base-running and good pitching.

Carleton Starts Poorly Carleton got away to a poor start for the visitors. Otherwise it would have been a nip-and-tuck championship contest. Chicks got to Carleton for two hits and four runs, early in the first frame and were finally retired with another runner on the paths. Gillespie proved a much more capable cold weather performer than Carleton, and the ensuing innings witnessed some clever baseball with little to choose between the clubs.

Stand Telephone made a desperate stand in the ninth and managed to shove three runs over the plate before being smothered.

RECREATION ALLEYS

In the Ladies' League played at the Recreation Alleys last night, the Ponies took all 4 points from the Breakaways. For the Ponies, Miss M. Pomeroy was high with a single of 218 and a total of 499, and for the Breakaways, Miss V. Hobson was high with 433.

The Crescents took 3 points from the Knockouts. For the Crescents Mrs. D. Belnap was high with a single of 218 and a total of 581, and for the Knockouts, Miss E. Whalen was high with 467.

In the Men's Junior League the Hustlers took 3 points from the Shoe Makers. The Hustlers won the first game by 2 pins and the Shoe Makers came back in the second game and won it by 1 pin. High bowlers were Hallett with 567 and Doyle with 537.

ATHLETICS TRIM CUBS, 9 TO 3

SPORTING
SECTIONMACKMEN SWARM
ALL OVER CUBSWon Second World Series Tilt By Score of 9 To 3

Chicago, Ill., October 9.—The Athletics changed their time today, but it was still a dirge so far as the Cubs and their hopes of world's series conquest are concerned.

Connie Mack's American League champions said it with base hits instead of slow curves, as they hammered the Chicago team into submission 9-3, captured their second game in a row and started back toward the Philadelphia with the 1929 championship of the ball world apparently in their grasp.

The home stand of the Cubs ended at a almost complete rout as the National League champions all the more humiliating to themselves as well as to 49,875 fans who paid $212,511 in shivering in the cold, biting winds at blow through the park.

The winning performance on the part of the Bruins, equalling the opening day world's series record as far as victims are concerned, was even more amazing to the bundled and blanketed crowd, because it has been led to believe the Cubs thrive on fast balls. They got them today but couldn't do much more with them, than they did with Howard Egan's slow curves yesterday.

In fact, the crowd became so thoroughly annoyed by the failure of the big guns at the plate, it booed Rogers Hornsby when he fanned for the fourth time in two days, and howled Kiki Cuyler as he struck out for the fifth time. Before he retired under fire, Egan haw chalked up seven strikeouts and Grove added six more fanning the first three men to face him, to explode the myth that the Cubs are sure death to southpaws, specially southpaw speedball artists.

Thirteen Cubs, for the second straight day, struck out to make the

26 Cubs ran in Two Games

The aggregate total of twenty-six strikeouts for the Cubs in two games surpasses anything in world's series history for foulity at bat. Alone of the regulars, First Baseman Charley Grimm has escaped being fanned on either day by Egan, Egan, Egan, or Grove. Cuyler, Hornsby and Wilson (three of the foremost sluggers, have earned eleven times, while four pitchers have been numbered among the victims, Gabby Hartnett twice.

With such a performance, the representatives of the National League look it on the chin in the tenth straight game in the worst series going streak on record. Not since 26, when Hornsby led the Cardinals to victory over the Yankees, has the National League had a chance to cheer a triumph in the big autumn carnival. They still have a chance, the Cubs, but it seemed to be fast fading into the distance today as the Athletics forged ahead at the same pace they predecessors, the Yankees, maintained in 1927 and 1928. As the warlike forces moved to Philadelphia for the third game, scheduled for Friday at Shibe Park, the Athletics needed only two more conquests to win their first world's championship since 1913 and their fourth in six tries.

Three games are scheduled in Philadelphia and the A's with their vastly superior pitching forces only just beginning to be tapped, are favoured to end the series within that period, unless the Cubs put on a come back of the first magnitude. The Bruins have been noted this year for their ability to fight back, but they looked today to be as thoroughly licked as did either the Cardinals of 1928 or the Pirates of 1927.

RED WINGS EVEN UP WITH KANSAS

Rochester, October 10.—Kansas City's Blues outlast the Rochester Red Wings, 7 to 8, yesterday afternoon at Red Wing Stadium, but it's runs that decide baseball contests, and when the smoke of battle had cleared, the International leaguers were on the long end of a 4 to 2 decision. The victory for the Red Wings, scored back of the fine pitching of Paul Derringer and the clever fielding of the home forces, evened the little world series at three games for each club and produced the Wings' second straight triumph on the home field.

Derringer, who lost a tough 1-to-0 verdict in Kansas City last Saturday had even more stuff yesterday through the first eight innings in which the Blues did not score. Four singles and two bases on balls allowed six of the Blues to reach first, but only two of these reached second base in safety. In the ninth the Blues threatened, but Derringer was equal to the occasion with the help of a wonderful stop by Collins.

Bill Wamby opened the frame with a single, the veteran trying to close up a 4-to-10 lead held by the Wings. Kuehl went out, but Tucker singled to right field and Grigsby walked to fill the bases, the first base line with two or three Gerken lined a hot bouncer down bases written all over the effort. But Collins dove for the sphere and gloved it as he lay face down in the infield, far back of first base.

Derringer is slow
Derringer was slow in covering first base and missed Collins's toss as Wamby scored with the first run for the Blues. The bases were still full when Ricarda forced Gerken at second, Brown to Toporcer, Brownie making a smart play to get the ball away to Specs. Tuckett counted on this play after which Peters grounded to Sand

PRESENTATION OF PRIZES AT BAY OF QUINTE CLUB

Silver Plate Is Presented To Dr. Blakeslee In Recognition of Services

Once again the Bay of Quinte Country Club has completed a successful year, and last night the annual presentation of prizes and closing dance, was held. Although the evening was chilly a good attendance was present, cards and dancing being indulged in until the wee small hours.

Featured on the programme last night was the presentation of a sterling silver plate to Dr. VanBlakeslee, who worked exceptionally hard to complete the three extra permanent holes which were installed this year. The plate was presented by the members of the Club and is suitably engraved. To his chief assistant, Mr. Sam French, Chub Professional a beautiful clock was presented. Great credit is due these two men who were directly responsible for the improvement in the Country Club course.

The Club championship has not yet been played off, and accordingly no winners can be given as is also the case with regards to the Club handicap championship. Tennis winners this year were as follows:—

HARD TO LOCATE CROSS HOLDERS

Committee Are Experiencing Trouble—No Canadians Invited

London, October 9 — Considerable difficulty in locating many holders of the Victoria Cross is being experienced by the committee of the Legion of Ex-Service Men, which is arranging the dinner at which the Prince of Wales will meet V.C.'s at the Houses of Parliament two days before Armistice Day. Many V.C.'s are shy at proclaiming themselves and relatives and friends, are being urged to send in the names of the holders. Some it is believed, are holding back because they have no dress clothes. This difficulty will be quickly smoothed over by the regulation that muffs will be worn.

HOSPITAL IS RUN BY WOMEN ALONE

London, Eng. (By the Canadian Press)—London's newest and most original hospital is to be run entirely by women for women and will be devoted to the treatment of cancer by radium. At present 25 patients only can be admitted later on, possibly 30 beds will be available; seventeen women doctors comprise the staff.

The hospital is in the house in Fitzjohn's-avenue, Hampstead, where John Pettie, the Scots painter, lived. His studio, a great lofty room, oak-floored, has been turned into the chief ward. The woman architect, Miss Elizabeth Scott, who designed the new Shakespeare Memorial Theatre at Stratford-on-Avon, has transformed the interior, adapting it to the needs of a thoroughly up-to-date hospital.

Speaking of this great boon to women Dr. Suleby, in 'Overseas', writes: 'Cancer has gone, and Rontgen Bequerel; and Professor Curie and killed, very young, by a motor car in the streets of Paris, now long years ago. But Madame Curie is still alive and well. And our hope is that, thirty one years after her discovery of radium, she will herself formally open, in October, the noble new institution which will henceforth be known as the Marie Curie Hospital. There will be men be treated and cured in ever-increasing proportions as they come earlier, and the methods improve, in the hands of the medical women who have already, in various scattered hospitals, been doing this work for nearly four years with ever-increasing success.'

My readers elsewhere have sent me hundreds of pounds of radium which have been added to the utterly inadequate supply already in the hands of these pioneer medical women. Any reader who would like to know that he or she has radium in Hampstead which is saving women's lives—nearly all of them the lives of mothers, most cruelly and unjustly visited with a dreadful disease as indirect consequence of maternity—may send a sum of money, small or great, earmarked for the purchase of radium, to Lady Hriscoe, M.B., Honorary Treasurer, Marie Curie Hospital, Hampstead, London. Most of the radium there now is Government property, once used for gun-sights, visible in the dark, during the war; but, of course, the Government stock is allocated to well-worked centres all over the country, and the Marie Curie Hospital, like the rest, needs far more than its share of the national stock.

CONTROVERSY IS STILL RAGING

Manchester, Eng. (By The Canadian Press)—The holiday season and the growing interest of the tourist in the beauties of English ecclesiastical architecture have set going, again the controversy over the rule of the church, still rigidly enforced in many places, the women must not enter a sacred building, baraded, says the Manchester Guardian. Wayfarers escorting themselves with all reverence in the face of a massive example of Norman building of an exuberant essay in the Gothic style still apt to find themselves politely but firmly ejected, on the grounds that, while reverse demands that a man uncover in church, a woman must hide her head. One woman who thoughtfully provides sun-bonnets in the porch with a notice inviting his fair visitors to use them certainly reduces inconveniences to the minimum. But it is surely high time that the injunction of St. Paul to the Corinthians were set aside by common consent of the clergy. It is by no means clear what reason that some severe critic of mankind had for the decree of fashion, but one plausible theory is that he desired in this matter to distinguish between the woman of the Christian Church and the temple girls of the older heathen cults whose badge was their free-flowing tresses. It is hardly a sufficient ground for distinction between the sexes in this matter in the twentieth century. But St. Paul, it is clear would have had some doubt about admitting the modern woman into a church at all, for he makes it plain to the Corinthians that if there is one thing more shameful in a woman than to appear in church bare-headed it is to have her hair cut short. In an age when bob, a fringe, and crop are almost universal that cannot have of necessity gone by the board. To enforce it would be to deprive the bulk of the sex from church-going. It seems hardly worth while for the Church, having swallowed this camel, to strain at the mere gnat of a hat.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE HOSPITAL OPENS

Toronto, Ont. (By Canadian Press)—Women's hospital work in Toronto was marked by an outstanding event when the new out-patients' clinic at the Women's College Hospital at 74 Grenville Street, was officially opened by Lady Eaton.
Special clinics, with offices for doctors and social workers occupy the basement floor of the fine old house, and on the first and second floors are the other surgical medical and dental clinics through which more than 6,000 patients pass each year. Modern equipment has been installed throughout.
The clinic stands on the property owned by the hospital, and on which the board plan to erect the new hospital. Officials pointed out that the increasing demands for care under women physicians as well as the fact that the hospital is recognized by the government as the medical centre for certain medical work for women, has increased the scope of the work to a point that makes expansion absolutely necessary. It was stated that if another $100,000 were procured in addition to the $300,000 already collected in the campaign the board might then approach the city for the additional sum which would put building operations in the realm of immediate possibility.

TROUBLESOME CULTS ON THE RIVIERA

Cannes, France. (By Canadian Press)—The question as to how American and English residents of the Riviera amuse themselves has been revived by a police official who has been stationed in Southern France for many years.
"They join cults," he says. It takes a secretary to keep track of the various cults and sects. Right now we're looking a nude cult because we had to run the last one out of the country a few months ago but I suppose there is another one hanging around some place.
"We have vegetarian cults, spook cults, raw meat cults, Spartan cult and any number of religious cults, most of them, on a diet. Take your pick. I suggest a small egg and milk group near St. Raphael. The members have solved the high cost of living question by eating only bread, eggs and milk. They seem prosperous physically and financially, though the local vegetarian cult says eggs and milk are deadly poisons."
The officer took a deep quaff of post-war absinthe and confessed that he ate and drank anything but any cults are his specialty. He tries to protect the visitors in his district. But how the Anglo-Saxon bites at the habit. The simple life cult leader made a small fortune. Liver trouble? Join "the Simple Livers." And they joined. And they paid thousands of dollars for the privilege of drinking water instead of wine, eating plain food and working in the cult leader's garden six hours every day. Testimonials that a complete cure had been effected came from 95 per cent. The garden also prospered.

"The occult cults" cause the most trouble," continued the officer. "In many cases the people have been carried so far that they were almost under the complete control of the cult leader. Many of the leaders are within the law. We look after the others. It is certain that our American and British visitors spend hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly on these cult amusements. In most cases they do not go to extremes and therefore we do not interfere."

HUNTING TIME

Ottawa, Ont. (By Canadian Press) — Its innumerable lakes, extensive forests, and great open prairies—combined with its natural geographical situation to constitute a distinct faunal region within which is to be found almost every species of game native to the North American continent. Each province possesses certain attractions for the sportsman in common with all the provinces, and also certain attractions peculiar to itself. Whatever portion of Canada happens to be most readily accessible, there the sportsman will find game, and a few hours' travel will bring him within reach of favoured hunting grounds.

The provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, with their old-world atmosphere, may be described as a country of easy distances, as the game areas are practically forests in the midst of civilization. These provinces have for years attracted thousands of sportsmen from all over the world, who enjoy the less strenuous hunting trip and at the same time wish to be reasonably sure of obtaining game. Moose and deer are the chief attraction, but bear, wildcat, rabbit, duck, geese, brant and other small game are also plentiful. The claim is made for these provinces that they harbour more moose to the square mile than any other portion of Canada. This statement is backed up by the number of splendid trophies taken annually.

The Province of Ontario and Quebec include within their boundaries some of the finest hunting territory in America. In some districts in Quebec the hunting rights on certain tracts of land are leased to organized clubs, and upon these preserves hunting can only be done with the permission of the lessee. There are, however, large tracts of public land in the different game areas which are open for hunting to all license holders, and where ducks, and other small and feathered game may be had in abundance. In Ontario, there is such a large number of excellent hunting districts, that the hunter in making a choice need be governed only by the distance he wishes to travel, and the kind of game he prefers to hunt. Good hunting for game birds, small game and deer, may be had close to the settled districts in Southern Ontario. The real big game territory has, however, been fixed by sportsmen as that vast country lying north and west of the French River, where game such as moose, deer, bear, wolf and rabbit are found in large numbers.

The prairie sections of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are the haunts of ducks, geese, brant and other wild fowl, and some of the best shooting locations in America are to be found in these provinces. The northern forested sections of all three provinces are well supplied with moose, deer, caribou and bear, as well as with birds and small game.

The province of British Columbia and the mountainous or western portion of Alberta present a striking contrast to the other sections of Canada.

RADIOLA "66"

A New Super-Heterodyne with Electro-Dynamic Loudspeaker

RADIOLA "66" is the creation of the world's foremost engineers in the associated laboratories of Canadian General Electric and Radio Corporation of America.

That is why Radiola "66" incorporates the famous Super-Heterodyne receiving circuit and perfected Electro-Dynamic Loudspeaker. That is why it has all the beauty and refinements of modern design. And that is why it offers unrivalled value at its low price.

For years the Super-Heterodyne has been the acknowledged leader for power, selectivity and realistic reproduction. Now in the Radiola "66" it has been brought to a still higher degree of perfection and offers musical reproduction comparable only to the original broadcasting.

We want you to come to our showrooms and see how beautiful is the console cabinet with its rich walnut veneer finish. How simple it is to operate, and above all how completely satisfying is the quality of reception.

THE MEETING THAT NEVER MEETS AT ALL

Sheffield, England. (By Canadian Press).—Every year on August Bank Holiday (the first Monday in August) the secretary of the Ancient Cutlers'

Company in Hallamshire keeps a long-meeting of the Company shall be held on the first Monday in August every year, between the hour of 1 p.m. and 3 p.m., to elect 24 assistants to the Company. In these days no meeting is held but to comply with the statutory requirements provision has to be made for a gathering at Cutlers' Hall. The presence of at least 40 members would be necessary if a meeting took place for this number is needed to form a quorum. If the Act of Parliament were to be altered to avoid the necessity of the secretary attending, it would cost about $4,000 in legal fees and other charges, and so from one o'clock to three o'clock the secretary sits and waits the errand members who are probably enjoying their holidays.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"Whether any man controls circumstances as much as circumstances control him is one of those moot points upon which argument is perhaps impossible."
—Newton D. Baker.

DRASTIC CURE

Premier Ferguson's definite announcement that the government, if returned to power, intends cancelling the driving permits of motorists convicted of being drunk while in charge of automobiles, followed hard on the heels of an intimation last week that such legislation was in contemplation. There will be none, says or writes, to challenge the wisdom of such a policy. There isn't a man who, coldly, willingly rides in a car driven by one who is intoxicated. But there are men who, when in their cups, do not hesitate to operate motor cars. It's the hood, of course, that talks in such cases. There are comparatively few drunken drivers on Ontario's highways, but whatever the number is, it is that many too much. A drunken man with a loaded revolver in his hand is less of a menace than an inebriated driver. Jail terms, it has been demonstrated, are insufficient to completely discourage mixers of rum and gasoline. But if motorists are given to understand that, if they are convicted of being intoxicated while in charge of an automobile, the privilege of driving again will be denied them—not for a month or a year, but for all time—this menace will disappear from the highways, we think Mr. Ferguson's Liquor Control act does not appeal to prohibitionists, who will never be content with anything less than absolute abolition, but they will have to admit that the prime minister never yet has compromised with violators of the statute, and the tightening-up program he has in contemplation will be heartily endorsed.

IRON IN THE NORTH

There is something of more importance than the average man can measure in the announcement that has been made by Hon. Mr. McCrea, minister of mines, that next year a new geological party will be sent out to the vast area north of the St. Lawrence, with the object of outlining the iron deposits that are known to exist there, as a step towards the development of iron-mining, and probably an iron and steel smelting industry in the future. An iron-ore bounty has been announced already by Premier Ferguson and there is nothing nearer the foundation of industry in our modern life than iron mining and its concomitants.

Mr. McCrea is one of the ablest men in the Ferguson cabinet and when he says that a certain policy is to be carried out, there can be no doubt of the intention and the execution. It is well-known that the treasures of northern Ontario have only been sampled as yet, and as the years pass we may hope for a greater and greater result from the development work that is going on and being planned.

ENJOYING THE AUTUMN

All seasons of the year are delightful in Canada. Each has its own special attractions and it would be hard to say off-hand which is to be preferred over the others—that is, by the average healthy Canadian boy and girl. What are the special claims of the present season—autumn? They are many. The temperature is just right for good long walks and vigorous exercise. Moreover, the countryside, with the changing tints on the leaves and the bushes, invites one out of doors by its sheer beauty. But it is a season, too, which makes indoors equally attractive. The cool evenings, getting longer day by day, make the home, with a congenial book or an interesting hobby, a cosy place. More can be accomplished at this time of the year than at any other, given a definite purpose and proper direction. Now is the time to decide just what one likes doing best—studying or merely reading for amusement, or working with the hands. Let us say that a course of reading has been determined upon. What progress could be achieved by the time the spring months come around? Or, perhaps, it is the study of a special subject or a foreign language. If, every day, for a set period of time—it need not be long—the object is seriously pursued, it is astonishing how much can be accomplished.

Aimlessness is the great enemy of progress. One takes up a subject, is keenly interested in it for a little while, and then abandons it for something else, which in turn is forsaken for some new pursuit. This method leads nowhere and is little better than a waste of time and energy. Try, therefore, this season, the effect of sticking to one subject—let it be a subject that really interests and permit no distractions to interfere with the program. Soon the task will become a pleasure; the time allotted to this particular pursuit will be eagerly looked forward to, and as one advances, one's enthusiasm and pleasure become all the greater. There is no satisfaction superior to that of knowing that one has sincerely applied oneself to a useful object and succeeded in carrying out a good intention. Employ the time—or, at least, a definite part of the time, even if small—to profitable account, and note what a feeling of contentment results.

Talkative Tourist: Why is the sea always blue?
Hardened Old Salt: Well, wouldn't you be blue if you had to wash the shore all day—

Fortune Teller: And, above all, sir, you must beware of a blue-eyed lady with blue eyes—

Client: A white hat and blue dress—thank you, I know that beforehand—that's my wife.

It is discovered that 1,930,281 wives work for wages in the United States. How many of them support husbands in the style to which they have been accustomed, the figures do not reveal.

"My wife never listens to me," complained a newly married man.

"Don't let that worry you man," said the older one. "Mine did once and I got it in the neck."

"How was that?"

"I was talking in my sleep."

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

LET YOUR BOY PLAY FOOTBALL

The football season is always an anxious time for parents.

As they remember that during the season of the previous year there were a certain number of deaths, many broken collar bones, dislocations and fractures of arms and legs, they wonder if they are not foolish in allowing their boy to play.

The very fact that their boy wants to play football should be a source of pride to them; that he is willing to measure his speed, strength and skill against boys of his own weight and

What does real football training mean?

Physically, it means that he must cut out his smoking, his overeating, his late hours, and be willing to turn out regularly and daily for practice. This means strong heart and lungs, with all round increase in muscular strength.

Mentally, it means that he must think quickly and act quickly. He must be alert to catch every signal and put himself into the right spot at the right time. That he must be prepared to act promptly when his team's signals go wrong or those of his opponents do likewise. There is a mental training here that can be obtained in no other way; the ability to act quickly in an emergency.

Morally, he learns that he must sit on the substitute bench and perhaps get only an occasional chance to play. That he must play on the front line when he would like to be on the back line or vice versa. That when he does play he must sacrifice his own inclinations or ambitions for the good of the team.

He learns also that he must control himself, must control his temper. If he loses his temper it means bankruptcy from the game for two minutes, ten minutes or longer. During his absence he knows that his fellow players, while he is out of the game, may be a licking is bound to come sometimes and he learns to take it.

Do you wonder then that very few football players find their way into hospitals for nervous or mental diseases?

Their bodies become strong enough for the jolts or shocks of life and their minds likewise become adjusted to these jolts and shocks.

So let your boy play football because of the physical, mental, and moral development that can be thereby obtained.

TODAY

Nothing is here to scorn, nothing to waste.

Each moment of today proffers a gift not later hour will give.

Long though we live, But here we thrust our hands into the stream.

To snatch at shades that gleam, Fantastic visions, figments of a dream, And yet the prize for which we pray Was possible yesterday.

We did not seize it and it would not stay.

While we are hungering For some impossible thing, O let us haste.

And take our own before the curfew ring.

Nothing is here to scorn, nothing to waste.

BACK FROM FISHING TRIP

Messrs. A. Wonnacott, C. Bishop and R. Badgley have returned from their fishing trip to the north. They report no big catch for their entire length of stay. This statement certainly puts the quietus on the accepted run of fishing stories. They report some yesterday morning.

OPEN BRANCH MILL

The Tweed Milling Company, of Tweed, have opened a branch mill opposite Belleville Canning Company in the Judge Jones stand and are carrying a full line of feeds as well as doing custom grinding. Terms cash, but prices right.

GOOD HUNTING RESULTS

Mr. B. Ainsworth and Ben Shaddock report very good hunting around Weller's Bay. Their trips to this district in search of ducks has proven to be a good venture. These hunters never fail to come back with the goods.

CHIEF USED CARS

With the ever increasing sales of new automobiles the problem of disposition of the used cars is one with which every active motor car dealer is presented. The buyer is occasionally the one in a position to benefit materially by this situation because at times it becomes necessary for the dealer to offer used cars at prices considerably below actual value in order to reduce stocks. The McLaughlin Motor Car Co. Limited finds itself right now in just that position; a great many excellent used cars are on hand, all makes, and must be cleared out within the next few days regardless of price. Hence the great Stock Reducing Sale, announcement of which is made in today's issue. All cars offered have been thoroughly re-conditioned and are in price so that the buyer has many fine values offered him in the big list available.

NEW BUSINESS

A new business will open today in the city when Mr. Ross Irwin, formerly of Toronto, will establish a Motor Car Body and Fender Repair business; the firm will also do welding and carbon removing by the oxygen process. Mr. Irwin has had many years of experience in this line of work and formerly conducted a similar business in Toronto. The business will be located on Moira Street in the rear of Asselstine's Garage.

BADMINTON MEETING

The annual meeting of the Belleville Badminton Club will be held at the armories tonight when plans for the approaching season will be made and new officers elected. The Badminton Club members are looking forward to a most successful year and the supporters of the club are urged to turn out at the first organization meeting tonight.

CAPITOL FEATURES

Interesting attractions both on stage and screen are offered patrons of the Capitol the last half of the week. On the screen is another fast moving talking feature—Billie Dove and Rod La Roche in "The Man and the Moment," an Eleanor Glyn romance. Ultra modern in its setting of speed, ultra modern in its driving scene, and other divisions of the idyllic ride, the picture is an unusual one with many thrilling events, with a starting climax at an "undersea" Ball when a huge glass case is broken and thousands of tons of water deluge the guests and wreck the Ballroom. This is but one of the thrilling moments in the story however, which is a talking picture of real merit. On the stage is a good singing and dancing act which was well received by last night's audience.

CUP WAS PRESENTED

Mr. J. E. Short, the general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., visited the Canadian Trail Rangers and the Texas Boys of Cannonville last evening to present them with the cup which they won during last summer for "All Round Efficiency." He exhorted them to keep the good work of efficiency up as they had done in the past.

WARDEN'S DINNER

Warden of the County, Mr. George A. Bailey, Rev. of Rawden, is staging a complimentary banquet at the Community Hall at Strling tonight for the members of the County Council. Prominent men in the city will also attend. Among those who will be present at the banquet tonight will be Mayor Greenleaf, Major R. D. Ponton, Mr. John Elliott and Mr. J. O. Herity, who will propose the toast to the county.

TO BROADCAST ON SATURDAY

Jack Green, premier concert player of Canada, who won the Gold Medal at the Canadian National Exhibition this year, will broadcast tonight from Station CKCW between seven-thirty and eight o'clock. Mr. Alec Gordon, well-known local pianist, will play his accompaniments. No doubt many Bellevilleans will "tune in" on the programme.

WORK PROGRESSING

Work on the new ice rink is progressing and those in charge of the operations are doing all in their power to complete the building quickly. The main work is in the erecting of the steel work and in the brick laying.

TAKE UP RESIDENCE HERE

Mr. C. W. Browne, accompanied by his wife and family, of London, Ont., have arrived in the city and have taken up their residence at 60 Victoria Avenue, corner of Church, "The New Funeral Home."

WILL BE HEARD HERE

Mr. John Deacon will again delight Belleville audiences when he will sing on Sunday morning at John Street Church and in the evening he will be heard at Bridge Street Church. Deacon has not had a holiday for over a year now so that he will not be heard many times during his stay here. He intends to stop another week in this city and enjoy a well-earned holiday.

TODAY'S TEMPERATURE

The temperature today was a little higher than that of yesterday. The readings taken at the observatory show the readings to be 22 degrees in the morning compared with 22 degrees in the afternoon. The readings taken early this morning showed the mercury at 25 degrees and in the afternoon at the time of going to press 56 degrees.

BASEBALL GAME TODAY

The first game in the Industrial League play-off was scheduled for three fifteen this afternoon at the Fair Grounds, when the Aleutic and Corbyville met. "Hot" Gibson was slated to pitch for the Aleutic and "Honey" Deacon for the Corbyville. The Claco battery was slated to be Ralph Ivey and Honey.

RETURNS FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cokers returned yesterday after an extended trip to the state of Georgia, where they visited Mr. Coker's brother, Joseph, at Atlanta. Mr. Cokers on week with The Intelligencer stated that much bad weather was encountered in the south. The party proceeded down through the Shenandoah valley and through Virginia and Tennessee. They came back by way of Boston, Washington and Philadelphia. At Boston they were met by Mrs. Tremont, a sister of Mr. Cokers, who returned with them and will spend a few weeks visiting in Belleville. Mr. Cokers said that the trip in Florida was not so good as the Provincial highways of Ontario. They have been in the south for the past month.

HARVEST FESTIVAL SUPPER

The Harvest Festival held in St. Thomas, Ont., last evening, was one of the most beautiful and brought vividly to mind the autumn scenes that come as heralds before the coming of winter. The Harvest Festival supper was a great success, well it might be in the surroundings. The supper was conducted by the ladies of the Kingston Road congregation. The parish hall was a bower of beauty with the soft autumnal glow, carried out very attractively in the arrangements of fruits and flowers and vegetables. Every evidence of a truly harvest festival spirit prevailed. The event was a decided success from all standpoints. Rev. John H. Jones, who acted as the chairman of the proceedings and Mrs. William Redner, the president ably assisted by the workers of the Women's Auxiliary of the Kingston Road Society was in charge. Everybody hoped that another one would be held next year.

CANON GOVER-REES TO SPEAK

Brookville, October 11—Rev. Canon A. P. Gover-Rees, of Montreal, is to be the speaker at the next meeting of the Morrisburg Canadian Club, to be held on November 6.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gault, of Warton, celebrated their 50th wedding day anniversary.

Accrue of fall wheat in Middlesex County is not more than two-thirds of last year's figure.

Next annual convention of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section will be held in Saskatoon.

Mr. Parliament switched over to the Dominion government affairs declaring that when the Liberal government came into power under King in 1921 that the affairs of the country were in bad shape. He went on to say that the Liberal government had reduced taxation in many ways. Mr. Parliament made bold to say that these men who came into power realized the responsibility that rested upon their shoulders and that they did their duty by their country.

Criticized Expenditures
Mr. Parliament wondered where the $15,000,000 derived out of the taxes imposed on car licenses and gas in the year 1929 had gone to. He said that the empire of the Ontario was not being developed in the right man-

CHARLES S. JOHNSON

The remains of the late Mr. Charles S. Johnson arrived here yesterday on the noon C. P. R. train from Kalamazoo. The funeral took place from the station to the Belleville Cemetery where the body was interred. The minister officiating at the graveside ceremony was the Rev. L. S. Wright. The bearers were composed of old friends of the deceased. Mr. Johnson was formerly a Belleville resident.

MARY LOUISE JOHNSON

Remains of the late Mary Louise Johnson, widow of William Johnson, were laid to rest yesterday. Service was held in the Sunday School rooms of Bridge Street Church, the service being conducted by the Rev. Dr. Bell assisted by the Rev. Dr. Baker.

Many friends of the deceased were in attendance and beautiful floral offerings were greatly in evidence. Interment took place in the family plot in the Belleville cemetery. The bearers were composed of Messrs. H. F. Ketcheson, J. S. McKewen, J. S. Cook, F. S. Deacon, Harry Walker and Captain Gilmore.

ROBERT W. GREATHRIX

The funeral of the late Robert Wellington Greathrix took place from the late residence, 28 Camminton Road yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Hilgard Jones, of Belleville, conducting the service at both the home and the grave. The large number in attendance showed the esteem in which the deceased was held and held floral tributes were many and beautiful. The bearers were V. Vanner, F. Holmes, C. Campbell, W. Rutan, J. Jones and S. both sons.

THE FLOWERS WERE AS FOLLOWS:

Wreath—James Thrasher, Mrs. Brophy.

Spay—Mr. and Mrs. Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. L. Petrie, Mr. and Mrs. McBride, London, Mrs. A. Latta, Mr. and Mrs. W. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Davidson, Master Keith Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mot, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Irvine, Mr. and Mrs. S. Barnum and daughter Annie, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holmes.

MRS. HESTER MILLS

The death occurred of Mrs. Hester Ann Mills in Sidney on Friday, October 4th, 1929.

The late Mrs. Hester Ann Mills was predeceased by her husband several years ago. At the time of her demise she was sixty-three years of age. She was well respected in the community in which she had lived for many years. Her husband was the late Thomas Mills. The interment took place in Frankford Cemetery attended by the friends of the departed one.

ner and that a lot of this tax money should be employed in developing the north. As it was he said northern Ontario was being developed in a political way.

He then turned to the subject of Education in the schools of the Province, strongly declaring that the systems now in use were not the right ones. He said that Mr. Ferguson could not manage the position of Minister of Education when he was more interested in other matters. "The Liberals will supply a man solely for this job and look after it well," he said.

Sees "Gloom" Ahead
His vision for the future, if left to go on under Tory rule, was very gloomy. He prophesied an era of great expenditure and in a questioning manner asked the people present if they wanted their educational system to go on in the present manner and the development of the northern Ontario district.

"This cannot be corrected if there is apathy. It has been said that politics are dirty, but they are just as dirty as any association. It is not a question of 'Liberals in 'Tory rule' but it's a question of principles. If there is any change to be made in the liquor question it rests on you. Where do you stand? Do you stand for the interests of the coming generation? Do you stand for a better government? If you do you will have to look at Liberalism in a broader sense, not as a partisan unit. It does not rest on the shoulders of Harold Holton but on the shoulders of the people of West Hastings, so let us unite and put this over" he appealed in conclusion.

He was applauded by the entire fifty in the audience as he finished.

PERSONALS

VISITORS WHO COME AND GO

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harrow, Gerald and Max, also Mr. and Mrs. Orrill Brannan left Belleville yesterday morning for Montreal and spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Chadwick.

Miss Dorothy MacMillan is leaving town this afternoon to take a position as public health nurse at Cobalt.

Mr. L. Finn and Mr. G. E. Mason, of Toronto, paid a visit to friends in the city yesterday.

Mr. G. A. MacBain of Toronto is spending several days in the city.

Mr. P. Nash, of Morrisburg, is in the city on business.

Mr. George T. Woodley, well-known merchant of this city is today celebrating the 25th anniversary in business. Mr. Woodley has conducted a very successful millinery and fur establishment on Front Street since coming to Belleville 25 years ago, and the Intelligencer joins with his many friends in wishing him continued success and increased business activities.

Mr. Arthur Northrup of this city attended the funeral of the late Mr. S. B. Gearing held in Picton this week.

Mrs. F. A. Hunter spent the week-end visiting her sons, Dr. P. L. Day and E. E. Day, Harrowsmith.

Mr. Innes Graves of this city visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Graves, Picton, recently.

Miss Marjory Smith, of Montreal, and Miss Edna Blackburn of this city, went to Toronto yesterday to spend several days with friends.

WEDDINGS

TRIPP-GIBSON

A pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized at Westleton Rectory, Saturday evening, Oct. 5, at 7.30 p.m., when Flossie Gibson, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Gibson, Trenton, became the bride of Harry Tripp, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Tripp, of Wellington.

The bride was lovely in a gown of orchid georgette trimmed with eucalyptus and satin ribbons with hat and shoes to match. Miss Norma Tripp, sister of the groom, wore a gown of nougat French georgette with hat and shoes to match and acted as bridesmaid. Mr. Isaac Smith supported the groom.

They left for a short honeymoon trip to Oshawa and on their return they will reside in Wellington.

Athletics Enter Third Contest With Advantage of Two Victories

BASEBALL-MAD

Mackmen Have Hopes of Ending Classic On Saturday

The warring forces meet in the third game of the 1929 world's series today at Shibe Park with the prospect of another cool and cloudy day a capacity crowd of about 38,000 and the greatest outburst of baseball enthusiasm in Philadelphia's history.

With the rabid home town populace to cheer them on, the Athletics, with two straight victories under their belts, renew their charge toward the world championship, while the Cubs make a desperate effort to reform their riddled ranks, recover their batting eyes and check the most disastrous route the forces of the National League have ever known.

The A's need only two more victories to settle the series and crown the career of their 67 year-old chief, the patriarchal Connie Mack, with a fourth series triumph that would give him a new world's record. No manager has ever won more than three world's series, a mark that the venerable, belived Philadelphia strategist reached in 1913 alone, but later has been forced to share with his two New York rivals, John McGraw and the late Miller Huggins.

A's Can Fin By Saturday

The Mackmen have three possible games on their home grounds in which to settle the issue, with play scheduled today, Saturday and Monday. At the rate they have been going they may clean it up by Saturday, but they could do it Monday and still concede the Cubs the solace of one victory which was all that the old Cubs of 1910 were able to get the last time they matched wits with Mack. The Cubs, in other words, must win two of the next three games to send the warring clans back to Chicago.

The A's were favorites at the start, even along Midway avenue, Chicago, where the American League has its headquarters and where its sway of supremacy since 1926 seems to have been accepted as a fact.

The Mackmen were prohibitive favorites tonight along their native Broad Street. Only one team in world's series history since 1903—the Yankees of 1921—ever lost the title after winning the first two games. That year the Giants came back to beat the Yankees in an eight-game series after being shut out in the first two games. The limit this time is seven so that the chances of the Cubs staging a similar comeback, especially after their first two performances, seem extremely remote.

Under the circumstances all that it seems possible for the bruised and battered Bruins to do is to save a little something out of the wreck.

The Cubs have used six pitchers so far in the futile effort to stop the rampant Athletics. Mack has used only three and all have had the Chicagoans swinging as no group of slingers has ever swung before in a big series—without results.

Pitching Choices Secret

Pitching selections today were shrouded in more mystery than at any time so far, but for different reasons. Mack has made a policy of keeping the experts and his opponents guessing right up to about 15 minutes before each game.

Joe McCarthy, the Cub manager, has seen so many of his stars parade to the box in vain that he has delayed by uncertainty from making a definite choice.

General opinion was that Charley Root, who twirled good and at times great ball for the Cubs for the first seven innings of the opening game, would be sent back again. Root allowed only three hits and one run, on Fox's first homer, in the opener and will have had three full days of rest.

Guy Bush, who pitched the last two innings of the first game, is another prospect while an "inside tip" indicated Sheriff Fred Blake might be the selection.

He worked less than two innings yesterday without being scored on.

In reserve for relief purposes, McCarthy has two southpaws, Art Nehf, who pitched the final inning on Wednesday and Mike Cengros, whose efforts so far have been confined to batting practices.

Old Jack Quinn is favored to get the last-minute nod from Mack, to see whether the veteran's spittles are as effective as Ehme's slow curves or the speed of Earnshaw and Grove have been. However, there is the chance that Rube Wallberg, big southpaw, may get the call, especially since Moses Grove proved that portside speed could dazzle the Cub crowd. Another tip from the feed-box was that Mack again might cross experts and send back Earnshaw, who lasted less than five innings on Wednesday, but was hit hard in only one.

Mack Has Plenty of Rope

Mack is in a position now to gamble with his vastly superior pitching staff, while the Cubs occupy a spot where any false move means disaster to their own hopes as well as to the already battered prestige of the National League. The senior circuit as a matter of fact must go back to the heyday of the Giants, when McGraw's men in

BOXERS RECEIVE CUPS GIVEN BY LOCAL LEGION

Enjoyable Banquet Was Held At Canadian Legion Hall

When jolly good fellows get together there is always a good time to be had by all. Jolly was the prevailing note at the banquet table of the Canadian Legion last night, when the Boxing Committee of the Canadian Legion entertained the boxers, who had taken part in the recent bouts, at their club rooms.

The victuals that were spread on the table were a treat to behold and the boxers gave the proverbial K.O. to the victuals. It was indeed surprising to see how quickly they were demolished by Belleville's sprouting knights of the slice. The banquet was supplied by the Boxing Committee.

Mr. C. J. Symons was elected as chairman of the proceedings in the absence of the ever-popular "Charlie" Hanna, who was absent on business matters. Mr. Symons proved to be a very genial chairman and handled the proceedings most creditably.

Following the most excellent repast the various successful boxers who competed in the last tournament were presented with their awards by the chairman. As they came up to receive their prizes the chairman suitably expressed his opinion of their various "scrapes". The first one to step up was the indomitable "Red" Harrigan, who won the Dominion White Label Trophy. Mr. Symons remembered "Red" when he first came to this country and was well pleased to hear of his success with the mufflers.

"Scottie" Adair, of Oshawa, was supposed to be on hand to receive the Carling 125-pound Silver Cup, but through some contingency he was unable to be on hand.

A very popular award was that of "Don" Miller, of Peterborough, who won the 135-pound Carling Silver Cup. He is a very fine, clean cut type of a lad and his acceptance of the cup was well received.

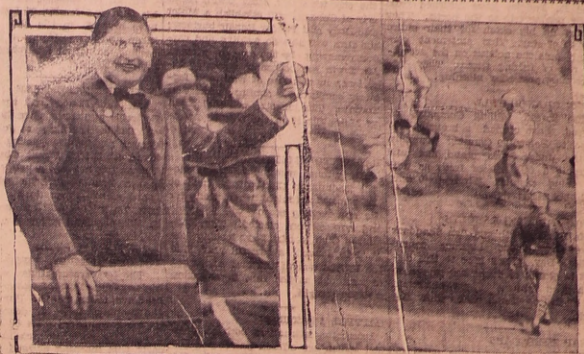

Along with his trainer, Mr. W. Jackson and his manager, Mr. J. LeSuff, he attended the banquet last night. His manager stated to The Intelligencer that he would probably be an entrant in the next bout which will be held on November 1. This bout in November will not be for the cups—it will take place later in December.

Mr. D. Blackburn and Mr. Johns, who also fought very creditably in the last bouts, received very fine prizes. Each recipient of the big cups received miniature silver cups as well as articles of clothing. Mr. Pat, Mr. Parks, Mr. Malloy and Mr. W. Charlesworth also were given prizes for their very fine showing in the recent tournament. Many thanks were given to Mr. Keys for his fine refereeing.

Mr. Jim Shepherd, secretary, thanked the boys for their good fights, thank ed the committee who gave their help and stated that the next tournament would be better than the fore-runners. The committee is composed of J. Shepherd, William Dae and George Lan-nine successive games against the Yankees, won eight and tied the other, to get any balm whatever for the ten straight setbacks no wainstained at the hands of the American League.

The worst part of it is that it has been a rout ever since the National Leaguers won their last series with the Cardinals of 1926. It was exactly three years ago yesterday—October 1926—that old Pete Alexander, rushed in to check the Yankees and win the last game for the National League.

Wrigley Field, Chicago, was taxed to capacity as the world series opening game took place between Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Athletics, the latter winning by a score of 3-1 left.

Wm. Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Cubs, throws the first ball of the game. Right, Grimm, Cub first baseman, slides into first, beating out Bishop of Athletics in first play of game. Pho-caster. This committee has been augmented by Joe Semaine, Jack Hatfield, Bert Keys, Johnson, Robinson and Hinton, all of whom are willing to extend their help to any youth desiring to learn the fight game. The Legion hall is given to them also. With the interest that is being shown, the fight game is seemingly going to be very popular this winter.

GIRLS TO HOLD A FRIENDSHIP RALLY

An event of interest to all girls, leaders and S.S. teachers is the World Friendship Rally for the Belleville Presbytery which is being held in Tabernacle United Church, Saturday, October 19. This rally is one of seven similar gatherings that are being held this fall in each Presbytery throughout the Conference. These are all sponsored by Mrs. M. C. McKinnon of Perth, who is C.G.I.T. Secretary for the Bay of Quinte Conference. The morning session begins at ten o'clock and afternoon session at 1:30. Each girl is to bring her on lunch for the mid-day meal. Coffee will be served by the Belleville girls. The program planned is an interesting one, including songs and worship, games, dramatization and discussion groups and it is expected that a missionary will give an address.

Miss Winnifred Pearce, Wellington, is C.G.I.T. Secretary for the Belleville Presbytery.

DR. GORDON WARNS TEACHERS OF WEAKNESSES IN DEMOCRACY

"Ralph Connor" Was Heard By Large Audience At Collegiate

Teachers at the annual convention and students of the Belleville Collegiate and their friends were privileged to listen to an eminent Canadian author and lecturer last night, in a joint meeting under the auspices of the Collegiate Literary Society in the auditorium of the school.

Dr. C. W. Gordon, D.D., former Moderator of the Presbyterian Church, a keen Canadian an interesting lecturer and author of such celebrated works as "The Sky Pilot" and "The Man from Glenarthy," is always a favorite with Belleville audiences and it was a splendid assembly that greeted him here last night. More popularly known as "Ralph Connor," he always has an interesting message for his listeners and he held the rapt attention of the gathering last night from the start.

His speech was preceded by a short musical programme including a vocal solo from Frank Hitchon and a piano number from Margaret Chant. Miss Boyle, president of the Literary Society introduced Dr. Gordon to the audience and noted the fact that his latest novel "The Runner" will make its appearance next month. His opening remarks were punctuated with witticisms and siccures, for which Dr. Gordon is singularized as a Canadian author.

He spoke on "Religion, the Center of Civilization." Dr. Gordon said that of these elements should be of vital interest to everyone and he dealt briefly with the civilizations which have crumbled and decayed, owing to the fact that there was no religion in their make.

Dr. Gordon went on to elucidate on the rights of the people and said that everyone was protected in certain enses and guaranteed certain essentials by rights in the form of Acts of Parliament. "What does the individual yap for these rights?" he queried. "He makes a contract with the community for very power that he possesses."

He likened the earlier civilizations to states and cities where citizens are not protected by the powers. "Civilization is a delimitation of the rights of others and the method of determining that right, is by the strength of the Government," he declared. Pointing to the various types of government, he singled out the autocratic form in Russia with its many defects to which may be attributed its downfall. "Government by a few aristocracy will not do," he said. "Plutocracy has been discarded with discontent and the people will not be governed by the rich."

"Democratic Most Stable of form of government, that of democracy," he said, "and ever since the Magna Charta was signed the rights of the common people have been clearly defined. He pointed to the frequent outbreaks of barbarism which are sometimes manifested when the laws are not obeyed by a certain element. The success of a civilization depends upon the power of the state to enforce the laws," emphasized Dr. Gordon.

The speaker turned his guns on the anarchist movement when he explained that when a small group of people take the law in their own hands and in this connection he issued a sound warning to Canadians to regard democracy at certain points.

"Unfortunately, religion, the one element that should serve to bind the human race closer together is in some instances serving to tear it apart," claimed the author. "And religion is judged only by the types of men that it creates. Religion is that thing that makes a man right with his environment," he defined.

Dr. Gordon expressed great admiration for that great British Premier, James MacDonald who is conducting a pilgrimage to the North American continent in the interests of universal peace. "He is a great leader and one in whom there would be place absolute confidence," he said.

"War springs from little smouldering in the hearts of men and women, and I am looking forward to the day when men will be united in a great movement for the banishment of war."

He claimed this chaplain who spent months among the soldiers ministering to them in the front lines. Religion says one under certain compulsion of being one ought to do a civilization without religion is doomed to decay," said Dr. Gordon in his concluding remarks.

Miss Katharine Smith rendered a vote of thanks to the speaker which was seconded by Ted Lillie.

Dr. J. A. Anderson, who defeated E. J. Stedman, member in the last Legislature, for the favor of Conservative of South Lanark, and will carry the transferred standard in the coming election. Mr. Stedman's majority in 1926 was less than 1,000.

TEACHERS ENJOY GRAPHIC TALK BY R. J. GRAHAMON EAST INDIES

Convention Hears Address From Man Who Has Travelled Widely

Mr. R. J. Grahamon was the speaker at yesterday afternoon's session of the Teacher's Annual Convention held in the Collegiate Auditorium at 2 o'clock. A good representation from the school of South Hastings and the Belleville and Trenton schools, were in attendance.

Mr. Grahamon chose as his subject "Java and the East Indies" on which he is well qualified to speak as he spent considerable time in these countries two years ago. Many interesting facts were related by the customs, religion, dress and characteristics of the people cleverly reviewed.

He described the products of the country and the process of manufacturing. He displayed several objects among them a teakwood figure, an original puppet used for worship and a large silver bowl, related by the native of Mexican dollars. Another interesting object was the photograph of a temple girl, 8 years of age. Mr. Grahamon explained that at the age of five years the girls were taught to dance to the rituals and when they reached 8 years of age, they continued their training in another class. Cook fighting is one of the native chief diversions and this mode of entertainment is very popular. Mr. Grahamon's sketches proved most interesting as well as instructive and he accompanied his remarks with many humorous incidents which happened while he was in that country.

Following Mr. Grahamon's illuminating talk Mr. James Barran was heard in a vocal solo, "Arise Oh Sun" with Mr. Leo Riggs as accompanist. This proved a popular number and Mr. Bankier very generously gave an encore. Miss E. McPherson's class gave a short playlet entitled "Mr. Cold You Can't Catch Me" which proved interesting.

Grade meetings were held under the following chairmen: Mr. N. Anderson; First Book—Miss Helen Bradd; Second Book—Miss Bessie McKibbin; Third Book—Sister Mary Jubilat; Fourth Book—Mrs. Lawrence Kells; Rural—Miss M. I. Sutton.

The teacher's will attend the Literary Meeting at the Collegiate this evening where they will be pleased to hear Ralph Connor, outstanding Canadian Author.

"STARVED HEARTS"

BY
Mildred Barbour

"I know. He all but kicked me out of his office this morning. But don't worry, sweetheart, nothing's going to prevent my marrying you as long as you're willing. It'll be a cruel jolt to him, but he's been slated for a long time. Somebody's got to give it to him, and we might as well do it. Have you the courage to go out and marry me, darling, without his permission?"

"Yes, oh yes," declared Madelon. "But Julian, he'll be dreadful and he's sure to disinherit me."

"Let him," was the cheerful reply. "What of it? Do you think I want to marry you for your fortune?"

"You know I couldn't doubt you, Julian. I'll do exactly as you say, but I'm terribly afraid for you. He said something odd just before he left about not forbidding you the house because it wouldn't be necessary. What could he have meant?"

"Isn't the faintest notion. But we probably won't be left to wonder long. He's known as a quick worker."

"But let's not think about him. I want to see you and tell you again how much I love you. Can you see me this afternoon?"

"Yes. But how does it meet at Ann's. Don't make matters worse by coming to the house just now."

"All right, if it pleases you, but I don't like this clandestine stuff, darling."

"Only for today," she promised him. Before she left for Ann's, Madelon stopped in Barbara's room. Barbara was lying on a couch in the sunlight, staring into space. Madelon was startled at her pallor, at the haunting misery in her dark eyes.

"What is it, Barbara? Are you ill?" Barbara shook her head. "It's such a long winter. . . . Madelon, will you come away with me—to California, or Florida, or some place where there's sunshine?"

CHAPTER XI

A STRANGE CONFESSION

Madelon was dismayed at Barbara's request that she go away with her. She was fond of Barbara and sorry for her. Moreover she felt a deep gratitude for the kindness and sympathy which the latter had accorded her in spite of Stephen Lane. She knew that Barbara had endured many a stinging reprimand for her open partisanship.

But at this particular time, while the outcome of her love affair with Julian Barton hung in the balance, it seemed almost impossible to grant Barbara's request.

"Barbara dear," she tossed a cushion on the floor beside the couch and dropped down upon it. "I'd like nothing better than to go with you, if it is to have to Mr. Barton? He is, in want!—Well, I dare say you've guessed, that I've gone and fallen in love with Julian Barton?"

Barbara's purple-black eyes opened wide and she made a little murmur which evidenced surprise.

"We're engaged," Madelon went on. "Or rather, we considered we were, until Uncle Stephen heard about it and said that it mustn't be!"

Barbara sat up suddenly. "Oh, dear child, no! It couldn't be so cruel. What objection could he possibly have to Mr. Barton? He is, in every way, eligible."

"What difference does it make about Uncle Stephen's reasons? He merely chooses to object, that is all. But let me confide in you, neither he, nor anyone else, can keep me from marrying Julian."

A look akin to terror crossed Barbara's expressive face.

"Oh, my dear, you're not going to antagonize him?"

"Indeed yes. It's time somebody finds the courage to do just that. He's ruled in this medieval fashion long enough."

"But he is so terrible when he's crossed," murmured Barbara. Madelon shrugged again.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

All Paris is wearing bottle green.

Black suits with light costume blouses will be an autumn vogue.

Black luxuriously furred with beaver is a Paris autumn vogue and mink is also good with it.

Patou's "dubila" shade is to be extremely good for hats, coats and gowns for both afternoon or evening.

Many three-piece suits with the third piece taking the form of a waist coat are being shown for autumn in Paris, and waistcoat fronts frequently are seen on three-quarter coats, the inner form of a double-breasted, the inner one buttoned like a man's vest, in the outer flap without buttons or fastenings.

Loosely woven chevrons are being pushed by important French woolen manufacturers as a winter fabric for daytime clothes and dark blue, black and slate grey, blue and green are the leaders while Hunter's green is heralded by some as a possible winter favorite and many houses are also showing pistachio and olive green shades.

SOME HELPFUL HINTS FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

If you use certain colored clothes bags for party dresses, other colors for daytime and still others for coats and sport things, you will be saved time and nerve strain in hunting for what you want in a hurry.

Looking ahead to gloomy days, nothing is cheerier than a lively colored kitchen. Sunny yellow, cream with crimson trim, parchment-colored walls with flaming orange curtains or black and white with the most vivid of decorations are all stimulating.

A delicious and very delicate lunch on dish is made by steaming-halved cucumbers and serving them on toast.

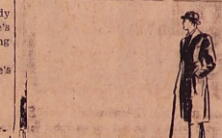

YOUNG COUPLE HIGHLY HONORED

Enjoyable Time Was Spent At Home of Wellington Family

About two hundred friends of Miss Winnifred Terry gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Terry on Monday evening, September 30th, and tendered her a miscellaneous shower in honour of her approaching wedding to Mr. Harold Johnston. Miss Terry was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts, and thanked her friends in a few suitable words. After a social hour Rev. Canon A. L. McTear called the assembly to order and short addresses were read in which high tribute was given to the young couple.

Those giving addresses were Rev. Canon A. L. McTear, Mr. H. W. Brown, principal of W. C. S. Messrs. Fred Morton, Lewis McPaul, William A. Davenport, George McMay, Chas. McPaul and Harry Stevenson. Mrs. George Hendry and Mrs. Leonard McCartney furnished suitable music for the occasion.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the happy affair by Misses Mae McPaul, Mabel Wright, Kathleen Jones, Lillie Panting, Gladys Weir and Madames Grant, Leavens, Morton, Thompson, McKay and Weir.

They NEUTRALIZE All Acid; Here is your proof FREE

Scientists have learned much about the stomach in the past few years. Most so-called "indigestion" is caused by excess acids; neutralize the acids and relief follows.

The makers of Pape's Diapepsin were among the first to realize this. These pleasant little tablets have brought relief to millions. And permanent correction of minor stomach ills which, if left unchecked, usually develop into serious disorders.

Don't go on suffering from heartburn, gas, belching, sour stomach, nor give up the things you like. You can eat your way to perfect digestion if you let Pape's Diapepsin take care of excessive acidity. Mail the coupon for a box to try, FREE. Then "top off" your next hearty meal with one or two of these tablets and see what a difference it makes.

BEWARE OF THOSE LUNCHEON HUSBANDS

Her experience as related by a London wife may be a warning to some brides who plan luncheons at home for their husbands, for this London housewife says:

Only brave girls marry men who lunch at home. If they had thought more about luncheon they might never have married at all. Luncheon is the third party that comes between husbands and wives.

No husband should lunch at home. It is all wrong. To begin with—he is not in the right frame of mind; he is hurried, thinking of difficult work to be done in the afternoon; consequently everything grates.

He sees a mustard stain on the cloth. At dinner time, in warm, slippery case, it would not have worried him, but in harsh daylight it looks soiled.

Even the best of wives cannot always avoid supplying hot food on cold days and cold food on cold days. She wakes in the bleak dawn, thinking "Irish stew today," and by one o'clock it is blazing hot, so the breakfast is long for cold man and cold wife. In a club or cafe he has a wide selection from which to choose.

The crudities of the meal are enhanced by her anxious appearance. She is tired after her long morning of shopping and irksome little jobs, perhaps even untidy.

No man can eat cold mutton on a chilly day facing a weary woman with out wishing himself a bachelor. Battered potatoes and jam roll are obstacles to romance. They hold you down to sanity.

Food plays a large part in romance. What man ever chose cold mutton or jam roll when he took the girl of his heart out to lunch? Most of us have happy memories of strawberries and peaches eaten lingeringly in the loved one's presence. Nibble a perfect salad or cheese soufflé and you are back in your engagement days. Alas, few households can afford such dainties.

Meals so often have to be organized to fit in with what is good for the children. The small dishes so attractively served in restaurants are an extravagance at home. In the effort to produce both lunch and dinner economically neither is a success.

How lucky are those wives who need only plan for Adam's Sunday lunch. Each week a different dish can be forthcoming. He thinks what a wonderful person she is to give him such variety. Fifty-two luncheons are easily thought out, but it is a life work to feed a man with lunch, as well as dinner, for three hundred and sixty-five days.

Dinner is a happy meal. The day's work for both his own. A few precious hours of leisure lie ahead. First light, deep chairs, peace.

But the lunch-at-home husband should be seriously considered by intending brides.

A NEW RACE OF SUPER-MEN SOON

Dr. Annie Besant Has Utopian Idea—A New Mission

San Francisco, Cal. (By Canadian Press)—Dr. Annie Besant, Theosophist leader, is in California on a new mission—the propagation of a super-race.

Dr. Besant has no intention of beginning the new race herself. But she is going to give evolution a Luther Burbank push to the extent of organizing a colony of super-beings on her ranch, "Happy Valley," in Ventura County, near Los Angeles.

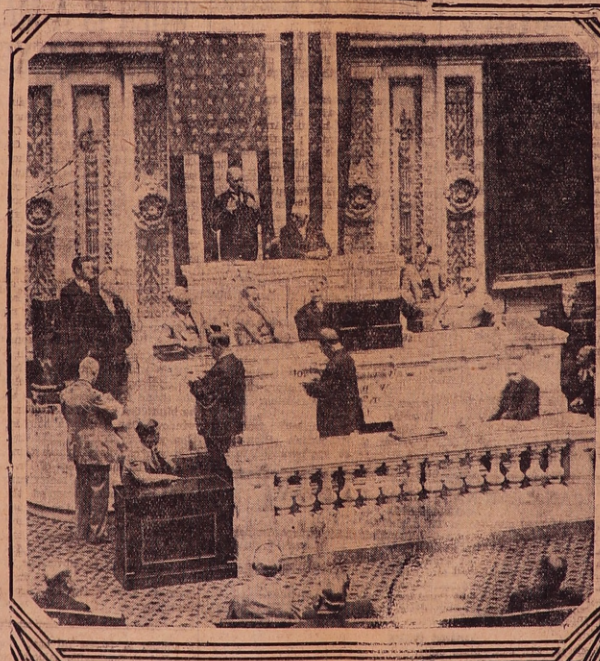

It will be the same neo-American race, she explained, which Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, curator of physical anthropology at the National Museum in Washington, recently predicted at the April session of the American Philosophical Society, and is now developing most rapidly in California, according to Dr. Besant, largely because of the surcharged electrical condition of the atmosphere.

When Mrs. Besant arrived recently on the Majestic, she was beautifully clad in a cream-colored Indian sari—"the sort of dress the old Indian ladies wear," she said—and she was very proud of the fact that she was eighty-two years old on October 1, and is still exceedingly vigorous in mind and body.

There was no doubt as to her sincerity and enthusiasm as she explained how she was going to bring about the relatively rapid development of the new race.

Upon Dr. Besant's California farm will be provided the finest opportunities for mating and the economic basis to make reasonably large families economically possible.

Ramsay MacDonald, premier of Great Britain, on the rostrum in the House of Representatives, making his historical address before the assembly.

"Happy Valley" will be a fruit and nut ranch. Already a committee of "American business men," all thorough believers in the new American, have built roads and are planting trees. Oranges, lemons, peaches, grapes and nuts are being set out to provide the means for supporting the experiment.

With this backing, what Burbank did in California for fruits and flowers, Mrs. Besant hopes to accomplish for people. She will employ the same scientific principles as Burbank—breeding from selected stock and crossing the most desirable strains. Of course there will be nothing crude or arbitrary about this. She will merely provide the opportunity for bringing together the right mates—and possibly the council of the farm community may discuss the availability of particular matings and use moral suasion. But there will be no pressure—other than community sentiment.

The stock from which the new race is to be bred must already have shown signs of natural evolutionary changes. Although the units for colonization will be the family, families will be selected chiefly upon the basis of the children.

These children are to be distinguished from others less fortunate by their sense of intuition, Dr. Besant said. The new race above all else is distinguished, she believes, by high intuitive development.

"Intuition," she said, "means the recognition of truth at sight—there is no argument over it. We have observed this working out in the California schools, where teachers have had difficulty in teaching the intuitive children and others in the same classes. The intuitive children are as rule two and a half years older in intelligence than the others. This characteristic has been observed at a very early age.

While the children will be the primary basis for selection, parents themselves must show tendencies which suggest they can get along well with each other and with others in their community. Divorces are expected to be few—far fewer than in the average American community.

And that leads to the very important problem of sex, which, naturally, cannot be overlooked. On this subject Mrs. Besant said:—"Judging from the chaos in sex relations, America is breaking away toward a higher ideal. In this process there must be an enormous amount of trouble and upset, but this is very important for the future. To me, it is not a sign of degeneration but a sign of intense effort to find a more satisfactory form of relationship than we have at present. Naturally, if it takes time to work out."

The selection of the colonists is not to be made exclusively from the ranks of Anglo-American co-operation for peace. At the premier's right is Republican Leader Tilson who presided.

of Theosophists. Dr. Besant is not so particular about creed as she is about the very practical details of actual behavior—the use of tact and good judgment, ability to perform useful work, and the knack of getting along well with family and neighbors. With such people she feels certain it will be possible to have a very nice, cozy co-operative colony in which there will be very little possessive sense, either as to persons or property, and a great

CHILD WROTE PLAY AT 14 YEARS OLD

London, (C.P.)—With such a gifted and theatrically minded family it is small wonder that Ann Casson, youngest daughter of Sybil Thorndyke and Lewis Casson, should have written a play at the age of 14, which is in rehearsal now at the smallest theatre in London, the Children's Theatre in Endell-street.

This theatre only holds 130 people, and Ann Casson's play, "The Camells are Coming," is to be the first production of their autumn season.

Not only will the economic tendency of industrial society toward acquisition be greatly weakened, but jealousy in personal relationships will cease entirely to be a virtue. The industry conducted by the colony will be for the purpose of use and not for amassing wealth, although it is thoroughly understood that wealth will have its useful place in the community.

There are no parts for children and the whole thing is quite sophisticated. A regular Seymour Hicks farce, full of intriguing situations and the most involved plot, "Her stage craft and technique are wonderful," said Geoffrey Winnett, who is producer as well as hero. "I thought out the plot in the train one day on my way home from South Africa," said Ann when interviewed, "and then when we got back I settled down to write, and it took me nearly a month, working hard every day." Sybil Thorndyke has encouraged her children to take an interest in the art of which she herself is the day. Every Christmas her four children—sometimes aided by their mother and sometimes entirely on their own—write and produce a short play at their Chelsea home.

Great Beauty Experts the world over agree

"twice-a-day use of Palmolive Soap
essential to skin care"

In every country, in every world capital, distinguished beauty specialists urge the twice-daily use of Palmolive soap to protect skin loveliness. Madame Bertha Jacobson, London; Nelson Day, of Toronto; Pessi, of Vienna; Vincent, of Paris—and scores of others tell their smart patrons to follow the "foundation cleansing" method. Massage the face gently for two full minutes with Palmolive lather. Rinse... with warm water, then with cold. All other treatments should be preceded by this basic skin cleansing method.

Palmolive soap is a blend of palm and olive oils. More than a mere skin cleanser, it has a bland, soothing, emollient effect which leaves the tenderest skin smooth, refreshed, radiant with the glow of natural color.

JOHN STREET CHURCH
MISSIONARY MEETING

The October meeting of John St. United Church W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Ferguson on Wednesday afternoon with a large attendance.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Sullivan's group with Mrs. Moore presiding. Opening hymn "Arm of the Lord, Awake, Awake." Scripture lesson from the 10th chap. Romans and prayer by Mrs. Sullivan. After which items of interest from the various mission fields were given by the following ladies: Mesdames Buchanan, Miller, Benson, Torrington, Sullivan, Ophrey, Catcher and Moore.

Miss McDoo then sang very sweetly, "The Gentle Shepherd" which was much enjoyed, after which Mrs. Ferguson read the story of the Receptive holiday. After singing a verse of Miss Haverall's beautiful hymn, "Take my Life and let it be consecrated Lord to Thee," the business session was held in the absence of the President, Mrs. Cook. Mrs. Buchanan occupied the chair. Quite encouraging reports were received from the secretary and treasurer and the various other departments.

Miss Davis read a letter from Mrs. Seymour on "Christian Stewardship and finance, it was arranged to have

KYOTO MEETING ATTRACTS MANY

Kyoto, Japan. (By Canadian Press) Preparations are complete for the conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which will be attended by delegates from all over the world. The meetings here take on great significance in view of the troubled condition of China and the Japanese railway impasse which through China and Soviet Russia to the coast of war will doubtless be the subject of several important round table conferences. Another matter will be debated will be foreign treaty rights in China.

British delegates include Lord Hailsham, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, Malcolm MacDonald, M. P., son of Premier MacDonald and Dame Edith Lytton, G.B.E., widow of the late Rt. Hon. Alfred Lytton.

The Canadian party will consist of: Hon. F. B. Macdougall, Mrs. Macdougall, Halifax, Sir John and Lady And, Mrs. Cameron and Miss And, Horace T. Hunter and Mrs. Hunter, Professor George Wrong, Col. "WHEN IS A MAN DRUNK" IS ASKED

Sydney, Australia. (By Canadian Press)—The old question, "When is a man drunk" came up at the Central Police Court here recently when Gordon Musgrave pleaded guilty to a charge of having driven a car when under the influence of liquor. The accused admitted his guilt despite the fact that Dr. Leaver, a reputable physician, gave evidence to the effect that Musgrave was not intoxicated at the time of his arrest.

The doctor's evidence was based on four tests which he said, the accused had passed satisfactorily. These were as follows: "Can you stand up straight and thread a needle with black cotton without fumbling or hesitation. Can you put the point of a pin in a pinhole in white paper without fumbling or prodding all round the hole? Can you stand four paces from a window, be blindfolded and walk straight to the window? Can you do this in addition correctly in a crowded noisy room?"

If you can do all these things, you are not, in the opinion of Dr. Leaver, too drunk to drive a motor car.

The magistrate accepted the plea of guilty and fined the accused $100 with alternative, suspending six months in jail. The magistrate ordered Musgrave's license suspended until its expiration on November 26 and disqualified him from holding a license to drive a car for three years hereafter.

A shower of towels and etc. for the hospital at Bonnyville, Alberta, at the regular meeting in November. Hymn "Nearer My God to Thee" and prayer by Mrs. Moore closed quite an interesting meeting. Refreshments were served by the members of the group and a social hour well enjoyed.

TRENTON FULLY AWARDED AIR-BASE

Prohibition Union Await Liberal Party's Answer to Their Ultimatum

COMBINED LAND AND SEAPLANE BASE WILL BE ESTABLISHED AT TRENTON ACCORDING TO DESPATCH

Two Hundred And Fifty Men Will Be Stationed At Camp

FIFTY PLANES

Million And A Half Dollars Will Be Spent In Preparing Place

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—The Royal Canadian Air Force is to move from Camp Borden to a new combined land and seaplane training station to be established on the Bay of Quinte a mile and a half east of Trenton at a cost of about $2,000,000. An order-in-council has been passed by the Government this week providing for the acquisition of several parcels of land, but the transfer cannot be completed for two or three years, as considerable development work will have to be done at Trenton, such as drainage, leveling, seeding, the construction of hangars and work shops, as well as housing accommodation for the personnel. The Air Force has some fifty aeroplanes at Camp Borden and a permanent personnel of about 30 staff officers, and 250 men while more than a hundred young officers' and men are being trained there each summer.

The decision to locate at Trenton has been reached after thorough examination of some thirty different sites in different parts of Ontario. Camp Borden was established originally as a military training camp, and was considered unsatisfactory even for the purpose of land aeroplane training. The Department of National Defence has found it necessary to increase seaplane training, particularly in view of the large amount of work which has to be done in Canada with seaplanes and it was felt that the double overhead should be provided by the establishment of a combined land and water station.

It was estimated that necessary buildings and improvements at Camp Borden, if the Air Force were to remain there, would cost about $1,400,000, while the estimated cost of buildings at Trenton with married quarters would be $1,500,000. If the Air Force remained at Borden a new plane base at some other point would cost $500,000. The Government has nearly $2,000,000 worth of technical equipment and stores at Camp Borden.

PICTON UNITED CHURCH BANQUET

Two Fine Speakers Address Gathering At Picton Church

A successful banquet was given in Picton last evening by the United Church. The hall was filled to capacity, well over a hundred enjoying themselves at the function. Harold Holton, of Belleville, was chairman.

There were two very fine speakers who addressed the gathering. They were Dr. Russell, from India. Dr. Russell has spent many years in the foreign work department for the United Church in India. He told many interesting incidents. The other speaker for the evening was Dr. Ross, of Saskatchewan, who spoke on Home Work and in particular to the hospital work in connection with the United Church in Canada. Both speakers were greeted with much applause, on the conclusion of their speeches. Many attended from Belleville. Mr. Denike, of Bancroft, chairman of the Laymen's Work of the Bay of Quinte Conference suggested Group Systems whereby new blood would be infused into the work. The suggestion was that many from different groups in each community should pay visits to other groups and exchange ideas. Mr. H. W. Ackerman, chairman of the M. and W. was also present. Another meeting will be held in Twelfth next Wednesday.

ARCHDEACON BEAMISH ACCEPTS NEW CHARGE

It will be very interesting to many Belleville folk and particularly to those members of St. Thomas Church to learn that their one-time minister, Rev. Archdeacon Beamish, was offered and accepted the chaplaincy of a church in Siella, Italy, for the winter months. It was the information that was given to The Intelligencer this morning, on very good authority. The climatic conditions of the country are expected to be more beneficial to the health of Archdeacon Beamish than that of the British Isles.

BUSINESS GIRLS WILL ASSIST IN UNIQUE CONTEST

Bonter's Radio Den Donates Fine Machine For Lucky Winner

It is gratifying to know that in the city of Belleville there are twenty-five young ladies, enterprising enough to get out and work for the benefit of their city. True citizenship was exemplified last night when these young women turned out in full force at a banquet given by the officials of the Belleville Arena Company and signified their willingness to enter wholeheartedly into a project which will swell the Arena fund by at least $2,500.00. To Mr. W. E. Rowson, of the Alameda, goes the credit for the inception of the plan.

Mr. Bonter's Generosity
Mr. Bonter, of Bonter's Radio Den, is the generous gentleman who has made the scheme possible by donating a beautiful Stewart-Warner Radio with Dynamic Speaker, the first radio made in Belleville at the new Stewart-Warner Radio factory recently added to the Alameda Products Ltd. factory. The radio will be on display at Bonter's Radio Shop until December 15th, which is the closing date of the campaign.

Plans Outlined
Briefly, the plans for the campaign are as follows. The money will be raised by selling tickets for the Stewart-Warner Radio donated by Bonter's Radio Den. Each ticket is numbered and will cost the purchaser 25 cents or 5 tickets for $1.00. The campaign will close on December 15th, and the lucky number will then be drawn by a prominent Belleville citizen. The girls will report to the Secretary, Mr. Sam Curry, each week and the ticket stubs will be deposited in a locked box as they are turned in, and this box will be in charge of the Stewart-Warner Radio factory. As a reward for their labours and as a further incentive to sell as many tickets as possible the girls will be given $10.00 in cash prizes. The first prize will be $50.00, the second $25.00 and so on down the line. In addition each young lady will receive a season's complimentary ticket to the New Belleville Arena.

Speakers Heard
Mr. Rowson, general manager of the Alameda Products of this city, acted as chairman at last night's banquet, and in a short precise manner outlined the plan to get going. He then said Mr. Rowson that it is a splendid thing to know that in our city there are 25 young women who are interested enough in their community to get out and do work you young ladies by your attendance here to night have signified your willingness to do. I am also proud to know that Belleville possesses a young man such as Mr. Bonter, who has generously given this fine Stewart-Warner radio to help along the good work. He expressed his belief that the campaign would be a great success and called on Mr. B. C. Dunn, chairman of the M. and W. and Mr. Thomas Payne, both members of the Arena Committee, to say a few words.

Both these gentlemen expressed their satisfaction at seeing such a fine turnout and thanked the girls for their splendid co-operation. In speaking of the project Mr. Payne said that the idea was first put forward by Mr. Rowson and the officials recognizing its worth immediately acted upon it. The girls all entered enthusiastically into the campaign and if the funds they gather correspond with their enthusiasm the Arena fund will be augmented not by $2,500 but by at least double the figure aimed at.

The citizens of Belleville are asked to contribute to this excellent cause and as Mr. Rowson explained, although you may not be able to afford shares in the project, you can do your little bit by buying 5 tickets for $1.00 ticket for 25 cents. When the campaign ends on December 15th, another banquet will be held at the Belleville Club and it is planned to give the girls a dance as a mark of appreciation.

Cubs In Optimistic Mood Following Friday's Victory

Philadelphia, Penn., Oct. 12.—(C.P.) (By Brian Bell, Associated Press Sports writer)—The Bayons, of Mississippi today claimed a place in the world series picture, for Guy T. Bush, native and resident of "Old Miss", sent Chicago back into the series with a brilliant offensive and defensive performance.

Additional returns yesterday labelled an early forecast of sweeping triumphs for the benefit of the Cubs, at least premature, before the verdict can now be made official. The Cubs are now talking about the events to transpire when the battlefield is shifted to Chicago. They must win one of the remaining games here to call for the western trek but they say they have no fear of their ability to do so.

The Athletics had hoped to sweep the series and yesterday's defeat forced a revision in their plans. Now they say they will be satisfied with less out of five margin by which Athletics nineteen years ago turned back the Cubs of that day. Charlie Root will do the mound work for the Cubs in the fourth game today, but the usual Connie Mack's plan, a "hot" throw only to Cornelius McGillicuddy, Bob Grove is the logical choice especially as the day will be cloudy and warm if the weatherman had read his signs right. The probable line up for the fourth game:

Cubs—McMillan 3b, English ss, Hornsby 2b, Wilson cf, Cuyler rf, Step Benson lf, Grimm lb, Taylor c, Root p. Athletics—Bishop 2b, Hase cf, Gooden c, Simmons lf, Fox lb, Miller rf, Dykes 3b, Boley ss, Grove or Quinn p.

Umpires—VanGralan, American at first base; National, first base; Dineen, American, second; Moran, National, third.

Warden George Bailey plays Host to County Councillors at Annual Dinner in Stirling Hall

Rural and Urban Officials Meet In Big Conclave—Warden Presented With Gold Watch As Mark of Esteem—Thanks Council For Co-operation—J. O. Herity, Civic Industrial Commissioner, Stresses Advantages For Tourists—Hon. J. R. Cooke Deplores Exodus, From Ontario Farms—Lighting Facilities For Farms.

Representatives from practically every township in the County of Hastings, members of the Belleville City Council, the County Council, representatives from this County in both the Federal and Provincial Parliaments, their wives and ladies to the number of well over three hundred were the guests last evening of Warden George Bailey of Ravdon, Warden of Hastings County for 1929, at the Community Hall at Stirling. The occasion, which was one long to be remembered by those who attended, was that of the Annual Warden's Banquet.

Seated in the spacious dining hall were the cream of Hastings County men and women, men who are at present guiding the affairs of this country, and men who have retired from active service after long periods of usefulness. To say that the 1929 Warden's Banquet was a success would be putting it mildly, for from the start of the dinner, at seven-thirty o'clock, until the last strains of the National Anthem had died away close to the hour of midnight, not a dull moment was detected. To Warden Bailey and Mrs. Bailey, as well as to those friends who helped arrange such a banquet for so many congratulations are due. James W. Haggerty, County Treasurer, filled the position of Chairman and toastmaster with great ability. Following the dinner, he called the meeting to order, and proposed the toast to "The King", which was responded to by the singing of the National Anthem. Mr. Haggerty then in a few brief words welcomed the guests, and then called upon Warden Bailey for his address.

Presented With Watch
Thomas Montgomery, Reeve of Stirling, then on behalf of the Warden made an address of welcome, and congratulated the new Warden on his appointment and his tenure of office. Col. Vandewater, Reeve of Sidney, responded and on behalf of the County Council presented Warden Bailey with a gold watch suitably engraved. By means of a standing vote the entire assemblage expressed its sincere sympathy in the illness of the County Clerk, Mr. W. H. Nugent, who was unable to be present on that account.

In replying to the toast to "the Warden", Mr. Bailey made the following remarks: "I am sure it affords me much pleasure indeed to have so many present here this evening. I feel that I cannot express in words my thanks not only for this watch, which you have presented to me but also for the support and co-operation which you have given me, thus enabling me to discharge the duties as Warden for 1929. "In unity there is strength" and I have always found you ready and willing at all times to discharge the tasks imposed on you. In 1920 when I first entered the ranks of the County Council there were 31 members. Today only five of that same body are with us—some have retired from municipal life, some follow other walks in life and a few have answered the High W. Summons. During the present year two of our members have been called by death, and we extend our sympathy to the bereaved ones. "I am sure we are all very sorry indeed not to have our genial County Clerk, Mr. Nugent, with us tonight on account of ill-health. To my knowledge it is the first occasion of this kind at which he has been unable to be present and we can only wish for him a speedy return to health. "Another honor, and I deem it a great honor has been conferred on me, that of being the first Warden to be invested with the robes of office term of office has been completed and I sincerely hope that when men there will be no misgivings or regrets. If it has afforded you any pleasure to come here tonight, I can assure you will be both a pleasure and profit to me. In the years to come, as I have occasion to look at this watch, I will ever be reminded of the time spent at County Council, and of the friendly relations with you one and all. I thank you."

Toast to Canada
Thomas Burnside, of Madoc, one of the most eloquent speakers of the older men interested in municipal affairs proposed the "Toast to Canada". It was responded to by Dr. E. T. Embury, M.P., for South Hastings. Both expressed regret that Mr. Nugent, the County Clerk, was unable to attend on his appointment and on the banquet which he tendered to the County Council and their friends. Dr. Embury stated that although Canada had only one half of one percent of the total population of the world, all Canadians were proud to be Canadians and were proud of their country. The reason, he declared, was that due to selective immigration, the standard of people entering this country was kept up to a high level. "It is better for us to go slow with our immigration rather than sacrifice our own citizens, the speaker declared. Mr. W. E. Tummon, M.P., spoke of please Turn to Page Three

BRUSH ON FIRE

Residents of this city noticing a bright red glow in the sky north of Belleville about nine o'clock last night motored out the Foxboro Highway only to find that the conflagration which raged just east of the highway across the river from Cannifton was only a few huge piles of brush which were being burned under supervision. The flames leaped high in the air and made a wonderful sight for motorists along the Foxboro road.

Beautiful hair!

Modern hair dressers arrange the hair so beautifully that it's bound to attract attention. That's why it's so important to guard its color and lustre; keep it in perfect condition. There is no surer, simpler way to do this than with Danderine. Each time you use your brush, just moisten it with this delicately fragrant liquid. Then as you draw it through your hair, it removes the excess oil, brings out the natural color; makes the hair fairly sparkle with new life and lustre.

How much easier is it to arrange the place. And try "setting" the waves with Danderine. They stay in so much longer. Danderine quickly dissolves the crust of dandruff; puts the scalp in the pink of condition; helps the hair to grow long, silky and abundant!

BEARERS AT FUNERAL

The bearers at the funeral of the late Charles S. Johnson, who died at Kalamazoo, Mich. on October 7th, were Messrs. L. Davis, H. Rowe, W. A. Owens, N. McWilliams, Dr. Gilbert and Alfred Gillen.

ATTENDING CONFERENCE

Messrs. Victor White and Milton Davidson, representing the Young Men's section, Jack Carter, representing older Employed Boys, and Bill McGraw, representing High School boys of the local Y. M. C. A. left today at noon along with General Secretary J. E. Short, to attend an Eastern Ontario Conference of young men of the Y. M. C. A. which is being held at Peterborough this week end. Toronto, Ottawa, Peterborough, Belleville and Kingston delegates will attend.

A FAST BALL GAME

The Whoopies who challenged the winners of the City League—the Frontenacs—went down to defeat, after a hard fought tussle, in the challenge game that was played in the Armoures last night. The crowd was not very large but those who were absent missed something. The score was nil for both teams until the end of the sixth and when the game ended this score was very close. The final score was 12 to 11 for the Frontenacs. Smith twirled the leather for the Frontenacs and G. Knott caught. Mollie Gray pitched for the Whoopies with Wilkins behind the bat.

Must be a "Dry" Discussion resulted in the passing of the following resolution: "We the members of West Hastings Prohibition Union, assembled this 8th day of October, 1929 for reorganization purposes and to consider political action in the coming provincial election desire to state that since the Liberal party here has publicly taken action towards putting a candidate in the field in opposition to the Government Liquor Control Act, we wish to assure them that if they bring out someone satisfactory to our requirement as set forth by the manifesto of the Ontario Prohibition Union, such a person shall have our support and influence. This resolution was forwarded in time for the Liberal meeting, addressed to their Secretary, Mr. H. H. "Those early builders of Canada built better than they knew, and although there may at times be diversity of views among Canadians, there always is unity when unity is needed. Canada must proceed, fulfilling the vision of those Confederation fathers."

Toast to Agriculture

Charles Thompson, Reeve of Madoc, proposed the toast to Agriculture, declaring that agriculture was the first industry of civilization and saying that it is also the biggest. Agriculture feeds and starts the clothing of at least two billions of people and represents almost wealth which could be dreamed of. This toast was responded to by Rev. Mitchell, of Tharby, Reeve George A. Stokes, of Hungerford, Thomas E. Laycock, Reeve of Marmora and Lake, and William McLaren, of Tyndering.

"The vision of all mighty nations stood the pillars of the soil," declared Reeve Thompson's entertainment. The educational institutions were also in the towns or cities to benefit the farmers' children. The speaker declared that these things were the main reason for persons leaving the farm, but hoped that in the near future the ratio will be fixed so that those coming back to start on small farms will be contented. Mr. Cooke declared that he was sure he could get electric lines for the country which would not cost over 15 cents a day. It is the dream of his life to see an Ontario farm electric lighted and he hoped to say little more. Mr. J. F. Hill, M.P.P. for East Hastings, congratulated the Warden on his speech and entertainment, saying that he was proud to have been invited to attend, but as the hour was late he would say little more. Mr. W. H. Ireland, M.P.P. for West Hastings, also was present, but his remarks were very brief.

J. O. Herity, in proposing the "Toast to Hastings County," remarked that he would like to see the old title of "Lord Rawdon" put back and revived again, and stated that no one he knew more fully deserved the title than Warden George A. Bailey. Mr. Herity spoke of having been born in Hastings County and educated at Hastings, so he was especially glad to be here and to be associated with this particular toast, and would refer briefly to Hastings, the gem of Ontario counties.

Scenic Attractions

"Scenic attractions of Hastings are so made more attractive still and every one of the most important sights of this county." A gentleman from Virginia, who was in Mr. Herity's office a few days ago declared that he had never seen such wonderful scenery or such splendid roads before. He also spoke of the evident prosperity of the country and declared that he would tell all his friends when he went home of this wonderful country.

$300,000.00 was spent by tourists last year in Canada, and a large percentage of it was spent in Ontario. This income is greater than the total derived from our mines, and the interesting feature of it is that though our mines will eventually be worked out, the scenic attractions will keep indefinitely.

Mr. G. B. Aichart then proposed the toast to the City of Belleville, which was responded to by Mr. John Elliott and Major R. D. Penion. The toast to the ladies was proposed by Henry Fayet, Reeve of Carleton and responded to by Walter Whytock, Reeve of Madoc village and R. P. Conter, while he toast to the "Press" was proposed by E. Doble of Stirling and responded to by C. D. Tice, of Belleville. During the evening talented entertainers in the person of Miss Helen Luscombe of Belleville, Mrs. E. Sandercock, Mr. Sanford Burrows, Mr. J. Arnold Thompson and Miss Cora Bailey gave several solos and readings which were greatly appreciated.

GOING HOME

Going home! Then you will see again
The wonder blue of woods in early May; Match April blow with beauty in the lane,
Breathe the shy scent of willow palms
asway.

The soft enchantment of the cuckoo's note
Will break the quiet of the dawn cope;
June fields, with saffron buttercups afloat,
Will shake from glistening blades
the rainbow drops.

Lime flowers, mist mornings in September,
Beech trees and oaks burnt copper,
scarlet chrome—
And frosty nights—all these things I remember Because you say to me, "I'm going home."

P. M. HALLING, in The Australasian.

MEDIAEVA (Fragment of a ballad, written by François Villon for his mother.)
Queen of the Earth, and Lady of the Sky,
Empress of Heaven and the dark pit
of Hell,
Give ear unto a humble Christian's cry
That she may come to thee in Heaven to dwell.

My sins weigh on me—more than tonight may tell;
But merciful art thou, and thy grace
all free,
Without thy grace I cannot come to thee,
Without thy help no soul may win the Sky.

Sincere I kneel; look down and pity
me.

For in this faith I wish to live and die
me!
I am a poor old woman, shrunk and lean;
Nothing I know, I cannot read or spell
Yet painted in the cloister I have seen Thy lute-rilled mansions o'er the deeps
of Hell
Where the damned roll in fire perpetual.
I tremble, then I hope: Have pity on
me!
Lady of Grace, I put all trust in thee;
And lifting hands unto thy throne on high Invoke thee of thy Love and deep Pity,
For in this faith I wish to live and die.
HERBERT E. PALMER.

DO YOU KNOW?

Do you know that in some countries there are what are known as "singing sands"? In Kanai, Hawaiian Islands, it is said that on the sea shore, the sands give forth a musical humming sound when swept by a strong breeze, or if a small quantity is taken up and clapped between the hands a curious humming sound is emitted. Manchester, Mass., U.S.A., is also stated to have a famous "singing beach". One theory in explanation of this peculiarity is that the sounding is due to a thin film of gas.

Have you ever noticed, when lying awake in the night—I hope you young readers don't often do this, but no doubt you have been known to do so occasionally—how loudly the furniture cracks, and what weird noises it seems to emit? Perhaps our hearing is more acute at night than is the case in the daytime; certainly we appear to hear various noises in the wakeful hours of the night which we never notice by day.

The cause of the noise is that the warm air of the daytime makes the woodwork of our furniture expand somewhat; then at night, when the cool air causes it to shrink, various cracking sounds may be heard, as if different parts adjusted themselves to the changed conditions.

ROYAL PHOTOGRAPHERS

Most members of the Royal Family are more or less enthusiastic photographers, though some of the younger generation, like the Duke of York, have it is said, fallen victims to the attraction of the cine-camera instead of the ordinary snapshotting variety.
Princess Mary is very fond of taking snapshots, and on the occasion of her recent visit to Egypt, she kept the Queen supplied with photographic records of parts of her trip. The Queen of Norway is also an ardent photographer. As Princess Maud of England, she was among the very first royal persons to possess a camera, and has an enormous collection of snapshots of her friends and relatives which she has taken at various times.

THE BANANA

How important is the banana in a commercial and food sense is revealed by recent happenings. A devastating disease attacked the banana plantations of the Central Islands and the West Indies, and the loss incurred thereby amounted to millions of pounds. Under the auspices of the Empire Marketing Board, an expedition of able botanists explored, some months ago, the East Indies, in the hope of discovering other varieties of the fruit quite as succulent as those which have hitherto been in commercial cultivation. The number of varieties is surprising. The Philippine Islands claim to have fifty-seven varieties of bananas. Malaya has thirteen, Siam ten, Burma eight, and there are also over sixty kinds of bananas which are inedible.

Since its introduction to our stores,
the banana has been made the subject of many jokes, and has frequently figured in humorous ditties, but, as will be seen from the facts given, it is an important factor in the commercial world, and its preservation is a matter of considerable moment.

Ingenuous chefs at our larger hotels know the value of this fruit in the preparation of those mysterious, tasty trifles which have become popular among patrons. Its adaptability to assimilation with other concomitants renders it a valuable adjunct to the pastry and confectionery which appeal so pleasantly to the palate.

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

Banana and Apricot Sundae Mash half a pint of tinned apricots and three bananas, and mix with these 1-2 gills castor sugar and juice of one lemon. Let these stand two hours, then beat in a gill of whipped cream and half-freeze it. When it is a soft mass, fold in the whipped of one egg. Freeze again until thick, but not hard.

To Make Souffle Potatoes
Bake some large potatoes in their skins. When done, cut them in half and cut a little bit off the end of each so that they will stand upright. Scoop out the potato pulp with a teaspoon.
Put in a basin, add the well-beaten yolk of an egg, pepper and salt. Refill the potato skins, putting on the top of each a little white of egg, well whipped, and put back in the oven for about 30 minutes.

Elderberry Ketchup
Have ready a quart of elderberries which have been picked from the stalk and put them into a large stone or earthen jar. Then pour over them a quart of boiling vinegar. The down and stems, and stir till boiling. Season, then simmer for fifteen minutes.
Add the potatoes and let them heat through (do not let them boil), then simmer for about ten minutes, then turn out to set. Add a little salt and well-cooked chopped, and nicely seasoned cabbage.

RECREATION BOWLING

even with two points each. For the Steward Warner Darrah with a single of 270 and a total of 566.
For the Ramblers A. Kennedy was high with a single of 301 and a total of 676.

The Oakes took all four points from the C. Co. For the Oakes E. Lee was high with 587. C. Mott had the high single for the Oakes with 242.
For the C. Co. R. Payne was high with 558.

Belgrade, Oct. 12.—During a gale last night many ships were torn from the anchorage along the coast. The buzard later left eight inches of snow along entire the Jugo-Slavian sea-board.

Six foreign missionaries were given a farewell in the Tabot street Baptist Church, London.

Dog poisoners who have been busy in Niagara-on-the-Lake, have taken to poisoning pet cats.

Maskinonge that weighed 26 pounds was caught in Lake St. Clair by Garland Brown, 18, of Windsor.

A REAL TONGUE TWISTER
"If a Hottentot tot taught a Hotten-tot tot to talk ere the tot could totter, ought the Hottentot tot be taught to say aught or naught, or what ought not to be taught her? If to hoot and to toot a Hottentot tot, should the tot hot, if the Hottentot tot hoot and toot at the Hottentot tot."

THE ERRATIC MR. MART
I had to laugh
At old man Mart;
He lost his head
Then lost his heart.

The normal way,
I've heard it said,
Is to lose one's heart
And then one's head.

An English professional actor was engaged to coach the Kibbime Drama Society for their forthcoming play.

"Now, look here, my good boys and girls," he remarked after the first evening's work was over, "I must insist on more feeling being infused into your words all round."

"In my young days I knew a London actor who could make an audience weep merely by reading a menu!"
said the junior lead.

"Indeed!" said the coach. "May I ask how that came about?"

"Yes," said the other, "I read out the prices to my father, myther, an Uncle Geordie!"

EASY PAYMENTS
As illustrating how easy it is to buy things on the instalment plan, the following story has been brought into service:

Tugson has bought a perambulator on the instalment plan. For month after month she had visited the shop which sold it to her, handling over her meager instalments.
Her visits were so numerous that she became quite well known to the assistant who served her.

At last the time arrived when Mrs.
Tugson had paid in full. The assistant bade her a touching farewell as he gave her the receipt.

"I shall miss you, Mrs. Tugson," he said, "you've been such a regular customer, you've been such a regular customer. But—how is the baby getting on now?"

Mrs. Tugson gave a satisfied smile.
"Very well, thank you," she replied.
"He's getting married next week."

NOBILITY IN CANADA

Where Titled Men Are Farmers

The Earl Eglmont has decided that Canada is still the place for him and that he will not leave his log cabin in Alberta to take up his seat in the House of Lords. He may therefore be added to the growing list of members of the British and European aristocracy who have found a permanent footing in the Dominion.

Their names are legion. Dukes, Counts, Earls, Knights—all are to be found here in person or in proxy.

The Prince of Wales has of course, property in Canada; the Duke of St.
Erland owns a fine estate; Lord and Lady Rodney would not dream of leaving the Dominion. Lord Clarendon when he was Lord Hyde went to Canada with the title of settling there for good; the great Count Karolyi has left the care of Europe behind him;
Lord Aylmer has retired to British Columbia; the Marquis of Aberdeen once owned a big ranch in the same Province, and other notables innumerable. The tide of settling there

COUPLE MARK HALF A CENTURY MARRIED LIFE

Mr. and Mrs. John Hall of Campbellford Honored
By Family

Fifty years ago on the sixth of October, Mr. John Hall of Cardiff and Miss Matilda Jane Paterson of Seymour, drove to Stirling in a democrat and were quietly married by Rev. Mr. Dowling, Baptist minister of Stirling, at that time. They returned to Mrs. Robert Paterson's for the wedding supper.

Mr. Hall was a prosperous farmer in Seymour East. Later he built a home in Campbellford where he now resides. They have seven children living, five girls and two boys. They have twelve grandchildren and one great-granddaughter, Margaret Spafford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Spafford, Toronto. The anniversary was marked by a special event at their home in Campbellford recently. The children present were: Mr. N. H. White, Calgary, Mrs. Helen Bramhall, Belleville, Mrs. A. L. Price, Sidney, Mr. J. C. L. Hall, Trenton, Miss M. G. Hall, Campbellford. Children absent were: Mrs. Bert Buglar, Calgary, Mr. Percy Hall, Benton, Alta, Brothers and sisters of groom present: Mrs. R. A. Paterson, Calgary, Mrs. Margaret Diamond, Toronto, Dr. Alvin Hall, Hornell, Mr. Wm. Hall, Campbellford, Mrs. A. V. Mattin, Toronto, Mrs. E. W. Brown, Corbyville. One brother Alfred, Brandon, absent. Grandchildren present were: Ray, June and Doreen Hall, Trenton, Ruth Bramhall, Belleville. Other relatives present were: Mr. N. H. White, Calgary, Mrs. J. C. L. Hall, Trenton, Mrs. Wm. Hall, Campbellford, Miss Ethel Hall, Campbellford, Mr. and James Paterson and Ruth, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cody, Ottawa, Mr. E. W. Brown and Annie, Corbyville, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Eggleton, Sidney, Mr. Geo. Wm and Miss Pearl Donald, Campbellford, Mrs. John Ingram, Miss Annie Ingram, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Craighead, and Misses Joan and Emily, Burnbrae.

Afternoon tea was served in the dining room from four to six, the room being decorated in golden and yellow carnations. Mrs. N. H. White, Calgary, presided. Mrs. Margaret Diamond poured tea and Miss Ruth Bramhall, Belleville and Master Ray and Little June Hall, Trenton, served.

Among the afternoon guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Shaw and Miss Mather, Mrs. Hay, Mr. and Mrs. Hay, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Walkinshaw, Rev. Dr. Marks, Mr. and Mrs. Todd, Mr. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Storey, Mr. and Mrs. John Ingram, Mrs. Bonnycastle, Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford, Mrs. Rose Layle, Ex-Mayor Kingston, Mrs. Wallace.

Numerous gifts, flowers and telegrams were received by the couple from their many friends and distant relatives.

Several photographs of various groups were taken during the afternoon.

At six p.m. a buffet luncheon was served to about thirty-five guests. Following the luncheon Dr. Alex Hall, Hornell, brother of the honored guest, gave a suitable address and Mr. Wm. Hall, Campbellford, presented the couple with a purse of gold from the brothers, sisters, nephews and nieces.

The sons and daughters presented them with a Chestfield suite.

Mr. Hall thanked them in a suitable reply and requested a hymn to be sung. Mrs. N. H. White played "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name" and the guests sang.

Shortly after the presentation the guests departed after singing "Auld Lang Syne."

TRUE WORTH

(From The Christian Science Monitor.)

Dignity is a characteristic of that which is worthy. The consciousness or appreciation of true worth and the adoption of it as a motive and aim in daily life lend a dignity to human thought and action to which no imitative art, traditional or conventional, can attain or even approximate. The one is genuine and real, the other is an affected or assumed counterfeit.

As it is an intimate and accurate knowledge of the genuine coin that enables one to detect and reject the counterfeit, so it is with the knowledge of true worth. This alone will keep the round of deception whereby spurious and fictitious values would deceive the unwary. The question, then, is: What is the standard or criterion of true worth? True worth, or dignity, can never be confused with, or mistaken for, that self-contained pride expressed through a false sense of self. Furthermore, this beautiful, divine characteristic is always associated with pure and spontaneous joy and generous compassion. Divine ideas of life and reality, expressing and glorifying as they always do the aliveness of God, the one Mind, are free, happy, and unrestrained by pride, fear, or asceticism.

In proportion, then, as human consciousness becomes permeated with these divine ideas, it is being lifted above all that is sordid, vulgar, or commonplace. It is being invested with the robe of true dignity, the robe of the righteousness of God. True dignity, then, expresses the conscious understanding and love of God, and must heal, unify and bless wherever it is found.

EXCURSIONS TO SCENIC POINTS

Montreal, Que. (By Canadian Press).—Under the auspices of the St. Jean Baptiste Society of Montreal, hundreds of people enjoyed an excursion planned by the society of historic places within easy reach of Montreal. At the fort everything of interest was shown open to the visitors. With brilliant sun and a high gale, the hall-rained walls, rising by the Richelieu Rapids, presented their most picturesque guise for the pilgrims. Dungeon, store room and ivy-covered ramparts fell immediately before the peaceful invasion, and from the tower of the northwest bastion floated down the strains of "O Canada" and "Marilyn, Marilyn, Marilyn."

The old wooden Fort Chamblay, built 1655 by Captain Chamblay of the Cregan Regiment, came out from France to take action against the Iroquois whose raids and tortures jeopardized the lives of the colonists, served also in the crucial times after war broke out with the English in 1688.

GOWER—ACER

Trenton, Oct. 11.—The marriage took place in St. George's Church, Trenton, on Saturday, October 5th, of Blanche Adams, daughter of the late Douglas B. Acer and Mrs. Acer of Trenton, to Edwin Gordon Gower, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Gower, of Toronto, the Rev. Percy Heywood officiating.

The church was decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, mauve cosmos and sweetheart roses, palms and ferns. Small chrysanthemums tied with tulle marked the guest pews.

The bride who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. John Acer, wore a lovely princess gown of ivory satin with ivory veil of tulle and duchess lace and bandeau of pearls and carried a bouquet of lily of the valley. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom. She was attended by Miss Elizabeth Ramsey, of Toronto, as maid of honor who wore a bouffant gown of mauve organza. The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Margaret Acer in pink organza and matching hats of felt and velvet ribbon and they carried old fashioned nosegays of mauve, yellow and pink flowers. Mr. George Clumpston was best man. The ushers were Mr. Jack Gower and Mr. William Ramsey, of Toronto.

MAKING FRIENDS WITH THE NEWSPAPER

By Robert C. Elliott, Editor of Salt Lake City Telegram—And Copied From Kiwanis Magazine

Sooner or later you will come in contact with the press. It may be yourself, your family, your business or your club or club activities that "break into print."

As one who is active in business or civic life, you ought to know how to deal with reporters. But the fact of the matter is that a great percentage of the people who are most in need of understanding how to maintain friendly relations with newspapers are the very ones most at sea and mystified by the workings of the "Fourth Estate."

Often a reporter is told, "I hate to see my name in print. I don't want you to mention me."

That is one of the things not to say when a reporter hounds you out and asks you for information. Yet it's surprising the number of people who think it's the thing to do to plead modesty when asked for an interview. More times than not this attitude is entirely sham, and the reporter sees through the pretense. He sees more; he realizes that the person saying, "I don't like to see my name in print," probably is a rank novice in dealing with newspapermen. So the business or professional man should not utter this overworked expression.

In the first place, a man who is dealing with the public—a person who has any notion at all of assuming a place of leadership in the community—should welcome the opportunity of being quoted by the newspapers. It's nothing to avoid. Indeed it's most desirable to be of enough importance to gain mention in the daily press.

There's no excuse for a man of affairs to act like a shrinking violet when asked for a news item about himself or business. Every time your name appears in the local papers you have one more chance of extending your realm of personal influence. The more people who have heard of you the better. So face the reporter's questions without any false display of modesty. Answer his questions as you would a friend's and not as though you were submitting to the ordeal of a cross-examination on the witness stand.

Make Friends

The newspaper reporters and editors of your city may some day prove powerful allies to you. It's a good thing to know the publishers or the city editors of your local papers. In smaller cities you may know them intimately and establish close friendships with them.

If you are in a position where you can give reporters "tips" on news happenings, do so at every opportunity. Some fifteen years ago when I was a "cub" reporter there was one minister in town who made it a point to give me every item of news he could. He would let down a memorandum that so-and-so had suffered an accident, that one of his prominent parishioners had gone East on business, that a certain old lady was critically ill. I knew that he was an ever-available news source. When things were slack I could hunt him out and obtain several little stories (every news item by the way, is called a "story"). You won't wonder that, as an aspiring young reporter, I appreciated his helpful interest most thoroughly. He was my helper and in return I was his booster 100 per cent. And so the other ministers of the town not infrequently wondered why it was that this pastor received such favorable attention from the leading local journal. Why were his big sermons always reported? Why did the important events of his church get such splendid publicity? I didn't belong to his particular church. Yet he naturally was eager to return his favors; I was in close touch with him. He got help from me as a reporter because he was a valuable news source. Men in all kinds of work can establish friendly relations with reporters by turning themselves to news whenever possible. Try it. Don't wait until you want to get something published in the paper or to keep something else out.

Mistaken Ideas

Remember editors and reporters are scrambling to get as much genuine news in the paper as they can. They want legitimate, interesting news every bit as much as some people may want to have it published.

When, therefore, you have an announcement you want published, you need have no hesitancy in offering it to a reporter or city editor. If you know news of the newspaper men go directly to the city editor; you need no introduction. Simply tell him what you have in mind. If it's news he will welcome you and assign a reporter to take the facts. You may have the details already jotted down, if you wish, but it isn't necessary. In fact the novice in dealing with the press is too often prone to write the thing as he thinks it should be said and then demand, "I want this to appear just as written." This is an unreasonable request. The newspaper men are trained in a journalistic style of reporting news. The amateur has a hard time writing after the style of well-edited papers. It's the editor's job to say how the item shall appear. Furthermore don't say, "I want this headline put on it." Headlines must be written to fit the space. The outsider can't do it, even though he may sometimes think he could have done better than the headline writers. Don't insist on front page space. If the article is worth it, you'll probably get it all the same. Of course it is well for you to pay a personal visit to the editor if you are interested in seeing a certain project obtain good publicity. Your visit may serve to call to his attention more forcefully and he may devote space more liberally to it.

A Few Tips

If it falls to your lot some time to keep the papers informed of the activities of a civic, social or church organization, remember that the first requisite of good news is timeliness. After your group meets and acts report it to the papers as soon as possible. Don't wait a day or so. An editor can't use much of a story, if any, when a report of a meeting comes to him a couple of days after the session.

If you are arranging a meeting, banquet or benefit affair and want to obtain publicity about it, invite a reporter or editor to attend from each local paper, present them complimentary tickets and reserve them places.

Please, Mr. Editor, Keep This Out!

And now I come to a sore spot in earnest editors' lives.

Scarcely a day passes for an editor that someone doesn't call and beg, command, threaten or cajole him with the old old plea to "keep it out."

Prominent men who are fearful of a story's effect will employ every influence and strategy to keep certain happenings out of the paper. Others will storm into the newspaper offices in futile attempts to bully the editor into leaving out the accounts of court proceedings.

If the pressure to suppress news were confined to important stories only, this might not be such a bugbear to editors. But in a moment's excitement people get queer notions of the fancied harm to come from the printing of a certain article.

Don't be one of those who pester editors with requests to keep stories out of the paper.

The ethics of good journalism frown on the suppression of news. The conscientious editor considers it his solemn duty to publish all the news, regardless of whom it may hit.

Supposing a newspaper withheld an item of news about yourself. The chances are that your friends, business rivals and others would soon hear of the thing. You couldn't silence or intimidate the wagging tongues. Then the readers of your local papers would grumble. "That paper is spineless. I don't print news that steps on the toes of people with influence. It sells out to everyone with advertising or power." That paper would soon lose the respect of its readers. You see, when you ask an editor to withhold a story, you are asking him to endanger the confidence of the readers in his paper's fearlessness and reliability.

About 90 per cent of all requests to "keep it out" are utterly without merit and bring a prompt refusal.

Ponder well before asking a newspaper to violate its principle of publishing all the news that's fit to print. But if you should become involved in some happening where you feel a great deal is at stake, go to the editors and talk it over with them frankly. Some papers can be influenced through the pressure of an advertiser on the business manager or publisher. A great many other papers wouldn't grant the request to suppress legitimate news if their biggest advertisers threatened to remove every line of their advertising. You will find the editors reasonable, but they most likely will be adamant unless you give mighty compelling reasons or unless it wouldn't matter much to the readers whether the story was published or not.

"Shoot Straight"

Supposing you are about to close an important business deal, but you are afraid your plans will be upset if the plan is published before consummation. The reporters will soon be on your trail, no matter how quiet you may think you've kept your negotiations. They have an almost uncanny knack at times of "getting you out of things. But you are anxious to have them wait until you've completed the terms of the transaction. Then don't mislead them; don't "beat around the bush" or bully and harangue them. Shoot straight.

Under these circumstances your best bet is probably to take the reporter into your confidence. If you don't and instead evade his questions, he will very likely keep hunting until he finds other sources from which to obtain the desired information. Therefore, if you have good reasons for withholding announcement, it would pay you to confide to the newspaper reporters.

Power Stamina, Smoothness

beyond all previous McLaughlin-Buick
attainments - - -

TWENTY-SIX years of experience in the building of valve-in-head engines have come to triumphant fruition in the masterful new power plants of the 1930 McLaughlin-Buicks. Two great new Master Six engines, designed for the three new series of McLaughlin-Buicks, provide new peaks of performance that will delight and amaze even seasoned McLaughlin-Buick owners.

Ninety-nine horsepower (except in Series 40, which develops 80½ h.p.) is delivered with a complete absence of effort, a freedom from vibration and a flexibility hitherto unknown. At the wheel of this greatest of all McLaughlin-Buicks there awaits you a new sensation of easily attained speed . . . of scintillating pick-up . . . of hill-climbing ability. And with brilliant new performance goes a degree of smoothness and sturdy dependability beyond all that McLaughlin-Buick has ever attained before.

Couple with the superb abilities of these new, more powerful engines . . . a new order of Fisher Body beauty and luxury . . . a new expression of riding ease . . . such radical advancements as Controlled Servo Mechanical Four Wheel Brakes, Frictionless Steering Gear with Road Shock Eliminator, new Lovejoy Duodraulic Shock Absorbers and new Non-Glare Windshield. There, in truth, you have a combination that no other car in all McLaughlin-Buick's fine car class has ever been able to match.

Test it for yourself at the wheel of the 1930 McLaughlin-Buick. A demonstrator awaits you at our showrooms.

CRIMINAL CASES ON FALL DOCKET

Two Bancroft Boys Face Charges Before Justice Wright

CIVIL ACTIONS

Howard and Ronald Maxwell Go To Trial At Assizes

Hastings County Fall Assizes opened this afternoon at the Court House before Mr. Justice Wright, of Toronto, two criminal cases and three civil cases being on the docket. One non-jury case, that of McWain vs. Dettlor, is also listed. B. C. Donnan appearing for McWain and E. J. Butler for Dettlor.

The criminal cases were those of Rex vs. Howard Maxwell, who is charged with criminal negligence arising out of the death of Thomas Kehoe, village constable of Bancroft, who was struck by a car driven by Howard Maxwell, some two months ago. The coroner's jury brought in a verdict of accidental death, but the Attorney General's department issued instructions to prosecute Mr. Maxwell.

Ronald Maxwell, a cousin of the former mentioned Howard Maxwell, is charged with manslaughter, he having been the driver of a car which struck and killed James McAllister near Bancroft over a month ago. McAllister, it will be remembered was fixing a tire alongside the road when the Maxwell car struck him, throwing him into the ditch, and he died a short time afterwards.

Jackson vs. Boyes is a slander case, in which the complainant, Mrs. Grace Jackson, charges Mrs. Florence Boyes with defaming her name. Ponton, Pon and Graham are acting for the complainant and Porter, Payne and Arnott for the defendant.

Waldman vs. Sullivan is a case arising out of the disappearance of a shotgun said to have been loaned to Waldman by Sullivan to be repaired. It was not returned and this case is the result. Ponton, Pon and Graham for complainant and E. J. Butler for the defendant. Maracle vs. Brant is a damage suit resulting from Maracle allowing Brant to use his car, and an accident occurred. Porter, Payne and Arnott for Maracle, and Herrington, Warner and Grange for Brant.

WOMAN SERIOUSLY INJURED AND VAUDEVILLIAN IS HELD BY POLICE

Mrs. E. K. Lowell, of Boston, Lying In Belleville General Hospital

Mrs. E. K. Lowell, of Boston, Mass., is lying in the Belleville Hospital with slight leg held out for her recovery as the result of an automobile accident just west of Jones' Creek about two o'clock on Sunday morning. The injured lady, who is over sixty years of age, suffered a fractured pelvis, and according to the attending physician, Dr. J. J. Robertson is in a critical state.

Ray Goman, of Michigan City, driver of the car in which Mrs. Lowell was riding, was held by the police here but was later released and left for Montreal where he has a vaudeville engagement this week. His large Studebaker sedan was left here as security for his appearance when called, as a charge of criminal negligence will likely be laid against him. The car is quite badly damaged and is at present in a Belleville garage.

Leaving Toronto after the last performance Saturday at Loew's Theatre, where he and his troupe of vaudeville artists have been playing for the past week, Mr. Goman, accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Lowell, who acted as a maid to the Goman family, and another lady, the party reached a point just west of Jones' Creek where the driver failed to see a truck parked along the road in time to avoid it. He swung the front of his car clear, but it skidded and the rear end crashed into the back of the truck, forcing in the right door, and painfully injuring Mrs. Lowell. The Belleville Ambulance in charge of Constables Issard and Thompson made a quick run to the scene and took the injured woman to the hospital, while the driver, Mr. Goman, was held at the Police Station. The driver of the truck which had stopped to help another car out of the ditch was F. J. Smith, of Pictou.

Provincial Constable Hammer and H. T. O. Gardner investigated the accident and Mr. Goman and party continued on their way to Montreal after hiring a taxi to take them there. In the event of a fatality there is every likelihood that Mr. Goman will face a manslaughter charge here.

ATHLETICS WIN WORLD'S SERIES

"Connie" Mack Ended Series In His Home Town Today

EHMKE HURLED

Al Simmons Homers To Tie Score In 9th Innings

Philadelphia, Pa., October 14. (By Brian Bell, Associated Press Sports Writer.) Connie Mack stood today with the expectation, confident foot reaching the top step leading to baseball's most exclusive chamber reserved for the managers who have won four world's series.

To make the occasion all the more noteworthy, elaborate preparations were made to have President and Mrs. Hoover, with members of the official family, join the home-town crowd of thirty thousand, hopeful of being able to cheer the triumph of the House of Mack. The President's decision to see the fifth, and possibly the deciding game, came unexpectedly. Marking the first visit of the chief executive to Philadelphia for a world's series contest, since Woodrow Wilson saw the Red Sox defeat the Phillies in 1915.

In the fifth game of the series which has been a pitchers' battle, ground out until the fourth brought the big explosion, fearing the top away from all calculations and leaving the record book reeling, groggy and all but hopeless, anything is expected to transpire. Probable line-ups for the fifth game: CUBS—McMillan, third base; English, shortstop; Hornsby, second base; Wilson, centre-field; Cuyler, right-field; Stephenson, left-field; Grimm, first-base; Taylor, catcher; Malone, pitcher.

ATHLETICS—Bishop, second base; Iba, centre-field; Cochrane, catcher; Ehmke, left-field; Fox, first-base; Miller, right-field; Dykes, third-base; Boley, shortstop; Ehmke, pitcher.

UMPIRES—K. Klen (National) at late; Dineen, (American) first; Simre (National) second; Van Grafan, American third.

"Y" CONFERENCE HELD SATURDAY

Four Belleville Boys Attended Big Gathering At Peterboro

Mr. J. E. Shortt, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has returned to Belleville from attending the Central Ontario Y. M. C. A. Conference, held on Saturday and Sunday last. With him were Messrs. Jack Bush, Victor White, Milton Davidson and Jack Carter.

The main event on Saturday was the talk of Rev. W. Harold Young, of Toronto, at the banquet held in George Street United Church. On Sunday the address was given by L. A. Buckley, the General Conference elder.

The conference was divided into our groups namely discussions on "My Job," "My Home," both in the present and in the future, "My Time," concerning talents and abilities and "My Association." It was a very interesting conference and those who attended it will long bear its memory in mind.

England's New Dirigible Cruises Over London And District

Cardington, Eng., Oct. 14.—The Giant Dirigible R-101 the largest airship in the world, left its mooring mast at 11.19 a.m. for its first trial flight.

London, Oct. 14.—Pedestrian London stopped in its tracks this afternoon as the huge Dirigible R-101 on its first flight made its appearance over the city going at a good clip under sky at an altitude of 2,000 feet.

Cardington, Eng., Oct. 14.—England's giant new dirigible R-101, England's first airship, was launched today after her trial flight. The big airship cruised over London and other parts of southeastern England.

Fourth Innings
Cubs—Hornsbury hit to Boley and was out to FOX. English fouled out to Cochrane on the stands. Cuyler hit into right field for two bases. Stephenson walked. Cuyler scored on Grimm's single to centre. Stephenson scored on Taylor's single to centre. Grimm stopped at second. Ehmke was fouled in favor of a b.v.p. a big left hander. Ehmke was cheered as he left the field. Maloney struck out swinging.

Two runs, 3 hits, no errors.

BASEBALL WEATHER

President and Mrs. Hoover Will Witness Today's Series Game

PREMIER WILL SPEAK IN PICTON

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson Will Be Heard In Interests of Horace Collier

Premier G. Howard Ferguson will be the chief speaker at a big rally in Picton armories on Thursday afternoon, October 17, in the interests of H. S. Collier, Conservative Candidate for Prince Edward County.

The gathering in the armories is expected to be one of the largest ever held in the county and committees are busy preparing for it. The meeting will convene at 2.30. In addition to the address of the Premier, who will discuss the questions of the day, the candidate, H. S. Collier, and other well known speakers will give addresses. To all interested in the present campaign this rally will provide an opportunity to hear the situations discussed by those who know it best.

Premier Ferguson will go on to Nanawake where he is scheduled to speak in the evening at eight o'clock in the interests of the Conservative candidate C. W. Hamblin. The rally will be held in Nanawake armories.

TWEED MAN IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Thomas Miron Suffers Fractured Skull In Fall From Tree

Mr. Thomas Miron, of Tweed, was brought to the Hospital in a critical condition this morning suffering from a fractured skull.

Mr. Miron is a man fifty-five years old. On Friday he was out in his orchard picking apples. He had climbed one of the trees and in some as yet unaccountable manner, he lost his foothold from the branch on which he was standing and fell to the ground below.

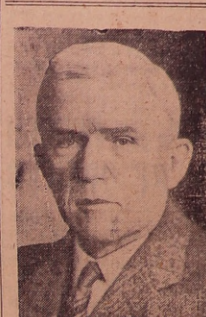

His head came in contact with the ground in such a manner that his skull was seriously fractured. He was taken into his home, which is on the outskirts of Tweed, but thought little of the accident. Later on when the jaw started to become very painful a doctor was called in. In some doubt about the case, he called in Doctor Robertson of Belleville and the man was removed to the Belleville General Hospital this morning. His condition was reported as critical this morning.

CARS COLLIDED NEAR TRENTON

A head-on collision occurred about nine o'clock last night on the Kew's highway a mile east of Trenton when a car driven by Harvey J. Stewart, of Madoc, going west, turned out to pass a car going in the same direction and crashed into another car driven by Arthur Liddle, 145 Pineapple St., Belleville, which was proceeding east. A passenger in the Liddle car, Miss Spry, of this city, was slightly injured. Both cars were badly damaged and were taken into Trenton for repairs, although neither one went in the ditch. H. T. O. Gardner investigated the accident and it is likely that a police court case will follow. As Stewart is said to have shown negligence in turning out from the line of cars in front. The accident occurred in front of the residence of James Malloy.

Athletics—Bishop hit to McMillan and was in a muddle. Cochrane fumbled but recovered to make a lightning throw. Hoss hit to McMillan and was out at first. Cochrane hit to McMillan and was out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

CATHOLIC MISSION OPENED SUNDAY

Redemptorist Fathers Spoke To Large Congregations Yesterday

For the next two weeks St. Michael's Church will conduct a mission under the supervision of the Redemptorist Fathers. Rev. Father Bartley and Rev. Father Mangan will be in charge this year. It will be remembered that a similar mission was conducted at St. Michael's Church last year in October with great success and already the attendance at the mission, which opened last night augurs well for this year's session.

The mission will be divided in two parts, the first week for the ladies and the second week for the men. The children will have their mission in the afternoon, after school sessions. Two sermons each day will be given, the first in the morning after the mass and the second in the evening at 7.30. All denominations are welcome to attend.

A splendid opening sermon was given last night, with the church filled to the doors by Rev. Father Bartley. Father Bartley is an eloquent speaker with a fine, clear voice, and a convincing manner. He spoke on "What is Our Mission in This World," and the answer "We love and serve God in all things" was forcefully conveyed to the listeners in a sermon which lasted one hour. "The human race," said the speaker, "strives after worldly honour, fame and wealth and when they finally attain these things, are they satisfied? No, and they themselves will tell you they want still more honour, still more fame and still more wealth, and the reason is that there can be no peace in the heart unless it comes from God."

Father Bartley told of a young man who approached the great German leader, Bismarck, and asked him how he could attain a successful life and fame. Bismarck, in answering the young man said: "I have strived after success and honour and after finding them in my grasp they have turned to ashes." This was the answer that those who have striven and gained worldly renown, will invariably give. They are not satisfied, their hearts are not at rest, they seek that great peace which comes to him who lives fearlessly and serves God above all things.

SerVICES, this evening, will begin at seven-thirty and the entire week will be devoted to the women.

Companions Were Hunting Near Massassaga When Accident Occurred

CARRIED HIS PAL

Charles Doyle Is Lying In Hospital In Serious Condition

What nearly proved a fatality occurred on Saturday when a bullet from a rifle in the hands of Jack Lee, sixteen-year-old son of Mr. George Lee, father of this county, struck a boulder and penetrated the thigh of fourteen-year-old Charles Doyle, son of James Doyle, Belleville carpenter, residing on Moira Street.

The two young lads are close friends and have played about with each other since early childhood. The occurrence was from all accounts, purely accidental. Early on Saturday morning the two friends left the city for Massassaga to do some hunting. They had tramped through the woods for some time when Jack Lee took a shot with his 22 calibre rifle. The shot struck a boulder and then glanced off into his left hip of young Doyle, who was just coming out of that section of the woods. The boy fell with a cry to the ground.

Young Lee was frantic with the thought that he had killed his young friend. He was alone and upon his young shoulders rested his responsibility of taking his friend to medical care and perhaps saving his life. Bearing Doyle upon his shoulders, "screaming him, half-dragging him, he tramped about his wounded comrade to a farmhouse. He knocked upon the door but there was no answer.

Carried Him Over a Mile
He carried his friend along the roadway until he met the traffic. He hailed four or five cars for a lift for a short stretch of road, but they all passed him by. Finally, however, a motorist offered a lift and the youth was brought to the hospital where he was immediately put under medical care, about four hours after the shooting.

For several hours after their arrival in Belleville, the young lads gave a coherent account of the accident. Young Doyle stoutly maintained that his companion was not to blame. The Provincial Police investigated and reached the conclusion that it was purely accidental.

Dr. Faulkner and Porter operated on the lad to remove the bullet late Saturday afternoon. There was a great deal of internal hemorrhaging which they stopped. Dr. Faulkner stated that the shot had entered the left hip and penetrated through the body lodging in the right side of the abdomen.

The Intelligencer was told that the boy was resting easier today, although his condition is still serious.

GROWTH OF THE AIR MAIL

The post office department reports a gratifying increase in air mail services and a growing appreciation on the part of the public of the advantages offered. It would indeed be strange if such appreciation were lacking. The speed of delivery, the cheapness of the service and its convenience should ensure a continually increasing patronage by the Canadian people. The department has been commendably progressive in providing new routes and extending existing ones. It is reported that the number of trip per month now amounts to 300, compared with only three less than two years ago. It takes time for the public to realize the advantages offered by this efficient modern system but in this matter of mail delivery, it may be said that Canadians are becoming air-minded. There are many occasions when the service would meet some particular emergency that is a pity that citizens should not inform themselves of the facilities offered. It is a subject in which all should take a keen interest, for the service is for the benefit of every class in the community—business, industry and the private correspondent. As the air routes are extended, between the large cities and into the less populated districts, new opportunities are offered the public, of which it should be prompt to take advantage.

PERMANENT BUILDINGS

Rustless iron and steel will be used in the construction of the 78-story Chrysler Building in New York City and the use of this material for the first time may mark a new era in the permanence of buildings. It does not oxidize because of the introduction of a certain percentage of chromium or nickel, or both, into the metal. We have become familiar with it in our homes under the name of "stainless steel," but a larger and practically unlimited use for it may be found in the building trades. An otherwise well-constructed building, by the use of this alloy, may be made to last indefinitely; for the steady process of corrosion which goes on in the case of ordinary iron, and which makes repairs and replacements necessary on a rising scale, will be avoided. In a large sense, iron does not wear out; it merely disintegrates because of rust. This slow wasting away of substance and vitality may be avoided in some degree by encasing the metal in cement, and so on; but no means, until quite recently, had been found for preventing the more or less constant deterioration of iron and steel when exposed to the action of air and moisture.

Canada is vitally interested in this new method, because she holds a very high percentage of the world's store of nickel. To say that a non-corrosive metal has been found, and which can be used at slightly increased cost as compared with ordinary iron and steel, is to open up a wide field for speculation; for it is not only the main fabric that may be built of the new alloy, since it lends itself to a high polish, window frames, casements, doors, trimmings, fittings and decorations may be made of it. In a peculiar sense it is suggested for water pipes, and so on, which are rapidly destroyed by the chlorination employed in nearly all large supply systems.

Householders, who are in constant dread of a leakage in the plumbing will be interested. It seems but yesterday since the use of steel in construction was begun, and this recent discovery of the research laboratory accentuates the progress being made toward the relative indestructibility of buildings. Truly we live in an age of wonders, although the younger generation is fust to be amazed.

If more enduring material can be put into buildings, leading to economy in maintenance, there will be an obvious tendency to multiply the skyscraper type. In all such buildings the mass of metal is enormous, and there has been much speculation among engineers and chemists as to their tenure of life, on an economic footing. The use of rustless iron will solve some of the problems arising out of the associated questions of safety and durability. For that reason, as has been observed, the use of this relatively new structural material is likely to become more or less general.

JOHN ST. CHURCH
S RE-OPENED

John Street United Church celebrated an important epoch in its history yesterday, when the sanctuary was re-dedicated after having been closed for its past several months while improvements were being made. The congregation noted a great change in the appearance of the auditorium in the morning when special services marked the occasion. A splendid choir, created at the rear of the pulpit, a decided improvement, and lends great depth to the service.

The new Memorial organ, given by Mr. R. J. Graham and family, is being manufactured in Quebec and will be officially installed near the Christmas season. The organ will be a lasting memorial to the late Mrs. Graham who was an ardent worker on behalf of John Street Church. Rev. Robert Hall, pastor of the church in his few remarks paid sterling tribute to the work of the Building Committee of the church whose endeavours made possible the addition which includes an up-to-date Sunday School parlor. The service was featured yesterday morning by two special numbers: one from J. Arnold Thomson and the other from John Dracoon who is spending a short time here before proceeding to New York. The special speaker for the occasion was Dr. C. W. Gordon of Winnipeg, known to the world of literature as "Ralph Connor." He spoke chiefly on "The Ideal Church, which," he said, "always has something to offer strangers while its doors are always open." By way of contrast Dr. Gordon pictured the self-centred, poverty-stricken Church which has nothing to offer the sinner. "There should be a poignant feeling in everyone's heart that sin is a devilish thing and we must do our utmost to assist those humans who are downtrodden and almost helpless," he said. Religion should be the supreme interest of a nation, according to this noted author, and one should not hesitate to further the interests of Religion wherever possible. "We must give time, energy and brains to its interests," he declared.

Evening Service
 Dr. C. W. Gordon preached to a capacity audience in the Church in the evening, taking as his subject the story from the 19th Chapter of Luke, the story of Zachaeus, the tax collector, and illustrating through the manner in which he was saved, that any man, no matter how low he has become, can be rehabilitated by the love of the Saviour.

The minister then compared the life of Zachaeus with that of those people today who have lost touch with God and the Church, pointing out that the tax gatherer was an exile from his own people owing to the fact that he was accepting the pay of tyrants and forcing money to taxes from them which they were not able to pay. The course spread to his wife and family, and in much the same manner today his family suffers for the sins of the father. Any shame which comes to him spreads itself to those near and dear to him, and for that reason alone, according to the speaker, each man should wash his sins as he is leading him.

"There is a thousand ways of going to hell, but there is only one way to be saved, and that is through Jesus Christ. Zachaeus found that money was not the only thing to make him happy both for himself and for those around him, finding that money could not buy him the respect of others, nor even his wife's love. After he found this out, the business of saving him was started. God is willing to take them back with their sins and so the tax gatherer, seeing his mistake, gave half his money to the poor and returned the other half to those whom he had cheated. He then gave himself up entirely to Jesus Christ, and found peace and happiness in so doing. The pitiful, chivalrous love of Christ was what made the tax gatherer renounce his sins, and He can do the same for any one of us," said Dr. Gordon.

AUTUMN'S TANG AWAITS YOU OUT-OF-DOORS

Why not get back in tune with Nature once more?
 Just now lowland and stream, highland and forest are changing their garb. Mother Earth is presenting one of her prettiest shows for those who care to immerse themselves in her magic brush and paint the world in new hues.

What better than to forsake the city for a hunting trip to the spots where Nature is changing her stage in keeping with the seasons? The thrill of the chase may be primary or secondary in importance. The tang of Autumn air is present whatever your purpose out-of-doors. One deep breath of it before a fragrant camp breakfast and you feel like a new man.

Get away into the northern woods in your familiar breeks and jacket and enjoy the work of a Master Artist. The reds and browns and russets and yellows you never saw on any canvas painted. You will rediscover the appetite you thought was gone. You will find a new zest in play. Oil up the old gun and look up your out-door clothes. The Canadian National Railways will do the rest. Convenient trains leave daily and make stops at the hunting lodges. They will take you to the heart of the Fall festival in a short time. Any agent will give you full particulars. 014 & 21

PILES GO QUICK

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it believes this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile Sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. J. S. McKeown and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.

KNIFE OR ELECTRICITY FOR TONSILS

As a student I remember waiting for a considerable time for an operation to be performed on a patient.

This doctor giving a general anesthetic was administering ether, which at that time was usually the choice of the operator, instead of chloroform. As the minutes passed away, and the patient was still in a wakeful state, the professor turned to the class and said:

"Gentlemen, this is the reason some surgeons prefer chloroform." Chloroform was quicker in its effects but ether was safer.

For this same reason if you are informed that your tonsils should be removed, look around to find if there is any other method than the knife by which the tonsils could be removed. They are afraid of the knife.

Now before tonsils should be removed it should be pretty well proven that they are causing the existing symptoms. The nose, sinuses and particularly the teeth should be above suspicion before the tonsils should be condemned.

The tonsils, up to the age of fifteen anyway, should not be removed unless absolutely necessary.

They help in taking care of poisons in the blood, kill off harmful organisms and help in swallowing food. If, however, they have become not only useless as a blood filter, but actually a source of poison to the system in themselves, they should be removed.

Now what about the method other than the knife?

It is called electrocauterization. There is practically no bleeding, no danger from infection, or from an anesthetic all of which are reassuring to parents.

However, it means a number of trips perhaps half a dozen, to the surgeon, as only a portion is done at one time. This may present difficulties with some youngsters, as they look forward to the next visit to the specialist. Further, if the tonsils are in very bad condition, if the results from electrocauterization are not satisfactory, the surgeon who has finally to use the knife has a much more difficult job than if this method had not been used.

Your best plan is to follow the advice of your family doctor who knows you, your youngster, and the condition of the youngster's tonsils.

The Tweed Milling Company, of Tweed, have opened a branch mill opposite Belleville Canning Company in the Judge Jones stand, and are carrying a full line of feeds as well as doing custom grinding. Terms cash, but prices right.

CAMPBELL OPENS

The Y's Mens Club weekly luncheon tonight will be held in conjunction with the banquet given to start the Y. M. C. A. Financial Drive on its way. It is understood that Mr. John Deacon will be present to sing, and a fine programme will be enjoyed. Those taking part in the financial campaign are requested to be present at six thirty o'clock.

NATIONAL PHARMACY WEEK

Local druggists are participating in National Pharmacy Week which commences today and will be featured by all drug stores in America this week. In co-operation with the Ontario Retail Druggists Association, the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, and the National Druggists Association, window displays have been arranged in all drug stores, the chief aim being to educate the people to the fact that "Your Druggist is More Than a Merchant." Many of the displays include equipment used many years ago, such as an old model mortar and pestle, pill-making apparatus, drug-making machines, etc., all of which indicate that the druggist is truly "more than a merchant," and by his knowledge and skill plays a big part in maintaining health in the community.

DEATH NOTICE

CONNOLLY—Died in Belleville, on Sunday, October 13th, 1929, James Connolly in his seventy-seventh year. The funeral will take place from his late residence, 70 Dundas Street East, tomorrow, Tuesday, October 15th, 1929, at 9:30 a.m. Mass at St. Michael's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment in St. James Cemetery.

NEW ENGLAND SUPPER

Bridge Street Church held their annual New England Supper Friday evening in the Sunday School rooms. Through the years, under the auspices of the Mission Circle this event has been very successful. Rev. Dr. Bell acted as the chairman and presided over the efficiency in this capacity. There was a fine musical programme. Solos were given by Bert Houston, Eva Colough, Lorna Ridley and William Colough. Readings were given by Helen Ackerman and Helen Sullivan. Mrs. Houston and Miss Handley rendered a piano duet.

RESUME CLASSES

The Sunday School classes have been resumed at the Ontario School for the Deaf. All the teachers take part in the classes, the classes being held every Sunday morning at nine o'clock. This gives the boys and girls a chance to attend the morning session in the churches of the city.

FINISH TOMATO PACK

Belleville Canners finished the season's pack of tomatoes last Thursday with 37,000 cases. Owing to the unfavourable season the pack was considerably reduced as 50,000 cases was the estimate. Manager McDonald reports the tomatoes to be of good quality as the early frosts were not so severe here as in other parts, especially Prince Edward, and the factory is still running on corn and pumpkin. The Shannon Canners, reports a pack of 17,000 cases of tomatoes.

HEN-COOP ROBBER

Miss Annie Guthrie, 21 Murney St., reported to the City Police yesterday that some time during Saturday night chicken thieves entered a hen coop at the rear of her home and stole twenty-one chickens. Nine heads were found outside the coop and the rest had been taken away alive, according to her story. Sergeant Traulisch and Constable Evans investigated, but so far as could be ascertained, only three hens were missing.

KIDDIES ENJOYED SHOW

The Belle Theatre management entertained at their show on Saturday, the youngsters of the Children's Aid Society under the supervision of Miss Harris, the matron of the shelter. They were delighted with the circus picture "Four Devils." The Metropolitan Store manager sent over a large quantity of candies which they enjoyed, during the show. The generosity of Mr. Forhan was appreciated by Inspector T. D. Ruxton, Matron, Miss Harris and the kiddies.

JUNIOR MOOSE MEET

Tonight there will be a meeting of the Junior Moose Lodge for the purpose of arranging the new committee. All members of the lodge are expected to be present tonight.

NEW BUS IN SERVICE

Teachers at the Ontario School for the Deaf are greatly pleased with the new omnibus which has been placed in service between this city and the school. The conveyance will hold eighteen persons quite comfortably. The old bus has long outlived its usefulness and there were few regrets when the antiquated vehicle was consigned to other services.

OPENED SEASON

Chancellor of Queen's University, officially opened the rugby season in Kingston on Saturday afternoon when Queen's and Varsity met in their first game, by making the kick-off. Mr. Richardson became the possessor of the ball as a memento and the teams proceeded to play with a new pipkin. Mr. Richardson is an uncle of Mr. Allan Sprague of this city.

MOOSE DANCE

The first of the week-end dances was held in the Moose Hall on Saturday night.

The dancing commenced at nine o'clock with a fair crowd in attendance. After the shows, however, there was a veritable flock of lovers of the dance, stepping the light fantastic on the floor. The Bon Ton Orchestra played for the occasion. These musicians will play every Saturday night. They have been dubbed "Mad Musicians" and they are aptly called since their symphony is one of the very best. Dancing came to a close at the midnight hour. Stanley Gorman was master of ceremonies.

FOXBORO ANNIVERSARY

Foxboro United Church held their annual anniversary service on Sunday. The services were held in both the morning and in the evening. Large crowds attended.

TO ENTERTAIN TEAM

The Belleville Nationals, baseball champions of Ontario in 1928 and champions of the Central Ontario League this year will be entertained at the Belle Theatre tonight by the manager of the theatre, Mr. George A. Forhan. Mr. Forhan has been very generous in this respect. He has freely entertained at different times. Tonight the members of the ball team will have the pleasure of witnessing the great circus picture, "The Four Devils." The Executive of the Ball Club are highly indebted to Mr. Forhan for his generosity.

SHOOTING COMPETITION

The officers and sergeants of the Argyle Light Infantry are competing this evening at the miniature range in the armories for the Studhope Cup. The best shots in the entire regiment will be selected for this competition, which should be very keen.

ANNUAL VISIT TO STIRLING

There will be a meeting of the Key-stone Chapter Royal Arch Masons at Stirling tonight. This is the occasion of the official visit of Mr. W. H. Nugent, the Grand Superintendent for Prince Edward County of the Royal Arch Masons. On account of ill-health Mr. Nugent will be unable to attend so he has requested Mr. H. J. Clarke, Past Principal, to attend the function in his place. Mr. W. T. Nugent, son of Mr. Nugent, will accompany Mr. Clarke on the occasion of the official visit to Stirling.

HOME IS SOLD

Mr. George Wallbridge, cattle dealer has purchased the old Taylor home on Albert Street. Mr. Wallbridge plans to take immediate possession of the house which is a large one and has extensive gardens. Since the demise of Mr. Henry Taylor, the house has scarcely been occupied. The only daughter of the late Mr. Taylor, who is now married and living in Toronto, recently sold the house to Mr. Wallbridge.

AGED LADY HURT

Mrs. John Hoste, 190 Foster Avenue, an aged lady of eighty-nine, suffered a severe shock on Saturday, when she fell to the ground while walking in the yard at her home. In the fall she suffered a sprained knee. Dr. Tennant was called to the house, where medical attention was given. Mrs. Hoste is recovering from the shock of her accident.

JAMES CONNOLLY
Mr. James Connolly, aged and respected resident of this city died yesterday at his home, 70 Dundas Street. At the time of his death the deceased was seventy-six years of age. The late Mr. Connolly was born in Ireland on March 1st, 1853. He had lived in Ontario for the last forty-five years, coming direct to Belleville where he resided ever since. The deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Connolly. He was a member of St. Michael's Church. He leaves to mourn his loss, his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Julia Ethier, of Deloro; Mrs. A. Luscombe, Belleville; three sons, W. J. Connolly, of Alberta; M. J. Connolly, of Detroit; and J. P. Connolly of Chicago. One sister also survives, Mrs. S. Bird, of Toronto.

can Church. The church was prettily decorated with Autumn flowers and leaves. While the guests assembled, a string trio played, and during the ceremony Mr. E. Wheatley played the organ over the week end.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a French gown of Antique Pannu Velvet and her flowing hair of very old Rose point and duchess lace. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and baby's breath.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. S. E. Carman, who was matron of honour. She wore a stunning frock of old gold velvet and a tricorn hat to match, also four bridesmaids, Mrs. Harrison Williams, Mrs. Jack Fisher, of Belleville, and Miss Helen Springer and Mrs. Mary Haverson, leader, of Toronto. They were gown-dressed alike in Russet velvet and wore tricorn hats to match, and carried bouquets of Chrysanthemums.

Capt. Murray Milne, Toronto, was best man and the ushers were Mr. Cecil J. G. Wright, Mr. John Aldridge and Mr. W. Reddick, of Toronto, and Doctor Jack Marshall, of Belleville.

A reception was held at "Holmeswood," the residence of the bride's parents, which was decorated with Autumn flowers, at the entrance to the drawing room Mr. and Mrs. Lazier received with the bride party. Mrs. Lazier was becomingly gowned in a frock of jungle green velvet trimmed with thread lace with hat and shoes to match.

Mr. and Mrs. McCaughy left on a trip to Quebec City and the Adirondacks. The bride's going away costume was a smart brown, laced ensemble with an egg shell satin blouse, her hat and shoes matching.

On their return they will reside in Toronto.

DAHLIA AND BLUE PURPLE LEADING

The growing attention paid to color in all sections of the fashion and allied trades is manifested in the color chart which has just been formulated by Harrods, Limited, the Knightsbridge department store, the first of its kind to be presented by any retail concern on this side. The chart, which has been reproduced in the leading daily papers here, gives a list of colours which the store anticipates will lead during the autumn. It has been reproduced after several months' research work on the part of the store's buyers and stylists in leading Continental resorts, and after consultation with the leading fabric manufacturers in England and France. In conjunction with its publication, the store is staging a special window display of fabrics in the new colours listed in the chart, and is holding mannequin parades showing the shades in the made-up garments.

The chart is divided into seven groups, including green, rose, quartz, purples, blues, vines shades of Devon and browns. The greens are subdivided into water greens, pale clear shades, fern greens, tinged with yellow, and forest greens, deeper and full-toned. Row quartz, which the store lists as one of the important colour developments of the autumn, is shown in three different tones, rose illusion, misty rose and fruit stain, all of which contain a hint of mauve. They are listed as good for evening or formal toilettes and are recommended for the blonde and the white-haired woman. Under the purple group are Paton's cabillas, and a blue-purple named clematis. There are 12 shades of blue, ranging from mist, a soft pastel, to navy and crew, the latter almost black.

Under wines come claret, burgundy and Bordeaux, full, rich, deep reds. Shades of Devon include four tones of reddish browns listed as warm beige, Devon clay, pottery and torybay. In the last group, under browns, are clear beige, nutria and African brown.

SOME HELPFUL HINTS FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

Since lettuce, romaine or some other green must serve very often for salad in the winter, more thought should be given to dressing. The cook with imagination will try out everything in the way of flavours, added to regulation French dressing. Onion, salt, Worcester sauce, catsup and chili sauce are only a few of the things that can be used.

A thoughtful woman who had much sickness in her home, used to clip out jokes, pretty pictures, beautiful thoughts and wise sayings from magazines, newspapers and copy them from books. Each day the sick-room tray had one of these alongside of the single flower it always carried. She made a practice of leaving the patient alone with the tray. She found a sick person complains less and eats more when alone.

With rain, snow and other disagreeable weather, the glass curtains are hard put to it to stay fresh. Patent clothings painted the colour of the room decoration, make admirable clips to hold curtains back when the windows are opened nights.

"STARVED HEARTS"

BY Mildred Barbour

XII RENUNCIATION

Barton arrived at Ann's just before dinner.

There was a frown on his handsome face and an anxious look in his eyes. He took Madelon into his arms and held her close. Despite Ann's presence, he kissed her.

"When the lawyer would have left them alone, he called her back. 'Don't go! I've a lot to tell Madelon, and I'd rather you heard it too. We need your wise counsel!'

Madelon clung to him, frightened.

"Has something happened?" He told us quickly.

"Nothing that we can't fight," he reassured her. "But it will take courage on your part, sweetheart. Are you willing to go out and marry me tonight and take a chance on the future?"

"I'm not afraid—ever! I'm with you," she declared proudly. "But why must it be tonight?"

"Because—before tomorrow morning, I must have an answer to the biggest problem that has ever confronted me. Our marriage will be my answer, if you will give me permission."

Ann broke in quietly: "Suppose you tell us all about it from the beginning, and we will help you decide."

"I have already decided," he said quickly. "An alternative is unthinkable. I need only Madelon's consent. Here is what happened this afternoon. After I telephoned you," he turned to Madelon. "You remember I told you about a sudden and unexpected conference? Well, the future that I have worked for all these years with my particular firm came to pass—I was offered the junior partnership. But it had a string to it. I was to sail day after tomorrow to take charge of our London office. And for the period of my sojourn abroad, I was to remain unmarried."

A little cry escaped Madelon and Ann murmured:

"The fine hand of Stephen! How quickly he works!"

"Exactly," agreed Barton. "He holds my firm in his iron fist and he chose to squeeze ever so slightly. This offer was the result. Offer is not exactly the word—ultimatum, rather. For I was told to take it or leave it. There would be no compromise."

Ann leaned forward tensely.

"You mean?"

"Either I accept or I get out. Of course, I'll get out!"

"Oh, no, no!" the poignancy of Madelon's cry startled them both. "I won't let you do it! I won't! Why, it means your whole future career."

Yvette talked to me so often about the day when you'd be a member of the firm. You've worked so hard to that end. I won't spoil your life! I couldn't ruin your career like that! I love you too much."

Quietly he drew her close, laid his lips against her soft hair.

"Do you think I'd measure my career against my love for you. I want you for my wife. What else matters? She was sobbing against his shoulder.

"No, no, no! I can't I won't let you!" Above the bright head, his eyes sought Ann's.

"If I can—will you come with us to a minister's?"

Ann rose abruptly and walked away to the window. For a long minute or two she stood staring out into the winter darkness, her brow puckered in thought.

Then she came back to the fire and drew her chair to face the two young people on the couch.

"Children," she said, "You're going to hate me for this and I can't blame you for it. But I wouldn't be your good friend if I didn't talk to you seriously about the step you contemplate taking. You're young and deeply in love, and nothing else seems to matter. But have you thought of the future?"

I need not remind him that both such avenues will be closed to him as far as the power of Stephen Lane extends, and you, Julian, crush every new effort before it is begun. You are in a trap from which there is no escape. Madelon, of course, will have nothing. Stephen's first act will be to disinheritor her. And she has been delicately raised, Julian. She has had every luxury. She glories in her social position. But will she in the long, lean years to come?"

"Yes, oh yes," tearfully from Madelon, her head buried in Barton's shoulder.

Have you thought of what responsibilities marriage incurs? Where is the means to come from to carry you on? If you marry, Julian will be adrift. He will have either to start out for himself, which is a long hard road even for such a clever attorney as he, or he will have to attach himself to some other firm.

I need not remind him that both such avenues will be closed to him as far as the power of Stephen Lane extends, and you, Julian, crush every new effort before it is begun. You are in a trap from which there is no escape. Madelon, of course, will have nothing. Stephen's first act will be to disinheritor her. And she has been delicately raised, Julian. She has had every luxury. She glories in her social position. But will she in the long, lean years to come?"

"Yes, oh yes," tearfully from Madelon, her head buried in Barton's shoulder.

Ann smiled sadly. Her eyes were searching Barton's face. His mouth was set determinedly, but the misery in his eyes told her that her words were going home. Her heart ached for them both.

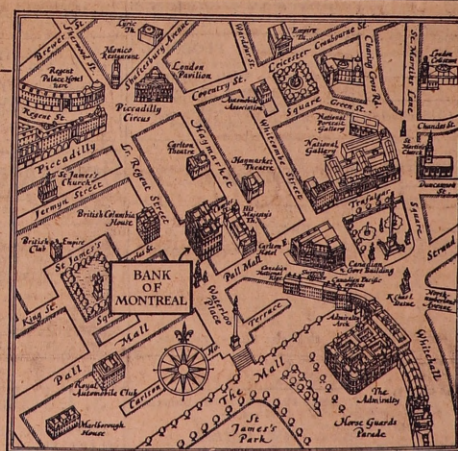

"There is one thing more, Julian. You are not alone in the world. Yet have a mother and sister in the West, dependent upon you— isn't that so?"

"Have you a moral right to jeopardize their future?"

Silence.

"Oh my dear!" Ann cried despairingly. "My heart aches for you. But I would be less than your friend if I didn't look into the future for you, when you, blinded by your love, are incapable of vision. You are trapped you are captives to a cruel and inexorable will. What are you going to do?"

WANTED—ROOM AND BOARD IN comfortable home by lady and gentleman with one child. Apply Box Y, Intelligencer. 011-31d

Our girls' basketball team will get away to a start next Friday when they will meet the Napanee girls in Napanee, the first game scheduled in the league.

Mr. Youdale, who is coaching the girls this year is finding it a hard job to pick two teams, not because there is lack of material, but because there are so many good players. There will be a junior and senior team each carrying three subs. Our girls are taking great interest in the game this year and we hope to win both trophies.

We were fortunate last week in having with us "Ralph Connor", great Canadian author, who gave a splendid address on Thursday night at the first literary meeting to be held this year. Our large auditorium was filled to capacity for the occasion.

Philadelphians, October 13—The bubbling world series hopes of the Cubs were scattered all over Shilby Park Saturday by a combination of lightning, cyclone and tidal waves in the vivid inning of baseball championship history. When they had picked themselves up some time later, dazed and reeling, the Cubs found five Athletics had broken all records by scoring ten runs on ten hits in the seventh inning off four pitchers, coming from behind to win the fourth game by a count of 10 to 8 and take a lead of 3 games to 1 in the world series conflict.

Going into the seventh inning light runs behind their veteran spitballer, old Jack Quinn, a knockout victim of Cub clouters, and their net efforts showing a grand total of three hits off the fast balls of Charley Root, there didn't appear to be more than the pale ghost of a chance for the Athletics to win and prevent the Cubs from making it two straight, tying the series. If ever a club looked beaten, it was the A's yet with a savagery that has never before been duplicated in the annals of the world series, they leaped upon Root, drove him from the box, knocked out his two successors, Art Nehf and Sheriff Blake in short order, and were stopped by Pat Malone only after 15 men had gone to bat.

A home run by Al Simmons to the left of the field was the first bolt of lightning that hit Root. Another home run in the midst of the storm off Nehf by George Haas, on an easy fly ball to centre that Hack Wilson lost in the bin, was the semi-climax, running the total of runs up to seven. A rousing double to left by Jimmy Dykes on a drive that Riggs Stephenson got his hands on but could not handle was the grand climax, scoring Al Simmons and Jimmy Fox with the ninth and tenth runs that furnished the decided margin.

This astonishing counter-barrage, this avalanche of destructive hitting by the champions of the American League, sent the home town crowd of 30,000 into an hysterical frenzy and eclipsed a run scoring record that has stood for eight years.

The former record of eight runs and eight runs for a single inning of world series play was made by the New York Giants in 1921 when the seventh inning also was the happy moment a nd the Yankees the victims the final score being 13 to 5.

Nothing, however, in series history, for a pure unadulterated exhibition of slugging has ever matched the drama of Saturday's "lucky seventh" for the home team.

To make it a perfect ending for the home forces Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, for the second game in the series, came to the rescue with his blazing southpaw speed to hold the Cubs completely at bay in the eighth and ninth innings. Grove not only held the A's winning margin, but he fanned four Bruins in a row.

This made a total of eight Cub strike out victims for the fourth game, a grand total of 44 for the series, and equalled the record which the Giants made in the series of 1911 against such famous old pitching stars of the A's as Chief Bender, Eddie Plank and Jack Coombs. The Cubs can claim greater distinction, however, if any be attached to this performance, for they have reached the total in four games, whereas it took the Giants six. There seems no way to prevent the Cubs from breaking the record as a matter of fact.

The fifth game is scheduled here today. The A's can clinch the championship and make it a world's record of four titles for Connie Mack with just one more victory.

The Cubs' must take three straight to win the series. They need not give up hope entirely, even if the chances are now exceedingly slim. The Pirates turned the trick in 1925 after losing three of the first four games to Washington. The Boston Red Sox of 1903 closed with four straight victories to win after also losing three of the first four to Pittsburgh.

It was a home run drive by Jimmy Fox in the seventh inning of the first game that marked the first score off Root and started the A's toward victory. Today it was another home run by the other soaking twin, Harry Simmons, that opened the seventh and started the downfall of the Cubs.

VOTER'S LIST NOTICE is hereby given that on the 12th day of October, 1929, I posted up in my office, in the City Hall, a list of the names of all persons appearing by the last revised Assessment Rolls of the Municipality to be entitled to be voters at Municipal Elections, and said lists will remain open for inspection for Twenty-one days from date of this notice.

Persons who are aware of errors in the said lists or of changes which have been rendered necessary by reason of the death or removal of any person named therein or by reason of any person having acquired the necessary qualifications of a voter since the return or final revision of the Assessment Rolls, are hereby called upon to give notice of the same.

All citizens who have purchased property or become residents of the city or have changed their place of residence in the city since the 1st of January, 1929, should examine the Voters' Lists to see that their names are placed therein.

Lists can be found for inspection at the Post Office, Public Library, all Public Schools, High Schools, Separate Schools and City Clerk's and Treasurer's Offices.

The time for making complaints as to errors or omissions in the List shall be Twenty-one days from the date of this notice.

Dated at Belleville the 14th day of October, 1929.

J. Wilfred Holmes, City Clerk.

SPECIAL NOTICE The registration of voters for the forthcoming Provincial Election does not entitle being added to the 1929 List for Municipal purposes.

Collegiate Chatter

(By J. M. C.)
There is great activity in sporting circles just now at the Collegiate, with he rugby well under way and the basketball schedule beginning next Friday.

Our rugby team is practicing faithfully and although they have lost the two games already played they will likely improve with practice and hope to take the next game. Mr. Shields is a splendid coach and is helping the boys considerably.

A REAL DANGER

Now that the election time in the Province is drawing rapidly near there is only grave danger which must be drawn to the attention of every voter. To the mind of the average reader, comfortably situated as he is in the country appears to be in excellent condition. Business is good, factories are humming, shops are thronged, the roads are better than ever, fine new houses are springing up everywhere—in short, prosperity seems to be the prevailing note in the province. It is logical to say, then, that the Ferguson Government is doing its work fairly well—either that or (a very common fallacy) conditions are so good that the country would prosper regardless of which party was in power. It is the latter attitude of mind which is so wrong and so harmful to the people's best interests for is an attitude of mind conducive to apathy. Undoubtedly, wise administration on the part of the Government is responsible for the fact that the Province finds itself in its present fortunate condition.

We think it regrettable that the general public is not in a position to realize the tremendous effort which the Prime Minister and his Cabinet have put, and are putting daily, into their job of running the Province efficiently. The man in the street sees only the smooth functioning of the machine at Queen's Park. He has the idea that this smooth-running machine of government functions automatically. The fact that men of integrity, ability and sound common sense are behind every motion of the machine is, perhaps never brought home to the average voter and might be realized only when the guiding minds have been withdrawn and the machine begins to fail.

This is the pressing danger that the voter may not realize in time how much he owes to the party which has been in power during recent years that in his indifference, his comfortable feeling that all is well in the best of all possible worlds, he may neglect what is in reality a vital need and duty of every elector—namely, to exercise his vote.

It is a curious phenomenon of our present day society, this apathy towards the right and privilege of having a voice in the government of one's country. Things were not always so in other ages of the world's history. How, fiercely in times past have men fought for this very privilege, now it seems to us held lightly, and indeed so often neglected for trivial reasons of personal convenience. In Athens it was a man's highest duty to take an intelligent interest in the state. An Athenian was first of all a citizen, and afterwards an individual. Today there are too few citizens in the highest meaning of the word; there are too many individuals, selfish folk, unconcerned of others and unmindful of the body politic. An election, this election or any other, is a matter which so vitally touches the well-being of every voter—it may affect his comfort, his pocket, even his table—that it is queer that members of the electorate should still remain deaf to every appeal of the press to record a vote. It ought to be self-evident to our people that, in their own interests, if for no more altruistic reason, there is pressing necessity for them to elect this party which can give the Province those tangible benefits of government to which it is entitled.

We, therefore, urge on our readers once again the need of getting out and voting. Do not depend on others to perform this duty in your stead. Do not take it for granted that the Conservative Government will be elected, simply because you feel it ought to be. Make certain of it. Go and vote.

PASSING YEARS

From The Intelligencer Of This Day 30 Years Ago

Mr. Galbraith Jr., of Bowmanville is the guest of Mr. E. G. Sills.

Mrs. F. Davey Diamond will be "at home" to her friends at 246 Foster Ave., on the afternoon and evening of October 23 and 24th.

Mr. R. Tanshill Jr., of the Bank of Montreal, has returned from Musoka greatly improved in health. He will not return to his duties for some weeks.

Mr. H. K. Smith, game warden, was a visitor in Tweed today.

Mrs. Ritchie, Lander and Gillen of this city, are hunting partridge in Lancashire vicinly.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

"Dope your wife play bridge for money?"

"No, but her opponents do."

Johnny came back from the circus much excited. "Oh, mama!" he exclaimed. "Katie spilled some peanuts on the ground, and what do you think happened? The elephant picked them up with his vacuum cleaner."

There is not now the recklessness about weapons in Dublin that was common in more troubled days, when a friend of mine expostulated with a mail boy he met with his arms full of jam-pots.

"Don't you know it's wrong to go setting like that? Where did you steal jam?" he asked.

"Ah, away now," said the small boy. "That's not jam. Them's bombs." And they were.

YOUTH

The youngsters do not seem to mind their parents any more.

They seem precisely like the kind of children who were inclined to who live an age before.

In what year did it begin that parents found no fault at all, in just what century was it, pray, when children pleased their critics gray?

I've read the books and searched the tomes

And cannot seem to find, in all the library catcombs

A record of the pleasant homes Where children used to mind.

The older ages seemed to think The world was on disaster's brink Because the youthful element Showed plainly it was pleasure bent.

I've tried to find that hopeful age When children were so state

And youth was so much as the sage, But there exists no printed page Which gives the place or date; Always it seems the youngsters mocked At wisdom and their parents shocked And never since this race began Have youngsters pleased a sour man.

DUNDAS STREET PAVING JOB IS FULLY APPROVED

City Council Had Quiet Session Last Night—Little of Interest

City Council conducted a quiet, routine session last night and nothing of unusual interest transpired. The members of the city fire department will immediately start physical drill under the direction of Y.M.C.A. instructors.

The report of the City Engineer on the Dundas Street Paving job was received by the council and Mr. Mott stated that satisfactory work was done by the Godson Construction Company. Acting Fire Chief Lynch will have his salary increased while he is acting in the present capacity. The Canadian Legion were given permission to hold their annual Poppy Day on November 9th.

The offer of the Y.M.C.A. for physical drill for firemen was accepted on pro rata basis for balance of 1929.

Mr. Golden, Acting Manager of the Waterworks Dept., has been authorized to do necessary work at the hospital and purchase such materials as necessary, same to be charged to Hospital Board.

The Acting Fire Chief will notify the members of the Fire Dept. who have not passed a medical examination satisfactorily that their services will not be required after Nov. 15th, 1929.

The City Engineer has been instructed to paint on No. 2 Fire Hall, large "No parking" signs, under instruction of Acting Fire Chief.

Acting Fire Chief Lynch will be paid an additional salary of fifteen dollars per month while acting in his present capacity.

The Mayor and Clerk have been authorized to sign agreement between the city of Belleville and Ernest J. Bennett and Paul N. Bennett regarding sewer on Sinclair St.

The police commission have been requested to have the police department resume the practice of having both ward number sounded and a general alarm rung whenever a fire call is given to the Fire Department.

The committee appointed to investigate a building on Charlotte Street reported as follows—

That we have inspected the garage recently erected on Lot 4, situated on the south side of Burt Street by Mrs. C. W. Bates and beg to report that the owner has complied with all regulations of the building by-law and by erecting the building on this property has in no way lessened the value of the adjoining property or placed any inconvenience on other residents of the street.

This report and investigation was made following a complaint submitted by Mr. J. G. Galloway to the Council some time ago.

The Hydro Power Commission acknowledged receipt of a letter requesting the Commission to operate and manage the local Hydro System until a Board is appointed.

Chas. A. Mott, City Engineer, in a report that an inspection was made of the property owned by Mr. Brooks on Ridley Ave. for sewer and water service, found that Mr. Brooks would be at too great an expenditure for the amount of revenue derived. The Engineer instructed Mr. Brooks to have a petition signed to have the sewer and water extended southerly for 160 feet.

The Canadian Legion were given permission to conduct their annual Poppy Day on Nov. 9th.

B. R. Quincy, Bread Inspector submitted his annual report for weighing bread. He made 368 inspections during the year and found the weights well-sustained.

Mr. Quincy in his report stated that more bread was over weight than under weight which indicates that Belleville dealers are trying to keep the law.

The City Clerk has been authorized to write C.N.R. officials regarding repair road bed on Pinnacle Street.

Chas. A. Mott submitted a report on Dundas Street paving. The cost of the pavement has exceeded the contract price by $754.66 due to the fact that the actual yardage of excavation required for the concrete base and storm sewers was more than the quantity set out on the tender form. He considers that the Godson Construction Company did most satisfactory work. The report of the Inspector, Mr. James Donahue was also submitted.

University of Nebraska awarded 1, 127 degrees during 1929.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

USE AND CARE OF SILVER

This seems a fitting place to insert a plea for the habitual use of one's beautiful things, not just an occasional getting out from flannel bags, polishing and using. Silver does not deteriorate from daily use if it is washed carefully and not allowed to get scratched in the dishpan. Daily use keeps silver from tarnishing, so it really requires less polishing when used all the time. And it does keep up the family standards of culture and beauty to have the table carefully laid with good silver at every meal. The children's table manners may be expected to be careless, if Mother allows the table to be carelessly set and the meals carelessly served. To wash silver, use quite hot, soapy water, to remove all grease, then rinse with hot water and dry with a very soft, absorbent towel. When putting silver away in flannel bags, be especially careful that the knives are absolutely dry, as the faintest trace of moisture left on them will cause even a sterling silver knife blade to show signs of use along the edge. Don't buy any bargain silver, polish from peddlers or at cheap stores; a good polish made by a reliable firm is safest and most satisfactory, even if a trifle more expensive. Some large silver firms by the way, sell cleaning and polishing outfits, and these make nice gifts to the bride or to any other house keeper. The things that will cause silver to discolour quickly are eggs, olives, salt, mayonnaise, sulphur, rubber and sea air, so silver pieces that have been used for the foodstuffs mentioned should be quickly washed, while silver that it used at the seashore or in a home where much gas is used will need extra care to keep it bright. Some housekeepers clean their silver by boiling it in an aluminum vessel in a solution of salt and baking soda, but this method while it does remove tarnish, never gives the beautiful silvery gray luster that is so infinitely charming and soul satisfying on well-kept silver or plate and which can be had only by polishing.

"STARVED HEARTS"

BY
Mildred Barbour

"Get married and gamble on the future," answered Barton promptly. "No," Madelon raised a lovely, flushed, tear-wet face. "I can't ruin his life. I am going to give him up."

LOVELY HEARTS

It was in vain that Barton pleaded and implored. Madelon could be as adamant as Stephen Lane himself. Her love was great enough to make her renunciation possible. She recognized the wisdom of Ann's counsel and she proved herself stronger than her lover. Through the dignity of her sacrifice, she passed from girlhood into womanhood. The bold of pioneer took, the heritage from her Lane ancestors, coursed through her veins and made it possible for her to send her nan away, just as that same blood had made the Lane women follow their names across the desolate, wind-swept plains in generations past.

She was lovely in her renunciation. Her eyes were dark with the consciousness of her pain, but her cheeks glowed with the glory of her sacrifice on the altar of her love.

Barton, unable to resist her beauty, crushed her in his arms, vowing that she couldn't send him away. That nothing on earth, in heaven, or hell, could take her from him.

But in the end she won. Ann, unable to bear the catastrophe, which she herself had precipitated, had crept away to her bedroom where she sat in darkness. How terrible it had been to perform such a duty! And yet she had been less than their friend if she had not held up a torch to the future.

Madelon came to her finally, feeling her way through the darkness, and dropping down on her knees, hid her face in the refuge of Ann's arms.

"Has Julian gone?" Ann asked, finally.

She felt the affirmative motion of Madelon's head against her heart.

"Forever, I think. I can't see him again. I can't go through it again. I'd weaken. And I mustn't weaken. Nothing must prevent him from sailing the day after tomorrow."

After a while Ann said: "It's very late, long past dinner-time. We've all overlooked it. Let's have my maid fix a tray for us."

"I couldn't eat," protested Madelon. "Just some cold meat and a salad and a little wine," Ann suggested. "You need it. Then I'll drive you home—or would you like to spend the night with me?"

"No," Madelon got to her feet and wiped her eyes with a scrap of handkerchief. "I'd like to stay, but I'm afraid of what Uncle Stephen would do. He might think I had eloped with Julian and take away that offer before he has a chance to sail."

"Stephen, Stephen, how is it that I can still care in spite of this?" thought Ann, as the girl's despairing voice caught at her heartstrings. "It was nearly midnight when Ann's electric rolled up the Lane drive and Madelon alighted."

"Good night, dear child," Ann leaned out and kissed her tenderly.

"You've been so kind, Ann. It seems terrible, of course, but I can never thank you enough for saving me from a terrible wrong. Suppose I had married Julian tonight and irrevocably ruined his career."

"Don't!" Ann put out an imploring hand. "I feel like the wicked fairy in the old storybooks. It's a terrible thing to play Fate. I shall carry the responsibility of it to my grave."

The library door was ajar and a light shone from it into the dim entrance hall, proving that Stephen Lane was at home. Madelon sought to slip by unnoticed, but he heard her light footsteps and called her in.

He had been awaiting her homecoming for several hours. Not for a moment had he doubted the outcome of his strategy, but he could not resist witnessing the result of his triumph.

"Yes, Uncle Stephen."

There was no trace of tears on the face she raised to him. Her eyes met his steadily and without bitterness.

"You have seen Barton?"

"Yes."

"And what decision have you both reached, now that you have had time to think things over?"

Her eyes did not falter.

"The decision was taken out of our hands.... Julian sails the day after tomorrow."

"Ah!" there was satisfaction in the exclamation.

Madelon's eyes still held his with that disquieting gaze.

"You have won, Uncle Stephen.... And now, may I go? I am very tired."

"Just a moment.... I have been talking with Barbara this evening. Her nerves are in a bad way. I think she needs a change. She suggested California, and I see no objection to it. I want you to accompany her. You will leave early next week. I'll have my secretary see to your reservation tomorrow.... Good night."

In the upper hallway, another door stood ajar, and as Madelon passed, Barbara's soft voice called to her.

From the veiling ply in her face and the sympathetic clasp of her hands Madelon knew that Barbara had been told of the fate of Julian Barton.

"I have sent him away," Madelon whispered. "Oh, Barbara. She buried her face in the soft scented laces of Barbara's negligee.

Barbara's arms drew her close, and the dark head bent down against the blond one.

Two lonely, aching hearts drew together in a common bond.

and vitamins A and B, spinach combined with milk in an appetizing soup makes for red cheeks and added energy.

Fresh or canned spinach may go into the soup kettle, depending upon what the larger affords or what price fresh spinach. When time is a factor to be reckoned with, canned spinach is the choice.

Like most recipes, this lends itself amazingly well to variation. Omit the bacon, and a soup of another flavor rewards the experimenting cook. Add a dash of nutmeg and still another soup invites. A bayleaf may be the only seasoning liked, barring of course, the salt, cayenne and the artful onion.

Two large cups of fresh cooked spinach, or

One can spinach

Four strips bacon cubed (optional)

One onion minced

Two tablespoons fat

Three tablespoons flour or less

Four cups milk

Three-fourths teaspoon salt

Dash of cayenne

Half cup cream (optional)

Cooking time about twenty minutes

Any cooked vegetable may be substituted for the spinach when the bacon is omitted and the fat is butter.

The heavy creamed soups, home made or canned, make perfect luncheon and supper specials.

Cube the bacon and fry until crisp in a small saucepan. Then remove the crisp bits to a bowl and keep warm until serving time. The fat should measure two tablespoons, but it not add butter to make that amount. If bacon is not liked, use butter and begin with the next paragraph.

Soften the minced onion in the fat a few moments and then add the flour when this is blended rub the spinach and its liquid through the sieve into the onions-fat-flour mixture. Let cook a few minutes and season to taste.

Heat the milk in the saucepan over a medium flame, being watchful that it just comes to the boiling point. The moment it reaches this point, pour into the spinach stirring well over the heat. Taste, adding what seasoning seems needed. Let come to a boil, turn off the heat, cover and let stand five minutes to mellow.

Pour in the cream or evaporated milk. Sprinkle the warm bacon bits into the heated soup dishes and add the cream of spinach. Serve with crisp whole wheat goodies.

WHAT'S NEW (From a Woman's Standpoint)

Linen tweed and homespun are to be novelties for southern wear.

The three-strap pump is the newest shoe for afternoon or evening wear, and three tiny straps fasten over the instep with three tiny buckles.

Many knitted costumes simulating tweeds were worn by smart New York at the Meadowbrook Steeplechase this week.

Matching the complexion is the latest guide to successful evening histry, but if the stocking can at the same time convey a faint trace of the gown's colour it is doubly smart.

New York notes that in addition to satin, chiffon, flat crepe, moire, taffeta and lace, many new frocks of sheer or panne velvet, chiffon, lame and coarse net, with a few interesting examples of printed marquisette are seen.

Very smart is the knitted turban in colours to match the suit, and while many of these are after Agnes, others are individually draped, and one model has a coronet effect obtained by draping the loose strands around the thread, while others are box-pleated.

The tweed coat has never been so useful, so important as it is today, fitting into the mode like a proverbial glove, but it is new kind of a tweed coat, "dressmaker" made, flared, moulded, seamed and furled, not casual, not quite normal, just right to wear with all your informal clothes.

Soft yellows and deep pink and coral tones are noted among the most important trousseaux lingerie being trimmed with deeply lined lace.

The smartest frocks reveal the pronounced use of bows.

Lanvin's short jackets of bright Irish or hunter green wool, worn with brimmed hats of the same wool, both so much seen at the French resorts.

New York reports that brown, especially the rich orange brown, dusky tones and black are much approved for evening, especially for the smart sophisticated, while white is the choice of many of the debutantes and younger matrons.

Care should be taken not to flaunt a light complexion - shade stocking against the background of a dark gown for a dark stocking is thought to do greater justice to the gown and be a guarantee of the wearer's good taste.

REO INTRODUCES SILENT SECOND TRANSMISSION

Subject of Transmissions Is of Great Importance Now

Quite suddenly the subject of transmissions becomes of paramount interest to drivers and owners of automobiles. Next year will very definitely be a transmission year. The trend is pointed strongly that way, and now that the Reo Silent-Second transmission has become a fact, the motoring public is more than eager to know what this outstanding invention accomplishes and how it is made.

This new Reo Silent-Second transmission is original, the only one of its kind. In designing it, Reo engineers struck upon a principle which has never before been applied to steel gear making—the principle of non-harmonics.

All sound is made up of vibrations. Certain notes in the musical scale, when sounded, find response in certain other strings, or from other articles in the room. These resultant vibrations often produce a definite second tone. That synchronized force as well as merely an annoying condition is familiarly known. Before marching men can cross a bridge they are ordered to break step, else their combined rhythmic cadence might do serious injury to the structure. The non-harmonic principle employed in producing Reo's Silent-Second transmission is accomplished in so simple a manner as to be startling. In place of the ordinary, or straight tooth spur gears, which have been used for many years in all automobile transmissions, Reo uses a V-type or herringbone gear. Due to the method of constructing these gears, which is exclusively Reo's design, there is never a time, at any speed, when they find an instance of harmonic accord.

Second to its silence of operation, the greatest feature connected with this transmission is its simplicity. The new Reo Silent-Second transmission construction is practically the same as the former spur gear type. The bearings used in the old and new types are interchangeable. The transmission case is but three-quarters of an inch longer than the other and weighs but slightly more. The small number of working parts make for long life and the similarity of construction to the former transmission makes the Silent-Second easy to service.

Of vital importance is the ability to stay in Silent-Second gear and get the effect of being in high gear. The absence of any sound and the freedom from annoying and back-lash of the ordinary second speed spur gear draws immediate favorable comment from the operator, and with the new lower rear axle ratio the motor speed at thirty to forty miles an hour in second is still smooth and quiet in operation. However, traffic is at all congested, the effect obtained by demonstrating the Reo Silent-Second transmission is marked. This silence of operation gives the driver, passengers and competing traffic the impression that the car is being operated in high gear.

The introduction of this new Silent-Second transmission to the Reo Master Flying Cloud is but another step in Reo's far reaching program to build the most comfortable, most easily operated, and longest-lived automobile on the American market.

Now, for the man who is Mechanical by Inclination.

The new Reo Silent-Second transmission is simple and rugged. One of the principal differences from the conventional type is that the constant-mesh gears and the second gear train are the herringbone type. It is a three-speed transmission and the shift is standard. Some new discoveries concerning the herringbone principle have been made by Reo engineers in perfecting the new mechanism, which accounts for the extreme silence and longevity obtained.

In going from second to high gear there is no possibility of clashing, for these gears are in constant mesh, a simple mechanism, known as a dog clutch, being the only part moved by the shifter fork. When the dog clutch is slid to the rear, it engages with the mainshaft second gear, thus locking the gear to the shaft. When the dog clutch moves forward from neutral it locks in high gear in the usual manner. Low gear and reverse are the same as on the conventional three-speed transmissions.

In the new Reo the mesh gears of the transmission are of one pitch, the two left sections of the second gear of another and the two right sections of still another. Fundamentally, it is this feature which makes herringbone gearing suitable for a transmission. The three numbers of teeth at three different pitches reduces the vibration to an absolute minimum and produces the effective silence. Any other known principle would bring about noise and vibration; even if it were practical.

In Reo's new transmission, the constant-mesh gears align themselves automatically because the countershaft gear cluster is free to slide slightly lengthwise on the stationary countershaft. The second gear train keeps in perfect alignment in a similar manner because the second gear mainshaft is free to slide lengthwise for a few thousandths of an inch.

The mainshaft second gear, except when engaged, rotates continuously on the mainshaft, on hardened and ground steel-to-steel surfaces which are lubricated simply but positively by a radial hole running from the center of one of the many "vees" formed between each two pairs of teeth on the mainshaft second gear. Lubrication for the second gear is trapped at the base of this particular vee and is forced through the hole to the wearing surface as the second gear rotates, the lubrication occurring once every revolution.

In order to slow the engine down to the point where it is exceedingly smooth, a standard rear axle ratio of 4.07 to 1 is used in preference to the previous standard of 4.42 to 1. This slows the engine quiet up to 70 miles per hour and above. Simultaneously, however, there is sufficient power to provide lively acceleration and good hill-climbing ability or high.

An unusual performance is apparent in the silent second gear. This gear provides a reduction of 167 to 1. This ratio is now enough to give exceptional acceleration and yet high enough to allow a maximum speed of approximately 50 miles per hour.

GLASSES REMEDY THESE TROUBLES

It is now possible through new scientific inventions to correct many eye defects with glasses which hitherto have been considered impossible, so if you are facing an eye problem, this is our message to you:

Near-sightedness, far-sightedness, astigmatism, old-age eyes, under-developed eyes, muscle involvements and other eye defects can be corrected without resorting to surgery. Health, comfort and happiness go hand-in-hand, and good eye-sight is an important factor in all three.

Headaches, indigestion, sleeplessness and nervous troubles are often caused by eyestrain. When the eyes suffer the whole body suffers. Properly fitted glasses quickly relieve eye-strain and the troubles caused thereby will soon disappear.

The first thing to do is to have your eyes examined and there is no better time to do this than now. Our knowledge, skill and experience are at your service.

Consult Edwards, Eyesight Specialists, now and have the proper correction made.

RUDDY CANADIAN APPLES FOR OVERSEAS

"WHAT SHALL I SEND THE FOLKS IN THE OLD COUNTRY?" is a query heard as the Christmas Season approaches, but if the average Canadian realized how much our big, juicy, red apples are appreciated and enjoyed by people overseas, the problem would be immediately solved.

Canada's luscious rose apples are related by young and old alike. They symbolize our brilliant sunshine and warm summer days and they do look Christmasy and cheerful. Northern Spies, McIntosh Reds and Baldwins are the best and the most popular to carry your kind thoughts and good wishes across the sea and standard boxes and barrels of choice hand-picked and hand-packed fruit. Government inspected, are procurable at reasonable prices from any grocer, while the matter of shipment is as simple as the mailing of a card.

THE CANADIAN NATIONAL EXPRESS will call for your apples, transport and deliver them by quick service to any station in Great Britain, Ireland and most European Countries, giving them refrigeration service on fast passenger steamers.

The transportation charge from Montreal and Quebec up to November 28th or from Saint John, N.B., and Halifax, N.S. thereafter, by direct steamer to points in Great Britain, Ireland and the Channel Islands is $3.00 per standard box and $6.00 per standard barrel, including refrigeration.

For rates to Canadian Ports, through rates to Continental points and other particulars, consult any Canadian National Express Agent.

NEW ENGLAND SUPPER

The annual New England Supper held by the ladies of Bridge St. Church in the School Hall last evening was as usual one of the most successful of the harvest season so far. A large number were in attendance, and all enjoyed the meal provided by the ladies, after which a fine programme of songs and recitations was heard.

BIG GAME COUNTRY

A hunter's success depends entirely on his ability to select a territory containing the greatest amount of game per square mile of walking. Ozark Ripley, noted writer and sportsman, returned a short time ago from a careful survey of the hunting grounds of Northern Ontario. The gist of his report, made to the tourist offices of the Manitowishaugie Railway, is as follows:

There is a considerable increase of deer in the French and Mattawa river districts. Moose show a good increase all the way down the west side of Lake Temiskaming and the Ottawa river. The celebrated big game regions along the north shore of Lake Superior, just north of the Canadian Pacific line, are well supplied with moose and deer, particularly in the Mississauga and Metagama districts. Worth while information on the above subject is contained in pamphlet entitled "Tips for Hunters", which may be obtained from any Canadian Pacific Agent or W. Fulton, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Toronto. Mr. J. W. Davidson, C. P. A., Belleville, Ont. 15 29 n5

WHEN they went on their vacation, they thought the rest and change would restore their health and vigor. Yet, when they returned, they were no better off than before they went away. Lestlied he went back to his business. And she wondered if he would ever regain her youthful beauty and health.

What a pity they didn't know that constipation was the cause of their unhappiness. Headaches, fatigue, bad complexions are a few of the symptoms. If allowed to continue, serious illness often occurs.

Yet there is a prompt and effective way to banish this evil. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve and prevent constipation safely.

Only ALL-BRAN gives maximum results

It is bulk that relieves constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies bulk in generous quantity. In a part-bran product the amount of bulk is usually too small to be completely effective. That's why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is totally different from dangerous drugs and pills whose dose must be constantly increased to be effective. It works as nature works.

A pleasant cereal. Serve with milk or cream. Delicious with fruit or honey added. Use it in cooking too. Mix it with other cereals. Try it in soups. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. The health of the entire family can be maintained by serving ALL-BRAN in some form every day.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants, On diners. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Port Hope, Oct. 15.—A prominent figure in provincial journalism and local business circles was removed Sunday with the death of Frederick W. Wilson, late editor of the Port Hope Guide. His death came following an illness which resulted from a breakdown on Sept. 29.

With W. T. R. Preston, Mr. Wilson figured as defendant in the $50,000 libel action brought in Cobourg nearly two years ago by Sir Arthur Currie.

Frederick William Wilson was born in Port Dover in 1860, the fourth son of the late George Wilson and Sarah Howell. His father was the publisher of the New Dominion in Port Dover.

WHOSE ADVICE SHALL SHE TAKE?

SPORTOGRAMS

Alentine and Corbyville battled to a three all tie in the night at the Fair Grounds, and the game had to be called at the end of the ninth on account of darkness. It was one of the best games seen in the Industrial League this year, with both Hot Gibson and Tommy Pointer throwing nice ball. Gibson got away to a shaky start, the Clacoes taking a two-run lead in the first innings, but after the third he was invincible, and the Clacoes did not threaten again. Alentine got on run in the first, but after that failed to dint the play until the eighth when Pointer weakened and they scored two to tie it up. Both sides went out one, two, three in the ninth.

Hockey is not so far off and a little preliminary work on the part of the City League officials would not be amiss. The sooner the league is organized, the sooner will the players get into shape and the league go under way. Last year's City League was most successful and if the 1929-30 edition is as good, the Belleville players and fans should have no kick coming.

Albert College looks to be the class in the local Rugby group, although Trenton may prove a stumbling block to them when they get out of this half of the league. Trenton has been making a name for itself as a rugby center the last few years, and they support their team better there than the Bellevillians do theirs. Trenton is grouped with Napanee and Deseronto, while Belleville Collegiate, Albert College and Peter comprise the other half of the league. The winners of the two groups play off for the right to go on to the Ontario Championship.

A Code Installed Job.

A Happy Thought recirculating Warm Air system, code installed, is a triple guarantee of home comfort through the biting winter months.

There's 70° of Comfort Behind that Door

Up the walk with hurried paces! Friendly portals loom . . . at last! Just beyond is peacefulness and WARMTH. A Happy Thought knows that his heating system was installed to do a real job of keeping his home warm and comfortable. Here's why! He investigated before he bought. He learned the superior points about the Happy Thought furnace. He found it was built by a great Canadian company that had been at the heating game for seventy years.

Next, he checked Warm Air heating against other systems, and found that science has proved it to be the most healthful and efficient heating system known.

Lastly, he knew in having a Happy Thought heating system installed in accordance with the Standard Code that he had THREE WAY protection.

Be shrewd! Consult local headquarters or write Happy Thought Foundry, Brantford, for full information.

SPORTING

CIACCO-ALEMITE GAME 3-3

SPORTING
SECTIONATHLETICS STAGE DRAMATIC END
TO BIG SERIES BY BEATING CUBS"Mule" Haas' Home-Run Spelled Downfall For Chicago Team

Philadelphia, October 15.—The drama of the old master, Connie Mack, came true yesterday afternoon when his youthful Athletics won the baseball championship of the world with a finish that packed all the thrills of a story-book climax, all the nerve-tingling excitement of the final act of a melodrama.

The ninth-inning of fantasy became the ninth inning of reality when the men of Mack, American League champions, surged from behind to score three runs and beat the Chicago Cubs, champions of the National League 3 to 2, in the fifth and deciding game of the world's series.

With the president of the United States and the first lady of the land to applaud them, joining the applause of more than 30,000 fans, the Athletics for the second straight game demonstrated their unconquerable spirit by rallying to win after the game seemed hopelessly lost.

With two out in the ninth, Bing Miller, veteran rightfielder of the Mack men, drove the decisive blow to the score board, a two-bagger that brought Al Simmons across with the winning run after George (Mule) Haas, big, raw-boned centerfielder had tied the count with a smashing home run over the right field wall as Max Bishop rested on first.

Miller's drive, with the count 2 and 2, spoiled the last desperate strategy of the Cubs and their big right-hander, Pat Malone, in passing Jimmy Fox.

Picture the ninth inning yesterday afternoon. One man out, Pat Malone bearing down with a world of stuff, the Cubs on the alert to protect their somewhat slender lead, knowing that their remaining hopes rested entirely on the outcome, determined to let no lapses occur such as "bleep" Saturday's game. French, another pinch-hitting "bust" of the series, fanned, but Max Bishop brought the crowd to its feet with a drive that flurried with the third baseline all the way down. It was held to a single only by fast work by Riggs Stephenson. George Haas was swinging his bat, perhaps the same one with which he belted his trick home to center in Saturday's seventh, the drive that Hack Wilson lost in the sun. The first pitch came in—a "high hard" one, a trifle inside. The crack was drowned out by a bedlam of shouting.

The ball arched high. Kiki Cuyler backed to the wall, but it was over the fence, over by a good margin as it dropped into Twentieth Street and bounced on the porch of a house in the row which had 2,000 more howling fans on top.

In a few moments all of Malone's great pitching, all the fine defensive work of the Cubs had been off-set. No run could take away any of the lustre of that work.

It was a man-sized homerun and pandemonium was loosed as Bishop and Haas trotted around the bases. Mickey Cochrane grounded to Horns by for the second out but Al Simmons, who led the big barrage Saturday, again proved himself a great batter in the pinch. He smashed one to the score board for two bases and the winning run was only a few strides from the plate. Cub strategy dictated an intentional pass to Jimmy Fox, despite the fact that Jimmy had not done a thing all afternoon, hitting into two double plays as he had failed in three attempts to get the ball out of the infield. Bing Miller had garnered one of the two hits made off Malone up to the ninth but the Chicago master-minds figured he was easier to get than the slugging Fox.

Miller Comes Through. Bing, if he felt any resentment over the implied reflection on his ability stood nonchalantly at the plate as he let four go by two balls and two strikes. Malone was pitching cautiously, working the corners, but Miller was now ready for business. The veteran outfielder swung on the next ball, a fast one, waist high, and sent it on a line between Cuyler and Wilson. From the moment it left the bat there was not the slightest doubt of its decisiveness. It was officially recorded as a two-base hit, but there was not even an attempt to make a play for Simmons, who almost had to fight his way through wildly excited teammates who rushed out to escort him in with the winning run.

With this flourishing finish the Athletics once again lifted the American League banner to the peak for the third consecutive year with a more dramatic if not quite as decisive a touch as did the Yankees in scoring their clean sweep of 1927 and 1928. The National League has now lost 12 of the last 13 world's series games, and must wait another year for any chance of revenge.

George (Rube) Walberg, big south-paw curver, got credit for pitching the A's to their final victory, holding the Cubs safely in check after the downfall of Ehmske, just as Lefty Grove had done on two previous occasions. Thus the twin port-side errors of the Mack staff played big roles in three of the four triumphs, although neither had the distinction of starting a single game.

As a final surprise package to the experts, Connie Mack sent Ehmske to the mound for the final game, after the veteran slow-ball artist had been disregarded even more than in the game prior to the opening game.

As a matter of fact, Ehmske was in street clothes in the stands a half hour before the game time, but 15 minutes later he started to warm up.

Walberg relieved Ehmske with two out, two runs and two runners on base in the fourth. After Cuyler's double, a pass to Stephenson and singles by Grimm and Taylor produced two runs. The south-paw fanned Malone to close the inning. He retired the first ten men to face him in order and allowed only two hits in the five and one-third innings he worked.

As a crowning touch Walberg struck out six Cubs, bringing the Chicago total of victims to 50 for five games an average of ten per game, and a world's record for futility in any series. The mark is six more than the previous records of the Giants of 1911.

Rogers Hornsby, the famous Cub second baseman and seven-time champion batter of the National League, finished with the dubious distinction of striking out eight times and heading the list of the Cub whiffers. Walberg's fast curves sent the great Rajah walking back to the bench from the plate in the fifth inning for the eighth time as he went defenseless for the second game in the series. Kiki Cuyler, a world's series hero four years ago with the Pirate fanned seven times. McMillan an English, each six.

The Cubs were game right down to the final inning. They had fought hard in each of the three games in Philadelphia to offset the big advantage that the A's obtained by winning the first two contests in Chicago. They threw all their resources into play here but had neither the offensive or defensive stuff to quite make the seemingly inspired performance of the Athletics.

Malone came closer than Charlie Root did Saturday to the goal of victory that Guy Bush alone of the Cub staff was able to reach. Root "blew

ALEMITE, CIACOS
PLAY TIE GAME
IN LEAGUE FINALTommy Pointer and 'Hoot' Gibson, Opposing Pitchers,
in Good Form

Yesterday Corbyville and the Alemite clashed in one of the best games of baseball that has been seen on the Fair Ground diamond this season. The final score was 3 to 3 and the score is a fair indicator of what was played out for the fans.

For a long time it looked as if the boys from the distillery were going to turn out on the long end of the score, but towards the last "Ernie" Rowsome's boys started to show some fight and the result was a tie. Much depended upon this game. If Corbyville had won it they would have won the Industrial League championship and the game will have to be replayed next Wednesday at the Fair Grounds. The game went the full nine innings and the tie could not have been played off owing to the fact that the light was becoming too dim for further play. If Corbyville win the next game they will win the championship. However, if the Alemite win it they will have to play the best out of three.

Pointer To The Mound. Tommy Pointer was sent to the mound to do the twirling for the Ciacos and he did his best nobly. In the first he allowed one run to be scored but from then on, until the end of the seventh, he held the redoubtable Alemite scotchless and do what they might they could not score any runs. It was inclined to be a little wild at first but he soon steadied down. He an eight run lead in the seventh, whereas Malone had only a two-run margin to work on, but Big Pat was only two put-outs from triumph when the A's put on one final crusher.

For eight innings Malone had everything, control, speed, confidence plus a defense that weakened only in the fifth when Hornsby erred on Fox's grounder. This did no damage, however and it was offset anyway by the sterling all-round work of Elwood English, hitherto something of a "goat" whose most sparkling effort was a backward running catch in the third had robbed Jimmy Dykes of a hit.

Only four Athletics got to first up to the ninth and not one of them reached third. Twice, double-plays choked off the Macks, after Simmons had singled in the second and Cochrane had walked in the seventh. Hornsby's errors on Fox was followed by Miller's single in the fifth but Dykes and Boley fled out.

This was the only semblance of a scoring threat until the big guns again got the range in the ninth and raised the final bombardment of 1929 on the baseball front.

VETERANS' BODIES
ANNOUNCE MERGER

Winnipeg, Oct. 14.—Imperial Veterans of Canada, the Dominion Command, and the Canadian Legion British Empire Service League have adopted the merger agreement. The agreement was reached at a Dominion conference of Imperial Veterans here Saturday, and is the culmination of several years' negotiations.

walked the first man, who later came in to the home plate, but through no fault of his. From then on he had the game well under his thumb until the eventual eighth when the Alemite started to use some lubricant and brought two counters in. There were two men down in this frame when "Johnny" Kerr made his only hit of the game—a double. Rigby followed with a single and brought in Kerr. Plagier, next to bat, was walked. In the meantime Rigby cleverly stole second and third bases. Hagerman hit a single and Darrah was walked. Rigby came in. This tied the game, but while's spoils, their chances for a lead lay in the ninth. No more runs were scored during the rest of the game.

A Big Opportunity. It looked good previously for the Alemite, in the opening of the sixth. There were three on bases and Plagier at bat. Here was a chance, but he fanned. There was still a chance. Hagerman went to bat. He hit a fine one drive to left field, but this was snared by Hurley in a beautiful catch in far left field. It was a wonderful catch! So much for the Alemite side of the question.

"Hoot" Gibson was the ace of the twirling staff to be sent against the Ciacos squad. After he had warmed into the game he had it in perfectly good control so far as he was concerned. Two runs were scored off him in the first innings, after he had made the first two men to bat fan the cool and spicy breezes. Scott, in this innings, nicked a single and Scarlett followed with a double bringing in Scott. He was later brought to home by a well placed single of Cretneya.

In the third they started hitting again. Scott again getting a single. He finally came home through an error of Rigby's who overthrew to first in endeavouring to get the man, at first out. From the fourth innings on "Hoot" never seemed to be bothered in the least and pitched with his old time form when he led the Nationals to victory against the Walkerville Chicks last year.

Gibson had ten strikeouts to his credit while Pointer had thirteen strike-outs and five walks marked against him. The Alemite only had four hits to the eight of the Ciacos. All the errors were committed by "Ernie" Rowsome's boys, Kerr, Rigby, Plagier and Hagerman being the players responsible. Scarlett, third baseman for Ciacos, played a fine game and out of four times to bat got safely on base three times. He had to his credit a single and a triple. He did some very nifty base running. Rigby was quite good, bar his overthrow to first. Ralph they scooped up a real catch in the fourth off a hit from Rigby that looked good for at least a single. "Cap" Smith was sent in to replace Young in the final stanza but he was deficient in the "cane" Ruth recipe for home runs and nothing came of his effort.

During the whole game the excitement was on a keen edge. Most of the supporters were behind the Ciacos. Weir, umpired at plate and "Peeney" Miller on bases. The line-up was as follows:

Alemite—Kerr, 3b; Rigby, ss; Plagier, 2b; Hagerman, c; Darrah, c.f.; Smith, c.f.; White, 1.f.; Gibson, p. Young, 1b; Belnap, r.f. Corbyville—Cook, ss; Hurley, 1.f.; Scott, c; Scarlett, 3b; Cretneya, 1b; R. Bey, r.f.; G. Bey, 2b; F. Pointer, p; Latchford, c.f. Score by innings:

Alemite . . . 1 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 4 4

Y. M. C. A. DRIVE WELL UNDER WAY

Canvassers Hear Encouraging Speeches From "Y" Officials

Belleville's Young Men's Christian Association financial drive was launched with a splendid convocation in the Association building last night. The canvassers started out today in the quest of $6,000 and the enthusiasm manifested last night, augurs well for the success of the campaign. The local Y. M. C. A. is solvent for the first time since it was erected and the debt on the building was reduced by $4,000 during the past year.

Belleville citizens will be asked to invest $6,000 in the youth of the city in the next few days to develop one of the greatest assets of this country.

Members of the Kiwanis Club, Y. Men's Club, Rotary Club and Board of Directors of the Association met around the banquet and heard several short, encouraging speeches. The meeting was punctuated with sing-songs and Leo Riggs presided at the piano, while Ross Hunter led the community singing.

Mr. John Elliott, in a few brief remarks, said he had never during his twenty-three years residence in Belleville regretted giving the cent to the Y. M. C. A. "Your organization during the past year has been able to reduce the debt of the institution by $4,000," he said, amid cheers. Mr. Elliott stated that the total liabilities are now $5,000 while the assets, including a substantial sinking fund, more than counterbalance this amount. He spoke eulogically of Mr. Joseph Shortt, the present general secretary.

Campaign Line-Up

Jack Deacon, who is an old Y.M.C.A. boy rendered several roles during the evening with Leo Riggs acting as accompanist. He delighted his listeners with several splendid numbers.

Mr. H. W. Ackerman, the general chairman of the campaign said now that Mr. Shortt had the campaign well lined-up, it remains for the men to get behind the movement. "We have been well-received in the preliminary canvases," Mr. Ackerman said. "The workers will report on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday morning." Mr. J. W. Hopkins, general secretary of the Toronto Young Men's Christian Association, said that the people of Toronto had subscribed over a million dollars to "Y" work in the last ten years. He stressed the importance of note when conducting a "Y" canvass.

A Real Investment

"The mathematics, the mechanics and the scientific approach are the chief things to note," Mr. Hopkins said. "The value of youth is the real incentive," he declared. "You are not greatest asset in the world, the youth of this generation." Mr. Hopkins referred to a study which was recently made in Detroit and it was found that every boy is worth in the neighbourhood of $5,000. He cited several instances where boys had received their first impression of Y. M. C. A. work at an early age and then after growing to manhood had offered the "Y" every support possible.

"You must believe in what you represent," said Mr. Hopkins, "there is a Christian incentive for you to work." The speaker sketched briefly the phenomenal growth of the "Y" in its eighty-five years of existence. "The money you collect is but an incidental you should get a great consciousness out of a campaign which fosters such a great Christian enterprise. If you could look ahead and see the good that you are doing by these younger Canadians you will be greatly renewed to face work."

Mr. E. D. Oltz, Men's Secretary of the General Council, of the Y.M.C.A. of Canada, was introduced by Mr. Joseph Shortt. The latter said he greatly enjoyed the years spent with Mr. Hopkins in Toronto. "I have a profound admiration and a source of gratification toward you men who are conducting this campaign, and I have unbounded faith in you to complete the task well," said Mr. Shortt.

IMPOSING ARRAY OF CANDIDATES

Ferguson and Sinclair Conduct Extensive Tours In Province

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 14.—This week will see the completion of the preliminary tour to the Ontario Provincial election when the candidates are formally nominated next Saturday. Five weeks have elapsed since Premier Ferguson and the Conservative manifesto announced the disbanding of the Legislature. Today finds an imposing array of candidates for the 112 seats in the Legislature. The Conservative candidates have been nominated for each of the 112 seats. 52 of these members of last legislature. All the cabinet members are seeking re-election. Eighty Liberal Candidates are already in the field and more will be nominated during the week. The Liberals seeking election include fifteen former members. The Progressives and United Farmers of Ontario have fifteen candidates nominated. Five of their former members. Altogether 225 candidates have been chosen, including in addition to those already mentioned 5 prohibitionists, 5 Independent Conservatives, 3 Independents, 2 Communists and 3 Labor. Each of the Independent Conservative is opposing a candidate with the endorsement of the party organization in the constituency and there will be altogether nineteen three-cornered fights for seats unless the candidates drop out before nomination day.

Premier Ferguson will deliver addresses at Brampton and Orangeville today while Mr. Sinclair will speak at Alliston.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

LOIRNE PITMAN

The residents of Stirling and relatives and friends far and wide were overwhelmed with grief through the shock of learning of the sudden, unexpected passing away, on Saturday, Oct. 12th, of Lorne Albert Pitman, younger son of Mrs. Margie Pitman, of Stirling, and the late Mr. Cartwright Pitman.

Lorne was born at Foxboro, Nov. 2nd, 1909, and with his mother and her family came to Stirling in 1926. His father, Mr. Cartwright Pitman, predeceased him in April, 1926. Besides his mother, he is survived by two sisters, Grace and Martha at home. Lorne's cheerful presence will be sadly missed in many circles. The constant companion of his mother, his attendance at and participation in various organizations in St. Paul's United Church, and his intimate association with those in charge of these organizations—his association with his teachers and comrades in public school, and his readiness to serve those with whom he came in contact—each forcibly makes his passing felt most keenly. Such a life of comradeship and cheerfulness, with the ready smile and cheerful word, may well serve as an inspiration to all.

The funeral service which was conducted by the Rev. E. W. Rowland, of St. Paul's United Church, was held at his late home at two o'clock on Monday, Oct. 14th. The Rev. Mr. Rowland spoke feelingly, using as his text, Matthew 19: 14. Mr. G. L. Clute sang the appropriate solo, "I think when I read that sweet story of old." Interment was made in the family plot in Elmwood Cemetery at Corbyville. Those who acted as pallbearers were: Everett Goswell, Golden Denyes, James Vandewater and Harold July.

The many beautiful floral tributes to Lorne's memory were contributed by the following: the family, a pillow; Patterson family, Uncles and Aunts, Sister Alice, E. P. Coulter, Sister Stenbreath, Mrs. and Grace James and Muriel Vandewater, wreath; Mrs. John Pitman and Mr. and Mrs. Blake Pitman and Willett, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spencer and family, Mrs. Jones, S. S. Class, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Pringle, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Eggleston, Mr. and Mrs. Wickett, Mr. and Mrs. E. Sandercock, Tom and Cameron Foster, Lenora and James Ward, The Star and pupils of Stirling Public School, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Jackson, each a spray; and the Y. P. S. of St. Paul's United Church, a basket.

Six young companions acted as bearers—Frank Buttler, Clarence West, Gerald Jackson, Bill Morton, Leslie Eggleston, and Tom Foster.

The deceased's school-mates of this and last year formed a cordon through which the cortege passed from the home.

The sincere sympathy of a host of relatives, friends, and acquaintances is extended to the grief-stricken family in this hour of profound sadness.

The bridegroom, too, is an ex-cadet and now stationed at St. Johns, Que. with the Royal Canadian Dragoons. So when the bride came down the cathedral steps on the arm of her husband they found waiting for them instead of a motor, a phaeton drawn by six of the horses of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery with the young officers of the R. C. H. A. on hand with their good wishes.

The wedding breakfast for the bride was given at the Chateau Belleville.

Lady Macdonell was gown in black velvet, a blue hat and shoes, and carried a white and blue bouquet. The bride was a smart French frock of velvet with a small hat.

The bride travelled in a costume of brown covert coating with a brown French felt hat and stone marble fur. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. Gillespie, of Toronto, parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. A. Anderson, Miss Marie Macdonell, General Macdonell, Mr. Greig, Miss Macgillivray, Toronto; Mrs. T. E. Merrett, Col. Cameron, Col. Wallis, Major and Mrs. W. H. Dr. and Mrs. McDermott, Col. and Mrs. Matheson, Montreal.

BAKER-SULLIVAN

A pretty wedding took place in St. Francis of Assisi Church, Frankford, at nine o'clock, of Mary Irene, daughter of Mrs. N. C. Sullivan and the late Michael Francis Sullivan, to Joseph Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Baker, of Quenoboro. The Rev. Father O'Farrell officiated.

The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her cousin, Mr. William Heffernan, of Campbellford.

LOUIS RICKET

Louis Ricket, aged seventy-six, died suddenly this morning at the home of his son, Mr. Richard Solmes Ricket, 403 Coleman Street.

The late Mr. Ricket was born in Fulton, New York State, but had resided in Belleville for the last fifty-four years and at his late residence for the last fifteen years. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Ricket. He was well known in the city and his death came as a shock to many of his friends. He leaves to mourn his loss two sons, Richard Solmes Ricket and John Albert, of Belleville; and one daughter, Mrs. Rose Bert, of Cornwall. He also leaves three brothers and one sister in New York survive. The funeral arrangements will appear later.

JAMES CONNOLLY

The funeral of the late James Connolly was held this morning at eight-thirty from his late home, 70 Dundas Street East, to St. Michael's Church, where mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Kinlin at nine o'clock.

From the church the funeral cortege proceeded to the St. James Cemetery where the body was laid in its last resting place. Rev. Father Kinlin officiated at the graveside ceremony. Many beautiful cards and beautiful spiritual offerings betokened the esteem in which the departed had been held.

The bearers were composed of Messrs. George Giffin, J. Lynch, W. J. Smith, J. Trunisch, E. Eather and J. Bird.

WEDDINGS

(Special to The Intelligencer)

Kington, October 12.—At noon today, the marriage took place in St. George's Cathedral, at Allison Cameron, daughter of Lieut-General Sir A. C. and Lady Macdonell, and Walter Edmund Gillespie, of Toronto. The bride wore peach silk broadened with gold with hat and hose to match and black satin shoes. She carried cream and peach roses and maiden hair fern. Miss Mary Baker, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and wore rose beige georgette and silver lace with hat and hose to match and black satin shoes. She carried pink carnations and maiden hair fern. Mr. Harold Sullivan, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. During the ceremony Mrs. John Armsstrong and Mr. Clarence Finnegan sang.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride, after which the wedding party, to about forty of the near friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

The bride's travelling dress was a brown velvet ensemble over sandalwood crepe de chine with felt hat to match.

HARVEST FESTIVAL SERVICES WERE HELD AT DUNDAS CHURCH

The Harvest Home Services of the Dundas St. Union Church were conducted last Sunday evening by the Rev. Geo. Marshall who delivered a most appropriate and inspiring sermon from Mark 4: 26. "For the earth bringeth forth fruit of herself; first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear. The choir volume sang, 'God's hand is everywhere,' was a fine accord with the discourse.

The entertainment and Tea was given on Wednesday evening following. A miscellaneous program of very high quality, much appreciated and applauded was rendered, after which refreshments were served. The chorals of the Sunday School, the inmates of the Belleville Home for the aged, and a number of other mission folks were admitted free of charge and added cheer and comfort to many lives, notwithstanding the blizzard which was realized for the first time in the fall.

The Rev. Enos Farnsworth gave an excellent chairman's address and presided while the following program was being rendered: Opening Hymn—"All Hail The Power"; Prayer—Rev. E. Farnsworth; C. S. Clapp's Letter—Read by the pastor.

Congregation sang "Blest be the Name of the Lord."

BIG GATHERING GREET'S AUTHOR

Dr. C. W. Gordon Conducts Opening Series of Mission Meetings

Another capacious audience greeted Dr. C. W. Gordon, (Ralph Connor), last night at John Street United Church, and his talk was full of interest to all who attended. Tonight the meeting will be especially for young people, and Dr. Gordon and Rev. Robert Hall, have issued an invitation to young people of all the city churches to attend.

The John Street choir was in attendance last night and rendered several selections as well as leading the singing, and Rev. Robert Hall assisted Dr. Gordon through the service.

Some of the gems of thought gleaned from Dr. Gordon's most recent and matured conclusions are, that Jehovah rules the Universe and overrules certain exigencies, and that Law is the word of God for which reason we are governed in life by many laws. The nature of Law is simply that of regulating principles. In the mineral kingdom we accept the fact that stones grow, in the vegetable kingdom, that vegetables grow and live, and in the animal kingdom there is natural growth, life, and feeding upon that which sustains and allows the reasoning faculties.

The operation of Divine Law is by allowing human choice, or freedom. The reward or penalty in the observance of fundamentals depends upon the type of our conduct. We punish ourselves and are not so much punished for our sins as by them. Thus we are not simply imposed upon by ourselves often. Obedience ought to be not only through fear or dread of consequences, more so for the favour of a God greatly interested in us. Then the comfortable accusing conscience will be a problem.

Dr. Gordon will hold meetings every night this week at John Street United Church in the interests of salvation and the re-opening of that church after a period of several weeks during which repairs and renovations took place. The new organ will be installed within the next few months, which will be a great improvement to the church.

the first time what is undoubtedly one of the greatest products the talking screen has yet produced, "The Desert Song," the musical sensation of four continents.

Transferred to the silver screen with its hundreds of fine singers, dancers and musicians, this Warner Bros. spectacular singing show, deservedly scored a great hit with audiences at Capitol yesterday. Perhaps more than any other type, "The Desert Song" emphasizes the great possibilities of the talking screen, for with its high class casts of several hundred musicians and performers, its settings, its technicolour, its symphony orchestra, it all combine in a superb presentation of this musical treat and a special which is, without doubt, the greatest musical success of the second screen ever shown here. The reproduction of "The Desert Song" at the Capitol is excellent, with the musical numbers and dialogue always clear and distinct.

MACDONALD TENDERED GREAT OVATION

Two Bancroft Lads Freed of Criminal Charges at Autumn Assizes

PREMIER FLINGS REPLY BACK TO LIBERAL CHARGE

Opposition Gather At Oshawa Tonight For Big Rally

TO BROADCAST

Drury Says Gov't Spends Money "Like Drunken Sailors"

Toronto, Oct. 16.—At Oshawa, in the centre of his own constituency of South Ontario, W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, will be the guest and the chief speaker at a monster Liberal broadcast throughout the province and gatherings have been arranged at many points where the Liberals may gather and listen in. Tickets have been allotted to four thousand persons who will be seated in the armchairs at Oshawa. Loud speakers have been arranged outside the building to carry the Liberal chieftain's words to the expected overflow crowd.

The rally will climax an intensive speaking campaign undertaken during the past few days by Mr. Sinclair. Last night he spoke at Galt and charged that Premier Ferguson was putting false promises before the people in his bid for the return to power, referring particularly to promises of improved highway facilities in the rural districts.

Government Under Fire
The Ferguson government was under fire also at Owen Sound where Hon. E. C. Drury, former premier in the United Farmers of Ontario government, charged that the record of the Conservative government had been one of broken promises. The Conservative government, he pointed out, "succeeded his government" and the Premier charged the U.F.O. government with spending money like a drunken sailor, but Mr. Drury added, "If that were true the Ferguson government has spent like 'Two drunken sailors'."

Answers Challenge
Premier Ferguson defended the government at Peterboro. The total liquor sales for year would be far from fifty-five to seventy million estimated by his critics, he said, and whatever the total sales turned out to be it would be an indication of many valuable ideas and plans whereby the use of alcohol to excess could be restrained and controlled. He replied to the challenges that he stated now, the probable total of sales. He did not have the figures, he said, and would not have them until the end of the year. Liquor control act should be given a fair trial and the government was convinced if this were done it would prove its value as a temperance measure, he added.

Porker Gives Pursuers a Merry Chase Along Rialto at Noon Today

"This little pig went to market, This little pig stayed at home, But this little pig we're going to talk about."

Was inclined to roam? Everybody remembers the little rhyme of nursery days of the little pigs. This was brought to mind today when a wee piggy threw one into a tureen of excitement at the noon hour.

The pig in question seems to have been the playmate of several young boys, but it had not loose from them on Pinnacle Street and led them a merry chase along Pinnacle and down Victoria Avenue and into Front Street, where it scampered up and down the street dodging the traffic to the immense delight of everyone. It headed for the market place but today being Wednesday, it probably knew that it wasn't market day. The chase started at twelve, approximately, and did not conclude until practically one o'clock. Everybody took a "hand in the chase and it was rather lively, but it had not loose from them on Pinnacle Street and led

ELECTORS WILL HEAR FERGUSON CRASHED POLE

Premier Will Speak At Pictou and Napanee

Tomorrow, the electors of the Bay of Quinte district will have the opportunity to hear Premier Howard Ferguson in the only campaign address which he is likely to make in this area. He is the most striking personage in the present campaign and most people are willing to admit that Premier Ferguson who addresses a meeting at Pictou in the afternoon and another in Napanee in the evening, is one of the most colourful politicians in the country. His speeches are never dull and they are electrifying in their effect upon his hearers.

Premier Ferguson is no stranger to this district. He has been heard with interest on many different occasions and Pictou armoured will no doubt be jammed to capacity tomorrow afternoon where Mr. Ferguson will speak in the interests of Horace Collier, the Conservative member for Prince Edward. A number of parties from Belleville are planning to motor to the Prince Edward County seat for the big rally. Those who cannot find it convenient to go to Pictou will have the privilege of hearing the Conservative leader at the armoured in Napanee tomorrow evening. The Premier will, it is expected, have something real interesting to tell his listeners at both meetings.

E. I. MOONEY'S CONDITION GRAVE

According to the latest word from Kingston Hospital, Mr. E. I. Mooney of this city, plant Wire Chief for the Bell Telephone, is still in a most critical condition, there being no change. Doctors at present hold out little hope for his recovery, and he has not yet regained consciousness since the accident, which occurred late Monday night. Dr. Bogart, of Kingston, one of the three attending physicians, set Mr. Mooney's hip which was fractured, but it is feared that other injuries may prove fatal. His many friends in Belleville will watch for news of his condition.

BANCROFT BOYS DISCHARGED AT FALL ASSIZES

Howard And Ronald Maxwell Freed of Serious Offence

JUDGE'S REMARKS

Constable Kehoe Alleged To Have Been Drinking On Night of Accident

Mr. Justice Wright at the Fall Assizes held yesterday afternoon at the Court House found that the Crown had not presented sufficient evidence to make it necessary to hear the defence in the manslaughter charge preferred against Howard Maxwell, and the charge against this young man was accordingly dismissed. His cousin, Ronald Maxwell, was found not guilty of a similar charge, and he also was discharged, although he was given a stern warning from the presiding judge.

In the case of Rex vs. Howard Maxwell, Charles Morway, one of the occupants of the Maxwell car which struck Village Constable Kehoe at Bancroft, told of going out the Maynooth road for a half bottle of whiskey. Asked where he got it, he replied that he had stolen it from a car at the rear of the Queen's Hotel in Bancroft, and had hidden it up the road. The accused and his cousin, Ronald Maxwell, were in the car too. They had a few drinks and then came back to Bancroft, and again headed out the Maynooth road, the witness saw a man walking out from the sidewalk. The accused man, who was driving, swung the car away from him, and then slowed down, but the others in the car told him to go ahead, as he had not hit anyone. He said the car was travelling only about twenty miles an hour, and that there were many cars on the street that night, as there was a dance in the Orange Hall, it being the 12th of July. He did not know anything about the accident until the next morning.

Provincial Constable Percy Gray, of Bancroft, and County Constable Robinson also gave evidence to the fact that Kehoe had walked into Robinson's heavy stable a few minutes before twelve o'clock but stayed only a few minutes. While he was there, Kehoe refused a drink offered him by two young fellows, as he said "he had had enough already." David W. Covert, of Bancroft, was one of the first to arrive at the scene of the accident, and he judged the speed of the car at between 25 and 30 miles an hour, although he admitted having been drinking that night. Under cross-examination by Mr. Payne, Mr. Covert admitted that the car might have been going from 20 to 25 miles an hour at the time of the accident.

E. Maxwell "Not Guilty"
Immediately following the disposal of the Howard Maxwell case, the jury in the Ronald Maxwell case returned, and brought in a verdict of "not guilty." Mr. Justice Wright in discharging the accused had the following to say:

"The jury has taken a lenient view of your charge, and the evidence was open for them to do so. You took the life of this man, and it should be a warning to you for the rest of your life. In the opinion of the jury your act did not amount to criminal negligence, but other people have rights and privileges, and this evidence you might well have been given guilty and a long term of imprisonment would have been given you. You are discharged."

In coming up the Crown's evidence in the Howard Maxwell case, Mr. Wright said, "There is no doubt, evidence that Kehoe met his death in a collision with the Maxwell car. However, the Crown must establish the fact that there was criminal negligence, and although there is slight evidence that there was negligent driving, I do not think the Crown has made out a case against the accused."

The jury then agreed with His Worship without retiring and Maxwell was found not guilty and discharged. Members of the jury in the Howard Maxwell case were G. E. Pearson, R. D. Pringle, E. W. Dickens, W. C. Mitchell, G. E. Mann, J. B. Campbell, D. M. Hagerman, H. Keech, A. Please Turn To Page Three

$500 WORTH OF WATCHES TAKEN

Hadley's Jewellery Store At Stirling Is Entered By Robbers

Hadley's Jewellery store at Stirling was visited by thieves sometime during the night of Saturday, October 12th. Close to $500 worth of watches and clocks were taken, although no official summary of the loss has been made yet. Provincial Police are working on the case at present and arrests are expected hourly.

In conversation with Mr. Harry Ashworth, watchmaker at the Hadley Store, the Intelligencer was informed that everything had been locked up as usual about one o'clock Sunday morning, after the day's business had been completed. Mr. Joe Whitehead, who owns a store next door, was at his police of business until three o'clock Sunday morning, and he reports hearing or seeing nothing out of the ordinary. The rear door into the store had been broken down by the marauders, however, and some noise must have resulted, so it would appear that the robbery occurred after three o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. Herbert Hadley, owner of the store, had not been in charge lately owing to ill-health, and spends most of his time on his farm at Harold. A daughter, Miss Blanche Hadley, and Mr. Ashworth have been conducting the business. On Saturday Mr. Herb Hadley was in the store until about one o'clock making his usual visit to the store, which visits usually occur about once a week. He left the store at one o'clock Sunday morning and at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, Miss Hadley discovered the loss.

REV. GEO. BROWN FORMER PASTOR DIES SUDDENLY

Occupied Pulpit At Tabernacle Church For Four Years

Believed by many and honoured by all the Rev. George Brown, superannuated Methodist minister, died yesterday afternoon at his residence, 135 Victoria Avenue.

He was a well-known figure in the life of this city, his kindly nature making him loved by all who knew him. It is thought that he was about 70 years of age.

The late Mr. Brown was a son of the late Colonel and Mrs. George Brown and was born in Milton. He was the only surviving member of his family. He leaves to mourn his loss one daughter, Miss Lillian Brown, of Belleville, as his wife predeceased him eleven years ago.

His early pastoral work was confined to the Toronto Conference of the former Methodist Church, but he spent greater part of his ministerial work in the Bay of Quinte Conference. A number of years ago he became the pastor of the Tabernacle Church of this city and occupied the pulpit at this church for four years. Later he retired from active participation in church work, but for some time after he had retired he acted in the capacity of assistant pastor in the Bridge Street Church.

Ten years ago he definitely took up his residence in this city, where he had made many friends.

The aged gentleman had been in ill-health for some time, but the news of his sudden death came as a distinct shock to the many who knew him.

In his active days he interested himself in all welfare work and belonged to numerous societies in connection with the church.

TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS RAISED

Encouraging Reports Received of Y.M.C.A. Financial Drive

Reports from the first two days of the Y. M. C. A. Financial Campaign were given at a luncheon held at noon today in the Association Building and it was found that over two thousand dollars had been subscribed already. The campaign will continue for the rest of this week and the full quota of two thousand dollars is expected to be raised. If the six thousand is raised the Belleville Y. M. C. A. will be out of debt for the first time in its history.

W. B. Deacon acted as chairman at the noon day luncheon, while Ross Hunter presided at the piano and Jimmie Macdonald acted as secretary. Rev. Robert Hall invoked the Divine blessing and introduced Rev. C. W. Gordon of Winnipeg, otherwise known as "Ralph Connor," to the assembled workers. He gave a short five minute address on the work of the Y. M. C. A. as he had seen it in France and at home, which was interesting in the extreme.

"I learned much about the Y. M. C. A. while in France during the war, as I saw it under fire and difficulties. I measured up then, and it has measured up since in every community. Don't adopt that beggar's plaint when you go out canvassing for subscriptions. Go with your heads high, and show those with whom you come in contact that you are doing them a favour by letting them use their money to help build up such a worthy institution. Real churchmen are not jealous of the Y.M.C.A. for the 'Y' gets hold of a class of men that the Church cannot seem to come in contact with," affirmed the reverend gentleman.

A large number of Belleville businessmen, interested in the campaign and the Association, were present, and they will meet again tomorrow at the same hour for more reports. The individual flag for the highest amount of subscriptions was won by H. W. Ackerman the flag for the greatest number of subscriptions won by Dave Martin and the team with the most money reported in one day, R. L. Brown. During the meal Perce Cole favoured with a solo.

Ramsay MacDonald Pays Visit To Big Labor Convention

MANY ENGAGEMENTS
Will Spend Three Days In Canadian Capital In Conference

(By Ray Brown, Canadian Press Writer)

Toronto, Ont., October 16.—The first great Canadian city to welcome Great Britain's Labour Prime Minister and his eldest daughter, today honoured Rt. J. Ramsay MacDonald and Miss Isabel MacDonald in a series of important functions. The programme laid down for their single day in Toronto was a heavy one. However, Mr. MacDonald's visit to the United States has demonstrated that he is an early riser, so the round of engagements, opening shortly after ten o'clock in the morning, had no terrors for him on that score.

Perhaps one of the most important of his Toronto engagements was the visit which Mr. MacDonald paid to the Congress of American Federation of Labour, American organized labour had prepared a hearty reception for the Labour Prime Minister. His visit to A. F. of L. concluded, the Labour Premier was escorted to the luncheon meeting of the Men's Canadian Club, where he delivered an address.

Degree Conferred
While he was addressing the men, his daughter was similarly occupied at the luncheon of the Women's Canadian Club. In the afternoon the University of Toronto conferred an honorary degree upon the Prime Minister, at three o'clock. This will be the second honour of this nature which Mr. MacDonald received since coming to the shores of America. The last was conferred upon him by the George Washington University during his visit to the United States Capital.

Later the Government of Ontario will be hosts at a large reception given in honour of Mr. MacDonald and his daughter. In the evening Mr. MacDonald will be the guest of honour at a dinner of the men at Government House. After dinner Mr. MacDonald will say farewell to Toronto. He and his party will board the Canadian National train for Ottawa, where the British Prime Minister is to meet Premier MacKenzie King. His visit to Ottawa will last for three days, and there Mr. MacDonald will be the guest and speaker at the State dinner, on Thursday evening.

Received Great Welcome
Toronto, October 16.—From fifteen hundred delegates to the American Federation of Labour convention here today, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and his daughter, Isabel, were tendered one of the greatest ovations which had been accorded him since he arrived on the shores of America.

Routine business of passing resolutions after resolution gave place shortly before noon to an enthusiastic acclaim of the man who crossed the Atlantic on a mission of peace and good will. When the Prime Minister and his daughter, escorted by the deputations, headed by John L. Lewis, Chief of the Miners' Federation, entered the Assembly Hall of the Royal York Hotel, more than a thousand persons rose to their feet while a wave of applause burst forth.

President William Green took but a few minutes to introduce the British Labour Prime Minister to his audience. The officials, delegates and friends were made "inexpressibly happy" when

OFFICER SHOOTS HIS ASSAILANT

Glace Bay, N. S., October 16.—The first fatal shooting since the preventive service went into effect in Nova Scotia occurred last night in a short distance from Waterford, when Preventive Officer L. J. Corbett, of Lunenburg, shot down Benny Borovick, of White Pier, shortly before midnight. Borovick, aged 28, was one of the party who attempted to pass liquor after the preventive service was put into effect and the big car in which was stored 29 bags of rum, each containing five gallons.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"Personally I am all for combating communism. At the moment I have no desire whatever to see the experiment tried out in America."
 —Haywood Brown (The Nation)

SCHOOL DEMOCRACY

Sir Charles Trevelyan, who is president of the board of education in Britain, announces the raising of the age of leaving school from 14 to 15. He holds his own son to the village school and wishes that all the children of the country could be educated together. As grand-nephew of Lord Salisbury, he has the democratic tradition strong in his blood, and as a member of the Labor party he is in a position to promote his views. There is nothing that makes a stronger "Mc-than united education. When boys grow up together they learn what nothing else can teach. The old caste systems break down before joint education, and the success of this commitment in developing the democratic spirit has been due largely to the lessons learned in the same class sitting on the same benches with the rest of the rising generation.

GIVING LEADERSHIP IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS

One of Mr. Sinclair's complaints is that Mr. Ferguson is a dictator who lays down the law for the rest of us to obey. This is a poor compliment to the people of Ontario, for no one has yet been able to force them into any course they disliked or disapproved, and they have nevertheless given Mr.
 Ferguson a very handsome majority.
 "But it may at least be admitted that it is a charge that could never be laid against Mr. Sinclair. His words are certainly not law to his followers.
 They can be beer and wine wets in some ridings, where they fear to offend Liberals whose votes they stand need; they may be O.T.A. prohibitionists in their constituencies. It is three-cornered contests can be avoided."

Mr. Sinclair is not even a law unto himself. At Fort William he may accept government control—if he is allowed to administer it. Elsewhere, as electoral needs may require,
 he may talk of a plebiscite, but when it will be held, or at whose request, we are not told. He does not promise to alter the election—it may be this year, next year, sometime, never. No.
 Mr. Sinclair certainly does not dictate to us. He cannot even be sure what his policy is. He can lead us nowhere.

Mr. Ferguson's way is different. He knows that the business of a leader is to lead. At the last election he told us the way he would go and he went that way. Now he tells us the way he proposes to go, and if we dislike it, we who made him, can reject him. He has said to publicly for he will not shilly-shally. He is the leader of his party, the first among equals, because they have made him so.

Who but Mr. Sinclair imagines that Mr. Price, who is Attorney-General and leader of the Bar of Ontario, or Mr. McCrae, who has the confidence of the entire north country and the great mining industry, or Mr. Martin, who has done more for agriculture than all the former governments that ever existed, or any other member of the Cabinet for that matter—who but Mr. Sinclair imagines that Mr. Ferguson disregards the opinions of these men or of the people of Ontario.
 Each member of the Government speaks the united opinion of them all.

And who would Mr. Sinclair substitute for the present government? Our experience of a few years ago, when we elected a party who did not disclose its Cabinet until after the election—that experience was so unfavourable to honest government that we are not likely to repeat it. We can hardly rely on Mr. Sinclair's differing assurances—as Edmund Burke said: "private men may be wholly neutral and entirely innocent; but they who like Mr. Sinclair are legally invested with public trust can hardly in any case remain indifferent, without the certainty of sinking into insignificance."

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James V. Barlen, M.D.
 SHORT CUTS TO WEIGHT REDUCTION

This is an age in which we all like to take short cuts, but just as the longest way round is the quickest and safest way home, so also in the case of overweight folk who wish to rid themselves of their surplus poundage.
 The very fact that you have decided to reduce your weight is a big step toward accomplishing it, because you will have reduction in your mind all the time.
 This will mean that as you eat, you will remember to cut down on all your food to some extent, on starches and liquids to an even greater extent.
 And then the other part of the process will also be on your mind; the working of the body by exercise of some kind. This may mean house or garden work, golf or other games, or a daily walk. In fact it may mean sleeping or lying down less during the four-hour hours. With this simple prescription there is bound to be a reduction in your weight. I say "bound" or "because there is not more than one person in a hundred whose weight will not decrease with the above methods.

 All the oaks are turning pink!
 The sky is cloudless stretching,
 And the mountains rarest blue,
 The wind calls like a comrade
 Across the fields to you.
 The brakes are golden standing
 In the meadows and the lane,
 And the reason, can't you guess?
 October's here again.

If you are overweight, have tried the above faithfully, and there is no noticible reduction, then you are justiced in consulting your physician as to the use of the thyroid extract. You may be allowed to use the short cut to reduce your weight.
 Now why can't you use this method without his supervision?
 Because it is dangerous.
 If there is any tendency to diabetes in your family you may start that ailment in yourself.
 When the heart is affected it is likewise dangerous to use thyroid extract, where the condition is just a palpitation or very rapid beat.
 Now as diabetes and heart ailments are often accompanied by overweight, you can see the wisdom of not undertaking this short cut to weight reduction by the use of thyroid extract.

So go on at this weight reduction in a common sense way, cutting down on the food intake and increasing the exercise, having the big meal of the day at noon if possible, and no food after retiring.
 This gives the food a chance to be burned up by exercise instead of being deposited as fat.

SECOND CHOICE OF GLENGARRY LIBERALS

Alexandria, Ont., October 15—James Sangster, Bainsville, was the choice of a second Liberal convention held here last night to choose a candidate for Glengarry for the provincial campaign to succeed Stephen O'Connor, who was the choice of the first convention, but was forced to withdraw because of illhealth.

RESULTS OF SIN TOLD IN STORIES

Redemptorists Are Conducting Two Weeks' Mission
 At St. Michael's

Another capacity audience greeted Rev. Father Mangan last evening when he ascended the pulpit to preach the second sermon of the two weeks' Mission being held in St. Michael's Church. The speaker expressed himself as most satisfied at the splendid attendance which had filled every seat in the church at 7.30.
 Rev. Father Mangan chose as his subject last night "The Evil of Moral Sin." He vividly portrayed the dangers of habitual sin and its consequence. "There was once a powerful king," said the speaker, "who had an only son. He brought this son up in the fear and respect of God but when the son reached young manhood there grew in him a great desire for war.
 The father tried every means to kill this desire and at last conceived a means whereby he thought to cure his offspring. He summoned the greatest artist in his kingdom and instructed him to paint the most vivid portrait of the horrors of war, depicting the ravages of war. The artist at last completed his assignment and summoned the king to view his efforts.
 The picture was placed in a dim room and the son called and left to meditate upon the horrible scenes depicted in the artist's masterpiece. After long meditation he emerged from the room and went to his father. "Father he said, 'I have no more desire for war.'
 It is the Missionary work to do as that father did, to rid sinners of the desire to transgress and show them the terrible results. Father Mangan told of a ship bound for its homeward journey. The sky was clear, the waters smooth and everything augured
 "a safe return, but midway at sea a sun became hidden, the winds rose and a terrible storm buffeted the vessel and at last it foundered. So the soul of man, from innocent childhood he grows to maturity and temptations assail him on all sides. Unless he resists and conquers his evil impulses he is doomed to destruction.
 This evening the services will begin again at 7.30.

DOMINION LOSES FISHERY ACTION

Federal Government Cannot Maintain Its Fish Can-neries Licenses

London, October 15, (Canadian Press Cable)—Judicial Committee of the Privy Council today dismissed the appeal of the Dominion of Canada from a ruling of the Canadian Supreme Court which held that section 7A and 18 of the Canadian Fisheries Act of 1914 were ultra vires Dominion Parliament.
 Judgment of the highest court of appeal means that the Canadian Government loses its fight to maintain these clauses under which is set up a system of licensing of fish canneries.
 British Columbia fishermen of Japanese origin, and the provinces of British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec were respondents in the action.

GOVERNMENT MUST FULFIL CONTRACTS

London, October 15, (Canadian Press Cable)—The case of the Dominion Building Corporation against the Dominion of Canada was up-held by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council today. Privy Council allowed the appeal of the corporation, which sought to hold the Government to a contract entered into during the short McPherson administration, of 1925 for the purchase of a million dollar property in Toronto for the Canadian National Railways. The transaction had been disapproved by the succeeding King Government.

INTERESTING WINDOW DISPLAY

Geen's Drug Store are featuring an interesting window display, in one of their large windows they are showing implements that were in use many years ago, when a druggist had to make his own pills. In the window are an ancient powder mill used for making condition powders, a pill machine for the making of pills and a little dipper that was in use when the present proprietor, Rev. A. L. Geen, bought the business and which was used for many years afterwards. A great metal pestle and mortar are also to be seen as well as measuring glasses and instruments. Many have stopped to look at these almost forgotten articles, with out which a druggist could never have carried on some years ago.

STRONG HOPE FOR RECOVERY

Charles Doyle, the young man who was seriously injured last Saturday afternoon at Massasauga by a bullet from a 22 rifle which entered his body, is holding his own as well as can be expected, according to Dr. Foster, who is attending him. Strong hopes are being held out for his recovery, which will be almost a miracle, as it is well known that his injuries would prove fatal in a short time.

ROAD COMPLETED

Work on the Tweed road should be completed today excepting for the shoring on the sides. Men have been at work on it's highway for nearly seven weeks. A vast improvement can be noticed and motor traffic will doubtless increase with the new road.

OPEN BRANCH MILL

The Tweed Milling Company, of Tweed, have opened a branch mill opposite Belleville Canning Company in the Judge Jones stand, and are carrying a full line of feeds as well as doing custom grinding. Terms cash, but prices right.

GUIDES IN BANCROFT

Mrs. W. N. Ponton, Divisional Commissioner for Girl Guides in Belleville, Mrs. M. A. Branscomb, captain of No. 3 Company and Miss Grace Jackson, lieutenant, motored to Bancroft yesterday to choose a commissioner for that district and to re-organize Guide work there.

PRESENTED WITH LAMP

Mrs. R. M. Vandervoort, formerly of Avondale and now residing on Cedar Street, was surprised at her home yesterday afternoon by 25 of her Avondale friends. She was presented with a beautiful table lamp as a token of remembrance and a pleasant time was enjoyed renewing acquaintances.

PETTY THEFTS

The motoring public is warned to lock the doors of all cars when left on the street, as an epidemic of petty thefts from cars seems to have started in this city. None of the articles taken so far have been of any particular value, but they are extremely annoying to the motorists who are the victims.

CONDITION CRITICAL

Mrs. E. K. Lowell, of Boston, Mass., who was seriously injured in a motor accident west of the city on Sunday morning is still in a critical condition, according to the attending physician, Dr. J. J. Robertson. Mrs. Lowell is sixty-one years of age, and suffered the serious injury to a woman of her age of a broken pelvis.

RETURNED EMPTY-HANDED

Mr. Jack Gray, Jr., and party went hunting round Massasauga for ducks, but they failed to get their quota. Barring a blackbird that they shot in mistake, their bags were empty.

BIG TIME AT REDNERSVILLE

Rednersville residents and many others from the surrounding points and Belleville attended the big winter roast held in Rednersville last night. Music was played for square and round dancing, the festivities lasting until far into the night. It was a jolly event.

PARCELS FOUND

S. H. Sheppard, of Point Anne, informed the City Police this morning that two parcels had been left in his car, apparently by mistake and he accordingly returned them to the Police Station. Without doubt the owner can claim them by identifying the parcels.

ACCEPTS NEW POSITION

Dr. Carl Brownson B.A. has accepted a position with the New York State Exchange, New York City, in connection with the Medical Department of that firm. Dr. Brownson has recently completed a year and a half as House Surgeon at the Memorial Hospital, Morrisville, New Jersey, and will begin his new duties immediately.

ATTENDING RE-UNION

Dr. George H. Stobie is attending the medical re-union of the graduates and doctors of the Mayo Clinic, at Rochester, Minn. He is also attending the meeting of the members of the American College of Surgeons at Chicago and the International Congress of Surgeons at Detroit. Mrs. Stobie and children accompanied him as far as Detroit.

GOING TO TORONTO

Colonel W. N. Ponton, K.C., is leaving tonight to attend the meeting of the members of the Law Society of Upper Canada, which is being held tomorrow. He will also attend, while in Toronto, the meeting at which Ram say MacDonald, Prime Minister of Great Britain, will have the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws conferred upon him. The event will take place this evening.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT

Mr. John Howard has been appointed to the position of superintendent for the Corby Public Library to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Mr. Benjamin Burton. The duties of the new caretaker will commence on November the first. Mr. Burton has been with the library for the last fifteen years, approximately, and during that time he has made many friends. He was a fairly tall figure around the building and he was missed. Mr. Burton intends to leave for California but he will remain here for sometime yet. Mr. Burton has been residing with his son, Mr. A. C. Burton, 144 Albert Street.

advised that the Prime Minister of Great Britain and his "charming daughter," would be present at the first meeting in Toronto, of the federation.

Message of Friendship

Mr. MacDonald rose to speak, but again the applause broke out and he was forced to stand for a brief interval with a smile on his face until the cheering and clapping subsided. Then in tones of great earnestness the Labour Leader of Great Britain brought to the Labour organizations of the United States and Canada his message of friendship and good will. Labour, said Mr. MacDonald, speaking not as a party leader, but as head of the British nation, stood for those things which he had come to America to promote. He was on no political mission but nevertheless the cause of the workman had a warm corner in his heart at all times.

SHORT COURSE IN AGRICULTURE

Young Men And Women of Sidney And Thurlow Given Opportunity

The young men and young women of Sidney and Thurlow Townships will have an opportunity of attending a course in Agriculture or Home Economics for three months, commencing November 26th. The course is a course of instruction in practical agriculture for the boys. It includes livestock judging, seed judging, farm mechanics, gas engines and tractors, veterinary science, poultry keeping, book-keeping and a number of other subjects equally interesting and instructive. The course in Home Economics for the girls and young women of the district will include a study of household science, sewing, home nursing and needle craft. Competent instruction from the institute branch will be in charge of the girls' course and it is expected that this course will be well attended. The average attendance of the girls' course has been forty-one. Women interested in any phase or art of the course will have the opportunity of attending lectures and demonstrations. Hastings is one of the six counties in Ontario to receive a course of this kind. As a number of people of the county have, on different occasions, requested the Ontario Department of Agriculture for special instructions along these lines, it is hoped that they will take advantage of this opportunity to learn the latest in farm methods.

PRESTO MUSIC CLUB LAY PLANS

The members of the Presto Music Club spent a most enjoyable evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Riggs on Monday.

Final arrangements were discussed for the outstanding musical event of the season, when the people of Belleville will be privileged to hear Esther Dale, the New York artist, early next month. A delightful programme was then presented:

1. "Come Down to Kew," Carl Dels. Mr. Anglin.

2. "Concert Stuck," Von Weber; Bessie Ballowand, Mr. Hunt — two pianos.

3. "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," "Steal Away," "The Gospel Train," Burley; John Deacon.

4. "Reflections on the Water," piano Delusse; Leona Riggs.

5. "Two Magicians," Pearl Curran; Helen Luscombe.

6. Selections from Petite Concert suite; Coleridge-Taylor; Ross Hunter, violin.

7. "Bird Songs at Eventide," Eric Coates.

"Selections from Martha," Flotow; John Deacon.

8. "The Dance Macabre," Saent Saens; Leo Riggs and Leona Riggs — two pianos.

SHOES CLEARLY SHOW A WOMAN'S CHARACTER

Nothing reveals a woman's character so clearly as her shoes, writes a psychologist in the London Daily Express. Shoes in which the feet float aimlessly, leaving gaps at the side or spaces at the heel, definitely indicate a woman who is careless and slovenly. You have all seen this type shuffling along with stockings puckered at the ankles, on the "twist," or baggy at the knees.

Then there is the woman who squeezes her feet into shoes too small, so that the exaggerated instep bulges between the bars and over the sides of the shoes. Is she vain or merely ignorant? She is certainly foolish. She jeopardizes her health by crushing and cramping the muscles and nerves of her feet.

Cheap shoes say ugly things about the wearer. Granted there is much temptation in these days of dear living to purchase shoes which, in addition to being shabby, are inexpensively priced, but they are usually made of poor quality leather, which will not stand up to hard wear; they are useless as a foot protector in rainy weather; and when the gloss has worn off they look cheap.

Cracked uppers and frayed or turned-up edges to the sole are an index of shoddiness and betray the parsimonious soul who does not realize that good quality is cheapest in the end. The woman who wins admiration for her footwear is the woman who chooses with discrimination, studying coloring and style, with an eye to the fundamental principles of foot hygiene.

Fashion may decree pointed toes and high heels, but she remembers that toes too pointed and heels too high are detrimental to health. She will choose a shoe which fits the foot snugly and does not cramp it. She will see that it is of good quality material, with a reasonably stout leather sole, and an inside sole also of leather, capable of giving the arch of the foot proper support.

"STARVED HEARTS"

BY Mildred Barbour

XIV. THE DAWN OF FREEDOM

Most of the preparations for their departure for California fell to Barbara.

Madelon was undergoing the numbness of despair. Since the morning that Julian had sailed for Europe, out of her life forever, as she told herself—she had been unable to force an interest in the world about her. Her grief was too new to take out into the bright winter sunlight.

What interest had she in smart summer frocks, flowery hats, and sunshades? It mattered not to her whether Pasadena or Long Beach or Kam chatka was to be their destination; whether they traveled by the Sunset route or the Northern Pacific. Her journey would be along the Road of Despair.

But Youth coupled with abundant health cannot pine indefinitely, and, though the ache in her heart was ceaseless, she came gradually to lose the look of haunting sadness that wrung Ann's heart and, at moments, caused Barbara to forget her own discomfiture.

In spite of Barton's protests, she had wrested from him the promise that he would not write. "I couldn't bear it," she had pleaded. "Every letter would reopen the wound. In spite of all you say, in spite of our hope that we may be together some day after your service abroad, we know in our hearts that it can never be as long as Uncle Stephen lives. So let's not make ourselves too miserable with our hopeless love. Let's tuck it away in our hearts as some beautiful dream that can never be. I love you now and shall matter what life has in store for me."

In the end, he had promised to yield to her whim, and they had parted with a long embrace which had left them both shaken and awed by the intensity of their love. The memory of his arms and his lips crushing hers remained with her. She remembered them poignantly long, long afterwards, one black night in Honolulu.

Ann came to see the two girls off; likewise Stephen's secretary, Lane. Lane church was engaged with a committee meeting. Both Barbara and Madelon were secretly relieved. They felt that their escape from bondage was beginning prematurely and were accordingly grateful.

"No words can tell how I am going to miss you girls," declared Ann, tossing her offerings of books and bonbons onto the stationer's couch. "First thing you know I'll be coming out myself like a faithful old Dog Tray."

For the dozenth time, Lane's secretary came to impress Barbara with the significance of the yards and yards of tickets which he had turned over to her, and to repeat his employer's instructions in regard to suitable hotels, should they miss connections anywhere, and stated places at which to telegraph their progress.

"My heavens!" muttered Ann in disgust. "Does he think you are children? Isn't it like Stephen to regard women as fools and idiots? I dare say he counseled you against accepting magazines from strange men, and warned you not to leave your purse in the diner, or put your head out of the window in a tunnel? Well, I must be off. Don't forget me, and wire me if you want me."

Madelon accompanied her to the platform and kissed her warmly. She stood watching Ann's sturdy, plump little figure making its brisk way to the exit gate, and there were tears in her eyes.

As she turned to re-enter the car, she found herself face to face with a man who had come silently onto the platform.

He was regarding her gravely. There was a hint of admiration in his eyes which caused her instantly to avert her own.

She scarcely realized what a charming vision she was in her smart

"It Helped All My Troubles"

"I was all run-down and out of spirits before my third baby was born, so I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I had heard so much about it. It helped me with all my troubles and gave me an appetite where before I didn't eat at all and had to stop work and rest every once in a while. I did all of my housework up to the day my baby came, and I am a farmer's wife and could not afford help before. I feel just dandy now and I will answer any letter and I will tell every one how good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is."—Mrs. Ira Adams, Box 63, Rocklake, North Dakota.

"Oh do!" urged Madelon. She felt immeasurably sad at leaving Ann. Not only had she become devoted to the older woman, but she felt that, in leaving her, she was severing the last tie that bound her to Julian Barton. Already her love affair was beginning to seem unreal, so completely had Lane swept its every evidence from her life. Soon she would come to believe that it had been only a beautiful dream, and Julian but the Prince Charming of a young girl's imagination.

For the dozenth time, Lane's secretary came to impress Barbara with the significance of the yards and yards of tickets which he had turned over to her, and to repeat his employer's instructions in regard to suitable hotels, should they miss connections anywhere, and stated places at which to telegraph their progress.

He was regarding her gravely. There was a hint of admiration in his eyes which caused her instantly to avert her own.

She scarcely realized what a charming vision she was in her smart dark traveling frock. Her rich somber furs set off her shining blondness, flushed cheeks, and crimson mouth. The bright, unshed tears made her eyes like violets dipped in the dew, of a summer morning.

The secretary came out on the platform.

"Is there anything else that I can do, Miss Lane?" he asked.

"Nothing, thank you. Give my adieux to Uncle Stephen, please."

She held out her hand and nodded her good bye.

WHAT'S NEW (From a Woman's Standpoint)

A Lorton report says all-white evening gowns, which show off unadorned skins have become the mode, and the Berkeley and other smart restaurants are thronged nightly by white-clad women, some with necks so bronzed that pearls look like white ivory against them.

Much flat crepe was seen at the Longchamps races, interpreting the new silhouettes, of which the one with the fitted sheath, low flare achieved by circular or loose pleats, and a higher belted waistline and slight blouse predominated.

Metal frocks for formal afternoon Sunday night supper wear and formal evening occasions, are being highlighted in New York, where manufacturers of exclusive merchandise report that frocks in the metal tissues and metal brocades are more popular than ever before.

Every Woman Should Know the comfort and security of

Kotex, the New and Improved Sanitary Napkin

True comfort during times of hygienic distress, because Kotex fits like a garment and is easy to adjust. Wonderfully soft and pliable, and exceedingly absorbent.

Absolute security and safety, ensuring freedom from worry. It deodorizes by a patented process.

Kotex protects against serious consequences that so often follow when proper care is not taken. Doctors and nurses advise Kotex.

No embarrassment when buying. Just say Kotex at any drug, dry goods or departmental store. Regular size 60c. for box of a dozen. Super-size 75c. Directions in every package.

5 Features of the New and Improved Kotex

1. Kotex is soft—Not a deceptive softness, that soon changes into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
2. Safe, secure—Keeps your mind at ease.
3. Fits like a garment—Is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.
4. In hospitals—Kotex is the identical material used by surgeons in most leading hospitals.
5. Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a patented process.

Best for All Your Baking

"I use Purity Flour now and I'm really delighted with my baking."

(From "Letters to Mother" by a Modern Canadian Housewife.)

"I heard a lady talk on 'Flour' over at Margaret's house the other evening and I certainly learned a few things. Since then I have tried 'Purity Flour' and I was amazed to find that 'Purity' imparts a wonderful flavor to my baking."

I used to think that bread flour—some people call 'Purity' a bread flour—had to be leavened with yeast for hours before being made into layer cake. I laugh at the idea now because I baked in less than an hour a delightful Orange and Raisin Cake with Purity Flour, and when I used the last of it, three days after it was baked, it was almost as moist as when taken from the oven."

I learned also that Purity Flour is especially rich in protein as it is milled from the best western hard spring wheat. As I like my baking to be really nourishing I feel I have made a happy selection in 'Purity'.

Interior decorators relieve the monotony of plain toned carpets or dull ones with scatter rugs in bright reds, blues, oranges or in any bright patterns. Hooked rugs are effective used in this way.

Buttered crumbs used for making scalloped foods are made by mixing dried crumbs with melted butter, using a fourth of a cup of butter to one cup of crumbs.

Kerosene is useful for cleaning polished woods that would be injured by alkalis.

Cover grease spots on wood or stone with flour, starch or powdered chalk which will absorb the grease. Pouring cold water on it as soon as it is spilled will harden it and the greater part may then be scraped off.

GRAND JURY'S REPORT

Following is the report of the Grand Jury at the Autumn Assizes:

To The Honourable Mr. Justice Wright, Your Lordship:

We, the Grand Jury for the Court of Oyer and Terminer and General Gaol Delivery of the County of Hastings, beg leave to report as follows:

We desire to thank your Lordship for your very able, clear and explicit instructions in the law in reference to the consideration of criminal cases which came up before us, and also in reference to our other duties.

We desire to thank Acting Sheriff Ketcheson for his kindness and attention, also the Court Prosecutor, Mr. Williams and Crown Attorney Mr. Donnan, for their efficient and valuable assistance.

We visited the County Gaol and found therein sixteen males and one female.

A great deal of credit is due Mr. Ketcheson, the Gaoler, Mrs. Ketcheson the Matron and Mr. Collins the Turnkey for the efficient manner they discharge their respective duties. The buildings were very clean and orderly.

We visited the House of Refuge and found everything in a very orderly and cleanly condition. Mr. Sandercock, the Superintendent, and Mrs. Sandercock were very courteous and willing to answer any questions that we asked them and accompanied us through the various departments of the institution. We also visited the barns and found recommend that the barns be painted and arrangements made for increased storage facilities for vegetables, also a new hot water tank for the present one required. We would also suggest that Mr. Sandercock receive monthly salary as we understand that he provides his own car and pays for the upkeep of same, which he uses a great deal in connection with the duties of the institution. We found therein seventy inmates which were contented and happy.

We visited the Children's Shelter and found it very clean and orderly. Miss Harris, the matron, was very courteous and attentive in showing us through the building. There were twenty-nine children in the institution and all seemed to be contented.

We also visited the Ontario School for the Deaf and the men were very pleased indeed with conditions there. Mr. Campbell, the principal, and Miss Ford were very painstaking in showing us through the building. On inquiry we found there were three hundred and eight students in attendance which is the most that has ever attended the institution in one year. The children all appeared healthy and happy. We were very much impressed with the efficiency shown by the scholars and feel that Hastings County is to be complimented upon having such a fine institution, which is a credit to this province.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Dated October 15th, A.D. 1929.

FAMILY HONORED BEFORE REMOVAL TO THEIR HOME

Mr. and Mrs. George Hamilton Take Departure For Marmora Village

On Tuesday evening, October 8th, about one hundred friends from Eldorado and vicinity gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Bronson, to spend a social evening and to bid fare well to Mr. and Mrs. George Hamilton and family, prior to their departure to their new home at Marmora. The evening was spent in games, music and social intercourse. Following is the address read by Mr. E. A. Fitchett, of Eldorado:—

Eldorado, Ont., October 8-29
Dear Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton and Family:—

The air these beautiful autumn days is tinged with the note of the sadness of farewell of birds migrating south, and flowers that have gone to rest. Like the birds about you too, it seems as if you are migrating from our midst. The flight of the birds and the death of the flowers, render in nature a void that is hard to fill. Your departure from us we assure you, kindles within us a feeling akin to that inspired by the passing of these. It would impart a note of comfort if your autumn flight, like theirs, carried with it the promise of a Spring return.

The years you have spent among us, have been characterized by a hospitality, a friendliness and good will which we shall not soon forget. Nor shall we soon forget the disposition to sympathize, to assist, to play the neighbour at all times that has been yours. And while indulging to night in these happy felicitations over the pleasant hours and memories of the past, we take this opportunity of presenting to you these chairs and a mantle clock. May Time, as you view its flight from the dial of this clock, seated, we hope, in the comfort of these chairs, deal lightly and kindly with you.

May also the leaf of friendship and remembrance that grows between us know neither autumn's yellow nor gold but retain ever its summer green for those you leave behind.

Signed on behalf of the Community:
FRED CHAMBERS,
WM. ANDREWS,
A. SHAW,
L. SANDFORD.
Mr. Hamilton, although taken by surprise, thanked the people very kindly for their kind remembrances and cordially invited all to come and visit them in their new home.

A dainty luncheon was afterward served by the young people after which all departed to their homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton every happiness in their new home.

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that it meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

It is a fact well known to residents of Belleville and District that this city with its diversity of industries, its increasing number of progressive and modern business houses, its agricultural district which is unexcelled in fertility and conditions favorable to productive growth take a second place to any District in Ontario of similar size.

Yet there is another factor which is vitally important if the City and District is to progress as it should. It is absolutely necessary that each and every resident play his and her part in boosting the District.

And while words are good, and useful and serve the beneficial purpose of advertising the undoubted advantages of the District, yet it is a more tangible form of support which is necessary.

That form of support consists in the spending of one's money, as far as is possible within the District, and thus helping to turn the wheels of industry, which in turn provide employment for increased numbers and so the circle of prosperity is complete.

Buy At Home, in your own City and in your own District, and you'll be a valued citizen working in its interest of your community. Then you'll be truly Boosting the Bay of Quinte District.

SPORTING
SECTIONQUEEN VICTORIA
WIN HARVEY CUPPine Street Boys Victors
In Hard-Fought Football Contest

SCORE WAS 6-2

Nunn, Rigby And Morgan
Starred For Victors
Last Night

Queen Victoria were the victors at Queen Alexandra School grounds Tuesday afternoon for the Harvey Football Cup. A good game was expected as neither team had been defeated. Queen Victoria won the toss and Briant kicked off. Anne Street team attacked but Rigby kicked clear. Play went to the other end and Morgan shot over the bar. From the goal kick the home team pressed and Knott shot by. End-to-end play followed each team attacking hard for a scramble near the home goal. Nunn drove a hard shot in giving Briant no chance and the Queen Victoria's were a goal ahead. Briant kicked off and for a while the home team pressed Morgan and Rigby however kept them out. Knott passed to Howie who scored a good goal and the teams were level again 1-1. Dickie kicked off and mid-field play followed. Then Queen Victoria were awarded a free kick. Hope placed the ball over to Morgan who dribbled in and shot but Briant fisted it out and Morgan again got possession and made no mistake by scoring the second goal for the victors. From the kick off Anne Street went to the other end and forced a corner but Yeoman's fisted away. Matthews then shot over a free kick brought relief and Hope placed the ball down the field. Angell dribbled down and then centred and Nunn secured to beat Briant for the visitors third game. Half-time came soon afterwards. Changing over Dickie kicked off to Rowbottom and Morgan but Lindsay cleared and play went to the visitor's goal. Kidd shot and just missed the upright. From the goal kick, Dimmie shot over. The wing men Mylchrest and Angell got away and a good centre resulted in Nunn scoring another goal. The home team tried hard to reduce the lead. A free kick against the visitors nearly resulted in a goal. Seward took the kick and the ball struck the upright and bounced into play. Nice combination took the visitors to the other end and a pass in front of goal saw Nunn score the fifth goal. End to end play followed and at last Anne Street forced a corner. Knott took the kick and Briant scored Anne Street second goal. Afterwards Rigby scored again for Queen Victoria. The result being Queen Victoria 6, Anne Street 2. It was a good hard game. The teams were as follows:

Queen Victoria	Goal	Anne St.
Yeomans	Backs	Briant
Morgan		Lindsay
Rigby		Kidd
Nunn	Halves	Steward
Hammitt	Hope	Matthews
Morgan	Forwards	Dimmie
Rowbottom		Howie
Angell		Knott
Mylchrest		Kokesh
		Vannorman

For the winners, Nunn, Rigby and Morgan were the best, while Howie, Briant and Knott were the pick of the losers. Mr. Robinson was referee, and Mr. Anderson and Mr. Bateman, Touch Judges.

ARRANGE DINNER FOR CHAMPIONS
IN PHILADELPHIAConnie Mack Says He Will Be Managing Athletics
At Seventy

Philadelphia, Pa., October 16.—This city's first world's championship baseball team since 1913 yesterday postponed its disbandment for the winter until after Thursday night. As soon as the championship became a fact yesterday the Chamber of Commerce, the Penn. Athletic Club, the Philadelphia Sports Writers' Association and prominent city officials joined forces to organize a banquet in honor of Connie Mack and his victorious "White Elephants."

Every major league club owner has been invited to attend, also Judge Landis, and Managers Joe McCarthy of the Cubs, Harry A. Mackey, Philadelphia's Mayor, will be toastmaster. The banquet will be held at the Penn. Athletic Club at 7 p.m. Thursday.

The players reported to Connie Mack at his office yesterday morning, most of them with the intention of leaving immediately for their homes. Because of the banquet all except those leaving within a few hours travelling from Philadelphia, changed their plans.

Bishop and Rommel, who live in Baltimore, Fox, whose wife and two weeks old son are at the home of Mrs. Fox's parents at Dover, Del., Boley, whose home is at Mahoning City, Pa., a Montclair, N.J., citizen, Burns and Dykes, who are Philadelphians, and a few of the others were at home yesterday, but will be present for the banquet.

The most serious upset of home-going plans happened in the case of Jimmy Cronin, young reserve infielder, who had arranged to cover most of the distance between here and his home at Oakland, Cal., by airplane. Cronin spent most of the day rearranging his schedule to fit the "White Elephants" banquet.

Connie Mack left for Atlantic City yesterday afternoon for a two day rest. The sixty-seven year-old baseball leader who now stands as the only manager with four world's championships to his credit, has been the recipient of congratulations by wire and mail from all parts of the country. Despite his advanced age he has shown no signs of wearing out under championship world's series worry or the strain of his long career.

"He raised his hands over his head and shouted three times, 'champions, champions, champions,'" "When he came into the club house," related Max Bishop, "he took hold of each player by the shoulders, then hugged him tight and passed to the next man. He has always treated us like his own children, but never so much as in the club house Monday after the game. We were acting like kids, too, so you can't blame him."

The baseball world has been expecting some announcement of retirement from Mr. Mack now that his ten years' ambition to rebuild a championship team has been realized. Nothing of the sort seems to be in his mind, however. "It will be a great thing to manage a ball club at the age of 70," was Mr. Mack's most recent comment on the subject. "I will know when the right times comes for me to step

LIPTON RACES
A COSTLY SPORT

Boston, Mass., October 16. (By Canadian Press).—With four defenders of the America's Cup already planned, out, and there is no sign of it yet. As long as my health stays good, I will be managing the Athletics."

Each of the four American yachts that Sir Thomas will appear, other local directors on the Board it was dethe task of meeting Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge next year promises to be one of the most financially extravagant against sporting events in history.

The four American yachts will represent an outlay of approximately $2,000,000. They will meet in an elimination race to decide which shall have the honor of meeting the famous British yachtman's Shamrock V. And as soon as one has been selected, the other three will spring in cash value to a very small portion of the outlay represented.

American yachting enthusiasts are going ahead and building the four boats with not the slightest guarantee represented.

will represent about $500,000 when they go over the starting line. Or this, some thing more than $200,000 will be represented by the boat builder's work. The balance will be accounted for by expenses attendant to fitting out, equipment, crew and various incidental expenses. After the elimination race, experts say it would be difficult to obtain $500,000, one tenth, for the three unsuccessful contenders.

SETTLE GRIEVANCES OF ALBERTA NURSES

Edmonton, Alta., October 16. (By the Canadian Press).—Settling the grievances of nurses in training at the General hospital will be taken up at once by committees representing the board and staff. At a meeting of medical directors on the Board it was declined that they would ask the graduate nurses have charge of each floor in the General Hospital, and the Sisters in charge of departments must be able to speak the English language with fluency.

AIKINS W. M. S.

The monthly meeting of Aikins W. M. S. met on Thursday October 10, at the home of Mrs. William Hamilton. The meeting opened by singing "Rescue the Perishing" and prayer by Mr. B. Hodge. The scripture lesson, S. John, 15th chapter, 1 to 17th verse was read by Mr. H. Hubble. "Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you." And a reading on this lesson by Mrs. B. Westover, entitled "My Friends". The roll call was called each responded with a verse of scripture. The minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. The programme a nitee for next month: Mrs. Finkle and Mrs. McMullen.

Hymn: "What a Friend we have in Jesus".

Mr. Hinchcliffe gave a reading of Our Home Mission Work in Toronto, taken from the annual report. The Watch Tower was given by six "bards" of the North: Honan, India, Stewart, Temple and West. China, two minutes each.

Mrs. Jennie Moon gave a splendid reading on Temperance, which was an appeal to the mothers of Ontario to work, vote and pray to save the child. In the coming campaign, let us stand for the King of Kings or King Alcohol. We must let no party influence us. Whoever is elected, we must prohibit alcohol to save our country. Let it stain every nerve to unfurl the white banner of prohibition in Ontario and let us do our part. It is very sure

PREMIER SPOKE AT PICTON AND NAPANEE Interest In Mayoralty Keen With Four Good Candidates Possible

FOUR STRONG ENTRIES PROBABLE IN THIS YEAR'S MAYORALTY RACE

KINGSTON LAD DEAD, STRUCK BY A CAR

Kingston, Oct. 18.—Harold Nutall, 11, was instantly killed here last night when struck by an automobile driven by a man named George Francisco. The driver of the car stated he did not see the lad until too late to stop.

SUCCESS CROWNS GREAT "Y" DRIVE

Objective In Sight With Some Days To Go—
Hopes Are High

$4,548 Was the total reached today by the Y. M. C. A. Financial Drive workers, and their objective of $6,000 is thus seen to be only a short distance off. The canvassers are sure that they will raise the necessary total by Monday night, when the campaign ends, but will put forth every effort to put the campaign across in real style, and hope to go several hundred dollars over the six thousand.

H. W. Ackerman, heading the Special Names Committee, reported that today he secured $2,000 dollars, exceeding his quota of two thousand and the campaign still has two days to go. Major Bert Jennings and his team of workers also went over their quota today, they having turned in $1,450 and their quota being only one thousand dollars. Major Chas. Hanna's division is only two hundred dollars short of their objective, and Major Joe Smith less than four hundred. All expect to be able to report that they have secured their quota at the meeting on Monday night.

Prize Winning Teams
The prize for the division securing the most money since noon yesterday went to Mr. Jennings' division, they bringing in $423 today. The H. J. Clarke-Russ-Wotten combination turned in a total of $172, which carried off the team prize, and Steve License had the most calls, numbering 22. The honour of wearing the shirt presented by W.B. Deacon, went today to Russ Wotten as he had the most number of successful calls. The teams will meet for final reports on Monday at 6:30 o'clock, with the Y's Men Club.

PICTON HOSPITAL ADDITION COMPLETE

To provide more accommodation for the Picton General Hospital workmen have been engaged on an addition to the buildings. The work is now completed, giving ample room for the patients, a new need in the past. J. Arnold Thomson, architect of this city, prepared the plans for the alterations and many words of commendation have been heard in regard to the improvement.

CONDITION GRAVE

Bishop Fallon Given Last
Rites of Church—Suffered Relapse

London, Oct. 18.—Condition of the Right Rev. Michael Fallon, Bishop of the Diocese of London, remained unchanged this morning. A consultation of attending physicians was held during the morning.

Bishop Fallon, who has been seriously ill for ten days, suffered a series of relapses yesterday. Last night his condition became so grave he was given the last rites of the church.

BOTH KINDS OF LUCK FOLLOWED SIMPSON

Luck, good and bad, followed Geo. Simpson yesterday, when he fell from a second storey window, which he was cleaning on McAnnany Street. Simpson's foot slipped off the window sill and he fell fifteen feet only to land unhurt on three bags of shavings piled below on the pavement.

Interest Grows As Prominent Candidates Intimate Their Intentions

FRENCH AND HANNA

Are Possible Additions To Present Mayor And Ald.
George Reid

One of the hottest Mayoralty contests within the last several years will be furnished Belleville ratepayers in December, if early indications materialize. Interest is already growing keen, with two candidates having announced themselves while two others are considering the matter and will have definite decisions to offer within the next two weeks. It will be a great race.

Mayor Greenleaf has definitely stated that he will be in the field, seeking a second term. Ald. George A. Reid who is now serving his second year in the Council was approached recently by an intelligence reporter regarding his plans and while he did not make a definite announcement, he intimated that he will seek the Chief Magistracy's chair. Ald. Reid, a keen, outstanding member of the municipal board has made many friends in the last two years.

Ald. F. French Likely
Ald. C. H. French who is now in his sixth year in the council states, "that he will either run for Mayor or retire this year." Mr. French has been approached by a number of ratepayers with regard to his candidature, and he is lending a listening ear to their proposals that he submit his name.

One of the most likely candidates is Chas. Hanna, Ex. M.P., former Mayor and Alderman. Mr. Hanna was interviewed this morning, and to queries, he said, "I may run, I have not reached a decision yet." Mr. Hanna was one of the most popular of officials to occupy the mayoralty chair and should he decide to enter the field, he will undoubtedly stand a splendid chance of being elected. Mr. Hanna is connected with practically every organization in the city and has made many friends.

It is rumored that a number of new candidates will seek the Aldermanic chairs in the approaching election.

PAY PENSION TO WIDOW OVERSEAS

Labor Government Makes Important Change In Scope of Bill

London, Oct. 18. (G.P. Cable)—Any widow who felt she wanted a chance for her children in the Dominions and emigrated, or old people who joined their children in the Dominions would be paid pensions overseas, Mr. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal, said in the course of a speech at Mansion House today.

The Government had reached this decision in framing its amendment to the Pensions Act, which was published recently, Mr. Thomas said. The bill has already been attacked by Conservatives for the additional expense it will entail in increased pensions.

ENLARGED FACTORY READY FOR WORK

Installation of machinery for the Cash Factory is taking place today following the completion of the building for the new factory. The building erected this year is the first unit of the scheme which the authorities have in mind. The progress of the company is growing steadily and the factory had to be enlarged.

Fusilade of Police Bullets Alarm Albert St. Residents This Morning

Sharp reports of a revolver from the gun of a Belleville police man about nine o'clock this morning sent some residents of Albert St., scurrying for their lives, but brought more out on the street to see what all the excitement was about. And there was plenty of excitement for five or ten minutes.

One of the faithful coal horses owned by the F. S. Anderson Coal Company had the misfortune to fall and break a leg on Albert Street, just above Queen Street, and the police were called to dispatch it to "horse heaven," if there be such a place. The officer took careful aim and placed down the long trail,

A WOMAN IS A "PERSON" DECIDE THE LAW LORDS OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL

And Now The Ladies May Go To The Senate If They Wish

London, October 18. (Canadian Press Cable)—Women are eligible to be summoned and become members of the Senate of Canada.

Their lordships of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, rendered this opinion today on an appeal by five representative women of Alberta against an adverse decision of the Canadian Supreme Court. Contrary to the Supreme Court, the Privy Council today came to the conclusion: "That the word 'persons' includes members of both male and female sex." The appeal hinged upon the meaning to be placed on the word "Persons" as contained in a clause of the British North America Act.

Lord Chancellor of Great Britain, Lord Sankey, delivered judgment, taking the unusual course of reading it in full before the court. For some years it has been the practice merely to announce the general result and to send out written copies to those interested. The judgment was of exceptional interest not only for the constitutional point involved, but because it also raised the question of the general status of women.

Pleasure Is Expressed At Ferguson's
Announcement

Toronto, October 18.—The announcement of Premier G. Howard Ferguson, that the provincial government would pay the expenses of the thirteen holders of the Victoria Cross in Ontario to the Prince of Wales during his visit to London, was hailed with delight by the local winners of the coveted decoration.

It was at first thought that only a few of the Ontario V.C.s would be able to accept the invitation of the Prince of Wales owing to the heavy expense involved, but the decision of Premier Ferguson now assures almost a full representation.

The list of Ontario's V.C.s is as follows: William George Barker, Colin Barron, William Avery Blais, Thomas William Homes, George Fraser Keir, Philip Konowal, Major MacDowell, William Merrifield, George Randolph Peakes, Charles Smith Rutherford, Walter Bayfield, B. H. George and H. H. Robson.

"Because she was a witch and had killed a hundred people just by wishing them dead," the verdict carries a life sentence.

I. O. D. E. IS NOT POLITICAL BODY

President of Women's Organization Refuses To Make Comment

Ottawa, October 18.—"Imperial Order of Daughters of the Empire are not interested as an order in political measures," declared Mrs. J. A. Stewart of Perth, Ont., national president of the I. O. D. E., here today, when invited to comment on the decision of the Judicial Committee of Privy Council upholding the view that "women" are "persons" within the meaning of the British North America Act.

"The I. O. D. E. is an organization aimed at upholding the Imperial nation, bettering citizenship, caring for ex-soldiers, engaging in child welfare work, and looking after immigrants. I do not care to give an opinion on a political issue," she added.

"That is very satisfactory," was the comment of Mrs. J. A. Wilson, President of the National Council of Women. "It is satisfactory that one of the remaining disabilities for women has been removed and that women may now be regarded as full citizens of Canada. It now remains for women to show themselves worthy of the position of their being called to the senate."

Two Monster Rallies Enthuse Over Premier Ferguson's Story Of Progress In Banner Province

Picton Armouries Packed To Hear Ontario's Man Of The Hour

NO BACKWARD STEPS
Leader Tells of Advancement In All Sections And All Classes

(By SAM R. CURRY)
(Staff Writer)

Any doubts that lingered in the minds of the people of Prince Edward County regarding the popularity of Horace Colliver, the Conservative candidate for re-election, in the riding were vanquished yesterday afternoon in the armories at Picton, when two thousand people came from every corner of the county to tender Premier Howard Ferguson a rousing ovation on his campaign tour. The Prime Minister, in a spirited address, which occupied the better part of two hours, dwelt on the accomplishments of the Government during the past regime and painted a vivid picture of the expansion programme which will be attempted, providing the Conservative party is returned to power.

The Premier turned his guns on the Liberal party and W. E. N. Sinclair, at frequent intervals, flailing the Liberal leader for his profligate and indefinite policies and attacking the Progressive leader, Mr. Lethbridge, for his pointless arguments on the control of liquor, all of which brought instant and hearty approval from the assemblage.

Mr. Ferguson discussed the financial condition of the province and made some caustic references to Mr. Sinclair's proposals to cut the expenditures of the Province.

Mr. W. J. McPaul, President of the Conservative Association, presided at the affair, in his brief remarks urged the support of Mr. Colliver and the Conservative party on their record of the past year.

Mr. Horace Colliver was the first speaker to appear and he solicited the co-operation of the people of Prince Edward in the campaign. He offered his thanks for his acclamation in 1926 and said it was the first time in the history of the County that an acclamation had been tendered to either the Federal or the Provincial member in the riding. "It was a great tribute to myself and the party which I share the honour of representing," he said.

Canadian Gov't Takes Up Case of "Shawnee" With Washington

Washington, Oct. 18.—Another case of a United States coastguard firing at a Canadian vessel has joined the long list of incidents as a sub-famous "Tm Alone" incident, the latest of diplomatic exchanges between the Ottawa and Washington governments.

The Canadian legation has asked the State Department for a report on the action of a coastguard boat in firing upon the Canadian motorship "Shawnee" on the night of September 11, off New York harbor. At the same time the version of the Canadian master, John McLeod, was submitted to the Washington government.

Assistant Secretary Lowman of the Treasury Department, in charge of prohibition, has described the "Shawnee" as a liquor craft, carrying in the rum smuggling ring exposed in raids along the New York and New Jersey coast last Wednesday night.

Captain McLeod Indicted
Washington, Oct. 18.—Assistant Secretary Lowman, in charge of prohibition, announced today that Capt. John McLeod, of the Canadian ship "Shawnee," has been indicted by a federal grand jury, on a conspiracy charge in connection with a rum smuggling ring, along the New York coast.

Lowman said McLeod has not been arrested as a result of the indictment as his vessel escaped the coast guard patrol outside 12 mile limits. He can not be extradited from Canada as his alleged offense is not an extraditable one under the British-American rum smuggling agreements.

JEWISH "SUKOS"

STARTS TONIGHT

Festival of Thanksgiving
For Bounties Received Important Event

One of the most important events in the religious life of the Jewish people will start tonight when the local Jews will celebrate the feast of the Tabernacle known in the Hebrew language as the "Sukos".

Tonight at sundown the Jews will gather in the synagogue to give thanks to God for the bounties bestowed upon them during the past year.

The festival season, which lasts for eight days is similar to the Harvest festival held by Christian peoples. In some Jewish homes they build a canopy under which meals are eaten while the Feast is in progress.

Of the eight days of the festival, the first two and the last two are spent in practically continuous prayer amongst orthodox Jews.

Prohibition was billed to shine last night, but the lights went out. And that explains the failure of G. Harold Holton, Liberal-Prohibitionist Candidate for election in West Hastings to explain to his listeners here the stood with regard to the policy of W. E. N. Sinclair and the Conservative Leader, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson.

Just as the meeting was beginning to get under way last night some faint light in the hall to go out, and al-

Difficult To Find Just Where
Mr. Sinclair Stands On Issue

A SHIFTING POLICY

Conditions Much Better In Napanee Under Government Control

"If you are content that this present law is a failure, I am content to go out of public life," Premier Ferguson told his Napanee audience last night in continuing his pre-election tour of Ontario ridings. He was turning to his defense of the Liquor Control Act, which he has maintained throughout the campaign has improved conditions in the province. He asserted that attacks on the Act were "instructed" with a desire to "get rid of Ferguson" and asked if it were the sort of co-operation the Government was going to get in its attempt to enforce the law.

The Prime Minister upheld the Liquor Control Act and its administration, and threw out the warning, "some people may lose their jobs if the prohibition Union goes out of existence, but if we can improve the moral and social conditions in Ontario, I'm not so concerned about their jobs."

Sinclair's Shifting Stand
Mr. Ferguson again carried the attack to Liberal Leader Sinclair, and his shifting stand on the liquor question, and in this connection hauled in Dr. Edward Ming, Liberal candidate in the local riding for a stiff panning. "I understand," said he, "that Dr. Ming declared the other day, that he stood where his Leader stood on this great issue. Well, where in the world does his Leader stand? I've been trying to find out, but without any luck. Why we've had cops of men looking for that spot armed with searchlights, and still we can't locate it. Mr. Sinclair is jumping around too much. He's like a variable star, he's never where you go to put your finger."

Port William Speech
The Prime Minister, at length reviewed "this worthy attitude" of the Liberal Leader from the time he "threw the old party Prohibition plan overboard at Port William down to the present day, then," he said, "the timid fellow had signed Prohibition Union pledge, and was availing his response." TODAY'S MARKET

MARKET UNSETTLED

New York, October 18.—Further unsettlement in today's stock market, as a result of the uneasiness created by the sharp rise in brokers' loans last week, to within $3,000,000 of the record high. Extreme decline in many of the active issues ranged from one to ten points but recoveries, running as high as four points, took place in some issues in the early afternoon as result of short covering. Trading showed tendency to turn dull on rallies and sped up on the declines.

Credit conditions continue to ease. Call money dropped today from six to five per cent as banks sought to empty surplus funds over the week end and the time money market continued quiet.

Wheat Goes Up

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Helped by unexpected higher quotations at Liverpool and by continued adverse crop reports from Argentina, wheat prices here averaged higher early today. Argentinian despatches said general rains were needed badly and the crop situation was becoming critical. Opening 1-3 to 1-4 higher, Chicago wheat afterward held near to the initial range. Corn and oats were also firmer with corn starting 1-4 to 3-4 up but subsequently reacting.

Exchange Rates

New York, Oct. 18.—Foreign exchange strong, demand rates, Great Britain 48 5/8, Canadian dollar one per cent discount.

Winnipeg Grains

Winnipeg, Oct. 18.—Wheat, Oct. 1-4 to 1-2 higher at 1.43 1-2 to 1.42 3-4; Nov. 1-2 higher at 1.43 1-2; Dec. 7-8 to 1-2 higher at 1.44 1-2 to 1.44; May 7-8 to 1-2 higher at 1.51 to 1.50 1-2. Oats, Oct. 1-4 higher at 63, Dec. 1-2 to 3-4 higher at 64 3-4 to 64 5-8; May 7-8 to 1-2 higher at 68 3-4 to 68 3-8.

CLOSING QUOTATIONS

FARMER MAKING HOG-RAISING PAY

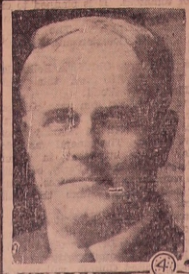

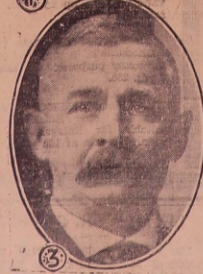

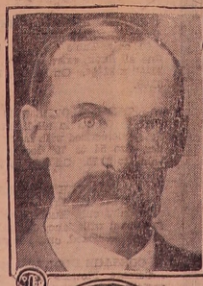

J. A. Wilson, Agriculture Representative, Makes Method Known

The price of pork certainly affects the profit made from hogs. But the price would have to go very low before Mr. Morrow of Stirling, lost money.

On Tuesday, Oct. 1, Mr. Morrow marketed at Stirling a litter of 12 hogs which weighed 250 lbs. These hogs were 169 days old and graded, 3 selects, 4 Bacoons and 5 Butchers. The Butchers were either a trifle heavy or a trifle too fat but were of bacon type. It took just 62 cwt. of feed to get these hogs fit for market and the secret of success seems to be that they never stopped growing from the time they were born till they were weighed.

Because of the weight, size and quality of this litter Mr. Morrow stands a good chance of getting into the money of the Bacon Litter Competition. This competition is conducted by the Provincial and Dominion Departments of Agriculture to discover the factors which enter into the feeding of hogs. Mr. Morrow's sow is kept busy and is expected to farrow a similar litter very shortly. A sow which produces at the rate she does and whose litter makes a pound of pork with two and one-third pounds of grain is not one kind that is shipped after she has one litter.

administration holds a working majority in the House and can look back on two victories. In the last three by-elections. In comparison with the neighboring provinces, there is indeed little business of stormy nature on the horizon.

With candidates named in both ridings of Oxford, the Ontario election campaign is warming up, all contestants fighting along party lines. David M. Ross (1) Liberal Progressive, won Oxford North in 1926 by nearly 2,000 majority. He is opposed this year by John W. Sales, Conservative (2). In the south riding James Pullin (3) Conservative, is opposing R. A. Baxter (4) Liberal. This seat was held in the last legislature by T. M. Birkett, Conservative.

DOWN DRAFT TO INCREASE POWER

Lower Vacuum Permits High Volumetric Efficiency In Chrysler

Down-Draft carburetion is one of the features of the new Chrysler line which has just been announced. It was adopted after extensive experiments and developments in the engineering laboratories of this company. These experiments and tests have brought out some important facts regarding automobile engine carburetion. Reports have already been received that this new move of Chrysler's may mark the beginning of a thorough overhauling of current carburetor practice.

There is nothing secret or mysterious about what down-draft carburetion does, and how it accomplished it. Expressed in a word it measurably increases the volumetric efficiency of the engine. To an engineer this tells the whole story. To a layman the story will be much clearer when it is understood that volumetric efficiency is a measure of the completeness of filling of the combustion chamber on the intake stroke. The more mixture that is drawn in on this stroke, the greater the intensity of the explosion and the greater the power developed per explosion.

Even to the non-technical mind it must be quite obvious that it is easier to draw the charge down into the cylinders than it is to draw it up. This being the case, Chrysler envisions the advantage of this fact and mount the carburetor above the intake manifold instead of below it and use a carburetor with a larger throat than was possible with the updraft carburetor.

With the up-draft carburetor, if the throat were too large, the velocity of the gas would be so low that many of the fuel globules would fall to reach the combustion chamber just at the time they were needed. For instance, in a heavy pull up a steep hill with throttle wide open.

Consequently, it has been necessary to restrict the throat of the up-draft carburetor below the normal breathing capacity of the engine in order to secure sufficient velocity to prevent recondensation of the fuel in the manifold at times when the vacuum in the intake was low. Anyone who has ever used a vacuum type windshield cleaner will readily remember that there are times when this type of cleaner hardly moves, if at all.

So it is in the manifold. The same force that moves the vacuum windshield cleaner is used to draw the mixture into the cylinder. Naturally there are times when the vacuum is low and the velocities of the gas are low also. This is where the down-draft carburetor comes in. Instead of having to pull the mixture upwards, with the down-draft carburetor, the mixture is pulled down. Instead of subtracting the force of gravity from the suction of the intake, with the down-draft carburetor the force of gravity is added to the suction.

The result is easily seen. There is a marked reduction in the vacuum necessary in the intake to do the work. Since the engine can be worked at a lower intake vacuum several things can be accomplished. The throat of the carburetor can be made larger and so can the intake passages, giving the engine greatly increased breathing capacity. This is a big factor in increasing the volumetric efficiency.

Between four and five dozen baseballs are now used to complete a game in the major leagues.

BAYSIDE

Mr. James Jeffery and Mr. Arthur Burke, have shipped three carloads of pressed hay from Bayside siding. The hay was bought by Mr. Charles Hogle.

Mr. Kenneth Crews, Wooler, picked six hundred barrels of McIntosh Red apples from his orchard this fall.

Mr. Douglas Fox met with a bad accident, when his truck ran into the ditch and struck a pole, rendering him unconscious for several hours. Mr. Stacey, who was with him, was not hurt.

Mr. Lorne Mitchell, of Wooler, was so unfortunate as to lose his garage by fire last week.

While Mrs. Kirk Moran, of Wooler, was at a neighbour's house, her beautiful home burned to the ground with nearly everything in it. It is supposed it caught from the chimney. Mr. Moran only succeeded in saving two chairs and an organ, but in the confusion dropped his pocket book with twenty-five dollars in it, and could not find it. It is said there was insurance for three thousand dollars on the house, but nothing on the contents.

VARSITY HOSTS TO OLD M'GILL

Red And White Weakened
By Loss of Ralph St.
Germain

Weakened by the loss of Ralph St. Germain, the McGill football squad numbering twenty, leaves for Toronto at noon today from Windsor street station. Tomorrow afternoon, the red team runs out on to the gridiron of the Varsity stadium probably before the packed stands, to meet the Blue twelve in what time and precedent have set up as the football classic of the season at the Queen City. This year, it will be more than that, it will decide almost definitely which of the teams will keep within striking distance of the league-leading Queen's entry. At the same time the Tricolor meets Western in the opening of the new stadium at London.

An examination of St. Germain's knee yesterday was made, and although the fleet backfield man was reported improved, he will be kept out of the play tomorrow. His place will be filled by Orville Kritzwiser. The loss of St. Germain on the eve of the departure for Toronto comes at a distinct blow to the red team's chances. The backfield player was counted on to make wide gains by his flashy broken field running, and although Kritzwiser's superlative performance of late makes him the logical successor to the position, St. Germain's confidence and sure catching ability will doubtless be missed by the red players.

The team, aside from St. Germain and Halloran, will be practically intact, but almost pitifully weakened by injuries. Smyth has spent the last few days in bed nursing a bad cold; McTeer was carried into the field house last night with a bad leg; and Chiek Church, Swabey and Halpenny all spent considerable time under Trainer Grimes' care. The men will all start however. The complete roster for the Toronto game as announced last night—Littlefield, McTeer, Doherty, Young, Smyth, Kritzwiser, Urquhart, Church, Swabey, Halpenny, Munro, Granger, Chard, Russell, Jacques, Nichol, Wilson, McGilivray, Stewart, Blundell.

Ed Brown Appears

Ed Brown, former Syracuse University player, and the man who is credited in some quarters with bringing about the remarkable change in the red team that sent them through to the title, made his appearance at the Molson Stadium last night. Last year, Brown came up to the stadium and spent three or four days coaching the line. The results of his work were as startling as they were effective. He saw the team well on their way to the title and then quietly left the stadium to resume his work up north.

Yesterday afternoon, Brown took hold of the team for over an hour, then wished them success and rushed off for a train. The appearances of the former American player seemed to put new life into the squad, and they looked good. They will go into the game tomorrow with the same determination to win that gained for them the victory last year. They stack up, however, against a smarter Varsity squad.

The intercollegiate race reaches the half-way mark with the completion of the games tomorrow. Queen's is heavily favored to win over Western at London, and if the Tricolor comes through, it will take a lead of a full game over either Varsity or McGill. The second half of the schedule is most favorable for Queen's with two games at home and only one away, and both McGill and Toronto will be forced to brilliant playing if they overtake the smart Kingston outfit.

"BOB THE GOB" YANK MANAGER

New York, October 18.—Robert J. Shawkey, known to the baseball world for years as Bob the Gob, is the new manager of the New York Yankees. Announcement of the veteran American League pitcher's appointment to succeed the late Miller J. Huggins, was made this afternoon by Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the club, who prefaced the announcement with a brief statement in which he emphasized the point that the selection had been made in accordance with Huggins' last wishes.

Simultaneously with this came what was regarded as the first step in the rehabilitation of the Yankees—the dropping of Bob Meusel, veteran outfielder of six world series with the Yanks. Meusel was sold outright to the Cincinnati Reds this morning after all clubs in the American League had waived on his services.

The Yankees' choice of Shawkey as their new leader came as a distinct surprise for among the many names that have been connected with the post ever since Huggins' death on September 25, Shawkey's name had been mentioned least. Bobo Ruth had appeared to many as the logical successor and when the Babe eliminated himself, fantastic rumours began to wrap themselves around the names of John McGraw and other notables of the game.

Few gave a thought to Bob the Gob, but Huggins had apparently given considerable thought to Bob as he coached his pitchers this year and today Col. Ruppert followed the dictates of his late pilot.

QUIET WEDDINGS IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, B.C. (By Canadian Press)—Henceforth Vancouver will be noted for its quiet weddings. To quote Inspector Harold Mortimer of the Vancouver police fire department, the "tin can racket" along with other non-essential jangling at weddings must cease.

In the interests of a quiet city and in the course of a drive to eliminate unnecessary noises on the streets, the traditional tin can chain which follows the wedding ceremony must go, according to the edict. The rattle and crash of tin cans, ballers and pads bouncing and bumping from the rear of bridal automobiles will soon be as rare as the ancient wind-jammer that once crowded Vancouver's waterfront in the days of the sailing ship. Although the clashing of hardware against pavements may have seemed like music to the practical jokers at the wedding nuptials, it evidently jarred on the auditory nerves of many citizens, judging by complaints made to the police.

RIKISHA MAN MAKES WAY FOR AUTOMOBILE

Tokio.—(By The Canadian Press)—The rikisha man, who for half a century has provided Japan with its principal means of passenger transportation in the cities, is fighting hard to keep out of the limbo of antiquity and all year has been waging a war against various municipal ordinances.

whose effect has been to restrict their activity.

The rikisha men complain that they are unable to compete with the new flock of city buses which recently was let loose in the streets of Tokio. The new tram line which runs down the main street of Tokio is also eating into their sources of revenue, the human taxis declare.

There are approximately 1500 rikisha men in Yokohama alone and with the completion of the new tram lines and the re-opening of those damaged in the earthquakes, not to mention buses and taxis, they are finding it more and more difficult to eke out an existence.

The independent rikisha men must now rely almost wholly on tourists and sailors who come to Yokohama, although they pick up an occasional fare around cafes from some man who has imbued too freely of sake.

About the only measure the city officials could take, to relieve the rikisha men in Yokohama would be to bar taxis from the customs compound, but such a measure seems improbable.

HURDY GURDY IS RELEGATED TO ANTIQUE REALM

East, Hiram, Me., October 19.—The hurdy-gurdy, perhaps better known as the hand organ, may have disappeared from the streets, or almost so, but there is a reason that may be little suspected. It now develops that wealthy persons whose hobby it is to collect the antique or unusual have been buying up the venerable music boxes wherever they can be located. Apparently, the swartzy, ear-ringed Italian "musicians" have become cognizant of the craze, for prices have boomed and bargains are scarce. One wealthy East Hiram summer resident paid $110 for a rickety old hand organ recently. He had it tuned and now it is almost life of the party at his summer place. His guests never tire of playing it and he has consented to dress as an Italian minstrel, churn the organ and pass the hat in the interest of a local church.

ANOTHER MONSTER IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Cowichan Lake, B.C. (By Canadian Press)—Appearance of a "great" headless monster "in the placid waters of Cowichan Lake recently has been reported here and the story is received with mingled terror and curiosity. Several search parties have been sent out to verify the original chronicle brought in by James Thomas, of Riverside, who claims that he saw the creature while cruising in his powerboat.

"I lessened the speed of my boat while approaching the narrows so as to avoid some logs," said Thomas. "Having passed the logs I saw what I thought it to be a telephone pole about twenty feet long floating on the surface. Suddenly what I had taken to be a pole made a dive, leaving a ripple behind it."

"My blood ran cold, for just as it dived I had a very clear vision of the monster. There was no head or tail visible and the total length was probably thirty feet. The colour was grayish brown."

Thomas' story is substantiated by his wife, who was with him in the boat. Several months ago a visiting doctor, reported having seen a sea serpent in Cowichan Lake and was jeered. The creature reported by the doctor has evidently disappeared.

Two Monster Rallies

Bay Bridge Relief
Mr. Collier pointed to the consolidated school at Wellington and the Bay Bridge, as two outstanding accomplishments of the Government. "The Bay bridge cost the city of Belleville and the County of Prince Edward a lot of money," offered Mr. Collier, "and it would have cost much more had not several delegations visited Mr. Ferguson and convinced him of the need for relief, to which plea he lent a listening ear." The present member emphasized that the estimated cost was $250,000 in order to complete the contract, and the City of Belleville and the County of Prince Edward did not feel like shouldering the responsibility. "The Government has been kind enough to accept the further costs," he declared.

"Mr. Ferguson is interested in agriculture, which is obviously the basic and foremost industry in the Province, and this County has the reputation of producing more revenue from agriculture, per capita, than any other county in the Province of Ontario or the Dominion of Canada," Mr. Collier affirmed. In concluding, he said that during his five years as member he had endeavored to represent the riding to the best of his ability, regardless of any party affiliations, he had always tried to satisfy the people of the Province. The response from his listeners, at the conclusion of his short address, was sufficient evidence that Horace Collier will be well-supported on October 30th.

Mr. Fred Newman, ex-Mayor of Picton, a member of the St. Lawrence Waterways Development Association and a member of the executive of the Chambers of Commerce, vigorously upheld the Ontario Liquor Control Act as a safe, sane temperance advocate, was a supporter of Hon. W. E. Hanson at his last election, but his allegiance has swung toward Mr. Collier in the present campaign. He is extremely popular in Picton and a round of cheers greeted him when he advanced to the front of the platform, which was bedecked in autumnal style.

Boastfuling Started
"All fair-minded people will agree that when we first got the Ontario Temperance Act, bootlegging commenced. The Dominion Government allowed them to take liquor away from Belleville, and land it on the shores of Prince Edward County, where it was short-circuited. The Federal Government gave the bootleggers protection from the time they left with the cargo until it was unloaded," Mr. Newman stated.

He took time to point out that boys and girls are far more tempted to buy liquor from a bootlegger than from a Government store on the main street. Mr. Newman admitted that he took opposite sides with the Ferguson Government at the last election, but he said that he fully realizes, while it is not a perfect measure, the Premier has promised to amend the act to correct the weaknesses, and the electors are largely of the opinion that he will be returned to power to carry out his plans.

Mr. Newman scored Mr. Sinclair for his attitude in regard to the question and observed that only recently Mr. Porter, the opposition candidate in Prince Edward, had stated that the plebiscite would not be placed before the people of the country for two years and the speaker declared that he was convinced that the Premier's policy was the one sane channel through which the liquor question could be administered.

W. H. IRELAND, M.P.

"The Progressive party have adopted the real temperance platform, but there are not enough of them in the field to form a cabinet even though they might be elected," Mr. Newman remarked. "The liquor question is undoubtedly the real issue of this campaign," said the speaker, "but there are others of almost equal importance. He ridiculed Arthur Ruebeck, a prominent legal light and a well-known Liberal, on the assertions which he used to clinch an argument at a recent political meeting in the interests of Mr. J. H. Porter, in Picton. He charged that the Government had increased the tax on gasoline to pay for the roads. The tax has been increased two cents but it was really to pay for the use of the road from here to Toronto it would cost us sixty-five cents a gallon."

St. Lawrence Development
Mr. Newman, in discussing the development of the St. Lawrence waterways said that the Ferguson Government had been charged with delaying the issue, but pointed out that the question remained in the hands of the Federal Government, since a treaty had been signed with the United States during the Laurier regime which provided that neither country can interfere with the channel rights without the consent of the other. "The City of Toronto," went on Mr. Newman, "has spent thousands of dollars in developing their harbour facilities in anticipation of the visits from ocean-going craft."

He outlined the Northern Ontario development scheme which Premier Ferguson is fostering and then made a passing reference to the delegation's visit from the County, proposing a new scenic road along the Bay of Quinte, to which the Premier was favourably inclined. "The Ferguson Government has made a number of expenditures but these have all been in the nature of investments," he proceeded, and the Premier has an able efficient and outstanding lot of Cabinet Ministers to assist him in his programme. Mr. Newman, in his fighting spirit fired the audience to re-echoing cheers.

Mr. W. H. Ireland, Conservative member for West Hastings, expressed his thanks to the Premier for his interest in the Bay Bridge. "The Premier has the confidence of his followers in the legislature," Mr. Ireland said in slow emphatic tones, "and we want to know how he can assist in the programme outlined in this district." Mr. Ireland evoked laughter when, in his inimitable secure style, he said the Liberals of Prince Edward had chosen "any Portie in a storm." "The Conservative party will be returned to power at Queen's Park with a greater majority than ever," said Mr.

Ireland among the approving cheers of the audience.

Mr. McPaul, the Chairman, previous to introducing Bernard Heppner remarked on the Premier's interest in education and pointed to his move in placing cars on the railway tracks at the most northerly point in Ontario where Indian and Eskimo children were given instruction.

Bernard Heppner assured Mr. Collier that the good people of Prince Edward will elect him as their next representative in the house. "Some of the best Liberals in the riding have endorsed him," Mr. Heppner said.

He charged Mr. Porter with having the audacity to tell the people of the county what is best for them morally and socially in the face of long and careful study by Mr. Ferguson of the situation. "No man is as fully alive to the needs of the province than Howard Ferguson," he observed, "and he is one of the finest administrators the Province has ever had."

Keeps His Promises
Sharp repudiation of the opposition criticism of his promises was delivered by the Premier in his address. He unleashed a retaliating attack on the Toronto Star and The Globe for the accusations of these two journals, that he did not keep his promises. "Howard Ferguson always keeps his promises," he declared amid the plaudits of the two thousand. In speaking on the liquor question Mr. Ferguson said, "The Star and The Globe had once claimed it as the 'best control legislation anywhere.' 'What do they say now that an election is on?' he queried. "They declare that the act has increased drinking and that it has been an absolute failure," was his cutting reply.

"You have the record of the Government before you, you know whether you have had honest administration," the Premier said. "Well, I am proud to say that not one charge of appropriation has been made in connection with the business of the Province," he declared.

The Prime Minister submitted that much money had been spent but it is all in the form of investments in public works. "We do not get it from the general taxation which is the least ever struck in the province. We spent two and a half million in county and township roads last year but we conceived that the ideal way to raise the revenue was to tax the people using the special services. "One hundred and twelve million dollars have been spent in Provincial highways but we get twelve and a half million back annually, we have reconstructed the revenue system to put it on a paying basis and the succession duties pay us nine million dollars annually," he noted.

Mr. Ferguson stated that one hundred and fifty-two million was invested in Hydro but in the last five years five million dollars was paid back. "Seven million dollars was made in liquor sale last year but where does the most of the money go?" "To the Federal Government, and of that seven million the Province realized the Federal Government got fifteen, but we never hear anything about that," he said. "We built up a revenue of fifty-eight million dollars in Ontario last year and we are attempting to invest it to make the people more comfortable and progressive," the Prime Minister asserted. "Take the revenue from the sale of liquor?" "Don't you think that the fellow who wants liquor and is willing to pay for it should assist in keeping up the non-paying public services such as hospitals and public institutions," he urged.

Strikes at Sinclair
Going into the financial question Mr. Ferguson glibly Mr. Sinclair for his proposals to cut off the gasoline and other taxes. "But he hasn't one feasible suggestion how he's going to raise the revenue, we are asking you to pay for a public service only when you enjoy it." He took another jab at Mr. Sinclair for his campaign speeches in which he openly stated that the Province is going into debt. "At the present time we have three hundred and ninety million dollars of obligations, of which three hundred and thirty-three are indirect and of which we have no responsibility and this is yielding us twenty-two million dollars annually."

At the present rate we will have the Provincial debt wiped off in forty years," said the Premier, amid another burst of applause. "In the last three years we have paid off three million dollars while we have been investing at the same time."

Seizing another point Mr. Ferguson said that the credit of the Province in the world market was never higher than it is today. "We can get money easier than the Federal Govt. which is ample testimony of the financial condition of the Province."

Explaining the rural loan system Mr. Ferguson said that any dweller can borrow money from the Government at a low rate of interest to install equipment. "The Hydro bill, in a few years be distributed to the most remote part of the Province at a small cost," he said.

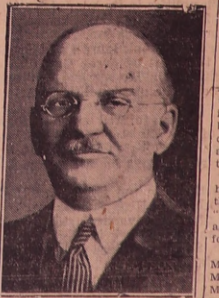

Mr. Ferguson characterized the Government's lateral road policy as a sound systematic, well-organized development into which the Government was prepared to put six or seven million dollars annually for gas tax surpluses. "Eastern Ontario will have more roads constructed than any other part of the provinces," he said. "Agriculture is the most vital industry that we have and we drive more actual revenue from the soil than from any other natural resource and we are endeavouring to make it economically and socially attractive," he proclaimed the Premier.

The School Problem
He reiterated his policy with regard to teaching High School subjects in the rural schools was purely optional, and it was proposed if the school boards were willing, to furnish them with money in order to keep the pupils at home that they might enjoy the influences and home atmosphere as long as possible. "Education is the most vital factor in our whole life and the diversity of our educational methods in Ontario cannot be equalled. There is only one compulsory law with regard to education, and that is that every child must be given an education," the Premier explained.

The Prime Minister reviewed briefly the bilingual question which has caused a great stir. "You cannot rob a people of their birth-right, and you needn't sit up nights worrying about the French invasion of our schools because only four per cent of the students are French-Canadians."

Mr. Ferguson trained his verbal barage on the liquor question which has been made the prime issue of the campaign. "I can assure you that we are really trying to find the most suitable law," he said. He asked for a fair trial for the present Act and pointed to England where the consumption of liquor has fallen off in the last ten years even in the face of the fact that the open bars exist.

"General Higgins has attributed it to the education of public opinion and we should be able to do the same thing in Ontario with restricted sale, with no bootleggers and no bars in the same period." "We must create an attitude for law observance rather than enforcement," pointed out the Premier. "You cannot hope to legislate the morals of community as it is a natural inclination to break the law," he observed.

Trusted Orangemen
"I am finding men like Mr. Newman all over the country who were opposite to it three years ago who are now willing to admit its success," he said. Illustrating his contentions he said that of two million who attended Toronto Exhibition, only five were taken in charge by the police for intoxication while at an Orange celebration, where five thousand members paraded there was not one solitary intoxicated man. Mr. Ferguson said he had been requested to close the liquor stores on July 12th but he refused to discriminate against one particular organization and he knew that Orangemen had enough self-respect to behave.

"We admit that the law is not perfect but we are learning from experience where the artful dodger can break it and we promise to amend it to make it as air-tight as possible." The Premier proclaimed. "The Ontario Temperance Act was amended at almost every session and then it was unusable after ten years," he stated, "but we are looking out for the welfare of the Province."

The Prime Minister said that the present prohibitory law in the United States is, according to the leaders despoiling the morals of the young generation.

Mr. Ferguson took Dr. Irwin, of the Prohibition Union, to task for having solicited the Premier for his letters to school teachers every term advocating the teaching of abstinence and sobriety among the scholars. Dr. Irwin characterized Mr. Ferguson's action as a "purile, negligible excuse for his teaching education."

In conclusion Mr. Ferguson urged his listeners to let no one dictate to their conscience on October 30th. "The result, regardless whether it agrees with this party will be the best for the country."

Among those on the platform were: Mrs. Edward Morden, Mrs. Collier, Mrs. F. Minaker, Mrs. H. W. Bedell, Mrs. Ross Bush, Mrs. Collier, Mrs. Bernard Heppner, Mrs. Gagne, and Mrs. Monroe Morrow.

To the Electors of West Hastings:

I have accepted the Nomination of the Liberal Party and am a Candidate in the Riding of West Hastings, at the forthcoming Election for the following reasons:

1. EXPENDITURES in recent years have been allowed to exceed all requirements of the people. General Taxation has become a burden. Farmers' taxes today in most cases are three or four times what they were fifteen years ago. The Government by increasing taxation since 1923 has collected $82,000,000 more than would have been the case without increasing taxation, and now this same Government reaches out for $3,500,000 more by way of the gasoline tax.

The Provincial debt in the same years has increased $90,000,000 until now we have a debt in the province of $394,000,000, a debt of more than the whole Canadian National debt before the War.

In contrast to this the Federal Government has during the same years reduced expenditures, tariff and taxation as well as the National debt.

And they had a war debt to contend with which Ferguson Government did not have.

2. THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT IS PENALIZING MUNICIPALITIES:

(a) By imposing a tax on municipalities of forty per cent of the Provincial contribution to the old age Pension Act, whereas it was the plan that the Federal Government would pay half and the Provincial Government would take care of half.

(b) Inasmuch as Provincial Highways are for the benefit of the Province and to induce tourist traffic, and the connection of large centres distantly removed from each other, and as the benefits of such highways are Provincial rather than local, the Province should assume the whole cost and maintenance of same, and not burden the Municipalities.

(c) The Present Government is MAKING A PRACTICE OF MAKING LARGER GRANTS to favored townships which should be discontinued and all placed on a uniform statutory basis, and the Townships given a greater measure of autonomy in handling the township road problem.

3. AGRICULTURE: Farmers today are paying taxes a never before, and as they are in a position where they cannot possibly shift taxation to anyone else, it is the duty of the Government to relieve and enable them to make a larger return from their labor.

The Present Government ignores the farmers' claims because:

- (a) It can afford to do so.
- (b) It has the backing of large urban centres.
- (c) It has increased urban representation.
- (d) It has reduced rural representation.
- (e) It has gerrymandered the province against the farmer by adding city wards to rural ridings and making it impossible for rural members to be elected in many ridings actually rural.

THE VOICE OF RURAL ONTARIO IS LARGELY DESTROYED IN THE LEGISLATURE. THEY SHOULD BE HELPED BY—

1. Economies which would help all.
2. Relief from cost of highways.
3. Larger grants to county roads.
4. Return of portion of Gasoline tax to townships from which it has been collected.
5. Abolish the high automobile license fee. Make it nominal as generally speaking farmers use their cars for only a portion of the year.
6. Let the operator's permit cover the whole family and not tax a farmer for his wife, sons and daughters and often, hired help.
7. Abolish the land transfer tax, which is payable by the farmers whenever he purchases a farm, and is a deterrent to a farm purchase at the outset.

4.—THERE IS NO NEED NOW FOR AN ELECTION: As contemplated by the British North America Act elections should be held only once in every four years, unless the Government suffers defeat or has some important problem of policy demanding an appeal to the People.

This Government has enunciated no great problems, but Ferguson's manifesto is simply a recording of the Government's conception of its own achievement.

The people are put to an expense of $750,000 when no issue is created other than a demand for the continuance of power.

5.—THE TEMPERANCE QUESTION:

In any form, should never again be made a political issue. But whenever it is shown that there is a considerable body of thought desiring a change in the method of controlling the sale of liquor, those desiring such change should have the right to demand and have a vote upon the question. I stand for the strict enforcement of the present law while the people liquor, and acknowledge the right of the people to change that method whenever they decide to do so. The people are entitled to a plebiscite upon this question, and the submission of the temperance question to the people should be granted when demanded. In such a submission the will of the people can be expressed apart from any political or party feeling, and at the same time when there is not the undue excitement of an election campaign. While the Province remains under the present law, the act should be strengthened, and the loose partisan method of handling the act should be discontinued. I stand for advanced temperance legislation to bring about true temperance.

6.—EDUCATION:

Should be non-political. It is the means of contributing the greatest happiness and well being to the people. Therefore it should not be tainted with politics in its administration or management. Every move of our present Minister is political which reacts to the detriment of education.

The present minister authorized a book known as "Great Men of Canada," a history of the lives of great Canadians, omitting Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Oliver Mowat and William Lyon Mackenzie, an insult to one of the great political parties of this country.

Young political Clubs are being formed in our High Schools with the tacit consent of the Minister of Education. The Educational Association has rejected the scheme for law whether they like it or not.

The Minister proposes further to put two years High School work into the Public Schools. High School teachers are required to be graduates of the University and College of Education before they can teach this work in High School. How are the taxpayers in the School Sections going to pay these salaries to teach this work?

This is a most serious proposition. Education must be encouraged. But the people must be able to pay the taxes which result. Add two years of High School work to our

ANOTHER VICTIM OF CROSSWORD PUZZLE

When the people of Ontario voted in 1926 for a radical change in the method of dealing with intoxicating liquor, they felt, and rightly, that the O. T. A. as a cure, was worse than the disease. It was a law designed to prohibit the consumption of liquor as a beverage. That it failed to accomplish its object became painfully apparent as time went on, and people began to readjust themselves to post-war conditions. Normal tendencies supplanted the tension of war. The problems of peace being radically different from the problems of war, required a different approach and a different solution.

The O. T. A. regarded the consumption of liquor as entirely a social question, its economic side was either ignored or overlooked. But once the Act of under way the error was soon apparent. The organized bootlegger appeared. His ramifications could not be ignored. He very soon controlled the consumption of liquor in his own way and it was not a way calculated to bring peace to the advocates of prohibition. He had quantities of money behind him, and an organization to back him.

It was not, however, the bootlegger of the people of Ontario who defeated the O. T. A. And they did so because they became convinced that the O. T. A. was not an effective temperance measure. It had always been he support and sympathy of a large section of the people and wherever that support was lacking the Act necessarily failed. People can be led but they cannot be coerced.

The elaborate system of spies, spies, penalties, search warrants and extra police only aggravated the conditions they were intended to remedy and by bringing the law generally into disrepute threatened to do serious damage to the whole social fabric. The Liquor Control Act accomplished what no previous method of dealing with the liquor problem had ever been able to achieve. It insured that here would no longer exist within the community a group of persons whose active interest it was to promote the consumption of alcohol. Whether it be the guise of saloon-keepers or bootlegger this class had always existed and was the activities of this class that had made the administration of all temperance measures so difficult. The Liquor Control Act removed "the liquor interest" from the path of temperance reform.

The present Act is not perfect. It was never contemplated either by the Government or by the people that the Statute as first enacted would require no further improvement. The liquor problem is an old one and no thoughtful person could imagine that it could be solved in a day or in a year. But the Liquor Control Act has placed the problem in the way of solution and has opened the road for progress toward true temperance.

SHANNONVILLE W. M. S.

Mrs. Allen McDonald entertained the ladies of the Shannonville W.M.S. of the United Church at her home on Tuesday afternoon. This was the regular monthly meeting and was opened by singing hymn 274. Rev. Mrs. Clark led in prayer and Mrs. Sam Elliott read the Scripture lesson. Mrs. W. S. Dies, the treasurer, gave a report and a vote of thanks was given. Miss Pringle for her kindness in clearing the church so efficiently before the convention.

Mrs. Dies read a letter from Mrs. Way, of Picton, urging the W. M. S. ladies to vote and pray for the temperance cause. Miss Sara Sticker, the temperance herald, read the "Benefits of Prohibition," by Henry Ford. The roll was called and hymn 367 was sung. Mrs. H. Sheller read a report of the convention and received a hearty vote of thanks from the ladies. Miss Bernice McDonald gave a delightful piano solo, which was appreciated.

After the closing hymn a repeated the Mithra benediction. Plans are made for the annual bowl supper, to be held on the 18th of October.

Luncheon was served and all enjoyed a pleasant social hour.

INSTANTLY KILLED

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—Jean Paul, Gauvreau, was instantly killed last night when he was caught between the floor of a freight elevator and the ground floor of the bakery in which he was working.

Public Schools and an additional teacher would also be required at every School. Books and equipment would also be required. Only by Township School Boards and Consolidated Schools would it be at all possible. And then what would the cost be?

The more the proposals of Mr. Ferguson in regard to education are considered, the more plain it is that they are impracticable and burdensome.

Ontario does not need a shifting of University work from the University to High Schools and a shifting of High School work from High to Public Schools. It needs a Minister who can operate our present system, and devote his full time to educational work.

The Electors of West Hastings are entitled to the opportunity of exercising their franchise, and I respectfully solicit the support of every Citizen of this Riding, who is opposed to the Ferguson Government. If elected I will do my utmost in the interest of the People of West Hastings, and my native province of Ontario.

Yours faithfully,
G. H. HOLTON.

NAPANEE RALLY

ability as Leader of a great historic party, by hiding behind a plebiscite. Mr. Ferguson reiterated the claim that Mr. Sinclair had gone away up to Fort William to deliver his original pronouncement because he was afraid to "speak his mind" in the Legislature. "What a fine row!" said Mr. Ferguson, "he would have had on his hands with his party split on the liquor question and Blake Miller hitting at Albert Pinard and so on and so on." "No country in the world," said Mr. Ferguson, "has ever established prohibition with success. They say the United States has, but I'm seriously inclined to doubt it; why, if you go over there the aroma is so strong that you almost have to have your clothes fumigated when you come home." There was, he contended, only one word of description for "those earnest sincere gentlemen," who wrote letters to the press in favor of United States prohibition. That word, he said, was "innocent." Morals could not be legislated into a community, stated the Premier.

MAKING PROGRESS

In a short review of "U" French language question," Mr. Ferguson said that when the Government had discovered that "you cannot teach people things that they won't learn," it had set about getting the co-operation of the French-speaking people. "I don't know how our methods will work out," said he, "but I can tell you that we are at least making progress now. For the first time in the current campaign the Premier made mention of his township school board plan, stating that he had had in mind the Legislature for a number of years, had thrashed it out with educational bodies, and would continue to endeavour to educate the people to its value. "For believe you will accept it some day," he declared. "If you won't accept it, you're not going to get it. For as I said before, we can't impose anything upon you."

Candidate Speaks
Charles W. Hamby, one-time member of the Legislature, who this election is opposing Dr. Edward Ming, the Liberal candidate, charged the Prohibitionists of liquor were sold right in the abolished capital punishment.

(Napanee railway yards, still covered the district from one end to the other, and bootleggers flourished everywhere. Nowadays, he said, bootleggers were seldom heard of.

Mr. Hamby charged Dr. Ming with attending the Legislature merely to draw his $2,000 indemnity and that he sat in the House with all the activities of a man "suffering from an overdose of chloroform." Not until after his second session did he become acquainted with the Prime Minister of the Province.

A WOMAN

Mrs. Louis McKinney, of Glareholme, first woman elected to the Alberta Legislature; Mrs. Nellie McLaughlin, writer and lecturer, who has represented Edmonton in the Legislature; Mrs. C. C. Edwards, of McLeod, veteran expert, who has been convener on laws for the National Council of Women and Magistrate Emily Murphy, of Edmonton, one of the first two women in Canada to be appointed magistrates. The appeal to the Privy Council for a fresh interpretation of the vital clause in the B.N.A. Act, following the ruling of the Supreme Court, had not been opposed by the Dominion Government.

Lord Sankey, remarked that Council on both sides had invited their leaderships to consider the legal position of women from the earliest times. Their oratorships, accordingly turned to two points. First, external evidence as derived from extraneous circumstances, secondly, internal evidence derived from the British North America Act.

Rele of Barbarous Laws

On the first point, the Lord Chancellor said it was found the exclusion of women from all public offices is a relic of days more barbarous than ours, it must be remembered the necessity of the times often forced on man customs which in later years were discarded. Deliberative assemblies of all tribes were attended by men under arms and women did not bear arms.

"Yet these tribes did not despite the advice of women. The likelihood of attack rendered such a proceeding unavoidable and after all, what is necessary at any period is a question of the times upon which opinion rounded by experience, may move one way or another in different circumstances."

Twenty-five nations in the world have abolished capital punishment.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Happiness is in life and not in things; and it is by having what we love that we are happy; not by having what others find agreeable.—Rochefoucauld.

WORLD IS GROWING RICHER SINCE WAR

Those who have the idea that the world has been hopelessly impoverished by the Great War should be comforted by the assurance contained in a League of Nations publication that "the aggregate production of wealth during the last decade has, without doubt, increased more rapidly than has the world's population, and wealth per head is now greater than before the war." The same authority is responsible for the statement that world population has grown by practically 9 per cent. in the past fourteen years; it appears to be increasing at the rate of about 20 millions a year.

It is especially gratifying to find that, in 1928, the North American continent showed the largest development of trade, and that "Canada enjoyed a year of unprecedented prosperity and her total trade rose by 11 per cent." But most countries, apparently, shared in the general prosperity, though there were in some a falling-off in industry and an increase in unemployment. Such was the experience in the United Kingdom, but, even in the case of the Mother Country, exports increased in value by about fourteen million pounds, while the imports were nearly 21½ million pounds lower, the result being a reduction in the negative balance of trade of some 33 million pounds.

There was an increase in the world production of steel and iron; a 3 per cent. increase in the world production of crude oil; but a reduction of 35 million tons in the production of coal as compared with the previous year. Two-thirds of which was due to lower output in the United States. There were record harvests, though prices "tended to decline." This year, in Canada, though the yield has been considerably smaller, the quality has been exceptionally good and prices better.

Take it all round, there seems to be little reason for complaining. Even in Russia, we read, the output of industry last year was 26 per cent. higher than in 1927, though there was "a substantial increase in the number of persons out of work."

REACHING MILLIONS BY THE RADIO

As an example of the power of radio as an educational factor, it is estimated that upwards of five million school children in the United States and Canada, as well as in some of the South American countries, heard the first of the series of concerts, specially arranged for their benefit, given by Dr. Walter Damrosch last Friday. The famous conductor's methods are well known; he has a peculiar faculty of making himself interesting to and holding the attention of his young listeners, and the information he gives concerning the pieces played is of great educational value. What Dr. Damrosch has done for music other experts could do for their own special subjects. The advantages are, indeed, so obvious that there should be little or no hesitation in making them available to the scholars in the public schools. Premier Ferguson, as minister of education for this province, busy as he is at the present time, in view of the approaching election, is not likely to neglect the representations made to him by the Toronto educational authorities in this regard, supported as they are by some of the most experienced of our local school officials. It is a great opportunity to increase the value of existing facilities in the public schools.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

HALF OF SMALL INTESTINE

I often speak about Nature's care of us in spite of some of the foolish things we do. Also of how Nature is always just a little ahead of our needs.

Every organ in the body is capable of doing much more work than is ordinarily required of it, and when anything extraordinary is required that body of yours is usually able to withstand it. Thus you may live with just one lung or kidney, or about half the liver, and so forth.

And now we read of the surgical removal of almost half of the small intestine. As you know it is into the small intestine that the stomach empties the food after it has churned it for two to four hours, mixing it with the stomach digestive juice. Just after leaving the stomach, the food is met in the small intestine by those other two digestive juices—the pancreatic juice from the pancreas, and the bile from the liver. After being mixed with these juices it is ready to be absorbed into the blood. Now in order that it will have plenty of time to be absorbed it must travel a long distance. MISUNDERSTANDING

If I had seen
 In those sweet flowers a token
 Of eager love unspoken,
 That eyes and lips would screen—
 What might have been!

If I had guessed
 That all my smiles were treasured,
 That time for him was measured
 By those few meetings blessed—
 Had he confessed!

If he had shown
 He cared—just pressed my hand
 That I might understand
 'Twas I for him alone
 That pride had flown.

Well, pride has won,
 And helped me play my part!
 He gave his faithful heart
 For me to trample on—
 Now he has gone!

has to travel a course of twenty feet, up and down little hills and valleys, the surface of which is covered with little projections, which select and absorb the food into the blood stream. And yet as Dr. A. G. Brenner, Charlotte, N.C., reports a case in which he removed 91-2 feet of the small intestine, and made a side-to-side junction of the small intestine with the large intestine. Liquids were given for the first four days, and a soft diet for the remainder of the three weeks in the hospital. The patient returned for examination in three months, having eaten, after six weeks, practically a full diet. His weight had increased from 102 to 172 pounds.

Now why do I write about this? Simply to show that you and I were given a small intestine because it was expected that we would use all the huge muscles covering the body. This would mean that we would need plenty of food. Further, that food would have a large amount of material that would be slow in getting absorbed, and the long small intestine would give plenty of surface for this purpose.

Nowadays we eat food that is free from much of this material and we do not do much hard physical work. Hence it is possible to get along with about half the usual length of small intestine.

HALF CENTURY DREAM REALIZED

Anglican Church Has Planned Cathedral For Many Years

Victoria, B. C., October 16 (By Canadian Press).—When the new cathedral of Christ, a superb grey stone structure which towers, half built among stately maple trees, was consecrated recently the dream of more than half a century was fulfilled. Since the earliest days of settlement at Fort Victoria, the Church of England has planned for a cathedral which, standing at the outpost of Christianity on the Pacific, would compare in architecture and beauty with the cathedrals of the Old Land. Now this cathedral, though far from completion, actually stands on a hill overlooking all Victoria and visible far out to sea.

Since its commencement the cathedral project has been closely linked with the Church of England. Its cornerstone was laid in 1876 by the Bishop of London, within its walls are stones brought here from Canterbury Cathedral, and it contains also as part of its furnishings a railing which came from Westminster Abbey. To continue these English associations, the Lord Bishop of Winchester came here to perform the consecration services.

The consecration services took place exactly thirty-nine years to the day after the cathedral project was first broached at a meeting in the old church Sunday school. To the men most closely associated with the cathedral project it is the fulfillment of a lifelong ambition. J. C. M. Keith, the architect, drew the present plans as a young man when he had come here from England and he is no longer young. During all these years, he studied and perfected his plans, hoping that he would live to see his cathedral actually built.

Even now his dream is only partially realized for the great tower and vestures have yet to be built and meanwhile the nave, already completed, is finished at its eastern end by a temporary partition. When funds are available the remainder will be added, linking the nave with the Memorial Hall at the extreme eastern end of the cathedral block. All those associated with the project hope that Mr. Keith may see his life's work completed under his own direction.

The cathedral building is modelled on authentic and original Gothic lines from its foundations to the top of its mighty towers. From the west end when it is complete the observer will see two twin towers, 135 feet high, joined by a great Gothic arch, beneath which is a huge round rose window and below that the main entrance door. Behind these western towers in the centre of the pile will be the main tower 185 feet high, the most prominent landmark in the city. At this time the western towers are being built and the western view shows only the main arch, the rose window and the elaborately carved main entrance door. The cathedral is probably one of the best-built church buildings in the world. While the pillars of St. Paul's in London were recently found to be hollow and are now being filled with cement, the Victoria cathedral is constructed almost as a single unit to stand for centuries. Everywhere concrete reinforced with iron bars has been used and clothed with grey stone cured sandstone trims all the windows and arches.

HOLSTEIN HERDS ARE SHIPPED TO UNITED STATES

In June last, Frank R. Mowery, Strasburg, Pa., through the office of William J. Murphy, Lindsay, Ont., sales agent for the Victoria County Holstein in Breeders' Club, purchased in the Lindsay-Peterborough district a shipment of 56 head of Holstein cattle for export to this state. The cattle he took over from Canada at that time did so well with him, and gave such splendid satisfaction in production, that Mr. Mowery decided to return to Canada for another shipment and during the past few days has made rather extensive purchases in the district where he previously operated, taking in all 11 females—four from Donald Gilchrist, Brechin, Ont.; 2 from Joseph and Fred Mann, Peterborough; 2 from Bernard McGough, Lindsay; 1 from T. R. Trotter, Lindsay; 1 from W. F. Walker, Port Perry; and 1 from Robt. Campbell, Rosemeath, Ont. As in the previous shipment, Mr. Mowery made use of Mr. W. J. Murphy's services in buying the above mentioned cattle.

F. L. WARD TALKS TO LAKE VOTERS

New Canning Factory at Crofton Did Good Business This Year

Pictou, Oct. 18.—The following para- graphs are taken from a speech by F. L. Ward, well-known Pictou Lawyer, given at West Lake on Tuesday.

"It is important to remember that prohibition is not in the power of the Provincial Government. The wiping out of the traffic rests with Ottawa. When people talk about Provincial prohibition they are deliberately deceiving the voters. Those who want prohibition should concentrate on the Ottawa Government. The most the Ontario Government can do is to prohibit its sale as a beverage. You must prohibit manufacture before you can hope to prohibit sale."

Comparing the working of the O. T. A. and the L. C. A. in Prince Edward, Mr. Ward said:

"In this county the court records since the adoption of the L.C.A. show an almost entire absence of public drunkenness. I would say that there has not been one case of public drunkenness under the L.C.A. to ten under the O.T.A."

In the month of March, this hen laid 12 eggs out of a possible 15.

Also during March each of the 5 hens laid 1 egg every day consecutively for 25 days.

The record performance of 1 hen was an egg a day for 74 consecutive days.

The most than this were fed was BLATCHFORD'S "Fill-the-Basket" EGG MASH.

"Another improvement is the lessening of perjury. Under the O.T.A. the accused was required to tell from whom he secured the liquor. The result was that the courts were filled with perjury. People would not tell on their friends. Perjury in our public courts is a very great evil and is now reduced to the minimum."

"Another great improvement is the practical abolition of illicit stills."

"During the O.T.A. the bootlegger flourished," Ferguson said he would put the bootlegger out of business and this is what has been done. For many months there has only been one case in this county and that was of where someone made dandelion wine. Before the L.C.A. bootleggers flourished around Pictou. Each of them had many customers. Now since their logical business has been eliminated they are engaged in international bootlegging. Here is where the Ottawa Government comes in."

Mr. H. S. Collier, the Conservative Candidate, reviewed the work of the Ferguson Government in regards to Agriculture, rural hydro, extension of township grants, abolition of Statute Labor and enforcement of the Liquor Control Act.

Mr. Collier believed that if the Ferguson Government was returned to power Prince Edward would get the requested U. E. L. Highway from Pictou via Glenora and through Adolphustown.

NAME CANADIAN VICE-PRESIDENT OF NOVEL CLUB

300,000 Members Included In Boys' And Girls' Organization

Montreal, Que.—For the first time in its history, the National Association of Boys' and Girls' Clubs of Great Britain, involving a membership of more than 300,000 boys and girls throughout the British Isles, has elected a Canadian vice-president, in the person of Dr. W. L. Black, director of Colonization and Agriculture for the Canadian National Railways. Cabled advice of the selection were received at headquarters in Montreal on Tuesday.

In this connection, Dr. Black has been advised that the National Association of Boys' and Girls' Clubs will hold its annual conference in Britain in July next.

Dr. Black's election to this position brings to mind the interesting fact that he was, some sixteen years ago, the originator of Boys' and Girls' Club work in Canada. At this time he was president of the Manitoba Agricultural College and made a start in that province. Out of the work in Canada, grew the farm clubs of Great Britain which eventually were absorbed into the larger movement of the National Association, of which Dr. Black has now been elected vice-president.

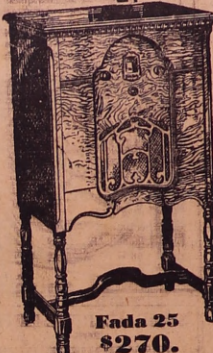

The association, with its membership of more than 300,000, includes boys and girls in both the urban and rural sections of Britain. These are sons and daughters of parents who are occupied in farming or other business and represent a fine class of British youth. For some time the association has had on foot a movement to place a number of boys in Canada. Preferable in farm work, it has been felt that Canada offered greater opportunities for advancement to the boys who were accustomed to work and who were willing and ambitious to get on. For the purpose of reviewing the situation, officers of the association, J. H. Eccles, president and Secretary Ellis, visited Canada this Fall and have just returned to England. Mr. Eccles is director of Barclay's Bank in England, and Capt. Ellis is secretary of the National Council of Social Service. During their visit, the decision was made to enter upon a plan for placing of a number of the boys in Canada, the initial movement to be confined to the Province of Nova Scotia. The National Association of Boys' and Girls' Clubs is an outgrowth of the work of the National Social Service Council in Britain, and operates much along the lines of the Y. M. C. A. and kindred organizations have in that the National Association has extended its organization throughout the rural districts, where many thousands of splendid farm boys and girls, who are either working as such or who are sons and daughters of farmers, are taken in as members.

For the rural members special judging competitions in farm work are undertaken, culminating in an annual national judging competition. The association publishes its own periodical given over to the work and activities of the 300,000 young youths full members.

The directors of the organization are now looking to Canada as a field for greater opportunities, particularly for its rural members. The officials have been immensely pleased with their survey of the situation in the Dominion, and have returned to Britain to set on foot the government which eventually may result in many hundreds of fine British youth finding place in this country.

UNITED STATES HUNTERS EMPLOY FEMININE GUIDE

Quesnel, B.C., October 16, (By Canadian Press).—Mrs. Elmer E. Armstrong of Bakerville, is British Columbia's first big game guide. She is now in the woods around Bear Lake, in the heart of the grizzly country, showing a party of United States hunters how to get their big game.

"I'm not a regular guide," confided Mrs. Armstrong. "But my husband is out in the woods with another party of hunters and there is war. Here for twice as many guides as there are available, so what is a woman to do? Especially when she knows the woods almost as well as her husband and knows the ways of grizzlies and moose as well as those of her neighbours."

Mrs. Armstrong is not fond of hunting, however. She prefers to capture cubs and make pets of them. There is a young bear in the Armstrong household almost every year, although the last addition disappeared after robbing the larders of several of Barkerville's best citizens.

Just For The Feminine Reader

LONG LINES ARE AGAIN IN EVIDENCE

For fall street wear the Parisienne is inclined to favor the new version of the coat dress. And with it she favors a narrow plain, chignon scarf twisted twice about the throat and tied on the side, rather than a fur neckpiece. A typical coat dress is made of the new French tweed, woven in maroon and pinky beige with tiny white flecks. This is fastened at the left side with eight brown bone buttons, four above and four below the waistline. Pale pink crepe makes the tailored blouse and tie.

Another frock on this order looks like a waist-indented, flared coat belted at the back. The material is plain, soft-surfaced cloth in plum red, and red buttons fasten it from the shoulder to the hem. The line is high flaring cuffs and a deep, flat collar of red and black embroidery on tan lingerie.

Rodier has a startling collection of sports scarfs in many colors, generally in irregular stripes on beige or neutral ground. These are generally quite two yards long, not very wide, to be worn twisted twice about the throat with ends passed under the belt. An ultra chic arrangement has the two ends attached to a half-diamond of a solid color. The V is arranged in front like a flat yoke, the ends passing about the neck and falling in front. One end may be passed through a slit in the coat.

Among afternoon and evening frocks there are many skirts cut on forms with pointed panels of a second material, such as taffeta, on the new net in matching color inserted. This suggests a lining of the skirt folds.

Frocks in woollens often show no circular suggestion beyond moulding the figure curves to the knees. At this point there may be a few wide, re-pleated box pleats showing a lining of a second material, or the skirt finish may be a set-on side-pleated flounce with straight top and edge.

On the whole, women are accepting the drastic changes in fashions and their greater complexity with good grace. All skirts are decidedly longer, even morning gowns and suits reaching or covering the calf.

To preserve a slender outline, the long light sleeve is favored, especially for morning. And what is more significant, women are wearing gloves indoors if they are wearing a hat. It is assumed that the coming winter will see evening gloves the rule.

WHENCE CAME THE "REDINGOTE"?

The origin of the word "redingote," so much heard this season, is interesting. The story comes from Paris. Years ago an English woman wanted a riding coat made. Journeying to Paris for the purpose of getting something particularly smart in this line, she gave her order to a well-known couturier. The French, hearing the words, "riding coat," cleverly created a new word, "redingote," and at once applied it to a variety of costumes. It has figured as an outside wrap, then as a morning dress for the street. It has also acted as a negligee. And now it is to the fore again as a sports frock.

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

CHEESE LOAF
Remove crust from a loaf of sandwich bread. Slice bread lengthwise. Butter slices on both sides except top and bottom slices. Make fillings as follows:

Red Filling—Four slices ham finely chopped. Three slices crisp bacon, cut fine. One chopped pinturino.

Yellow Filling—Yolks three hard cooked eggs seasoned with salt, pepper and one-half teaspoonful vinegar.

White Filling—One-half package of cream cheese softened with one-half gartered cucumber.

Green Filling—Four small, sweet pickles and sprigs of water cress or parsley, finely chopped.

Spread slices of buttered bread with the fillings in the order given. Soften three packages cream cheese with sweet cream and spread on the outside of loaf, as you would in a cake garnish with pecans, marmalade, cherries or coloured gum drops cut in small bits. Wrap in damp cloth and keep in cold place several hours before slicing.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

White fur trimming is very smart.

The scarf fur of flat fur is gaining in vogue.

The stiff fabric evening gown is to be extremely good.

Felt, antelope, and galyak are being stressed in the new hats.

Smart New York women are favoring the fur suit and princess woolen frock.

St. Andrew's women golfers are wearing berets in the prevailing color of their suits this fall.

Long sleeved gowns in metal fabrics, printed velvet or coarse net are being featured for informal dinner wear.

A three-quarter coat of white broad all with brown fox appears among the latest evening coat models.

America's craze for "bathubs" is causing architects to make the bathroom in new apartment houses the show place of the flat.

LAYMAN BANQUET HELD AT TWEED

United Churchmen Hear Missionary From China Tell of Work

Laymen of the north half of the Belleville Presbyterian held a banquet at Tweed United Church last night. An interesting programme was successfully carried out. The community singing was led by W. E. Tummion, M.P. Mr. W. S. Gordon acted as the chairman of the proceedings. The banquet opened with "God Save the King" and the chairman's address. Rev. R. B. Cook gave the address of welcome, following which the Tweed Quartette gave a very splendid song.

Dr. Mortimer, a returned missionary from China, kept everybody interested whilst he enlarged upon the incidents that had happened in China during his sojourn there. He spoke on the work that was being conducted in that country and of the splendid progress. A violin solo was given by D. Locke. Rev. F. Smith, a missionary from North Ontario, also gave an address.

Rev. W. Smith spoke on "Our Task." Five musical addresses were given by W. N. Gilroy, W. S. Martin, H. Rollins, W. E. Tummion, M.P., of Tweed.

All in all it was a very happy evening for all concerned.

Even Barbara awoke from her white anxiety to share her interest; and it was two young women of vastly different mental attitude who finally became established in a luxurious hotel suite at one of the Southern California resorts.

It was impossible to be completely unhappy in that atmosphere of sunshine and blue waters, shining sand and fragrant flowers. Especially if one were young and healthy with all life before one. The very air seemed to give promise of joys to come, and the gay, smart irresponsible holiday throng that filled the hotels and drifted up and down the beach was delightfully diverting.

Nevertheless the two girls lived very quietly. They preferred not to mix with the fellow guests at the big hotel, finding sufficient enjoyment in the warm, golden sunshine; in the air fragrant with flaming crimson and purple flowers cascading prodigally over the pretty bungalows that skirted the beach; in the warm blue sea that dripped in, foam-flecked, on gleaming white sand.

It was paradise, after the cold dreariness of the Lane mansion.

They would sit for hours on the sand under Barbara's gay crimson sun shade, scarcely speaking, each busy with her thoughts.

Madelon, looking far out over the rolling sands, would be thinking of Julian Barton, trying to pierce the veil of the future as Youth does, hoping somewhere in that vast, mist-shrouded realm to find his beloved shadow.

Sometimes, across that illimitable expanse of blue water, beyond the Land of the Setting Sun, he was working, building, dreaming. Did he dream of her, she wondered? Did he carry a heartache, as she did? Had he hope for the future? Or had he already forgotten? How quickly men forget! Perhaps he would soon find place in some English beauty. She shivered the thought, but her own common sense told her that theirs was a lost hope. It would do them no good, bring them only prolonged unhappiness, to wait for the death of Stephen Lane. Indeed, there was something horrible and grisly in the thought of building one's happiness on death. She was afraid of such a death of thought, lest the power of her own desire bring some harm to Lane.

She wondered, while the warm sun shined through her slim fingers, while the warm sun kissed a rose flush to her cheeks and deepened the crimson of her mouth, if Barbara, sitting quietly beside her, thought of Duane Egan. Occasionally she spoke of him, but Barbara gave her no confidence. Except for her accidental discovery of his photograph, Madelon could never have guessed the extent of their acquaintance.

A week or so after their arrival, Madelon met with a distinct surprise. Crossing the lobby to the elevator one morning, she came face to face with the dark stranger who had crossed the Continent with them.

He had disappeared when the train reached San Francisco and she had forgotten all about him. It was some thing of a shock to find him at the beach hotel. Was it only a curious coincidence, or design? In view of his persistent gaze throughout their train journey, she was almost tempted to believe the latter.

At any rate, it caused her a bit of thrill. For, when later in the day on the beach, she had an opportunity to look at him, unobserved, she found him strangely fascinating.

He was stretched his lazy length on the sand, his dark head pillowed on one upflung arm. There was something curiously attractive in his inattention, which she later discovered was habitual. As a sleek, lazy, well-groomed cat is attractive, on the sophisticated man was the stamp of world-weariness. He looked as though he might have watched all the events of the world since the dawn of creation and found them only mildly amusing.

When she came to know him many days later, he told her that he had experienced every emotion except death. At the time, she thought it a pose; later she learned differently.

His physical appearance was arresting even in that resort where handsome, well-groomed men were on every hand. His abundant dark hair was always carefully ruffled. Over his forehead and temples, it was quite grey. His eyes were dark, unattractive with lids that drooped at the corners, giving them an almost shapeless, as though he mocked the world. His lean face was tanned and curiously lined, yet gave no impression of age. Rather they seemed to be the lines etched there by a life squandered too quickly.

For a week, she saw him many times every day; on the verandas, in the dining rooms, on the beach. But he made no overture as other male guests had endeavored to do.

Then, one afternoon, quite by accident, she came to meet him.

XVII. A KNIGHT TO THE RESCUE

One gorgeous golden afternoon, Madelon went for a horseback ride alone.

Barbara, reclining lazily under her gay parasol, laughingly declared that she was too comfortable to move, begged off from accompanying her, and Madelon cantered down the road that skirted the sea, alone.

The beauty of the landscape, the brilliant flowers that overhung her path, the blue sea curling almost at her horse's feet, lured her farther than she had originally intended.

It was nearly sunset when she turned her horse and started back.

Halfway home, her mount suddenly went lame.

Madelon was dismayed. To be so far from the hotel on a lonely, unfamiliar road, with darkness coming swiftly, was not a comforting thought. But to ride the poor brute when each step cost him such evident pain was out of the question. So she did the only thing possible; dismounted, and seated herself by the roadside to await the possible passing of a motor car.

It seemed hours, and the darkness had completely hid the landscape and obscured the sea which she could hear murmuring against the cliff below, when she caught the welcome glimpse of a motor headlight far down the road.

It was coming in the opposite direction from where she wished to go, but she decided to hail it anyway and ask its occupants to phone the hotel at the first stopping place.

She stepped out into the roadway where the lights from the approaching car picked out from the dusk her slim, boyishly-clad figure, and held up an arresting hand.

The car slowed and came to a stop beside her.

"Hello!" called a pleasant masculine voice. "In trouble?" Then, as she moved to the car's side: "It's Miss Lane, isn't it?"

Surprised at being addressed by name in an unfamiliar voice, Madelon strained her eyes through the gloom to distinguish the tall man who leaped out, jerking off his soft cap.

She recognized the dark stranger who had so caught her interest at the hotel.

He was at her side in an instant.

"May I be permitted to introduce myself?... I am Howard Chandler, at your service. Has something happened?"

She motioned to her horse who stood with hanging head by the roadside.

"My horse went badly lame awhile ago. I was wondering how I should ever get back, as this road doesn't seem much traveled. Could I trouble you to call the hotel please, when you reach the nearest phone, and ask Mrs. Lane to send someone for me?"

He had come over to her horse, raised the injured foot, and was examining it expertly.

He put it down and turned to her with a smile which she found curiously charming.

"I can do better than that. I'll run your back myself. I wasn't going anywhere, just driving aimlessly. I'll tie your horse here, though he's not likely to wander far with that foot, and I'll send a stableboy back for him."

Madelon had started to protest, but he merely stretched out a hand to assist her into the car, still smiling that attractive smile. She found a curious magnetism in the touch of his fingers, and withdrew her own hastily, startled to find them tingling.

When he had secured the horse, he sprang into the car with that peculiar little grace which she had so often noted, and they were off in the direction of the hotel.

For a time, neither of them spoke, and Madelon found her eyes wandering to the hand on the wheel.

She remembered the first time she had driven with Julian Barton and the strange thrill she had found in the sight of his strong brown hand on the wheel of his car. It had seemed some how to typify the man as she had come subsequently to know him. Strong, clean, steady, dependable. A hand to which she could relinquish the tiller of life and drift secure in its strength and judgment.

The hand of the man beside her was vastly different. It was a beautifully shaped hand with long flexible fingers that moved nervously. A palmist would have termed it a "psychic" hand. Madelon noted that it was white and looked soft and excellently kept.

"You must have a tiresome wait there alone," he turned his eyes merrily from the road. "I saw you when you set out this afternoon. That was hours ago." "I say, you haven't dined either, have you?"

advices the daily use of Palmolive Soap to protect skin loveliness.

At the Royal York, Toronto, the luxurious beauty salon of J. Nelson Day serves discriminating women of two continents.

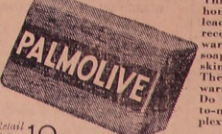

In common with other well-known Canadian beauty specialists and all the greatest European authorities, J. Nelson Day recommends the famous Palmolive "foundation cleansing." "Foundation cleansing of the skin with Palmolive soap is necessary," he says, "if one wishes to have a beautiful complexion."

Foundation cleansing with Palmolive soap frees the pores of all clogging dust and make-up. The bland palm and olive oil sooths and softens the skin and has a beneficial emollient effect which leaves the skin soft, soothed and radiant.

This is the simple Palmolive home beauty treatment that leading experts the world over recommend. Make a rich, warm lather of Palmolive soap. Massage well into the skin for two full minutes. Then rinse... first with warm water, later with cold water, twice daily. Start to-night. A beautiful complexion will be yours.

INJURIES FATAL TO E. J. MOONEY

Popular Local Wire Chief Succumbs In Kingston Hospital

Mr. Edwin J. Mooney, wire chief of the Bell Telephone Company here, died at eleven-fifteen on Saturday night in Kingston General Hospital, of injuries received in a motor crash which occurred on Monday night last in Kingston.

The news of Mr. Mooney's death was received with sorrow in the city and also by those who were not so well acquainted, but who knew of his sterling qualities. He was a man held in high esteem by the people of this community. In his untimely death this city loses a valued citizen.

The late Mr. Mooney was born in Bolton Centre, Quebec, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ira Mooney. At the time of his death he was in his forty-eighth year, having been born on the 17th day of April, 1882. He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife and three daughters, Marjorie, Dorothy and Betty. Also two brothers, Clarence Mooney, of Colquhoun, Sask., and John Mooney, of Boston, Mass. Three sisters also survive, Mrs. J. Longfellow, of Boston, Mass.; Mrs. E. Martin of Boston, and Mrs. I. Peasley of Bolton, Que.

The deceased had lived in Belleville for thirteen years prior to going to Kingston, where he was engaged for four years. Two years ago he again returned to Belleville and had lived here until the time of his demise.

It will be remembered that Mr. Mooney was badly hurt on Monday night last when two young men, accompanied by a young woman, crashed their big car into Mr. Mooney's car at the corner of Earl and Albert streets in Kingston. Mr. Mooney was knocked unconscious and was taken to the Kingston General Hospital for attention. From the time he entered unconscious he died never regaining consciousness.

Mr. James Cokers, local manager of the Bell Telephone Co., spoke very highly of Mr. Mooney, who had been with the company over twenty-five years, being a member of the Pioneers' Association. He was very capable in charge of the mechanical department for this district.

The funeral will take place from the residence of his father-in-law, William McCartney, 315 East Street, Kingston, at 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday, October 22nd, at Catholic Cemetery. The funeral service will be held under the auspices of the Masonic Order.

CAMPAIGN RAISES LITTLE STIR IN HASTINGS COUNTY

"Billy" Ireland Is Conceded Easy Victor Over Harold Holton

SPEAKING TOUR

Horace Collier and J. H. Porte Will Provide Close Fight

Locally the Provincial elections will be the quietest in the history of this district, the only excitement being a date in the field against James F. Hill, Conservative candidate in East Hastings. Mrs. Stewart Dies of Point Ann wished to run as a Prohibitionist but her papers were found to be irregular and the nomination refused.

In North Hastings, Hon. "Bob" Cooke also received an acclamation, the Libs endorsing him as the best man possible to represent all shades of opinion. At no time did there seem to be a possibility of opposition developing for the provincial Minister of Power. West Hastings, which includes Belleville, Tremont and Sidney will have an election, not much of a contest, W. H. Ireland, had a majority of 2500 over a strong candidate at the last election and it is generally conceded that he will about double it this time. While nothing is being talked for and an efficient and thorough organization for the riding has been completed, there seems little possibility of Mr. Harold Holton running as a Liberal Prohibitionist going anywhere in particular on election day.

TORONTO DRIVER DIES INSTANTLY

Samuel Gorman Killed when Car Is Wrecked On The Highway

Hamilton, October 21. (By Canadian Press)—Samuel Gorman, Toronto, died instantly when his car was wrecked on the Dundas Highway near Clappison's Corners, about seven o'clock this morning, when the car in which he was driving met in a terrific collision with another automobile.

Gorman was proceeding east from Toronto with Sydney Sandburg, of Clappison, in the car with him. Near Clappison, the vehicle suddenly swerved to the left side of the road, apparently out of control. A car driven by George Coots, Toronto, coming in the opposite direction pulled over to the left to avoid the collision, but Gorman's car struck that of Coots. The impact was terrific, both vehicles being demolished and Gorman's life snuffed out. Sandburg escaped with cuts to his hands and face and Coots was uninjured.

JAMES HILL IS TENDERED SEAT BY ACCLAMATION

Irregularities In Nomination Papers of Mrs. Dies Are Found

East Hastings presented the only excitement in the Provincial election campaign on Nomination Day, Saturday, for this part of the province. It was confidently expected that the late member, James F. Hill, would be returned by acclamation as there was no other candidate in sight and the Liberal Party was making no interest. However, at Pleasant Hill when official nominations were called for, papers were presented for Mrs. Stewart Dies of Point Ann as a straight Prohibition Candidate but were refused by deputy returning officer W. D. Morrison on the ground of irregularities. Mr. Morrison announced at two o'clock, the official hour of closing for nominations, that the seat went to Mr. Hill by acclamation, but after much argument it was agreed to submit the case to Chief Returning Officer Dymont at Toronto. Mr. Dymont's decision upheld his deputy, Mr. Morrison and there will be no election in East Hastings.

Names Not Witnessed

Mrs. Dies papers were refused on the ground that the names of her donors are required by the Electoral Act. They were not properly witnessed and many of the names were written in the wrong columns. It was an unfortunate mix-up but as it was generally conceded that Mr. Hill would easily carry the seat, if voting was held, there is no particular hardship involved.

Speaking over the telephone, this morning Mrs. Dies said she only decided to enter the field at eleven o'clock Friday night following a meeting of the Prohibition forces at Shanville during the afternoon. The Election Act requires that each candidate have at least one hundred names of qualified voters endorsing the candidature, and while the papers as presented to the returning officer were not properly witnessed and had more than the required number, they were not individually witnessed and so were ruled out.

Decision Given Today
 The conflicting parties met at Pleasant Hill at one o'clock. After discussing arrangements made on Saturday when Mr. Morrison announced the official decision of the Chief Returning Officer for the Province, and the matter is ended.

Highway Traffic Officer Frink investigated.

SEVEN CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATES RETURNED WITHOUT OPPOSITION TO THE PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE

Hon. Chas. McCrear and James F. Hill Get Acclamations

PREMIER IS ILL

Mrs. Stewart Dies; Nomination Papers Were Declared Irregular

Toronto, Oct. 21.—The number of acclamations in the forthcoming Provincial Elections was raised to eighty today when Chief Electoral officer, A. M. Dymond, announced that the nomination of Rev. A. Smith, Communist in the Constituency of Port Arthur, has been disallowed. This decision brings about an acclamation in that constituency for Brig. General D. M. Hogarth the Conservative nominee.

The announcement last night by the Chief Electoral officer that the nomination of Charles Marriott, Communist in Sudbury, and Mrs. Stewart Dies, Prohibitionist in Hastings East, had been rejected, had raised the original total to seven. Only one constituency is still problematical, the situation in Welland, Mr. Dymond told the Canadian Press at one o'clock today, is under advisement. There is no change in the situation in Hamilton where R. N. Berry, Conservative and R. F. Miller, Liberal, were nominated. Both names are allowed on the ballot according to Mr. Dymond. As announced earlier by the electoral officer, Conservative in Stormont, remains on the ballot. Mr. Fetterly is opposing D. A. McNaughton, Conservative member in the last house.

The official decision on these questions of legality reduced the number of Communist nominees throughout the province to four. They are: Stephen C. Smith, in Hamilton East; Timothy Buck, Toronto; Woodwards; T. C. Sims, Toronto; Bracondale and Miss Becky Buhay, Windsor East.

237 Candidates

Toronto, Oct. 21.—The Ontario Provincial election campaign swings into its final stage today. Two hundred and thirty-seven candidates were nominated Saturday in the 112 constituencies and on Wednesday, Oct. 30, the voters will decide the issue. Papers were filed by 238 candidates but two were disqualified of errors in the nomination sheets. The disqualification of these two candidates gave acclamations to the Conservatives bringing the total of government supporters registered without opposition, to seven.

No others were elected by acclamation, all the candidates of the other parties facing a Conservative, and in some cases, also an Independent. Pro-Conservative Communist opposition. Chief elector officer, Allan M. Dymond, ruled last night that errors had disqualified Charles Marriott, Communist in Sudbury and Mrs. Stewart Dies, Prohibitionist in East Hastings. As a result Hon. Charles McCrear, Minister of Mines will receive an acclamation in Sudbury and James F. Hill, Conservative, will be elected without opposition to represent East Hastings.

Other Acclamations

The protest of Sudbury questioned the signatures attached to the Communist candidates papers and alleged other irregularities. In East Hastings it was alleged Mrs. Stewart Dies' papers were irregular because signed by A. Dunlop, North Renfrew; Hon. John R. Cook, North Hastings; Geo. W. Eccleson, Muskoka; Col. T. A. Kidd, Kingston; and Arthur G. Ellis, South Ottawa, also received acclamations.

MONTREAL WELCOMES RAMSAY MACDONALD

Montreal, Oct. 21.—Montreal welcomed the labor Premier of Great Britain today. A great crowd was held back by lines of police. Bonaventure station, gay with bunting, a pipe band with its stirring Scottish tunes, and a beautiful warm day furnished an appropriate setting for the occasion. The crowd of Canada's largest city to the come of Canada's largest city to the celebration.

PRINCE EDWARD ELECTIONS WILL BE KEEN FIGHT

Nomination Meeting at Pictou on Saturday Was Lively Affair

BOTH CLAIM VICTORY

Leading Party Speakers Will Be Heard in Adjacent Riding

(Special To The Intelligencer.)

Pictou, October 21.—The political situation in Prince Edward continues to grow in interest as the days before election shorten in number. Both parties are confident of victory but the result will be in doubt until the vote is counted. As an election in this county are won and lost by a few votes, Conservatives estimate H. S. Collier's majority at over 200, while the Port's supporters say "it will be close in our favour."

Premier Ferguson's visit was a big event and hardly had he left when the Conservatives made plans for having another prominent speaker. Hon. G. S. Henry, Minister of Highways in the Ontario Government will be the chief speaker at a rally in the Regent Theatre next Saturday evening, October 26, at eight o'clock. The Conservative candidate, H. S. Collier and others will also speak.

Young People's Rally

The same evening a Young People's Temperance Rally has been called for 8:00 p.m. in the Armories. Young men and women will give addresses and members of "Ye Olde Time Quartette" Toronto, will provide music. This meeting is in the interests of J. H. Porte, Liberal-Progressive and Prohibitionist candidate.

Liberal Leader at Pictou

On the following Monday evening, October 28th, Liberal Leader Sinclair will speak at a mass meeting in Pictou Armories, in the interests of J. H. Porte. The Liberal Leader will be accompanied by Rev. Father Minahan, of Toronto, a noted Temperance advocate.

Both parties are holding meetings in all parts of the county and good crowds have attended each.

REPUBLIC PAYS ITS TRIBUTE TO AGED INVENTOR

First Electric Lamp Was Perfected 50 Years Ago Today

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—In setting forth the present, a group of the nation's notables came today to pay tribute to Thomas A. Edison on the fortieth anniversary of his perfection of incandescent electric lamp. Most of the ceremonies were held in an early American village reconstructed by Henry Ford at Dearborn, but through the city a picture of Edison featured the decorations in honor of the inventor.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—A civic celebration in honor of Thomas A. Edison and the 80th anniversary of his invention of the electric light will be held tonight in Grant Park. Edison will take a prominent part in the celebration.

SERIOUS CRIMES ARE LESS IN ONTARIO

The simplest gauge of the moral health of any community is the quantity and quality of the crimes committed within its borders. Formerly this test could be applied simply by examining the court records of the community in question and judging from them but lately we have seen how in certain parts of the world crime can become organized and systematized until it is able to paralyze the forces of detection and prevention. Fortunately the violent infection involved in this state of affairs has found no breeding spot within the British Empire. We in Ontario have no reason to doubt the integrity and efficiency of our police or the swift impartiality of our courts. We know that here the vast majority of criminal offenders are apprehended, tried and punished. Our own court records do give an accurate picture of the crimes that are committed.

Does an examination of our criminal dockets show us to be law-abiding or law-defying? The subject is of more than casual interest, it involves a side of our character by which other sections of the country and other countries will judge us and by which we in turn can judge our government. Because just as we as a community stand the test so should respect or contempt for our government prevail since on the wisdom of the government depends first, the laws on the statute books, and secondly, the way in which they are enforced.

An examination of the records does, in fact, reveal a state of affairs from which this people of Ontario may justly derive satisfaction. Crimes of violence, crimes against property, offences against public morals: indeed all the more serious offences, were fewer per capita in 1928 than in 1921. In other words, our people have become increasingly law abiding during a period when in the states immediately adjoining us, having similar economic and geographical conditions there have been increasing symptoms of a growing disrespect for law and the obligations it imposes. We must not be unsympathetic toward our neighbours' problems but we may feel a legitimate pride at having escaped them. At the same time we must realize that the presence of unsatisfactory conditions so near to us has put a severe strain upon our government. Under modern conditions of improved transportation it is no easy matter to hedge off gangsters and criminals who have been produced by conditions existing elsewhere. That we have suffered so little in this regard reflects the greatest credit upon our police and those entrusted with the administration of justice.

It is really surprising that we have escaped so well as we have. The wisdom of making haste slowly in matters of legislation has been amply demonstrated. Laws, after all, are intended to define the minimum and not the maximum requirements of conduct. Nothing is more dangerous than the placing of such legal requirements too high—beyond the sympathies and support of large numbers in the community. To do so is to build the whole structure upon sand and to run the risk of bringing it all down around our ears.

ENJOYING THE AUTUMN

All seasons of the year are delightful in Canada. Each has its own special attractions and it would be hard to say off-hand which is to be preferred over the others—that is, by the average healthy Canadian boy and girl.

What are the special claims of the present season—autumn? They are many. The temperature is just right for good long walks and vigorous exercise. Moreover, the countryside, with the changing tints of the leaves and the bushes, invites one out of doors by its sheer beauty. But it is a season too, which makes indoors equally attractive. The cool evenings getting longer day by day, make the home, with a congenial book or an interesting hobby, a cosy place. More can be accomplished at this time of the year than any other, given a definite purpose and proper direction. Now is the time to decide just what one likes doing best—studying or merely reading for amusement, or working with the hands. Let us say that a course of reading has been determined upon. What progress could be achieved by the time the spring months come around? Or, perhaps, it is the study of a special subject or a foreign language. If, every day, for a set period of time—it need not be long—the object is seriously pursued it is astonishing how much can be accomplished.

Aimlessness is the great enemy of progress. One takes up a subject, is keenly interested in it for a little while, and then abandons it for something else which in turn is forsaken for some new pursuit. This method leads nowhere, and is little better than a waste of time and energy. Try, therefore, this season, the effect of sticking to one subject—let it be a subject that really interests and permit no distraction to interfere with the program. Soon the task will become a pleasure; the time allotted to this particular pursuit will be eagerly looked forward to, and as one advances one's enthusiasm and pleasure become all the greater. There is no satisfaction superior to that of knowing that one has sincerely applied oneself to a useful object and succeeded in carrying out a good intention. Employ the time—or, at least, a definite part of the time, even if small—to profitable account, and note what a feeling of contentment results.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

ORGANIZED TO FIGHT RHEUMATISM

One of the encouraging things you see about you is the organization of groups, often small groups, whose object is to relieve some special form of human suffering.

First there were tuberculosis organizations and they have taken that ailment from first place to fourth place as a cause of death.

Then came the cancer organizations and although the cause of cancer is still unknown, these organizations, by still unknown, these organizations, by showing that early cancer can be cured, are saving thousands of precious lives yearly.

Then came the heart organizations because they realized that more people die of heart ailments than from any other one cause. They have been teaching that heart ailments come often from simple infections and that the removal of these and rest will enable many of these cases to live long useful lives.

And now there are "rheumatism" organizations, being established throughout the world whose object is to try and find out the cause of rheumatism, and in the meantime try and discover the best method or methods of treating it. And one of the first points to remember is to get the idea that you have had rheumatism, you are likely to always have it in your system but you will only have an acute attack when something "special" starts it. For instance, you may have an attack and have some infected teeth removed and in a short time the rheumatism disappears.

Or you may have an attack of tonsillitis and an attack of rheumatism will follow shortly afterwards. The attack passes away in a few weeks and you have no trouble until you have another attack of tonsillitis or more infected teeth. And the point is that the safest thing is to assume that with every attack of rheumatism, the heart is affected and that by rest and proper medical attention you can safeguard the heart.

These rheumatism organizations are agreed that "the most probable site for rheumatism to begin is the tonsils," as shown by the majority of cases of rheumatism following acute tonsillitis. All such organizations are worthy of our support.

IRELAND

One of Canada's greatest statesmen, Premier Ferguson is an autocrat, and forces laws on Ontario against the will of the people. He has increased the debt of the province tremendously, and allows liquor to be drunk so free in the province that it has become a bill in Canada. With these remarks Mr. Holton made way for Mr. Ireland's speaker, Mr. A. J. Trebilcock, of Toronto.

Liberal Change of Front

"Mr. Sinclair is going to the country saying that there is no need for an election at the present time," Mr. Trebilcock said in his opening remarks. "Yet, he is the same man who last year launched the fact that he couldn't force an election on the Conservative Government. Now he says there is no need for it. The reason for this change of front on his part that he realizes his bluff has been called, he doesn't know what to do, and what he does he doesn't do right."

"As for having an election at the present time, the Constitution says that an election shall be held at least once in four years. In the past twenty-five years, since the Whitney Government was in power, only two governments have been elected, and three sessions of parliament. As the present government has sat through three sessions already, they have all kinds of constitutional precedent, and the custom is to go before the people when there are any big questions to come up. Mr. Ferguson called a general election. He was perfectly justified in doing so."

Challenges Liberal Liquor Platform
"We have had Government Control of Liquor for the past two years, and the Conservative party as a whole is standing foursquare on that platform. We tell you firmly and frankly where we stand."

"QUALITY" POULTRY

brings a "Premium Price" at TRENTON'S DRESSED POULTRY DAY to be held during last week of November. Watch for the exact date of the Poultry Market and the KILGILL Demonstrations for your district, to be announced soon. Write W. G. Galt, Trenton, for information.

We stand but just where do Liberals come in. W. J. Sinclair won't tell you. He says, "Read my speeches, and you will find out." But his speeches say only that he is willing to give the people of Ontario a platform when they want it. He refuses to come right out and say whether or not he is in favour of prohibition, for if he does one way or the other, a split is bound to take place in his party. Several Liberals are out on a wet platform this year. Others are running as "dry" candidates. In the end, different policies on the liquor question, what would the Liberals do with it? You don't know, and neither does anyone else."

Mr. Trebilcock also spoke of the "accident propaganda" which the Liberals are using. He quoted figures showing that on a mileage basis there are fewer automobile accidents now than there were two years ago. In proportion to the number of miles driven and the number of cars on the road.

"There is only one way to stop the liquor, and that is not by prohibiting its use. The one way is by educating the youngsters. The Ontario Temperance Act, bred bootleggers, 'canned heat artists' and hundreds of other human parasites, but the Liquor Control Act has done away with the big bootlegger, and in a few years, the little ones will be done away with too."

Benefits to Farmers

If the Conservatives are returned to power on the 30th of October, they will, it is said, immediately start the work of giving the farmers of Ontario the benefits of Hydro electric power which the great majority of them can not afford at the present time. The percent of the actual cost of the primary transmission lines through the country, and since that time have paid fifty per cent of the cost of the secondary transmission lines. The farmers' homes, however, are far apart, and it would cost them at least four dollars and fifty-five cent a month for lighting their homes and buildings. The proposition now is to have the government pay everything over two dollars and fifty cents a month.

Formers have benefited greatly through the work of the Department of Agriculture in obtaining markets for their fruit and for the other products of the farm. They have secured the services of a representative in England who is opening up a wonderful market for Canadian farm products, and they employed experts to ascertain the cause of the epidemic among hogs which destroyed some twenty thousand dollars worth of these animals in one year. Under the capable direction of the Hon. John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture the farmers are sure to benefit, according to the speaker.

Rev. Albert Hall, D.D.

Speaking on behalf of the Liberal candidate, Mr. Holton, and for the Liberal Party, Rev. Albert Hall, of Toronto, founder of the Young Liberals movement, scored Premier Ferguson on his lack of taking the people into his confidence on policies of major importance. "The real policy of the Ferguson Government is 'What I want, I'll have,' declared the speaker. He clearly showed this to be true when he said the other day. The only time there will be an election will be when the Conservative Party wants it."

"There has come a time in Canada and Ontario when the people want statesmanship, rather than politics," quoth Rev. Hall. "Mr. Ferguson says, 'Advance me and my party,' when he should be saying 'Advance Canada.' I am not criticizing many of the gentlemen following Mr. Ferguson. They have no voice in the government. But we do not want a Mussolini in Ontario, and I fall to see where anyone outside of the premier has any thing to say about the governing of Ontario. This election is not to be decided on a few departmental problems, but it will decide whether you want this country to be run by a political acrobat, or by a man who is developing into a statesman. Less than six months ago I said that I would not support Mr. Sinclair. I take that statement back, for I have seen statesmanship in him, developed. Mr. William Lyon McKenzie King is a statesman already and Mr. Sinclair is a coming statesman, and coming fast."

More Raids on Ferguson

"I considered it most ungentlemanly and unbecoming in Toronto the other day, first when in company with General Higgins, head of the Salvation Army, and the next time when with Premier Ramsay MacDonald of England, Mr. Ferguson referred to himself and the coming election. Mr. Ferguson never misses a chance to boost himself, even when it most obviously is bad taste to do so."

"We are not voting against the Conservative party at this election, but against the Ferguson Party. As usual, he took all the credit for ending the thirteen Ontario V.C.s to the Prince of Wales Dinner in England. He says 'I' have arranged to send the Ontario V.C.s overseas. He takes publicity everywhere," complained the speaker.

Mr. Ireland, in his ten minute space of time for rebuttal after Rev. Hall had finished speaking, in a whimsical frame of mind remarked that it was fine to have a minister on a political platform, although it was a little out of the ordinary. "Dr. Hall has taken the people to the skies with his words, and has thrust poor 'Fergie' down to the depths. However, I think that if the reverend gentleman had wanted to leave his pulpit, he could have gone into something better than politics. I would suggest that he go on the stage as a fashion plate," (no doubt he is referring to the very formal attire of Dr. Hall, consisting of morning coat, fancy vest, grey-striped trousers and spats).

"What's it matter to you how he's dressed?" came from the audience, as well as cries of derision, and after a few more remarks, Mr. Ireland sat down. R. H. Ketcheson acted as chairman of the meeting.

WOMAN HELD AS WITNESS AFTER FATAL ACCIDENT

Officers State Passenger in Car was Intoxicated

Kingston, Oct. 21.—Charged with being intoxicated, Mrs. Florence Vankoughnet, who was riding in the auto that collided with the car driven by Mr. E. J. Mooney of Belleville, when he was fatally injured, came before Magistrate Farrell on Saturday morning. She pleaded "not guilty" on being arraigned, but after evidence had been taken, through her counsel, A. E. Day, changed her plea to that of "guilty" and was fined $10 and costs or one month in jail.

T. J. Hickey, Crown Attorney, was present and had Mrs. Vankoughnet bound over to appear as a material witness when the case against two young men, wanted in connection with the auto collision, are brought before the court. No clue has as yet been secured as to the whereabouts of the two young men who it is alleged were in the car with Mrs. Vankoughnet when it crashed into the car driven by Mr. Mooney.

Dr. M. J. Morrison stated that on Monday night about 11 o'clock, he had been called by Police Sergeant John Naylor to go to the scene of a motor accident at the corner of Albert and Earl Street. He stated that he found Mrs. Vankoughnet lying on a stretcher in a home near the scene of the accident. The woman was struggling and making an effort to go to her home.

"Did you form any opinion as to her condition?" asked Mr. Hickey. "I thought she was intoxicated," "And on what did you base your opinion?"

"On her actions and the way she was trying to get away. There was an odor of liquor on her breath." Witness also stated that Mrs. Vankoughnet had suffered scratches on her face.

Dr. Morrison stated that after he had examined the woman he and Provincial Officer Franks had her placed in a car and removed to the General Hospital.

Questioned by Mr. Day, Dr. Morrison said that Mrs. Vankoughnet had been mumbling something about the accident and about two men leaving her in the car and about having to pay for a taxi.

Provincial Officer Franks said he saw Mrs. Vankoughnet in a home near the scene of the accident, and that he had taken her in charge and told of her removal to the General Hospital.

"Did you form any opinion as to her condition?" asked Mr. Hickey. "I was under the impression that she had been drinking. I would say she acted as if she was intoxicated."

Following the taking of the evidence of Dr. Morrison and Constable Franks, Mr. Day changed the plea of "not guilty" to "guilty" and Magistrate Farrell thereupon imposed a fine of $10 and costs or one month in jail.

Following this, Mr. Rigney had Mrs. Vankoughnet bound over to appear as a material witness when the two young men wanted are rounded up and charged in the court.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS
SARAH KERR
Mrs. Sarah Kerr, widow of the late William Kerr, died this morning at her late residence, 68 Cedar Street. The deceased was born in Peterboro township. At the time of her demise she was in her seventy-seventh year, but had lived for sixty years of her life in Belleville. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Erskine, her husband predeceased her twenty-seven years ago. She leaves to her husband's two sons, Harry A. of Belleville, and George, of Leachburg, Penn.; also one sister, Mrs. Anne Sumner, of Toronto. The late Mrs. Kerr was an adherent of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

minds of wood taken from a tree off the farm of Excellent Companion D. B. Bleeker, just outside of Belleville, in Township, which was owned by an ancestor of Excellent Companion D. Bleeker, who was an original U. E. Loyalist and one of the officers of the first Masonic Lodge started at Myer's Creek now Belleville, in 1801. Capt. John Walden-Myers, who was made a Mason in Quebec in 1779, John Bleeker and some others were called from Belleville to Kingston when a dispensation was approved to establish a lodge at Myer's Creek or Thindrow Village, now Belleville. This dispensation was granted by the successor of that lodge started 128 years ago is Moira Lodge No. 11, A.F. & A.M. Moira Chapter was started in 1857 at Belleville, before the Grand Chapter was formed.

The Sceptors were suitably inscribed on silver bands attached and were received by the officers of St. Patrick's Chapter with expression of great pleasure.

When the ceremonies were completed the Companions assembled in the banquet hall for refreshments, after which a programme of music and addresses by the Belleville Companions put on. Companion Leo Riggs presided at the grand organ in the Temple during the ceremonies and at the piano during the vocal music. The vocal music was rendered by Companions Bankier, Stillman, Thompson. The address by Companion John Elliott, Controller, Wexford, Ontario; Ex. Companion V. Graves, Ex. Companion W. C. Mikel, K.C. and by Most Excellent Companion, W. N. Ponton, K. C.

CAMPAIGN

Contest in Prince Edward
Prince Edward County present the only semblance of a fight but even here H. Collier is figured to easily hold the seat in the Conservative party. In the general election of 1926, Mr. Collier was about 44 votes down to the Hon. Mr. Raney, attorney-general after one of the hottest campaigns ever staged in Ontario, but at the subsequent by-election when the seat was elevated to the bench the seat was given to Mr. Collier by acclamation. Mr. J. H. Porter, the aged retired jeweller of Picton, who is standing as a Liberal-Progressive-Prohibitionist is not expected to poll anything like the vote accorded the dynamic Mr. Raney and even the Liberals are inclined to concede a fairly easy victory for the Conservatives in Prince Edward.

In West Hastings Mr. Ireland has planned a series of meetings beginning with a big Conservative dinner to-night in the local Committee room. On Wednesday night the Young Conservatives are staging their big dance at which Mr. Ireland will speak for a few moments and on Tuesday evening Oct. 29, there will be a Conservative Rally in the City Hall here. Other meetings have been arranged for Trent and Sidney.

BEAUTIFUL WALLS MAKE BEAUTIFUL HOMES

If a room is to be of a definite period the first and foremost consideration, before any of the furniture is acquired, is the treatment of the walls. Skillfully covered walls may perform any number of good tricks. They may be made to make a dark room lighter, a ceiling seem higher; give width to narrow rooms and make old furniture look charming and homey instead of shabby.

There's a wide range of choice. Walls are now treated in many ways to harmonize with period furniture or exotic whims. And everything is fashionable—paint or plastered walls, wood paneling, rough plaster, paper and fabrics.

When in doubt, flat paint in plastered walls is safest. It is the most neutral of all backgrounds and is merely an unobtrusive background. All shades and tints are now being used—varieties of green, blue, peach, ecru, buff, tan or gray. What is most suitable depends on whether the room is large or small, light or otherwise. The bright tints—yellow, peach, cream, will endow a sunless room with light. The blue and green shades are suitable only for the rooms flooded with light, and the particular shade must first be tested with care. The wrong green or blue may make the room seem chilly and repelling. Paper is now being revived as a wall covering—especially since so many of the new papers are so made as to be washable and thus remain fresh and new looking for years. Wall-paper designs are now much more varied and beautiful than they once were. Patterns like chintz, toile de Jouy and others once used only for linen and cottons are now being printed on paper with charming effect. Patterns containing faint stripes will not be too obtrusive, yet give height to a room that is too low-ceilinged. Very small patterns, like polka dots, make a small room charming and cozy instead of just inconveniently tiny. And by the same token a large pattern or one that is very pronounced, will draw together the walls of a room that is otherwise bleakly large.

meter placed in the oven will register the right temperature for various cakes—loaf, layer, cup. The fourth secret is following the recipe without change.

The efficient culinary artist collects the utensils and tools necessary for making and baking her cake upon the working table before she begins. Then she carefully reads her recipe and notes what oven temperature is required.

She recommends this:

NOVEL LAYER CAKE

First Layer
1-2 cup shortening
1 cup white sugar
2 eggs beaten
3-4 teaspoon salt
1-2 cups pastry flour
1-2 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon baking powder.

Method: Cream shortening and sugar; add eggs and vanilla. Last stirred with salt and baking powder.

Spread 1-2 inch thick over shallow greased pan.

Second Layer

1 cup light brown sugar
1 egg white
1-2 teaspoon vanilla
3-4 cup chopped nuts
1 tablespoon cocoa.

Method: Beat egg white, fold in

To clean those little plaster busts just now, avoid water and soap, which while removing the grime, are apt to soften them and leave them with bleached, blotchy surfaces in place of their first smooth, faintly gleaming surfaces.

Try cleaning them with a soft rag smeared with the very purest lard. Do not use too much grease, and rub very gently. Then wipe off, and use an old silk handkerchief to give a final polish. You will find the lard removes the dirt and gives a creamy, glossy finish.

There are few even in this advanced cooking day who prepare vegetables correctly. Broadly speaking, vegetables include all the plants used for food except grains, nuts and fruits, and through the vegetables we provide for the body the vitamins that promote growth and sustain life. Most cooks literally drown the vegetables in quantities of water or overcook them destroying the vitamins entirely, or they put on the table sodden masses of vegetables drenched with sauces that not only are not the most healthful thing in the world, but that destroy the flavors of the vegetable itself.

"STARVED HEARTS"

BY
Mildred Barbour

Chandler left her little time for thought; but there were moments, Barbara noted, when all animation dropped pathetically and her eyes flashed from her when her slim figure started, unseeing across the blue sky, a pale, unspoken cry of "Julian!"

But presently she would square her shoulders gallantly, throw back her proud little head, and delve recklessly into some fresh gayer planned by Chandler. She seemed to drug herself into forgetfulness with constant excitement.

The three of them—Barbara, Madelon and Chandler—were idling on the beach one evening just before sunset, when Chandler pointed to a great rock darkly outlined against the sky on the hill behind them.

"That is the loveliest place to watch the sunset in all California," he remarked. "I've been there several times and I never tire of it. Would you care to try it? It's not much of a climb and we've just time before the sun goes down."

He included Barbara in his invitation, but his eyes were for Madelon alone and Barbara tacitly declined. She watched them out of sight with something in her heart that was half fear.

NIX. "DON'T YOU UNDERSTAND MY BEAUTIFUL?"

Madelon and Chandler reached the summit of the giant rock that overhung the sea just as the sun, a glowing ball of crimson fire, hung poised on the edge of the far horizon.

Madelon, panting a little from the climb, her cheeks flooded with love color, turned appreciative eyes to her companion.

"It's worth the exertion, isn't it? I've never seen anything so beautiful." She stripped off her white flannelette and spread it over a ledge of the rock.

"Sit here, where that pretty and becoming frock will not be damaged." He flung himself down at full length beside her. She thought that she had never seen anyone so lovingly grateful.

Under his thin silk shirt, his shoulders moved with the flexibility of a beautiful animal.

She felt his irresistibly fascinating personality overpowering her. He was staring up at her, not at the approaching sunset, and the breath frothed in her throat and his finger were unaccountably cold.

Determined to resist the spell of his manly charm, she fixed her eyes steadfastly upon the wonderful scene that lay spread before her.

Slowly the sun dipped into the sea. By infinitesimal fractions, its glowing crimson orb was quenched in the fathomless waves. It seemed to Madelon as though great clouds of steam and spray must rise from the region of its disappearance, but the sea lay calm and almost ripple-less. Its blue had paled to slate grey, and then suddenly, like great crimson and saffron fingers, spread across the still waters.

of sheer metal cloth is a new autumn fashion, and shares interest with lace gowns of the same type, while skirts touch the ankles in the back and at the sides and the gown itself is usually molded to the figure in either a princess or belted line.

Vionnet's characteristic geometrical handling of fabric by which she achieves the "sculptured" lines of her evening gowns is given an arresting twist this season by the combination of a light and a dark color, and brown and peach and light and dark green and black and white are among the varied combinations.

It was when he smiled and his thin, rather sinister mouth twisted whimsically, that she liked him best. It made him seem almost boyish and very human. She forgot the other moments when his very familiarity with experience repelled her; when he made her think of something wholesome, like fruit that has been too long, or too strongly, exposed to the sun and wind.

The golden days passed swiftly in Howard Chandler's company. They rode and drove and swam and danced together. Barbara lent them a smiling chaperone. She was glad that Madelon had found some diversion from her unhappy love affair. Indeed, she liked and admired Chandler, and fully aware of the hopelessness of the suit of Julian Barton, she half hoped that Madelon would fall in love with the fascinating stranger who had so obviously succumbed to her beauty.

THE WINNERS
By Rudyard Kipling
What is the moral? Who rides may read
When the night is thick and the tracks are blind
A friend at a pinch is a friend indeed
But a fool to wait for the laggard behind Down to Gehenna or up to the Throne
He travels the fastest who travels alone.

White hands cling to the tightened rein,
Slipping the spur from the booted heel
Tender voices cry "Turn again."
Red lips tarnish the scabbarded steel,
High hopes faint on a warm hearthstone
He travels the fastest who travels alone.

One may fall but he falls by himself
Falls by himself with himself to blame.
One may attain and to him is pelf,
Look of the city in Gold or Fame.
Flunder of earth shall be all his own
Who travels the fastest and travels alone.

Wherefore the more be ye holpen and stayed Stayed by a friend in the hour of toil,
Sing the heretical song I have made—
His be the labour and yours be the spoils.
Win by his aid and the aid disown—
He travels the fastest who travels alone.

FRANCE AGREES TO MEET ITALY BEFORE PARLEY

Paris, However, Has Misgivings On Agreement Being Reached

PARITY, OBSTACLE

Government Could Not Withstand The Public Opposition

Paris, October 21.—The French Government has given its assent to the Italian suggestion that the two countries try to reach a preliminary agreement on naval matters before the London naval conference, or at least to have a full exchange of views. Even before any suggestions of the kind were made in Paris, the Italian Government had let it be known to London and Washington that it would seek to open direct negotiations with Paris. The suggestions were finally conveyed to the Quai d'Orsay and were at once favorably received.

As was indicated by Mr. Briand in his reply to Arthur Henderson, the French Foreign Minister believes firmly that the whole success of the London conference depends on the frankness and fullness of preliminary understanding of each country's point of view, and he is a warm partisan of the same intimate conversations between other participants in the London conference as there have been between Washington and London both prior to and during Premier MacDonald's visit. There is, however, full realization here that these preliminary conversations are going to be extremely delicate, and immediate forward progress towards agreement is not to be expected. It is recalled that the present accord between Washington and London has been reached only after two years of estrangement following the failure of the Geneva conference, and it is scarcely to be expected that Italy and France will at once reach an agreement acceptable to each other and to the other participants in the London meeting. It is indeed with certain misgivings that the French Government is setting out to try to reach an agreement with Rome. For both abroad and in the Italian press it has been already heralded that the basis of that agreement must be parity.

FOREIGN CITIZENS FIND SAFETY ON BRITISH GUNBOAT

Mutiny of Chinese Is Close To Nanking—7 Hours of Looting

Shanghai, October 21.—Japanese and British gunboats furnished a sanctuary for foreign residents of Wuhan today when troops mutinied against Nanking, fought loyal forces, and engaged in seven hours of looting. This outbreak in the important Yangtze City, only 120 miles from Nanking, brings a new problem for the Central Government, which was not anticipating trouble so close to home. Foreigners in Wuhan, all but three of them missionaries, sought safety on the British gunboat "Oricket." Sixty-eight Japanese boarded two Japanese gunboats anchored there.

The mutiny began at three this morning, following prolonged negotiations between the troops and the Chinese Chamber of Commerce over the price to prevent looting. The Chamber met the first demand to pay $50,000 in silver, whereupon the troops demanded an extra $100,000. These forces are part of Fang Chenwu's army. Fang Chenwu being now a prisoner at Nanking following investigation of the Chiang Kai-shek assassination plot. No American gunboat is there or it is planned to send any for the outbreak showed no evidence of anti-foreignism the mutineers seemingly not resenting the Japanese landing party sent to protect the Consulate. A third Japanese and a second British gunboat are steaming toward Wuhan.

MAN RIDES SELF-MADE TORNADO, YET LIVES

New York, N.Y.—In his quest for speed, man has succeeded in riding a self-made tornado. That, says Dr. G. B. Pegram, Columbia University physicist, is what the recent British flight at 2698 miles an hour amounted to. Anyone who has seen a tornado with a force capable of driving a straw post into plank, can realize the speed attained by A. H. Orlebar, captain of the British Schneider cup team, as he averaged 357.7 miles an hour in four successive sprints over Calshot. About the only difference was that Orlebar's plane created its own "tornado." In this instance called air resistance. A real tornado has a calculated velocity of about 4,000 miles an hour near the vortex. That's how fast the tunnel whirls around.

In Orlebar's flight the plane had the velocity, but if the pilot had stuck his hand out of the cockpit the consequences probably would have been the same as when a faster hits a fence earlier in the afternoon.

ately a mile in 10 seconds.

It wouldn't be safe to travel in anything faster than seven miles a second," says Dr. Pegram, who is dean of Columbia's engineering school. "The traveler would fly off the earth into infinity," and, he might have added, eternally.

YOUNG BURGLAR IS WOUNDED BY POLICE OFFICER

Robt. Anderson, Cannington Boy, Attempted To Rob Store

Lindsay, Ont., Oct. 21.—When Provincial Constable Taylor, of Cannington, was told there was a burglar in Johnston's store late last night he entered the front door, flashed his light and was faced by a young man holding a revolver. It was Robt. Anderson, native son of the village. The constable drew his gun and ordered him to throw up his hands. Anderson ducked behind some boxes and the constable fired, hitting the man in the hip. A short chase followed, but ended when Anderson stumbled and fell as he darted out a rear door with a gun still in his hand. He was brought to Lindsay hospital and a bullet removed.

HOLLOWAY STREET CHURCH MARKS 53RD ANNIVERSARY OF FOUNDATION

Rev. J. U. Robins, of Bowmanville was the Special Speaker

Holloway Street Church celebrated the fifty-third anniversary of its foundation yesterday and the occasion Rev. J. U. Robins, of Bowmanville preached to the congregation in the morning and in the evening.

In the morning the service was taken from the Book of Hebrews, chapter eleven, verse twenty-five. "Choose rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasure of sin for a season."

The visiting pastor brought a picture vividly to mind of Moses' affliction in the time of the Pharaoh when he had the choice of ruling the Egyptians and having all the pleasures that go with it or of choosing the way of the Israelites out of the land. Rev. Robins was a man who carefully thought out all that he did and that in this case, where Moses was confronted with two problems, that of being satiated with pleasure and that of the arduous task of leading the Israelites out of Egypt, he thought deeply and long. This was a great crisis in the life of Moses but he decided in the right way.

Mr. Robins went on to say that our ourselves are at some time or other confronted with this problem and that it is up to ourselves whether we choose the right or the wrong. Said the reverend gentleman: "Some of the great principles that Moses laid down so many years ago have never been bettered. There was a man who had to choose between affliction with the right and pleasure with the wrong. Often in our lives we are faced with great crises in our moral, religious or political life. It is then that we have to look for the answer in our minds. It is then that the truths of the Bible are manifested.

Rev. Robins stated that it is when we have these grave responsibilities thrust upon us that we turn to the Bible and never fail in finding something that fits our need. When we are at this critical stage of life we know what to do, since it often means that in choosing the right affliction goes with it, and we have to give up a great deal of the world's goods.

In mind that this often meant renunciation of things that we love, but the renunciation often brought us to the hilltop where we realize life's true values.

"It is not what we are giving away but what we choose that makes life of greater importance. Bear in mind that our choice of a thing makes or breaks us. True pleasure bubbles up from the innermost regions of the heart, affirmed the minister.

The speaker then went on to say that we cannot get more out of life than we put into it, and that to get the most out of life we must put our best into it. What went on behind our decisions had a lot to do with our decisions and that our heart told us was often better than our reason.

Adopting an earnest tone the Rev. Robins stated at the conclusion of his sermon that if many people went through life regardless of the fact that there is only one road to follow—the right road. The right course was forth finding and it was through our final choice that we would obtain the finer things of life.

"There is good, better, best. Good isn't enough, strive for the best. Choose ye this day between the pleasures of the flesh but seek first the Kingdom of God," he concluded.

Mr. Howard Howard sang a solo and Miss Woodley along with Mr. Howard sang a duet during the course of the service.

PRINCE EDWARD

(Continued from Page One) on Saturday night and drew a large crowd. Returning Officer Frank Dempsey declared nominations closed at 2:30 p.m. R. A. Norman demanded a poll and this was granted.

There were only two nominations—those of H. S. Collier, wholesaler, and J. H. Porter, optician. Mr. Collier's financial agent will be J. H. Porter. Mr. Porter will have Martin Foster, Gordon Walmsey was clerk and also acted as chairman.

Each side was allowed 40 minutes to speak, and then the sitting member was given 15 minutes in which to reply.

Mr. Collier thanked the voters of Prince Edward for electing him by acclamation in the 1927 by-election. This was the first time in the history of the county that an acclamation had been given and he considered it a tribute to the Conservative party and the Ferguson Government.

Mr. Collier will be proud to be a member of the Ferguson Government with its sound, safe business administration. He was proud to be a member of Prince Edward County—the province which produces more per province. The Ferguson Government has done much for farmers of Prince Edward's cheese records; to the assistance given by the Provincial Department of Agriculture in regards to judging competitions, free trips to the Royal Winter Fair for ten boys from each county school, etc. The Ferguson Government offers lower hydro rates for rural users. Highway mileage is being increased and there is every reason to believe that Prince Edward will get the proposed U. E. L. Highway from Trenton, via Wellington to Pictou and via Glenora to Kingston if the

Mr. Ward described Mr. Porter as a political chameleon—running under many colours. Mr. Porter promises to enforce the Act better. How would he do it? He gives you half a baked pie."

Mr. A. E. Reebuck, Toronto, spoke on behalf of Mr. Porter. He was surprised that the representative had left everything to Mr. Ward to tell. He stated that Sinclair never made a statement that they had scrapped the O. T. A. The Liberal party has always been a temperance party. On the temperance question, Mr. Reebuck stands bone-dry. The Liberal party will let the voice of the people rule. "Ward has probably told you of conditions in Prince Edward," said Mr. Reebuck; "no doubt he made a good case. That is because he is a good lawyer."

Empty bottles found along the roads mean a too close association between liquor and gasoline. Accidents have increased under the L. C. A. and consumption of liquor has increased. Mr. Reebuck quoted statistics. "If the Ferguson Government goes on with its present liquor policy, it will go down to oblivion and disgrace," declared Mr. Reebuck.

Mr. Reebuck referred to Mr. Newman's denials of the Ferguson Government holding up the development of the St. Lawrence. "If Newman says Ferguson is not against the development of the St. Lawrence, why is it that the Ferguson Government is buying power from Gaitaneau?" asked Mr. Reebuck.

Mr. Collier replied. "I referred last to Government expenditures and warmly defended them. Ninety per cent of all Temperance Legislation was passed by Sir James Whitney and the Conservative Government," said Mr. Collier.

Mr. Porter said Mr. Collier had said he would continue with the L. C. A. a couple of years so that county would get so bad that there would be no doubt as to the result when a referendum was taken. This would have to go before the Privy Council and would take several years.

Personalities were frequently indulged in so that things were kept very lively.

Why not get back in tune with Nature once more? Just now lowland and stream, highland and forest are changing their garb. Mother Earth is presenting one of her prettiest shows for those who care to journey where she takes her magic brush and paints the world in new hues.

What better than to forsake the city for a hunting trip to the spots where Nature is changing her stage in keeping with the seasons? The thrill of the chase may be primary or secondary in importance. The tang of the Autumn air is present whatever your purpose out-of-doors. One deep breath of it before a fragrant camp breakfast and you feel like a new man.

Get away into the northern woods in your familiar breaks and jams and enjoy the work of a Master Artist. The reds and browns and russets and yellows you never saw on any canvas painted. You will rediscover the appetite you thought was gone. You will find a new zest in play. Out on the big gun and look up your out-door clothes. The Canadian National Railways will do the rest. Convenient trains leave daily and make stops at the hunting lodges. They will take you to the heart of the Fall festival in a short time. Any agent will give you full particulars. 014 & 21

Alemite 6, Corbyville 5.
This was the score of the game played between these two teams on Saturday afternoon at the Fair Grounds when they met to decide the winner of the first half of the Industrial League. Corbyville are already the winners of the second half so that the championship of the league rests on the winners of the sudden death game which was played at the Fair ground this afternoon.

The Alemite have had some wonderful luck during their games this season and practically all of their luck has occurred in the lucky seventh and eighth. Saturday's game was no exception to the rule for in the seventh they came from behind to win out. The excitement for those in the bleachers was intense, the teams were so evenly matched, and one could never tell what the outcome would be until the last strike had been pitched. "Tommy" Pointer Corbyville sent "Tommy" Pointer to the mound to try his stuff on the diehards from the Alemite, while "Hoot" Gibson, idol of Belleville base ball fans last season, showed that he still had the same stuff, when he paved the way to victory for the championship of the Province against the Walkerville Chicks.

Corbyville were the first to go to bat but for the first three innings neither they nor the redoubtable Alemite bunch could score a count. Then came the fourth. Two were down for Corbyville in the fourth before the prowess of Gibson. "Jerry" Hurley came to bat and had two strikes against him. "Hoot" wound up to flimflam when up spoke "Cap" Smith, the and him but Hurley connected with a long hard drive between first and second to right field. It was a beautiful hit and went right between the legs of Belnap. "Jerry" lost no time in making a circuit of the bases for a home run to be greeted rapturously by his jubilant confederates on the bench. Scott the next man up was made short work of, but the home run of "Jerry" seemed to have destroyed the morale of "Ernie" Rawson's boys, for in the next frame the first and second assemen went all to pieces. Three more runs were scored by the Ciacos and nearly all of them were due to atrocious errors committed by Flagger in Second and Young on first. Latchford went out via short. Gretney singled, T. they got to first on a hit all that Young should easily have got. Young in the next minute, could have got the same man standing off first but he was undecided and missed another chance. Gretney was by this time stealing from second to third and could have been thrown out by Young who threw short and missed another perfect chance. Gretney attempted to steal home while Ralph Ihey at bat, hit and ran to first. "Dusty" Flagger threw short to plate and another error, missing a chance and Gretney came in. Ihey going to first on a fielders choice, Pointer singled and T. they came in. Flagger throwing Pointer out on second.

Cook struck out and Scarlett next on deck got to first on a bad throw to first by Flagger. Truly it was an eventful innings with six errors credited to two Alemite players. In the sixth Corbyville scored another, Gretney getting to first on an error by Young, to second by a passed ball and home through T. Ihey's hit. For the rest of the game Gibson twirled sound ball and no further runs were chalked up. It was disheartening for Gibson but he bore up well. So much for Corbyville end of the game, now for the Alemite.

Things looked gloomy for the Alemite when up spoke "Cap" Smith, the

Why Farmers Prefer Endowment
Insurance

HAVING insured farmers for nearly sixty years, we do not know of any group of men to whom life insurance has been more beneficial. Our experience has been that the average farmer lives out the term of his policy, and profits personally from his thrift.

The most popular policy with farmers is the Endowment Policy. It is generally bought for the amount of any mortgage that stands against property, so that funds to pay off the mortgage will be available at maturity or in the event of premature death.

Every farmer who is physically fit should own life insurance, and if he buys a Confederation Life policy we can and will arrange for premiums to be paid at convenient times.

Write for a pamphlet entitled "Why Matheson Was a Farmer." It tells of his experience with a Confederation Life Policy representing Total Disability Benefit. Address:

veteran of many campaigns, "If Philadelphia can do it so can we" (and they did). It was in the fifth and "Johnny" Kerr was to bat. He got to first on a walk and stole his way all around the bases for the first run. Truly, it was a pretty piece of work and he is like lightning on his feet. In the sixth Alemite scored another. Hagerman getting to first on a single stealing bases the rest of the way and coming home on an error by Scott, the catcher. Then came the seventh and with it the changing of the boot (called Luck) to the other foot. Halsey was walked. Kerr went out, pitcher to first. Rigby got safe on first on an error of Latchford's in centre field, stole second and was advanced to third on a hit by Flagger while Halsey came in. Hagerman followed with a double bringing in Rigby and Flagger. Hagerman stole third and came home on an error by Scarlett on third. This put them on the long end of the string. Corbyville tried to overcome the lead in their next and last batting but the battle was over to be renewed again this afternoon.

Gibson had seven strikeouts to Pointer's twelve. Pointer had two walks. Hurley was the heavy hitter with a homer and a double. Out of five times to bat Kerr got safe four times. He had a triple, two single and a walk. He came in once and was left on third three times. He is one of the best base stealers in the city. Rigby played a sterling game on short and Darrah is centrefield. Alemite had eight errors and Corbyville three. Alemite had ten hits and Corbyville five.

BRANDON NOT TO BE IN LEAGUE

Winnipeg University Also Withdraws Senior Hockey Team

Winnipeg, Man.—(By The Canadian Press)—Just a quartet of hockey teams will make up the Interprovincial League—producer of present Allan Cup holders—according to present indications. "Last season, four squads made up the circuit but two new outfits were added to replace one-half of the 1928-29 ensemble.

Port Arthur and Port William top-notch ice-sixtets from Ontario's farther west are the pair called to stay in the league by those who figure they know. The Ports now boast possession of Canada's amateur hockey title and the other lake-head brigade had the championship just a couple of years before.

Brandon and Manitoba Varsity, Winnipeg's student team, will not be in the league, it is forecast—and their places will probably be filled by a pair of Winnipeg teams making their debut in senior company. Excision of Brandon and Varsity marks the passing of one of this old standbys of Manitoba hockey and of the Allan Cup team of two years ago.

Native Sons of Canada, carrying a new name into Winnipeg sport, and Elmwoods, noted for their junior teams of the past, are expected to be Winnipeg's two senior organizations in the race. Varsity is expected to pay emphasized attention to the development of a junior team. Brandon, doubtless, will be entered in intermediate play with a chance to enter play-offs with the senior champs.

Cardinals, intermediate champs of 1929, are seeking a senior berth in Winnipeg, but are not expected to be admitted.

Making their entry into Winnipeg sport this fall the Native Sons organization is to be represented in rugby, basketball and hockey. Capable organizers are backing the move, and it is whispered that a trio of stars from Varsity's titled six of '28 will be listed with the Sons. Capable junior graduates, bolstered with seasoned seniors, are in line for Elmwood's roster.

Though Winnipeg's representation in the Interprovincial League seems destined to be doubled, hockey enthusiasts in the Gateway City do not look forward to any perceptible lowering of the class of hockey on tap. A determined levy, it is forecast, will be made on the so-called "Big Four" independent league of industrial teams.

RUSSIAN PLANE DELAYED
Portland, Oregon, October 21.—The Russian plane, "Larg of the Soviets" returned to Pearson Field, Vancouver, Washington today and landed after encountering heavy weather south of Portland.

Mrs. Mary J. Cain, 70 years old, has received her master of arts degree from Howard College, Birmingham, Ala., and is working for a degree of doctor of philosophy.
The Board of Education, Chicago, Ill., recently ruled that students may be excused from public school classes one hour each week for systematic religious education.

ALBERT COLLEGE AND COLLEGIATE IN CLOSE GAME

Trent Road Boys Knotted Game With Touch-Down
In Last Period

Albert College and the Belleville Collegiate Rugby teams battled through sixty minutes of rugby on Saturday afternoon and the final behind in the last quarter to tie the score up, when it looked as though the Collegiate team might register its first win of the 1929 season.

Collegiate started the scoring in the first quarter when Graves booted one over for the first point of the game. Albert retaliated soon, however, and the period ended with the score 1 to 1. Early in the second half the Collegiate boys came to life with a bang and a series of end runs and line plays saw them make yards several times, and finally they ended up with the ball over the Albert line, making the score 6 to 1. They failed to convert and when half time came the score was still 6 to 1.

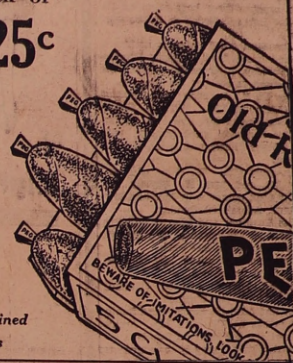

Albert showed flashes of their real form in the third period, and by dint of clever back field play scored a touch, while the Collegiate made one point by booting. The score was 7 to 6 when the end of the third quarter arrived. Collegiate fought hard to hold their one point advantage, but the heavier Albert team put every ounce of their strength into the attack and finally kicked for a single, tying the score. And thus the game ended. It will be a great battle when these teams play again, for the Collegiate feel that they have broken their jinx, and with Cy Williams back in the line-up next week, should be able to pull out a win.

"Get me Mr. Jones on the telephone!"

... another cause of
"LINE'S BUSY"

ASKING your secretary to get Mr. Jones on the telephone and then making him wait for you to speak is not only a discourtesy to Jones. It ties up your telephone line for unnecessary minutes, and people who are trying to call your office are told: "Line's Busy".

Uncompleted telephone calls—of which "Line's Busy" is a chief cause—are wasting two million minutes every day in Ontario and Quebec. They are congesting traffic—causing constant irritation—handicapping business.

We are striving always to provide the best possible telephone service. That is why we are now pointing out some common faults in telephone usage which are blocking telephone efficiency.

Your office may need a re-arrangement of present telephones to give greater ease of access. It may need more telephones. You may be able to time outgoing calls to avoid rush hours. There may be unnecessarily long conversations. You may be getting your secretary to call Jones when you don't need to.

When people call your office and are told "Line's Busy", you waste their time. And you lose calls. A lost call often means lost business. We would be glad to survey your telephone facilities and submit a report.

J. A. COKERS,

Manager.

*Telephone facilities are constantly expanding and improving. Our 1929 outlay will be more than $27,000,000.

YOUNG INMATE OF INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL CAUGHT

Frank Lesard Hired Taxi For Journey From Toronto

DRIVER STRANDED

Youth Was Found Hiding
On Farm In Sidney Township

Frank Lesard who escaped from Milmo Industrial School a few days ago, was re-caught near Foxboro yesterday by Provincial Constable Hamner and lodged in the Belleville jail. He will be taken back to Milmo today. City Police officers were instrumental in obtaining information which led to the arrest, and they informed the Provincial Police where the escaped youth was hiding.

Lesard left Toronto yesterday morning, hiring a taxi, owned and driven by W. J. Burke, to bring him to this city for a stated price of thirty dollars. At Cobourg, trouble developed with the car and Lesard paid eight dollars to have the machine repaired. Coming on to Belleville, the youth instructed Burke to drive to 181 James Street where he said his mother lived. She was not there, however, so the pair proceeded on to Boyce's Garage where Lesard said his brother-in-law was working. Lesard went in the garage and left by the back way without paying Burke the balance of the thirty dollars.

Public Relations Agent investigated. He found that the taxi driver was on the Fourth Concession of Sidney west of Foxboro, but he was not there. The Provincial Police were then notified and later paid a visit to the taxi and arrested the taxi driver. A letter was received this morning from Dr. Lavell, of Milmo, who is Chief Parole Officer for Ontario, asking the City Police to be on the look out for Lesard, but by that time he had already been arrested. Mr. Burke the taxi driver, was stranded here, having only seventeen cents in his pocket with the gas tank empty, but due to the kindness of one of the police officers he was given enough fuel to make the return trip.

PUPILS INJURED IN BAD CRASH

Freight Tr. in Hurled Bus And Occupants Some Distance

Chilliwack, B.C., Oct. 22.—Alice Brown, 14, East Chilliwack, is dead, Jean Gillespie is in a critical condition and ten other high school pupils are in the local hospital following a collision of a Canadian National Railway freight train with an East Chilliwack High School bus late yesterday. There were 21 children in the bus. Nine and the driver, I. McMillen, escaped injury.

The freight was proceeding at a rate of about twenty miles an hour when it struck the bus at a crossing hurling it clear of the track.

Jean Gillespie's injuries may prove fatal but the others are expected to recover.

INTREPID FLIER HOPS OFF TODAY

W. F. Diteaman Left Harbor Grace On Flight To England

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 22.—W. F. Diteaman, who flew from New York to New Brunswick on October 9th, hopped off from the flying field at Harbor Grace today in an attempt to cross the Atlantic to London. He left in his Daring monoplane at 12:14 p.m. local time (10:45 Eastern Standard time). The plane carried 165 gallons of gasoline. The weather conditions were perfect. Ten minutes after the departure, Diteaman left the coast of Newfoundland at Cape St. Francis about seven miles north of here. He was flying in an easterly direction.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 22.—Diteaman, who comes from Billings, Montana, said he came here to search for family records in connection with an estate in which he was interested. The whereabouts of his destination when he took off this morning was not known until after his departure when a letter to airport officials was opened. The letter said he intended to head out over Cape St. Francis and set his course straight for London.

OLD OFFENDERS

Broke In Stores At Brighton And Campbellford Early
Today

Quick work on the part of the Oshawa Police brought Charles Laing and James P. Battistero to justice today, forty minutes after the police of that city received word from Cobourg that stores in Brighton and Campbellford had been broken into during the early hours of the morning.

It appears that the two men, in a high-powered Chrysler sedan, had entered several stores in Campbellford, where they got away with some $300.00 worth of goods, mostly obtained from cigar stores in that town. From Campbellford they proceeded to Brighton, where they entered the hardware store of Mr. H. K. Roblin. Admittance to the store was gained through the front entrance, by prying open the door with jimmys. To do this they had to break two locks. From Mr. Roblin's store they took with them about $150.00 in silverware and rifles and ammunition. Not satisfied with this break, in they went to the pool room, owned and operated by Mrs. O. Clouston. They forced the door in the same manner as they had done the other. Mrs. Clouston lives above the store and the noise that they created in forcing the door awakened her. She looked out of the window and saw the men but could not immediately give the alarm because of the fear of personal injury. From the poolroom they took with them between $200 and $300 worth of tobacco and other goods. When they had left Mrs. Clouston gave the alarm.

It is also understood that the two men took eight gallons of gas from the station of Mr. W. J. Latimore during the night. Nobody was around when they drove up to the occurrence wasn't found out until this morning. Inspector Lougheed of the Provincial Police informed The Intelligencer that he believed the men had been freed from the Penitentiary only five months ago.

Constables Alexander and Hale arrested the two men at the main intersection of Oshawa. The goods stolen from the various business places were recovered in the car, which the two were driving.

These goods were returned to their respective owners this afternoon.

CHARGES STEEL COMPANIES AS GIANT COMBINE

Prices Were Fixed By Use of Telephone, Lists And Conferences

Toronto, October 22.—The Canadian Wrought Pipe Association, composed of the Steel Company of Canada, Page Hersey Company and the Canadian Tube and Steel Company, was described as a "combine with a vengeance," this morning, by Gordon Waldron, K. C., the royal commissioner investigating the Amalgamated Builders' Council Canadian Plumbing and Heating Guild and Dominion Chamber of Credits.

The Wrought Iron Pipe Association was introduced into the investigation through the charge made by L. M. Singer, K.C., Commissioner of the A. B. C., that the manufacturers of plumbing material were in a combine more powerful than A.B.C. could ever be.

Henry Rooke, Major for the Page Hersey Company, identified the agreement presented to the Commissioner by L. M. Singer, by which the wholesalers agreed to maintain the manufacturers' prices.

Questioned regarding the manner in which the manufacturers fixed the prices Mr. Rooke stated it was done in various ways, by telephone, conferences and lists.

PREMIER CANCELS APPOINTMENTS

Hon. J. R. Cooke Addresses
Meetings At Dunnville
And Simcoe

Toronto, Oct. 22.—The appointments of Premier G. H. Ferguson to address meetings at Dunnville this afternoon and Simcoe tonight have been cancelled owing to the prime minister's indisposition and the inclement weather.

It was stated that while Mr. Ferguson's sore throat condition shows some improvement, it was decided better to cancel his speaking engagements for today.

Hon. J. R. Cooke, Minister without portfolio, who has been elected by acclamation in Hastings North, will address the meetings at Dunnville, in riding of Haldimand and Simcoe in Norfolk. It is expected the Prime Minister will be able to carry out his engagements for the rest of the week.

"BILL" IRELAND GIVEN POPULAR RECEPTION HERE

Smoker In Conservative Club Rooms Starts Election Campaign

W. H. Ireland, member of the Ontario Legislature, representing West Hastings officially opened his campaign at the Conservative Club rooms here last night, when party followers from all sections of the riding gathered for an enjoyable smoker, which was sponsored by the local association. Keen enthusiasm was manifested and Mr. Ireland, judging from the attendance at the meeting, assured of a larger majority than ever on October 30th. The predominant note of the gathering last night was the presence of several score of young Conservatives, all of whom are looking forward with great interest to the coming election.

A corps of prominent party supporters addressed the assembly, and in their remarks they stressed the great need for co-operation in the Conservative ranks.

The "Originals" Orchestra dispensed good music which was greatly appreciated by the members present, and "hot dogs" and coffee were served at the end of the evening. Mr. Ireland, who is a member of the West Hastings Conservative Association, occupied the chair, and conducted the meeting. R. J. E. Graham, one of this city's most popular Conservatives, spoke briefly regarding the coming election, and he was followed by Ald. Dr. Kinnear.

Ald. Hyde and Alderman George Reid were also present, and spoke briefly, none of the speakers dwelling heavily on the election. Mr. B. Clarke and Mr. B. A. Sanford aired their views briefly as well.

W. H. Ireland, the Conservative Candidate, then gave a five minute talk which was listened to with great interest. "If the enthusiasm shown here tonight by this band of workers is any criterion, then West Hastings will certainly go Conservative again," was a remark overheard. Mr. Ireland spoke humorously of the coming election and Mr. W. E. N. Sinclair, leader of the opposition, and was cheered to the echo after he had completed his speech. It was a real Conservative Congress, and the success that attended the function points to the return of the popular "Bill" Ireland to the Legislature.

Toronto, October 22.—The funeral of T. McIntyre, one of the founders of the Sun Life Assurance Company and prominent in the insurance world, took place here today from his residence to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Dr. W. Munro.

Mr. McIntyre commenced his career as a school teacher in Belleville. He was later associated with the Sun Life Assurance Company, for 33 years as District Manager, being its oldest living employee at the time of his death.

Eight Conservatives Are Re- turned Without Any Opposition

FARM COMMISSION

Sinclair Denies Favoring Sale of Beer-By-The Glass

Toronto, Oct. 22.—The pace of the Ontario election campaign has quickened. The rulings yesterday removed the last disputes over the nomination. Rev. A. E. Smith, communist, was disqualified, giving an acclamation to General D. M. Hogarth, Conservative. Eight members have been elected by that route, all Conservatives. In the remaining 104 constituencies, where the contests will be decided October 30, intensive drives for support were begun by the candidates and the party leaders, to continue until eve of polling.

W. E. N. Sinclair, the Liberal leader, announced a speaking tour involving eleven meetings and ending at Oakville the night of October 23. Premier Ferguson has planned to speak at seven meetings, the final being at Toronto, October 25. Premier Ferguson was forced to cancel engagements yesterday because of an attack of bronchitis, but the Conservative headquarters announced last night that rumors he would have to abandon the campaign were untrue and that the possible exception of today's meetings, he would be in the fight to the finish.

The final drive started yesterday and drew crowds at several points. The arrest of two Communist candidates in Toronto ridings, Tim Buck, Bellwoods, and Charles Simms, Beecroft, were arrested while attempting to hold street meetings. They were charged with disorderly conduct and released on $200 bail.

Beer-By-The-Glass

W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, speaking at Southampton, emphatically denied he had ever favored the sale of beer by the glass or had ever expressed the intention, if returned to power, to sell the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Resorts and the Province to the Canadian National. WILL COMPLETE Y.M.C.A. DRIVE

Mr. Douglas, Athletic Instructor At Albert College Was Heard

Falling short less than three hundred dollars of the $6000 objective which was set in the Y.M.C.A. Financial Campaign proceeding for the past week, the workers met last night with the Y's Men's Club at eight o'clock and reported some five thousand seven hundred odd dollars as subscribed. All the workers decided to finish up the subscription early to finish up the subscription early, which they have in their possession and there seems little doubt that the needed money will be made up this week.

Three of the five teams in the campaign went "over the top" getting more money than their quota, while the other two teams were a little short but will make it up this week. H. W. Ackerman in charge of the Special Names Campaign raised sixty-five names over their quota of two thousand. Major Bert Jennings and his team raised three hundred more than their quota of one thousand dollars. Major Charles Hanna and his men went about two hundred over their quota of one thousand dollars. Two sections by the Y's Men's Male Chorus were given, which were much appreciated, and a short talk by Mr. Douglas, athletic instructor at Albert College was also well received.

PUBLIC DEFENDER

A petition circulated among the lawyers of Toronto, to test opinion in the legal profession regarding the appointment of a public defender, for the special benefit of impecunious prisoners, has been signed by all the lawyers to whom it was addressed except one. It is not stated just exactly what proportion was favourable to the proposal, but the inference is that the majority of the lawyers were in favor. Social service organizations are said to be "unanimous" in their approval. Last month there was a meeting of the Canadian Bar Association in Quebec, at which the question was discussed and a resolution passed, urging the provincial governments to make a special study of the question, "with the view to passing legislation enabling the lieutenant-governor in council in one or more suitable districts to appoint public defenders, so that the advisability and efficiency of the principle of the appointment of public defenders may be tested and applied to cases in which counsel are in charge of prosecutions." The association left no doubt in the public mind that it considered the present situation unsatisfactory, describing the problem of providing legal aid for the poor as "pressing" and one which demanded the attention of agencies "adapted to its administration according to the varying needs of the communities."

The idea seems to be a logical one. If there are public prosecutors, why should there not be public defenders? It may be said that the prisoner, unable to pay the cost of legal aid, is not without his resources in existing circumstances. He is not deprived of such aid because of his pecuniary disability. But if a special salaried official was appointed to act in such cases, there would be less danger, perhaps, that the defence would be of a merely perfunctory character. That danger is not, probably, very great under the prevailing system, but it is the boast of British justice that the law is a respecter of persons, and every case should be taken that the boast is justified. The prisoner is entitled to the benefit of the doubt and to have his case managed by the best legal talent. If there is a feeling that unfavourable discrimination of any kind is suffered by reason of the poverty of the prisoner, such suspicion ought most certainly to be removed. The inquiry asked for by the Canadian Bar Association should, at any rate, be undertaken by the various provinces, and suitable action follow, in accordance with the findings, if any charge is found to be desirable.

DREAMING AND DOING

When some people, who pride themselves on being "practical," wish to dispose of a person, they refer to him as a "dreamer" and his projects as "dreams." Critics of the British prime minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, are saying that his conception of a new world in which war shall be no more is just an airy, impracticable vision, attractive enough in its way, but unfortunately devoid of realization. Well, Mr. MacDonald does not deny his fondness for dreaming—he even seems to glory in it. "I should like to indulge in daydreams," he told this audience in Ottawa on Thursday evening, "because, as my opponents will tell you—and I admit the fault—I am a dreamer. No man has ever done anything without at first dreaming about it. All the great achievements of the world are the achievements of men who have been built in their own generation dreamers. We dream of things, and if we are men of action we set about realizing our dreams in our waking moments." That is quite true. Even dreamers who are not men of action have been responsible for many very important achievements. There's the idea, though others—the myth of action—may have had to take up the idea and make of it a reality. The late President Woodrow Wilson was a dreamer—he had a great ideal, which was repudiated even by his own countrymen, and he himself was ridiculed to death. But what became of his dream? It was taken up by others, and its main principles have now been accepted by the nation which formerly rejected them, and made effective in a new world treaty. The dreamer may be sacrificed to blind prejudice and selfish bigotry, but the dream lives on.

There's nothing to apologize for in being a dreamer. The man of woman, the boy or girl, who is not something of a dreamer will not accomplish much. What is progress—how does any advance come about, if it is not as the result of some one's dreaming? Even the great scientific discoveries which have completely changed the age we are privileged to live in—are they not in a way—the dreams of great thinkers come true? A revelation comes to a man, and the whole world benefits; but what is a revelation if it is not a dream? Without this dream—this inspiration, or revelation—nothing would have been done. So do not despise dreams and dreamers. Encourage dreams, rather; but do not be content with merely dreaming. As Mr. MacDonald said, it is necessary to set about realizing our dreams. In other words, we must try also to be people of action. Here is something else he said, in the same speech, which is well worth thinking about: "We have all to make our own roads, and not only our roads, but the homes which we inhabit at the end of our roads." There is great wisdom contained in that text, which we leave our young readers to work out for themselves. We have to make our own roads, but that is not the sole end of life. Roads lead somewhere—or should. Merely building the road is not everything we must concern ourselves about. We build the road for a purpose—to take us to our goal as quickly and as comfortably as possible. But there must be a goal—"the home" at the end of the road. Some are so busy making the road that they never do anything else, but work at it, right to the end of their lives, without resting. Let us clearly visualize the "home" at the end of the road; it will help us to keep our paths straight and our direction true.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

A young man just out of college sought the advice of a hard-headed and successful business man. "Tell me please, how I should go about getting a start in the great game of business."

"Sell your wrist watch and buy an alarm clock," was the laconic reply.

"He's a cheater," remarked one golfer to another as the man with whom the first had played a match that afternoon left the locker room. "He lost his ball in the rough and played another without losing a stroke."

"How do you know he didn't find his ball?" inquired the second golfer.

"Because I have it in my pocket," responded the first golfer, triumphantly.

Postmaster: Well, how're you getting along courting the Widow Barnes? Has she given ye any encouragement yet?

Old Settler: I'll say she has. Last night she asked me if I snored.

Barber: Wet or dry?

Customer: Cut my hair. Never mind my politics.

DIZZINESS FROM IMPACTED WISDOM TEETH

When you next visit your dentist it would be worth while to have him show you some X-ray films of "impacted teeth." These are usually the wisdom teeth, the ones that come last.

It would seem that our mouths are not as large as those of our ancestors, and there is not sufficient room for these teeth to develop properly. Accordingly they get squeezed or jammed in different directions. Before the day of the X-ray many patients complaining of severe pain in the face and

AT THE CLOSE

He had riches, place and power.

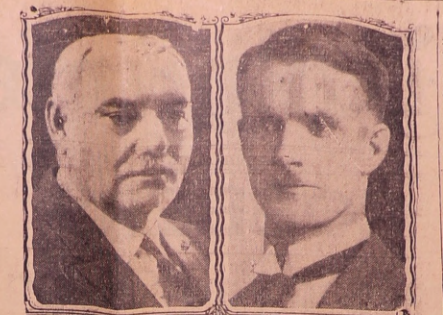

Yet there came that fatal hour Which to all men shall arrive And to miss none can contrive.

Outside busy men were doing Drivory tasks and goals pursuing. They were seeking all he'd sought As upon his life he thought.

Clear of brain and eye he pondered— On the paths over which he'd wandered Seeking to recall the things— Unto which man's memory clings.

Strange thought he, at my December Victories I scarce remember. Strange, now that the winds blow cold I am little warmed by gold.

Curious these thoughts that fill me, Power and place no longer thrill me. Days of friendships' joys are all Of life's closing I recall.

WOMEN AID MEN IN HEALTH WORK

Alberta's Public Welfare In Hands of Competent Board

Edmonton, Alberta.—(By The Canadian Press)—Public health work in Alberta is not carried on by men alone. In addition to the district nurses, and the nurses connected with the travelling clinic, a number of experienced nurse-lecturers travel through the province for the greater part of the year, holding child welfare clinics, and lecturing on home nursing, first aid, child welfare, and immunization.

About the ear had various operations performed for removal of branches of the facial nerve.

Others complaining of severe pain in the ear, and partial loss of hearing were unable to get any relief from the specialist. When the teeth were examined by X-ray, the unusual position of these wisdom teeth was discovered and prompt relief followed when they were removed.

And now, Dr. H. B. Anderson, Johnstown, Pa., reports two cases of vertigo or dizziness which entirely disappeared when impacted molar teeth were removed. One had three impacted teeth and the other had one.

His explanation is that the impacted teeth press on the little nerve branches and the impulses travel back to the root of the nerve which lies close to the root of the nerve supplying part of base of brain, which when disturbed was often known to cause dizziness.

The pressure of a wisdom tooth against the ear, which contains the semicircular canals which enable us to balance ourselves, could quite easily interfere with the proper action of the fluid of these canals and thus cause a lack of balancing power or dizziness.

If therefore you are subject to dizzy spells, don't blame it on the heart. It is due to the liver in the majority of cases, but may be due to an impacted wisdom tooth.

Lord Willington, welcoming Premier Ramsay MacDonald to Canada upon his arrival at Ottawa after his memorable visit to the United States.

Throughout her lectures, Miss Conroy stresses the importance of preventing disease by means of pure water, fresh air, cleanliness, individual drinking cups and towels, and proper sanitary conditions. She also teaches the women to make use of the simple home facilities in nursing.

Miss Conroy's work does not cease when her lecture is given each day, and the last question answered. Frequently she is called upon to put her theory into practice. The local doctor may be in sore need of a trained nurse for a serious case, and for the time calls this visitor to help him out. On one occasion she spent her nights nursing two pneumonia cases. An accident may happen in the locality, and if no doctor is available, the nurse is pressed into service to render first aid. The women of the community may be and usually are, disinterested in the sanitary conditions at the schools, and they seek Miss Conroy's advice. She visits the school, makes a study of the conditions, and then makes an ideal layout for that particular school. This she gives to the women, advising them how to go about bringing it into effect. Teachers have their problems too. A problem is the children from a particular home. In such cases the nurse is visited and in conversation to get parents, Miss Conroy endeavors to get at the root of the matter and find a solution. New Canadian families are visited and welcomed, a little attention is given to their needs, and the nurse endeavors to help them adjust themselves to Canadian conditions.

PREDICTS LONG FALL

The presence of numerous frogs in the marshes and fields of this district at the present time is strong indication of an extended Fall season, according to an old Indian resident of the reserve. These frogs are very plentiful and in the experience of this informant are sure indication of a lengthy Autumn season.

HALLOWEEN EUCHE, DANCE.

Following the very successful Charity Euchre and Dance sponsored by the Utopia Club which was held a few weeks ago in aid of the Victorian Order of Nurses and from which a handsome sum was realized to help this organization carry on its splendid work in Belleville, comes the announcement of another popular combined Euchre and Dance to be held in the Moose Auditorium by Belleville's leading social club—the Utopia Club. This event will be held on Thursday, October 31st (Halloween Night) with the best of music being provided by Charlie Gogey's New Bon Ton Orchestra.

Prizes for euchre and novelty dances will be awarded during the evening, also a door prize of five dollars in gold. Masquerading is optional. Favors of every description will be distributed during the standing. A splendid time is promised for those who attend.

PICTON TEAMS DEFEAT TRENTON

Picton, Oct. 22 (Special).—Both Senior and Junior Basketball teams of Picton Collegiate won their games on Friday night from Trenton High School. These games were the first of the scheduled Bay of Quinte League.

The Picton teams were far too good for the Trenton girls. The score for the Junior's game was 50-8 points or 25 to 4 baskets in favor of Picton. Trenton had less than 15 shots at their own basket. For Picton girls the majority of baskets in the Junior game were made by Agnes Seelye, Jean Rorke, Enid Grimmon and Ruth Leavens. For Trenton, L. Belyon and L. Miller scored.

The score in the Senior game was 54-29 points for Picton. For Picton the chief scorers were Marie Thompson, Kathleen Stevenson, Margaret Fraser. For Trenton Seniors the stars were C. Gossens and H. Bonter.

Mr. J. Alexander, Belleville, was referee and handled the game to the satisfaction of all. The gymnasium was filled to capacity with spectators. Following the games a dance was held and refreshments served. Picton Collegiate meets Belleville C. I. in Belleville on October 25th.

RUGBY PLAYER IS OUT FOR THE SEASON

Picton, Oct. 22.—While engaged in Rugby practice at the Collegiate Campus, Laverna Wright, one of the star players, suffered a broken leg and will be out of all future games this season. Picton Collegiate, though handicapped by this casualty is confident that they will dispose of Albion College on Wednesday next at Belleville. The last game played between Albert and Picton was won by Albert, 10-0, and was a lock ball, thought to be out of play, having been converted into a touch by a Belleville player.

at Railways.

At the same meeting Mr. Sinclair charges that none of the recommendations of the committee have been given effect although the inquiry had cost the province $26,000.

Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor in the Ontario Government, addressed an election meeting at North Bay in which he attacked the Conservative Government of Ontario for taking credit for the legislation which had in reality originated with the federal government. He referred particularly to the Old Age Pensions Act.

Anthony Marentette, Liberal candidate in Essex North, made an explanatory statement at meeting at Woodville, in which he said he had never intended to imply that his views and views of Mr. Sinclair on the liquor question were the same. It was stated attributed to him at North Essex nomination meeting Saturday that drew Mr. Sinclair's denial last night. Mr. Marentette said "I must have been that in speaking English Saturday afternoon I did not use the appropriate language to express my thoughts and it was gathered I meant that Mr. Sinclair stood for the sale of beer and light wines."

Hon. J. R. Cooke, minister without portfolio, defended the policy of the Ontario Hydro Electric commission of which he is member when substituting for Premier Ferguson at meetings at Georgetown and Windsor. In dealing with the liquor question he held that 90 per cent of the people "Hollering" for prohibition were supporters of the government at Ottawa "which authorizes the manufacture."

Contribution Funds
J. G. Lethbridge, progressive leader, told a Lambeth audience that a law should be passed which would compel the publication of contributions to the political parties by Corporations. "I believe the contribution funds are being used today to defeat the candidates favoring prohibition" he said. Mr. Sinclair, he said, was prepared to bring a referendum on the liquor question if demand came from people. His own attitude he added, was that there was a demand "right now" and the Progressive party was prepared to give a plebiscite within a year.

In three constituencies nomination papers were referred to the Crown attorneys for investigations. Mr. Smith's papers in Port Arthur, those of R. E. Miller, Liberal in Haldimand, and those of Charles Macriotti, Communist, Sudbury. Both Mr. Smith and Mr. Macriotti were disqualified. Mr. Miller's nomination was accepted. Mr. Sinclair is to speak today at Waterloo and Stratford with Premier Ferguson scheduled to fill an engagement at Dunnville and Simcoe. In event Premier is unable to speak, Hon. R. J. Cooke minister without portfolio, who has been elected by acclamation will address meetings. The condition of Premier Ferguson shows slight improvement.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. S. Rickett and family wish to thank their friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy and for the floral tributes during their recent bereavement.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

FRANCES MCCLATCHIE
All that was mortal of the late Frances McClatchie was laid to rest in the family plot, Belleville Cemetery, on Saturday.

The funeral took place from her late residence, 13 Queen Street. Services in the house and at the graves were conducted by Rev. Dr. Bell. A solo was sung by Mrs. MacKinnon accompanied by Mrs. Houston. There were many beautiful floral tributes and many friends were in attendance. The bearers were Messrs. I. Sills, G. Clements, I. L. Moore, P. S. Deacon, J. N. Boyd and T. F. Rikley.

A. B. REDNER

The funeral of the late A. B. Redner took place from his late residence in the second concession of Amelburg on Saturday, Oct. 19th, interment being made in the family plot, Albion Cemetery. The service at the home and at the grave were conducted by Rev. Mr. Ross. A large number of friends were in attendance and many flowers graced the casket. The bearers were composed of Messrs. Spencer, McCall, Anderson, William Riles, Mac Fife, Leslie Anderson.

GEORGE DUGGAN

Picton, October 22.—The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon at Bethesda, of George Duggan, a well-known resident of this county, as well as one of the prominent early settlers of Picton, Ontario. Though born at Massachusetts, Mr. Duggan spent the greater part of his life in Picton, returning to Picton after several years in the States.

Mr. Duggan went to Denver in the seventies, when that city had a population of only 5,000. Today it has 300,000. In 1874 a fire brigade was formed in that city and Mr. Duggan became the chief. Up until the time of his death he was the only surviving member of the original brigade.

Mr. Duggan had announced his intention of going to Denver last week to attend the dedication of a new Shriners' mosque, but illness prevented. He was a charter member of Denver Shrine and cut of 30 members in 1887. Up to the time of his death he was the oldest living member of Union Lodge, A. F. & A. M., Denver, where he became a Mason in 1876.

Mr. Duggan was one of a family of sixteen, six of whom are now living. The ages of the surviving members of the family average 73-4 years, or a total of 448 years. William, of Vancouver, Washington, is 87; Amanda, Denver, is 81; Alex, Denver, 79; Thomas, Denver, 79; Thomas, Denver, 69; Catherine, Denver, 67; and John, Miami, Fla., is 65 years.

Mr. Duggan had been in good health until a few days previous to his death, though in his 84th year. He was among those who attended the funeral services of the late Fire Chief of Belleville. Interment was in Glenwood Cemetery.

LOUIS RICKET

The funeral of the late Louis Rickett took place from the home of his son, Mr. Richard Solmes Rickett, 403 Coleman Street, yesterday afternoon at two o'clock.

Rev. A. E. McCutcheon conducted the service in the home. Following which the funeral cortege proceeded to the Belleville Cemetery where interment took place in the family plot. The funeral was largely attended and many floral offerings testified to the esteem in which he had been held. The bearers were Messrs. H. Clarke, G. Clark, C. Sharp, W. Fardel, D. Post and D. C. Jose.

The following are floral offerings: Pillow, Family: Spray from Grandchildren, Broker: Spray from B. R. C. of A.; Sheaf of Wheat from Mrs. W. Chambers, Buffalo; Sprays, Mr. and Mrs. W. Pellet, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs.

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

Melba Toast

Cut bread very thin with sharp knife. The bread should not be too fresh. Place in hot oven about 450 degrees Fahrenheit for about five minutes or until a light brown and edges curl a little.

Apple Corn Bread

1 Cup Corn Meal
4 Teaspoons Baking Powder
1 Tablespoon Sugar
1-2 Teaspoon Salt
1 Egg
1-2 Cup Milk
4 Teaspoons Melted Shortening
2 Apples Sliced Thin
Method—Sift together corn meal, baking powder, sugar and salt to make a stiff batter. Add shortening and beat until light and thoroughly mixed. Pour into greased shallow pan. Make top surface smooth. Interlay slices of apples, making two rows lengthwise of pan. Bake in hot oven 425 degrees F. about 25 minutes. (If apples are real tart sprinkle sugar over top upon just coming from oven.)

English Potato Salad

5 Large Potatoes
6 Caperberries
Capers
Salt small can Crabmeat.
Salad Dressing.
Boil the potatoes in their jackets until done, but not too well done. Peel and cut in thin slices. Prepare an ordinary salad dressing of salt, pepper, vinegar, olive oil and dry mustard, and add the cornichons, small pickles, cut into tiny slices, the crabmeat and capers according to taste. Mix well, chill and trim with young lettuce leaves and watercress.
The necks of the small crevise are used for this salad in England, but crabmeat or lobster may be substituted.

"STARVED HEARTS"

BY
Mildred Barbour

She wondered wistfully if Life could ever divert her from her sad thoughts of Duane Farley. Though she felt well and strong again and her intense pallor had given way to a warm ivory, her heart was still sad and heavy in her breast. She wondered if it would ever really beat again.

There was no doubt that Madeleine had improved in spirits during their stay in the land of perpetual sunshine. She was thrillingly alive from the top pink fingertips. There was glorious color in her cheeks and lips, and her eyes were a deeper violet.

THE CAPTIVE STRUGGLES IN VAIN

"No, oh no!" Madeleine met Chandler's proposal of marriage with every evidence of terror. Perhaps it was because she recognized the inexorable quality of the man. To one of his nature, pursuit could end only in ultimate triumph.

"I—I'm—I'm sorry," she stammered. "But I couldn't marry you, I—"

He was quite undisturbed about it. "There is someone else?" he asked gravely.

She nodded. "You will marry this other one—"

"I shall never marry him at all," she confessed truthfully. "My uncle won't permit it. But—I shall never marry anyone else. I love him. I will always love him."

Chandler smiled slightly. "My child, how young you are! It is only the vocabulary of Youth which contains the words 'always' and 'never' Age knows the mutability of mankind, the inexorability of Fate. May I ask why does he permit your uncle's will to keep him from possessing anyone so lovely as you?"

Madeleine flushed under the implied criticism of her lover.

"He is abroad, Uncle Stephen had him sent there. If I had married him, it would have ruined his career."

And so he let you send him away? Madeleine resented his tone, but there seemed nothing to say.

"Your heart is given to him irrevocably?" he asked, after a time.

Madeleine nodded. "And what do you intend to do with your life? Allow yourself to grow old and withered and lonely without love or home, or family of your own?"

"I don't know. There was dark fear in the eyes she turned to him. 'I haven't been able to think—yet—'

But, suddenly, she saw herself as he had pictured her at the end of a dreary vista of years dominated by the iron will of Stephen Lane. She saw herself mistress of the great gloomy pile of architecture that was the Lane house.

Without hope, without love, without any of the big vital interests that were her woman's heritage, she would go on living with only memory for company.

"Suppose you think, row," he suggested. "Suppose for an instant, you banish this unfortunate young man who won your heart and look at me—"

Would you have married me, if you had not known him?"

She met him with a fleeting glance and then looked down at her slim fingers that were nervously tracing lines and veins in the rock on which she sat.

"I—don't—know," she acknowledged. "Perhaps, I can't say. And yet you are very interesting. You have been a wonderful companion."

"Ah," there was satisfaction in his exclamation. "You have spoken the word: companionship.... Do you not know, that companionship is the real basis for happy marriage? Love is the will or the wish that is gone while we try to grasp it. It is a radiance, like the sunset you saw tonight, that vanishes before we are really warmed in its glow. It is a meteor that brightens our heavens for a brief moment, and is gone.... But companionship is a strong, unwavering light, a beacon that shines through our darkest moments, that points the way for our stumbling footsteps."

He leaned forward and laid his hand over her restlessly moving one.

Marry me, and I promise you the rarest companionship. Forget love and its brief joys and sharp sorrows. Come away with me to my island—'radise' and I will teach you the fullness of life. It is no light tutelage, I promise you. For I have lived widely and deeply and well. I will give you the benefits of my knowledge, and fill your days so full of big, vital living that there will be no room in your mind or heart for a lost love."

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Green in varied tones is high in Paris favour.

Patou's red is a warm note in this season of color in hats.

A noted Fifth Avenue firm at its recent opening featured flat furs, including lapin, beaver, nutria, galyak, Persian lamb, krimmer and caracul as coat trimming, and tweeds, broadcloth and soft finish woollens were advocated the scarf collar of fur being used repeatedly.

General Maxwell Scott, the great-grandson of Sir Walter, now occupies "Abbotsford," which has a drawing-room with a marvellous antique Chinese wallpaper so beautiful that even the moderns, with their craze for "plain colours at all costs," are converted to admiration at the paper, which was a present to Sir Walter Scott from a far-travelled friend, and so was the oak dining table, now in use and made of wood which is a thousand years old.

MARRIAGE IN TURKEY IS "NOT SO HOT"

London—Although Mustapha Kemal is rapidly Westernizing his country, several old customs still prevail writes an Englishman to the "Daily Mail."

Two months ago Nimet Hanem, mother of two daughters, received the visit of the marriage negotiations are entrusted.

"I have come to propose a charming husband for your daughter Samine," she said, in the end Nimet Hanem sent for her daughter.

"Samine," she explained, "this good lady has come to demand your hand in marriage for Nebih Bey."

"But, mother," the girl feebly protested, "I only saw him yesterday at Leyla's tea party, and he never spoke a word to me."

"Ah, my child, he burns with the fires of love for you, and he is a diplo-

SINCLAIR'S

Just For The Feminine Reader

SINCLAIR DENIES ALL BETHOTHAL RUMOURS

Miss Isabel MacDonald, daughter of Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, premier of Great Britain, last night issued a flat denial to reports emanating from the United States to the effect that she was engaged to be married. The re-mat and needs no wealth. By Allah! You cannot refuse him."

Samine, aged twenty-eight, shingled and dressed in the latest fashion, meekly submitted to her mother's wishes.

A few days later she wrote to tell me of her engagement and asked me to go and give her some ideas for her trousseau.

I was relieved to find her quite cheerful, and she told me that her fiancé was fairly nice, although not a bit like her ideal.

"To my ideal man I would have given my love, heart and soul," she told me simply. "But to Nebih I will give sound affection."

We were discussing her trousseau when she suddenly told me that she was glad her fiancé demanded no dowry.

"You see," she added, "I am giving him just the ordinary things that every girl has to give. That is to say, just the house-linen, silver, crockery, furniture and his trousseau."

"Oh, just his underclothes—some shirts and silk pyjamas. Do you think stripes or plain grounds would look nicer?"

"I just murmured that I was no authority on bridegroom's trousseaux and hastily changed the subject."

SCARLET FLAME

Love I all things that flame against the day.

A swirl of leaves along a maple bough, That reddens as October leaps along, A scarlet tanager that's lost its way.

Bright salvia like tall tapers flare and burn Upon the slanting altar of my lawn, While autumn chants a requiem of leaves.

That summer's soul might have a safe return. I hold an oak to be the truest tree That ever flamed before the light of day.

It looks to me as if with all its leaves It had a few last deep red words to say.

If life is such a flaring flaming thing Will death be just as colourful for me, When God shall one day come across my name.

And I shall straighten like an autumn tree? PEGGY REID, —in the Detroit News.

and complex. Miss MacDonald's name with that of Rev. J. King Gordon, son of Rev. C. W. Gordon (Ralph's cousin), famous novelist, who had accompanied her several times on various fund-raising in New York.

Through the efforts of Norman Smith, representative of the London Labour Herald, accompanying Premier MacDonald, who had been requested by cable from England for verification of the story, Miss MacDonald issued her denial last night.

You Need Bon Ami Powder as well as Cake

DO you know that Bon Ami comes in two forms—Powder and Cake? Both are made from the same ingredients—both have the same wonderful gift of cleaning and polishing without scratching—both blot up the grime without hard rubbing or scouring.

For cleaning and polishing windows and mirrors, the handy Bon Ami Cake has been the world's favorite for 38 years. But for bathtubs, tiling, fine kitchen utensils, Congoleum and other large surfaces you'll find the scratchless, snowy-white Powder, in its sifter-top can, more convenient. Most housewives keep both Powder and Cake always on hand!

AIKEN'S LADIES MET

Aiken's Ladies Aid met on Wednesday, October 16th, at the home of Mrs. A. Page with a good attendance of members and one visitor, Miss Iva Hogle, of Colborne. Dinner was served at 12.30, to which all did ample justice. The regular business meeting was held at 2 o'clock with the President, Mrs. S. Westover presiding. Meeting opened by singing "What a Friend we have in Jesus" and Lord's Prayer in unison. Mrs. Bruce Hogle gave the scripture lesson the 90th psalm. Mrs. H. Kells gave an interesting story of the creation. As we study it, we find one of God's first acts was the giving of light. In Him was life and the life was the light of men. To this light we may turn in all perplexity, in times of fear and trouble God looks to each one of us to light the small corner where we are. If we are willing to be torch bearers for Him, we are helping to carry out the will of God, let there be light. He will help us light our torch, and carry on.

The roll was called, each responding with a familiar verse of scripture. The minutes of last meeting were read and approved. The business consisted of several items of church matters and plans for the fall and winter's work. It was decided to hold a sale of homecooking and fancy work early in December on the market.

Also plans are under way to get up a play to be given this winter and to hold an "At Home", probably a Valentine Tea. The programme committee for next meeting—Mrs. A. Bonnett and Mrs. W. Bush. The next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. S. Westover in the form of a birthday dinner. Mrs. E. Hubble gave a splendid reading on Temperance and all joined in singing "Yield Not to Temptation". As we pray for temperance let us remember to vote as we pray. Mrs. W. Hamilton gave a reading and Miss Gladys Page a recipe for happiness. Mrs. Chas. Moon closed this helpful meeting with prayer.

Who is Your Skinny Friend, Ethel?

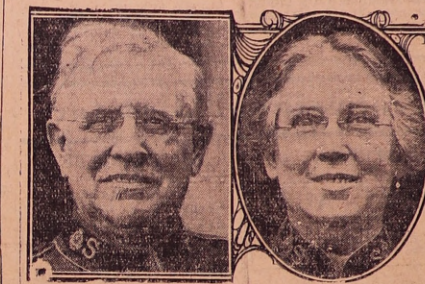

Tell him to take McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets for a couple of months and get enough good healthy flesh on his bones to look like a real man.

Tell him, it's the only way to take those grave-like hollows from his cheeks and neck.

Tell him that thousands of thin, puny, peaked, scrawny men all over America have improved their physical health and appearance and bless the day they first heard of these wonderful sugar coated tablets so full of weight producing and health building essentials.

Ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets, Doyle's Drug Store and every druggist sells them—60 tablets—60 cents—economy size $1.00. Almost any thin man or woman can put on five pounds of healthy flesh in 30 days or your money will be refunded.

One woman put on 15 pounds in six weeks. Children grow robust and strong—feeble old people feel younger in a few weeks.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia. This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE, Write The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., Windsor.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

The merchants represented on this page include a variety of the best established and most progressive business houses in the City of Belleville.

That these firms are progressive and well established is a fact made possible only through the cooperation of the citizens—lending their buying support continuously. In no other way would prosperity have attended the efforts of our business houses, and they in turn would otherwise not have been able to offer such values as may be secured right here in this city today in practically every line.

And the result of buying at home: Bigger business for the merchant; larger turnover and lower prices to the consumer made possible as a result, and better business spells a better community, with added prosperity and the improvements and growth which attend it.

Far reaching indeed are the results attending the "Buy at Home" plan, beneficial results for every individual in this city and district.

CHERRY VALLEY YOUNG PEOPLE HAVE ORGANIZED

Picton Gazette Will Mark 100th Anniversary On December 20th

Picton, Oct. 22.—Cherry Valley Young People's Society has re-organized for the winter months, the following officers being elected: President—Bessie Wiggins; Vice Pres.—(Consecration) Mildred Spafford; (Missionary) Stuart Moore; (Citizenship) Frank Wiggins; (Literary and Social) Nellie Foster. Sec. Treas.—Ira Anderson.

Meetings are held each Friday in the Sunday School room.

Anniversary Services

Very large congregations were present at Picton United Church on Sunday when anniversary services were held. Rev. Dr. E. B. Lancelotti, of Toronto, preached at both morning and evening services. Solo by Miss Reba Force, contralto, of Brantford, were much appreciated.

On Monday evening the annual chicken pie dinner was served and a good program of music and readings followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pape spent Sunday in Belleville with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pape.

The DO-X, a 2-engine flying-boat, which was launched here last July, today made an amazing one-hour flight with a human load of 169, the first time in the history of aviation that so many persons have been carried into the air on any conveyance.

The giant Dornier plane took off at 11:15 a.m., and landed just one hour later.

The machine flew over Lake Ontario, her motors working faultlessly, and landed with her 51-ton load at 12:15 p.m. without a hitch.

The DO-X carried 159 passengers and a crew of ten. She had made previous test flights but this was the first time that so great a load was taken up.

The flying-boat, which may be used for a transatlantic crossing for cities, was built in this afternoon on the occasion of the nomination of three candidates to contest the vacant seat of Richelieu in the Legislative Assembly.

First fighting broke out for a period of almost two hours, and a hundred well-trained policemen alone could have quelled the rioting.

The trouble started when Ulric O'Rourke, Independent Liberal was speaking, and the crowd became unruly and grew to such proportions that the storm broke when Mayor Camille Houde was facing the audience, and not only was it not confined to one place but it flashed out from every angle of the crowd, and it was possible at one time to see from one side of the platform no less than a dozen fights, with from half a dozen politicians and otherwise maddened people taking part in each fight. The little police force, four uniformed men, did their best, showing no lack of courage or skill, but they could do little and were battered about, hit repeatedly, but unable to make arrests because of the surging of the crowd. It was only by keeping together that the policemen were not knocked down and trampled under foot.

The four-year course of education given midshipmen at the United States Naval Academy represents an investment by the Government of approximately $20,000.

Munro

Montreal, Oct. 22.—Dr. Jerry Laflamme, of Toronto, referee in the National Hockey League during the past four years and formerly with the world champion Granites, was signed yesterday to coach the Montreal Maroons. Although the appointment of Laflamme as assistant to playing-manager Dunc Munro was first mooted some time ago, it was not until yesterday afternoon that the former O. H. A. star signed as Maroon coach. Laflamme first became famous as a hockey player with St. Michael's and Denials of Toronto and later with the champion Granites.

Yesterday afternoon was the date fixed for the Maroons to take their first whirl on skates, but mid-way was cancelled owing to the condition of the ice. The Forum ice-making brigade had managed to raise a layer of ice about the thickness of an inch, but the surface was so lumpy in spots that Manager Munro decided to take no chances with sending his players over it. This afternoon, however, will see the Maroons take the ice for the first time and despite postponement of a day, all records for early season ice skating in Montreal will be broken.

Yesterday afternoon was no day for hockey but inside the Forum there was every indication that the winter season was right at hand. The Maroon dressing room buzzed with hockey gossip and Trainer Bill O'Brien was busily engaged in getting things in readiness for the start of the season which is a little more than three weeks away.

RECREATION ALLEYS

In the Junior League played at the Recreation Alley last night the Hardware took 4 points from the Wild Cats. For the Hardware L. Rosetti was high with 264 for a single and a total of 718. For the Wild Cats Graham was high with a single of 271 and a total of 632.

In the Men's Senior League the Carthage took 3 points from the Alemites. For the Carthage J. Yerex was high with 640 and for the Alemites J. Kerr was high with 606.

BORDEN DEFEATS
PENETANG EASILY

Penetang, Oct. 19.—The Junior O. R. F. U. rugby team of the Royal Canadian Signals, Chimo Borden, invaded Penetang for their second scheduled league game with Penetang. The game started at 2:30 p.m. before a large crowd of enthusiastic fans who were looking for a second Penetang victory. The Signals were minus the services of two of their regular players, namely, Signalmen McQuaid, the regular snap, and Signalmen Wells, the regular flying wing. It was a very interesting game for the spectators and it was filled with thrills. The "inside pass" was used and it worked fine. The Signalmen used it twice and it paved the way for their two touchdowns. The weakened Borden team simply ripped the opposing line wide open and enabled their plungers to get away for long gains, the final score being 11-2 for the Signals. The two injured men of the Signals expect to be in shape for their next game with Penetang which takes place in Camp Borden this Saturday.

COUNTRY GIRLS BETTER WIVESQuestion Being Publicly Debated By Intellectual Leaders

Paris.—Whether country girls make the best wives is being publicly debated by two French intellectual leaders. Pierre Milles, novelist and editorial writer, thinks they do because he believes they recognize man as a superior being and take better care of him.

Madame Maria Verone, one of the first woman lawyers and president of the French League for the Rights of Women, says there isn't any real difference between farm and city girls, but her chief attention was given to whacks at the old-fashioned man who has a hole through the wall of the building and dropping to the roof of a row of dry kilns.

APPOINTED SECRETARY

The North American Life Assurance Company announces the appointment of Mr. W. G. Galloway as Secretary of the Company.

old school who think modern girls are together too "uppity". He agrees with some of these that the provinces still afford a man some chance of finding a good housekeeper who knows how to play second fiddle. Madame Verone, however, retorts that the country girl, like the town girl, regards herself as fully man's equal, and that while she allows him to imagine he is of such importance, she never for a minute consents to recognize her husband as "master" of the house unless she, at this side, is the "mistress".

All this is still a live topic in France where the "woman's rights" movement moves slowly, with little chance of gaining the vote until several old senators retire or die. The chamber of deputies, composed of younger men and in closer touch with the people, twice has passed a limited vote bill which the Senate ignored.

FOUR PRISONERS ESCAPED

Detroit, Mich., October 22.—Four prisoners escaped from the furniture shop of the Detroit house of correction at 8:30 a.m. yesterday after punching a hole through the wall of the building and dropping to the roof of a row of dry kilns.

More than 1,000,000 persons in the United States are now suffering from hay fever. The economic loss from the malady during August, September and October is estimated to be between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000.

CHINA BECOMING MORE AIR-MINDED

Shanghai, China.—China has gone air-minded. Along with the adoption of pig-tails, the practice of binding the feet of baby girls and a dozen and one other ancient customs, the wheelbarrow and the ricksha are beginning to give way to more modern means of transportation. And it is only natural that China should take to the air. Probably no other country in the world offers such a fertile field for aviation development.

China's entrance in the field of aviation on a large scale is comparatively recent. The military of the country has been acquainted with flying machines for several years. Ever since the world war various factions have purchased aeroplanes of an obsolete type for use on the battlefield but they failed to do much with them.

On February 17 of the current year China made its official bow into the realm of commercial flying when the first strictly commercial plane ever brought to the country was assembled, tested and turned over to what is now known as the Wuhan Civil Aviation Association of Hankow. Since that time, the Association has acquired five more planes. These planes are being used on air mail and passenger routes between Hankow and Canton.

CARMEL

The stork flew over the community and left a baby girl to brighten the home of Mr. Lew Latton.

Mr. and Mrs. Simmons took dinner on Sunday at Mr. James Brown's. Miss Helen Courneyea, of Peterboro, and Mr. Courneyea, of Tweed, were callers on Friday at their aunt's, Mrs. John Lattone, senior.

Callers on Sunday at Mrs. Brown's were Mr. and Mrs. A. Dufee and Mr. and Mrs. F. Hicks and family.

Our town supper is to be held on the 24th of November.

Sorry to report that Mr. John Van-cawater has had another stroke.

How do you choose?

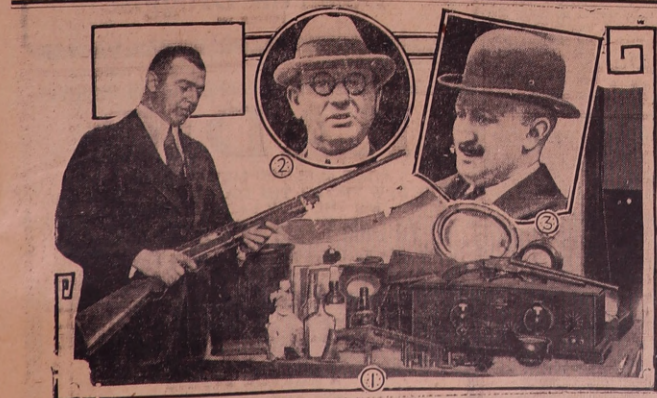

Every time you make a purchase you make a choice. Buying a certain product may be so much a matter of habit that you don't realize you are choosing. But the fact remains that in accepting one brand of goods you are always rejecting others, and the satisfaction you get from what you buy depends on the knowledge of quality and values that guides your selection.

How do you know which bed-sheets, or which roofing material, or which radio will give you service you require? You can't personally test everything you buy and compare it with all the other products in its class. But there is a way to find out which brand fits your needs.

The people who are most successful in their buying, who achieve the highest percentage of satisfaction from the things they own and use, are those who consistently read the advertising columns, and buy consistently advertised goods.

Choosing isn't just "guessing" when you follow the guidance of the advertisements.

You can depend on advertised goods. It pays to read the advertisements.

Recent raids in New Jersey and on Long Island have revealed what is believed to be an international human smuggling syndicate said to have made profits of more than $2,000,000 during the last six months. The "arsenal" is shown in (1) with Prohibition Administrator Calhoun of New Jersey looking it over. Inserts are of Morris Sweetwood (2) and Emanuel Kessler (3) alleged bootleg king who are being held. Captain John MacLeod, skipper of the Canadian ship "Shawnee," is under indictment in connection with the affair and it is said $700,000 was spent on liquors in Montreal during last March by the alleged ring. It is intimated that bankers and officials in several American cities may be involved before the campaign closes.

AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHY BEING USED BY SURVEYORS IN WESTERN CANADA

Few of Their Reports See Light of Publicity, Although Interesting

IN ATHABASCA

Flyers Take Photos From As High As 16,000 Feet

Very few surveyors' reports see the light of publicity, even though many of them would prove of absorbing interest. One of them which would be of more than passing interest is that of the navigator-surveyor who supervised the aerial photographic work for the production of the provisional edition of the new map of Chipewyan, Northern Alberta, issued by the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior, on a scale of four miles to the inch.

This map, embracing over 5,000 square miles immediately west of the Alberta-Saskatchewan boundary, includes the outlet of the Peace River, the western portion of Lake Athabasca, both included in the Wood Buffalo Park, and a considerable territory to the south and east of the lower Athabasca valley, sparsely mapped topographically, which has not been flown over. The post of Chipewyan for which the sheet is named, is about 175 miles from McMurray which lies off the map to the south, and about 125 miles from Fort Smith which lies outside the map to the north.

The aerial navigator-surveyor's report of 1928 reads in part:

"McMurray, Alberta. The two photographic machines arrived here yesterday by way of Winnipeg, Cormack Lake, Pelican Narrows, and Isle la Poudre. . . . went up and found that ground haze was too dense to permit of photography.

"Chipewyan, Alberta. A blanket entirely cut off the southern horizon, at 2,500 fathoms altitude. . . . Wind blowing northwest such a gale that Kidd, above, who was elected as Com. Lake Athabasca has fallen about four servative member in 1926, after a defeat. . . . On Thursday, August 9th, finished career in civil politics. . . . machine left Chipewyan and flew over the northeast along line 17. Opened in 1918-1920 was A. A. and G. tion T.S. 67. Smoke was fast coming M. G.

in from the southwest but we caught it at about the Fourth meridian and photographed from there to line 17, turned north and photographed line 1. . . . it is a good flying country, full of lakes of every size and shape. . . . yesterday made a reconnaissance flight into the Wood Buffalo reserve. . . . Going in fires were but tiny puffs of smoke. . . . when we came out those had been fanned to large sizes. . . . one column of smoke rose 7,000 feet.

Even with such drawbacks as ground haze and smoke pillars 7,000 feet high, the aerial surveyors' work was infinitely easier than that of the first surveyor of Lake Athabasca, Philip Turner, who spent the winter of 1911-2 at the first Fort Chipewyan, which stood on Old Fort Point, shown on the map on the south side of the lake.

The Chipewyan Indians named the lake "Kaytaylaytooway," or "Lake of the Marshes" corresponding to "Athabaska" or "Lake of the Reeds" of the Cree. With a length of 185 miles and

South of the delta and east towards the Saskatchewan-Alberta boundary the country is ribbed by sandy ridges, some of them timbered with jackpines, and with numerous lakes amongst the ridges and dunes.

Athabasca River Opened Up Century and Half Ago

It was the Northwest Company with such men as the Froebisher brothers and David Thompson who opened up the Athabasca country. As early as 1778 Peter Pond built a trading house, the first post in the north, some forty miles from the mouth of the Athabasca near the junction of the Embarras river, then the main channel of the delta. Sir George Simpson speaks of the old fort of John Ross close by, built about the same time.

Of Peter Pond's garden of 1787 at "Athabasca Fort" Alexander Mackenzie says "It is as fine a kitchen garden as I ever saw in Canada," an early tribute to the richness of these alluvial flats.

From the post on Old Fort Point Mackenzie set out in 1789 on his journey to the Arctic by way of the great river which bears his name. One hundred and two days later he arrived back having travelled by canoe nearly 3,000 miles. Three years later he again set out from Chipewyan on his famous voyage to the Pacific.

Not until 1860 was the post moved to its present site on the northwest corner of Lake Athabasca. By that time the Hudson's Bay Company had wakened up to the value of the region. In 1862 they instructed Peter Fidler, their trader-surveyor, to break into Lake Athabasca, trade at any cost. Following instructions Fidler built Notingham House on English Island in front of Chipewyan. Sir George Simpson's chronicler noted that the chimneys of Fidler's post were still standing in 1828.

Fort Wedderburn was built by the Hudson's Bay Company on Coal, now Potato, Island in 1815 after a temporary abandonment of the Athabasca trade. From this fort Sir John Franklin in 1819 obtained a crew for his first memorable journey into the Arctic. Franklin speaks of a tower built about 1813 on the Northwest Company's fort of Chipewyan opposite, "to keep watch on Indians who had evil designs."

The present post of Chipewyan built by Chief Factor MacFarlane of solid timber stands on rising grounds, fronting a bay protected by Potato and English Islands. As northern places go it is quite a large settlement with trading stores, warehouses, sawmill and mission schools. In line with the fort buildings stands a row of whitewashed cottages which, with the deeply indented shore and rugged spits of red granite, have the appearance of some quaint fishing village on the St. Lawrence.

All routes to the Arctic in olden days, as well as today, led to Chipewyan by way of the Saskatchewan to Cumberland House, up the Sturgeon river into the Churchill and across to the Athabasca at McMurray, then down the latter to the lake. For some years two steamers have regularly made the trip in season from the rail road at Waterways near McMurray to Fitzgerald, calling at Chipewyan on the way.

a total area of 2,850 square miles, only 50 miles of its westerly end is embraced in the new map. Except for the portion of it outside of the delta the waters of Lake Athabasca are very clear and yield quantities of whitefish and lake trout which are brought up the Athabasca River to McMurray and shipped by train, even as far as Chicago. In the glacial period Lake Athabasca included Richardson, Mawai and Baril Lakes with Claire and the flat country to the west of it. Slowly but surely the lake-areas are being tilted up and turned into marshy hay lands. Lake Claire now averages only five feet deep while the other two lake averages less than four feet.

Year by year the Athabasca River weaves a labyrinth of new channels across the alluvial flats of its delta, which now is 60 miles long and by 20 miles wide, north and south. The late Charles Maik wrote of the silted up areas off the west end of Lake Athabasca as "the most extensive marshes and feeding grounds for game in all Canada, a delta renowned throughout the North for its abundance of waterfowl, far superior to any St. Clair flats of Southern Ontario, or any other region of Eastern Canada."

The surveyor of the area voices the opinion that should this tract ever be dyked and drained, it would form one of the richest farming districts of Alberta.

South of the delta and east towards the Saskatchewan-Alberta boundary the country is ribbed by sandy ridges, some of them timbered with jackpines, and with numerous lakes amongst the ridges and dunes.

INTEREST KEEN IN COMPULSORY GRAIN SELLING

Royal Commission Found It Could Not Recommend This Measure

Regina, Sask. (C.P.)—Compulsory co-operative grain marketing, which would place the Saskatchewan wheat pool in complete control in the disposal of the wheat crops of the province, has become an issue of great interest in Saskatchewan following the report of the Royal Grain Inquiry commission and the recent visit of Aaron Sapir, famed co-operative marketing authority.

The Royal commission found that it could not recommend the compulsory marketing of Saskatchewan's wheat crop through the Wheat pool, but Mr. Sapir does not agree with this finding and in recent addresses throughout the province declared the majority of the growers should indicate as to how the crop should be marketed, and expressed the belief that when a 100 per cent pool was established speculation could and would be abolished. At present 55 percent of the growers are members of the wheat pool.

"To all Anglo-Saxon countries where majority rule is followed," said Sapir, "it is universally agreed that the majority determine the policy. The most important thing that Saskatchewan will ever face is the choice between complete co-operative marketing on the one hand and half-baked co-operation and a lot of speculation on the other."

Under a plan proposed by the co-operative experts a compulsory pool, by legislation, would become operative when two-thirds of the growers of the province signed term contracts with the wheat pool. The salient features of his proposals are as follows:

1. When two-thirds of the wheat growers of Saskatchewan have signed a term-contract with the wheat pool, the province, thus indicating their desire for co-operative marketing through the pool, every grower shall, by legislation, deliver his wheat to that pool.

2. That by this system, all the wheat of Saskatchewan will be handled to the world's markets by the wheat pool, and no grower will be able to dispose of his produce through the speculative interests.

3. That these growers who are brought into the scheme through the proposed legislation shall have no specific representation on the board of management.

George H. Williams, president of the Saskatchewan section of the United Farmers of Canada, outlines the plan of the legislative method of securing 100 per cent control in the following manner:

1. It has been agreed by the U.F.C. that the wheat pool delegates shall decide when the request for the proposed legislation shall be made and when sufficient acreage has been signed up.

2. That when the time arrives, the wheat pool delegates themselves shall ask for the legislation.

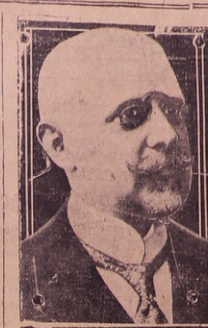

3. That all wheat marketed through the wheat pool, because of the proposed legislation, shall be marketed as wheat pool grain and returns made to the growers in the same manner as those of the pool growers.

4. That the wheat pool delegates shall be trustees of the non-poolers' wheat.

5. That line elevators shall handle wheat as under the wheat board system, being paid a fair handling charge.

flows in a wide, shallow valley through extensive flats alternately heavily timbered, and open and parklike. On the heavier soil rich peavine and vetch are abundant with areas of wild raspberries and other small fruits, the feeding grounds of prairie chicken, ptarmigan and a species of grouse resembling the "rock hen." Hay sloughs, dried up lakes and ponds are scattered throughout.

DISCOVER ICE CAP FORMATION

"Meta Incognita" Covers Area of 700 Miles, 3,000 Feet Deep

Newagen, Maine. (By Canadian Press.) Discovery of the ice cap "meta incognita," which now covers an area of 700 square miles with a maximum depth of 3,000 feet, between Frobisher's Bay and Hudson Strait, long sought by scientists, was recounted by Lieutenant Commander B. MacMillan on his return from a summer's Arctic trip, on the schooner Boyddin. It was estimated to have at one time extended over 4,000,000 square miles.

MacMillan said that this was believed to be the last of the ice cap of the pleistocene period, which covered all of New England, except the tip of what is now Mount Washington to a depth of 5,000 feet, over a period of 35,000 years. He said the ice cap actually consisted of two caps, one of approximately 400 square miles, and the other of 300 square miles. Four glaciers were discharging from it into the bay, all flowing north.

The ice cap is "receding," according to MacMillan, thus settling a question long in the minds of scientists, who have been anxious to know whether it was receding or advancing. Photographs of the ice cap were made by the expedition for comparison with other photographs which he made on next summer's expedition to definitely establish that the ice cap is growing smaller.

Next year the party will "strike" out with rock cairns the trip, which started from Wbecast in June, and that the men members of the expedition remained in good health. The only accident occurred off Cape St. George Newfoundland, on the return trip, when Kenneth Foxton, son of Frederick H. Rawson, Chipewyan banker, and Frank Henderson, were thrown into the surf. A small boat raised as they were going ashore for supplies.

The party created a portable school house at Nain, in Northern Labrador, one of the Moravian missionaries, the Rev. Paul Heltzsch, on the agreement that his daughter, who is to be the teacher will instruct the Eskimo children in English. Next year an American girl will be taken north to assist her.

Dr. Richard Ferns of the Harvard dental school, included sets of teeth for a number of the Eskimos to replace some of the 1,000 removed last year by dentists. He also made a comparison of the teeth of primitive Eskimos and those who have been affected by contact with civilization.

Dr. Ferns found the primitive Eskimo's teeth showed no decay and had thick enamel, though they took no care of them. They ate practically all frozen meat. The condition of the teeth of the Eskimos further south, whose association with civilized people caused them to eat canned meats,

PRESS CHARGES AGAINST AUGER

Crown Prosecutor Says Bail Will Be Opposed

Ottawa, October 23.—Louis M. Auger, former member of parliament, charged with the more serious charge in connection with an alleged criminal assault on Laurence Martel, 17, of Hawkesbury. At his first trial he was sentenced to nine years imprisonment, but secured a new hearing on the grounds that the jury was incorrectly directed. The jury split at his second trial here last week failed to reach a decision and the case was set over.

The second charge, against Auger, one of seduction, has not yet been heard.

Auger has already been tried twice on the more serious charge in connection with an alleged criminal assault on Laurence Martel, 17, of Hawkesbury. At his first trial he was sentenced to nine years imprisonment, but secured a new hearing on the grounds that the jury was incorrectly directed. The jury split at his second trial here last week failed to reach a decision and the case was set over.

EDISON FATIGUED RECOVERS AGAIN

Famous Inventor Has Lunch With Ford And Family

Detroit, October 23.—Thomas A. Edison, rested today at the home of Henry Ford, but so far recovered from the breakdown he suffered during the banquet given in his honor, that he lunched with Mr. Ford and family.

The luncheon party included Mr. and Mrs. Edison, Charles A. Edison, the inventor's son, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sloan and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford. It was held in Clinton Inn, the early American Inn, in Ford's village of Greenfield.

The excitement of being a hero was too much for the man whose 82 years have been filled with achievement. He broke down as he concluded his radio address to millions of listeners. The breakdown was only temporary and more from fatigue than anything else. It was learned that several United States secret service men standing behind the president hurriedly assisted Mr. Edison through an exit behind the speaker's table when he was overcome last night. Commander Joel Bergan, the president's personal physician, attended Mr. Edison, and impressed on him that he should go over and rest at Mr. Ford's home.

Following the operation, Mrs. Perrie and physicians held out hopes for her recovery but she suffered a relapse on Friday.

Hon. Howard Ferguson Resumes Speaking Campaign Today

ONE WEEK REMAINS

Hon. R. J. Cooke Says Dry Element Distracting Attention

Toronto, October 23.—One week from today voters of the Province of Ontario will decide the fate of the Conservative Government, headed by Premier Ferguson. The political activity has intensified from one end of the province to the other and leaders of the parties face crowded programmes daily until the end of the campaign.

The financial record of the Conservative Government has been criticised last night by W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, who invaded North Perth constituency represented in the last legislature by Hon. Joseph Monteth, Provincial Treasurer. He spoke in support of George Graff, the Liberal, who is opposing the re-election of Mr. Monteth. Mr. Sinclair said the cost of governing the province had risen from six million dollars in 1905 when the Liberals were in power to 58 million dollars and that in the same period, the provincial debt had risen from "practically nothing to 400 million dollars."

No one would suggest the expenditures should be the same now as in 1905, he said, but the rapidity at which the expenditures and the debt were increasing would indicate "something was wrong." Premier Ferguson will take up his speaking campaign again today if he is physically able. He is recovering from bronchitis and has been unable to keep engagements the past two days. Early today it had not been decided whether he would be able to speak at Dundas, Galt and Kitchener as planned.

Hon. R. J. Cooke, minister without portfolio, has been substituting for Premier Ferguson. Last night he spoke at Simcoe and charged factions in the Prohibition ranks with trying to distract attention from the responsibilities of the Dominion Government with regard to the manufacture of liquor. He said the Ferguson Government would receive credit for great improvements and good government, if its records were looked at from an administrative instead of a partisan point of view.

Mr. Sinclair will continue his campaign with a meeting at Simcoe. Hon. E. C. Drury, former United Farmers of Ontario Premier, will speak at East Caledonia.

GREAT OVATION GREETS IRELAND IN EVERY CORNER OF THE RIDING

Trenton Conservatives Turn Out To Welcome The Candidate

Conservatives from all over the riding of West Hastings gathered in the Trenton Conservative rooms last night, on the occasion of the Conservative smoker. Despite the extremely inclement weather, one of the largest crowds ever to turn out to an evening of this kind in Trenton was on hand, and thoroughly enjoyed the proceedings, which commenced at eight o'clock.

Refreshments were served and the Trenton band, a group of accomplished musicians, rendered several selections which were much appreciated by all. Several speakers, including the candidate for re-election, gave short but interesting speeches, and a feeling of good fellowship prevailed throughout the evening, the general feeling being that Mr. Ireland would again be elected to represent this district in the Provincial House by an even larger majority than last time.

Major "Dick" Ponton, of Belleville, Howard Graham, T. Jarrett, Henry Curry, Harry Sager and Mr. W. H. Ireland were the speakers at the smoker, and they each gave brief talks, dealing with the misrepresented reports which the Opposition are circulating and various other issues which have become a major part of the campaign.

He declared that it was the intention of the A. B. C. to carry on its activities.

REHEARSALS FOR BIG ROTARADA ARE PROGRESSING

Captain E. B. Eddy And Daughter Promise Best Theatrical In Years

Rotary's big event, the "Rotarada" is making fine progress, and the show which will be given for five nights, commencing the 28th of November, will be one of the biggest and best amateur theatrical productions ever staged in this city, according to those who have charge.

Captain E. B. Eddy and daughter are holding daily and nightly rehearsals in the Y. M. C. A. and those who are in the show are rapidly learning their songs and dances. The Eddys are capable directors, and although the time at their disposal is limited, they have only a little better than ten days left, they state that the revue will be as near perfect as possible on opening night.

New costumes, entirely different from last year, will be featured, and although many would like to see the "chubby youngsters" in their mouse costumes again, the directors declare that the new repertoire, which was so popular last year, will be even better this year. Although this is a big order to fill the Belleville public will be convinced after the show that it is the superlative offering here within recent years.

Belleville's fine new Collegiate and Vocational School auditorium will again be used by the Rotarians, and it is a fine setting for such a fine performance. Positions in the Rotarada have not yet been definitely decided, but the choices will be made in the rear future, and anyone who still wish to take part in it should visit the Y. M. C. A. tonight at the least.

FOWL SUPPER, SUCCESS

A fowl supper was held at Stony Church last night. Considering the nature of the weather there was a good crowd in attendance. Many from Belleville were present. A good programme was given during the course of the evening.

LABOR PREMIER VISITS DISTRICT OF CHICOUTIMI

Day Occupied Largely In Inspecting Industries In Quebec

LEAVING FRIDAY

Paper Mills And Aluminum Plant Included In Itinerary

Chicoutimi, October 23.—The first of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's two holidays in the Chicoutimi district was occupied very largely in inspecting the industrial development of the neighborhood. Great Britain's Labor Premier looked over mills where trees from the forests of Canada are transmuted into paper. He also witnessed the process whereby the Aluminum plant of the Aluminum Company of Canada becomes the bright aluminum so familiar to the housewives of the Dominion.

Mr. MacDonald and his daughter, Isabel, together with members of their party, covered quite an extensive territory by motor car during the first day they spent in this district. They arrived at Chicoutimi on the morning of the 23rd and were met by J. E. A. Dubuc, federal member for the constituency. A visit to the Port Alred Pulp and Paper plant and lunch with Mr. Dubuc were among the early features of the programme.

In the afternoon Mr. MacDonald received a visit from John Price, who became the Prime Minister's guide for the afternoon. The Avitac plant, the Aluminum Company, located about six miles from Chicoutimi, was visited. The party then drove on to inspect the Price Brothers' mills at Kenogami, and still later they rode to River Bend where another plant of the same company is located. In the meantime the special Canadian National train had been moved from the station here to Jonquiere, a distance of approximately 17 miles from Chicoutimi, and there the Prime Minister and his daughter boarded it to spend the night.

At Kenogami the Prime Minister and members of his party were entertained by the local residents. The day, which opened with brilliant sunshine, became somewhat overcast during the afternoon, but there was no rain. The temperature was pleasant, and Mr. MacDonald was able to enjoy his motor trip in an open car.

Tomorrow the Premier and his daughter will continue their sight-seeing. The district offers many opportunities for inspection of industrial plants, as well as another plant of the same company is located. In the meantime the special Canadian National train had been moved from the station here to Jonquiere, a distance of approximately 17 miles from Chicoutimi, and there the Prime Minister and his daughter boarded it to spend the night.

The entire day will be spent in this district, but tomorrow night the train leaves for Quebec where the British official appearances in the Dominion. There he will be a guest of Lieutenant-Governor Carroll for the two days which he will spend in the ancient capital. His final public appearance will be at a joint meeting of the Men's Canadian Club and the Women's Canadian Club, of Quebec, at luncheon, on Friday.

King And Euler At Variance On Demands of United States

Ottawa, October 23.—Next to the tariff, and in a sense related to it, rum-running and its prevention proved to be a very considerable factor in federal politics for some months to come. If it becomes one of the issues in central Canada in the next general election the responsibility for such will be largely with the Minister, who, in a brief statement to the press a short time ago, intimated that the Government was disposed to reconsider its flat refusal to prohibit and prevent the exportation of liquor to the United States.

At the conference here almost a year ago between officials of the Dominion and United States Governments, the latter were asked by the former if they were confining their request to refusal of clearance to liquor-laden vessels bound for the United States. The Washington delegates to the conference emphatically declared, that what they wanted from Canada was absolute prohibition of liquor export to the United States, and that position was again stated with equal emphasis by an official of the Treasury Department at Washington a few days ago.

What has made more amazing the recent intimation of Premier King, in the important statement of policy in Parliament at his last session by Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue, that Canada could not meet the demand of the United States until the latter showed more energy in the enforcement of its Volstead Act, and a reiteration of that position by the same Minister recently on his return from Europe. At least one Cabinet Minister and most of the members of Parliament are persuaded that a move on the part of Canada to assist in the enforcement of another country's law would be not only gratuitous, but exceedingly costly and difficult.

Premier King stated, it will be recalled, that under the existing law vessel clearances could not be refused and that it was quite possible that Parliament at its next session would be asked to amend the law making the refusal of clearance possible. Now it is learned from a dependable source that the Government has practically decided in favor of that course. The same source further stated, as much as such a step would cost the revenue it would have to take the form of a Government measure.

BASKET BALL TONIGHT

Belleville Collegiate girls' basketball team will play their second game tonight with the picnic girls in the gymnasium at 8 o'clock. Collegiate promises to be a good one as the picnic girls are having an exceptionally strong team. Both the basketball and boys' rugby teams arrived this afternoon by bus. The boys played Albert College at three o'clock.

CREW OF THIRTEEN TAKEN SAFELY OFF DETROIT VESSEL FOUNDERING ON ROCKS OFF LAKE ERIE SHORE

Life Guard Boats Complete Trip Through Stormy Seas

SUPPLIES EXHAUSTED

Terrific Gale Lashes Upper Lakes And Boats Are Stranded

Leamington, Ont., Oct. 23.—(By William Sharran, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent) — Buffeted by strong waves a life guard boat from point Pelee, captained by James Grubb and manned by seven other men succeeded at noon today in taking off the crew of thirteen persons, who were clinging to the beached steamer N. J. Nelson, which was in danger of breaking up. The sea was so heavy that first attempt of life boat at 11.30 to reach the ship was unavailing, the boat being pushed back shorewards time and again. Within half an hour, however, another attempt was made with more success and five men and Mrs. Alice Humphrey, stewardess of the only woman on board, were taken to land.

From the first men rescued, it was learned that the crew had had nothing to eat since yesterday afternoon and had no fuel. It was bitterly cold on the fireless boat and Mrs. Humphrey was almost in a state of collapse from cold, hunger and buffeting.

The next trip was at 12.30 when the remaining seven men, including Capt. Bernard-Benson, who came off last night, were rescued. They had been anxious about life guard boats being able to make a second trip, as the sea was so rough, heavier than before. All were most concerned, however, about the condition of Mrs. Humphrey, who has sailed the lakes for the last fifteen years and is most popular.

Crew of Fourteen
Leamington, Ont., Oct. 23 (C.P.)—The ship is owned by A. F. Morley, of Detroit, and is commanded by Captain B. A. Benson, of Marine, Mich. It carried a crew of fourteen men, and left Detroit Monday for Cleveland.

During the night the Nelson was stranded during a terrific gale which lashed Lake Erie was within two hundred yards of the shore and with moderating winds drifted another hundred yards toward shore. The waves are still high and the steamer is still in danger of breaking up.

Another vessel a gravel carrier, Tad well, owned in Windsor, lies high and dry on the Point this morning and it is presumed the crew all reached safety. The craft is well up on the beach and in no danger of breaking up. The gravel carrier left Windsor a few days ago to load gravel off Point Pelee. Sixteen men complete the crew.

Sailors Indicated Flight

Leamington, Ont., Oct. 23.—Efforts to identify the lake steamer believed to be a coal freighter, around some hundred yards off shore in Lake Erie near here were only partially successful this morning the watchers on shore strained their eyes to determine the letters on the boat's side, but the sailors could be seen waving shoreward indicating that the crew was safe. The first three letters of the vessel's name were made out as "Win" and last two "En." It is thought the steamer may be "W. J. Minden" or "W. J. Morden" although it is by no means certain.

While the wind died down somewhat this morning the steamer is still being buffeted by the huge waves and is still considered to be in danger of breaking up. The waves are so large that attempts at rescue from either Point Pelee or Leamington have so far been impossible. During the night the vessel shifted its position and is now about 50 yards nearer shore with stern over deep water. As dawn broke the sailors could be seen walking decks and gesticulating to those who lined the shore.

CHILD KILLED BY HIS OLDER BROTHER

Port Francis, Ont., October 23.—Arthur Shrove, five years, was shot to death by his eleven year old brother, Ronald, who, returning from school with a twenty-two calibre rifle pulled the trigger when "Artie" refused to put up his hands. Ronald thought the gun was unloaded.

FATE OF LONE FLIER SEALED

Montana Cattleman Believed In Mid-Atlantic Today

Belfast, Ireland, October 23.—At 2.30 o'clock this afternoon almost 23 hours after the departure of Urban F. Deiteman, Jr. from Newfoundland, no news of the flyer had been received here from any place along the coast.

Harbor Grace, Nfld., October 23.—Urban F. Deiteman, Jr., 32, Montana cattleman, who traces his ancestry to St. Francis Drake, the English sea adventurer, was presumed to be far out over the Atlantic today on a solo flight from here to London. He took off here yesterday in his plane "Golden Hind."

The cable dispatches from Belfast, Ireland, described the weather conditions along the Irish coast as moderately good.

LITTLE ACTIVITY IN WALL STREET

Stock Market Dull Today—Credit Conditions Easing

New York, October 23.—The stock market turned dull and heavy today, as the technical rally from the oversold position reached in the recent flood of liquidation appeared to have been completed and the bears were again actively seeking out soft spots.

The business and industrial news coming to hand was mixed in character and tended to check operations for the advance. Credit conditions eased further, when bankers' acceptance rates shaded. Time money in good supply.

POSTPONE PROBE INTO COAL RATE

Ontario Not Ready—Cost of Transport a Big Issue

Ottawa, October 23.—The hearing which was to have been held today by the board of Railway Commissioners in the inquiry respecting rates payable to the railways for moving coal from Alberta mines to points in Ontario was postponed until sometime next month, owing to the fact that Earl Lawson, representing Ontario, was not ready to proceed.

The delay was made necessary by an order-in-council which fixed the rate $6.75 a ton, and directed the board to ascertain the amount in excess of this rate which might be added due to the railways for their services.

Cost figures filed by the railways were not considered as altogether satisfactory by the experts appointed by the three interested parties, the province of Alberta, the province of Ontario, and the Dominion of Canada, who will share the cost of the transportation fees on the coal.

The matter was referred to the chief operations' officer of the board, who was asked to bring together a conference with the object of adjusting the points at issue.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"Woman has existed from the beginning to realize that the world needs her."
—Lady Astor.

BRITAIN'S DRINK BILL

The drink bill for Great Britain, in 1928, was £298,000,000 or 26 1/2 per capita, for every man, woman and child of the population. For purposes of comparison, it may be stated that last year forty-two million pounds was spent on the army, sixty million on the navy, forty-one million on education, eighty-four million on health and unemployment insurance. All these added together, do not nearly equal the amount spent on intoxicating liquor. But the British people are very well satisfied with the position, for the statistics, both as to expenditure on drink and convictions for drunkenness, show a very marked improvement over those of a few years back. In 1920, for instance, the national drink bill was £436,000,000, and there has been an increase of 15 per cent. in the population since that year. So that it will be seen that very much less is being spent on intoxicants than was the case a decade ago. As to drunkenness, the British home office has just published the licensing statistics for England and Wales for 1928. Convictions last year totalled 55,642. Before the war—in the year 1913—the number of convictions was 168,877. It is true that during the war there was a big reduction, due to the fact that millions of men were out of the country, fighting on various battlefronts, and also because supplies of liquor in Great Britain were greatly curtailed. When the war was over, however, convictions immediately mounted—in 1919 they were 76,988; in 1924 the number was 79,082.

Among the reasons for this evidence of increased sobriety in England and Wales—and it may be mentioned that the figures for Scotland are equally gratifying—it is believed that the counter-attractions to the public-house, in the way of moving picture theatres and other amusements, have had much to do with the improvement. Other causes are the restrictions imposed by the government, in the matter of reduced hours of sale; the high price of liquor, which is heavily taxed; and the rather unsatisfactory state of the employment market. The number of licenses is being continually reduced also. But, best of all, it is reported that the young people, with their increased opportunities for wholesome recreation and new ideas, are much more moderate in their habits. But temperance reformers are not satisfied with the progress which has been made, and a royal commission has been appointed to study the subject. It is expected that two or three years will elapse before the commissioners complete their labors; in the meantime a continuance of the progressive improvement is anticipated.

ROAD-BUILDING

In view of the fact that so many of the accidents on the highways happen through the overturning of cars in the ditch, the question is being asked, are these ditches absolutely necessary? The answer must be left to road engineers. Some system of drainage, it is to be presumed, is essential, but could not the deep open ditches be covered in some way, or a different method devised of draining the roads? When new construction is under way it would be of advantage to consider these possibilities, though doubtless this would mean extra expense. Then, again, in building new roads, could not some provision be made for the pedestrian? After all, there are still a few people left who, from necessity or preference, go about on the highways, which they have a perfect right to do and they are entitled to much more consideration than they receive.

"Highways built in future by the state and the counties should have a wider right of way, not only to that the pedestrian may have his own lane but in order to provide room for the broadening of the roads when congestion increases," says the New York Sun. There will be few dissenters from this view. It is nice to read of the progressive government policies in regard to this important matter of extending and improving our highways; but it would be nicer still if the points referred to were given greater consideration in the new construction plans.

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

What has always puzzled us is what the Yensman says to the house-to-house agent—Detroit News.

PASSING YEARS

From The Intelligencer Of This Day 30 Years Ago

Mrs. Fumival of this city left today for Cleveland where she will spend the winter.

Mrs. (Ry.) E. N. Baker of Stratford will remain in the city the balance of this week.

Mr. C. J. Delaney of Brockville was in the city today attending the funeral of his uncle, the late David J. Callaghan.

Mr. J. E. Halliwell, barrister, at Stirling was in town today.

Mr. A. W. Carleton, M.P., of Marmora, was in the city last evening.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

I never knew you wore glasses, Charlie.

"I don't. That mark on my nose is from drinking moonshine out of a rut jar."

"Ah, new car. How's the pickup?"

"Haven't had much chance to try it yet. My wife rides with me most of the time."

They were leaving the hotel room.

"Have you forgotten anything," she asked him.

"I don't think so," he replied. "I've got all of the towels, the Gideon Bible and the dresser scarf."

Usher (to cold, dignified lady): "Are you a friend of the groom?"

The Lady: "Indeed, no! I am the bride's mother."

"How long has your family lived in Chicago?"

"Oh, about average. Grandpa was not shot until he was twenty-nine."

Late husband (to man at gas station): "Have you any gas that will stop knocking?"

Mechanic: "Yes, we have, Sir."

Husband: "Well, give my wife a glass of it."

CRICKET

Our countrymen of England who winter here at ease

And send abroad their cricketers to fight across the seas—

They long to win the rubber, but inwardly they know

The game's the game; however the luck may go.

They know the English skipper may cry "a head! a head!"

And toiler like a kangaroo may toss a tail instead.

But cricketers can smile away the force of Fortune's blow.

For a man's a man; however the luck may go.

All men alive are cricketers, and stand to face the odds.

And some will trust in cunning tricks and some in heathen gods.

But you, my son, were born and bred to where what I say is so—

The game's the game; however the luck may go.

—Sir Henry Newbolt.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

PREVENTION OF NERVOUS DISORDERS

One of the words that happily is passing out of use is "asylum." In former days asylum meant to most of us an institution where "crazy" people were imprisoned so that they could not harm themselves or anybody else. Once anyone was committed to such an institution it was a matter of how long they would not like to ever return to their homes again.

How different every thing is now in cases of nervous trouble. Just as ailments of the heart, stomach, lungs, or other part of the body are investigated, their causes sought, and treatment given, so also is this the case now with disturbance of the nervous system.

A striking instance of this change in name and work of these institutions was recently recorded in Edinburgh. What was formerly "Morningside Asylum" is now known as "Royal Edinburgh Hospital for Mental and Nervous Disorders."

The managers of this institution have started a vigorous campaign for the treatment of nervous cases, and are opening a special building equipped with fifty beds and an outdoor department where patients are invited to come and receive advice and treatment just as they would for any other ailment.

The very fact that nervous cases are placed on the same footing as any other ailment is naturally a great help to the patient and to his family. It takes away the old sting which always accompanies the word "crazy" or "insane."

The idea of this new hospital building and outpatient department is to study early mental and nervous conditions, and it is hoped that by early preventive treatment many patients will rapidly recover, who under less favourable circumstances would require to be sent to hospitals for the insane.

There is no question but that this common sense method of handling these cases in these days of excitement and haste, will save many individuals from becoming wards of the state instead of useful citizens.

Don't hesitate to consult a nerve specialist if you or any of yours are having mental or nervous disturbances.

A TIME PROVEN MEDICINE for the LIVER AND KIDNEYS

For nearly half a century these pills have been for sale in drug stores and known to the general public.

For at least a generation before that they were used extensively in the medical practice of a celebrated physician.

Their value was proven to the public by the giving away of millions of samples.

Now they are universally known to the medical profession and to the public generally and are found in the great majority of homes.

Since the sale of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is continually increasing, we believe that this is the best proof of their medical value and of the way they are appreciated by the people who use them.

REGULATES THE LIVER

Medical men often refer to the liver as the governor of the human system and blame the liver for many human ills which affect the digestive system.

When healthy and active, the liver filters the poisonous bile from the blood and passes it into the intestines where it acts as a cathartic to regulate the action of the bowels.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act very promptly and very directly on the liver. They quickly arouse the torpid sluggish action of the liver and thereby relieve biliousness, headache, dizzy feelings, indigestion and all the distressing symptoms which accompany liver complaint.

AROUSES THE KIDNEYS

Kidney troubles usually result from chronic liver derangements. The blood is overloaded with poisons and in an effort to purify the blood, the kidneys break down and the poisons go through the system, resulting in backache, lumbago, rheumatism and other painful and dangerous diseases.

It is not sufficient to treat the kidneys. Medical treatment must also awaken the action of the liver and bowels.

Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills do this very thing they are most effective in relieving disorders of the kidneys.

Their combined and direct action on these great filtering systems of the human body accounts for their remarkable success.

RELIEVES CONSTIPATION

The evils of constipation scarcely need explanation. There is no greater rule of health than "Daily Movement of the Bowels." In this way only can the human system be thoroughly rid of poisonous impurities.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are for sale by all dealers in medicines and are manufactured by The Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Canada.

HOLWAY BOUGHT BY LONDON TEAM

Former Belleville Player Is Acquired By Minor Leaguers

London, Oct. 23.—Roy Brothers today announced the purchase of Tools Holway, big blonde defence star, from Berry Leonard's Pittsburgh club.

Holway was captain of the Brothers' team which two years ago won the forlorn hope Canadian league title, and his acquisition just about solves the defence problem that was facing the new London pilot. In the days when London was at its height Holway was always popular with the London customers. He hit opposing forwards hard and often, and loomed like a Goliath on the defence, but he never resorted to questionable tactics, no matter how rough the going became.

Brothers think he will have the entire defence problem solved within another 24 hours, and the announcement will create just as big a ripple of interest as the Holway deal.

A BIG LEAF

Robert Cook, young son of Mr. Lorne Cook, 18 Green street, today found what is considered to be a record sized Maple Leaf, it measuring eleven inches from tip to tip and from the top to the end of the stem 37 inches. The youngster picked up the trophy while returning from school.

EEL FISHERIES VERY IMPORTANT

Indians, Hundreds of Years Ago, Carried On Same Business

Ottawa, Ont., (By Canadian Press)—Canada's eel fishery holds a place of importance in the Eastern coastal fisheries of the Dominion, according to statements contained in a forthcoming publication of the Department of Marine and Fisheries on the Atlantic Fisheries.

Early explorers of Canada made reference to the importance of the eel fishery carried on by the Indians. Today the eel, which is highly esteemed in Europe and the northern United States as a table delicacy, is found widely distributed in the rivers and streams emptying into the gulf of St. Lawrence and the Atlantic ocean. However, notwithstanding the prominent place held by the eel in fishery exports, the domestic consumption remains limited.

The commercial eel fishery is carried on chiefly in Quebec, particularly along the Richelieu River and along the St. Lawrence, as far down as the Isle of Orleans. The rivers of Lewis and Lobiniere countries yield the largest quantities. The total annual catch for Quebec is about 2,000,000 pounds. The catch in Nova Scotia is over 70,000 pounds; in New Brunswick 10,000 pounds; and in Prince Edward Island, 13,000 pounds. Considerable ship ments of live eels are made to the United States in specially constructed well-smacks.

U. S. SENATOR SCORES POVERTY IN EUROPE

New York, N.Y., (By Canadian Press)—Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York, on his return from a twelve weeks' visit to Europe, said he never saw such abject poverty as in the slums of European cities. He said conditions in the poorer sections were almost unbelievable and predicted they would result in an era of disease. "This country," he said, "must guard itself against that by strict immigration regulations. The examination of aliens must be more thorough and there must be more men to do it."

Senator Copeland is a physician and a former commissioner of health in New York city.

SEÑOR CAMBA SPEAKS ON SPANISH FOOD

In matters gastronomic the average man is genuinely patriotic. He has two loyalties: first to the dishes for which his own country is famous, and then to the excellencies of the French menu. Naturally, the culinary specialties of his own neck of the woods rank nearest his heart. Julio Camba, appearing to be an outstanding exception to this rule. In a recent issue of Alhambra, a new magazine devoted to Spanish-American interests, he "debunks" Spanish cooking. With a humorist's license to give the ugly truth a gay guise, and a natural tendency to turn every description into violent caricature, he presents the diet of Spain as a thing to terrify the tourist with a weak digestion. Spanish cooking is so full of garlic. Lazy Latin cooks, it appears insist on putting garlic in every dish, "not because this condiment helps them to prepare a good meal, but, quite the contrary, because it helps them to avoid doing so." When garlic will make a stray cat pass for a hare, innkeepers find a practical value in it which they perhaps overlook.

Geography is at the bottom of Spain's poverty of luscious dishes. Four-fifths of the country is parched by the sun, "so she has more olive groves than meadows; and where there are no good meadows there is no good cooking, because the great basis of cooking is grass." Not directly, of course, but as it is transformed into meat, milk, cream, cheese and butter. For lack of grass Spain cooks with olive oil. Spanish manhood suffers because of the lack of Vitamin A in olive oil, and is saved by the vitamins of the tomato, so abundantly used in Spanish cooking. The inevitable garlic and oil, saffron and pepper of the Spanish table have made it unique in at least one respect. It is the only country where dyspepsia is considered not an unfortunate accident but the normal consequence of eating. There bicarbonate of soda is placed at the disposal of patrons of cafes and restaurants as casually and as generally as sugar and salt.

The best that Señor Camba credits to the Spanish cuisine is the new life it brought to all Old World foods by the discovery and colonization of America. Without that, the French would not now have their dinde or cop l'inde, nor the Italians their polenta. There would be no chocolate and no tobacco.

Night dresses that are no longer useful as such will do nicely for dress and coat protectors and if the bottom is sewn up and if necessary, snap fasteners put on the neck opening, you will have a serviceable garment bag.

"STARVED HEARTS"

BY
Mildred Barbour

Madelon's hand trembled under his. He felt it and his grasp tightened. She felt the physical magnetism of him holding her there when every instinct urged her to flee. She tugged her head away to avoid the power of his eyes, but she could feel them drawing her irresistibly toward him.

With a little gasp, she realized that his arms were about her, that her head rested against his shaven, silk-clad shoulder.

She struggled to escape, but his arms were like steel, his face was very close. She tried to tear her eyes away from his, but she was powerless as a bird charmed by a cat.

For a long moment, his lips hovered over hers. Then, with a quick, convulsive movement, he gathered her into a crushing embrace, and his mouth closed down over hers.

XXI. A PEREMPTORY MESSAGE
It seemed to Madelon that seconds of time had passed and the world had crashed round her before Chandler released her from that embrace.

When at length his arms relaxed their hold, she shrank back from him, something like terror in her eyes.

"Oh, how could you! How dared you!" she panted, "I gave you no right, I—"

He smiled with maddening calm. "I never wait for rights, my beautiful one. What I want I take, in so far as it is within my power."

"I think I hate you. Yes, and I fear you, too."

A tiny gleam of triumph flickered in his dark eyes.

"That is well, perhaps. Since I cannot have your love it is better to have hate and fear than indifference."

Madelon sprang to her feet, without waiting for his assailing hand.

"Come. It's getting dark," she said in a voice which she managed to make quite matter of fact. "We'd best be going, if we don't want to miss dinner."

He obeyed without protest. Slipping on the coat upon which she had been sitting, he offered his hand and been sitting—she offered his hand and assisted her over the sharp ledge of the rock.

In silence they made their way back to the hotel.

Just before they reached the bright circle of light that streamed from the verandas, he paused and searched her face in the dusk.

"Are you going to marry me?" he asked.

There was sharp finality in Madelon's voice. The spell of sunset and the man's strange wooing was gone for the moment. She felt very sure of herself now.

He said nothing more, and with a brief nod, she left him at the elevators.

Barbara was already dressed for dinner and waiting when she entered their common sitting room. She looked up enquiringly.

"Did you enjoy the sunset? Was it all that Mr. Chandler promised?"

For answer, Madelon crossed the room and seated herself on a footstool at Barbara's feet.

"He asked me to marry him this afternoon."

"I rather thought he would," Barbara said, her hand on Madelon's shoulder. "Anyone can see that he's wild about you. And you? You're hand slipped beneath the girl's chin and turned her face upward."

"I refused, of course. Why, Barbara, how could I even think of such a thing? I love Julian."

Barbara sighed.

"Yes, of course. I should have known. But Julian is gone and you are young and Mr. Chandler is very attractive. I thought, perhaps—"

"Never!" Madelon sprang to her feet. "I must dash in and dress for dinner. I'm perfectly furnished."

In the doorway she paused and looked back at Barbara.

"He kissed me this afternoon. . . . It was rather wonderful, and awful too. I think I hated it. But I can't quite forget it."

Left alone, Barbara wandered to the open window and stared out at the sea. On the traces beneath her window, she could see light forms drifting to and fro, girls in sheer summery frocks and men in white flannels. Laughter came up to her, and the soft, strident music of the hotel orchestra.

She felt an overwhelming loneliness. The vision of Diana Farley with his laughing, tawny eyes floated across the darkness, and so great was her yearning that she stretched out her slim, beautiful bare arms toward it.

Again, as it did so often in the dark watches of the night, the temptation seized her to test his promise: He had said: "If ever you want me, a word will bring me."

Suppose she sent that word? Suppose he came to care as she did? Suppose they two sat aside every consideration, save love and fidelity together? . . . There was the whole mysterious Orient to shelter them, to hide them from Stephen Lane's wrath, to protect her from the icy contact that was slowly chilling the life blood in her body.

A knock at the door startled her from her reverie.

She found a page there with a telegram extended on a silver salver.

She tore it open with trembling fingers. Coming so closely upon the heels of her desire, she felt a dizzying premonition.

"Am leaving tonight for California. Will join you within the week. Prepare to accompany me home, Stephen."

CHAPTER XXII
A BITTER ALTERNATIVE

Barbara read the telegram from Stephen Lane with a sinking heart.

He was coming to take her home! Already she could feel the weight of her chains. She could see the gateway or her duped yawning to receive her.

When Madelon came in dressed for dinner a few minutes later, she found her sitting in a chair, her chin cupped dejectedly in her two hands, staring at the little slip of yellow paper which lay on the floor at her feet.

"What is it?" demanded Madelon. "Has something happened?"

Slightly Barbara pointed to the telegram.

Madelon picked it up and read it.

There was dismay in the look she turned upon Barbara.

"Does this mean we have to go home that our holiday is over?"

Barbara shrugged her shapely shoulders.

"The result will be obeyed."

"There was a bitterness in her voice that Madelon had never heard before. She had often marvelled at Barbara's loyalty to her uncle. This was the first time she had ever heard her utter open criticism.

"But we're not children," Madelon protested. "He has no right to make us come back before we're ready. Does he just want to be hateful? Or does he suppose he is lonely?"

"Lonely?" echoed Barbara. "Stephen lonely?"

"And yet Ann says he is," persisted Madelon. "She believes that he is lonely and unhappy even in his power, but that he doesn't suspect it."

"I wonder?" a speculative light crept into Barbara's lovely eyes. "I never thought of that. He seems so self-sufficient, so complete. I have never dared offer him sympathy or companionship any more than I would dare offer him tenderness. He is so complete in his isolation. . . . And yet I wonder. . . ."

Madelon made an impatient gesture. "Never mind about Uncle Stephen. He is perfectly capable of getting what he wants. It is you and I that we must think of now. . . . Do you want to go back?"

"No," Barbara's voice was very low. "I was told I need never go back."

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

Melba Toast

Some of our readers of the Women's Page have been wondering just what Melba Toast is, so for their benefit here is the way to make Melba Toast. Slice the bread as thin as possible and allow it to dry for one hour. Then bake it in a hot oven for about five minutes. It should be browned all the way through.

Tuffy Tartlets

The crust should not be baked before the filling.

2 Eggs
2 Cups Brown Sugar
2 Teaspoons Vanilla
4 Teaspoons Cold Water
2 Tablespoons shortening.

Beat the eggs, add the sugar and vanilla. Then add water and melted shortening. Mix well. Pour into unbaked shells and bake in a moderate oven, until firm.

Creamed Celery and Carrots

Chop 2 stalks of celery and cook until tender. Cube 1 bunch of carrots and boil until tender. Drain and add a cream sauce made of pure cream and a small amount of flour to thicken. Season to taste and serve hot.

Hot Mushroom Canape

Six large mushrooms, 1-1/2 cup chopped chicken, 2 tablespoons chopped celery, 1 teaspoon chopped onion, 1 egg, slightly beaten, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-1/2 teaspoon butter, 1-1/2 cup bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon butter.

Wash and remove stems from six large mushrooms. Blend cooked chopped chicken, celery and seasoning. Fill the hollow in mushrooms with the mixture. Cover with bread crumbs and dot with butter. Place in a shallow pan with small amount of water and bake at 400 degrees Fahrenheit for fifteen minutes, or until mushrooms are brown and tender. Place on slices of French toast, and serve with mushroom sauce.

SALEM W.M.S. HELD MONTHLY MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the W.M.S. was held Oct. 9th, at the home of Mrs. Wm. Patterson with 15 members present. The meeting was opened with singing "What a Friend we have in Jesus," and all repeating the Watchword in unison. Miss Bernice Robinson read the Scripture lesson. After the minutes of the last meeting were read and the usual business done, the treasurer's report was given. Mrs. J. Hanna, Pres., read a card of thanks from Miss Alma Thompson, supply Sec., for the quilt received.

SOME HELPFUL HINTS FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

There is always the danger of the mats slipping on the polished surface, and an unpleasant and sometimes dangerous fall is the result. It is not wise to nail the mats in position, as this spoils the floor and makes work when the mats have to be taken up for shaking, but a simple way to prevent them from slipping about is to rub a little thick coat of starch on the floor where the mats are placed. This gives a dull, slightly sticky surface to the floor that is just sufficient to prevent the danger of slipping.

One housewife uses prepared mustard in the baked beans, and her family consider it a great improvement on the dry mustard.

KIWANIANS FETE BASEBALL TEAM

Judge Harkness, of Winnipeg, Is Speaker At "Ladies' Night"

MUSICAL PROGRAM

Points Out Possibilities For Work Among Juvenile Delinquents

Jolly reigned at the Queen's Hotel last night, when the Kiwanians entertained the members of the Belleville Baseball team and their ladies at their annual "Ladies' Night." Memories of that dinner will linger long in the minds of those who were fortunate enough to be present.

P. C. MacLaurin welcomed the members of the ball team and their ladies to the banquet. He regretted the fact that the team had not succeeded in winning the Ontario honours, but had put forth a worthy effort and were welcome just the same.

"Wait," George responded for the team. George Griffin also paid homage to the prowess of the ball team. During the progress of the feast a fine musical programme was carried out by those Kiwanian members who were musically gifted. A captivating duet was played by Mr. Leo Riggs and daughter on the piano, entitled "Raymond." This was followed by a vocal solo by Jimmy Bankier, Belleville's own Harry Lauder, called "Arise of Sun." His clear tenor thrilled everybody. Thunderous applause greeted this rendition so he complied with "Oft in the Stilly Night," Leo Riggs did the accompanying.

At this stage of the proceedings it was stated that there would be an induction into the club of three new members. Dressed in long scholastic gowns and small derbys they greeted much hilarity in their appearance. The three men to be inducted were Messrs. George Forhan, Sandy Lunniss and George Tice. Mrs. Riggs gave a vocal solo and shortly afterwards sang with Jimmy Bankier in a duet. This went over big with the audience.

It was announced that the Kiwanis Club would give $100.00 to the Belleville Baseball team to help defray any expenses. The guests then adjourned to the new addition of the hotel, where Mr. Harkness, ex-judge of the Juvenile Court of Winnipeg, was to talk to the assembly about the work done by the "Juvenile Court in Canada, and especially in Ontario."

Mayor Greenleaf introduced the speaker and in his remarks paid tribute to the ball team. Mr. Harkness opened his talk by noting that it was always a pleasure to meet with a service club. Judge Harkness had been associated with the service clubs for many years now, in connection with his work in the Juvenile Court. The subject had to deal with the Juvenile Delinquents and the treatments of their cases. The work of the service clubs in social affairs was stressed by the visitor. Service clubs, such as the Kiwanis, bring leadership into the field of social service by putting their best efforts into any worthwhile enterprise. Belleville stands out in this work. She brought the V. O. N. and they have done untold wonders, said the Judge.

The talk, at first, seemed to be mainly about Juvenile Delinquency, but towards the latter part of his speech, he remarked that it would be a good thing for Belleville to have such a Juvenile Court. He reminded them, however, that a good juvenile court could not be possible unless everybody in the community got behind it and put it over.

"The full co-operation of all members of the service club should go into such an enterprise," said the speaker in an earnest tone. Judge Harkness was of the opinion that Ontario had the most elaborate form of municipal laws in the world and said that there were better ways of carrying out the same. "Service Clubs had done a great deal in this respect," he added.

"A Juvenile Court is simply a social agency which seeks to know better why children do their misdeeds," said the speaker. He then brought to mind the great progress that has been made since the time of our own infancy. In his treatise on the case of a delinquent child he should be approached from his social standpoint rather than from a punishing standpoint," said the speaker emphatically. Probation service is now used and is proving satisfactory. Many cases where boys were steady offenders have been rectified. In closing, he again asked the Kiwanians to think the question over seriously and to try and get the Juvenile Court in Belleville.

George Griffin thanked the visitor for his excellent and inspiring address.

Dancing then held sway to the music supplied by Charlie Goyer and the "Juvenile Court in Canada, and especially in Ontario."

Mayor Greenleaf introduced the

EVERY ARTIST MUST POSSESS INDIVIDUALISM

Mrs. Eric Brown Heard
With Interest At Canadian Club

Yesterday afternoon will long be remembered by members of the Women's Canadian Club in this city who were privileged to hear Mrs. Eric Brown speak on "The National Gallery of Canada." Mrs. Brown is a beautiful speaker and her vivid personality made itself felt throughout the entertaining lecture which was supplemented by lantern slides showing the outstanding paintings in Canada's national art gallery.

Although Art in Canada is practically in its infancy it is making great strides towards the pinnacle of success and our people are being educated to a finer appreciation of the old masterpieces. "In all modern pictures you encounter a certain amount of controversy," said Mrs. Brown, "not only in the old countries, but in the new. There are certain people who are always ready to say that the art of today is not good, and there are those who demand 'why don't the painters of today accomplish work like the masters of old.' The amazing point is that each and every one of the Old Masters had a style of their own, and just which one of these the people wish the artists of today to emulate is difficult to tell. The secret of a successful artist is his individuality. Each artist gives his own interpretation of life and does not reproduce what already has been done, and there own thoughts, emotions and character are shown in his masterpiece and it is why art is perpetually interesting. It would indeed be dull if each copied the other's style," and showed no individuality of his own.

Canadian Artists Express Individuality. The Canadian artists of today have discovered that they cannot express the spirit of Canada by studying the works of the Old Masters. The pioneer country of ours cannot be treated in the same way as century-old France, Italy, Spain, etc., and so we find Canadian art taking on a distinctness of its own. Our artists are up to the mark in this respect, and their work will take its place among the masterpieces of old, and undoubtedly in the years to come, rank just as highly. Our artists, studying in Europe slowly became dissatisfied as they found that the masters of the old countries could not express the untamed grandeur of Canada, and so they turned back and started afresh. This, said Mrs. Brown, is the history of Art in our country, and if we see in our pictures small errors or imperfections, let us not be too critical, let us rejoice that at least we are independent and trying to find what is truly Canadian.

National Gallery Founded in 1880. "We are gathering in our gallery masterpieces from all over the world for our Art Gallery must be national if it is to be worth while," said Mrs. Brown. "It was founded in 1880 and has since made rapid strides." Mrs. Brown's husband was appointed one of directors to superintend the moving of pictures to Victoria museum. Of late years the trustees have concentrated on the Old Masters which are very rare to obtain as the demand is great in the United States, and the pictures must be procured as soon as possible. His Excellency, Lord Willingdon is Honorary President of the Trustees and is one of the most interested workers in Canada.

Lantern Slides Used. Mrs. Brown brought with her a fascinating collection of lantern slides, representing the most outstanding works to be found in the National Art Gallery. As each slide was flashed on the screen Mrs. Brown pointed out the interesting points and drew her audience's attention to the details. The first series of pictures shown were old Italian masterpieces, painted in the early days of 1300. "The Christ Child" a painting by Botticelli showed the freedom of line and natural backgrounds which artists first began to put into their work in the year 1500. Other notable works by Tintoretto, Canaletto, Luni and Andre del Sarto, were viewed with great interest.

The next group of works were by the artists of the North and were painted in the period, 1400 to 1800. These showed a strong sense of character, and minuteness as to detail. Delicate and exquisite care was shown in each painting. The artists of the North paid more attention to character, unlike the Italian masters, whose works showed the interpretation of beautiful legends, and fanciful thoughts. An early German masterpiece, "The Woman in Adultery" and a portrait of "Mary Neville" were the outstanding works.

"British art," said Mrs. Brown, was later in developing. Works of Gainsborough, Hogarth, Reynolds, and Turner were flashed on the screen. Among the most notable was a painting by Turner "The Wreck" which the speaker pointed out told a complete story, and was beloved by all who viewed it.

The last group of pictures to be shown were the works of our own Canadian artists. A beautiful Snow Scene by Cundoff, "The Venetian Bathing" by Paul Peel, were the most striking. "Oxen Drinking" by Horatio Walker, showed a delicacy of touch, and subtlety of tone hard to teach. Another, the work of Tom Thompson, was a

MOIRA CHAPTER ROYALLY FETED

Masons Had Gala Time According To Report In The Telegram

Following is the report which appeared in the Toronto Telegram, of the recent visit of the Belleville Moira Chapter, to Toronto:

St. Patrick Chapter, No. 145, Royal Arch Masons, entertained Moira Chapter, No. 7, of Belleville, in the Yonge street Masonic Temple on Saturday evening. The visitors numbering 75, came by special train and were the guests at a 6 o'clock dinner into Temple, where Ex. Comp. A. W. Neal, First Principal of the St. Patrick Chapter, presided and extended a warm Masonic welcome. Comp. Major Bert S. Wemp, D. F. C., etc., extended a welcome on behalf of the city. He expressed the gratitude that this occasion gave him as he was a native son of Hastings County having been born near Belleville. Another gratification was the large number of members of the U. E. Loyalist families represented at the table. As one of the sixth generation of U. E. Loyalists from that part of the province it was an added pleasure to extend this welcome.

Ex. Comp. Victor H. Graves was prevented from replying for a few minutes until the singing and applause quitted. In expressing his appreciation of the welcome, he said: "It is particularly gratifying that we, from the historic Moira Chapter of Belleville should be thus honoured by the first principal of the largest Masonic Chapter in the British Empire, and by one of the royal craft who had reached such an exalted place in the confidence of the people of this city, and we have every confidence that a greater honour is in store for him in the not distant future. When that time shall come we hope to be able to welcome him and you, companions, as you welcome us."

Scene of the North Shore of Lake Superior. Critics are unanimous in saying that the work of this man is original and clear-sighted, and that he, above all others, is catching the true "Spirit of Canada."

Canada to be Represented at London. Canada's National Art Gallery is very proud of the fact that they have been asked to send three of their Italian masterpieces to the exhibit of Italian Art which is being held in London this coming Spring.

Mrs. Brown was tendered a hearty vote of thanks at the conclusion of her

Moira Conferred Degrees

The work of the evening consisted of the H.R.H. degree conferred upon six members from Belleville, the chairs being filled by the visitors as follows: Ex. Comp. Victor H. Graves, Z.; Ex. Comp. S. Licence, I.P.Z.; Ex. Comp. H. Dinnett, H. Ex. Comp. Wm. McIntosh, J.; Ex. Comp. D. G. Bleeker, treasurer; V. Ex. Comp. C. B. Scantlebury, S.E.; Comp. J. Burgess, S.N.; Comp. J. A. Weese, P.S.; Comp. L. C. Patrick, S.S.; Comp. J. Barber, J.S.; Comp. O. R. Thomson, M. 4th vel; Comp. H. S. McElrath, M. 3rd vel; Comp. W. H. Gerrie, M. 2nd vel; Comp. Welland J. Reid, M. 1st vel; Comp. J. W. Johnson, Janitor; Ex. Comp. S. Licence, D of C; Comp. Leo Riggs, organist.

E. Ex. Comp. Bert Cowan, who introduced the visitors to the Chapter was afforded the privilege of welcoming M. Ex. Comp. W. N. Ponton, P.G.Z., a member of both chapters. This provided an opportunity for Ex. Comp. Graves to call on M. Ex. Comp. Ponton who presented on behalf of the visitors, three scepters carved from a black nut tree on the farm of Capt. Bleeker, which fronts on the Moira River. M. Ex. Comp. Ponton gave an interesting sketch of the history of the early days when the Moira River was called Myers Creek, named after the early U. E. Loyalist, John Walden Myers. In those days the Royal Arch Masons walked from Belleville to Kingston, and Capt. Bleeker, a Belleville druggist, who now owned the farm from which the wood was cut to make these scepters, walked from Belleville and back with the dispensation and charter for Moira Chapter. He was also the first Master of Moira Masonic Lodge, and was also said to be the first Principal of Moira Chapter. Part of this farm is now used as haven for the wild feathered flocks and has been given the blessing of Jack Miner.

Gift Accepted

The gift was accepted on behalf of the St. Patrick Chapter by Ex. Comp. Harold W. Thompson, I.P.Z., and were put into immediate use by the visitors for the first time. The scepters are most unique in design and workmanship. The work of the evening was highly commended by M. Ex. Comp. Edwin Smith, Frank McLean and other distinguished officers. The visitors were accompanied by their own choir, which added to the impressiveness of the occasion.

Among the new members of the Chapter, Ex. Comp. Thomas A. Murphy was introduced and given a royal welcome.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies a pleasant hour was spent in the banquet hall, where Comps. James Bankier, J. A. Thompson, A. F. Smith, rendered vocal selections to the delight of the audience of about 400.

PREMIER BRIAND BACK AT WORK

Paris, (By Canadian Press) — Premier Briand, having set the stakes for the United States of Europe, is now giving some attention to his political fences at home. His "vacation government," as he called it himself, when he succeeded Poincare as Premier, obtained a lease of life that will expire when parliament meets again in October. He must then either abandon the helm or whip the old Poincare majority into line behind him. The Premier is well known to prefer another majority. He was recognized as a "man of the Left" because of his extremely liberal foreign policy, but there are other "men of the Left" who think that if that kind of a cabinet is formed they are the men to head — notably Edouard Daladier, president of the Radical Party and Monsieur Edouard Herriot, ex-president of that group and ex-Premier.

The Radicals have begun a campaign to obtain power for themselves, to the exclusion of most of the groups forming the present majority, on the theory that the negotiations looking toward a federation of Europe require a government distinctly Radical, or Radical and Socialist. In the moderate groups Briand will have to face the opposition of some deputies who will attack the government for remaining aloof from this year's celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of the Marne. His action at The Hague and at Geneva will meet with little criticism but on the question of internal politics, that is to say "who shall be a saint?" he will have to bring all his skill as a politician into play.

MANUFACTURER AIDS BLIND GIRLS' WORK

Cape Town, South Africa, (By Canadian Press) — There is a manufacturer in this city who is doing more for the welfare of the blind than a philanthropist. He is trying to find processes in his factory which blind girls are capable of doing. As an experiment, he has employed a blind girl to button up the shirts after the buttons have been sewn on, and to leave them ready for the next process. Another blind girl is finding out whether it will be possible for her to lay out the shirts for pressing.

In modern factories, where each process is separate, it is possible to find many of the simpler processes which, with a little practice, come well within the power of the blind.

Comp. Leo Riggs presided at the organ and the piano.

STUDEBAKER TO GIVE FRANCHISE IN THIS CITY

Excellent Opportunity For Someone To Become Associated In City

Mr. G. N. C. Patterson, factory representative of the Studebaker Corporation of Canada is in Belleville today talking with business men of this city with a view of awarding a local Studebaker Franchise. According to Mr. Patterson an excellent opportunity is open in this community for someone to become associated with the largest manufacturer of 8-cylinder cars and one of the oldest motor car manufacturers in the world. From the humble beginning of the Studebaker Brothers who started in business 77 years ago, Studebaker has grown steadily until today its actual net assets are more than $105,000,000. Today the Corporation has plants in the United States and Canada which contain 8,105,000 square feet of floor space. In the neighborhood of 22,000 men and women are employed. Studebaker owns one of the largest and most complete research laboratories in the world, including a Million Dollar Proving Ground near South Bend, Indiana. Not only does Studebaker enjoy a prominent position in assets and facilities, but its products have achieved outstanding successes. A total of 126 official speed and endurance records, all made under the supervision of the American Automobile Association, are now held by Studebaker cars. All four lines of cars, President Eight, Commander, Dictator and Erskine Six have contributed great performance achievements, which give Studebaker more official American speed and endurance records for fully equipped stock cars than all other makes combined. The outstanding performance feat was that of the Studebaker President Eight which travelled 30,000 miles in 26,328 consecutive minutes on the Atlantic City speedway. Nothing else has been done in (in fact) nothing but planets, suns and stars) ever travelled so far so fast. To make these records, the President Eight had to beat the brilliant performance of a champion model, The Studebaker Commander, which travelled 25,000 miles in less than 23,000 minutes, at the same Speedway in November, 1927. The Dictator Six holds speed and endurance records for fully equipped stock cars priced under $1300, having covered 5,000 miles in 4751 minutes. The Erskine Six holds 11 A.A.A. records for fully equipped stock cars, under $1000—records won when two stock Erskine Six Club Sedans ran 1000 miles in 984 minutes. Other features bespeak the engineering genius that has gone into the design of these cars. These include the double-drop frame construction of the President, Commander and New Dictators Chassis, which has resulted in lower center of gravity, better riding qualities and the low graceful body lines. Another is the semi-automatic choke valve which prevents flooding the cylinder with wet gasoline after the engine has started in cold weather. Comfort features include wider rear seats, adjustable front seats, adjustable steering wheel and adjustable clutch and brake pedals. The attention given to safety features is reflected in the bodies of steel on a wood base, non-shatterable safety glass windshields, and the use of steel core safety steering wheels. Studebaker offers six great lines of cars with a complete range of other fifty different body styles on six and eight cylinder chassis, and with list prices ranging from $1025 to $3145. Heading the line is the President Eight offered in two series with wheel bases of 125 and 135 inches, and priced from $2355 to $3145. The Commander Eight and The Commander Six are priced from $1585 to $2265 for the Eight, and $1595 to $1895 for the Six. The Dictator Eight models list at $1530 to $1855, and the Dictator Six from $1255 to $1585. The Erskine Six range is $1025 to $1250. All list prices are f.o.b. factory at Waukegan, Ontario. According to Mr. Patterson an excellent opportunity is available for someone to acquire this desirable dealership in this community and be-

Needless Pain!

Nowadays, people take Aspirin for many little aches and pains, and as often as they encounter any pain.

Why not? It is a proven antidote for pain. It works!

And Aspirin tablets are absolutely harmless. You have the medical profession's word for that; they do not depress the heart.

So, don't let a cold "run its course." Don't wait for a headache to "wear off." Or regard neuralgia, neuritis, or even rheumatism as something you must endure. Only a physician can cope with the cause of such pain, but you can always turn to an Aspirin tablet for relief. Aspirin is always available, and it never fails to help. Familiarize yourself with its many uses, and avoid a lot of needless suffering.

PREMIER URGES CANADA TO CAST ALL FEAR AWAY

Makes Plea For Maintenance of The Old Pioneer Spirit

Montreal, Oct. 22.—A vibrant message to Canada to gird up her loins, to ban fear and face a future of limitless possibilities with courage, calmness and enterprise, for the greater progress of the nation, the closer unity of the British Commonwealth of self-governing peoples, and the advancement of world peace emerged from the speech which Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of Great Britain, delivered yesterday to the Canadian Club of Montreal. Mr. MacDonald was back again. A year since he had stood in the same spot, addressed the same organization; then as leader of one of the Opposition parties in the Mother of Parliaments, now as the leader of Britain's Government. And he was the same MacDonald; giving voice to an intermingling of idealism and hard fact, so informal in his speech, so given up to the sincerity of his words. He made the British Commonwealth live. "My fellow-countrymen," was his mode of address to the Canadians before him. His comparatively recent sojourn in the Dominion enabled him genuinely to approach his subject from the Canadian viewpoint, all the while telling Canada what he hopes and prays for from this unit of the Commonwealth in Britain's drive for perpetual peace.

"What do we want?" he asked. "We want a fine hearty co-operation; we want energy; we want enterprise. We want somehow to get back to the mind of the pioneers who thought little of the past but a great deal of the future." And those pioneers, he recalled, had been French, Scots, English in the first days. "The great call to everyone of those nations who compose the British Commonwealth of self-governing peoples is to gird up your loins, face the future with the same determination and enterprise cause of Studebaker's many features of co-operation made available for Studebaker dealers no large investment is required and a permanent and profitable connection may be arranged. Mr. Patterson is now stopping at the Quinte Hotel.

that your fathers and grandfathers faced their future, and then, who is to write in prophetic words that glow too liberally the future story of the British Empire?" Storms of applause stopped the grizzled orator who stood dangling his watch chain. He proceeded with the statement that a real mingling of effort from Canada, a mingling not merely of commercial effort but also of social and cultural effort must also be visualized.

SECTIONBILL PHILLIPS

FROM MONTREALRumor That Veteran Maroon Was Going To Ottawa Denied

Montreal, Oct. 23.—Despite reports from Ottawa that Bill Phillips, veteran Maroon centre, would be seen in an Ottawa Senator uniform this winter, it was definitely stated at the Montreal Maroon practice at the Forum yesterday afternoon that Phillips would be back with the local team again this season. The Ottawa Journal said yesterday that the Senators had said that Phillips was going to Ottawa. Phillips was the only absentee as the Maroons took the ice for the first time yesterday afternoon. A fine sheet of ice greeted the players as they climbed over the boards to inaugurate ice-skating locally and they seemed only too eager to test their speed after the arduous work-outs of indoor training that has been their lot during the past week.

The first drill on skates was natural by a mild affair and devoted mainly to getting the feel of the blades once more but apparently it was a great temptation for many to refrain from uncracking a burst of speed once they found themselves again. Both goalkeepers, Benedict and Walsh, were all so out, and after a few rambles around the circumference of the rink, the remainder of the team amused themselves at the time-honored business of goal-getting at the expense of the pair of net guardians. Hooley Smith, Nels Stewart, Jimmy Ward, Red Dutton, George Boucher, Babe Seibert and Earl Robinson flashed in their old-time form.

Two Iroquois Falls players who are contemplating playing senior amateur hockey locally, likely with M.A.A.A., were also out at the Maroon practice.

Kerr, the Northern Ontario champions' goalkeeper, showed his ability by standing up to the Maroon sharpshooters and Huggins, a forward, looked well. Huggins was leading scorer in the Northern Ontario group last season.

The practice was supervised by Manager Dunc Munro and Coach Jerry L. Lamme who signalled his first appearance as a Maroon by also donning skates and taking a few turns around the rink.

M'GILL CHANCES

Red And White Team—
St. Germaine Out

Montreal, Oct. 23.—While a few faithful rabid-looking McGill football fans last night plunged eagerly into work in preparation for the struggle with the league-leading Queen's squad at the Riel stadium Saturday, the squad took the field without Ralph St. Germain, r D'Arcy Doherty, both of whom are suffering from trick knees. It is likely that neither will be in shape to play against the Tricolor, which leaves the backfield duties to an almost entirely new half line. Last evening, Doherty and Smyth were augmented by Coach Nichol on backfield and (rapid improvement in Doherty's condition does not appear "his trio will probably get the call at Kingston."

St. Germain's condition has kept him out of football for almost the entire season, and there seems little likelihood that he will see action at all until next year. Despite the fact that he has been resting for the better part of the season, the backfield play's knee is still puzzling doctors, and although there has been some improvement, St. Germain is still limping. Doherty was hurt in the Varsity game last evening in miff. Knees are a trainer's nightmare in football, and there is no one who dares foretell when Doherty will be ready to assume griddon duties.

Football enthusiasm has reached a new ebullience around the campus. The special train that had been arranged for the Kingston trip has been abandoned and those students who choose to follow the team will do so privately. The brilliant victory of the red team last year at Kingston is still remembered around the campus and if the McGill "wee" can repeat their triumph, a three-cornered tie would become something more than a myth.

NEW YORK TEAMS
READY FOR ICERangers And Americans a Few Days Behind Leafs
And Maroons

New York, October 23.—The call for winter's leading sport has gone out. The managers of New York's two national league's hockey teams, Lester Patrick of the Rangers and Lionel Conacher of the Americans, have set the dates for their men to report for practice in preparation for the season's opening November 17.

The Rangers and the members of their farm team in the Canadian-American League, the Springfield Indians, are to report at Springfield Friday. The Americans assemble Monday at New Haven. Both managers consider the training period unusually important this year because of the changes in playing rules. Some of the older players are not expected to hold their own with the youngsters in the faster game. The Rangers at last have been active in the player market during the off-season and have several new men to try out.

The New York teams are a few days behind, at least one of their Canadian rivals, the Montreal Maroons started practice yesterday with a new coach, Dr. Jerry Laflamme, former National Hockey League referee.

WILL SIMPLIFY
THE CALENDAR

Washington, D. C. (By Canadian Press)—Action taken by the Assembly of the League of Nations at its recent session holds much promise that the calendar will be held next year, said George Eastman, chairman of the National Committee on Calendar Simplification, in a statement commenting upon advice he has just received from Geneva.

Mr. Eastman said that a resolution had been adopted by the Assembly which automatically placed on the agenda of the next meeting of the League Conference on Communications and Transit, probably in December, the findings of the committee. The calendar reform resolutions of the International Chamber of Commerce, the recommendations of its French and Belgium calendar committees, and resolutions adopted by various other national and international bodies, all directed to the League.

The Communications and Transit Conference, Mr. Eastman said, will in effect, act for the League in the matter of calling an international calendar conference and it was his belief that the accumulation of favourable recommendations from different countries and those of the International Chamber of Commerce could not but impress the conference that the time for international action on calendar reform is ripe.

Before this meeting is held, reports national calendar committees in Germany, Holland, Hungary and Peru, Cuba and several other of the Latin-American countries. The Conference will also have been informed of the results of the calendar referendum of the United States Chamber of Commerce, now in progress among local chambers, which calls for opinion on calendar simplification and whether there should be an international conference in which the United States should participate. Mr. Eastman felt that judging by the number of favourable expressions already given by

COLOR LINE IN CHURCHES

Cardinal Hayes has made a notable pronouncement which should be considered throughout the length and breadth of this continent. It followed on a statement made by Mr. John L. Belford, of the Roman Catholic Church of the Nativity, Brooklyn, that if negroes became numerous in his church they would be excluded.

Cardinal Hayes, when the matter was brought to his attention, handed it over to Mr. Thomas M. O'Keefe, of the Church of St. Charles Borromeo, to answer, and endorsed the answer when it was written.

"We had believed as you did," wrote Mr. O'Keefe, "that no Catholic priest would give out such sentiments, and you may be sure that your resentment at their expression is not a bit more positive than ours and that our grief over the incident is deep, and will be lasting. His (Mr. Belford's) publication in this does not represent the attitude nor the spirit of the Catholic Church. It is the very opposite, not only of that attitude and spirit, but of the very doctrine of the Catholic Church."

That doctrine Mr. O'Keefe defines. The negro "is a brother in Christ. The Church has the same duties toward him as toward any other member of the human race; and he has the same rights and privileges in the church as any one else." Regarding the Brooklyn incident, he wrote: "This concerns the local Bishop. He will act only after he has studied the situation thoroughly. The Catholic Church is often accused of being slow, and she is where there is no crying need for speed."

Mr. Belford defends himself by saying that he does not represent the Brooklyn diocese, but spoke for himself and his parish. "Within 200 feet of my church there is a church for Catholic negroes. There they have every service the Catholic Church conducts. If there were not a negro church nearby which had ample room, and adequate service I would welcome negroes as I did until the negro church was established."

The Cardinal repudiates the color line, but it cannot be said that it has not been drawn in the existence of a church for negroes in which they are segregated. The Church is slow to act, as Mr. O'Keefe says. It will be interesting to see what further action may be taken in this matter. There are few things more important in the world today than the attitude of the white races to those of a different color. The white minority has much to fear from injustice reacting upon itself.

GOLDEN JUBILEE

Fifty years ago Monday, Thomas Alva Edison gave the world its first incandescent lamp. At Dearborn, Mich., the golden anniversary was celebrated in spectacular manner. Mr. Edison's boon companion, Henry Ford, having spent millions to create the scene of a half-century ago. The show within the confines of the high wire fence surrounding the 125 acres set aside by Ford for the occasion was not for the general public. Admission was by ticket only and invitations were extended only to "distinguished men and women of science, finance and public life." Such a precaution was necessary, of course. If the grounds had been open to all, there would have been a rush that would have wrecked the unique scene of its inception. But the rest was not unkind of the general public and millions undoubtedly gained in on the doing, as described for the vast radio audience by Mr. Graham McNamee. But one thing, we gather, was missing—the skepticism of fifty years ago. The New York Herald which, alone of the metropolitan press, expressed confidence in Edison's ability to put electricity to illuminating service, was roundly ridiculed "for its silliness" by contemporary sheets, which no doubt reflected the public mind of that time. The gas companies which had a virtual monopoly on house lighting in that day, coal oil lamps being the only competitors of gas mantles, led the scoffers' chorus.

But Thomas Edison confounded the skeptics, when, the switch at Menlo Park being pulled, the carbonized threads of sewing cotton in the bulbs "glowed mellowly like the glory of an Italian sunset." Thus was the first incandescent light fashioned, but the skeptics were not yet convinced. Illumination by electricity was impracticable, they said. Those first incandescent lights cost $2 to manufacture and had an active life of less than an hour. Edison substituted bamboo for cotton thread as a filament, with better results. Improvements were made by inventors in other countries, notably England and Germany. It was in Germany that tungsten was employed for the first time. Today drawn tungsten as a filament is in almost universal use. The light it casts is not only brilliant, but the filament has a life of 1,000 hours. And the cost, as compared with the first incandescent lamp, is but 35 cents. Had Thomas Alva Edison invented only the incandescent lamp, the world would owe him a debt of gratitude it could never repay. Of the hundreds of inventions that have come from his laboratory, it was his greatest gift to his fellow-men. And it was fitting that on his golden jubilee the busy world should pause in its feverish rushing either and you to pay tribute to the donor of the boon.

Research workers have been able to show that some of the commonest ailments seem to be transmitted from many generations back. For instance paralysis, apoplexy, or cerebral hemorrhage, was shown to occur much more frequently in certain families than in those that in perhaps a dozen cases there would be a family history of 100 cases in a total population of 900 people whereas there would be less than half that number in the general population. Actual figures have been compiled on "lingual hernia, or rupture as it is popularly called, which is due to a weakness in the oblique muscle of the lower part of abdomen. Thirty cases of patients in no way related to one another were questioned as to the occurrence of hernia in their ancestors as far back as they were able to remember. Only the male cases were recorded.

In these thirty families there was a total male population of 253 whose disease histories could be relied upon. Of them 61 or about 24 per cent. had had hernia, whereas the hernia rate in 1,000 cases examined in a routine manner by the Life Extension Institute was only 5 per cent.

In acute rheumatic fever there were forty-four cases, unrelated in any way, whose family histories were investigated.

"Be quiet," whispered his counsel. "I won't be quiet," he returned. "My lord," he exclaimed, "I can't even deceive my own wife, let alone twelve women. I plead guilty."

The Squire had engaged a new Irish butler, and at the end of dinner he was amazed to see Flaherty shaking his head vigorously. "Good the port decanter," shouted the irate old gentleman, "don't shake the wine like that!" "I'm sorry, sir," apologized the butler, "but I heard ye say to 'er ladyship that ye only took the cold port as a medicine."

SECOND ANNIVERSARY EATON GROCETERIAS

This week all units of the Eaton Groceries in Ontario are featuring a special sale of nationally advertised goods to mark the occasion of the 2nd anniversary of the opening of the 2nd unit of the Eaton Groceries.

Just two years ago the first Eaton Groceria was opened in this Province and almost that time the number and sizes of the Eaton stores have steadily increased. Until today these up-to-date and attractive stores may be found in every place of any importance in Ontario.

The sale this week to mark the Anniversary will feature special in practically nationally advertised goods, amounting to an unprecedented value in these lines. Announcement of the sale appears in today's issue.

The Belleville unit of the Eaton Groceries, Limited, is, of course, participating in the event along with all other units. The local store has been in operation now for the past six months and reports exceptionally good business here.

THAT BODY OF YOURS
By James W. Barton, M.D.

FAMILY TENDENCIES
One of the first and most important of the house physician in hospital has to do is to take the "history" of the patient.

It is a slow tiresome process to have to draw out or question the patient about his mother and father, his grandparents, and his great-grandparents. He is usually ready to talk about himself but he is not interested and usually doesn't know or remember much about his ancestors.

Now is this family history important? Research workers have been able to show that some of the commonest ailments seem to be transmitted from many generations back. For instance paralysis, apoplexy, or cerebral hemorrhage, was shown to occur much more frequently in certain families than in those that in perhaps a dozen cases there would be a family history of 100 cases in a total population of 900 people whereas there would be less than half that number in the general population. gated. All of these families cover two generations, a large number three and several as many as five. "There is a total population of 1343 persons of whom complete disease histories have been obtained."

Of this number 205 individuals or about 15 per cent. have a history of rheumatism, whereas 5 per cent. would be the percentage in the general population.

What do these studies teach us? That "blood will tell."

The lesson then is that where there is a family history of an ailment it may be a blessing in disguise in that a history of tuberculosis will mean the seeking of fresh air, sunshine and good food; of rheumatism a search for infected teeth, tonsils, sinuses, and so forth; of hernia a strengthening of the abdominal muscles by exercise; of apoplexy careful diet and moderation in work and play. Believe you can see how this knowledge may be of help in every family.

CHILE ADOPTS WOMAN SUFFRAGE LARGELY SANTOIA and now is the time for Santiago, Chile. (By Canadian Press)

With the passage of the new Code of Internal Administration, now before the Chilean Congress, Chile will be the first Latin-American country to adopt woman suffrage on an extensive scale, as this code gives women and foreigners the right to vote in municipal elections. So far, only one state in Brazil and one province in Argentina have given even a limited voting privilege to women. Granting foreigners a right to vote in municipal elections is also a decided innovation, and indicative of the democratic spirit pervading Chile.

CHOCOLATES FOR MOVIE FANS

Patrons of the Regent Theatre last evening took part in the first of what will undoubtedly prove to be a novel and popular idea, when ten of their number received one pound boxes of candy. Each person on entering the theatre received a ticket with a number on it, and when the lucky numbers were drawn, those holding the tickets were given their chocolates. Each Wednesday night from now on ten pounds of chocolates will be given away free.

BAND AT KINGSTON

At full strength the Arnyll Band members went to Kingston last evening to play a friendly visit to the members of the Prince of Wales Own Rifles Band of Kingston. The Belleville band members were royally entertained by their Kingston comrades, and although the evening was none too fine for motoring all enjoyed the trip to the utmost.

A feature of the evening was a baseball match between the Belleville Band and the Kingston Band, which was won by the local players, the score being 12 to 3. "Ab" Wonnacott, of the Belleville Band acted as pitcher and due to his sterling efforts the opposition was forced down to defeat. The P. W. O. R. Band will play a return visit to the Belleville on Wednesday evening next.

Attorney - General Refutes Attack on Liquor Act With Real Facts

H. R. Poussette Will Be Heard at Chamber of Commerce Dinner

Toronto, Oct. 24.—The whole force of the conservative party will be in the field in the closing days of the Ontario Provincial Election campaign. It is expected that Premier Ferguson, confined to his home for the past three days with bronchitis, will be able to speak at Campbellford on the 25th. At least five cabinet ministers will speak at the other meetings and from scores of constituency reports of party activities indicate the campaign has reached its peak.

The Liberals, Progressives, Prohibitionists, Independents, Labor and Communists are matching the Government activities. W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal Leader, who has been speaking at several meetings daily continues his campaign at Port Perry and Whitby today. Hon. E. C. Drury, former United Farmers of Ontario Premier will support J. G. Lethbridge, Progressive Leader at a meeting at Glenora.

Yesterday was a busy day for the political leaders. Mr. Sinclair spoke at Sarnia and turned to the criticism of the administration of the Department of Lands and Forests. Though the forest conservation bill had been introduced at the last session of the legislature, he said, nothing was done. He charged irregularity in the sale of timber lands. In some cases, he asserted, such sales were made without advertisement or the formality of a tender.

CANDIDATE WAS GIVEN OVATION AT BIG DANCE

Event Sponsored By Young Conservatives Was Big Success

Perhaps it was the attraction of the dance, perhaps it was the attraction of the Conservative Candidate, W. H. Ireland, or still again it might have been both, which made the dance in the Moose Hall go over so big last night.

The dance was sponsored by the Junior Conservatives of this city. At nine o'clock the dance commenced with a large crowd filling the hall even before it had started. "Reg" Brockhurst's Serenaders, composed of practically the old original Bon Ton Orchestra, played for the evening and how they played! The music was real peppy and everyone had a splendid time.

At midnight refreshments were served. Following this light lunch dancing was again resumed and lasted until after one o'clock. Mr. Jack Andrews, president of the Young Conservatives, made a capable chairman. W. H. Ireland was introduced during the evening, but he proved to be a wise speaker. He did not talk for over two minutes, informing the crowd that in a week's time the voting would take place and that he hoped every young man and woman would be at the polls. If the round of applause is any criterion W. H. Ireland will be returned again to the Legislature with a larger majority than ever.

It's for joint troubles in fingers, ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, knuckles or spine—whether rheumatic or not.

It limbers them up, reduces the swelling, chases out the pain and inflammation—when Joint-Ease goes in, joint agony goes out—no time wasted. But lately thousands of people have discovered that it's also supremely good for quick relief in lumbago, neuralgia and neuritis. Made in Canada—Joint-Ease is a stainless emollient that soaks in almost instantly. A tube 60 cents, Doyle's Drug Store, Dolan the Druggist, sell lots of it.

DEATH NOTICE

TIDMARSH.—Died in Belleville General Hospital, on Wednesday, Oct. 23rd, 1929, Harry E. Tidmarsh, aged 68 years. Funeral will take place from the residence of his son W. R. Tidmarsh, 96 Dundas St. West, on Friday, Oct. 25th, 1929, at 2:30 p.m. Service at the house at two o'clock. Interment in Belleville Cemetery.

transferred to Buenos Aires in 1911. He was appointed travelling inspector of Trade Commissioners' Offices in 1910 and for four years, commencing July 1920, was director of the Commercial Intelligence Service. In 1924 he was appointed Trade Commissioner at Port of Spain, Trinidad, and in 1926 he was transferred to Calcutta. He spent several months investigating conditions in Afghanistan and he will tell much about that most interesting and little known country in his address tomorrow night.

Mr. Poussette is a veteran of the South African War, in which he served with the South African Constabulary. He also served in the Great War having been an officer in the Fourth Battalion, C. M. G. G.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

JOHN JAMES ALEXANDER
The funeral of the late John James Alexander, five months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander, Blocker Ave., took place yesterday afternoon to St. James' cemetery. Rev. Father Kinlan conducted the services at the grave.

HARRY TIDMARSH
Harry Elmer Tidmarsh died in the Belleville General Hospital yesterday. The deceased was born in Chicago, Illinois, of English parentage, sixty-eight years ago. For the last year he had been visiting at the home of his son, Mr. W. R. Tidmarsh, of this city. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow and two daughters, Mrs. T. Major and Mrs. T. Coward, both of Woodbridge, New Jersey. Also two sons, Harry, of Glen Falls, N.J., and W. R., of this city.

SARAH KERR
The remains of Mrs. Sarah Kerr were laid to rest yesterday afternoon in the Madoc Cemetery. A funeral service was held in the home at two o'clock by Rev. Mr. Seymour, of St. Andrews Church, of which church the late Mrs. Kerr was a member for many years. Following the services in the home the funeral cortege proceeded to Madoc, where the graveside ceremony was conducted by the same minister assisted by Rev. Mr. Marshall, of Madoc. The bearers were composed of Messrs. Henderson, G. Rennie, J. Koon, W. Brooks, D. Rollins and G. Hill.

ALBERT COLLEGE DEFEAT PICTON

Local Collegians Will Face Trenton For Group Honors

Picton Collegiate rugby team was defeated by Albert College yesterday afternoon by the score of 21 to 17.

The field was soggy, but perhaps this added to the thrills, from the spectators point of view. Large puddles liberally sprinkled the field and many were the upsets into them, much to the delight of the onlookers. Picton had a good line-up but the result might have been different had their star half Wright been playing. This player is out for the season with a fractured leg.

The tricky plays of the College boys were too clever for the visitors. On several occasions they resorted to kick formation and thus got out of danger. During the first quarter five points were scored by Albert. The same happened in the second quarter and then again in the third. An extra point was added during this period by a converted touch down. In the fourth quarter another touch down. It was in the last quarter that Picton got their only touchdown. They added to this by scoring rouges.

Jack Yuill, line plunger for Albert, was good but suffered an injury that might put him out of the game for the remainder of the season. Howard Purchase, quarter back, was also spectacular in his plays. Pullen, outside

BAY OF QUINTE DISTRICT GIRLS GATHERED HERE

Spent Enjoyable Session At Tabernacle United Church

On Saturday, October 19, at 10 a.m. about one hundred and twenty-five girls from Wellington, Trenton, Tweed, Cannifton, Thurlow and Belleville assembled in the Tabernacle Church, Belleville, for a Girls' World Friendship Rally of the Belleville Presbytery.

This rally was one of seven in the Bay of Quinte Conference.

The programme was planned by Mrs. McKinnon of Perth, the W.M.S. Conference Branch Secretary from Belleville, as the beginning of the Rally. A telegram was received wishing the girls success, and expressing her regret at not being with them. An immediate reply was sent by the girls expressing their appreciation of her work for their conference and thanks for her good wishes.

Registration began at 10 o'clock and from 10:15 to 10:50 the girls joined in Folk Games led by Miss N. P. Mery. At 11 o'clock Miss Winnifred Pearce of Wellington, one of the most active workers in the rally, divided the girls into eight groups for the purpose of discussing World Friendship—what it means, causes of unfriendliness and their cure, and what girls can do towards it.

From 12 to 1:30 an inspiring address was given by Dr. Gordon (Ralph Connor) after which a box luncheon was enjoyed, supplemented by coffee which was provided by the Belleville girls.

After the lunch hour the girls joined in a sing-song. Miss Ruth Newson of the Tabernacle Church told a story of the "Moor's" School of Africa, in which the girls of that far-away land are being developed in the fourfold way.

The girls of Bridge Street Church gave a short dramatization—a Friendship Cerebral.

Miss Schriebe, a foreign missionary, gave an interesting talk on India, emphasizing girl life there and what is being done each year to benefit it.

A story, "The Black Madonna" was then told by Ruby Kaiser and the rally was brought to a close by a beautiful worship service, "The World As God's Family" led by Miss Robina Templeton.

The girls of this Presbytery appreciate to the utmost the work of those who made this rally possible and return to their respective homes more determined than ever before to do their part towards the Friendship of the World.

that may be made into a flying post-office within 24 hours. Carriers of the transcontinental mail estimate that three hours would be cut from the present time if mail clerks were aboard aeroplanes to sort the thousands of letters carried daily.

The cabins of the aerial post offices are 19-2 feet long, seven feet high and five and a half wide. Meals can be obtained aboard as there is a buffet. There are large non-shatterable glass windows, giving the clerk excellent vision.

These planes have special night flying equipment, as officials believe that the bulk of air mail will be moved at night just as the greater part of train mail is handled between dusk and dawn. The system building the comfortable air carriers operates what it terms "the largest lighted airway in the world."

LOST BEYOND FINDING

PRIEST SHOWS HIS CONTENT OF LUCK

Melbourne, Australia. (By Canadian Press).—To show his content for (chain letters, Rev. Father McGrath, S. J., parish priest of St. Ignace Church, Richmond, in the pulpit recently took to pieces a letter which had been handed to him by a parishioner. He denounced the movement in strong terms and appealed to his listeners to ignore such letters. The letter was said to have started from an American army officer, and was intended to go around the world three times and any person who received a copy and failed to send it on to someone else within 24 hours would be the victim of ill-luck.

SPORTING
SECTIONWHEELERS READY FOR TIGER GAME

"Bill" Hughes Sends Team
Through Gruelling
Work-Out

Montreal, Oct. 24.—A puffing, perspiring band of earnest young men trooped into the M.A.A.A. dressing room last night, after Coach Bill Hughes had supervised a gruelling one and a half-hour's scrimmage drill on the Wheelers' gridiron.

WHEELERS READY FOR TIGERS

With two days of light workouts behind them to get them right back into first-class condition, Montreal's Big Four hopes hit the heavy work with a sharp and resounding bang. From the time the men took the field, Benny Haynes, calling the signals, hurried his plays at a make-shift but nevertheless sturdy defensive squad under the direction of Luke Bannan, Ernie Hempey, Pip Potter, Johnny Burrell, George Pigeon, Bert Adams, all had their turns and plenty of them, at cracking the opposing line. And Red Macre, Gordy Perry and Johnny Bennett had their fling at running the ends.

Speed and the zest of an actual game marked the practice. The attacking team put everything it had into its attacks, smacking the opposition as they were the Tigers themselves. The defenders, getting no quarter, gave none, and their tackles were deadly whenever they connected. Naturally, with such vim and vigor on display, injuries were not absent. Gerry Monty reported a muscle hurt in his side. Kenny Grant was cut over the eye by a flying cleat. Ernie Hempey took time to get his first after a particularly vicious tackle brought his head heavily into contact with the hard ground. On the same play, his tackle, Bill Oppenheimer, had the rail on the 115 ft. flag of his left hand almost ripped off, as it was jammed between the ground and Hempey's body as Ernie fell.

But of this list, Oppenheimer's is probably the most serious. Bill's is a painful injury and likely to keep him out of action. The others should all be good as new tonight.

Bill Hughes drove his men relentlessly. He intends to have a battering ram attack to aid his back-field plans against the terrible Tigers, and also have a front line that will stand up under the Bengals' crushing blows. The game rugby fare is on the practice menu for the boys again tonight.

Clarrie Foran was on deck last night. Clarrie has been in Kingston on business since the week-end and seemed mighty pleased to get back into uniform.

Walter Carroll was in the thick of things last night, and the former Holy Cross end showed himself a useful customer, and is likely to make a place on the team. Stevie Stevenson, still convalescing from his thigh injury received in Saturday's game against Argos, contented himself with running around the track, and keeping up his condition without aggravating the healing muscle.

Last Saturday an inter-city girls' relay race, and 100-yard dash entertained the cash customers. Further track work is on the bill for Saturday's half-time, but this time men will be in competition. While the Argos and Wheelers are resting, two relay teams from M.A.A.A. and one from McGill will run a mile relay.

SHAWKEY PLANS TO CHANGE TEAM

May Put Lazzeri At Third And Koenig At Short-Stop

New York, October 24.—Immediately after signing a one-year contract as manager of the Yankees yesterday, Bob Shawkey gave voice to his plans for rebuilding the infield and the pitching staff of the team. Since Shawkey plans to try Tony Lazzeri at third base not only the left but also the right side of the inner defense is involved in the rebuilding plans.

"Jimmy Reese, the Oakland second baseman," said Shawkey, "is my present choice to start at that position. I am satisfied with Koenig at short and intend to see whether Lazzeri's arm has sufficiently mended to permit him to make the long throw from third."

"The pitching staff is more of a problem. Work along that line will be slower and more difficult. We have several deals in mind and some, apparently in the making, but, of course, none of these can be discussed at this time."

Shawkey was silent regarding the plans of the club to obtain Bubbles Hargrave, catcher and manager of the St. Paul club in the American Association. He admitted that Hargrave would be useful to the Yankees and that a move was under way to obtain his service. Bob declined to say that Benny Bengough would depart from New York. He said the disabled catcher was now undergoing treatment for his arm.

Shawkey is satisfied with the young catchers of the club, Dickey and Jorge, and believes the outfield needs no further revamping.

RECREATION ALLEYS

In the Ladies League played at the Recreation Alleys last night the Crescents took three points from the Beavers. For the Crescents, G. Cruji was high with 553 and for the Beavers B. Doolittle was high with 478.

In the Mens Junior League the C. C. Co. and the Stewart Warner broke even with two points each. For the C. C. Co., R. Payne was high with 613 and for the Stewart Warner P. Beinap was high with 617.

Beavers—M. Kelleher 404; E. Carr 363; B. Doolittle 478; G. Halsey 357; E. Doolittle 444; total 2046.

Crescents—V. Wheeler 513; N. Bly 385; C. Cruji 553; S. Melchior 451; D. Beinap 547; total 2449.

change in airports. Mrs. Janet Grant Needham stressed the fact that it was extremely expensive to call an election, and she contended, there was no reason for calling "this one." Ferguson's manifesto was said to be largely promissory, while Sinclair's gave absolute justice which appeals to all. She also told of how in 1905 when the Liberals went out of power, there was practically no debt on Ontario. And the usual sum of four millions as the debt of this province was against mentioned.

"The Conservatives were put in after the Drury Administration to 'clean up a mess' and they have done nothing but make it worse," said Mrs. Needham. The same old criticisms of the Ferguson Government's Gas Tax, Old Age Pensions, and Highway and Power development was then raised, it seeming that Ferguson's Administration had done nothing of any use whatsoever in its three sessions. Following Mrs. Needham's talk, Mr. Holton announced that W. E. N. Sinclair would speak in Belleville next Monday night.

Collegiate Chatter

Friday night the girls basketball team, both Junior and Senior, will play their second game in the girls' gymnasium with the Picton girls. The girls lost their first game played with Napanage last Friday. It was not due to bad playing but rather that the team did not have enough support because it was not a home game. Napanage had a large crowd to cheer for them but on Friday night if everyone turns up we are sure they will not be so easily defeated.

Last year the Picton girls won the Bay of Quinte League but we hope our girls will come out successful this season. Why not everybody turn up to see these games, both teachers, students and all others interested in basketball. After the game the Picton girls will be entertained in the cafeteria followed by a good time in the "gym" which is to be occupied for dancing. Come on everybody! See this game and you will come to all the following games. School spirit is what we want.

The line-up for Friday night: Seniors—Forwards, L. Stafford and G. Arnott; Guards, E. Blaker and J. Fairburn; Jumping Centre, V. Guay; Side Centre, E. Gartley; Subs, Alice Potter and Gladys Ueh.

Juniors—Forwards, A. Cruik and B. Gilbert; Guards, H. Doyle and S. Stillman; Jumping Centre, J. McNabb; Side Centre, M. Fairburn; Sub, D. Blain.

This morning Mr. MacLaurin suggested that four students be selected from each form in order to keep the lines in place when moving through the halls between periods. The four students returned to the auditorium after they had been chosen by their form. There were about eighty pupils and out of these eighty, six were nominated to form a committee. These six were to call a meeting to arrange matters for the purpose of trying to find a way in which to keep the lines in order and to keep the halls tidier. They are to report next Wednesday together with the other representatives from each form to give their opinions on the matter.

Miss Merry and a party of others motored to Kingston Wednesday night to attend one of the Shakespearean plays, "Romeo and Juliet" put on by the Stratford-Upon-Avon players in the Grand Theatre. These players are known the world over and it was quite a treat to see them act. Mr. MacLaurin gave permission to a large number of boys to attend the theatre yesterday afternoon to see the play, "Julius Caesar." The programme is to be changed each day all this week.

Yesterday afternoon we had a successful fire drill under the new system. Two bells were rung and John Street doors only were used.

"STARVED HEARTS"

BY
Mildred Barbour

"Poor Barbara! It is as bad as that!" Madelon touched the dark, drooping head with light, compassionate fingers. "Oh! if there were only a way out, breathed Barbara."

"She sprang to her feet and raised her beautiful arms with a yearning gesture. 'If I were only free!'"

"You couldn't," Madelon hesitated. "You couldn't—leave him?"

"Barbara's arms dropped wearily and she shook her head."

"It is too late now. I haven't the courage, or the incentive. He is good to me in a way. I have every luxury. It has stilled my soul. In only a moment, I was poor and my well-groomed cat who is afraid of the cold and hunger of the outside world. And there is another side. I have not yet fulfilled my bargain. I married Stephen because I was poor and my family was in need. His was an offer that no sane girl in his circumstances could afford to refuse. He married me because he thought me beautiful and a fit mother for his children. It was a fair exchange. I thought then. 'But, oh, I haven't carried out the terms of the contract. There is no child yet, and my moral sense has not sunk so low that I dare quit before I have done my part.'"

Madelon's heart was wrung with pity. She was touched too by Barbara's confidence. It was the first she had ever given, and Madelon felt more closely drawn to her than ever before.

"Barbara dear," she said earnestly, "I am sorrier for you than words can possibly express. I can only hope that there will be some happiness for you yet. If ever there is anything I can do which will make your lot less miserable, you have only to ask it."

"It was a promise and a pledge. Barbara reached out a grateful hand, and the fingers clasped in a pact. 'And now, I dare say we might as well begin to pack,' sighed Barbara. 'How wonderful it has been here in the sunshine. How I shall not be able to put away our pretty summer frocks and go back to dark clothes and furs and spluttering radiators. Our house will be drearier than ever after this.'"

Madelon made no answer. She had gone to the window and was looking out into the warm, scented darkness. She could hear the beating of the surf on the sand and the fragrance of a million flowers came up to her through the dusk.

In her memory a voice was saying: "During the long afternoons, the palm trees sway drowsily in the hot sun and at night the fresh, sweet, fragrant wind comes in from the sea. I should like to see you there in my hazy garden with your fair hair shining against the sunset and a point of blossom flaming against the breast of your white gown."

"Shall you, too, be sorry to go back, Madelon?"

Barbara's wistful question brought her out of her reverie. She drew a deep breath, as one who has reached a decision.

"I am not going back. I am going to marry Howard Chandler."

"XXIII. BARBARA PLEADS"

Throughout the long, warm, Californian night, Barbara talked with Madelon, seeking to dissuade her from her avowed intention of marrying Howard Chandler to avoid returning to Stephen's Lane dominion.

"If you don't love him, don't marry him. I implore you," pleaded Barbara. "Look at me! I am a poor, plain, commonplace creature. I married without love, but I did it that others, whom I adored, might not suffer. You haven't that necessity to goad you into such an agreement."

"But I have my own freedom to see to—my own soul, the right of an individual to lead her own life, to make her own decisions, to think her own thoughts," insisted Madelon stubbornly. "In Uncle Stephen's house, I am a slave to his will, just as you are a slave. You have seen what he has done with my life. He took away the only man I can ever love and made us both miserable just to suit his own selfish whim."

"I tell you I won't go back!" she freedom has been too sweet. Howard Chandler is providing for me. He will take me away to a place where it is always sunshine. I can be myself, live my own life. Perhaps I might, if I could even, gather up the scattered fragments of my happiness and fit them together again so that the seams will hardly show. At any rate, I shall be free to try."

"But you don't love him," wailed Barbara again.

"I admire and respect him. I find him a charming companion. Perhaps I even care for him after a fashion," she added slowly as she groped to find words to express the curious fascination which a Chandler held for her. "I think I must more than like him, or I couldn't have thought of him instantly as a means of escape when that telegram came. Of course, it's nothing like what I feel for Julian. That is sacred and beautiful. Nothing can ever equal that. But it is past, and I must try to find contentment somewhere. Somehow, I feel that Howard Chandler will help me. As I have said before, he is a wonderful companion. That means a great deal. Remember, you never had companionship from Uncle Stephen. Perhaps if you had, a love's marriage would not seem so terrible."

Barbara spread out her slim hands in a gesture of defeat.

"Who am I to play at Destiny? Why, I'm trying to be like Stephen, after all. Madelon dear, forgive me. As you say, your life is your own to lead as you think best. But," she hesitated, "what about Stephen? He has objected to all your other suitors. Won't he likely object to Mr. Chandler? Have you thought of that?"

Madelon laughed easily. "Of course, he'll object. Uncle Stephen is just one great big objection with a capital O. But it will be too late."

"You mean?"

"Tomorrow, I will tell Howard that I have changed my mind. And why? Oh, I'll be frank with him. I won't marry him under these pretenses. He knows I don't love him, but he says it doesn't matter. He knows too that Uncle Stephen broke up my former love affair. We'll be married before my tyrannical relative and guardian arrives. What can he do then?"

Fear flashed in Barbara's dark eyes. "Aren't you afraid to antagonize him?"

"Why should I fear him when I am free?" asked Madelon complacently. "Oh, of course, he'll have and likely disinherit me. But what does it matter? Howard is probably wealthy. Anyway, there's a home in Hawaii."

She knelt suddenly beside Barbara and slipped her arms around her.

"Wish me luck," she pleaded, "and just a tiny bit of happiness."

"Oh, I do! My dear, I do!" Barbara's lips brushed her forehead. "I hope you may never know unhappiness again."

Neither of them ever afterward referred to that midnight conference. It was a sealed chapter between them.

Neither of them ever afterward referred to that midnight conference. It was a sealed chapter between them. The following morning to keep a previously-made appointment with Howard Chandler, she looked as fresh and untroubled as though she had not spent the night in reaching a momentous decision. In her sheer white gown, with a drooping, flower-wreathed hat, she seemed a lovely, trusting child. The look in her violet eyes would have indicated that they saw only a radiant rosy future. But her slim fingers lay, and it seemed to her active imagination that even the warmth of the dark, cold fear that gripped her heart.

With a gay greeting to Chandler which held no recollection of her abrupt parting with him the night before, she stepped out at the wall as if the foot of the sea. They talked of casual, impersonal things as they sped along the road that skirted the sea. A few miles out, where the elevation made the view superb, Chandler brought his car to a standstill and they both sat silent, gazing out across the sea that rippled below them in the sunshine.

Madelon's pose was as indolent as that of her companion, but her hands were clenched tightly in her lap and her eyes noted no vestige of blue sky or sunlit sea. They stared unseeingly ahead to a future that was dark and misshrouded.

Then, very low, she spoke. (To be continued.)

WHAT'S NEW
(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Grey and beige mixtures lead the tweeds at the English fall meetings.

Broadtail and felt is a combination on the smartest autumn hats.

London notes a vogue to couple an evening frock with a wrap of matching color in some richer and heavier material.

Replicas of tweed daytime dresses from Vionnet have yoke and sleeves of silk crepe, thereby making them cooler for indoor wear and much more comfortable beneath heavy cloth and fur coats.

At a recent London christening party on the top of this cake was placed the baby's father's skean dhu which all good Highlanders know is a trusty short knife, usually carried in the stocking.

Birmingham factories are now turning out thousands of weirdly barbaric "jewels" every week to meet the fashion set recently in Paris, and some high wooden beads suggesting the Fiji Islands, while crude lumps of yellow glass, and vividly colored rings an inch in diameter, made of composition.

The natural fruit flavor being all effective medium for "choker" necklaces shown by a manufacturer the other day.

A SPLENDID RECIPE FOR PEACH JAM

Although more preparation time is required for peaches than for strawberries, an hour will see the ripe fruit and sugar transformed into delicious jam, thin or thick, according to taste.

The natural fruit flavor being all desirable in jams for breakfast and dessert purposes, nothing but peaches and sugar are required in this recipe. Eight cups finely sliced peaches, one-half cup water, eight cups hot sugar. Cooking time, 15 to 20 minutes; yield, five or six small pots.

Sound, ripe peaches only are recommended to the home jam-maker. A little superfine jam is more praiseworthy than a quantity of so-so grade.

To sterilize the little pots, place a small box in the bottom of a large kettle and upon this set the pots. Fill the kettle with lukewarm water and slowly bring to a boil; boil gently 20 minutes.

Instead of peeling the peaches, place them in the colander and plunge it into the boiling water for a minute or more, then into cold water. Drain and slip off the skins with the knife. Pit, slice very fine and measure into the saucepan.

Add the boiling water to the peaches, cover and let cook quickly until

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

Oysters and Corn Fritters Rub through a fine sieve three-quarters of a cup of canned corn, beat one egg until light, and add to the few grains of cayenne pepper, add a scant half-cupful of flour that has been sifted with a teaspoon of baking powder—it may be necessary to add a little more flour, as it must be a thick batter so that it will retain its shape; parboil some oysters, wipe them dry, drop an oyster into the batter and cover it with the mixture; drop into deep hot shortening and fry about 5 or 6 minutes, or until a golden brown in color.

Eggs Moscowy Eggs Moscowy make a rare luncheon dish. Doesn't this sound delicious?

6 hard-cooked eggs.
1 teaspoon anchovy paste.
2 teaspoons melted butter.
1-4 teaspoon salt.
1-8 teaspoon pepper.
2 cups medium white sauce.
Brown crumbs.

Cut eggs in halves lengthwise. Remove yolks and rub through fine sieve. Mix with anchovy paste, butter, salt and pepper. Stuff egg whites with this mixture. Place in bottom of greased casserole. Cover with white sauce and sprinkle liberally with bread crumbs and Parmesan cheese. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) until top is browned.

SOME HELPFUL HINTS FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

Changing and laundering hose at frequent intervals add more to wearing qualities than most people know. Hose that is worn but one day and then laundered will last twice as long as hose worn two or three days. The reason is simple. Washing removes the dirt which causes the fibers to break. Almost all guaranteed hose is sold by the half dozen pairs. Why? Because having six pairs of hose in use means more frequent changes than having only two pairs.

The person who suffers from cold feet or excessive perspiration of the feet should wear cashmere hose. You can buy cashmere hose in various weights, from the heaviest to some as fine as silk hose, and beautifully woven.

It is a good plan to sew through a blotter, so that the blotter may absorb any surplus oil after oiling a machine. Otherwise any surplus oil may stain the next fabric placed under the machine needle.

Rub the handles of your knives with turpentine if they turn yellow, and it will make them white again.

soft—about five to eight minutes should be sufficient time. Watch that the peach mixture does not scorch. Meanwhile have the sugar in the shallow pan heating in the oven; heated sugar short-cuts the jam making period.

Stir the heated sugar into the softened peaches and bring to a boil; reduce the heat and simmer 7 to 12 minutes longer, or until the jam is of the right consistency. Taste, of course, determines the proper consistency of a jam.

Watch the thickening jam closely and stir from time to time; after eight minutes an asbestos mat underneath the saucepan reduces the scorching danger.

When the jam is cooked to a turn, pour at once into the hot sterilized pots or glasses, leaving a half-inch space for paraffin. Melt some paraffin and pour a thin over the hot jam. Set aside to become cold. Then pour more paraffin over and turn the pot or glass so that the edges are well coated. Then let cool and adjust the covers.

Daddy has a peach towel.

Bobby has a jade.
Mother's towel is turquoise.

Orchid for the maid.
Sister's towel is colored rose.

Grandma's towel is maise.
"Every one a different towel"

Is the rule these days.

And why not? We who shudder at the thought of choosing the wrong toothbrush while half awake, certainly should be deeply interested in the latest idea which calls for towels of different colors for the various members of the household—the very colors mentioned in the little rhyme, in fact.

A famous laboratory, after clinical tests, has recently announced that bacteria, deposited from one's hands to a towel, live on the towel for from 24 to 48 hours and that they definitely can be transferred from the towel to the hands of any other person who uses it.

We avoid the toothbrush, the napkin and the handkerchief of our dearest friend, yet are often far too careless when reaching for a towel. Four members of a family have four towels, the possibility of depositing transferable bacteria upon one piece of towel as has one member, so that the family towel becomes an easy medium through which a disease contracted by one may spread to several.

It has always been difficult to mark while the children were alone, towels of one color or design so that each member of the family will be sure to recognize his or hers. Today, however it is possible to secure towels of similar texture yet different colors—all over colors, from top to bottom and even on the reverse side.

Peach, jade, turquoise, orchid, rose, maise—there have to be six in the family before the colors are exhausted. If there be seven, poor dad may at least have the bath towel for himself—if he's fortunate.

TWO YOUNG CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH

Duncan, B.C., Oct. 23. — Two young children of Mr. and Mrs. Gen. E. Davis, were burned to death last Saturday at a lumber camp situated on Cowichan Lake, according to reports reaching here. The third child was rescued by its mother. It is believed the kitchen stove exploded.

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

Now you can afford to own a General Electric Refrigerator. Simply make a small initial payment and any model will be delivered to your home. Then, while you are enjoying the comfort and convenience of this distinctively electric refrigerator, you can pay for it out of income.

Among the 300,000 users of General Electric Refrigerators not one has spent a single dollar for service or repairs. This is a record in the electric refrigeration field—a record which reveals the value and satisfaction built into every unit.

Because the machinery is all on top it leaves the maximum space in the cabinet for food. There is no troublesome installation—simply plug it in to any convenient outlet.

The interior of the cabinet is always kept at the right temperature for preserving food. For regulating the speed of freezing ice cubes or frozen desserts there is an easily accessible temperature control.

Let us demonstrate the many other advantages of the General Electric Refrigerator. There is a model to suit your exact needs, and time payments to suit your purse.

Nilese Laboratories, Limited,
Toronto, Ontario.

Dear Madam:—Received your letter of March 15th, and in reply would say I am still using Nilese Tablets, and find them a great help for irregularities, as I have not used up that box you sent me yet. I have been benefited wonderfully. I have gained from one hundred and thirty-five pounds to one hundred and fifty pounds.

I take them along for my nervous system as the monthly sickness, and will recommend them to all women suffering as I do. If anyone is in doubt as to Nilese, I commend them to me. I will answer any letters.

Yours truly,

KEMAL'S REFORM STILL CONTINUES

Anyone Residing In Turkey For Six Months Must Build Roads

Angora, Turkey. (By Canadian Press.)—Mustapha Kemal, who has carried his people to dizzy heights of religious, political, social and cultural revolutions, with one of his famous rights-of-hand is bringing them down to earth, and is bidding them work the earth for a solid fifteen years to come. Everybody in Turkey who has resided in the country for six months, must do their bit in the building of a great network of roads, the project for which has just emerged full bloom from the waves of Kemalist reform.

The new road law provides for 5,000 miles of highways in Asiatic Turkey, and for the renovation of the existing 8,000 miles of state roads, most of which are little more than miserable dirt trails. Within the whole land there are at present scarcely a dozen miles of asphalt or concrete.

But the best of roads are to spread over Anatolia to the tune of $60,000,000 within the next fifteen years.

Under the new law everybody in Turkey between the ages of eighteen and sixty, except embassy and consular officials, invalids, students, soldiers and fathers of five living children, will be drafted for road service. Yearly for ten consecutive days, the Turkish equivalents of the Colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady and their respective husbands must break stones and shovel dirt, or pay an exemption tax of four dollars.

The new 5,000 miles of highways will link Angora to Constantinople by a fast speedway; Angora to Sivas, Erzerum and Kara on the Russian frontier; Angora to the Persian frontier by a branch road from Erzerum; Angora to the frontier by Iraq by a branch road from Sivas; and Angora to the Syrian frontier via Smyrna, Konya and Adana.

The $60,000,000 required for construction will be met by revenues from state metropolises on alcohol, matches and tobacco which aggregate some $15,000,000 annually. Any surpluses from the general budget of the state also goes to the road fund.

CELEBRATES 78TH BIRTHDAY
Toronto, Oct. 23.—Judge Morson of the Division Court of Ontario, today celebrated his 78th birthday. His Honor recently returned from a holiday in the Maritime Provinces.

EVIL LITERATURE BEING SUPPRESSED

Dublin, Ireland. (By Canadian Press.)—The Free State measure for checking evil literature has received the assent of the Governor-General and is now in operation.

The Bill, as introduced by the Government provoked an angry opposition from most of the Irish writers, headed by Senator W. B. Yeats, the poet, but it was freely handled both in the Dail and the Senate and now seems largely recognized as not exceeding the powers exercised in most countries.

Any citizen can complain to a board of five censors, appointed by the government, that any publication is indecent or obscene. The Minister of Justice may act on the board's recommendation or may reject it. No publication can be suppressed if two of the board object. No newspaper can be suppressed for the contents of a single issue. Only proof of habitual and continued offense will cause suppression. Medical and scientific works are protected.

The provisions against birth control propaganda are likely to be the most frequently employed, and the minister has decided to apply them even before the board is appointed. He has suppressed an English newspaper of his own motion and warned news-agents not to sell it.

Originally it was possible that a newspaper might be suppressed if it contained an advertisement of a birth control publication. But the bill was altered to prevent the punishment of a respectable paper merely on this ground.

BIBLE SELLERS' BUSINESS GOOD

Canton, China. (By Canadian Press.)—The business of selling Bibles and other Christian books in China is improving rapidly, according to a report compiled here by the British-American Bible Society. The missionaries who operate the organization are more optimistic than they have ever been and although they hardly expect to place a Bible in the hands of every Chinese their hopes are high.

This increased business in Bibles really became apparent last year, according to the report, as a result of the unification of China and the beginning of the era of reconstruction. The first six months of 1928 saw a sales increase that the missionaries considered remarkable and the second six months were even better. The first half of 1929 has proven more profitable than either period of last year.

To handle the increased business, the society maintains 35 agents in the provinces of Kwantung and Kwangsi, and they are kept busy handling orders, tracking and taking in orders. Strange to say they encounter little difficulty with the various types of religious fanatics in the provinces. In fact, they are so busy that they are apparently anxious to learn something about the religion of the west, even if there is no intention of embracing it.

A few weeks ago two field agents ran into a group of radical students who threatened the dispensers of Christian literature. The salesmen took to their heels. They ran, however, to the magistrate of the district. He purchased a set of Gospels for his own use and then called a mass meeting and introduced the agents to the community. The report states that business at this meeting was exceptionally brisk.

Doubled Protection / When You Need it Most

AN innovation by The London Life solves the problem of insurance protection for the type of man who formerly could afford to buy only part of the insurance he needed.

The New Enhanced Protection Policy provides double the amount of insurance through the years when the need for protection is greatest.

Additional insurance equal to the face amount of the original policy is granted by means of a special dividend option, whereby a portion of the dividend is used for this purpose: In later life the additional insurance gradually decreases until at age 65, when family responsibilities have lessened, it terminates, leaving the original policy as provision for one's own later years—thus serving the great two-fold purpose of insurance, protection of home and provision for self.

The New Enhanced Protection Series embraces four main plans carrying all modern privileges in addition to the Double Protection feature.

Be sure to ask one of our representatives for particulars fitting your individual case.

FRENCH SWAINS HAVE VEXATIONS

Royalist - Roman Catholics Have Trouble With Church

Paris, France. (By Canadian Press.)—French swains and sweethearts who happen to be born royalists and Roman Catholics have their troubles these democratic days when they want to marry. It is not the republic that stands in the way; it is the church. In many dioceses they are not permitted to wed in front of the altar. The carryings on of the royalists with tongue and pen and occasionally more solid weapons began to provoke frowns on more than one episcopal brow several years ago. Early in 1927 the "Action Française" daily organ of the royalist movement, was placed on the Vatican's Index. Later, a number of French bishops signed a proclamation denouncing the movement and calling upon the royalists to give up their allegiance to the "Action Française" under pain of being denied the sacraments.

The dead were the first to whom the ban was applied, or, at least, the first to attract attention. Soon after the pronouncement of the bishops, several Catholics who were members of the "Action Française" passed on to the Kingdom that is not of this world. Their funerals were denied entry to the churches in which they had been wont to attend mass.

In some cases priests conducted the services at the cemetery; in others the families and friends contented themselves with lay services in front of the closed doors of the church, and at the burial ground. This sort of thing is still a frequent occurrence. Love, too, has found a way. Every now and then the "Action Française" prints an ac-

FASHION REIGNS SUPREME AGAIN

Paris, France. (By Canadian Press.)—Paris night clubs and smart restaurants just now are thronged with fashionably dressed visitors and the nightly display of dazzling gowns and expensive jewels is so lavish that the Paris newspapers write enthusiastically of "the return of pre-war elegance."

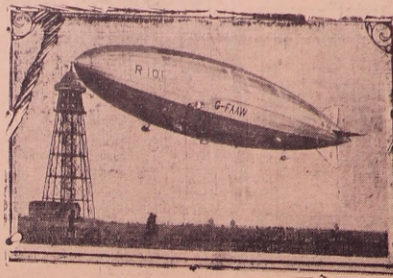

With the increasing popularity of longer skirts and dresses vividly decorative below the hip-line, bracelets and necklaces are in more general use. For dinner-party occasions, especially there is a demand for the brilliance of diamonds and emeralds.

Jewelry is no longer stereotyped. So great is the variety in design that every well-dressed woman seems to have found ornaments that suit her specially.

An attractive treatment of small pearls, in the most distinctive ring, was seen recently at one of the exclusive restaurants. The pearls, graduated in size, were set in a row, flanked on each side by a row of graduated diamonds. The ring was continued at the back in a narrow flat band of platinum.

Another ring, seen on the same occasion, was worn by a woman gowned in deep red. Her ring of dark red coral, in two sections, curved in a butterfly design. Between the two coral wings a thin line of eight medium-sized diamonds reached from knuckle to joint.

Older women are wearing diamond point of those who have most recently succeeded in marrying while remaining true both to their Church and the movement to restore the throne.

In many cases the engaged pair turned away from the portals of the church, are allowed in through the back door and married in the sacristy. But just as often they are wed only "in nigris" in the bride's home. Oftentimes if the bride of her chosen man be of prominence, the Duc de Guise, pretender to the throne of France, "graciously deigns to have himself represented at the marriage," usually by Monsieur le Marquis de X. or Monsieur le Comte de Y.

Even if he lived in France, the Duc would be prevented by the protocol from attending the marriage of commoners. But he is not in France, and is not likely to be, for pretenders to the throne are compelled by the republic to stay in exile. The Duc de Guise lives in Belgium and sometimes breaks bread and clinks glasses with Albert in Brussels.

FERGUSON'S THROAT RAPIDLY IMPROVING

BIG MASS MEETING CITY HALL TONIGHT

Hear Mrs. Lougheed, Col. McKay, and W. H. Ireland, the Candidate

LEADING FIGURES TO ADDRESS BIG RALLY TONIGHT

Col. J. Keiller McKay And Mrs. Laura Lougheed Chief Speakers EXPECT BIG CROWD
Conservatives Will Hear Platform Planks Explained By W. H. Ireland

Col. J. Keiller McKay, prominent Toronto barrister, and Mrs. Laura Lougheed, also of Toronto will be the chief speakers at the huge Conservative Rally which is being held in the City Hall tonight at eight o'clock. Everyone is invited to attend to hear the record of the Ferguson Administration, as expounded by those interested in the candidature of William H. Ireland, who has represented this riding for some time in the Provincial House.

Col. McKay is a forceful speaker, and one well worth listening to. He will be remembered in this vicinity as the Special Crown Prosecutor in a prominent case at Etobicoke two years ago. In addition to his legal duties, he is an officer in the Canadian Legion, and is interested in the Great War Veterans of Canada. Less is known regarding Mrs. Lougheed, but there is little doubt that her address will prove interesting and helpful and the women especially will appreciate having a lady of Mrs. Lougheed's ability explain the issues to them.

There is every likelihood that the City Hall will be filled to overflowing, and many prominent local Conservatives will be present to lend their moral support to the candidature of Mr. Ireland, who has so faithfully served the people of West Hastings in past years.

SERIOUSLY HURT IN FALL FROM MOTOR VEHICLE

Seven-Year-Old James Baptiste Suffered Fractured Skull

Seven-year-old James Baptiste, an Indian boy is suffering from a fractured skull as a result of falling off a truck which he was riding. The lad was on his way home, in St. Lawrence from school, when he accepted a ride. It is thought that when he was reaching his destination his foot slipped or else he jumped off prematurely. The truck was travelling at the rate of between thirty and thirty-five miles an hour when he fell to the roadway.

A doctor was called and he was removed to Belleville, where an X-ray was taken of his skull. A fracture at the base of the skull was shown. Dr. J. Robertson operated on the lad last night. This morning the report was that the youngster was much better.

LIBERAL LEADER TO SPEAK HERE

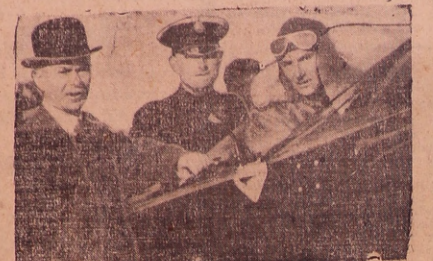

Party Will Hold Big Mass Meeting Next Monday Night

W. E. N. Sinclair, leader of the Liberal party, will speak at Belleville on Monday evening.

A mass meeting will be held at the City Hall, Charles Hanna, ex-M.P., will preside and in addition to Mr. Sinclair, Dr. Hall, of Toronto, who spoke at the nomination meeting, will also speak and several other speakers will address the meeting.

Special arrangements will be made giving Belleville an old-time political rally. The A. I. Band will be on hand to welcome Mr. Sinclair and preceding the meeting there will be a parade through the city.

RALLY FEATURES TODAY'S TRADING

Settled Conditions Are Reported On Wall Street Following Panic

New York, Oct. 25.—Powerful support was thrown into the stock market today and prices developed considerable stability, despite an enormous volume of trading again severely taxing the trading capacity, and delaying the ticker more than an hour. Trading, however, failed to approximate the fervid pace of yesterday's near-panic conditions, which resulted in the staggering record volume of nearly 13,000,000 shares.

The market opened calmly and moved substantially higher, but considerable selling pressure appeared before mid-day. Huge buying orders were thrown into the market and the decline was checked early this afternoon when a few leading shares had sold off one to four points. In the early upturn more than a score of issues gained from five to nearly 20 points.

FINE PROGRAM AT CIACO CLUB

Methods of Preventing Accidents Shown In Illustrated Form

Last night the Ciaco Club held a successful social evening in their spacious new cafeteria. The evening was a great success and the programme entertaining. Perhaps the most interesting event was the lecture on "Prevention of Accidents" given by Mr. Sutherland. He illustrated in a graphic manner the dire results of carelessness and urged every one to co-operate in prevention work. Mr. Sutherland was brought here under the auspices of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association. Moving pictures were used in this connection, and proved most interesting.

Christ Church Sunday School orchestra gave some splendid selections. Those taking part were Leo Lennox, Ray Lennox, Jimmy Follwell and Paul MacMullen. Mr. Harry Winters favoured the audience with a humorous song. Jimmy Butler and Harold Houshield, who were accompanied by Mr. Leo Riggs, Miss Anne Lafferty, in a reading entitled "Jewish Wedding Party" scored a decided success. Moving pictures of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol plant were flashed on the screen at the conclusion of the program.

SPECTATORS MARVELLED AT BRUTE STRENGTH OF "TERRIBLE TURK"

"All" Hassan astounded people in Walker's Hardware Store yesterday afternoon when he snapped a chain in two with his bare hands.

All Hassan is a Turkish Strong Man, who was in the city yesterday afternoon in a private wrestling bout. Prior to the bout he and his manager made a trip to the hardware store to procure a stout chain which he wanted to use in his exhibition of strength. The attendant in the store brought a chain which was too long. He told All to

ADVANCE POLL

Twenty-four Votes Were Cast Yesterday—Closes Tomorrow

Twenty-four votes were cast at the Advance Poll yesterday, which closes tomorrow at six o'clock. The advance poll serves chiefly railwaymen and many, no doubt, who will not be able to vote on October 30th will take advantage of it. The poll is situated at the home of W. Arthur, on Station Street, and is in charge of Deputy Returning Officer, Charles Tebowth.

NEW EQUIPMENT FOR BELLEVILLE FIRE FIGHTERS

Mayor Greenleaf Completes Plans For Visit of Vice-Regal Party

New equipment for the Fire Department will be purchased by the City according to a recommendation passed in Committee by the City Council last night. The equipment includes 19 new rubber hose, a first aid kit, two smoke and gas masks, four tires and tubes, one cellar nozzle, and repairs will be made to the fire alarm call by Jack Robin, provided the fire is guaranteed for a year. The Fire Department will have about three hundred dollars worth of new equipment.

The Council also recommended that the City Treasurer and the Chairman of the Executive Committee make arrangements with the Bank of Montreal for a credit of $90,000 to be used for the cost of pavement construction and $100,000 to cover the cost of sewer construction until such time as assessments are made and debentures sold for the above.

One hundred and twenty-eight dollars which was charged to the Parks Department for cleaning up the streets of trees which fell during a severe storm last spring was recommended as being credited back to the Parks Department and charged to the Public Works Department.

Mayor Greenleaf is busy making final arrangements for the visit of His Excellency, the Governor-General, Viscount Willington and Lady Willington, who will officially visit Belleville on October 30th. The vice-regal party will arrive in Belleville, by special train about ten o'clock and will leave again at noon. In the two-hour interval, the new Colliette will be visited as well as the Ontario School for the Deaf, and the City Council will have a body will act as host to the party.

PARTY LEADERS DEFY ELEMENTS

Election Campaign At Peak As Day For Voting Approaches

UNFAIR TACTICS
Premier Ferguson Resumes Tour Tonight Following Illness

Toronto, Oct. 25 (C.P.)—Through the rain, and in some cases the snow of the storm-swept country, political leaders and candidates are carrying their election pleas to voters of the province. The fierce oratorical bombardment which has reached a peak in the closing days of the provincial campaign will be continued today. The eyes of campaigners are on the calendar as they rally their adherents for the final test at the polls October 30. With the campaign in its most critical stages, the charges are bringing prompt and heated denials and there is a warmth in the campaign that has been lacking up to now.

Last night W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, paying a hurried visit to his own constituency of Ontario, charged his opponents with unfair tactics in their campaign against him. He had never had a licence permit and he relied upon his friends in his home riding to defend him against the "whippers" against his private life. He said, in warmly branding as false the various reports he had heard had been circulated, "Today the Liberal leader will carry the fight into North Simcoe where Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, is seeking re-election."

THOMAS CORBETT DIED IN WEST

Was Formerly Connected With Old Grand Trunk Railway Here

Thomas Corbett, formerly of this city, died in Calgary yesterday according to word received in this city today. He was fifty-two years of age, was born on Charles Street in this city, but went west in 1900. Before leaving Belleville he was employed by the Grand Trunk Railway, but had been a conductor on the C. P. R. in the West for the past twenty years.

Mr. Corbett leaves to mourn his loss beside his widow, four sisters and one brother, Mrs. J. A. Mills, Foster Ave., Belleville, Miss Jennie Corbett, Hamilton; Mrs. E. Loos, Hamilton; Mrs. (Rev.) John Galloway, Mimico, and W. J. Corbett, of Cobourg. William J. Mills and Harry Mills, of this city, are nephews. Mr. Corbett was a prominent swimmer and diver while in Belleville, and will be remembered by many citizens. He was a member of the Elks.

TWEED MAY BUY HYDRO SYSTEM

J. O. Herity And Ald. Geo. A. Reid Were The Chief Speakers

Residents of Tweed and the members of the Village Council, met in the Town Hall on Wednesday night for discussion of the problem of purchasing the Hydro Electric local distributing system.

Reeve S. B. Rollins presided over the meeting as chairman. Outside speakers were on hand to address the meeting. Mr. J. O. Herity and Alderman G. A. Reid, of Belleville, were the chief speakers. Mr. S. B. Herity, of the engineering staff for the Hydro Electric Power Commission for Ontario, was also present.

A discussion took place between the residents of Tweed and the members of the Village Council, all of whom were present. The sentiment of the meeting seemed very strongly disposed towards the purchase of the utility towards the government. It is very probable that a vote will be taken in January during the municipal elections.

TWO MILLION LOSS IN DISASTROUS BLAZE

Hollywood, Calif., (Canadian Press) October 25.—Losses incidental to the destruction of the laboratory here, of the Consolidated Film Industries were tentatively fixed today at less than two million dollars as the result of the discovery that several of the valuable screen productions stored in a building were not damaged. One man was killed and another seriously injured when the explosion and a fire wrecked the building.

BABY FACE KILLER SENTENCED TO DIE

Chicago, Oct. 25 (C.P.)—Wesley Doodly, called the "Baby Face Killer" was found guilty today of the murder of Charles Levi Chief of Police of Berwyn and sentenced to die in the electric chair. Jury was out two hours.

British Labor member who delivered an inspiring address at the Women's Canadian Club meeting here last night.

LOCAL TRADERS ESCAPE HEAVY FINANCIAL LOSS

Market Break Felt Locally Only In Small Way

Echoes of Wall Street's colossal collapse of yesterday were heard in Belleville, but in the consensus of opinion of those "in the know" local speculators, by no means suffered extreme losses which traders in the New York market experienced. No one was "sold out" or "wiped out" according to local brokers, and although there were severe losses sustained, the selling panic which swept over the New York market was not by any means participated in here.

Few Mining Issues Break
Local speculators on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange found that only two issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange suffered great depreciation. Nickel, Noranda and Hudson Bay were the chief of these and according to Mr. Jamieson Bone, manager of Homer Gibson Company, margin holders of these stocks for the most part were "covered up" and proceeded to buy more stock confident that the drastic break was but a temporary one. And it developed their confidence in that Canadian mines listed in New York, was justified, for today prices have again swung upward, and the great part of losses sustained in these issues, have been recovered.

Mr. Gordon Osborne, manager of Mowat and McGillivray's, found that clients of their firm felt much the same way regarding the above issues in the mines list. There were plenty of margin calls sent out, but these were responded to and no one was sold out, considerable buying appearing in the afternoon.

Industrial Speculators
Mr. A. H. Ketcheson, manager of the local office of Denman & Company, explained the situation clearly as far as local traders were concerned in the industrial markets. Mr. Ketcheson was of the opinion that very few people in Belleville trade on the New York market.

"True, the Toronto and Montreal exchanges were hard hit, but the recovery came very quickly and was substantial so that in the majority of cases there were no great losses after the day's trading." For instance, Brazilian opened at 61 yesterday morning; low 57 1/2, was in no way affected by the large losses in many of the American issues. Walker's closed at 12 1/2 sold down to 10 and closed at 11—not a bad day under the circumstances. Again, Canadian Industrial Alcohol, an other popular Canadian issue, opened the day at 13, dropped to a low of 9 and closed at 10 1/2, an excellent recovery which it is holding today."

Margin Buying
Mr. Ketcheson pointed out that his firm did not advise margin buying, which undoubtedly proved the downfall of thousands in the crash yesterday. Denman & Company, for example require a 50 percent margin on stocks selling over $10; nothing less may be margin. On the New York Exchange marginal requirements run anywhere from 25 percent to 35 percent of the value of the issues. On the Standard Exchange, stocks selling over forty cents may be held on one-third margin with the majority of brokerage houses

FLOATING BODIES TELL MUTE TALE OF TERRIBLE TRAGEDY OF LAKES

NO TRACE OF FLIER
Lone Aviator Joins Roll of Missing Ocean Adventurers

New York, Oct. 25.—The name of Urban F. Dittman Jr., was generally believed today to have been added to the roll of those who tried to fly across the Atlantic and failed. Unsighted and unheard of since he headed his Midget monoplane, Golden Hind, out to sea Tuesday from Harbor Grace, Nfld., all but the most hopeful were convinced that the lone aviator's venture project had ended with a forced landing in stormy seas.

CREWS IN DANGER

Gale Which Swept Lake Region Takes Toll of Lives

Milwaukee, Wis., (Canadian Press), October 25.—A dozen bodies, today, marked the resting place of a Lake Michigan steamer—and revealed the tale of her crew of 64.

Each encased in a lifebelt, they floated among the wreckage from their ill-fated ship, the Grand Trunk cat ferry "Milwaukee" on the lake, 16 miles southeast of Kenosha, Wis.

Half a dozen bodies were detailed to clean up the scene and complete the work of salvage today.

Seven Bodies Recovered
Last night, searchers recovered seven bodies and bits of wreckage which told how the "Milwaukee" plunged to the bottom where she was unable to break the battering waves of Tuesday night's storm and make port at her destination, Grand Haven.

The body of Captain F. known as Capt. Robert "Badweather" McKay, of Grand Haven, was the first to be identified.

It is thought the weight of the cars likely centred on one side of the ferry tipping just as she was caught in a trough of waves. Once on her beam end, with the water pouring in through her opening where the cars are loaded, she would have gone down like a stone.

Steamer Books
Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., (Canadian Press), October 25.—Two tugs, the "Whalen" and "Strathgibbon" of Port Arthur are today standing by the steamer "Chicago" of the Great Lakes Transportation Company of Buffalo, which went on the rocks on the west end of Michipicoten Island during the gale of Tuesday. The vessel left Duluth Monday, got off her course after being buffeted by the gale and the huge waves, and crashed on the Island at the Point, which has not yet been exactly determined. Late last night it was reported that the crew had been taken off, but this is not substantiated by the meagre information reaching here this morning. The vessel is reported to be in bad shape.

ONTARIO TOWN SUFFERED FROM DISASTROUS FIRE

Owen Sound Fire Department Called Out To Fight Blaze

Owen Sound, Oct. 25 (C.P.)—Damage estimated at $200,000 was done by a fire that broke out in the main section of the town of Durham this morning. Six stores, the Bank of Commerce and the Bell Telephone office and a number of dwellings were destroyed.

The fire broke out at midnight in the feed and grocery store of W. V. Bollett, in McIntyre block, one of the town's principal structures. It spread to the Bank of Commerce and the Bell Telephone offices in same building, to Miss Traux's Millinery store then around the corner to Main Street, to the Imperial Daughters of Empire rooms and to the Bank of Commerce. PROGRESSING FAVORABLY

R. A. Hamilton, of Toronto, who was injured on the 18th of October in a highway accident, is making rapid progress toward recovery in the Belleville Hospital, according to the physician. Mr. Hamilton is representing a prominent Toronto investment house, and was formerly the manager of the Bank of Commerce at Bloomfield. The accident occurred, according to the injured man, when he reached into his club bag for an apple, and the car plunged into the ditch. His injuries were quite serious, consisting of eight broken ribs and a broken arm. Dr. Cronk is attending him.

GAVE ADDRESS AT TWEED

George A. Reid, wife of Ald. Reid, of this city, last night addressed a meeting of the Women's Missionary Society in St. Andrew's Church at Tweed in connection with the annual Trunk Offering meeting. A fine turnout greeted the speaker, who gave a fine address on Mission Work. Following the meeting a delightful half hour was spent and refreshments were served.

SUCCESSFUL EUCHE

A successful euche was held last night by the Woodmen of the World at their hall on Front St. An enjoyable evening was spent and refreshments served at the conclusion of cards. The prize winners were: Ladies: 1st Mrs. Ethier; 2nd Mrs. Jack Pannan; consolation Mrs. A. Palmer. Gentlemen: 1st Mr. H. Price; 2nd Mr. J. Clarke; consolation Mr. T. Wells. The special lunch prizes were won by Mrs. J. Hanna and Mr. W. Gray.

DANCE AT POINT ANNE

Point Anne held a euche and dance in the club rooms last night. Cards were played from eight until the ten o'clock hour, with many fine prizes being distributed to the winners. At ten o'clock the orchestra played for the dance. An enjoyable time was had by all who liked the indoor pastime. At one thirty the evening broke up. Many from Belleville were at the euche and dance.

DAMAGES SETTLED

Mr. W. C. Springer, of this city, had the rear left fender and runningboard of his car considerably damaged last evening about seven-fifteen o'clock, when a truck driven by Tony Valhanga, of Port Hope, backed out from where it was parked at the east end of the lower bridge just as the Springer car was passing. It is understood that the damages were settled amicably.

RADIO SHOP ENTERED

Word was received by City Police, early this morning, that a radio store in Port Hope had been broken into sometime during the night, and a Stumberg-Carlson radio, as well as three Rogers radios, had been stolen. No description of the men who entered the break-in was given.

SCHOOL INSPECTED

Belleville Collegiate evening Vocational classes have already been inspected by the provincial department at Toronto. The commercial aspect of the work now comes under the survey of Mr. L. S. Beattie who in recent years was principal of Napanee Collegiate and Vocational School.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

JOHN W. FITCHETT

John Wesley Fitchett, 77, last night at his late age of seventy-seven years. The deceased was a retired farmer and had been living at 38 Hillside St. for the last five years. He was born in the township of Huntingdon, on February 19th, 1852, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Fitchett. He was a member of the Standard Church. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow and three daughters: Mrs. John West, of St. Joe, Mass.; Mrs. Laura Sylvester, of Detroit; and Mrs. Anna Nichols, of Philadelphia. There are two sons: Woodley, of Des Moines, Iowa, and John, of Philadelphia. Mrs. William Post, of Canfield, and Mrs. Thomas Rollins, of Belleville, are two sisters surviving him. Four brothers also survive being Nelson, of Brighton, Franklin, of Redlin; Edmund, of Tweed; and Robert W. E. L. MOONEY

Kingston, Oct. 25.—The funeral of Edwin I. Mooney, whose death occurred on Saturday night last as the result of injuries received when a Packard car crashed into his car at the corner of Albert and Earl Streets on the night of Monday, October 14th, was held on Tuesday afternoon from the residence of his father-in-law, William McCartney, 315 Earl Street, to Cataract cemetery. The funeral was under the Masonic Order and was very largely attended. Representatives of the Bell Telephone Company, of which the organization the deceased was a member, were present at the funeral as were also many of the Masonic Order and personal friends of the late Mr. Mooney, who was held in very high regard by those who knew him.

The funeral service was held at three o'clock at the home by Rev. Dr. W. T. G. Brown, of Sydenham United Church, and Rev. Bell, of Belleville. The pall-bearers were as follows: Jack Drew, Edward Hartwick and George Van Horne of Kingston and Mr. Ray side, of Bell Telephone Company, Montreal.

JAMES MILNE
James Milne, a resident of Coe Hill died in the Belleville General Hospital yesterday morning after a prolonged illness of one year. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow and daughter both residing at Coe Hill. The remains were forwarded from Tickle and Brown Funeral Home to Coe Hill this morning on the 11:40 train. Interment, family plot, Coe Hill Cemetery.

The bride and groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Farney, of Belleville. The bride looked charming in a suit of sand wool chambraine trimmed with brown, with hat, shoes and gloves to match, and a grey squirrel neck piece. After the ceremony a sumptuous dinner was served at the bride's home, Mrs. Kenneth Farney. The happy couple accompanied by his parents, left for Windsor and Detroit by motor.

IN MEMORIAM

THOMPSON—In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Margaret Ann Thompson, who crossed the great divide, Oct. 25th, 1927. "Gently laid away but not forgotten."

The month of October again is here; To us the saddest of all the year. For our dear Mother was called away: Just two years ago today.

There are griefs that cannot find comfort. Wounds that cannot be healed. There are sorrows so great in the heart. That cannot be half wealed.

Sadly we miss you, Mother, but try not to grieve; A little while longer and we all must leave. To meet you we loved, on that beautiful shore. Where partings unknown and life's evermore.

Three little words, forget-me-not. They don't seem much, but mean a lot. Just a memory fond and true. To show dear Mother, we think of you. Lovingly Remembered by Husband and family.

NAMED HEAD OF
S. S. ASSOCIATIONAnnual Meetings of Tweed-Hungerford Body Held
At Thomasburg

The Annual Convention of the Tweed and Hungerford Association was held in the United Church, Thomasburg on Oct. 10th, afternoon and evening with a good representation from the various Sunday Schools. In the absence of the Secretary, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. W. H. Chisholm was nominated Secretary for the Convention.

The afternoon session opened by singing hymn "A Better Day is Coming" after which Rev. Mr. Cooke led in the Devotional Exercises.

The meeting was then left in the hands of the President, Mr. H. S. Tucker, who ably conducted both sessions. The President's address was a few well chosen words, voicing his interest in the welfare of the Sunday School. Reports were then given from the different Sunday School Departments.

(I) Children's Work—by Rev. Mr.

Cooke in the absence of Mrs. L. Elliott.

(II) Girls' Work—By Mrs. Ed. Carter.

(III) Adult Div.—By Rev. Mr. Platt, six schools in this division, two adult classes in one school, Tweed United Church having this honour.

(IV) Home Dept.—By Mrs. W. H. Richardson. Only one Home Dept. in Tweed with 22 members.

(V) Teachers' Training Dept.—By Rev. Mr. Cooke. No classes carried on. Tweed organized a leadership training school with an attendance of twelve.

(VI) Missionary Dept.—By Rev. Mr. Cooke in the absence of Mrs. W. H. Craig.

(VII) Temperance—By Mr. W. H. Sayers. Different schools were teaching temperance in individual classes. Most of the schools are endeavouring a measure up to the standard of excellence.

Report of last year's convention was then read. The offering for the afternoon amounted to $2.37. It was moved and seconded that the nominating committee consist of the president, Dept. Superintendents, Superintendent of schools, pastors and the representative, Rev. Mr. Gardener.

The main feature of the afternoon session was the address by the Representative. This address was very interesting and thoroughly enjoyed by all. Helpful suggestions were given for the Sunday schools to carry on successfully. "We want to impress on the boys and girls that training in Sunday Schools is just as essential as day school work."

Then followed the Round Table Conference many S. S. problems being dealt with. This brought the afternoon session to a close. Supper was then served by the Thomasburg Ladies.

The evening session opened with a song service led by Thomasburg choir. Devotional Exercises were in charge of Rev. Mr. Platt. The report of the nominating committee was as follows: President, Mr. H. S. Tucker; Vice-President, Mr. W. H. Sayers; Sec. Treas., Mrs. W. H. Chisholm; Children's Work, Mrs. L. Elliott; Boys' Work, Mr. L. Newton; Girls' Work, Mrs. Ed. Carter; Adult Div., Rev. Mr. Platt; Home Div., Mrs. H. Blakely; Teachers' Training, Rev. Mr. Cooke; Missionary, Mrs. W. H. Craig; Temperance, Mr. W. H. Sayers.

Report was read and adopted. The officers were called and Rev. Mr. Gardener performed the Installation ceremony.

Mr. T. F. Hulin, County President of Stirling, gave a very instructive address on "The Advancement of all Sunday Schools." It is only with the help of each school that the advancement and co-operation of each superintendent and officer that each Sunday School may come up to the Standard," he said.

Collection amounted to $5.45. During the evening Thomasburg choir rendered several musical numbers, which were very much appreciated and which gave much spiritual force to the convention.

Mr. Arthur Kerr, Secretary of the Boys' Parliament, gave a very interesting talk on Boy's Work. Training the boys and girls as leaders. He dwelt on the sterling characteristics developed in the teen age boy and girl by following the courses to be taken by the Tuxis boys and Trail Rangers, and the Canadian Girls in Training.

In the representative address, Rev. Mr. Gardener stressed that much interest should be taken in the young people of today. We showed the lack of interest of the parents in Sunday School work. He emphasized the importance of the Home Training and the mothers' part in the Home study. Many who had enjoyed the Teachers' Training Class felt that in so doing they could be of better service to others. The ideal teacher should be consecrated, must be able to look at things through the eyes of a child and must be trained in the truths of the Bible. The following resolutions were passed:

(I) Resolved that a vote of thanks be tendered to the trustees of Thomasburg United Church for use of the Church edifice.

(II) To Thomasburg Ladies for their kind hospitality in providing such a fine supper.

(III) To all the speakers for their interesting and instructive address.

(IV) To the choir for the special music they provided.

Mr. W. H. Sayers, on behalf of Tweed extended an invitation for the convention to be held in Tweed United

In Quarry

Pictou, Oct. 24.—While working in the town quarry for the Raynor Construction Co. who are laying some permanent road in the county, Richard Coulter of Glenora, was struck in the face by a rock which fell from the crusher. He was rendered unconscious and did not regain consciousness for nearly twenty-four hours. He suffered a bad gash just below the eye. He is now at his home in Glenora.

Prince Edward County will in all probability be represented at the Royal Winter Fair in the Provincial Horse Show Pitching Competition by Mr. A. W. Morden & Son, Norman Morden, of Christian Street.

Church in 1930, which was unanimously accepted.

Convention closed by singing hymn 117, followed by Benediction by Rev. Mr. Platt.

As a team these two men won first prize at Pictou Fair and at the Provincial Plowing Match at Kingston, last week, were runners-up. They received silver medals.

Shortage of Milk

Cherry Valley Cheese Factory has closed for the season owing to shortage of milk. This factory usually continues operations until December at least. Other factories will close in the near future. Several are now operating every other day. The season has been unusually poor owing to shortage of pasture due to the continued drought. Farmers who have milk find an outlet for it at the Wellington Condensery or separate it and sell the cream.

Ship Cattle to U. S. A.

Fifteen head of cattle were shipped from Prince Edward County recently. They were purchased by R. F. Mow-berry and Sons, of Strasburg, Pa. These same men also purchased eleven head from Bill Murphy, the well-known Lindsay Holstein breeder. Mr. Mowberry states that in his county (Lancaster) tobacco is the chief crop and this year it will return growers from $300 to $400 per acre.

Garage Is Sold

Pictou Garage, owned by P. A. Van derwater & Son, has been sold to Charles Kemaley, of Timmons, Ont., who takes over the business about November 15. Pictou Garage is one of the pioneer garages in Pictou.

The Canadian Legion is making plans for their annual Armistice Dinner on Monday, November 11th and are asking all ex-service men of the county to report to Major E. A. Adams.

Liquor Control Proves Its Superiority Over the O.T.A.

An Authoritative statement by Col. the Hon. W. H. Price, K.C., Attorney-General whose department is responsible for the administration of the Liquor Control Act

The Ontario Temperance Act

I think everyone in the Province will agree that the Ontario Temperance Act came into force under the very best auspices and conditions. The citizens of this Province, engaged in the deadly struggle of the Great War, were bending all their energies towards improvement of conditions at home, so that they could put a united front to the enemy in Europe. It became a really moral issue with them then; they wanted to conserve their strength and their power; their own appetites were subdued with that in view.

There had been a steady improvement in 1914 and in 1915 and this improvement continued after the O.T.A. came in until 1919. Gradually, however, the appetites of the people began to reassert themselves and the O.T.A. ceased to be as effective, until, in 1926, something over ten years after it came into force, the people by their own votes superseded it and gave the Ferguson administration a mandate to put in a Liquor Control Act.

The Liquor Control Act

After at least seven or eight years of gradual reaction, conditions throughout the Province were deplorable; the general law itself was often held in contempt; vast numbers of people seemed to pride themselves in breaking the O.T.A.; they resented the restraint of prohibition, the "spotting" and all the other evils of this quasi prohibition measure.

I do not think that any one will disagree with me when I say this was the condition that the Liquor Control Act had to remedy in 1927. It had not the privilege of coming in during the Great War, when the people were spiritually minded, rather did it have its existence at a time when there was great resentment against regulation after regulation. And I say to the people of this Province the Liquor Control Act has a big job on its hands; it must not only improve normal conditions but it must improve abnormal conditions; conditions caused by the very law supported by the Prohibitionists of the Province. The people themselves, therefore, must have an opportunity to get back to a proper frame of mind.

As far as general law enforcement is concerned, conditions are very much better. The Liquor Control Act is meeting with reasonable success; it is an improvement on the O.T.A.; it is creating a better foundation for law observance than before; there is less unrest and less disposition to resent the enforcement of our laws. This is gradually giving the Government an opportunity to improve law enforcement and to make it more effective, but it will take time. What the O.T.A. failed to do in ten years, beginning under better auspices, cannot be expected of the Liquor Control Act in two years.

Statistics

I have been very much amused at the way the Prohibition Press of the country are quoting statistics on accidents, drunks and other things.

It is amazing that, while they ask everyone else to be accurate, honest and above-board, their anxiety to prove that prohibition is better than Liquor Control leads them to forget the essential factors that obtain when figures are advanced to prove anything. You would think that the Province of Ontario was standing still; that there has been no increase in population; that there were the same number of motor cars travelling on the highways; that no more tourists visited this country; that there was no more mileage in roads. I believe that the average man favouring any project wants to be honest. If that is so, then he should not be carried away by figures unless he puts them in the proper perspective.

With the idea of clarifying this whole matter and giving relative facts to the public, I am submitting statements dealing with—

- (1) The population increase in Ontario.
- (2) Domestic motor vehicles increase.
- (3) Foreign motor vehicles increase.
- (4) Gasoline sales in Ontario for automotive purposes.
- (5) Provincial metalled roads increase.

And I am asking the people of this Province, when they consider the extent of crime, or the number of arrests for drunkenness, to take into consideration these other factors which really control these figures and can work out for himself just the exact situation. If he does he will find that, considering all the facts, there has been an improvement over the O.T.A. in the first two years of the Liquor Control Act.

Automobile Fatalities Decrease

The question of automobile fatalities has engaged the attention of the Ontario Society League. If you will read its Annual Report for 1928, you will find on page 4 a statement giving the accident records for the City of Toronto for sixteen years—1913 to 1928, which is as follows:

FATALITIES PER THOUSAND AUTOMOTIVE VEHICLES
1913	6.0	1919	1.7	1925	0.5
1914	5.0	1920	1.9	1926	0.5
1915	4.3	1921	1.1	1927	0.3
1916	4.3	1922	1.3	1928	0.2
1917	4.3	1923	0.9
1918	1.6	1924	0.6

Putting this in another way, it means that in 1913 there was one fatality for every 167 cars licensed, whereas by 1928 the ratio had dropped to one fatality for every 1,429 cars. Had the ratio of fatalities for 1913 been continued, we would have had the following:

(Estimated)		(Actual)
1914	37.8	1914	21
1915	50.4	1915	11
1916	81.1	1916	11
1917	118.2	1917	26
1918	135.6	1918	37
1919	171.6	1919	49
1920	208.3	1920	67
1921	244.8	1921	48
1922	287.5	1922	56
1923	342.6	1923	54
1924	365.1	1924	48
1925	405.1	1925	41
1926	451.7	1926	41
1927	524.7	1927	21
1928	584.8	1928	16
TOTAL	3,900	TOTAL	654

I think the general public will be surprised when they read this statement. It shows an actual improvement over most of the O.T.A. years except 1924, 1925 and 1926, when the O.T.A. was under the administration of the Ferguson Government; they were the worst years. Considering the tremendous increase in foreign motor cars, to have kept this in 1928 to 0.7 is a very wonderful achievement.

Motor Accident Record—All Ontario

The Toronto Globe in its issue of Sept. 21st, 1929, offers a criticism of the Liquor Control Act. It quotes the motor car accident record as follows:

No. of Motor Licenses		Percentage of Accidents
1928	5,397	1928	5,397
1925	3,912	1925	3,912

Insurance journals say, and there is quite a lot of truth in it, that accidents generally are in proportion to the number of motor cars operating on the highways and the number of miles of highways and the population of the country. Let us just take it for a moment on the increase in motor cars and see what the percentage of accidents is to licenses.

Let us compare the same years taking into consideration also the foreign motor cars operating on our highways. The tremendous increase in the number of these cars must have some effect on accidents; even if the foreign car is not in an accident itself, it congests the highway and affects the traffic of our own domestic cars. Here are the official figures applied to these two years—

VDAR Licenses		Licenses		Total No. of Accidents		Percentage to Licenses
1928	343,909	1,521,277	1,865,186	3,912	1/5 of 1 percent
1925	489,673	2,762,162	3,251,835	3,912	1/6 of 1 percent

You will see, therefore, that when you take foreign motor cars in, the percentage of accidents to cars on the highways drops from 1/5 of 1 per cent to less than 1/6 of 1 per cent.

Road Mileage

There has been a steady increase in road mileage in the Province of Ontario, which the following tabulation shows—

	Total Provincial Highway Mileage	Total Pavement Mileage
YEAR
1920	1,587.79	154.00
1921	1,742.16	367.20
1922	1,813.20	568.21
1923	1,824.073	715.55
1924	1,826.193	850.50
1925	1,861.30	1,097.66
1926	1,855.91	1,238.12
1927	1,871.20	1,476.22
1928	2,403.10	1,696.90
1929	2,424.10	1,730.08

(To Sept. 26th, 1929)

Road Mileage Analysed

In 1925, we had only 1,057 miles of paved road in Ontario, in 1928, 1,698, a difference of 641 miles. Surely an increase of 60 per cent. in road mileage would have something to do with the accidents. Even in 1926, the last year of the O.T.A., there was an increase of 400.78 for yourself. I am anxious to show that figures can work for or against you, if you are not careful.

Number of Cars in Use

If you look at the table of domestic automobiles which is as follows—

YEAR		Passenger Cars, Commercial and Motorcycles		Percentage of Increase
1920	177,561
1921	206,521			16
1922	239,296			15.8
1923	278,252			16
1924	306,770			10
1925	342,174			11.5
1926	386,349			12
1927	433,504			12
1928	487,337			12

you will find that in 1925 there were 342,174 motor vehicles on the highways, in 1928—487,337, an increase of 145,163 or 42 per cent. This certainly has something to do with the increase in accidents. You would hardly expect accidents to remain the same or be smaller with motor cars increasing to such an extent.

When you look at the tabulation on tourist cars, in the Province of Ontario, which is as follows—

YEAR		No. of Tourist Cars		Percentage Increase
1921	538,559	60,685	12.7
1922	582,926	344,367	63.9
1923	588,853	105,927	11.9
1924	1,300,992	312,139	31.5
1925	1,521,277	220,285	16.1
1926	1,554,638	33,361	2.15
1927	2,415,833	861,195	56
1928	2,762,162	346,329	13.8

you will find that, whereas in 1926 we had 1,554,638 tourist cars enter Ontario, in 1927 we had 2,415,833—an increase of 861,195, or 56 per cent. As if this were not enough, the number grew in 1928 to 2,762,162, an increase of more than 77 per cent. as compared with 1926.

How can anyone say that this tremendous increase in foreign cars on our roads does not affect accidents? You cannot have too much traffic from the American side where, under prohibition, they have 66 per cent. more accidents per thousand cars than we have come into the Province of Ontario without increasing our accident list, and when they do come in here, bringing with them driving habits that they have contracted in States where the speed limits are much higher than in Ontario, then it lies ill in the mouth of anyone to say that the Liquor Control Act is to blame.

Gasoline Sales for Automotive Purposes

I am placing before you a statement showing the net gallonage of gasoline sold for automotive purposes in the Province of Ontario—

May 11-December 31, 1925		80,800,952 gals.
Jan. 1-December 31, 1926		120,406,006 gals.
Jan. 1-December 31, 1927		138,257,563 gals.
Jan. 1-December 31, 1928		169,951,333 gals.

You will see that whereas in 1926 we used 120,406,006 gallons of gasoline, in 1928, we used 169,951,333 gallons, an increase of 49,545,327 or 40.3 per cent. This ratio has kept ahead for the year 1929, so that in this fiscal year to date we have already passed the fiscal year beginning November 1st, 1927, to 1928, and still have a couple of months to go. So much for motor cars and accidents, the factors that probably control.

Crime Per Thousand of Population

Let us see what the record is for crime. I think everyone will agree that crime should be figured out on a population basis; that is the way they figure it out in the prohibition country to the South of us, where there is such a tremendous increase that everyone has stopped figuring. Why should it not be estimated that way in Ontario?

In 1921, the Census year, Ontario had a population of 2,933,662. Its population for 1928, as estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, was 3,220,000, an increase of around 300,000.

Now let us see what the actual proportion of crime is per 1,000 of population in those two years. The first should not be unfair to the O.T.A. and the latter is the first full year of the Liquor Control Act. The Toronto Globe in an editorial published September 18th, 1929, says that "crime of all classes is mounting apace", and then it proceeds to try to show an increase in the actual numbers of crimes committed. Figuring it out per thousand of population, I make the comparison of 1921 with 1928 as follows—

		1921		1928
Crimes against the person		1.15		1.14
Crimes against property		0.094		0.113
Crimes against public morals, etc.		1.2		1.1
Other offences		1.063		1.039

This shows that per thousand of population, crimes against the person have decreased in the last seven years from 1.15 to 1.14; crimes against property have increased slightly from .094 to .113; crimes against public morals have decreased from 1.2 to 1.1; and other offences from .063 to .039. In considering the above percentages it will be seen that in three out of four cases the percentages are lower in 1928 than in 1921; there has been actually an improvement in the condition of affairs under the Liquor Control Act.

It must be remembered also that, including people from the United States who came by rail or steamer as well as those who came by motor car, in 1921 Ontario had a tourist population of 2,648,778, while in 1928 this had increased to 3,114,129.

Jail Records—Drunk and Disorderly

There has been a steady effort on the part of those opposed to Liquor Control to leave the impression that there are more people committed to jail for being drunk than ever before. I have examined recent returns and find that there has been a steady improvement in this condition. Comparison of the years 1926, 1927 and 1928 clearly proves it. Sometimes people are committed for being drunk but are not finally sentenced, there being an acquittal. I am taking both figures—

YEAR		No. Committed		Percentage of Sentences
1926	5,886	4,588	78
1927	6,251	5,196	83
1928	4,769	3,966	83

In 1926 the number committed for being drunk was 5,886. This went up in 1927 to 6,251, which year was 5 months of the O.T.A. and 7 months of Liquor Control. But in 1928 it got back to 4,769, or 1,117 less commitments than under the last full year of the O.T.A.

Now when we turn to the number of people who actually reached the jail we find that in 1926 this was 4,588, in 1927, 5,196, but in 1928 it fell to a considerably smaller figure, namely, 3,966.

Law Enforcement

There has been a continuous attempt on the part of prohibitionists to show that law enforcement is not as good as it should be. I think I can say today without fear of contradiction that it is better than it ever has been. The records show it. This reflects the temper of the people and the better opportunity that is given the Department to get its evidence properly before the Court. In other words, witnesses co-operate with Police Magistrates and other officials in a way that reflects itself in the proportion of convictions to arrests. In 1926 the Crown were successful in only 78 per cent. of the cases brought up; in 1927 and again in 1928 they were successful in 83 per cent. Any lawyer practising in the Province would be delighted if he won 60 per cent. of the time. To have won 83 per cent. is a very outstanding achievement for the Law Enforcement Officers of the Crown.

Prosecution of Drunks

Penalties under the Liquor Control Act, as compared with those that used to be in force under the Ontario Temperance Act, clearly show which act is the stronger. For the first offence, under the L.C.A. the fine is $10.00; under the O.T.A. municipal by-law, it was usually one dollar and costs; for the second offence, under the L.C.A. it is a $20.00 fine or go to jail; under the O.T.A. the fine was much smaller, often being no more than that for the first offence. For the third offence, the L.C.A. makes it jail without any option.

There is no doubt but what the enforcement of the Liquor Control Act has cleaned up the situation of drunks pretty well in the Province. It does not put more people in jail, but at the same time it always gives visitors to this Province from abroad, and our own people, an opportunity to say that they see fewer drunken people on the streets than they do on the American side, or than they did under the Ontario Temperance Act. The prohibitionist who would have pointed to such prosecution under the Ontario Temperance Act with pride, now tries to use it against the Liquor Control Act. In this he must be fair in his criticism or fail, and I think on this account he has failed.

Prohibition and Manufacture

There is one point arising out of the platform of the Prohibition Union that calls for comment. One notices that in their platform there is a plank favouring the Province passing an act to prohibit the manufacture of liquors. Any able constitutional lawyer will tell you that this question has been settled for a great number of years, and that since the time of Sir Oliver Mowat the Dominion has had control of manufacture in the Province. Now there is an attempt to make this an issue for the Privy Council for consideration. One wonders, if this is good law now, why it was not good law when the Drury Government were in power for four years and its able prohibitionist Attorney General had an opportunity to do just what the Prohibition Union now demands of the Ferguson Administration.

Government Control in Other Provinces

One might very well ask the prohibitionists today why have seven out of nine Provinces in Canada voted for a change from Prohibition to Liquor Control during the past decade? This is interesting because none of the Western Provinces had Conservative Governments in power at the time.

Another question that might very well be asked is why do Prohibitionists centre their campaign against the Liquor Control Act in Ontario, when almost every Province, except New Brunswick, has a Liquor Control Act in force under Liberal and Progressive Government.

The Toronto Star, in an editorial on January 20th, 1929, said in part "With all its faults the Ontario liquor control system is the best of its kind in Canada. Its most distinguishing features are its ban upon public consumption of liquor and its ban upon liquor advertising." Then it is admitted that Ontario has the best liquor control system. Why reserve the frontal attack for this Province? One suspects that there is now a Conservative Government in British Columbia there will soon be a tremendous attack made there on the Government for allowing such an iniquitous Liquor Control Act to remain on the Statute Books.

TRAVELLERS ARE ENTERTAINED BY ALCOHOL STAFF

Trip Through Plant, Dinner And Wrestling Bouts Featured

Commercial Travellers of the Eastern Ontario District made the Queen's Hotel their Mecca yesterday, on the occasion of their first annual "Drummers Rally." It was a jolly company. No other body of men but the "knights of the grip" have such a sense of camaraderie.

The affair started in the afternoon, with a tour of inspection of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company's plant, at Corbyville, headed by Mr. C. A. Gaze, the sales manager for the company in Eastern Ontario. Mr. Charles Frey, assistant manager of the Consolidated Distilleries, Limited, acted in the capacity of host to the commercial travellers. An inspection of the different buildings at the plant, was made and each process was fully explained.

The procession finally wound up at the banquet hall, where an excellent lunch was served. Several speeches were given but none were long. Mr. Treverton and Mr. E. J. Pettier were the speakers and talked mostly along the line of good fellowship among the commercial travellers. A hundred representatives of all the prominent business houses in Eastern Ontario attended the tour. The programme had been mapped out to include trap-shooting, but this had to be postponed on account of the weather.

Around the hour of seven all paths led to the dining-room in the Queen's Hotel. Present at the banquet was "Buddy" Burrows, who lead in the community singing.

Mr. E. P. Pettier, the man who staged the big doings for the travellers, led in the singing of the ever popular "Alouette."

A "Silent Toast" was proposed to the memory of the late Thomas J. Powers, the loved and respected friend of all commercial travellers.

Speakers Heard

Mr. H. M. Coffey, general superintendent at Corbyville, was the chief speaker of the evening. Mr. Coffey has worked as a distiller all over South America, the United States and Canada. He stated that he found the perfect blend when he came to the Consolidated Distilleries, Limited. He here for both the boxing and wrestling. "Eddie" George and accompanied no expense in getting the latest equipment for the plant and that it was through this that they were able to make the best blends.

Mr. C. A. Gaze, the sales manager for the eastern district, was the next speaker. He thanked Mr. Pettier for the fine entertainment of the evening. A toast to the "Knights of the Grip" was proposed and responded to heartily. "Tommy" Thompson was elected to speak for "The Drummers" but he laid this responsibility upon the shoulders of John Craig, who suitably expressed the thoughts of the travellers in the song "Pack up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag."

Adjournment was made to another large room to witness the wrestling and boxing. "All" Hassan—the Turk—made his appearance. Men marvelled at his physique, his girth of chest and at his muscle control. He went through the different poses showing exceptional mastery of the art. Perfect control of his muscles was evident. To show his strength he tore, with his hands, a new deck of fifty-two playing cards. Next a heavy chain was secured and after several attempts he broke it. An inch board was produced and through this he drove spikes through the wood, with his bare hands.

Wrestling Bouts

Next on the programme was the wrestling bout, featuring Jack Taylor of Toronto, the Canadian heavyweight champion, weighing 215 pounds. Mr. Taylor worked under the handicap of a leg that had been lately fractured. His opponent was Johnny Mills, boiler-maker of New York, who weighed 205. The bout lasted thirty minutes, in five minute periods. Not until the last five minutes did Taylor put his adversary's shoulders to the mat.

The next bout between the Turk, Hassan, and Jack Rogers had the spectators on their feet. Rogers was the champion cowboy in the United States in 1925 for "bulldozing" Rogers weighed in at 235 and "All" Hassan at 211. The fall came quite unexpectedly but the Turk was matted, after a hectic scramble that everybody enjoyed.

The boxing bouts then followed. Jack Semark and "Red" Harrington, were pitted against each other in the 135-pound class, in three two-minute rounds. The result was a draw, although "Red" was sent staggering in the last. George Semark earned a knockout over "Beans" Langan in the 145-pound class, by a right to the solar, which lifted Langan off his feet for the count. It was a terrific blow and came like a sledge hammer, from the South American, the United States and floor. The rounds were two-minutes each. Mr. Basil Windrum, representative for the Distilleries, acted as referee for both the boxing and wrestling. "Eddie" George and accom-

QUEEN VICTORIA WON CUP BATTLE

Pine Street Boys Too Good For College Hill Squad

King George's and Queen Victoria School teams met on the Pine Street grounds in the fourth game for the Harvey Cup. Neither team had been defeated and a good game was expected. The visitors won the toss and Duke kicked off for the homesters. Rowbottom crossed passed to Angell on the other wing and he dribbled in close but shot over. From the goal kick Millar went to the other end. Rigby cleared. Good combination at last resulted in Queen Victoria's working in close. R. Morgan scored the first goal. Aselstine failed to hold the ball and it rolled in for a lucky goal. The visitor's now kicked up and went to the other end. Yeoman's having to run out to clear his goal. The ground was greasy and good chances were missed in front of goal by Loch and green for the visitors. A free kick brought relief to Queen Victoria's and they took up the attack but only a goal kick resulted. Sanders headed the ball back again and Barber dribbled in close but the ball went over the goal line for a goal kick. A free kick for anast entertained between bouts and brought the house down with his dancing doll.

King George's saw Millar try a shot on goal but it just went over the bar. Mid field play followed both teams being pretty even. Millar and Barber dribbled in close but Morgan cleared near his own goal. Play went to the other end. Rowbottom and Morgan took the ball down the field and from a scramble in front of the goal, Dickie scored again for Queen Victoria's, half time came directly afterwards, the score being 2-0 for Queen Victoria's.

After the interval Millar kicked off and went to the other end. Yeoman's threw the ball clear and Hope relieved. Barber made another dribble and went right in on Yeoman's who kicked the ball clear. The game was fast and even with a little luck the visitors should have had a goal. First one team attacked and then the other. Hammett tried a shot at goal. Hogie cleared. Nunn then put his forwards in possession and from a centre Carl Morgan scored the 3rd goal. King George tried hard to reduce the lead. Millar took a couple of free kicks but failed at goal. Dickie was sent off for tripping. Time came soon afterwards with the final score Queen Victoria's 3, King George 0. It was a hard fast game and the visitors with a little luck should have been up a couple of goals. For the winners, Morgan Bros. and Hammett were good while Millar and Barber were best for the losers. The teams were:

Queen Victoria — Goal, Yeoman's, Morgan, Rigby, Halves, Hammett, Nunn, Hope, Morgan, Rowbottom, Forwards, Dickie, Mylechrest, Angell. King George—Goal, Aselstine, Hogie.

UNIQUE METHOD OF ARBITRATION

Matters of Importance Settled By International Joint Commission

Kyoto, Japan. (By Canadian Press.)—Settlement and investigation of outstanding questions between Canada and the United States by the International Joint Commission has been highly successful and constitutes a unique experiment in international affairs. Lawrence J. Burpee, of Ottawa, Canadian Secretary for the Commission, told the Institute of Pacific Relations now in session here, Mr. Burpee's paper entitled "A North American Forum," reviewed the history of the commission since its establishment two years ago.

While the experiment has proved a conspicuous success, he said it was difficult to say whether a similar organization could be applied with advantage to the problems of other countries. Special conditions were found in Canada and the United States which could not be duplicated anywhere else in the world and these had undoubtedly contributed largely to the success of the commission.

The two countries were governed by practically the same laws, the people spoke the same language and their democratic ideals of government were practically identical. They lived on either side of a very long boundary on which there were no fences. The International Joint Commission Mr. Burpee pointed out was composed of six men, three appointed by each country. It was established by a treaty the general purpose of which was "to prevent disputes regarding the use of boundary waters and to settle all questions which are now pending between the United States and Canada involving the rights, obligations or interests of either in relation to the other or the inhabitants of the other along their common frontier an d to make provision for the adjustment and settlement of all such questions as may hereafter arise."

"You will observe the unusual character of this commission," said Mr. Burpee, "three Canadians and three Americans. The old practice was to appoint one, two, or more representatives of each country and then agree on an impartial outsider to act as chairman or umpire between them. Hate from the outset the intention was that the six commissioners were not to regard themselves as rival national groups, each striving to secure advantages for his own country, but rather as an international unit, six men pledged to put aside all national prejudices, selfishness and littleness and to work together for the welfare of the people of both countries.

"In cases referred to it for decision, the commission functions as a judicial tribunal and its decision is final, not subject to review by either government."

JAPANESE GIRLS ON RADIO FIND HUSBANDS

London, Eng. (By Canadian Press.)—Wireless stations in Japan, according to the Indian News Service, have begun new matrimonial announcements in which Japanese girls boast in flowery language of their charms. This is how, before the microphone, a warm and thrilling young voice sets forth its owners charms and announces that she is in search of a husband.

"I am a very pretty little girl. My hair is wavy like the clouds. My complexion has the brilliance and the bloom of a flower. My face is as mobile as the leaves of the weeping willow. My brown eyes are like two moon crescents. I have possessions enough to pass my life in happy ease with my lover. If this appeal is heard by an intelligent young man who is amiable and comely, I will unite myself to him for life. And when we are dead we will rest for ever in a tomb of red marble."

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"About the best inheritance any man can leave his descendants is a clean bill of health."
—Ren Mulford, Jr.

MR. SINCLAIR IN POLITICS

What measure of progressive legislation has Mr. Sinclair brought forward during the past four years?
How many of these measures did he stick to and fight energetically for?
Does Mr. Sinclair believe in a total prohibition law for Ontario?
Does Mr. Sinclair believe that a Local Option Act would be in the interests of Ontario temperance?
Does Mr. Sinclair believe in the Liquor Control Act, and if not, why?
What new measure for the control of the liquor traffic does Mr. Sinclair propose to introduce if he succeeds to power? Has he drafted a Bill?
Will he pledge himself to introduce any Act for Liquor Control which will be superior to the present Act?
Does Mr. Sinclair believe that Premier King will introduce an Act to prohibit the exportation of liquor to the United States?
Does Mr. Sinclair believe that Mr. King and the Liberal Party would be willing to give up the revenue of many millions of dollars it derives from duties on liquor?
Does Mr. Sinclair believe that the promise of Mr. King on the liquor question is more likely to be kept than his promise to reform the Senate?
What reason can Mr. Sinclair give for believing that Mr. King would keep such a pledge when he knows he has broken so many election pledges in the past, and that his Government needs the money?
Does Mr. Sinclair believe that many of the bottles collected and shown in the pictures that have appeared in the Star were not planted in roadside ditches with intent that they should be found and photographed?
Does Mr. Sinclair believe that there is one law for the rich and poor? If so, why was it that he did not insist upon the wealthy Queen of Oshawa Society being brought before the Courts on a charge of criminal negligence, after the car which she was driving ran down two strangers in this country on the highway, killing one and injuring the other?

PARTY LEADERS AND POLICIES

The Provincial election campaign is drawing to a close, the party leaders have had opportunities of explaining their policies, and the electors can now form some judgment of both.
Mr. Lethbridge, since the broken lights from his grandson's bottles flickered momentarily amid the pale shadows of Progressive policy, has sunk again into obscurity of his own constituency. His former chief, Mr. Drury, dazzled by the horrid glare of the great white way down which the youth of Ontario stagger to perdition, sounds from Crown Hill the warning cock-crow that darkness will cover us unless Ferguson is beaten. Mr. Sinclair is still making up his mind, explaining that he didn't mean what he said at Fort William in support of Government control, and taking the prohibition pledge in one constituency while endorsing beer and wine Liberals in others. Messrs. Lethbridge, Drury and Sinclair are united in one thing—they only are righteous, and the people of this Province all wrong. Meanwhile, Mr. Ferguson takes his accustomed way. He pretends to no special sanctity, and claims only the wisdom of experience. He tells us that there are no short cuts to the top of moral ascent; they must be toll-omely climbed in order to be held. Government is a practical art of practical men inspired by practical ideals. The improvement of the moral, mental and material condition of all the people is his aim; not the attainment of office by a few who claim superiority or holiness to all the rest. General habits of temperance sustained by control; educational advantages brought to the doors of all; material aids to a better life; like hydro-electric power and improved roads, made available to rural and urban communities alike—these are Mr. Ferguson's hopes. He relies on the people's inherited fund of moral wisdom and practical experience, and asks only for the common judgment of common sense.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

EPILEPTICS CAN BE HELPED

As a student I learned that there were certain ailments that were incurable but that treatment should be given during attacks. These ailments included such conditions as heart disease, agita pectoris, asthma and epilepsy.
Nowadays all these conditions are being helped because research men have been investigating their causes. Epilepsy was just considered as some "brain trouble" and there was nothing that could be done about it. Now they think of epilepsy as a symptom only, just as headache can be a symptom of twenty or more ailments. If it is said that there is one epileptic to every two hundred people in North America.

There are three factors in every case of epilepsy: first a change in the structure of the nervous system; cells due to heredity, mental conflicts, or little chemical changes within the cells themselves; third, something interfering with the circulation of the blood within the brain; from the ductless glands, the lungs, or very frequently from the digestive tract.

The first thought in the treatment is to try to locate the cause—any familiar history of nervous ailments, any food that may affect this particular patient, any previous infectious diseases, or any head injuries.
There should also be an X ray examination of the head, an examination of the workings of the ductless glands, the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gall bladder, and so forth; X ray examination of intestinal tract and examination of spinal fluid, urine and blood.

Further, epilepsy is one ailment where the attacks should be treated vigorously as repeated attacks certainly damage the nervous system. As you know the drug used all over the world, the bromides, is the most effective means of limiting the number and duration of the attacks.

Diet is most important; the use of fats to take the place of bread and vegetables has proven very helpful. Fasting would likely be a cure in many cases but of course that is impossible. I have spoken before of a case I kept free from attacks for over a year by simply washing out the stomach two and three times a week.

Cutting out a section of the large intestine stopped the attacks in 55 cases, but the attacks have returned in the majority of these cases.
So try to discover some cause. Try the fat diet. Do all you can for these sufferers.

HONOR MEMORY OF SUPER-SPEED

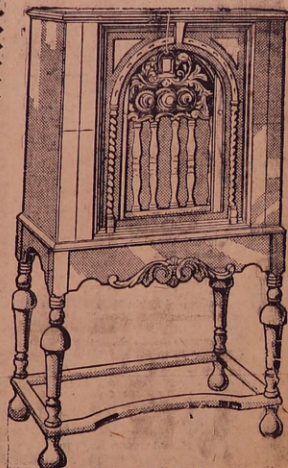

Daytona Beach, Fla. (By Canadian Press).—Erection of a monument to super-speed is being planned here, where most of the major automobile straightaway trials have been staged in recent years. Plans call for its erection on one of the small islands in the meandering Halifax River, which separates the smooth, wave-lapped stretch of natural ocean speedway from the mainland.

On the monument are to be inscribed the names and achievements of the makers of all officially recognized world speed records, which date back to 1898, when Chasseloup-Laubat, the Frenchman, astounded the world with a speed of 39 miles an hour. Since that time the automobile speed record has been broken 31 times by 26 drivers, a list including such familiar names as Barney Oldfield, Ralph DePalma, Tommy Milton and Henry Ford, who in 1903 set a record of 91.37 miles an hour in his famous "Old 999."

The Daytona Beach speedway has been the scene of every record-breaking achievement since Sir Henry Seagrave of England, started the world in 1927 by attaining, for the first time, an automobile speed of 200 miles an hour. Since then, the world's straightaway speed record has been boosted to the present mark of 231.32 miles an hour, which Sir Henry set here last spring after his old mark of 203.79 had twice been broken, once by a fellow countryman, Capt. Malcolm Campbell, and once by an American, the late Ray Keech, of Philadelphia.

LIQUOR POLICIES MAJOR ISSUE

Act Not In Immediate Danger If Government Is Defeated

Toronto, Ont., October 25. (By Canadian Press.)—When the Conservative administration of Premier G. H. Ferguson seeks the endorsement of the electorate of the Province of Ontario for another term on October 30, the Ontario Liquor Control Act, a product of the Ferguson Government, will be a major issue.

It will be the first general election in Ontario since 1926. In that year the Ferguson Government, first elected in 1923, was returned to power with a decisive majority in the provincial legislature favouring the sale and control of liquor by the government. This was the sole issue of the 1926 election. Government control and sale of liquor was incorporated in the platform of the Conservative party, and for the first time in the history of Canadian provincial politics, government control became an issue in an election campaign.

Before the enactment of the Liquor Control Act after the Ferguson Government's victory at the polls in 1926, Ontario had had 10 years of prohibition under the Ontario Temperance Act, enacted during the war as a war measure. The O. T. A. prohibited the sale of liquor except by doctor's prescription but did not prohibit the manufacture and export of liquor and beer by distilleries and breweries within the province. In an amendment provided for the open sale of 44 beer was enacted by the Ferguson Government, but this was not palatable to the wets. Subsequently Premier Ferguson came out in favor of Government Control, staking his political life on the issue, and was re-elected.

Although Premier Ferguson has contended from the beginning of the present campaign that liquor is not an issue in this election, asserting that public sentiment in favor of the Liquor Control Act has increased since 1926, the leaders of the two opposition parties as well as the Ontario Prohibition Union, have made it a major issue by using the administration of the Liquor Control Act as their chief weapon of attack on the Conservative Government.

In their political speeches and manifestos, W. E. T. Sinclair, Liberal leader, and J. G. Lethbridge, Progressive leader, have severely arraigned the government on its liquor policy, alleging that government control has been a failure, that it had degraded the morals of the younger generation and that generally social conditions are much worse than during the prohibition regime. Defeat of the Conservative Government would not, however, mean the immediate repeal of the Liquor Control Act. Neither Mr. Sinclair nor Mr. Lethbridge, in his campaign utterances or manifestos, has pledged himself to do that. They are determined that the liquor issue shall not continue to be involved in provincial politics, and have promised that the fate of the present Liquor Control Act shall be decided by a plebiscite.

Premier Ferguson claims to be confused by the Liberal leader's liquor policy, which he regards as "wobbly." Although the Liberal party's 1919 platform included a plank for the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act (the prohibition measure), Mr. Sinclair has stated the Liberal policy on the liquor issue is that the people's will shall prevail. When there is a demand the people shall be consulted in a plebiscite. A victory for the Liberals in this election would doubtless be regarded as a "demand for a change," and a plebiscite doubtless would follow.

Mr. Lethbridge has been quite definite. He has pledged the Progressives to hold a plebiscite within a year. Under platform "bone dry," favoring not only the prohibition of the sale of liquor, but also the prohibition of its manufacture and importation into Ontario. Under the Ontario Temperance Act, manufacture of liquor was not prohibited. Ontario distilleries and breweries continued to manufacture liquor and beer under federal charter for export to other countries and provinces, but a considerable quantity was "shortcircuited" back to the province. In his desire to dry up the province, except for the manufacture and sale of native wines which always has been legal, Mr. Lethbridge is prepared to test the authority of the province to prohibit the manufacture of beer and liquor by taking the matter to the foot of the throne in London. He has promised to submit a bill to His Majesty's Privy Council, after first submitting it to the Ontario Legislature, to the effect that no brewery or distillery shall manufacture or sell alcoholic liquor in Ontario.

Premier Ferguson has not been ruffled by his opponent's arguments on a plebiscite, and is determined to stand firm by the legislation enacted after the 1926 election. He is unequivocally opposed to plebiscites, regarding this method of consulting the people as a refuge behind which governments seek to hide from their responsibilities in dealing with major issues. He further contends that plebiscites violate the spirit of the constitution and will have none while he is the Conservative party leader.

The premier contends that 10 years of prohibition was a failure; that expensive efforts at enforcement were futile, the bootlegger reaped rich harvests under its operation, and that corruption of people's morals, as well as death and permanent injury to their health were rampant under the Ontario Temperance Act. Believing temperance based upon conviction is more effective than temperance based upon legislation, Mr. Ferguson is convinced that the present law will result in Ontario's liquor consumption being reduced by 50 percent at the end of ten years by education in the schools. He has appealed for a fair trial for the act, and has promised to increase its strength by enacting amendments as weaknesses become evident.

California's orange crop would fill a train of box cars extending from Boston to New York and six miles beyond.

UP-TO-DATE "TIP TOP" TAILORS STORE OPENS HERE TO-MORROW

Clarke W. Dickens, Local Representative, Will Manage New Unit

Tomorrow, October 25th, the newest and one of the finest units in the Tip Top Tailors Dominion wide chain of stores will open its doors in this city.

A Canadian organization, Tip Top Tailors, as practically everyone knows, is the largest one piece made to measure men's wear system in the country and the name and values are familiar to practically everyone through the thorough and up-to-date advertising which is done by Tip Top Tailors wherever they are represented.

Local Man Store Manager In Belleville Tip Top has been represented for the past five years by a well known popular local young man, Mr. Clarke Dickens, born and educated in this city, and who in addition to representing Tip Top here has been associated with various musical organizations for the past few years. Mr. Dickens will assume the management of the new Tip Top store in this city.

Greater Space Necessary Rapidly growing business and the necessity for increased space has resulted in this Tip Top store which will be thrown open tomorrow. It will form another modern unit in the rapidly growing Tip Top chain from East to West in Canada.

The new store will in every respect represent the last word in up-to-date men's stores, and will be a creditable addition to the already large number of modern business houses on Front Street. Newest style large narrow display windows with gumwood marble and bronze trimmings and a tiled floor entrance will greet the eye of the passerby, the window of course brilliantly lighted, and large Neon type electric sign, the newest on the market, erected at the entrance.

Interior Attractive Inside the building has been thoroughly renovated and will present the most attractive appearance with special decorations and trim throughout. A modern and efficient lighting system is being installed which will tend to make the store exceptionally bright. Altogether approximately ten thousand dollars is being spent by Tip Top in renovating and modernizing the new store on Front at Victoria which will be second to none in the city in every way. A wide variety of the new material in suitings and overcoats will be displayed at all times, together with model garments in all styles.

MANY FANS TO MAKE TRIP

Kingsport, October 25. The greatest crowd of rugby fans to ever accompany a team out of Kingsport will be with Queen's seniors when they go to Toronto on November 9th, for the decisive intercollegiate game of the season with Varsity.

This morning there had been 2483 requests made at the Athletic Board of control office for tickets and, as it is generally the case, that no more than 2500 or 2600 tickets are sent to Queen's, it is likely that every ticket will be taken.

Apparently McGill are going to put up a battle for the honors in the big game at the Richardson Stadium on Saturday, for this morning Secretary Charles Hicks, of Queen's athletic board of control, received word from Montreal that the McGill game and they will be here for the game, and are seeking permission to parade from the gym to the stadium. In addition to the band, at least 200 fans from the Quebec Metropolis have secured tickets for the game.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander and family wish to express sincere thanks to their many friends and neighbours for floral offerings and kindness to them in their trouble.

LADY ANNESLEY BRINGS MESSAGE OF GOOD-WILL

Prominent British Labor Member Advocates Universal Peace

"The true life of man is the life of brotherhood not of strife." We feel certain that this beautiful sentiment is deeply embedded into the heart of every man and woman who listened to Lady Clare Annesley speak on "Britain's Foreign Policy Relations" last night at an open meeting of the Women's Canadian Club held in the lecture room of the Armouries. In Lady Annesley, England has indeed an "apostle of peace" and her words instill into every mind the great necessity of that wonderful modern institution the "League of Nations." She is indeed an able representative of England's beloved premier the Rt. Hon. Sir Ramsay MacDonald, and she is striving for the same worthy principles. Disarmament and World Peace. Lady Annesley is a sitting member of West Bristol Labour Party for the second time. She has been interested in philanthropic work all her life, at an early age working in the poorest districts of London doing good work among the masses of people who were compelled to live under inhuman conditions. "I saw," said Lady Annesley, "that private charity left untouched the root causes of poverty, while the disparity between rich and poor seemed completely at variance with the Christian teachings that all men are of equal spiritual value, and that wealth produced by the people must be used to the interest of the whole community." She joined the Labour movement in 1915, as she saw that in this way she could render the most effectual service to her community.

Britain's Foreign Policy
The most important aspect of foreign relations is the work the League of Nations is doing for arbitration. "Britain's Foreign Policy," explained Lady Annesley, "is simply a support of the League, which is more powerful and progressive than ever before. Last year I spent many weeks in Geneva studying the work of the League and it was indeed a wonderful inspiration to obtain my ticket and go into the large assembly hall where could be seen assembled the representatives of 53 nations, simply brought about by the realization that this was the only way to settle the difficulties which every country is faced with both social, national and international. International co-operation is a vital need," said the speaker in glowing terms in regard to the Kellogg Pact, which she said, has had a great influence in bringing about peace. The Pact was signed by 50 nations and was only weakened by the Conservatives, who refused to sign the General Act of Arbitration, drafted and approved of by the League Assembly in 1928.

Disarmament a Vital Need
With reference to pre-war policy, Lord Grey has said: "Every country had been piling up armaments and perfecting preparations for war. The object in each case had been security. Instead of that there was produced a sense of fear which yearly increased. The enormous growth of armaments in Europe and the sense of fear caused by them, made war inevitable." Lady Annesley stressed the serious condition of today which is even worse than before the World War. She pointed to the tragic results of the manufacture of arms. "It is an awful thing to realize," said the noted speaker, "that French and English men were shot down by guns and ammunition sold to the Turks. In the same way that the traffic in opium is a menace to humanity so are the profits made in the manufacture of arms." Lady Annesley said that the world today is literally shrinking and for this reason every one of us should understand thoroughly the work of the League of Nations. She raised the question, whether the spiritual life of mankind is able to keep up with scientific inventions.

We hear every day of new wonders, and we should ask ourselves whether these wonderful things are to be used to bring us closer or whether they are to be used for the destruction of humanity. "Acquaintance," for instance," said the speaker, we all know can be used for travel which will bring us closer to each other; on the other hand they can be used to destroy. In a few hours, the greatest city in the world by its terrible explosives, which will exterminate every man, woman, child, tree and animal in a short time. "War in the past has been respectable and tame," declared Lady Annesley, "to what war in the future, with all our new inventions, would be a horrible, terrible conflict still fresh in our minds, in which we lost the nearest and dearest to us it is especially our duty to make it very clear to our children, who do not know by experience the horrors of war, the terrible suffering and loss of human life which it entails." The speaker pointed out that the children of today associate with war, music bands and flags, flying, and do not realize the grimmer part, the part of destruction of human life and property. "We do everything in our power to avoid such disasters as fire, earthquakes, railway accidents, etc., but do not lift a finger to stop a much more to be dreaded monster, War," she said. A noted editor of a large daily news sheet makes the following statement in writing about the last war: "If we stood all day and night and watched a procession of soldiers march by in ranks of four, which were killed in the World War, ten years would pass and still they would not have all marched by, and if we stood all day and night and watched the ranks of those mangled and maimed, 50 years would go by and still they would march on."

Action Needed Now
"We need not dwell on the sins of the past," said Lady Annesley, but we should realize that today we have a great institution in the League of Nations, and also a great safeguard." Premier Ramsay MacDonald has said: "It is not for us to leave the work of World Peace to statesmen and politicians, we have votes and can influence public opinion and in this way we should strive to make the wonderful aim of the League of Nations a realization. Lady Annesley stated that it was a wonderful thing to think that on this corner of the globe such countries as the United States and Canada could lie side by side with their borders totally free of armament. She expressed the fervent hope that in a short time every country in Europe would follow the lead.

Each individual has a part to play. The old adage, "The strength of the chain is no more than its weakest link" can be taken to heart by all citizens of the world. As citizens we should rejoice to realize that we can help forward the great work which is going on in the furtherance of World Peace. Words will accomplish little and we must put them into action if we are to say we believe in the teachings of Christ. "As Christian people we want to make our religion a living, throbbing reality," said Lady Annesley. Wherever there is a branch of the League of Nations we should do everything in our power to join it; it is one of the best ways we can work toward "friendship," said the speaker, "and in this way we can make our life here on earth like the Kingdom of Heaven on high that it has ever been."

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the speaker by the president, Mrs. W. N. Ponton, Mrs. McKinnon, Mr. making the motion, expressed the hope and gratitude of the gathering for the speaker's words, and Mr. Elliott, in expressing the vote, assured Lady Annesley that her message of goodwill and Peace would long be carried in the hearts of all those who were privileged to hear her.

ON GUARD AT QUEEN'S DOOR

The return of the Queen to Buckingham Palace on Saturday breaks the monotony of the watch of the plain-clothes policeman who guards her Majesty's special entrance to the palace.

Throughout the weeks of the Court's absence he has stood for eight hours daily under the white-blinded windows of the Queen's boudoir and bedroom. From 5 until 10 p.m. he paces the short path that runs from the walled garden to the corner of the Georgian facade dominating the wide, sunbaked lawn. From 10 until he is relieved at 1 a.m. his "beat" is the little terrace under these windows and the windows of the King's dressing-room and bathroom.

Here he looks towards the small, white-lawn where his Majesty, protected by a temporary awning, used to sit during his recent convalescence.

It is dull work when there is no sign of life in the silent, shuttered palace. There is no sound but the rattle of the sentry's rifle as he stands at ease at his box on the palace front and London's ceaseless traffic beating like a sea beyond the 40 broad acres of the garden.

But it is necessary work, for curious people have actually, even during royal absences, scaled the walls and tried to reach the steps of the palace. There is one story that when the Court was in residence a man, who gave his name as a completely fictitious car, was stopped by the plain-clothes officer on the staircase inside the Queen's private entrance. Iron spikes have had to be placed outside the servants' quarters to prevent entrance that way.

The Queen often stops to talk to the plain-clothes policeman on the terrace when she takes a walk there—as she likes to do every evening—about 10 o'clock. The officer who usually watches by the Queen's door is a man who joined the palace service in Queen Victoria's time, fought in the South African and the Great Wars, and finally joined the police force to become the special guard of her Majesty.

the cream and minced parsley. Serve very hot.

Turnips Hollandaise requires small turnips peeled, cubed and steamed in turnips. After seasoning with salt, pour over Hollandaise and serve immediately.

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

Glazed Carrots

For the glazed carrots, choose twelve medium sized, uniform carrots and boil whole until tender. Drain, heat one-half cup sugar and one-fourth cup boiling water until the sugar is dissolved. Put one-fourth cup of butter in a cold frying pan and add sugar and water to it. When the fat is melted, add one-fourth cup of chopped fresh mint leaves and the carrots. Simmer until the carrots are glazed but not browned.

Delicious Turnips

Small white turnips sweet and tender, suggest new treatment in the kitchenette. Glazed, served with Hollandaise sauce or with sugar peas, they add immeasurably to the pleasure of the lamb or mutton dinner, while turnips and turkey are a most happy combination.

For sugar peas in white turnip cups, steam small turnips until tender, scoop out centres, preserving a dainty cup, rub inside and out with salt. Fill with buttered sugar peas, dot with butter and sprinkle with minced parsley. Or cream the peas before turning into the turnip cups.

Glazed turnips are delicious. Peel the small turnips thinly and cook until tender in boiling water to cover. Drain and add for four bunches, three tablespoons of butter, one-half teaspoon salt and a generous sprinkling of powdered sugar. Place over the fire and stir to prevent scorching. When beginning to brown, add a lit

Instead of pouring from the open box when filling the bird seed cups, use a small necked bottle, which is kept filled with the seed, and save time and labor as the seed is invariably spilled the other way.

In preparing casserole meals, one may combine nutritive value and good flavor with the saving of time and labor. Casserole meals mean a lesser number of pans on the stove to be looked after and also fewer dishes to be taken care of after the meal.

Special care should be taken to season casserole dishes properly—a dash of Worcestershire sauce, a bit of prepared mustard or a few tablespoons of chili sauce or tomato soup add much to the appetizing flavor of a slowly cooked oven meal.

CHAPTER XXIV

SURRENDER

Madelon's voice was so low that Chandler had to lean in and bend toward her to distinguish her words.

"Last night," she was saying, her gaze on her own interior dangers, "you asked me to marry you. I refused."

"I've changed my mind."

The last words were scarcely more than a whisper.

He bent closer.

"You mean you will?"

She lowered her head in assent. He drew a deep breath.

"Madelon—"

She made a pathetic little gesture. "Don't misunderstand me. Nothing is changed since yesterday. I don't love you. I love someone else—the one I told you of last night. But you said it didn't matter. That companionship was the only thing worth counting. But I—like you, I like to be with you. And if you'll take me on those terms—"

"Will you?" he echoed and there was a note of exaltation in his voice. Then—

"May I ask what made you change your mind?" he said quietly.

She raised her eyes to his briefly. "I'll be quite frank with you. It's only fair. When I got back to the hotel last night, I found a wire from my uncle. He is coming west to take Barbara and me home. I don't want to go back. I was too unhappy there. I would rather go—with you."

His hand closed over hers. "I will try to make you happy, little Madelon," he promised softly.

She blinked them back. "Do you think it likely that your uncle will object to your marrying me?" he asked, after a moment.

"I don't know. He generally objects to everything one wants to do," she answered wearily.

"When will he arrive?"

"In a few days, I fancy. His wire said he was leaving at once."

"If we were already married, his objections would be futile, wouldn't they?"

She nodded.

"Have you the courage to marry me and trust to his forgiveness afterward?"

She smiled through her tears. "I've begun to think that is the only way I'll ever be able to get married. But perhaps he won't object to you at all. He can't want me to be an old maid."

He opposed my other chances because they were too young and he said they were fortune-hunters. He couldn't think that of me."

Chandler was looking straight before him and his eyes narrowed suddenly, but all he said was:

"You speak of them? Was there none that one aspires to your hand who was sent about his business?"

Madelon laughed a little, drearily. "Did you think you were only the second man who had wanted to marry me?"

For answer he swept her into his arms, crushing her against him with the force that she remembered vividly from the night before.

"Judging from myself, I must be the second hundredth," he said, passionately. "No man could resist you, my beautiful."

Before he could kiss her, she had struggled from his clasp.

"I've tried to be fair," she said hurriedly. "I've tried to tell you everything. There was another man, one I met in Paris. I know now that I didn't love him at all, but I thought I did, for a time. I was almost engaged to him, at least, I thought I was in love with him—but Uncle Stephen scotched him away."

"And where is he now?" there was something like jealousy in the question.

"Back East somewhere. I never see him any more. Now, you know all my—past," she added shyly.

He flung back his head and laughed aloud.

"Dear, little, white, spool-like page," he said tenderly, "I wish I had one as blameless to spread before you."

"Have you been very wicked?" she asked hesitantly.

"Not very," his whimsical smile belied the gravity of his eyes. "My sins have been mostly those of omission. And the ones I have committed sprang from loneliness and lack of responsibilities rather than from deliberate viciousness. It is not good for a man to live alone."

He quoted: "Isn't that the beginning of the marriage service? We shall be hearing that together in a day or so. Shall we not, my beautiful?"

Tenderly, he bent over her. Gently, he gathered her back into his arms.

Very softly, his lips met hers, and after a first, momentary shrinking, she relaxed against him in complete surrender.

Above her head, his eyes shone with a peculiar triumph.

XXV—THE WEDDING DAY

In response to Chandler's urging, Madelon set the following Wednesday for their wedding day. It would still leave them a few days leeway before the arrival of Stephen Lane. Chandler seemed more anxious than Madelon to have the marriage performed before Lane could enter his objection.

They planned to motor up to Los Angeles to a church of Madelon's faith. Chandler confessed himself in different in the matter of religion; in fact, Madelon strongly suspected that he was an agnostic.

Rather tentatively, Madelon acquainted Barbara with their plans and asked her to accompany them. She wanted Barbara's presence desperately, but did not wish to involve her in any way which might later bring upon her the wrath of Stephen Lane.

Barbara, however, laughed away her fears.

"Of course, I'll go with you. I wouldn't desert you at this time for Stephen's will as all that. And I hope I'm not a coward."

ROADS ALSO SLEEP

When the moon has set
The night is a deep Mantle of velvet
For roads that sleep.

Highways that weave
In a mystic skein
Like fingers of peace
Over cragmoor and plain

Forgotten are workaday Travail and zest
Of freightage and commerce—
Roads, too, must rest.

No roar of motors
No headlight's beam
Lightens their slumber—
Perhaps they dream.

Dreams of a day
When their hard flint rang
With hoof beats of pinos
And of men who sang

Strange word songs
As they thundered down
To pay day's price
In the lurid town—

Or of Redmen riding
In single file
With their immovable
Mile after mile.

When the last headlight
Has followed its gleam
In the darkness
Roads sleep—and dream.

She is the eighth generation of the Drevs, and she says she intends following in the footsteps of the members of the family by going on the stage, and will leave shortly for Europe, where she will study voice and language.

Brown accessories compete with black in autumn chic, and the glove of brown is correct for ensembling with the brown costume, while it is moreover, charming with green, with purple, and quite unusual contrasted with dark red, and so many shades are shown in the brown color range that there is no hazard in using this.

She was very young and lovely in her simple white frock and hat. Chandler saw her flushed cheeks and shyly averted eyes bewitching. He turned frequently to look at her, as he drove the three of them up to town. Barbara noted the eagerness of his eyes with a little wistful sigh.

After the bright sunlight, the church was chill and gloomy. Madelon shuddered momentarily.

WHAT'S NEW
(From a Woman's Standpoint)

The newest Paris hats stress the wine shades.

The mellow note of satin in egg-shell or delicate beige is impossible to many dark hued dresses and suits; otherwise seem trying to the complexion.

The new tendency in millinery is distinctly toward brims, and the new current trend of all lot of the brow possible undoubtedly will continue throughout the early part of the winter.

Weak After Operation

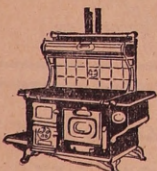

"After having an operation, I was very miserable, weak, nervous and very near unfit to work. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and tried it and believe it helped me wonderfully. I have no weak spells any more, the pains have left me and my nerves are much better. I feel safe in saying Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine has helped me wonderfully."—Mrs. Wm. H. Europe's greatest beauty advisors recommend twice daily use of Palmolive Soap

FIVE great figures in international beauty culture who serve the aristocracy of Europe—Madame Paris, Jacobson, of London; Piss, of Vienna; Fontaine, of Brussels, and Attilio, of Rome—recommend to all their patrons the twice-a-day use of Palmolive soap.

These leading experts and hundreds of other notable beauticians of Europe, Canada and the United States prescribe one, and only one, cleansing method: Make a rich lather of Palmolive soap and warm water. Massage well into the pores for two minutes; then rinse, first with warm water, later with cold.

Take their advice. Begin to use Palmolive to-day. Protect your natural skin loveliness with the one soap that gives the soothing, refreshing emollient effects of bland palm and olive oils.

Bill Hughes Has Not Announced Line-Up For Crucial Game

Montreal, Oct. 25.—Winding up the heaviest part of their training grind for the Tiger game here tomorrow, the Wheelers went through a practice on kick formations and a workout for the half-backs last night on the M. A. A. A. gridiron.

The "game of the season" looms close and Bill Hughes is straining every nerve and muscle to have all possible loose ends cleared up in his rugby machine. The men are still fired by the same enthusiasm that has marked their practices all this week and they respond with alacrity to Bill's instructions and criticisms.

With Wally Whitty getting plenty exercise for his fee, the men were divided into two squads, which tested kick formations. The regular line was given plenty of work to polish up their defense of Whitty, and when Wally was switched to the other squad, protected by Hamilton's type of kick formation, the regulars were sent in to see how often they could break through to block. Hughes has been figuring on every angle of the game, and is not letting slip any potential opening that may mean gained ground and will score points for the Wheelers tomorrow.

Coach Hughes is again secretive as to his actual starting line-up, but it is likely that it will much resemble the team that started against Argos a week ago. Johnny Burrell is likely to start at flying wing, with Moore, Perry and Whitty on the half-line. Benny Hayes will pilot the game from quarter instead of Charlie Foran, and Red Teller will be at inside and will pair off with Bert Adams. Pip Potter and Ernie Hempey are sure to start as middles, with Hutton and Garbarino the likely outside wings.

Of Wednesday night's injuries, only two were serious enough to affect yesterday's workout. Bill O'Connor was out for some time with his finger injury. Besides the nail, which was almost ripped off, it is likely that a bone is broken. Gerry Monty's side was X-rayed, but there have been no

Aviator uses Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with beneficial effects

"It didn't go well" in France, but same home to Canada carrying my health, says the doctor. I weighed exactly 120 pounds—not much for a six-footer. Look at me now! 185, and as hard as nails!"

The speaker (name if requested) was a young Canadian who served overseas with the Royal Flying Corps, and returned in 1918 a mere shadow of a man. His uncle, a prominent doctor, suggested Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. After one month's trial, he felt better. He persevered, and in three months was back at his position, healthy and happy.

The best part of the story is: his health has lasted as only health gained in a natural manner can last. He is still holding his strenuous position as editor of a successful publication.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will relieve constipation and the chain of ills that arise from it, permanently and naturally, if eaten regularly. Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases at every meal. Only ALL-BRAN can conquer constipation.

Made in London, Canada. For sale at all dealers.

reports on what the plates are. Gerry fears there may be a fracture to a rib.

The ticket sale for tomorrow's tilt is progressing even more encouragingly than this time a week ago, but there are still plenty of seats left. The Stadium seats something like 13,000, so there should be room for everybody. The Wheelers will finish up their training tonight with a light signal drill and chalk talk.

NEW YORK TEAMS
READY FOR GRIND

Rangers And Americans Gather In Gotham For Training

New York, October 25, (By Canadian Press).—Players of the Rangers and Americans, New York's entries in the National Hockey League, were trooping today toward their respective training camps the former to Springfield and the latter to New Haven, while installation of new machinery was being carried out at Madison Square Garden in preparation for the opening game of the season.

This machinery is calculated to materially improve the ice surface in the huge arena and eliminate the soft condition of the skating area, which in past seasons had slowed up the game.

It was reported today that waivers would be asked on a number of the New York American players before the regular season starts.

Lionel Conacher, who has succeeded Tommy Gorman in the managerial role, has declined, however, to divulge the names of the men he plans to release.

While the Rangers will start their training campaign with a roster of about forty regulars and rookies, Conacher to date has directed only twelve players to report at New Haven. This number includes Winter, Reese, Simpson, Birch, Hines,

COLLEGE BATTLE

Red Team Weakened For Battle With The Tricolor

A weakened McGill football squad leaves Bonaventure station at 12:30 this afternoon for Kingston where it meets the league-leading Queen's twelve at the Richardson stadium tomorrow. With Harry Doherty definitely off the line-up, and Ralph St. Germain not likely to start, the riddled red team will likely be forced to new heights of brilliance to gain the victory they need to force their way into a challenging position in the intercollegiate race.

Doherty has not been in uniform since the eventful game with Toronto Varsity last week. The brilliant backfield player wrenched his knee at the Queen's City and spent the whole week on the sidelines. He is still limping badly, and there is even doubt whether he will be able to start in the Varsity game here next week. Ralph St. Germain was named to start at Kingston, but the condition of the half line players here is not altogether satisfactory and the likelihood is that he will see little or no action at all.

The remainder of the squad went through a stiff scrimmage against a scratch team and displayed more confidence during the entire session thus far. Kritzewski, Smyth, and McGillivray were working on the half line, with the remainder of the team intact and in good shape. Granger called the signals with Halperny at flying wing and Swabey at snap. The line stood up under the line plunges of the intermediates with ease and appear to be in the finest condition.

Students at McGill are taking the battle tomorrow seriously and are maintaining high hopes of a victory. They are taking out pad and pencil to figure out the situation in the intercollegiate race and the consensus of opinion is that if McGill snaps back into form and defeats Queen's, a three-cornered tie would be imminent.

With the sound showing signs of getting better, the student body is taking notice of the game tomorrow. A few special cars on the Kingston train will carry the McGill University band as well as over two hundred rooters in an effort to aid the squad in a repetition of last year's sensational and surprising win over the Tricolor.

Connor, Shepherd, McVey, Broadbent, Dwyer, Billy Boyd and a newcomer named Patterson, who came via the waiver route from the Boston Bruins. A report was in circulation that the Providence Red Birds, would be Jimmy Gardner, at present coach of named as official coach of the Americans.

TODAY'S TREND IN AUTOMOBILES

Transition From Four To Six And Then To Eight Outlined

Transition from the four to the six cylinder automobile which occurred some years ago, and the present increasing trend toward the eight cylinder car are very clearly outlined in an article which appeared in a recent issue of "The Business Week," an authoritative magazine of business.

"While there have always been more four cylinder cars produced than any others," the article reads, "the relative number of four cylinder models on the market has been declining for at least 15 years. Six cylinder models increased up to 1924, when they, too, started downward to give way to eight cylinder cars, which now comprise nearly 50% of all models on the market."

"Four cylinder engines were at their peak in 1914. In that year 54 per cent of all makes of cars were using four cylinder power plants. But in the succeeding years, we saw the popularity of the four waning in favor of the six. This change was first noticeable in the higher priced cars but ultimately bunched down into the lower priced brackets with the result that by 1924 sixes had definitely forced fours out of first place. In that year 70 per cent of the makes of cars were sixes, while fours dropped to 12 per cent. The remainder represented approximately the manufacture of eight cylinders, which at that time were still in their infancy and considered an expensive luxury.

"With the growing demand for increased power in automobiles and a gradual lowering of prices as a result of this added demand and improved manufacturing methods, the eight first gave sixes keen competition in the high priced field. Today all of the finest American cars are eights. In Europe, such aristocrats as Bianchi, Renault, Mercedes, Lancia etc. have their finest models powered by eight cylinder engines.

"In 1927, Studebaker inaugurated its President Eight—a quality eight cylinder car selling at six cylinder prices. Even at that time, the response to an eight cylinder motor in this price field was remarkable. Within six months after the President's introduction, Studebaker was selling more eight cylinder cars than any other manufacturer in the world, a position in which it is even more firmly entrenched today as a result of the Commander Eight and Dictator Eight models introduced this year.

"In 1923, of all types of engines used in American passenger cars only 10.4 per cent were eights. Today that figure is 41 per cent, with every indication pointing to a decided increase year by year. Today the percentage of sixes had dropped from 70 to 55 per cent while only 4 per cent of the various makes of engines are fours.

"Europe offers convincing evidence of the turning of the tide. At the 1928 Olympia Show in London there were 25 makes of eight cylinder cars displayed as against 13 the year before. At the Grand Palais in Paris last year there were 27 makes of eight cylinder cars exhibited as against 15 in 1927. The Grand Palais is the leading automobile show of Europe and an usually attracts exhibits from all over the world.

"To get back to the United States. The official registration figures for eight cylinder cars priced in excess of $1,000 in 43 states during the first seven months of this year show an increase of 94 per cent over the same period last year. During this same time sixes over $1,000 showed a decrease of 18 per cent. Comparative figures are lacking for five states which do not compile registrations by engine models.

"Studebaker has long recognized this trend, to the end that it is today the world's largest manufacturer of straight manufacturing advantage enables it to build and sell eights in the same price range in which its major competitors are offering sixes. Thus Studebaker believes that its line of eights on the President, Commander and new Dictator chassis assure the greatest automotive values at prices listed from $1350 to $3445 at Walkerville.

"While the trend toward eight cylinder cars is very definitely shown by registration figures, there are still, of course, many six cylinder cars sold in the field above $1500. For this reason Studebaker also builds three six cylinder models—The Commander Six, The New Dictator Six and the Eskimo Six—offered at a price range listed from $1025 to $1895 at Walkerville.

WONG'S UPSTAIRS DINING ROOMS PROVE POPULAR

Wong's New Upstairs Room, opened about a month ago, is proving a most popular spot for dining and dancing and is a really worth while addition to the places of entertainment and dining rooms in the city of Belleville. The "Harmony King" orchestra, models for the benefit of the dancers, who through the new restaurant and who find it an ideal and congenial spot to spend an hour after the theatre. Quality foods, well cooked, and service which is polite and generally unexcelled, are features which appeal to all patrons of Wong's and which all help to make the restaurant and dance dining room a unique feature of the city.

Next time you're at the theatre, drop into Wong's upstairs Dining Room and enjoy a dance or listen to the peppy music supplied by the Harmony Kings. You'll like it.

Regular full course meals are served daily in the new dining room for fifty cents, except Sunday, when the full course special Chicken Dinner is served for sixty-five cents.

HUDSON MOTOR NET EARNINGS ARE FAVORABLE

Nine Months' Earnings Surpass Those of Same Period Last Year

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 25.—Hudson Motor Car Company net earnings after all charges for the first nine months of 1929 are announced as $13,421,165 or $8.42 a share. This compares with $12,337,652 or $7.73 a share with the similar period of 1928, an increase of $1,083,513 or 86c a share.

Nine months' showing is practically identical with net earnings for all of 1928 when all year totals were $13,457,363 or $8.43 a share.

Third quarter earnings were $2,421,653 or $1.77 a share. While this was a recession of 19c a share from the 1928 third quarter performance, the nine months total for 1929 was brought to the more favorable level by the record breaking earnings of the first six months.

Firm believers in "Safety First" and the gospel that prevention is infinitely better than cure, the Hudson Motor Car Company, although accidents at its plants have been reduced to a minimum, has recently completed alterations and additions to its hospital at a cost of $115,000 and extended its Safety First educational activities to every department.

These additions have been carried out under the supervision of Dr. Otto Fisher, eminent industrial doctor and safety-first educational, who is chief of the medical corps at Hudson. His staff includes an assistant, fifteen nurses and two ambulance drivers. All of the furniture in the room is built into the walls, and corners where dust might collect have been entirely eliminated.

The equipment includes the most recent preventative and curative medicines and instruments known to science, laboratory, rest rooms and observation wards being equipped like a private hospital. Ultra Violet ray machines have been used extensively at the Hudson hospital.

Everything has been done for the comfort for the very few patients who find their way into the hospital. A distinct change from the old "ward" system at industrial plants are the private rooms. Large, roomy and pleasant with plenty of fresh air, the patient enjoys the greatest mental as well as physical treatment in the Hudson hospital.

All walls and floors are tiled and the fixtures are of metal, metal, chromium plated.

The percent of accidents has been reduced year by year at Hudson plants and with the further extension of the educational facilities, Dr. Fisher is extremely hopeful of establishing a new record for automobile plants.

LINE HARMONY IS SOUGHT BY DURANT MAKERS

Thirty years ago the automobile was a man's creation made for man. The first job was to dress it up and make it look better.

Then the woman began to be a factor in the work. The closed car arrived. Line harmony engaged the attention of experts.

In the old days an automobile comprised a number of units which bore little or no relation to each other, such as hood, radiator, fenders, body, fenders, running boards, bumpers and wheels. No attempt was made to tie these units together. Today, line harmony is a vital factor in the evolution of beautiful models.

According to Durant engineers and body designers, line harmony may be defined as a pleasing blending of lines and masses to produce a beautiful ensemble.

In designing the Durant 66 Sedan, for instance, diligent efforts were made to harmonize or blend the lines of various units. The result is an exceptionally pleasing effect. Side front and rear views were each studied as a unit of design. The ends of straight lines instead of terminating abruptly are blended wherever possible in curved lines. This explains why the front of the Sixty-Six has such a distinctive radiator and gracefully curved fenders. Hood and cowling lines also merge in tasteful symmetry. Rear fenders curve into the running boards instead of making a sharp, un-

Why waste money in paying higher prices for your cleaning than this when you can get first class work done promptly.

INVESTIGATION WILL CONTINUE AT ONCE

Washington, D.C., By Canadian Press)—Resumption by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee of its sweeping investigation into the whole field of radio, telephone, telegraph and cable communication waits only on passage of the tariff bill by the Senate.

Chairman Coudens believes, in view of a statement by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, that the bill will be out of the way by the end of the month and the hearings started again in November. A complete investigation, extending into the interests transmission of electrical power, is contemplated.

The committee undoubtedly will follow up testimony that a monopoly existed in the radio industry, which it received before the hearings were suspended last spring after examination of army, navy and civilian radio experts. Next in order will come testimony on the telephone and telegraph phases of the industry, and then the Coudens proposal for federal control of interstate transmission of electrical power.

The committee will report after completing its industry on a bill by Coudens which would place all kinds of electrical communication under a new commission, superseding the radio commission. The latter becomes only an appellate body after January 1, unless new legislation is enacted before then.

FIRESTONE TIRES IN LARGER DEMAND

Firestone Tires are admittedly among the leading tires for automobile and trucks on the market today. George Deline, local distributor for Firestones in this city and district, always carries a most complete line of these quality tires in the proper size to fit your car or truck.

If you have never tried Firestones, but have been purchasing perhaps a cheaper tire in order to save a few dollars, you may as well start right now and correct that error, for it is an error according to the local Firestone distributor. A few dollars more paid for a Firestone is money well spent and anyone trying Firestone for a short time, will realize this. Have George Deline show you his stock.

CORNWALL MAN DESERTS MOTOR CAR ON HIGHWAY

Police of Napanee And Kingston Probing Disappearance of Driver

Kingston, October 24.—Police of Napanee and Kingston are trying to solve the mysterious disappearance of Bernard Hunt, whose home is in Cornwall but who has been in business in Napanee for a short time.

Mr. Hunt went to Napanee on Sept. 1, having purchased the butcher shop of Richard Louke. On Sunday Oct. 13 he motored to Kingston, where he spent the day with friends. He left Kingston at 11 o'clock that night. When within four miles of Napanee his car ran out of gasoline and he awakened a resident nearby to get some gasoline. The following morning his car was found on the roadside and since that time the whereabouts of Mr. Hunt are a complete mystery.

Provincial Officer Boyle, of Napanee, who, with Provincial Officer F. W. Barrett and Chief of Police Watts, of Napanee, are working on the case, stated that they had no clue whatever as to the whereabouts of Bernard Hunt, and that tomorrow a systematic search would be commenced. No reason can be assigned for his mysterious disappearance. As far as can be learned he was in the best of health, and had no business worries.

A brother of the missing man arrived in Napanee today to assist in the search, but had nothing to offer the police that might help to find him. The brother cannot account for his sudden disappearance. The Kingston police have been unable to get any trace of the missing man here.

Two Negroes Hoped To Obtain Money For Damages

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 24.—Two negroes living in Jeffersonville, Ind., were arrested late last night after a large sedan had been removed from the railroad track just before President Hoover's train passed.

The sedan was discovered on the tracks five miles north of New Albany, Ind., which is across the river from here. It was removed by the residents of the neighborhood a few minutes before the President's train reached the point.

The negroes, young Wright, 43, and Charles Burlock, 19, were reported to have confessed to the detectives that they placed the sedan on the tracks in a plot to obtain money from the railroad company for damages. They were held for United States authorities.

OLD COACH HOUSE

Ottawa, Ont., (By Canadian Press)—Fire recently damaged an unused coach house which is said to be one of the oldest buildings in this city. It was erected about 100 years ago and was used for many years as a brewery and later as a hall in which public entertainments were held. The house stands on the cliff overlooking the Ottawa River just east of the Rideau Falls at John and Sussex streets.

The map above shows how Ontario is divided, for provincial election purposes, into 112 ridings, each entitled to one representative in the legislature. Up until 1914 there were 106 ridings, but in that year five were added by a redistribution, and in 1925 the representation was increased by one seat. Toronto has 15 seats, Hamilton 3, London 2, Ottawa 3, and Windsor 2.

Just For The Feminine Reader

A LITTLE CHANGE

In selecting a hat, the entire figure as well as the face and head, should be considered. An expert millinery saleswoman studies a prospective customer as she advances to meet her so that the picture of the standing figure will be clear in her mind, even after the customer is seated and begins the actual trying-on of different models. Where the general appearance of the customer will be improved by the effect of added height, the upturned brim or off-the-forehead drapery accords with this, as such an upward line carries the glance of the observer beyond the actual height of the wearer, apparently making the figure taller and more slender. A drooping brim or a low-draped trimming has the opposite effect, accentuating any wideness of face and neck and emphasizing heavy lines and contours.

The favorite turban style of headgear which so becomingly follows the natural contour of the head when expertly draped, affords a practical example of the difference accomplished by carefully placed lines. The woman who finds evenly folded, horizontal lines unbecoming in such a turban will witness a quick transformation when a diagonal draping is introduced over the forehead. Without changing the contour, crossing diagonal folds carry the eye of the observer above the line of the brow and eliminate any impression of bulk or heaviness. Even an expertly placed ornament sometimes so changes the line as to produce the desirable upward effect that one faces and figures require.

The present style of draped hat which in so many models conceals the neck at the back and one side, must be chosen with care in order to be coming to the wearer both when seated and standing. Sometimes a minor alteration which modifies the droop of back and sides and reveals more of the neckline will entirely remedy the difficulty. If the hat is to be worn with a particular dress, the customer selecting by all means wear this when selecting her hat, as the neckline of a dress has an important bearing on the becomingness of the hat with which it is worn.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

New data for wearing with fur-trimmed coats have pieces of the same fur for decoration, and these are seen into bows and placed right at the back of the hat or are cut into ear-shaped pieces and attached at the sides like ear-muffs.

A novelty from Paris for growing hair is the growing-hair comb, which is very pretty and is worn in the evenings by those whose hair is long enough to be curled and brushed upwards, and it fits becomingly round the head and is covered with small roses or mixed flowers.

Lingerie collars are seen more than ever on tweed dresses and coats and sometimes a coat has a collar of scalloped white linen which buttons on and off, while there is a plain tweed collar beneath and a matching white linen flower in the buttonhole that has been empty for so long.

The last time that the Queen visited a woman antiquary, George Street, she was greatly admired and bought some needlework pictures of the 18th century, for there is a decided vogue for these pastoral scenes, worked in silk and wool on parchment, linen backgrounds, and some of London's best known dressmakers have examples in their showrooms.

A New York World editor remarks: "Dr. Valerie H. Parker told the National Council of Women that the women of America ought to bring back the home, but one woman of our acquaintance tells us that hers is now in a broker's office, and it may be a long time before she gets it back.

SOME HELPFUL HINTS FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

Silks should always be pressed on the wrong side if possible, otherwise use tissue paper between the garment and the iron.

Picnics are just as much fun and less work if the sandwiches are made when and where they will be eaten, instead of beforehand.

Delightful hand-made wrought iron wall brackets help solve the foyer or sun-parlor problem. Ivy or cactus can be grown in the base of the bracket to make an excellent shading.

When velvet or velveteen gets badly creased, try damping slightly with vinegar and water, and then press it by passing it over an iron which is being held upside down. The under side of the velvet, of course, should go next to the iron. When pressing be sure and keep the material on the move all the time, or the marks of the iron may be impressed on the velvet.

Scalloped Sausage
12 large pork sausage, 3 cups bread crumbs soaked in a pint of cold water, 1 good sized onion chopped, 1 cup celery chopped, 1 well beaten egg, salt and pepper to taste, 2 cooking apples. When the bread has become fluffy squeeze the water out and add the onion, celery, egg and seasonings. Lay the sausage in a deep dish and cover with the dressing. Place the sliced, cored apples on top, sprinkle with two tablespoons brown sugar and bake in a moderate oven until the apples are done (about twenty minutes). Use as a cover for the first fifteen minutes. Serves eight people.

Chinese Rice Buttered
One cup rice, two cups cold water, one teaspoon salt, two tablespoons butter. Cooking time, about twenty minutes.

Put the washed rice, salt and water in a saucepan. Cover closely and set over a hot fire. When the water boils over (about ten minutes) reduce the heat and cook slowly ten minutes. Set in a warm place ten minutes more. Do not lift the cover once during the cooking or steaming. Toss in the butter before serving.

Cranberry Tapioca
3-4 cup granulated tapioca, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cups boiling water, 1 pint cranberries, 1-2 cup water, 1-2 cup sugar.

Cook tapioca, salt and boiling water together until clear. Cook cranberries and water until soft and add the tapioca with the sugar. Cook five minutes, pour into a wet mold, chill and serve with cream.

RULES IN DRESS BY ARCHBISHOP

Sydney, Australia. (By C.P.)—Incorporated in a pastoral letter issued by the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Sydney, Dr. Kelly are "rules for modesty in dress," formulated by the Association of Roman Catholic women. It states that the regulations are to be regarded as the precepts of the Roman Catholic Church, and that this promulgation is to be entrusted to the religious teachers of the Roman Catholic girls.

The rules are as follows:—

- (1) Girls aged from 4 to 10 years must wear dresses reaching to the knee, and sleeves at least to the elbow.
- (2) Girls aged from 10 to 14 years must wear dresses to not less than 2 inches below the knee when sitting, and sleeves at least to the elbow.
- (3) Girls and women aged more than 14 years (a) must wear dresses reaching to at least 4 inches below the knee when sitting, (b) must wear sleeves including those of sports costumes to the elbow, (c) Must never wear V necks, (d) The sleeves of evening dresses must cover the shoulder and pit of the arm, (e) The necks of dresses in every case to be not more than 2 inches below the pit of the throat, (f) Transparent material for dresses to be rigidly excluded unless worn over a non-transparent slip, (g) Flesh-colored stockings not to consist of two pieces costume, reaching to neck to knee, are always to be worn, (h) Bathing costumes to be worn, (i) Bathers never to loiter in bathing costumes on the beach, or have photographs taken in bathing costumes.

"STARVED HEARTS"

BY Mildred Barbour

Barbara's head rested wearily on her hand. Her fingers toyed with a small round pastboard box that lay on the desk, she seemed curiously remote, detached, as if she brought her thoughts back to her guests with difficulty.

Ann, who had long since guessed the secret of Barbara's attachment to Duane Farley, had the uncomfortable feeling that Barbara might be planning some momentous step. If Farley had not been so honorable, she might have feared a elopement. Stephen Lane was driving her to the wall, of late.

"I must be off," Ann rose briskly. "Got some people coming in for tea. Would you care to come down?"

"Thank you—I'm afraid I'm not up to it today," Barbara forced a smile.

There was real anxiety in Ann's searching glance. Her eye fell on the little pastboard box in Barbara's restless fingers.

"Sleeping powders?" she hazarded.

Barbara handed over the box, and Ann looked at the prescription.

"Hum! Rather a dangerous drug. How many do you take?"

"One—sometimes two, when I am very wakeful."

"Be careful, you don't overdose."

"So Dr. Grant warned me."

"You need rest and change," declared Ann. "Why don't you go away some where?"

Barbara nodded.

"I think, perhaps I shall."

"Better go up to see Madelon. You will have the time of your life."

Ann picked up the letters Barbara had requested her to mail and went on her way. She carried away with her a picture of Barbara, lovely drooping, unhappy, sitting quietly before her desk, weariness in every line of her posture.

She passed Lane in the hall downstairs, and answered his cool, remote greeting with a cheery nod.

In the front steps, she met Stephen Junior and a nursemaid coming in from an afternoon walk. She stopped and, raising his chubby, rosy face, looked down at him with eyes grown soft and wistful.

"Hello, youngster, how goes it?" she asked, controlling her impulse to crush him in her empty arms.

"Master Stephen is very well today, thank you," the nursemaid answered.

"And Miss Ordway is well, too, I hope."

Ann shook the little gloved paw laughingly, and went on to the mailbox, where she stopped to read the letters.

The second one hung for a moment in the air before it descended into the box. Ann's eyes unconsciously caught the superscription.

It was addressed to Duane Farley.

"Poor Barbara!" sighed Ann. "I wonder what the end will be?"

THE SUMMONS HOME

"Barbara died last night. Come at once—Stephen Lane."

Madelon re-read the telegram incredulously.

Barbara dead? Impossible! It was some cruel trick of Lane's to make her come home.

"Ain't that the answer?" the messenger boy, shifting impatiently from one foot to the other, enquired sharply.

She held out her hand for the blank he shoved at her, accepted the dirty stub of pencil, and scrawled a few words on the envelope.

Then she went back to her interrupted breakfast. But her desire for food was gone. She seemed to be groping in a mist of unreality.

Barbara couldn't be dead! She was so young, so alive even under that frozen exterior.

She looked around her pretty breakfast room, at the sunlight streaming in through crisp, ruffled curtains, shining on her polished copper percolator on the low vase of jonquills in the center of the table.

Surely death had not been so cruel as to take all that from Barbara. Barbara, who loved the warm sunlight! She couldn't believe it! She wouldn't!

Howard Chandler's death had left her unmoved. Despite her efforts to force grief into her heart, she had been dry-eyed. She could not crowd out of her consciousness the welcome knowledge that she was free at last of her unhappy bargain.

But this—this was horrible to think of! She loved Barbara much more than she had even realized. They could have had happy years together if Lane had not been so relentless. Was it all too late now?

Mindful of the time if she would make the train she had mentioned in her answering wire, she sprang up, rang for her maid, and gave her a few brief directions, times to the elbow, (c) Must never wear V necks, (d) The sleeves of evening dresses must cover the shoulder and pit of the arm, (e) The necks of dresses in every case to be not more than 2 inches below the pit of the throat, (f) Transparent material for dresses to be rigidly excluded unless worn over a non-transparent slip, (g) Flesh-colored stockings not to consist of two pieces costume, reaching to neck to knee, are always to be worn, (h) Bathing costumes to be worn, (i) Bathers never to loiter in bathing costumes on the beach, or have photographs taken in bathing costumes.

Thousands of children are thrilled by the rapid approach of Christmas, and the coming of Santa Claus out of the northern silences of the North Pole to minister to the desires and dreams of happy childhood.

Before the hastily summoned taxi at the door, she was ready in her trim traveling costume, her bags closed and waiting. She drove to the school and acquainted Miss Gullbert with her sorrowful errand. An hour later, she was on the train speeding westward.

It was night when she reached Stephen Lane's house. The house was in darkness except for a light in the entrance hall.

She shuddered with the thought of that darkness portended, and, unconsciously, her eye went to the wing that had been Barbara's. By the light on the corner, she could see that the curtains were closed.

How many times, poor beautiful unhappy Barbara had stood by those windows staring out at the life that drifted away up and down the avenue!

Madelon, impulsive as ever, admitted her and ushered her into the library where Lane was waiting.

Madelon had no time to wonder what her welcome would be after the years that had elapsed since last they saw each other.

He rose from his chair by the fire, and she saw that some subtle change had passed over him. He seemed older, his erectness was less evident. His face was much grayer. No trace of emotion showed in his face, though his greeting was kindly, almost gentle.

Madelon kissed his cheek impulsively. Quick tears had sprung to her eyes.

"Poor Uncle Stephen! I'm so terribly, terribly sorry! How did it happen?"

"You were right, I'm so terribly, terribly sorry! How did it happen?"

MEDAL GIVING AN OLD PRACTICE

Banquet in London Brings Origin of Medals to Mind.

The banquet in London, organized by the British Empire Service League in honour of recipients of the Victoria Cross and at which the Prince of Wales was present, recalls the antiquity of the practice of bestowing medals upon soldiers to broken loyal recognition of courageous deeds. It is a product of the days when Cavalier fought Roundhead. True it is that certain devices had been struck by Queen Elizabeth half a century previously and presented to high officers in the Royal Navy in commemoration of the victory over the Spanish Armada, but it was left to King Charles the First to institute decorations for personal bravery in the army. History discloses the first of these to have been known as the "Forlorn Hope," a medal whose manufacture by the King's Graver of Seals was authorized by Royal Warrant in the year 1642. Whether any "Forlorn Hopes" were ever issued are unknown, all records pertaining thereto being destroyed when the Parliamentary forces entered Oxford where Charles had set up his headquarters. But the fact is nevertheless established that at the battle of Edgehill, on October 23, 1642—the first engagement of the Civil War—an Irish officer named Lynch was decorated by the King. Lynch may not improbably have been the first recipient of the "Forlorn Hope," and thus the first British soldier in history to wear a decoration bestowed for a conspicuous act of gallantry.

King Charles established a precedent but not for another 200 years was any general attempt made to follow it. Medals of various descriptions and commemorative of various historical events were issued from time to time during the 18th century. It was not until well towards the middle of the last century, however, that there came a revival and definite establishment of the principle that decorations be awarded not only for general participation in the foreign wars but also for acts of individual bravery. A curious reflection is that a stubborn opponent of this practice was none other than the "Iron Duke" himself. Wellington expressed a peculiar antagonism towards issuing medals to the very soldier whose sacrifices had gained for him his renown as conqueror of Napoleon.

The Distinguished Conduct Medal is senior in point of age to the Victoria Cross, having preceded it by about a decade. Its distribution was restricted to non-commissioned officers and men just as its vis-a-vis, the Distinguished Service Order, was confined to the commissioned ranks. The Victoria Cross was the first and continues to be the only fighting decoration for which all ranks are eligible in every branch of the armed forces of the crown. It ranks in precedence over all other honours and decorations, it is the highest visible reward of heroism. Such being the case the utmost care has always been exercised in its distribution. There have been times when outcries were raised against the award of "cheapening" it. Protests of this character ensued when the Royal Warrant of Jan. 29, 1886, which instituted the Victoria Cross, was amended in 1898.

The first Royal Warrant made it clear that the decoration could be bestowed only for acts of bravery performed "in the presence of the enemy." Two years later the qualifications were modified. It was set forth that the Victoria Cross could be awarded for a deed of valor, necessarily in the presence of the enemy, which might result in the saving of a life and public property. Under the amended conditions one, and only one, Victoria Cross was ever conferred. And it is of extreme interest to recall that Canada was the locale of the feat which produced the sole award. On June 9, 1866, a detachment of the 2nd battalion, the Rifle Brigade, was being transported from Quebec City to Montreal, during the Fenian Raid. At Danville Station the ammunition van caught fire. It was at once uncoupled. Consternation developed among the Rifle-men, but in Private Timothy O'Shea, the occasion found the man. Of him the London Gazette of January 1, 1867, has this to say:

"The sergeant in charge of the escort states that while considering what was best to be done, Private O'Shea took the keys from his hand, rushed to the car, opened it, and called for water and a ladder. It is stated that due to his example the fire was suppressed."

This was the only occasion which a Victoria Cross was awarded for an act performed in this country. Subsequent protests resulted in a restoration of the original qualifications in 1881.

Rule 13 of the Royal Warrant of 1886 ordains that where a ship's company has performed a gallant and daring act in which all of its personnel have been equally distinguished, the officer commanding may direct that the ranks and ratings select one of their number respectively to receive the Victoria Cross. The first time this was ever done saw a Canadian figure in the award, Lieut. R. N. Stuart, V.C., D.S.O., at present master of the Canadian Pacific liner, "Duchess of York," is the son of Prince Edward Island parents. In June, 1917, he served with Commander Gordon Campbell V.C., on board the "hush ship" Pargust. Off the Irish Coast the Pargust was torpedoed by the UC-29, and in the ensuing operations the German submarine was sunk. In recognition of his part in the engagement, Lieut. Stuart was selected by the officers of the Pargust to receive the Victoria Cross. The petty officers and seamen named one of their own number to be similarly decorated. Only twice has Rule 1 been invoked, in each case for acts performed against German U-boats. Canadians have won the Victoria Cross in France, Russia, Palestine, India and South Africa. Its first Canadian recipient was ensign A. R. Dunn whose father was Receiver General of Canada. He rode with the 11th Hussars in the Charge of the Light Brigade at Balaklava. The last Canadian to receive it was Cpl. E. D. Bellew of the 7th (British Columbia) Battalion C. E. F., who was wounded and captured at Ypres in April 1915, but whose conduct earned the honour for him. The award was made after the armistice.

BEES BENEFIT FRUIT GROWING

Bees Carry Pollen to Fruit Plants; Better Fruit Results.

The primary object of keeping bees is to secure from them a crop of honey, but this is not all that may be gained through them. Bees secure their living and a surplus crop of honey for their owner almost entirely from flowers, and because of this fact, they are of equal economic importance to the producers of seed and fruit, as they are to the beekeeper himself. A crop of fruit cannot be obtained unless the blossoms first become fertilized and this is accomplished by transferring pollen from one blossom to another. It has been proved that most of the fruit bearing trees or bushes are either self sterile or incompatible to their own pollen and that all of them will yield better crops when crossed with pollen from some other variety. It has also been proved that wind plays little or no part in the distribution of fruit pollen, but that insects are the most effective agents for this purpose.

Some experimental work done with plums at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, showed that when insects were excluded from the trees during the blossoming period, no fruit was obtained, but where some bees had access to the flowers, a good crop was secured. Wild bees are also effective pollinating agents but their numbers cannot be controlled, a severe winter may reduce their numbers considerably, but honey bees being wintered over in colonies and capable of being moved from place to place may be distributed through the orchards as desired. It is a common practice in some countries for fruit growers, who are not beekeepers themselves, to hire colonies from some beekeeper during the blossoming period, knowing that the presence of bees in their orchards increases the possibilities for a better crop of fruit.

THE 'BOOK WEEK' WAS OBSERVED

Noted Authors Gather to Pay Tribute to Goddess Muse.

Toronto, Ont. (C.P.)—A feature of Toronto's celebration of Book Week was a mass meeting in Convocation Hall, University of Toronto, when a programme of Canadian Poetry and philosophy was furnished by such noted authors as Miss Marshall Saunders, "Ralph Connor," Katherine Hale, Rev. Dr. Robert Norwood, poet-rector of St. Bartholomew's Church of New York, and Dr. E. J. Pratt.

Marshall Saunders, whose "Beautiful Joe" has been translated into 15 languages, told the story of its writing. The Boston Humane Society offered a prize for a story. She translated "Beautiful Joe" with his clipped ears from a McLeod farm, surrounded him with Nova Scotia animals and in order to please the Americans moved her characters all over in to Maine. That was her confession.

"A book is one of the most wonderful things a man ever made," said Rev. C. W. Gordon, (Ralph Connor). "It grows out of life. It is a man expressing himself, the utterings of a soul," he added, telling how his first book was sent back and made into three. The signature was forgotten so he took the first three letters of the words Canadian Northwest and evolved Connor. But a telegrapher made it Connor and the editor added the Ralph.

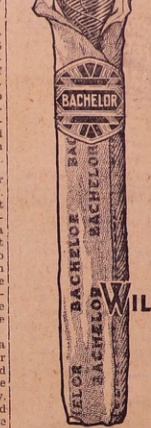

At a meeting of the Canadian Literature Club Rev. Dr. Norwood, Dr. Charles G. D. Roberts, Wilson McDonald and Dr. Lorne Pierce all paid tribute to Bliss Carman. H. H. Hathaway, life-long friend of Carman, shared him with Wordsworth and George Meredith. Dr. Norwood said: "I recall as the people were going out of a church by the sea in Nova Scotia, several years ago, a young Viking who towered above the crowd. His was a shaggy mane and he had the wild and roving eye. That was our first meeting."

"I think of him not as a technician, publisher of books with an art instinct, but as I first saw him, a man who was greatly a son of God, who was unhappy apart from God. Poets of today are choir boys on stilts," Rev. Dr. Norwood went on, "children on the market who say we have piped and yet have not danced, men and women without vision—and where there is no vision the people perish. Bliss Carman was God among the seafaring maples—and there was meditation."

"This is the only time my learned teacher, referring to Dr. G. D. Roberts, who taught him English and I formation on the infinite. My convic disagree, when he says no one has intuition that poets today have information about the unseen—in information that no rhinoceros—skinned high—brow scientist or student can hope to

QUEEN IS GIVEN FINE BEDCOVER

Beautiful Cover Made in Every County Presented to Queen.

London, Eng. — (C.P.)—The Queen recently visited the exhibition of some 600 bedcovers arranged by the National Federation of Women's Institutes of the Imperial Institute, South Kensington. She did not come during the private view in the morning, but in the afternoon, when the public were admitted, and greeted many of the women visitors from country institutes.

Lady Denman presented to the Queen a bedcover which had been worked co-operatively for her by members of women's institutes in every county in England and Wales. The bed-cover which has taken about two years to make, was designed at Her Majesty's wish in a Queen Ann pattern, for a yellow room. The Queen stood for some time in front of the great case in which it is arranged, admiring its beauties of golden yellow silk on Irish linen, made up of diamond-shaped pieces, separately worked in the various institutes and oversewn at the back by picked workers so that there is no impression of the separate work involved. Her Majesty was interested to learn that it had been touched by an iron, in spite of the many hands working on the linen, and that its smoothness was due to the skill in its making.

The Queen spent a considerable time examining the exhibits (when numbered 1661) and expressed her opinion that there was great improvement in design and color on many crafts. She was specially interested in the embroidery and fine sewing. The quilts interested the Queen greatly, and she admired the beautiful exhibit from the distressed areas and some of the quaint patchwork quilts which were among the most charming of the new covers in color and design. She was specially interested in the Staffordshire exhibit of a workman's parlor. This is the first time that among the exhibitors, and some of the joint efforts, where a man did the carpentry and a woman the upholstery, were awarded.

THE WEEPING MUSE

IS Modern Industrialism about to deal the Art of Music the saddest blow of its history? To blame Machinery as an instrument of Decadence may seem startling, but it is true that Machinery in the form of Canned Music is elbowing Real Music out of motion picture theatres, thus displacing the masses the cultural influence of a Fine Art. Surely, if machine-made music displaces the artist in thousands of instances, the incentive for any individual to improve his talent—so necessary in all art—diminized and music can no longer hold the cultural value that it has possessed. Any art is dependent for its progress upon the number of its enthusiastic exponents. Do you, Mr. Reader, find the pleasure in Mechanical Music that you do in Real Music? If you believe that Real Music should be saved to the masses who attend Motion Picture Theatres make your opinion known to the manager of your favorite theatre. Very likely he will appreciate your frankness for he wants to please his patrons.

HOCKEY LEAGUE IS SPEEDED UP

Forward Pass Will Bring Increase in Number of Goals.

Montreal, Que. (CP).—Increased speed of play, a 50 per cent cut in the time taken to whistle for off-sides, and a much sought for increase in the number of goals look the logical outcome as a result of the changed playing rules which go into effect with the National Hockey League opens its playing season.

Increased speed will come from various sources. The fact that each of the three areas has been thrown open for forward passing, and that players of attacking teams can cross the blue line into enemy territory ahead of the puck make it certain that forwards will be able to travel at a faster clip than ever before, while defense players, in order to cope with the threat of the forward pass, must discard former methods of stopping play by body-checking alone, and train to wheel and dash back from their blue lines to the vicinity of the net at top speed.

Adoption of the forward passing rule in the defensive areas makes the increased number of goals a natural and even a mathematical certainty. If only the goals recalled in previous seasons are taken in addition to those which regularly accrue, there will be a 10 per cent increase, but the new rules make it certain that this percentage will increase largely through the more open nature of the play, and the elimination of anti-defensive rules all along the line.

The adoption of the forward pass in all sections of the ice is the most revolutionary move towards opening up the game and achieving the long-desired millennium which would bring relief from the scoreless draws and the low-scoring contests in which defensive play was certain to be stressed. It may be that the new rules will bring about a new angle on the game. Careful defensive play was so easily possible under former rules, and attacking power so nullified at close range by the rule that limited the forward pass in a defensive area only to the defending team, that the new legislation may bring about a complete reaction in the matter of opening up the play, and see a vigorous trend in hockey fashion towards wide-open, devil-may-care play. At least, this is what the fans are hoping.

The rule in itself is completely simple. Forward passing is permitted in all three sections of the ice as it is divided for playing purposes. A player can cross into any one area ahead of his teammate who is carrying the puck. In the opposing team's defensive area, the attacking forward can precede his puck-carrying teammate over the line, and so long as he does not interfere with defense players of the opposing team, can get into position to take a forward pass, so long as this pass is forward after the puck-carrier has also passed over the blue line. This eliminates off-sides in all three areas. It eliminates the possibility of re-called goals.

The new rules also remove another boundary the technicalities which shrouded in the vicinity of the blue line. Naturally, it is not allowed to pass forward from one area to another, but that is practically the only restriction. The player carrying the puck can be preceded across the line by a teammate, so long as the latter does not interfere with the opposing defense. This must necessarily result in the diminution of whistle-blowing at the blue line, and the injection of greater speed into the game, together with elimination of causes for protest and dissatisfaction.

The new rules also remove another contentious and annoying point from the play. There is the aggravating

USING BARLEY TO REPLACE HAY

Change in Marketing Situation Turns Quebec Farmers to New Crops.

When one thinks of agriculture in the Province of Quebec, the first thing that comes to mind is not a scene of broad waving grain fields and a countryside dotted with elevators, but rather quiet settlements in an old world setting of small, intensively cultivated holdings. This is the typical Quebec countryside.

In some of the most fertile districts of that Province, the main revenue-producing crop for generations back has been hay. The chief market for this commodity was found in the great eastern industrial centres on both sides of the international boundary. In recent years, however, as homes have been more and more displaced by motors, hay has become increasingly hard to sell.

To cope with this situation the government of Quebec in cooperation with local manufacturing interests is encouraging the production of barley as an additional cash crop. In a recent article from the Provincial Department of Agriculture appearing in the daily and farm press of Quebec, it is pointed out that in that Province habits developed by goalers of holding the puck after catching the shot, and then deliberately tossing it to a teammate. It is now provided that the goaler must get rid of the puck instantly, by tossing it to either side, which will give him little chance to pick his spots if pressure on his nets happens to be keen at the time. The penalty for violation of this rule is a face-off directly in front of the nets, with a clear lane from the face-off to the nets, and defending players must keep ten feet back from this lane, all of which enhances the chance of a goal being scored.

The anti-defence rule is made further effective by a ruling which prohibits forwards of the defending team from backing over the blue line into their own territory in advance of the play. This ensures that but three players will occupy the defence area at such time as the play is elsewhere. Forwards of the defending team can enter their own defending area only with the play. They cannot precede it—a point which gives the attacking team a valuable advantage.

MONTREAL DOCK CLOSES SHORTLY

Montreal Harbour Will Close to Shipping Until The Spring

Montreal.—When the R. M. S. Rodney, Canadian National steamship in the West Indies service, docks Tuesday morning it will be her last appearance in the port of Montreal until next spring. When the Lady Rodney sails from here on Saturday on her eighth voyage it will be to return to Halifax instead of Montreal. The winter sailings for the western group of West Indies Islands including Bermuda and Jamaica served from Montreal in summer by the Lady Rodney and the Lady Somers will begin on Dec. 7, when the Rodney sails from Halifax southbound on her ninth voyage. The Lady Somers will arrive in Montreal for the last time this season on November 19. Sailing November 23 for the south and returning to Halifax December 15 from which she will sail December 21 during the winter the Canadian National steamships, five in number, will maintain from the Maritime ports to Bermuda. The West Indies and Demerara, a fortnightly service during the month of November and thereafter until April 18, a weekly service, for both passengers and freight. This is in addition to the freight service given by the freighters. According to the passenger manager of the Canadian National steamships, Thomas Cree, who recently returned from a trip to all the ports of call as far as British Guiana, travel on the Lady Drake, the Lady Rodney and the three other beautiful steamers will be particularly heavy this coming winter. Mr. Cree made this comment during his journey for shore excursions at all the stopping places.

A substantial beginning in barley production has been made in seven counties in Quebec, it is stated, and the crop this year will be sufficient to meet the increased seed requirements of next spring and leave a few carloads for commercial disposal by the growers.

(Special to The Intelligencer)
Peterboro, Nov. 16.—Although Albert College had to accept an 18-5 defeat at the hands of the Peterboro Collegiate team in the second game of the Central Ontario Inter-School athletic final series here this afternoon and thus lost the round by a total score of 41-11, the Belleville collegians had a much greater share of the play than the figures would indicate. They held P. C. I. to a scoreless tie in the first period and scored their 5 to 1 in the second, giving them a four-point lead at half time, only to run into tough luck in the last half when Peterboro scored three touchdowns, two of them decidedly lucky, and added by a string of penalties inflicted by Referee Bobbie Armstrong on the Belleville squad. Albert College was guilty of much high kicking, Yull being the chief offender, and they were frequently short-handed as a result, there being two men of when P. C. I. took command of the game midway through the second half. Albert had a big swing advantage and in addition used the forward pass to big advantage. Thompson's throwing being a feature. It was Belleville's biggest ground gainer and gave the visitors a distinct edge throughout the first half, particularly as P. C. I. did not use the play at all, depending upon the plunging and runs and line plays to advance the ball. Eventually, the Peterboro Collegians justified the wisdom of those tactics by coming on in the last half of the game to outplay the visitors and make big gains both round the ends and through the line.

Albert College tried to take advantage of the wind in the first period when a kicking game might have earned dividends, especially as the P. C. I. backs were bothered by a strong gust in their eyes. On the contrary the visitors used the forward pass repeatedly and with accurate throwing by Thompson gained ground. P. C. I. tightened up when danger threatened. On one occasion an inside kick taken by Pullen, put Belleville in a serious position and Boyes ploughed through for yards to carry the ball to P. C. I.'s 10-yard line. Here they threw away a chance by not kicking and were held for downs. Cuthbertson skirting the end for 20 yards to pull the Peterboro out of danger. Early in the second period P. C. I. pressed, Dunkerly and Cuthbertson making good gains and eventually Cuthbertson kicked over the Belleville line for a touch down, the first point of the game. Belleville rallied and outplayed P. C. I. for the balance of the period. Two beautiful plays by Purchase and Thompson, finally giving them a touchdown and the lead. Purchase made a running catch of Cuthbertson's punt at midfield and ran 30 yards through a broken field. He was clear away for a try but Westbrook overtook him at the P. C. I. 25-yard line. Albert was held on two plays, but Thompson broke through the centre on a fake kick in the third down and ran 20 yards for a touchdown which was not converted. Half-time score: Albert 5, P. C. I., 1.

Early in the third period the P. C. I. and plays began to gain ground. Dunkerly and Cuthbertson making big advance and Albert was thinner back on the defensive. They tightened up, however, and forced P. C. I. to kick, the winners saving a decided lead. Cuthbertson booted over the line and Boyes, banking the ball had gone to the dead line, dribbled it carefully and grounded. P. C. I.'s flying wing held on in for a touchdown putting Peterboro ahead, 6-5.

In the last period P. C. I. made the game sure by scoring two consecutive tries, one well earned, the other a gift. The first came on a march down the field in which P. C. I. steadily gained until Cuthbertson skittered the short end on a fake play and dashed 30 yards for a touchdown, which Young converted. Yull, who was both serving penalties and snap was made over Thompson's head and Clayton fell on the ball for another P. C. I. touchdown. Young again converted for the final score of the game. For P. C. I. Cuthbertson, Dunkerly, Glover and Clayton were particularly prominent, while the most useful players for Albert College were Thompson, Purchase, and Pullen. Yull spoiled his effectiveness by his rough tactics and his absence in the penalty box were costly. The win gives P. C. I. the Neal Cup for the second year in succession and they will meet either U. T. S. or Malvern of Toronto the next round of the interscholastic series. The teams: Albert College—Flying Wing, Yull; halves, McNaughton, Thompson; Boyes; quarter, Purchase; back, Faulkner; inside wings, Ferrier, Bagge; mules, Armstrong, Smith; outside, Taylor, Pullen; subs, Martin, Edwards, Harvey, Hicks.

Queen's Trample Varsity Team in Mud at Kingston

Kingston, November 18.—Saturday's action sun went down on Toronto Varsity's title hopes and cast a long shadow of the Yates Cup over the Gridiron of the Richardson Stadium. Play on the field made hallow by numerous Tricolor victories, a canny Queen's squad broke the spirit of a formidable Blue Twelve, and then marched down the field to a 15-5 triumph and intercollegiate honours, while over 10,000 cheered the return of the home team to the pinnacle of football occupied last year by McGill.

The victory of the Tricolor twelve in the sudden death game again sends into the Dominion semi-final and Hamilton Tigers, winners over Sarnia. Inspired by the wizardry of Harry Jatsene, and directed on the field by the dominating figure of Sutton, the Queen's squad routed Varsity off the field in the first five minutes of play. Cornered by backfield tumblers in strategic spots, the Blue gave way before the supremely confident tactics of the Tricolor, and before the visitors regained their composure, the scoreboard read, Queen's 9 Varsity 0.

The dizzy pace that had been set was slackened as Carter and Sinclair engaged in a kicking duel, and the ball moved up and down the field with painful slowness. It was only in the final minutes of the game, when Queen's played with careless confidence, and Varsity opened the game desperately, that the throng was thrilled by another scoring opportunity. With the count at 15-0 for the home team, Varsity rallied impressively, and averted a shut-out when Stewart scooped up Carter's fumble to scramble over the line.

Varsity fell victim to the spell of the Richardson Stadium, and the many a Blue title hope. And the young Billy Bell, shining light of the Varsity backfield, and looked upon as the most brilliant prospect intercollegiate foot-

Conacher Scoring Two for Toronto

Toronto, November 16.—Making their first appearance at Arena Gardens in the current National Hockey League schedule Saturday night the Boston Bruins Stanley Cup holders, flashed a splendid exhibition of hockey as it should be played under the new rules to defeat Toronto Maple Leafs, six goals to five.

Superiority in using the forward pass in all zones and ability to keep from incurring penalties as the result of violations of the anti-defence rule, marked the Bruins' victory. They suffered but one penalty for crossing their defence blue line ahead of the puck, whereas the local were penalized five times for this violation and it undoubtedly contributed considerably to their defeat.

The world champions also had an edge in condition and started the game as if it were their continuity of their last season's victorious campaign. Chabot, Maple Leaf netminder, four times in the opening period, while the local were seemingly all at sea as the Bruins worked the forward pass to perfection, cold beat Tiny Thompson in the Bruin but once.

Three of the winning team's counters in this period were scored following sparkling bits of team play, in which the forward pass in the defence team's area was executed to the height of perfection. Each team tallied in the second period which was slow compared with the dazzling speed displayed in the opening session.

MATRIMONY FOR THE YOUNG MAN

Toronto, Ont., (By Canadian Press)—A Mail and Empire Editorial:—Young men are having a course in matrimony at the Central Y. Some few things can be said, but marriage is too illusive a state for any classroom except the actual fact itself. Theories have a way of falling to pieces when the baby cries at 3 a.m.

"It is reassuring to know that men like Dr. Blatz will be interested in some scientific aspects of the experiment, but we think even the most eminent man of science would find himself off his beat when not in the laboratory. The biggest bid for a full marriage is not a full head of facts that may or may not be encountered through intimate knowledge of all the ramifications of sex life, nor a morbid inpection of things that, however important they may be, are things that become out of proportion by laying them under the microscope of curiosity. In fact, marriage, as the culmination of romance, or rather the beginning of romance, is something that cannot be explored by electric lights and then left, much as we would inspect a house or a motor car.

Albert College lost to Peterboro Collegiate at Peterboro last Saturday, and this were quite quietly eased out of the rugby picture for another year. The Green and Gold is to be congratulated on the fine showing they have made this year, and will undoubtedly be right in there fighting this time next year. They have been true sportsmen on and off the field, and they have done much to advertise their college and the city of Belleville as a whole.

Toronto Leafs lost to the Boston Bruins in Toronto Saturday night by a 6 to 5 score. And the loss can be directly attributed to Goalie Lorne Chabot, who let in two soft ones, according to local men who saw the game. One wasn't even off the ice. Chabot let in one easy goal against the Black Hawks on Thursday, and apparently the new rules aren't much to his liking. Incidentally the Boston Bruins have scored 11 goals in their two games this season, five against Detroit and six against the Leafs. Ace Bailey didn't score, but Charlie Conacher showed all and sundry that his love goal against the Hawks was no fluke when he scored two more against the Bruins. He looks like a comer.

McGill, intercollegiate football champions of 1920, certainly wasted none of the public's time this fall. Having already lost games to Toronto and Queens, this one at home, the McGill leaders can now rest almost assured that the Canadian play-offs will not interfere with their collegiate curriculum, a dread that last fall made them shudder themselves right out of the Dominion finals and the path of the Hamilton Tigers.

There is said to be a lot of dissension in sport circles of the college where once the name of Shaughnessy spelled defeat for all comers. Many of the old guards are reported to be all set with this answer to the ancient school war-hoop of "What's the matter with old McGill?" and their reply would run into some paragraphs. Billed down, they claim that Doc Lamb and others in charge of this fact foundry are not using the old think and that the appointment of an Old Country physical instructor as football coach was hardly smart.

These critics point out somewhat sagely that while the dispenser of gymnastics jerks is an expert at putting the troops in the pink of health and vigor, no one seems to have worked out any systems whereby the McGill ball toters where the prolate spheroid over the little white chalk mark, no matter how alert they are with their bending and stretching exercises. Nor are they giving any points in academy football this year for dexterity in wand drill of all which will leave last season's champions out in the cold unless they can reverse the scores on both Queen's and Varsity.

IS DISCHARGED

Brockville, Ont., November 16.—Donald Laing, of Gananoque, undergoing trial with James Hill, of the same town, on charges of manslaughter at the Fall Assizes of the Supreme Court was ordered discharged on that count by Mr. Justice Kelly this morning. Hill's case went to the jury. The charge arose out of the death of Dennis Donovan Escott, found beside highway number 2 in that township some weeks ago, after having been apparently struck by an automobile during the night.

The Bridge of Sighs

At the gate of a cemetery there is a certain bridge—"A Bridge of Sighs". Many a widow passes over it to return to a home from which Death has taken husband and father.

Death is not a tragedy. Tragedy strikes the living—those who are bereft of their natural provider.

No life insurance policy can take the place of a husband and father, but the proceeds of it will relieve a family from distress until they are able to adjust themselves to new conditions.

We invite enquiries from men who desire advice concerning the right type of life insurance; protection. Write for our pamphlet entitled "No Matter What Happens". It is most interesting.

(Special to The Intelligencer)
Peterboro, Nov. 16.—Although Albert College had to accept an 18-5 defeat at the hands of the Peterboro Collegiate team in the second game of the Central Ontario Inter-School athletic final series here this afternoon and thus lost the round by a total score of 41-11, the Belleville collegians had a much greater share of the play than the figures would indicate. They held P. C. I. to a scoreless tie in the first period and scored their 5 to 1 in the second, giving them a four-point lead at half time, only to run into tough luck in the last half when Peterboro scored three touchdowns, two of them decidedly lucky, and added by a string of penalties inflicted by Referee Bobbie Armstrong on the Belleville squad. Albert College was guilty of much high kicking, Yull being the chief offender, and they were frequently short-handed as a result, there being two men of when P. C. I. took command of the game midway through the second half. Albert had a big swing advantage and in addition used the forward pass to big advantage. Thompson's throwing being a feature. It was Belleville's biggest ground gainer and gave the visitors a distinct edge throughout the first half, particularly as P. C. I. did not use the play at all, depending upon the plunging and runs and line plays to advance the ball. Eventually, the Peterboro Collegians justified the wisdom of those tactics by coming on in the last half of the game to outplay the visitors and make big gains both round the ends and through the line.

Albert College tried to take advantage of the wind in the first period when a kicking game might have earned dividends, especially as the P. C. I. backs were bothered by a strong gust in their eyes. On the contrary the visitors used the forward pass repeatedly and with accurate throwing by Thompson gained ground. P. C. I. tightened up when danger threatened. On one occasion an inside kick taken by Pullen, put Belleville in a serious position and Boyes ploughed through for yards to carry the ball to P. C. I.'s 10-yard line. Here they threw away a chance by not kicking and were held for downs. Cuthbertson skirting the end for 20 yards to pull the Peterboro out of danger. Early in the second period P. C. I. pressed, Dunkerly and Cuthbertson making good gains and eventually Cuthbertson kicked over the Belleville line for a touch down, the first point of the game. Belleville rallied and outplayed P. C. I. for the balance of the period. Two beautiful plays by Purchase and Thompson, finally giving them a touchdown and the lead. Purchase made a running catch of Cuthbertson's punt at midfield and ran 30 yards through a broken field. He was clear away for a try but Westbrook overtook him at the P. C. I. 25-yard line. Albert was held on two plays, but Thompson broke through the centre on a fake kick in the third down and ran 20 yards for a touchdown which was not converted. Half-time score: Albert 5, P. C. I., 1.

Early in the third period the P. C. I. and plays began to gain ground. Dunkerly and Cuthbertson making big advance and Albert was thinner back on the defensive. They tightened up, however, and forced P. C. I. to kick, the winners saving a decided lead. Cuthbertson booted over the line and Boyes, banking the ball had gone to the dead line, dribbled it carefully and grounded. P. C. I.'s flying wing held on in for a touchdown putting Peterboro ahead, 6-5.

In the last period P. C. I. made the game sure by scoring two consecutive tries, one well earned, the other a gift. The first came on a march down the field in which P. C. I. steadily gained until Cuthbertson skittered the short end on a fake play and dashed 30 yards for a touchdown, which Young converted. Yull, who was both serving penalties and snap was made over Thompson's head and Clayton fell on the ball for another P. C. I. touchdown. Young again converted for the final score of the game. For P. C. I. Cuthbertson, Dunkerly, Glover and Clayton were particularly prominent, while the most useful players for Albert College were Thompson, Purchase, and Pullen. Yull spoiled his effectiveness by his rough tactics and his absence in the penalty box were costly. The win gives P. C. I. the Neal Cup for the second year in succession and they will meet either U. T. S. or Malvern of Toronto the next round of the interscholastic series. The teams: Albert College—Flying Wing, Yull; halves, McNaughton, Thompson; Boyes; quarter, Purchase; back, Faulkner; inside wings, Ferrier, Bagge; mules, Armstrong, Smith; outside, Taylor, Pullen; subs, Martin, Edwards, Harvey, Hicks.

TRICOLOR ENTER
RUGBY FINALS

Queen's Trample Varsity Team in Mud at Kingston

Kingston, November 18.—Saturday's action sun went down on Toronto Varsity's title hopes and cast a long shadow of the Yates Cup over the Gridiron of the Richardson Stadium. Play on the field made hallow by numerous Tricolor victories, a canny Queen's squad broke the spirit of a formidable Blue Twelve, and then marched down the field to a 15-5 triumph and intercollegiate honours, while over 10,000 cheered the return of the home team to the pinnacle of football occupied last year by McGill.

The victory of the Tricolor twelve in the sudden death game again sends into the Dominion semi-final and Hamilton Tigers, winners over Sarnia. Inspired by the wizardry of Harry Jatsene, and directed on the field by the dominating figure of Sutton, the Queen's squad routed Varsity off the field in the first five minutes of play. Cornered by backfield tumblers in strategic spots, the Blue gave way before the supremely confident tactics of the Tricolor, and before the visitors regained their composure, the scoreboard read, Queen's 9 Varsity 0.

The dizzy pace that had been set was slackened as Carter and Sinclair engaged in a kicking duel, and the ball moved up and down the field with painful slowness. It was only in the final minutes of the game, when Queen's played with careless confidence, and Varsity opened the game desperately, that the throng was thrilled by another scoring opportunity. With the count at 15-0 for the home team, Varsity rallied impressively, and averted a shut-out when Stewart scooped up Carter's fumble to scramble over the line.

Varsity fell victim to the spell of the Richardson Stadium, and the many a Blue title hope. And the young Billy Bell, shining light of the Varsity backfield, and looked upon as the most brilliant prospect intercollegiate foot-

USE THE DIRECTORY
and avoid "wrong number"

TELEPHONE numbers are tricky things to remember. Often when you think you know a number you have really transposed the two inside figures. It is so easy to say 3264 instead of 3624! The result is that you get "Wrong Number". You are annoyed and so is the other person. You have wasted your own time and his.

It is safer and quicker to use the directory before you call a number, because "Wrong Number" is one of the chief causes of a million calls a day in Ontario and Quebec which go wrong—tie up traffic—cause irritation—block business.

Some of these are operators' errors, and some are mistakes by the person making the call. He may ask for the wrong number—he may not speak distinctly—he may not dial carefully.

We want you to have the best possible telephone service. We are constantly striving to provide it by reducing our own errors and by improving equipment.* But it takes three people to complete a call.

Use the directory—speak slowly and distinctly—dial carefully—avoid wrong numbers—save time—help business efficiency.

*To keep a step in advance of demand, and to improve facilities, will involve an outlay this year in excess of $27,000,000.

Mr. Walter Harrison's death came suddenly to Mrs. Elisha Maynes, a well known resident of this place. The late Mrs. Maynes, was born in Thomasburg 76 years ago. She had been enjoying her usual health up to within a short time of her demise. In religion Mrs. Maynes was a Presbyterian and attended Knox Church, Fuller. She is survived by her husband and two sons, Fred and Clark, both residing at home, and one daughter, deceased. Mr. and Mrs. Maynes were of the Methodist faith. Funeral service was conducted at the home on Tuesday at 2 p.m. Rev. Mr. McGonery having charge of the service. He took for his text II Corinthians, the 5th chapter and the 1st verse. It was well delivered and he spoke well of the deceased. Interment took place at Thomasburg cemetery. The funeral was largely attended, showing the high esteem in which she was held. Christ Church, Thomasburg, intend holding a bazaar on Dec. 11.

Miss Lilly Bateman of Toronto spent Thanksgiving with her brother here.

Miss Annie Perry spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Norton.

Mrs. M. Embury has returned home from Belleville.

COUNTRY HOME TOTALLY BURNED

Loss On Unfinished Building Near Kingston, Over $100,000.

Kingston, December 2.—Three weeks before the date set for its completion, the magnificent lakeside country house of R. O. Sweeney of Montreal, president of the Beauharnois Power Corporation, which stood in the midst of extensive grounds five miles east of here, was burned to the ground early this morning. In its finished state the house, designed by P. Roy Wilson, Montreal architect, would have cost in the neighborhood of $140,000; as it is, the loss which does not include the garage and stables, is estimated at over $100,000, most of which is covered by insurance. Mr. Sweeney stated yesterday afternoon that the work of reconstruction following the same plans will be started immediately if weather conditions permit.

The fire started on the third floor, but the origin is not known. At five o'clock on Saturday afternoon Mr. Wilson made a final tour of inspection to see that everything was in order for the night. There were no workmen about, and when he left, the place was closed up. About nine o'clock yesterday morning the watchman saw flames issuing from the upper storey and summoned the Kingston Fire Department. Meanwhile the gale blowing straight down the lake, fanned the flames into an inferno and soon the whole house was a blazing mass. The building had been so constructed that two stone walls three feet thick, provided with fire doors, divided it into three parts, but the sliding doors had not yet been fitted and the flames swept from room to room. There was also a forest fire pump in the basement supplying five stand-pipes throughout the building, but with only the watchman to work the system, it was a hopeless task to fight the fire.

FARMER FELL FROM LADDER; BROKE LEG

Falling from a ladder on Sunday morning Robert Brown, farmer, in the vicinity of Frankford, was the recipient of painful injuries. Brown was climbing a ladder which was placed against his barn. Missing his footing he fell heavily to the ground, his leg which he was unable to arise. People from the farm came to his assistance and medical aid was summoned. He was taken to the Belleville General Hospital where it was found that his right leg and right arm were broken. They were set and the man is said to be resting as comfortably as can be expected. Dr. J. Robertson and Dr. McCrory attended the injured man.

After 48 Hours Manoeuvring the "Ashbay" Proceeded to Toronto

IN DIFFICULTIES

Waves 25 Feet High Battered Vessel—Finally Made Harbor

Expert seamanship by the captain and crew of the "Ashbay," a freighter of the Tree Line Navigation Company, saved the vessel from serious damage and sand bar off Presquille Point Saturday. After manoeuvring about twenty-eight hours the craft was able to get off under its own power, which it did, and struck up the Lake and Toronto. The boat was loaded with coal.

The captain heading the storm signals turned for Presquille Point on Friday night hoping to get into the lee of the peninsula, which extended out from Brighton Bay. She was buffeted by the terrific winds, however, and was blown back toward Stony Point where for some hours she was in a precarious position close to the shore.

However, she was edged, inch by inch, across the bay until finally she halted in the deep channel five hundred yards from Presquille light. It appeared from the shore as though the boat's progress was impeded by steering trouble, and she dropped anchor no less than seven times in the short journey across the bay. When the weather moderated late yesterday afternoon the captain ordered the vessel to proceed and she headed for the open waters, but dropped anchor several miles off the light house. She resumed her journey today.

This shore was lined with a number of spectators who watched with interest the vessel's progress against the heavy headwinds. Despite stories to the contrary, the crew were not in imminent danger at any time and no distress signals were raised by the captain. Waves twenty-five feet high pounded against the shore and created a huge ice-bank on Saturday off Presquille.

CANADIAN BOAT FAST ON ROCKS

Steamer "Sarniade" Caught On Lake Ontario Reef Near Oswego

Oswego, N.Y., December 2.—The steamer "Sarniade," Canadian Registry was aground on Main Duck Island near here in Lake Ontario, with heavy seas sweeping her today. The freighter went ashore in the northwest gale yesterday and has eighteen men aboard.

The freighter "Valley Camp" was reported standing by. Coast guardsmen were on the scene today but the heavy sea prevented them from going to the freighter. Attempts were also made to reach the salvage and wrecking steamer at Kingston, Ont. The "Sarniade" is owned by James Playfair & Company, Sarnia, one of a fleet of 56 steamers operated by the company.

The "Sarniade" went aground in yesterday's blizzard, when the visibility was at a minimum. She was fast on one of the numerous jagged reefs surrounding Dutch Islands. Owners of the "Valley Camp" were reported in message from Cleveland to be worried about the freighter. Attempts were also made to reach the salvage and wrecking steamer at Kingston, Ont. The "Sarniade" is owned by James Playfair & Company, Sarnia, one of a fleet of 56 steamers operated by the company.

Radio dispatches from Main Duck Island said the "Sarniade" was being continuously swept by heavy seas, and that her crew were drowned out. It was hoped that at least one of the two wrecking tugs in the vicinity could be sent to her aid. However, the report that the Montreal Salvage tug, Port at Kingston could not fight its way into open lake.

Motorcycle Pilot Hurl'd Thirty Feet But Is Only Slightly Hurt

Clarence Caniff, of Madoc, had a narrow escape from serious injury on Saturday evening, when the motorcycle which he was riding, crashed broadside into a motor car at the corner of Bridge and Pinnacle Sts. Caniff was thrown fully thirty feet and landed heavily on the pavement, to his surprise, however, he was not injured. He was riding with only a scratched hand as the sum total of his hurts. The crash occurred about ten-thirty. The motorcyclist was driving east on

BETTER THIS YEAR

Sixty-eight Voted at the Advance Polls Closing Saturday

At the Advance Polling for the Municipal Elections which was held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week there were sixty-eight voters cast at the City Hall. Compared with the Advance Polling last year this is a considerable increase, as thirty-eight votes were polled in 1928.

FEW HAD VOTED UP TO NOONHOUR

Polls are Brisker This Afternoon But Light Total Expected

Few had voted this morning at the polls, which, however, can be put down to the weather. Word received from the City Hall was to the effect that the voting there had been very light. The same answer was received from the Shire Hall. Now that the snowfall has stopped there is every indication that citizens will venture out and cast their votes, and as in other years, a hectic late minute voting will take place.

Aspirants to aldermanic fame and two contenders for Mayor were busy today taking voters to the polls. Opinion as to the Daylight Saving question seems to be divided, most of the railroading citizens being against it while other citizens who work in various shops downtown, and a few workers in factories, seem to favor it.

DEATH COMES TO VETERAN CITIZEN

Jeffers Diamond Died Sunday Morning in His Ninety First Year

FILLED MANY PLACES

Secretary of Board of Education for Past Forty-Eight Years

After a long busy useful life stretching back to the pioneer days of Belleville, Wellington Jeffers Diamond died Sunday morning in his ninety-first year. On August the tenth he celebrated his nineteenth birthday and at that time there was no apparent reason why he should not go on to the century mark as his health was good and his faculties unimpaired. About two months ago he developed a heavy cold the effects of which he was unable to shake off and death ensued yesterday. Within the past few days friends visiting him remarked how bright and well he appeared and he remained so almost to the end. A prominent actor in almost every phase of Belleville's life for three quarters of a century. He served on the City Council as alderman and Mayor for twenty-one years, being a member of the Council the year that Belleville came a City in 1878. For the past forty-eight years he has been Secretary-Treasurer and Solicitor of the Board of Education, a record which has few if any parallels in the records of Ontario.

Born at Hay Bay

Mr. Diamond came of United Empire Loyalist stock, being the son of the late John Diamond of Hay Bay where he was born on the old family homestead in 1839. He attended Grammar School in Belleville and later was a student at Albert Seminary, now known as Albert College. Following his graduation he taught school for two years when he began the study of law with the old firm of Dean and Diamond.

Called to the bar when he had completed his studies, Jeffers Diamond entered into partnership with his brother Abraham Diamond who was then Police Magistrate. His father died several years later and he was a partner in the firm of J. E. O'Flynn and Diamond, which later became known as O'Flynn, Diamond and O'Flynn. Three years ago he severed his connection with the O'Flynn firm, since which time he has been practising alone.

COURT SESSIONS ENDED QUICKLY

Only Four Cases Listed and Only One of These Heard

Mr. Justice Raney presided at the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario which opened this afternoon at the Court House. There were four cases slated for trial, but of these only one was heard, and it was left in abeyance. One case was settled and two others were ordered heard by the Local Master, W. C. Mikel, K.C. The Court thereupon adjourned.

Bontor vs Pearce was an action to recover money said to have been owed, and H. J. Smith appeared for the plaintiff while B. C. Donnan defended. This case was the one held over.

Jones vs Jones was an action instituted to set aside a conveyance of a deed, but it was settled before coming to trial. B. C. Donnan for the plaintiff, and O'Flynn and O'Flynn for the defendant. Two mortgage suits, Wm. A. Meagher vs. Ethel Meagher, and Thomas P. Meagher vs. Ethel Meagher et al. were ordered to be tried before the Local Master, Bontor, Payne and Arnott for William A. Thomas Meagher, and E. J. Duchen, K.C. for Ethel Meagher.

ALL BOATS NOW REPORTED SAFE

Fort William, Ont., December 2.—Everyone of the boats which have been reported as overdue and concerning which anxiety has been felt during the past four or five days, is now accounted for. Owing to several of these not being equipped with wireless, there was a good deal of uncertainty as to their whereabouts, but they have all been definitely located.

Wanderlust Seizes Four Young Lads from the Shelter; Are Still Missing

Four young inmates of the Children's Shelter all boys, started out for home yesterday afternoon, but apparently their good intentions were not carried out and at present time they are still missing.

Leaving the shelter about two o'clock yesterday, instead of going to Sun- day School, conceived the idea of taking a joy ride and caught lifts from several passing motorists until they made their way to Bath, south and east of Napanee. Failing to return at the usual hour the mother of the shelter boys, a D. Ruston, superintendent, grew alarmed and an anxious time has since been spent in trying to locate the culprits.

FIVE HUNTERS MAROONED BY GALE ON ISLAND WITH SCANT SUPPLIES

Tell Tale of Hardships Encountered During Search For Ducks

FOOD RAN OUT

But They Did Get Some Birds So They Are Happy Now

Marooned on an island for three days, five hunters returned to the city on Saturday night, not much the worse from their experience and with a bag of wild ducks that made up for what they went through.

The tale that was told reads something like fiction. Five hunters left Belleville on Wednesday night to go duck hunting around Hay Bay. The party numbered five—P. Alchison, Belleville; Alfred Jackson, of Rice Lake; Jerry and Harold Harris, both of Cobourg, and a brother-in-law who goes by the name of "Harry".

Their destination was Ray's Island, in Hay Bay. They took provisions to last them until Friday, which was the day determined upon for their return. They arrived safely enough, and, although the season is rather too far advanced for the best of duck hunting, they managed to bag twenty-four. However, each of them thought that they would like to stay another day in order to swell the total to thirty.

Just One Can of Beans. There is a good, dry shack on the island which the minnows occupied. On Saturday morning they were met by mountainous waves and all possibility of reaching the mainland was out of the question. So also were their prospects of getting any more ducks. The mainland was a quarter of a mile away and it meant certain catastrophe to venture out in their two canoes. All that could be done was to sit tight and wait for the storm to subside. All the provisions remaining was one can of beans and some bread. This was their fare for the rest of their stay on the island, and it was not one that they relished. (The rations between the five hungry males was necessarily meagre).

Later on in the day the waves subsided to a certain extent so they ventured out to the mainland in their canoes. Once under way there was no turning back so they kept at it. The Harris boys are good canoeists and out of the five members of the party said that it was through their leadership that they were able to make land. After much labour they made land and going to the farmhouse chambered about and set their trail for home with a real tale to tell of their battle with the elements.

NEED ALL VOTES THAT THERE ARE

Sinclair Says It's a Hard Job Fighting Conservatives Anyway

Toronto, December 2.—In his speech at Grimsby, Ontario, last Thursday night, W. E. Sinclair, K.C., leader of the Liberal party in Ontario, explained in a letter to the Canadian press that he was arguing that the Progressives had been a handicap to the Liberal party since 1919 by causing a division in the non-Conservative vote, and that in a province such as Ontario, it was necessary that all this vote should be consolidated to oppose the Conservative party. "Headlines of most of the papers carried the impression that I blamed the Progressives for the Liberal defeat in the last election," he said. "I made no such statement."

TREND IS AGAIN TO LOWER LEVEL

Wall Street Prices Break Under Continued Selling Pressure

New York, December 2.—The line of least resistance in today's stock market was again downward. Sporadic outbursts of buying took place in selected assortments of tobacco, public utility, railroad and chemical shares, but these were checked when professional selling pressure was renewed against United States Steel common and several of the other so-called pivotal industrial. Trading was relatively light in volume.

The day's business news was mixed in character. Series of increased and extra dividends by small companies was the subject of further decline in steel mill operations in the mid-west to about 50 per cent of capacity, and reports of further falling off in sales of large automobile manufacturers.

Early in the session, a good demand developed for the Western Maryland issue, Atlantic Gulf and West Indies, American Tobacco issues, Simmons Company, Allied Chemical and United States Industrial Alcohol, but the buying petered out when weakness cropped out in other sections of the list.

ENDURANCE PLANE WAS FORCED DOWN

Tampa, Fla., Dec. 2.—The endurance plane "Sealed Sweet" was forced down early to-day by a clogged gasoline pipe after forty hours aloft. The plane was slightly damaged and R. W. Schrock, the co-pilot suffered minor cuts.

FIVE MEN HELD AS ROBBERY SUSPECTS

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Following the arrest of five men yesterday after luns in a province such as Ontario, it was necessary that all this vote should be consolidated to oppose the Conservative party. "Headlines of most of the papers carried the impression that I blamed the Progressives for the Liberal defeat in the last election," he said. "I made no such statement."

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"If I do not provide proper educational facilities for our boys and girls, we will, in the long run, have to pay the cost to our government agencies as a result of our negligence in education."—Charles A. Lee, superintendent of schools of Missouri.

RADIO "TIE-UPS" HAVE THEIR LIMITS

In a recent editorial on the subject of radio advertising the Minneapolis Star, among other things, said: "Radio broadcasting put a stick in the old-time medicine show ballyhoo. The advertiser who tries to fill his broadcast program full of sales talk is going to find he has knocked the aristocratic chapeau into the mud."

"There have been other comments of a kind in the United States and Canadian press and there are indications now that advertisers and station managers are having the truth of these impressions on them. The printed advertisement identifies itself as a sales talk, spurning any form of disguise. Art may be employed to catch the eye, and the text made typographically attractive, but printed advertising doesn't masquerade for what it isn't. With radio advertising, it has been different.

Radio set owners tune in or programs, not to listen to advertising talks, but to be entertained with music and song, or story. They are not resentful of an advertising tie-up that identifies the product of the company sponsoring the broadcast and stops there, but they do become bored, unquestionably, when Whoopi's sales lathers its way through the entire program.

The consensus of opinion now seems to be that makers of nationally sold products using radio broadcasting as an advertising device are likely to get their fingers burned if they yield to temptation and try to crowd out-and-out sales talk into their program. To quote the Minneapolis Star again: "The logical hope of radio advertising is to build up good will on the part of listeners by giving them a fine program. To interrupt such a program with appeals for purchases or arguments about the quality of the product irritates most listeners and instead of creating a friendly feeling for the advertised goods must tend to create an aversion for them."

OLD STARS HOLD PLACES WITH TALKIES

Some of us flicked aside a vagrant tear when the talkies invaded the realm of the silent drama. Gone, we feared, were the good old stars we had enjoyed so long—gone were Mary Pickford, Gloria Swanson, Richard Barthelmess, George Bancroft, Harold Lloyd and the others whose shadows had moved across the skyline of our emotions. Instead, we reasoned, the stars of the speaking stage would take the place of our tried and true movie heroes and heroines because the stage artists would be more successful in the field of elocution. Thus we reasoned, but falsely.

The talkies, staggering at first into the motion picture field like some stricken thing, have made their mark in the entertainment field—but they have made their mark through the successful work of the stars of the silent drama suddenly become vocal. And now any motion picture producer will tell you that his greatest profits in talking pictures have been made on those efforts starring some favorite who won reputation as a performer for the silent screen.

In addition, the talkies have brought to our attention unsuspected abilities of our "silent" favorites. Who, for instance, would have imagined that Adolphe Menjou could croon a sugary love song? Who would have had the temerity to rise with the statement that Gloria Swanson could strike your heart with the life of a sentimental ballad, or that the tomboyish Bebe Daniels could sing with rare success the tunes of the beautiful Rio Rita? Observers in the field of motion pictures predict that after the first excitement of the talkies has subsided somewhat, there will be a substantial return to the silent film. There is much discussion on this point, however. A survey of the proposed motion picture output for the coming year shows definitely that the talkies are in the vast majority on the production schedules of the major companies.

Some lament that at just the time his silent drama was being elevated to art, the talkies stepped in and unburied the entire fabric. This, for the nonce, may be true; but it seems that with the added element of speech he screen has the opportunity ripe for making this form of entertainment an even greater art.

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

The Kansas Board of Health, in co-operation with the public health service, has formulated a set of rules for the guidance of kissers. According to an Associated Press despatch, you are never to kiss me in a crowded place or poorly ventilated room. Sometime during last evening a quantity of clothing was stolen from a clothes line in rear of Mrs. J. Sharpe's residence. The culprit was tracked for some distance in the snow but the scent was lost on the road.

A beam fell on Mr. Edward Dobbs of this city yesterday, and he sustained painful injuries.

After an illness of ten weeks, Mr. Wm. T. Dempsey died on Saturday night at Albany, Prince Edward County.

"Was that a new girl I saw you with last night?"
 "Now, just a re-paint job."

Bridegroom—"Yes, every man should marry. Now what possible excuse have you for being single?"
 Bachelor—"I was born that way."

"Motor cars make us lazy," said the lecturer.
 "Not if we're pedestrians," added the student.

"They laughed when I walked to the piano, but their laughter turned to astonishment when I carried it out," remarked the instalment collector.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

On the bough of the rose is the prickling briar;
 The delicate lily must live in the mire;
 The hues of the butterfly go at a breath;
 At the end of the road is the house of death.

Nay, nay; on the briar is the delicate rose;
 In the mire of the river the lily blows;
 The moth is as fair as a flower of the sod;
 At the end of the road is a door to God.

VALUE OF ADRENALIN

You read from time to time of individuals whose hearts have stopped beating for some minutes—who have been brought back to life by the injection of adrenalin, the juice secreted in the tiny adrenal glands which are situated on top of each kidney. Adrenalin has the power to make tissues contract, and thus the heart muscle begins contracting when the adrenalin is injected into it.

With this idea in mind research men have been injecting adrenalin into the tissues and find that it makes the spleen contract. In contracting, the spleen sent into the blood a large number of red corpuscles (about twenty per cent), within a period of twenty minutes which disappeared ten minutes later.

In cases where the spleen was permanently enlarged this increase did not take place when the adrenalin was injected.

In cases also where the spleen had been removed because it was diseased, there was no increase when adrenalin was injected.

In cases where the spleen was temporarily enlarged as in malaria and acute infections, the adrenalin contracted the spleen and it sent out the increased number of red corpuscles.

Now how can this be of help to you? Well if the spleen is enlarged and there is the question as to whether it should be removed or not this little test will be of great value in coming to a decision. If the spleen contracts and the red corpuscles increase under the action of adrenalin the operation should not be undergone, but the treatment of a medical nature undertaken.

It is this quality of making tissues contract that makes adrenalin a valuable aid in many cases of emergency conditions about the neck.

Now you would live or exist if you did not possess some of these ductless glands, but when you see how, through accident or otherwise, you were to lose a considerable quantity of blood, that these glands would make the spleen supply you immediately with a twenty per cent increase, you must acknowledge that Nature is the friendly force behind you.

GOV.-GENERAL TO SPEND X'MAS IN THE WEST INDIES

Montreal, Que.—Their Excellencies the Governor General and Lady Willingdon will spend the forthcoming Christmas and New Year's holidays in the West Indies. Accompanied by His Excellency's secretary, E. C. McNeill, and by two aide-de-camps, Capt. Pienies and Capt. Streetfield, they will sail south from Halifax on the C. N. steamship R. M. S. Lady Hawkins, Nov. 29th. After visiting the eastern group of islands, arriving at Trinidad Dec. 12, they will return to Canada by way of Jamaica, where they will spend both Christmas and New Year's day. Leaving Kingston on the C. N. steamer Lady Somers on the night of Jan. 1, they will arrive at Bermuda, sailing from there on the Lady Drake Jan. 11 for St. John, at which port they will embark on the 14th.

BREEDER PLANS ENTERING DERBY

Mrs. E. P. Ricker, Husky Owner, Will Enter "Dog Derby."

Montreal, Que. (Canadian Press)—Mrs. E. P. Ricker is one of the world's foremost breeders of huskies, and a dog racing expert of note. She has been in town to complete arrangements for her participation in the miniature dog derby in February net. It is planned to have St. Goddard, Seppala and Ricker, a trio of the greatest dog racers in the world put on a miniature derby at the Forum.

Mrs. Ricker, although a young woman, is one of the foremost personalities in the world of winter sport. Always a breeder of dogs, the slim, little athlete who is the mother of two children, became interested in huskies when Seppala made his famous dash.

At Nome, Alaska, with serum for the stricken town, that was in 1925, a year Seppala presented Mrs. Ricker with Togo, his lead dog in the famous dash, and from then on Mrs. Ricker's farm at Poland Springs, Maine, became headquarters for huskies. In the very next year, she participated in the Poland Spring race, and since then, Mrs. Ricker's dogs, driven by the owner and Seppala have captured every major race on this continent. The Poland Spring race, the Lake Placid Derby, New Hampshire point to point, and the Quebec International Derby have all gone to the products of Mrs. Ricker's famous farm.

There are now between 80 and 90 dogs on Mrs. Ricker's farm, despite an alarming loss last year through malady. The dog that awakened Mrs. Ricker's interest in the sport Togo is having a well-earned rest at the Poland Springs farm now. The dog of the dash to Nome is weak, and is likely to live many years in the mellow atmosphere of Mrs. Ricker's farm. When he dies the Peabody Museum of Natural History at Yale will receive his remains and perpetuate his famous deed.

Director of the department, Miss Moonie is who is a native of Edinburgh and a graduate of the London and Edinburgh Universities, comes of a family of brilliant musicians. She is herself accomplished in many lines and has traveled widely in Europe, the United States and Canada. She is acquainted with radio work in Great Britain, where she appeared before a microphone on many occasions for the British Broadcasting Company. Miss Moonie will assist Mr. Weir in arranging programmes for the widespread Canadian National network of stations.

MONEY CHANGES ON WALL STREET

Reversal of Fortunes of Wealthy Men in Recent Crash

New York, N.Y. (Canadian Press)—The antics of Wall Street in the closing days of October are the subjects of a story without number heard just now wherever men congregate in the Metropolis and quite likely, elsewhere. These stories have to do with fortunes made in a few minutes and others lost as quickly; the savings of years away being leaving their late possessors in a state of confusion with the necessity of starting again in the grim battle for a living and a new nest egg.

The big break of Thursday, October 24, was thought by many experts to be the last of the current slump and the buyers' stocks up to their limit only to be caught, and swallowed up in the avalanche that broke upon them on the disastrous Monday and Tuesday that followed. Monday, October 28, witnessed an almost complete clean-up of the small traders who had been playing the market on margins. Tuesday found the leather chairs in the brokers' offices occupied mainly by the bigger financiers, those who since far had been able to meet margin calls. From these were drawn the casualty lists that followed the market's closing gong on the third day. Also scattered in the crowds of Tuesday were bargain hunters, investors, those who since far had been able to meet margin calls. From these were drawn the casualty lists that followed the market's closing gong on the third day.

There are unconfirmed reports of well-known millionaires losing great fortunes of the C. Cutters and the Fishers dropping $500,000 each on the week's operations. Here are some stories about the smaller fry.

Mr. A. multimillionaire—Lost from four to five million dollars, about a third of his fortune, on a string of some twenty stocks in the first two days. Unlike most men of great wealth he had been playing the market on margin.

Mr. B., an editor and publisher—Large speculator in General Electric said to have lost $200,000.

Mr. C., banker—Large holder of American Water Works stock, which he had purchased outright, but at a high price. Laughed at advice given by friends more than a month ago to sell on the first drop. Reported to have become frightened on the second day and dumped his holdings at an average loss of 15 cents per share.

Mr. D., business man—Sold 2,000 shares Radio at around 91, taking a heavy loss. Bought back at 76, thinking he was covering. Took another severe loss at around 60. Bought back at around 40. Was caught again and wiped out. Total loss estimated at $300,000.

Mr. E., lawyer, who inherited a fortune—Tried to cover "stage loss" in American Can when it reached 143. Issued order to buy at the market. Discovered an hour or so later that he had bought at a peak price of 163 and that his loss was almost doubled. Reported to have dropped $200,000.

Mr. F., interior decorator—Lost $10,000 in first two days and was wiped out on third day. Had borrowed on business and will have to go into bankruptcy.

Mr. G., bottlegger—Dumped his holdings of North American at 170, losing about $50,000. On advice of his broker bought back at 1.0 and again had to dump at a loss. Bought back again at around 1.05 and when the price dropped to 90 he was sold out.

Mr. H., business man—Bought Fox at 50 after an 18 point drop. Saw stock jump to 60 in a few minutes and sold. Believed to have made $25,000.

Mr. P., bought Cities Service some months ago when it was selling in the twenties. He bought more at 32, fore at

40. He sold a part of his holdings at 48, and cleaned house at 58. He believed in the stock so when the bear movement started he bought heavily at 48 and was practically wiped out when it dropped to 27. Incidentally he lives in the Mid-West and came to New York to celebrate what had been his good fortune. He played the stock between night club excursions. He is now ready to go home.

Mr. Q. was more fortunate. He sold American Water Works at 180 and covered when it hit dropped to 145, clearing up a tidy fortune.

Mr. R. made $300,000 paper profits in exactly two months. He bought 30,000 shares of Radio when it was quoted at 30. Within two minutes the stock had jumped ten points, to 40, giving him the $300,000 profit. He held on and an hour later he had lost $100,000 in previous profits.

Mr. T. was run over by a dropped approximately $2,000,000 on paper. He was playing ten or twelve of the leading issues. Many women operators lost heavily. It is said that one woman employee of J. F. Bachs lost $500,000 and came to work the next morning, although nothing had happened. Another woman is reported to have lost $200,000.

There was the girl secretary who by skimping had saved $4,000. In three years, and lost it all in the last few crashes. A woman writer, who would not say how much she lost, remarked she was grateful for the roof over her head.

Then there was the little girl who came to New York to act, and lived in the Village on $50 a month. She did not get on the stage, but she had an inheritance of $5,000, and she decided to employ her spare time. Now the $5,000 has gone down in the big stock flood.

Most of the spectacular plunges, among the women were actresses, and one star in a current production is reported to be an extremely heavy loser. They tell you of a lithographer, a skillful and frugal mechanic. By dint of working at two jobs and saving his money, he accumulated $35,000, had over-extended himself and found had overextended himself, and found after the crash that he had not and but his weekly wage and a house in Queens, half paid for. Meanwhile the brokers, strong-nerved, clay-headed men, go about their business profitably on the floor of the exchange—thus, left-padded 16,000 square feet of peace and plenty—and prosper.

CORN-COB PIPE TRAVELS WORLD

Meerschaum Pipe Is On Last Lap Of World Tour

Montreal, Que.—It's only a "Barney" field meerschaum pipe but it has been around the world and is enroute home with labels, poems and newspaper clippings to prove it. The Globe trotter pipe reached C. N. head offices at corn cob reached Corn on the last stage of its journey around the world. Some years ago a baggage agent of the C. N. Rys at Prince Rupert, B. C., started the old corn cob pipe on its world tour with a tag attached asking the next to forward it to a Can. Nat. agent in Australia. Since then, the pipe has traveled Australia, New Zealand, Hong Kong and India. Most of the agents at points visited attaching a message in the form of newspaper clipping, poem or photograph representative of his territory. Now the pipe, which was the original shipment, is almost lost in the hundred odd tags attached to it. But from Montreal, Prince Rupert, to the man who started it on its globe-trotting tour.

OFFER PUBLIC PRAYERS

Public prayers were offered at Guelph and Belleville for the recovery of Mr. Reginald Geen.

PROGRESSING FAVORABLY

A telephone message last evening brought encouraging news from Mr. R. G. Geen; he was reported progressing favorably. His mother and brother, Percy, are in Guelph.

CHRISTMAS SPECIAL

Christmas Numbers of the Salvation Army War Cry are now being distributed. A merry Yuletide picture of Salvationists being welcomed to the home of brotherly love is depicted on the front page, with the provincial Christmas Tree taking a prominent part in the scene. Two illustrated pictures are inside, one of the "Good Shepherd" tending a sick lamb, and another of a domestic scene in the carpenter's shop of Joseph, the earthly father of Jesus.

PROVINCIAL POLICE CHANGES

Provincial Constable Smith has been transferred from Madoc to Brighton, to take the place of Provincial Constable Brien, of that place, who has been granted two months sick leave by the Department. Constable MacBrien has been in poor health for some time, and will return to his home at Quilla to recuperate. Provincial Constable Constable Percy Gray, of Bancroft, has been transferred temporarily from that town to Marmora.

CHRISTMAS CANTATA

A meeting of the teachers and officers of Bridge Street Sunday School held yesterday with J. E. Ehorst, Superintendent presiding. Plans were completed for the Xmas Cantata to be put on December 23rd, under the direction of Prof. Perry Hunt. The children's Xmas Tree will be held in conjunction with the Cantata. Plans were also completed for the Missionary education and offerings; for educational programme of temperance and for teacher's training. The group expressed their deep sympathy with the family and friends of W. Jeffries Diamond, word of whose death had just reached the school. A letter was also sent to Sheriff Clark immediately past Superintendent who is ill, with a word of cheer and an expression of thanks for services rendered.

MASONIC FUNERAL

ALBERT COLLEGE ENTERTAINED

On Saturday evening last twenty-four older boys from Bridge Street Sunday School with the Superintendent, J. E. Ehorst, were entertained at Albert College as Guests of the Junior School. The guests were welcomed by Master of the School, Mr. McGrimmon and Mr. Howard Purchase. A fine series of mixed group games and team events were conducted on the Gym Floor and a series of races and tests in the swimming tank. Refreshments were served in Ackerman Hall at the close of the physical programme. The whole evening was one of pleasure and enjoyment affording the Belleville boys an opportunity of becoming acquainted with the Albert boys who have come here from homes scattered throughout the province and other provinces. Mr. Shortt, Mr. Jack Morgan and Jack Motick expressed the thanks and appreciation of the Bridge Street group for the delightful evening.

MINISTERS MEET

This morning the regular meeting of the Ministerial Association was held in the auditorium of the Y.M.C.A. Rev. Edward Jones, pastor of the Baptist Church, was chairman and Rev. C. E. Clarke, of Christ Church, was in the Secretary's chair. Rev. Semmler spoke on the Epistles to the Hebrews, giving a talk that was interesting from many standpoints.

QUEEN VICTORIA SCHOOL ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT

Winning Teams Are Presented with Awards at Exercises

The annual commencement exercises were held in the Assembly Room of the Queen Victoria School, Pine Street, on Friday afternoon, 7 P. Assembly Room was filled to capacity with pupils, parents, trustees, and others interested in the school. Mr. John Cooke, chairman of the Board of Education, presided over the exercises. He occupied the chair and expressed his great pleasure at seeing the school of which he had the honour to be chairman, showing such wonderful ability in the inter-school competitions for prizes and trophies. In his well chosen remarks throughout the programme, Mr. Cooke referred to the progress of the school and congratulated Principal Wilkin and his staff and the pupils and encouraged them to put forth their best efforts to maintain the splendid reputation the school had established. All speakers alluded to the wonderful list of prizes and trophies won by the school.

In the absence of Lt.-Col. Barranger, Inspector H. J. Clarke presented the Barranger Cup for championship in Boys' Soft-Ball. Mr. Clarke spoke of the high esteem in which the donor of the cup, Col. Barranger, was held and expressed his regret that he was unable to be present to present the cup in person. The cup had been competed for five times and won by the Q. V. S. boys three times out of the five, which spoke well for the Q. V. S. boys' ability to play ball. He congratulated the captain, Don Garrepy, on the success of his team and exhorted the boys to go ahead and try to win the trophy again.

Soccer Cup Presented

The William Harvey Cup for championship in soccer, was presented to the captain of the team, Carl Morgan, by Mr. J. D. O'Flynn, who congratulated the boys and only upon what he was upon their reputation for good clean playing. He exhorted the boys to always "play the game" in all their sports and to maintain their good reputation as true sportsmen. He congratulated the schools of Belleville in having the honor to present the trophy to the Q. V. S. boys. Mr. O'Flynn stated that boxing was one of the best forms of exercise and quoted the Ontario Education Department's Manual wherein boxing is given a high place among school games. Mr. O'Flynn impressed the boys with the idea that school boxing was primarily a game for the general benefit of the body, but never should lead a well-trained boy to be aggressive or offensive.

Token of Esteem

A pleasing number on the program was the presentation by the staff of a token of esteem and remembrance to Mr. J. D. O'Flynn, who was this year promoted by the Board of Education from the position of vice-principal of Q. V. S. to the staff of the Collegiate Institute. Mr. O'Flynn was delightedly surprised and made a suitable reply in which he thanked the teachers and assured them that he would always have the welfare of Q. V. S. at heart.

In the course of his remarks during the program, Inspector H. J. Clarke alluded to the name of O'Flynn. He was glad to have a member of that family present this afternoon whose name had been associated with the educational affairs of this city for so many years. He referred to the fact that Mr. O'Flynn's late father, Mr. F. E. O'Flynn, and to his brother, the late Col. E. D. O'Flynn, both of whom served for years on the Belleville Board of Education.

The various speeches on the program were interspersed by choral singing by different groups and classes under the direction of Prof. V. P. Hunt, Musical Supervisor in the Public Schools. The singing showed the results of good training and was enjoyed by all. The musical numbers were as follows:

Opening Chorus—"O, Canada," accompanied by the Panatote.

Chorus—"Bay of Biscay," Classes of Milk, Bateman and Moore.

Chorus—"White Caps" Miss Peck's class.

Chorus—"Billy Boy," Mr. Bateman's class.

Chorus—"Bobby Shaftoe," Miss Campbell's class.

Chorus—"Bound for the Rio Grande," Mr. Wilkin's class.

Chorus—"The Empire is Our Country," Miss Tet's class.

Toronto (Canadian Press).—In a recent case in Division Court where a woman was suing a Dye Works for "ruining a cloth coat," she declared she would have to pay a fine of $100 to hide the damage. "But you would not want a fur color on now," commented Judge Morson. "It's coming on winter. In the summer women wear furs, not in the winter."

VISITORS WHO COME AND GO

During his twenty-one years on the City Council he filled all the different chairmanships. In 1888 he ran for mayor but was defeated in a close fight by Dr. B. S. Wilson. The following year he again opposed Dr. Wilson and was elected. Although out of the Council for a number of years, he never lost his keen interest in municipal affairs.

In 1890 he joined up when volunteers were called for at the time of the Fenian Raid, and served with the 15th Argyll Light Infantry at Prescott. Upon the regiment's return, he went to Toronto to attend the Military School and obtained his officer's certificate.

In his younger days there was no keener supporter of sports in this district than the late Mr. Jeffries Diamond. He played lacrosse, cricket, and was a keen cyclist and bowler. He was one of the organizers of the first Halloway Socials in this city and for many years was one of the most active workers.

Prominent Mason
Mr. Diamond was well known in Masonry, being at the time of his death secretary of Eureka Lodge, No. 283 G. R. C. A. F. & A. M., which position he had filled for the past forty-three years. Just For The Feminine Reader

SALADS FOR FESTIVE MENUS
The salad served after the heavy course dinner is wisely chosen for its refreshing quality and its pleasurable effect. It is not need for satisfying the appetite.

Crisp greens and French dressing suggest the extreme in simple dinner salads. The greens may be the familiar iceberg or Big Boston lettuce, well chilled, of course, or the curly green long-leaved romaine, or the curly chicory with its tangy taste, or the less feathery escarole, or the pery watercress, or the delicate and bitter endive from Belgium, or even crisp cabbage, white or red. French dressing nicely measured and seasoned (and that means skipping a bit on the oil and using lemon or lemon and oil) and sugar to cut the oil is the ideal dressing for the greens that day.

Fruit injects the refreshing note in the salad agreeably. Grapefruit, oranges, pomegranates, pineapple, pears and grapes are liked with greens, and sometimes a strip or so of vegetable. Often a cube of tomato or lemon jelly on romaine, or watercress with tart dressing is even better.

Some interesting suggestions for refreshing salads include:

Grapefruit sections, green pepper rings on romaine.

Grapefruit sections on escarole hearts.

Grapefruit sections and shredded dates on cress.

Quartered pomegranates on lettuce with lemon dressing.

A wedge of pineapple, a ring of Spanish onion on chicory.

A wedge of pineapple, a strip of pimento on cress.

Endive stalks in green pepper ring.

Endive and a dab of Roquefort dressing.

Bartlett pear and grapes on chicory.

Small squares of tomato jelly on cress.

Mixed greens make good dinner salads. A lettuce leaf, a chicory leaf and a strip of watercress; a romaine leaf, a stalk of endive and a strip of green pepper; a leaf of chicory, a leaf of escarole and a leaf of lettuce are some of the obvious combinations.

SOLVING LUGGAGE PROBLEM

When traveling, especially by steamer, they are often two or more outside coats or wraps, bulky to pack and more conveniently carried over the arm. To prevent one garment from slipping from the other and perhaps dragging, run the sleeves of the lighter of the two coats into the sleeves of the other, reaching up from the wrist and pulling the inner sleeve down its full length inside the sleeve of the outer garment. This will bring the shoulder seams, armholes and center of back in approximately the same position. A large safety pin at the back of the neck fastening the two coats together is usually sufficient, as the sleeves seldom slip out of place. However, an additional pin at the top of each armhole insures proper position of both garments. The two coats, so attached, are then thrown over the traveler's arm as a single garment would be and are scarcely more bulky than if one were carried alone, in the usual way.

This idea has been found to work well when a man's lounge robe is to be carried or a woman's plain evening wrap, the lighter garment being entirely concealed under the outer traveling coat. Extra traveling garments for junior girls and boys, when so carried, are readily available for coverings during a nap on a train or boat, which is often a great convenience.

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

AMERICAN CHICKEN CHOP STEW
2 cups cold chicken dice
1 cup cooked celery diced
1-2 cups cooked rice
1 teaspoon salt
1-2 tablespoons pepper
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons flour
1-2 cups chicken soup (clear)
Mix chicken and celery with rice, salt and pepper. Melt butter, add flour and milk well. Add soup or chicken stock slowly and bring to boiling point, stirring constantly. Add chicken mixture and heat thoroughly. One cup of cooked mushrooms and a few slices of pimento may be added.

BRAISED LIVER

2 cups celery diced
1-2 pounds liver unsliced
1 teaspoon salt
1-2 tablespoons pepper
2 tablespoons butter
1-4 cup water
8 small onions
2 tablespoons flour
Bacon.
Put celery in bottom of greased casserole dish. Sprinkle liver with salt and pepper. Place on top of celery and dot with bits of butter. Add water and bake covered in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes or until liver and celery are tender. Cook carrots and onions in a small amount of boiling salted water until tender, then place in casserole. Save vegetable stock and thicken with the flour. Pour over liver. Cook 15 minutes longer. Serve hot with crisp bacon.

A novelty in table accessories is the long napkin instead of the square one, and these have been christened "Lapkins."

Some helpful hints for busy housewives

A protective covering of varnish will make linoleum last longer and help to keep the kitchen floor attractive and clean. Varnishing is not a difficult process. Before you begin, make sure that the linoleum is spotlessly clean. Go over a small area at a time with mild soap and lukewarm water or a soap jelly, rinse, and wipe each part thoroughly dry before proceeding to the next. Avoid flooding the surface with water, as this is likely to rot the fabric. Then apply the first coat of varnish, wait until it is dry, and apply the surface a second time.

A coat of wax applied to the varnished surface will furnish additional protection. Rub it in well, let it dry thoroughly, then polish with a weighted brush or an electric waxer. Frequent dusting with a clean dust mop will remove gritty particles of dust and keep it clean under ordinary circumstances, but if the surface becomes spotted a damp, soapy cloth will remove every trace of the stain. Be sure to replace any wax that may have been taken off in the washing. When the surface becomes soiled do not hesitate to mop it with soap and warm water. Dry it thoroughly and apply a fresh coating of wax.

THE WEDDING SERVICE

Edinburgh, (Canadian Press)—The new Scottish prayer book (episcopal Church of Scotland) contains a change in the wedding service. It is no longer required of the bridegroom to say "with all my worldly goods I Thee endow." The community will now have another Scotch joke to add to their lists.

"STARVED HEARTS"

BY Mildred Barbour

CHAPTER 63 THE PRICE OF CONSTANCY

For a moment Madelon was quite incapable of speech, when she glanced up from her needlework and met the grave eyes of Julian Barton. The time line dropped from her suddenly trembling fingers. Warm color flooded her cheeks and crept up to her bright hair. Her eyes widened incredulously.

She got to her feet somehow, conscious that Lane was saying casually: "You remember Mr. Barton, do you not, Madelon?" He returned yesterday from abroad and will be our guest to-night."

But she could not believe her ears. Was it possible that Lane had forgotten the day he sent this man out of her life forever? Was it possible that he did not recall that terrible scene when she had vowed to marry him in spite of all Lane could do to prevent it? But she did not know Lane's need of Barton. She did not reckon on the insignificance of other people's affairs, as measured by the egotistical absorption of Lane himself.

THE HOUSE BY THE SIDE OF THE ROAD

"He was a friend to man, and lived in a house by the side of the road." —Homer.

There are hermit souls who live withdrawn.

In the peace of their self-content; There are souls, like stars, that dwell apart.

In a felloes firmament; There are pioneer souls that blaze their paths.

Where highways never ran; But let me live by the side of the road.

And be a friend to man.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road.

Where the race of men go by— The men who are good and the men who are bad.

As good and as bad as I. I will not sit in the scorners' seat.

Or hurt the cynic's ban; Let me live in a house by the side of the road.

And be a friend to man.

I see from my house by the side of the road.

By the side of the highway of life. The men who press with the ardor of hope.

The men who are faint, with the strife.

But I turn not away from their smiles nor their tears.

Both parts of an infinite plan; Let me live in a house by the side of the road.

And be a friend to man.

I know there are brook-gladdened meadows ahead.

And mountains of wearisome height; That the road passes on through the long afternoon.

And stretches away to the night. But still I rejoice when the travellers' rejoice.

And sweep with the strangers that moon, Nor live in my house by the side of the road.

Like a man who dwells alone.

Let me live in my house by the side of the road.

Where the race of men go by— They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong.

Wise, foolish, so am I. Then why should I sit in the scorners' seat.

Or hurt the cynic's ban? Let me live in my house by the side of the road.

And be a friend to man.

From "Dreams in Homespun" by Sam Walter Foss.

Like one in a daze, she extended her hand to Barton, who accepted it gravely.

"My niece, Mrs. Chandler," Lane was continuing the farce of the introduction.

Barton raised his fine brows.

"Mrs. Chandler?" he asked politely.

"I had not heard of your marriage. Per- mit me to offer my congratulations."

Madelon's heart contracted.

How cold and formal he was. Had he not forgotten?

Her lips summoned a smile.

"Thank you, but you are too late. Mr. Chandler died nearly four years ago."

He bowed.

"I beg your pardon. When one is long away from one's native land, one must expect to be ignorant of events."

"You—you are glad to return?" she faltered.

"Very much so indeed," his familiar smile with its flash of white teeth was like a stab in the heart that was beat- ing slower and slower in her breast.

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead—" he quoted lightly.

She summoned all her faculties to make casual conversation. She must let slip no reference to the past, she told herself fiercely, since he had chosen to ignore all that had once passed between them.

Determinedly she forced herself to play the gracious, interested, casual hostess. But dinner that night seemed to her interminable. Never had Masters' careful service lagged so from course to course. Never had Stephen Lane lingered so long at the table, keep- ing her there at her post.

If he would only indicate that she might leave them to their cigars! If he would only let her go, so that she could flee to the solace of her own room and cry her wretched longing heart out.

But he kept her there, smiling her mask-like smile, until her lips felt frozen.

He and Barton conversed easily. There was a faint reserve in Barton's manner a sort of spiritual barrier kept up the reminder that he was there, in professional capacity only not a guest in the house by any manner of means.

For Madelon, he had the same charming impersonal courtesy that one had for any casual hostess. Neither in glance, nor inflection, did he betray the slightest awareness that once he had held her crushed to his breast in an agony of parting, that he had vowed eternal constancy and kissed her wildly, passionately.

How handsome he was. Madelon thought bitterly! More superb to look at than she had ever remembered. His steady eyes, the first chip, and clear-cut mouth were a stab to memory.

His face, the well-remembered ges- tures of his strong brown hands, tor- tured her with their echo from the past.

Finally, the longed-for moment arrived, when she dared retire.

She murmured something conven- tional—afterward she could never re- member what it was said—and slipped away to the sanctuary of her room.

His grave bow, the polite phrases with which he accepted her excuses, kept her mocking company.

Was it for this, that she had loved and longed unceasingly all these years?

THE LIGHT OF TRUTH

(From the Christian Science Monitor.)

Precious as is the sunlight to material sense, the Scriptures tell of a light more precious than that of the day.

To have one's entire consciousness fill- ed with the sunlight of Truth and Love cannot help but bring to man- kind the true sense of health, peace of mind, and right activity.

If one should close the doors and draw down the window shades, the natural sunlight could not find its way into the house. Similarly, if one close the door of thought, darkening his un- derstanding with evil thinking, the

FOLLERIN' THE BAND

WHO hasn't "follerin' the band up Main street, Ar up Broadway or Michigan boulevard? Heart pumping joyously, feet beating the ground in time! Grandly intoxicating moment of childhood!

And—later in life—who hasn't felt a thrill as the conductor lifted his baton for the overture to begin? A moment pregnant with the glamour of the theatre!

Music casts its spell throughout all the Ages of Man.

It is wise then, in this enlight- ened and prosperous day to countenance substitution of a shadow of music for the real thing in the theatre!

Imagine the Irish following a Music Box on St. Patrick's Day!

Or live and drum music by a Machine on Memorial Day! In- congruous? Of course, but not more so than a mechanical over- ture in the theatre.

Talking pictures—a new dra- matic form; the radio—which transmits music directly and DOES reflect the artist's mood of the moment; the phonograph in the home—where living music usually is not available—are not at issue here. We are discussing only the SUBSTITUTION OF MECHANICAL MUSIC FOR REAL MUSIC IN THE THEATRE.

Real Music is being eliminated in theatres.

MOUNTED RIFLES DEEDS OF VALOR IN GREAT WAR

VALOROUS DEEDS

Sanctuary Wood, Amiens, Cambrai, Mons, Among Standard Names

By J. F. R. LIVESAY

Toronto, Ont.—(CP)—The first reunion of the 44th Canadian Mounted Rifles Battalion since its was demobilized on its return from France, March 20, 1918, is being held here tonight, all who served with the battalion from Aug. 4, 1914, to Nov. 11, 1918, being invited to the battalion dinner. Although largely recruited from central Ontario this unit included enlisted men from coast to coast. Its name recalls valorous deeds.

The idea of Mounted Rifles came out of the South African war—the mobile rifleman on horseback, who in battle fought as infantry. When in December, 1915, Canadian troops in France were first fashioned into a corps unit at a time when the exigencies of trench warfare demanded the service of every available infantryman, the 8th C. M. R. Brigade was formed from the 1st and 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifle Brigades, and successfully in campaign. Brigade leaders General Smart, Williams, Emsley and D. C. Draper, the latter from May 24, 1918, to the Armistice. The C. M. R. continued as infantry throughout the war unlike the Canadian cavalry brigade, Brig.-Gen. R. W. Paterson, consisting of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, Lord Strathcona's Horse and Fort Garry Horse, which maintained its identity and played a distinguished part in the first battle of Cambrai, with Byng's Third Army, November 1917, in stemming the tide of rout of the Fifth Army in March, 1918, in the battle of Amiens, August 8, 1918, and in the open warfare of the closing months.

The 8th Brigade consisted of the 1st (Manitoba and Saskatchewan), 2nd (British Columbia), 4th (Central Ontario), and 5th (eastern townships) C. M. R. Battalions, and with it will always be associated the terrific fighting of Sanctuary Wood in June, 1916. It particularly distinguished itself in what has come to be known as the Last 100 Days, Amiens, Aug. 8, to Mons, Nov. 11, 1918. Amiens was the greatest surprise attack of the war, a captured German officer declaring his Intelligence had given the certain information the Canadian Corps was being put into a new attack in the Ypres salient. In this mystery the 4th C. M. R. had an interesting part, for the battalion together with the 27th Battalion (Manitoba), were moved north by train to Second Army area, where they were placed in line with a flourish that completely deceived the enemy. They did not rejoin their respective divisions until August 6, and two days later took part in the hard fighting along the Roze road.

From Amiens and the old Somme battlefield the Canadian Corps moved north to Arras where on August 26, another surprise attack was staged, this time at the very heart of the enemy defensive system, the Drocourt-Queant Switch. Dominating the terrain was the hill and high-pitched village (or what was left of it) of Monchy-le-Preux, in whose capture the Newfoundlanders greatly distinguished themselves in April, 1917, when a few miles north the Canadian Corps was consolidating its victory on Vimy Ridge. It was abandoned to the enemy again in March, 1918, when the right of Byng's Third Army was driven back together with the Fifth Army on its left, and to straighten out the line it became necessary for the Third Army left to conform and thus surrender Monchy-le-Preux, key to the plateau immediately east of Arras.

The dramatic feature of the opening day of the new battle, Aug. 26, was the capture of this commanding height by the 8th C. M. R. Brigade. The kick-off was at 3 a.m., with an intensive rolling barrage, and a few tanks, though these were quickly put out of action as they became silhouetted on the slopes in the light of dawn to enemy fire. The 6th, 4th and 2nd C. M. R. Battalions jumped off at zero, and at 5:25 a.m. when visibility was good, the 1st C. M. R. passed left, attacking enemy positions between the Scarpe River and north-south slopes of Monchy-le-Preux. Pushing ahead, the battalion's right swung around behind Monchy-le-Preux, joining hands at 8 o'clock with the 5th C. M. R., which had attacked on the right. The tactical feature of the battle was then drifting parties up to the southwest of the village. Seeing themselves cut off from support, the garrison surrendered.

Did space permit, one might here recount the brilliant exploit of Lieutenant C. S. Rutherford, 5th C. M. R., of Colborne, Ont., who by a brilliant piece of bluff captured single-handed two machine gun posts with three parsons, 45 officers and men; or of Father James Nicholson of Kingston, Ont., chaplain of the same battalion, who, quite unprofessionally, made prisoners seven officers and 40 men out of a dug-out.

In the battle of Cambrai, which opened Sept. 27, with the storming of the Canal du Nord, the 1st C. M. R. greatly distinguished themselves, at cost of heavy casualties, by storming St. Omer on the northwest outskirts of Cambrai, pushing on to the banks of the Scheldt Canal. In the days following, a sanguinary battle was fought out by the Canadian Corps on the high plateau north of Cambrai, of which Bleucourt was the pivotal centre, to be finally won on Oct. 1, when the beaten enemy fell back sullenly eastward, but still kept their hold on Cambrai itself, which indeed was outside Canadian Corps area of attack. For some days the 8th C. M. R. Brigade continued to hold the west bank of the Scheldt, continual sniping going on with enemy machine gunners posted opposite in the suburbs, a hundred yards away. On Oct. 8, the Canadian Corps was entrusted with the capture of Cambrai, after the British Corps on its right had attacked unsuccessfully. The infantry advanced on the entire corps front in the pitch dark of a rainy night, lacking, therefore the customary support of a creeping artillery barrage. Entry into the city itself was made by the C. M. R., two men of the 5th Battalion swimming the canal to bomb out the machine gun post on the railway bridgehead, but they found it deserted, the enemy having evacuated half an hour after midnight. The 4th C. M. R. meantime was engaged in penetrating the city from the northwest and by 10:30 that morning the 8th Brigade and Canadian Engineers occupied the area, capturing a small enemy force left behind to complete the destruction, for by noon the beautiful totally destroyed by enemy incendiary fires.

The 8th C. M. R. took part in the running battle that ended at Mons on Armistice Day, distinguishing themselves in breaking down enemy resistance on the Honneuve River, and fighting on among the slag heaps to the very hour of victory.

CHILDREN LEARN STORY OF WAR

Children of Canada Will Be Taught Part Played
By Country

By M. MCINTYRE HOOD,

Canadian Press Special Representative

Regina, Sask. — Urging that the children of Canada be given a full understanding of the part played by their country in the Great War, a series of resolutions on this subject came up for consideration by the third dominion convention of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, held here from Nov. 25 to 28. There has been a great awakening of interest among ex-service men in the historical records of the Great War, and the part of Canada and the Empire in particular, in its presentation in school books and through other channels. Branches of the Canadian Legion which have been discussing this question have in resolutions sent on to the convention, expressed the view that coming generations should be given an opportunity to attain a complete knowledge of the Great War, its causes, progress and outcome and the contribution of their own nation in the successful prosecution of the conflict.

As part of an educative program, suggestions for the use of every channel of communication, the written and spoken word, pictures, radio and other means, both by way of instruction to Canadians generally and to effect unreliable statements which some times emanate from irresponsible sources in other countries.

Other proposals contained in resolutions presented to the convention urged the immediate preparation and presentation for permanent display of Canada's priceless collection of war photographs, films and works of art.

U.S. DELEGATION MOSTLY CIVILIAN

Delegation to Five Power Conference Composed of Civilian Members

By KEN CLARK

Washington, D. C.—Continued confidence is manifest at the White House and State Department here as the United States delegation to the five-power conference in London continues its work upon the problem of disarmament.

The delegation proper will be civilian, it is now made known, and will be accompanied by naval experts who will act in an advisory capacity. President Hoover feels that naval reduction is a problem which in the end must be dealt with by civilians and for this reason the delegation to London will differ from that sent to Geneva in 1927. At that conference Rear-Admiral Hilary P. Jones, since retired, was a full-fledged delegate. If he goes to London as intended by the President and Secretary of State, Stimson, head of the group from Washington, it will be as adviser.

There have been rumors here to the effect that Admiral Jones, who is now under the control of the Navy because of his retirement, has objected to accompanying the Secretary and Senators Reed and Robinson simply as an adviser, since he considered that in such position he would be unable to forcefully oppose any more which he felt was not in the best interest of his retirement. He has objected to accompanying the Secretary and Senators Reed and Robinson simply as an adviser, since he considered that in such position he would be unable to forcefully oppose any more which he felt was not in the best interest of his retirement. He has objected to accompanying the Secretary and Senators Reed and Robinson simply as an adviser, since he considered that in such position he would be unable to forcefully oppose any more which he felt was not in the best interest of his retirement.

The other chief naval adviser is Admiral William V. Pratt, commander-in-chief of the United States Fleet, also an expert on disarmament. He gave counsel at the Washington disarmament conference in 1921 and has upheld the treaty evolved then against those who contended it was to the disadvantage of the United States. Admiral Pratt, it is understood, is in full sympathy with the programme which will be urged by the United States at the London conference. This follows closely, it is believed, the plan laid down by the government through diplomatic exchanges with the other powers involved.

Secretary Stimson and his "team" as he calls them, are continuing their study of the situation. Recently the Secretary personally reviewed the history of past conferences. The government here has been informed of the Japanese proposals which will be studied to better advantage when the delegation from Tokyo passes through here on its way to London. One of the questions which arises is in the Japanese idea of a ratio cruiser power of 10-10-7 rather than 5-5-3, which obtains under the Washington treaty.

PROBAGATES TURKEYS IN THE WOODLANDS

Concord, N. H.—Wild turkeys may again inhabit the woodlands of this State if the plan under construction by the State Department of Fish and Game is adopted. The plan calls for the setting aside of a large tract of forest land as a breeding place. As the species long ago disappeared from this section of the country it would be necessary to import breeding stock, probably from the southern States.

If the plan is carried out, the birds prosper and multiply in satisfactory numbers an open season will be declared each autumn, as in the case of other game birds, and hunters will be allowed to take them. Sportsmen's associations in the State have agreed to co-operate with the State in the work of propagation by caring for the birds before they should be liberated.

CANADA MARKET TO BENEFIT BY TARIFF PROBE

Iron and Steel Men Combine To Benefit By Tariff Probe

Ottawa, December 2.—Development before the Advisory Board on Tariff and Taxation seem to indicate that the United States tariff threat will prove a blessing in disguise. In other words, Canada now seems disposed to readjust her tariff in such a way that Canadian industries will be developed, and the people of this country will be able to obtain most of the goods they need without importing so largely from other countries. The idea seems to be that the time has come for Canada to strike out for herself, to develop her own industries, thus providing employment for more Canadian workmen, stopping the exodus to the United States, and correcting to some extent the unfavorable trade balance with that country. There appears to be a disposition to so shape the tariff in iron and steel that the industry will be fostered. At present Canada is fifth among the countries of the world in trade and commerce, but only tenth in iron and steel. William H. Moore, chairman of the Tariff Board, has more than once reminded the representatives of the industry appearing before the board this week that they will never build up the iron and steel business in Canada by continuing to import hundreds of millions of dollars worth of products from other countries.

He has invited suggestions from all parties concerned as to the kind of tariff this country should have. In short, the purpose seems to have been not only to modernize the tariff schedule, but to mother for the Minister of Finance and Parliament information upon which a truly Canadian tariff may be based.

At the conclusion of today's sitting, the big steel companies took occasion to comment that the board on the excellent manner in which the hearing has been conducted. T. E. Rahilly, of the Algoma Steel Corporation, spoke of the evidence of care exercised by the board and its staff in preparing for the hearing, and of the knowledge of the economic conditions of the iron and steel industry displayed by the chairman.

"We confess," added Mr. Rahilly, "that that very fact put us on our mettle, and that in an attempt to plead our case before you, we had to do some studying and know a great deal more about the subject than when we first appeared before you."

ANCIENT BOOKS ARE UNEARTHED

The Deciphering Task Will Take At Least Ten Years

Chicago, Ill.—Two goshawk Syrian manuscripts, believed to contain most of the religious knowledge of the era between the fourth and fifth centuries, A.D., have arrived at the University of Chicago and will be deciphered. The deciphering task, University officials said, probably will take at least ten years, and perhaps fifteen. One of the volumes measures 26 by 18 inches, weighs 50 pounds, and contains 222 pages with 100,000 written lines. It is entitled "Collection of selected discourses of all kinds on all the feasts composed by orthodox holy fathers," and is devoted largely to sermons by the clergy of the Eastern Church. Works by Jacob Edessa, who flourished about 700 A.D., and was one of the most learned men of his day, occupy half the volume. Nothing in the book is later than 850 A.D. and some of the material goes back before 420 A.D.

The smaller volume is a compendium of liturgical acts, songs, prayers and Bible readings for every day of the year and contains 800 lines. Among the most valuable portions of the manuscripts in the second volume, Prof. Sprengling said, are records of sermons by St. Chrysostom and of sermons on the visions of Ezekiel, which men are believed to take up all the knowledge of that day relating to the scriptures.

Long distance telephone rates reduced again telephone construction plans increased

The Bell Telephone Company has complete confidence in Canada's continued progress. Its plans for 1930 express this confidence in concrete form.

On January 1, 1930, long distance telephone rates will be reduced again—the second reduction within twelve months.

At the same time, expenditure on construction to extend and improve the telephone system will be substantially increased.

In other words, telephone users are to have a still wider service at lower cost.

The reduction in long distance rates in Ontario and Quebec will mean a saving for telephone users of about $200,000 during the year. Details of the new lower rates will be announced in January.

The increased construction program for 1930 constitutes a new record. This year has been the most extensive construction period in the Company's history to date with $27,000,000 spent in new equipment and improvements. Next year telephone construction in Ontario and Quebec will total over $30,000,000 with more than $9,000,000 for long distance service improvements alone.

The fixed policy and constant effort of the Bell Telephone Company are to give the best possible service at the lowest possible cost. An increased programme of extensions and betterments and reduced long distance rates in 1930 are part of this effort, based on unchanged confidence in Canada's business outlook.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S HOLLY IS EXCELLENT. Toronto, Ont. (Canadian Press)—The "Homemonger" writing in the Globe says: "British Columbia holly or English!" I exclaimed when I saw the glossy, deeply corrugated leaves and abundant red berries in a downy window. "California holly is as different as chalk," is from cheese. "One British Columbia woman told us that at Christmas she sold $25 worth of holly of a single big tree without marring the tree in the least. Surely some arrangements could be made for shipping our Christmas holly from British Columbia instead of California. If we are to have the holly, couldn't the Women's Institute of the two provinces co-operate in some way to launch Canadian holly on the Eastern market instead of the thin, flimsy and almost worthless leaves which come to us from the Southern States under the name of holly."

ACTRESS WEDS YOUNG BARONET. London, EnG. (By The C. P.)—Miss Frances Doble, the young actress who came here from Canada some years ago, is to marry Sir Anthony Lindsay-Hogg, the 22 year old baronet. Romance is attached to the engagement, as Sir Anthony, who recently surprised his friends by embarking on a film career, appeared in the talkie, "Dark Red Roses," in which Miss Doble starred.

The date of their wedding has not yet been fixed, but it may be late in December," said Sir Anthony. "There is no suggestion of Miss Doble giving up her stage work, for the time being."

QUESTION IS ASKED OF PENSIONS BOARD

Toronto, Ont. (Canadian Press)—The Pensions Board refuses a pension which can an old person do? Is the Board exercising its right to sue the sons?

"This question was asked in the local press, and the reply follows: The Board has the right to prosecute in such cases, but up to the present time have not found it necessary to do so, having found that moral suasion was all that was needed. If the sons are in a position to support their parents and refuse to do so, their property may be seized. There are local boards in the different localities to which the Central Board refers matters for investigation, and if it is found that the children are not in a position to care for their parents, the Central Board awards the pensions."

WHIPPING DETERS NOT ERRING BOYS. London (Magistrate Assests Boys' Psychology Causes Failure of Bench

London, (Canadian Press)—Corporal punishment for young offenders against the law is not deterrent in the magistrate at Old Bailey, London. Magistrate Hall expressed himself to this effect at a recent conference of the Magistrate's Association.

"I do not believe that the best treatment for boy offenders is to beat them. A report shows that 80 per cent of the boys who had been charged in certain courts were back again within two years. If you consider the psychology of a child you will get the reason for that failure."

It is very rare that a leader of the gang or his assistant that is caught. Often he is a ragged little urchin, neglected from birth, with probably no one to give him any affection, his one asset being the respect of the gang with whom he works. He would not be in England if he showed the gang that he was a corporal punishment. He was proud of it, and to prove to the gang he was not afraid he would omit some offence again."

MEN STILL GET WOMEN'S VOTES. Although Having Franchise Women Prefer to Vote For Men

Quebec, Que. (CP).—"Le Soleil" says editorially, anent the Ontario election, in which were eight women candidates. It is well known the women on Ontario have the right to vote and it is but natural to expect that they would at least elect one of the number to the Legislature. They have done nothing of the kind, but have preferred to vote for the men. It may be concluded from this, that feminism in Ontario is not as advanced as it had been believed. There is, as between the province of Ontario and the province of Quebec, only a difference in degree from the feminist point of view, in Ontario the right to vote has been conceded to the women who, apparently, do not care to take advantage of it to elect one of their own to the local parliament. In Quebec we have justly refused the majority the women themselves do not desire to exercise the right. In the end, it comes to the same thing, only Quebec is more logical. Our province is not given to useless movements.

at any rate."

Sir Anthony succeeded his grandfather, the first baronet, in 1923, and his home is at Haywards' Grange, Jarvis Brook Sussex.

Miss Doble who is known to her friends as "Bunny," spent her early life in Canada. During the past few years she has achieved popularity on the West End Stage, appearing in "The Man in Dress Clothes," "Downhill," "Sirocco," "Young Woodley," and other plays. She has also played in a number of British films.

COLLEGE TEAMS CLAIM MYTHICAL CHAMPIONSHIPS ON THE GRIDIRON

Notre Dame, Purdue and Pittsburgh Share Honours

New York, December 2.—Football frozen finish today finds the gridiron forces ready for winter quarters, and one of the biggest debates yet waged for championship honours.

All actors considered, Notre Dame and Pittsburgh probably can claim the biggest share of the gridiron laurels for a season of spectacular individual performance and record that being crowds in nearly every sector of the battle front. These three great arrays each finished tough schedules without defeat or a tie. Each displayed a powerful line and great backfield.

Purdue, winner of the Big Ten title for the first time, was hard pressed only by Iowa and Michigan in sweeping through the eight games triumphantly. Pittsburgh's closest call was again Nebraska, but the Panthers displayed perhaps the greatest all-around scoring punch of any team in the country against first-class opposition.

Notre Dame dashed through a more exacting schedule than either Purdue or Pittsburgh, running up against a tough foe every week, but the fighting Irish came closest of the three to defeat. They beat Southern California by a single point, and were hard pressed in their final game to conquer the Army with Jack Elder's one-handed yardage.

Jack Elder's brilliant campaign, the same thing was true of Tennessee. Jack Elder's brilliant campaign, the same thing was true of Tennessee.

Tulans in the South and Utah in the Rocky Mountain area topped off a fine season with a trace of defeat or tie. Texas Christian in the Southwest and St. Mary's on the Pacific Coast had only a single tie apiece to mark otherwise brilliant campaigns. The Nova Scotia growers of them by Chas. A. Four hunters from New York State saw 153 moose during the ten days of October they spent hunting in Albert County, New Brunswick. The hunters, who were guided by Charles C. Dixon, of Alma, Quebec, in a report made by R. D. Stowell, of Alden, N. Y., who headed the party, to the New Brunswick Government Bureau of Information and Tourist Travel.

Contract for building a 5,500,000 bushel grain elevator at Prescott, Ontario, on the St. Lawrence has recently been let by the Canadian Government. Its cost will be about $3,100,000 and construction must be completed by August 1, 1930. It will be ready before the Welland Canal, built at a cost of $120,000,000 is opened before next year's grain harvest in Western Canada begins.

Official report on employment in Canada states that on October 1 of the year conditions were exceptionally satisfactory. Reports from 702 employers with staffs totaling 1,081,383 persons, showed employment at 125, based on the average for the calendar year as 100. This is the highest on record for the time of year and compares with 118.8 for October 1, 1928.

World-wide interest is being attracted by the Canadian Pacific plans to include Honolulu as a port of call on westbound voyages of its White Empress fleet, commencing in December. Grant Hays, president of the Railway, stated at Vancouver recently. Though taking these ships a little out of their course to Yokohama, it will still leave them their supremacy as making the fastest run between this continent and the Orient, he added.

Three functions of interest which are expected to attract hundreds of Canadian and American tourists will be staged in Victoria in the next three months. They are the Yuletide Music Festival in December, the Grant Hays Festival in January, both held at the Empress Hotel, and the second annual mid-winter golf tournament in February which had as outstanding a success last winter.

The 300 odd inhabitants of Foremost, Alberta, claim it as one of the busiest communities of Western Canada. In the past two years it has shipped more than 3,500,000 bushels of grain, mostly wheat. The town is also progressive in its educational and sports facilities.

Shipments of pickled oil from the west coast of Vancouver Island are increasing yearly. One vessel recently took 650 tons of the bulk destined for Europe, where margarine is still a staple diet. Sometimes while oil is used as a substitute for pickled oil in the manufacture of margarine.

Here and There

Thirteen first prizes in apples, one first in pears and four seconds in apples were awarded to Canadian exhibitors at the Imperial Fruit Show recently held at Bingley Hall, Birmingham, England. Eight of the first prizes were won by Nova Scotia growers, five of them by Chas. A. Bentley, of Berwick, N. S.

HON. C. DUNNING, FINANCIAL HEAD LED NOTED LIFE

Dunning Is Only Non-Canadian to Fill the Position.

Toronto, Ont., (Canadian Press)—Under the caption: "A Canadian Finance Minister Born Out of Canada." The Toronto Mail and Empire says editorially—

It is officially announced that Hon. Charles Dunning is to be Canada's next Finance Minister. This means the crowning of a remarkable personal career in Canadian politics, that of a man whose ascent of the ladder to one of high public trust after another has been exceedingly rapid. Mr. Dunning came to Canada from England an immigrant boy at the age of 17, just 27 years ago. Fourteen years later he was a member of the Saskatchewan Government, and three years after that he became prime minister of the province. From Saskatchewan he was called to hold office in the Dominion Government in the year 1928, and now at 44 he is chosen as the man to fill the late Mr. Robb's shoes as Finance Minister, the most important office under the premiership in the Dominion Cabinet. His example will turn the thoughts of many other promising youngsters to the openings public life presents to men of talent and force of character. Of course, every career in which shining success has been attained has had its favoring conditions and opportune moments as well as stiff difficulties to overcome. There are doubtless many other young men as gifted and as resourceful as Mr. Dunning, but the golden opportunity never came to them. The achieving of success and the gratifying of ambition are not wholly a matter of fighting against adversity. The smile of Fortune now and then brightens and hastens the upward struggle.

Mr. Dunning will be the only non-Canadian birth to hold the office since the days of the Dominion's first cabinet. In that original cabinet Sir A. T. Galt was the first Finance Minister. He held office but a short time, giving way to Sir John Rose, who likewise soon retired and was followed by Sir Francis Hincks. All these men were born in the Old Country. Sir Francis Hincks' short tenure of office was succeeded by that of Sir Leonard Tilley, who was born in New Brunswick. In the Mackenzie Cabinet which displaced the first Government of Sir J. MacDonald, Sir Richard Cartwright, a Canadian, was the Finance Minister. When the Mackenzie Government was defeated, Sir John MacDonald formed his second administration. Sir Leonard Tilley was once more selected for the office of Finance Minister. When he retired, owing to ill-health, another Canadian, Hon. A. W. McLean took over the department. Shortly afterwards came Sir Charles Tupper's brief term. Sir George Foster began his administration in the Finance department in Sir John MacDonald's third cabinet and continued it from 1888 to 1896, when he retired upon the defeat of the Tupper Ministry. There began Hon. W. S. Fielding's long service at the post. The first break in that service came in 1911, when the Laurier Government was defeated. In the Borden Government, which succeeded Sir Thomas White as Finance Minister and held the office until his retirement from politics at the close of the war, when his place was taken by Sir Henry Drayton. When the Meigher Government was called into 1921 and Mr. King was called into office, Mr. Fielding was brought back to the finance department. For a few weeks after the resignation of the King Government in 1926, Mr. Meigher was prime minister and Hon. R. B. Bennett was Finance Minister. After the general election of 1926, which brought Mr. King back into the premiership, Mr. Fielding was once more put in charge of the finance department and continued there until he became ill to attend the duties of the office. He was succeeded by Mr. Robb, whose place has now been filled.

All these men were Canadians. In the beginning of the Dominion's history the country was more dependent later and held the office until the ripe politicians whose lives had begun in the Old Country, than it is now. All our finance ministers in the last 57 years of the Dominion's 62 years of existence have been Canadians. We have no lack of native-born Canadians fit for any task of Government. The opportunities for men born in the other parts of the Empire to take part in the directing of Canada's affairs will tend to be fewer as time goes on.

Santa Claus' Letter Box

Belleville, Dec. 2, 1929
Dear Santa Claus—I am thanking you for the things I got last year and am hoping to get the same this year. I want a baby doll and a doll's trunk and some rats and candy and oranges. My stocking will be hung on the bedpost. Fill it full. I leave some cocoa and cake.

Your Dear Friend, JUNE.

144, E. Bridge Street,
Belleville, Ont.
November 30, 29.

Dear Santa Claus—I am a little girl six years of age and I hope you won't think I am asking you to bring me too much.

I have always wanted bob skates and I hope you will bring them to me. I would like a large doll house for a home for my dolls I would like a doll sleigh to take my dolls out so they can get rocky cheeks. Santa Dear the last thing I would like is a doll bed and a mamma doll dressed in long baby clothes.

I will leave a large piece of cake and hot tea for you to drink. Hoping you will not forget me.

I remain,
Your Loving Friend
BARBARA JENKINS

Belleville, Ont.
Belleville, Nov. 29, 29

Dear Santa Claus—I thank you for the many gifts you brought me last year. I would like you to please bring me a pair of bed-room slippers, a spiral game, a pair of leather gloves for Sunday School and Church, a in-door ball, and a erector No. 3.

Your Friend,
WALTER FROST,
Robin.

Belleville, Nov. 30, 29,
Dear Santa Claus—I am writing you a few lines to ask you if you will be kind enough to bring me a tobacco sleigh and a wind-breaker, and I must tell you I have helped my dear mother and have been a good boy, so will you please do your best.

Bye, bye,
LEO OLIVES

Frankford P. O.
Belleville, Nov. 28th, 1929.

Dear Santa Claus:—How are you? Hoping you are well and able to come around to the house again this year. I am sending a line thanking you for the presents I got last year. I want you to bring me this Christmas a pair of bedroom slippers, some nuts and candies and oranges. I have a little sister she is three years old, she wants a car (set of blocks) I will leave some cake and cocoa on the table, ring the door bell when you come and we will know you are here so good-bye.

From your Little Friend, MYRTLE SMITH
lots of love XXXXXX

203 Charles Street,
Belleville, Ont.

Dear Santa Claus:—I'm so glad Christmas has come. I've been waiting all summer for it. I hope you won't forget me this year, because I really have been a good boy lately. And I know that will please you, and I know that I want this year, I don't just know what to ask you for, but I bet I'll get something nice like a teddy bear or roller skates or a train and some powder and a comb, because I have curly hair. Well I guess that's about all I can think of now, but I'll write you again.

Your Little Friend

PRAIRIE FARMERS REMAIN BUOYANT

Hopes for Spring and Fall Moisture to Produce Excellent 1930 Crop

By GILLIS PURCELL

Canadian Press Staff Writer
Winnipeg, Man.—Already the western farmer is thinking of next year's crop, though the drought-reduced 1929 yield is not yet all stored away. Surprisingly unalarmed at meagre rains that summer that fall, he is banking on a wet spring. June rains 1929 have saved the situation before, reflects the optimistic farmer, and they can do it again.

Late October snows, stretched across the southern sections of the prairies in a wide white band, served to alleviate the water supply dilemma in a number of districts. Generally, however, the fall snow so far has not supplied the arid soil with moisture enough to sink well below the surface. In almost every case, the early winter blizzards brought welcome top-soil moisture—and hope for more wet weather before the freeze-up finally sets in.

In the last six months, the west has weathered as many crop scares. No agricultural disaster are causing no agricultural disaster.

The crop was to have been a failure this year—but it proved to be an unexpectedly good half-yield. The crop was to have been wiped out but a remarkably high class yield well over 90 per cent within the statutory grades, brought excellent payments for increased harvests. An arid autumn was promised in the wake of a dry summer but early winter snows, moisture-laden, fed the thirsty soil and raised new hopes of generous fall precipitation.

Even the uncertainty of the wheat market has not perturbed the producer. In most cases, he is sitting back, confident that he will be paid the best possible price for the 1930 crop. So far the farmer hasn't really got around to worrying of next year. An unusually open autumn has permitted him to work to be done almost without interruption; the mild weather has in part off-set the mild weather since stock have not even yet been stabled; and if precipitation is generous before frost grips the surface soil, the dry land may be in fair shape through the winter.

Up to the present, however, the dry summer and fall have left the prairies with little or no reserve moisture. But harvesting, undelayed by rain, was completed very early, leaving additional time for extensive preparations for the 1930 crop. Fall plowing, it is believed, will show a decrease due to the dryness of the soil, but stubble discing has been substituted.

Doubtfully, prairie acreage will show considerable increase. By drawing the plow strings just a little tighter, the farmer will be able to weather financially, despite the partial crop failure. Generally speaking, western farmers are not saddled with a burden of over-extravagance. The system of deferred payments has encouraged better regulated buying. Payment for newly purchased "combines" may prove difficult in some cases, but the investment has future years to prove its worth.

Especially encouraging is the conviction that the Dominion government will not be called upon to advance money for seed. In some cases farmers will be in need of feed and next spring of seed. It is the general belief, however, that any assistance necessary will be accorded by provincial governments through the medium of municipalities.

Discing the next crop, pessimists admit that dry falls have often been survived, but not so often when they follow a dry summer. Only ideal weather from the start of the spring weather can save the situation, they believe. But there is another side to the question. Students of crop weather claim there is an even chance for damp days this fall and for generous snowfall and ample spring rains next year to compensate for the light reserve in soil moisture at the present time.

"Admittedly, the western crop is wholly dependent on timely and ample rainfalls in the spring—unless immediate snows and a late freeze-up help matters out this fall," comments Dean W. C. Killian of Manitoba Agricultural College. But some prairie grain has been splendid wroth as a result of opportune spring moisture. There is no reason now for any particular anxiety concerning conditions.

Fall crops are expected to show an acreage decrease, due to adverse moisture conditions, but this will be more than balanced by additional spring sowing. Less fall rye has been sown in eastern Saskatchewan, and southern Alberta is expected to show a falling-off in fall wheat. A good deal of summer fallow has been done, though much of it may prove costly in the long run, due to non-germination of weed seed; and some farmers are complaining there has been insufficient rain to rot the soil now breaking. Early snows on the southern prairies, and subsequent moderate temperatures, may have remedied this condition in some areas.

Of the three prairie provinces, Manitoba has been most fortunate in the matter of moisture. Though rainfall has been but half normal, early autumn rains prepared the soil for extensive plowing. Surprisingly late firming of weed-seeds in summer fallow has removed fear of a weedy crop. Pleasant early winter snow has proved an aid in supplying moisture for dried-up sloughs and has contributed its meagre portion to the restricted reserve of moisture that must carry through the winter. In many ways, Manitoba has had an ideal fall.

For half a century, I have not seen Manitoba's fields so dry," comments Albert Prefontaine, provincial minister of agriculture, "yet never in any other winter have I seen so much fallow carried through the winter. This farming Cabinet minister, who has himself reaped 50 crops from the land of Manitoba, believes that the province may have a better crop in 1930 than this year, when Manitoba produced the prairie's highest per-acre wheat yield.

"Practically all the plowing for seeding has been done in Manitoba, and done in good shape," Mr. Prefontaine went on. "And the dry weather has helped to destroy the snow thistle. There was wet snow of late October and early November has helped somewhat and there is still time for more fall rain or moist snow if we are fortunate."

Winter frost will no doubt the ground until late May or early June. It is the June rain that tells the Western farmer's tale.

Considerable business was done through this morning at the County Council session, but no matters of great import were heard. Warden Bailey occupied the chair, and practically all of the members were in their seats at the appointed hour of starting.

Much discussion centered around the prohibition of the use of snares by trappers in this county. There is already a Provincial law which prohibits their use in Lennox, Addington, Frontenac, Grenville and Leeds, and it was decided to petition the government to have Hastings included in this prohibited area. Many farmers through the county have lost valuable dogs and even cows have been badly mangled by being caught in snares.

Want Road Built

The Council then went into Committee of the whole on Communications and a letter was read from the city clerk of Kingston endorsing the proposed new road from Trenton to Kingston via Picton and the Adolphustown Ferry. This was received and filed. W. C. Morden of Stirling applied for the position of auditor for the year 1930, and this was referred to the committee on ways and means. Several hospital accounts which were referred to the Finance Committee.

There will be several blizzards

duced to-morrow, the members of notice of their intention to do so. Warden Bailey, for the general information of the reeves present, stated that the total debt of the County of Hastings County was only about $139,000, there having been no debentures issued since 1916. In the neighborhood of twelve thousand dollars is paid off the principal each year, and another of the debenture bonds will expire in 1930.

To Present Cops

Mr. Bailey also told the Council that Mr. J. Wilson, Hastings County Agricultural Representative, had asked to present cups to several Junior Farmers on the afternoon of the Oratorical Contest, which is to be held on this week. The Council agreed to this proposal.

For over half an hour discussion centered around the payment of so-called Indigents' Hospital bills, and the whole list was finally left to the County Solicitor who will act in conjunction with a committee to be appointed. As matters now stand with regard to payment of hospital bills, if the patient does not pay, the Hospital can collect from the County, and it is then up to the County to try to collect from the patient. This County cannot sue the patient for the money unless the patient has already paid the bill. In most of the cases brought to the attention of this Council this morning, the reeves connected with the cases declared the people were able to pay the bills, but just did not want to do so. As one member called it, the Council is acting as a collecting agency for the Hospital. The session adjourned at twelve-thirty to meet again at two o'clock.

LIBERAL MEETING SET FOR TO-NIGHT

Liberals of South Hastings were scheduled to meet in the local club rooms this afternoon at two o'clock but owing to a number of counter-attacks this afternoon and the fact that a number of the prominent party followers were engaged, the officers decided to postpone it until this evening at the same place at eight o'clock.

Modest Little Arthur the Great Now Looking For Some Easy Winter Money

Chicago, Dec. 4.—Dan Daly, Cleveland, a personal friend of Lena Blackburne, former "White Sox" manager, whom Arthur (the great) Shires, decorated with a "Shiners" last summer, will be Arthur's first opponent in the professional ring on Monday.

Daly said: "I am a close personal of the box next year."

SAFE IN HARBOR AFTER STORMS

The "Acadian" Had Rough Passage

Photographs here show the Acadian, and some of the members of her crew as she arrived in Toronto after a nine day fight against the elements during her run from Montreal, normally a 48-hour trip. The ship, according to statements of her captain, was driven from one shore to the other during the voyage. They ran short of coal and food and the ship's log registered nearly as much mileage as a transatlantic trip. (1) and (2) Miss Irene Nichols and Mrs. M. TV YEARS GENEROUS SERVICE FOR THE UNFORTUNATES OF CITY

MANGLED BODY OF MOTHER WAS FOUND

St. Thomas, December 4 (Canadian Press).—The terribly mangled body of Mrs. George Kimble was found on the Michigan Central Railway tracks here today. Mrs. Kimble had apparently been struck by a train last night. When it did not arrive home her daughter instituted a search, which was carried on through the night.

FEARED SEVENTY LIVES ARE LOST

Nine Fishermen's Boats Missing Following Hurricane Off Newfoundland

St. John's Nfld., December 4.—Another disaster for Newfoundland, following the tidal wave that devastated the Burin Peninsula last month, was feared today when silence continued to conceal the fate of approximately seventy persons, including four women, aboard nine missing vessels that left here Friday night for Bonaville point. No success has been reported today by two steamers searching off Newfoundland. The "Meigle" has covered a two hundred mile radius southeast of here, while the "Beothic" is searching eastward.

The hurricane, which overtook the vessels after they had landed their summer catch of fish and landed winter supplies, wrecked at least three other schooners, from which the crews were rescued and battered a number of steamers.

BELGIAN CABINET FORMED

Brussels, Dec. 4.—Henri Jaspar, Premier, today reconstituted his cabinet with all the old ministers included. Gazette published a royal decree refusing to accept the resignation of the former cabinet.

INCOME TAX CUT DRASTICALLY BY NEW U.S. BUDGET

Hoover Draws a Bright Picture of Nation's Financial Condition

INCREASE FOR NAVY

Revenue of Over Four Million is Forecasted For Next Year

Washington, Dec. 4.—President Hoover today laid before Congress recommendations for tax reduction, a request for $3,800,000,000 for government use next year, and a bright picture of the state of the nation's finances. In his first budget message he estimated the treasury's outlay for twelve months beginning next July at $4,102,938,700 and figured there would be one hundred and twenty-two million dollar surplus at the end of that period. The tax reduction suggestion followed the previously announced program of the administration which desires a decrease of from twelve to eleven per cent in corporation income levies and reductions of one per cent on normal individual incomes, making those rates range from one half per cent to four per cent.

The President called for increased sums for a number of government departments and organizations, including army, navy, rivers and harbors, food control, Indian care and forest protection.

Stiffer Customs Force

Washington, December 4.—Additional customs guards for use along Canadian border are provided for in an increase of $479,300 in the appropriations for the customs bureau announced today in President Hoover's budget message. The bureau will have an increase of 228 inspectors, customs guards and other employees, is to be made, but the announcement did not state just what forces or where the extra border employees were to be located.

SHIPS CAUGHT IN ICE TILL SPRING

Sudden Cold Spell Freezes Up Boats in Various Harbors

A freight vessel, the "Matt Sicken" owned by Robert Wedell, of Trenton, is frozen in the ice in the Bay of Quinte, off the village of Northport. The craft, playing chiefly between Kingston and the village of Northport, was caught in the ice last Friday night and anchored until the elements subsided. On Saturday morning the vessel was fast in the ice and all efforts to release her were unsuccessful. The crew left the ship and a watchman was placed on guard. Marine officials have stated that she will remain there until the spring break-up. The crew returned to their homes. The "Matt Sicken" is loaded with coal.

Another Boat Frozen In

The "Coalfax" another boat which hauls coal to the Canada Cement plant at Point Anne is aground in what is known as Maracle's Cove, according to Mr. Harry Moore, of Deseronto, this morning. The "Salvage Prince" from Kingston came up the bay this week in a rescue expedition, but she was unable to move farther than Deseronto owing to the ice.

FAILED TO SAVE LIFE OF FRIEND

Comrades Tried For Five Hours to Revive Victim Of Shock

Sarnia, December 4.—Five hours of valiant efforts by fellow workmen to revive a spark of life in Jack Turner, a Guelph lineman, shocked at Petrolia yesterday, proved unavailing and Turner died in Petrolia Hospital last night. He received a shock of four thousand volts when he took hold of a fallen telephone line which had come in contact with a high tension wire. Immediately after removal to hospital, doctors held out little hope for Turner, but his comrades persisted in artificial respiration efforts for five hours.

FINAL FINISHING TOUCHES TO RINK

Ice is Practically Ready For Use To-day—Opening On Friday

Just the finishing touches have to be done to the new Belleville Arena, in the erection and completion of which the Belleville public has been so interested in the past few months. Yesterday the lead speaker was erected and is in the middle section of the rink, well above the ice so that no chance shot can damage it. It is the best of equipment turned out for the purpose, being similar to that in Port Erie, Niagara Falls, Hamilton, Collingwood and Toronto Arenas. Fifteen watt amplifiers are used, using 2-281's, 2-250's, 2-227's tubes. An expert, who looks after the installation of these amplifiers in the various arenas, worked all day yesterday supervising the work which was done by Bonte's Radio Den.

The ice making is fairly well advanced and will be ready for skating this tonight or tomorrow morning, which will be, approximately, from thirty-six to forty-eight hours before the time scheduled. The ice is really already finished but the supervisor of the work intends having the best sheet of ice that can be made.

The lights, which have only temporarily been connected, are being repaired this morning in doing the necessary work to achieve this object.

When the rink opens on Friday, the sporting public will see a rink for which they have been waiting for a long time.

MYSTERY SHROUDS TAXI DRIVER'S END

Fort William, December 4.—Mystery of the slaying of Robert Bergland, youthful Port William taxi driver, remained unsolved, following the coroner's inquest, last night. Shot as he sat at the wheel of his taxi, the body of Bergland was found in his car near here last Wednesday. After several witnesses testified, the coroner's jury brought in an open verdict "that Robert Bergland was killed by a bullet wound in his head fired by some person or persons unknown."

KEEPING "SOO" LOCKS OPEN FOR LAST TRIP

Eleven Below Zero Last Night and Weather is Threatening to Become Colder. Anxious Days For Boat Owners as Well As For the Crews

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. Dec. 4. (C.P.)—Fight to keep the channel below the "Soo" open is being made by four tugs so that some 45 freighters still in the upper lakes, downbound with the last cargoes of grain, can reach their ports below before the icy hand of Winter closes the bottle neck which from year to year is a menace to mariners both up and down bound.

Traffic through the canals is now all downbound, vessels which have already gone down within the past few days with grain being pressure carriers and will not return for another cargo. The Canadian lock which was held up through ice conditions, is functioning again and will remain open until the last vessel has passed down from the upper lakes.

It was eleven above zero last night with indications that the weather would not moderate for several days at least. And it may become colder.

Snow Hinders Shipping. William, Ont., Dec. 4.—A snow storm is hindering free navigation on Lake Superior today, the visibility being very poor. Lake Shippers Clearance Association has no word of any more grain boats coming up the lakes and it is believed possible that if sea conditions at the Soo are bad that ships, with the Donnybrook today, will be all to reach lake head this season.

NAME OFFICIALS IN LOCAL LEGION

J. W. Day Will Head Local Branch For The Ensuing Year

At a well attended meeting of the members of the Canadian Legion Post 99, Belleville, held in the Memorial Hall last night, J. W. Day was elected president of the local organization for the year of 1930. Mr. Day has been connected with the Canadian Legion ever since its inception in Belleville just after the War and his elevation to this post of importance comes as due reward for meritorious work.

C. Smith was elected as vice-president, G. Lancaster, second vice-president, F. Ward, treasurer; and the executive committee will be composed of the following: Messrs. Sculthorpe, Milfin, L. Harvey, Tilley, Schanermann, Gross, High, Hinton, J. W. Day and Belton. With such an executive and such officers heading the Legion for the next year, the local branch seems sure to enjoy one of the best seasons of its history.

MOIRA CHAPTER NAME OFFICIALS

Rt. Ex-Comp. W. Y. Mills Of Kingston is Presiding Officer

An event, first in yearly importance, of Moira Chapter, F. A. M. No. 7, occurred last night when the members of the Chapter met to install their officers-elect.

The Installing Officer was Rt. Ex-Comp. W. Y. Mills, of Kingston, assisted by Ex-Comp. E. Cherry, S. License, H. McElraith and Rt. Comp. O. McCurdy.

During the evening the prized Past and Present Jewel was presented to Ex-Comp. Victor H. Graves by Ex-Comp. W. Y. Mills. A beautiful desk set was presented to the installing officer by Rt. Ex-Comp. McCurdy and a lovely basket of roses to the First Principal Ex-Comp. H. W. Dillmuth.

With the lodge orchestra furnishing the musical entertainment and giving several selections that were much enjoyed. A solo of great merit was delivered by Comp. "Jimmy" Bankier, and also by A. F. Stillman.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Great minds, like heaven, are pleased in doing good, though the ungrateful subjects of their favor are barren in return.—Rowe.

W. C. A. DOES IT'S SELF- APPOINTED WORK WELL

Yesterday afternoon a group of women held a meeting in the City Hall.
 On the fact of it this does not seem like a news item of much importance.
 But this gathering was the 50th annual meeting of the Women's Christian Association, a group of devoted women who know more about the struggles and trials of the poor of this city and have done more to relieve distress than we venture to say any group in the province. They are a unique organization. Belleville has learned to lean on them strongly and readily turns over to their wise and efficient control all her trouble about her less fortunate children.
 The W. C. A. know every family that needs help. They manage the Old People's Home, administer the funds for the indigent and take active part in the workings of the hospital. As a matter of fact, the

 C. A. founded and built our General Hospital, and until a few years ago when the work became too heavy,
 they managed it.
 The women who form the W. C. A.
 are not looking for public applause.
 They do their work quietly and they do it well. At this, their 50th anniversary it is fitting that the citizens generally should recognize the immense importance of this organization and pay some tribute to the real philanthropy and public spirit of these women.

OPENING OF ARENA BIG EVENT FOR CITY

Friday evening of this week Belleville takes a big step forward in its civic development; when the new artiscial Ice Arena will be thrown open for the enjoyment of the citizens. To some minds this may seem an exaggerated statement but when one consider the great possibilities of clean wholesome amusement which this new rink will provide for our young people, and the enormous advertising value which will accrue to the city through the possession of such a rink, the opening assumes epic making proportions.

It is of first importance that a community should have a quite facilities for wholesome pleasure.
 There is perhaps no better means of fostering a fine spirit of civic pride than this and the new arena will lend itself in many ways to the enjoyment of all classes of citizens. Hockey, the finest of all games, and skating, the best possible winter exercise, will, this year enjoy greater popularity than ever and the old days of Belleville's pre-eminence in winter sports are coming back again.

To Mr. W. J. Hume, now of Walk-ville, but a Belleville boy, born and bred, goes most of the credit for the erection of this new rink. When a group of public spirited men approached Mr. Hume in regard to the project he immediately saw the advantages to his native city and subscribed the first $50,000 to start the dream on its course to realization.

Too much credit cannot be given either to the men living here who have worked hard to make this rink possible. Mr. B. C. Donnan, crown atorney, "Sandy" Burrows, well-known insurance man and old-time hockey player, W. E. Rowse, a leading manufacturer and all-around good sport, "Charlie" Payne, busy lawyer, at no too busy to lend a hand,

 George Stokes, superintendent of the N. R., a new com to Belleville, already excited in on every movement for the good of this city, Fisher
 Weir, head of the Consolidated
 Lumber, P. H. Willis, Percy Allen Charlie Dolan and B. L. Hyman, these are some of the men of which Belleville is especially proud. They are all busy men, holding important positions, but not too busy to feel keenly interested in a project such as this new arena and to give generously of their time and money. Belleville is a good city to live in while she has citizens like these.

That Body Of Yours

By James W. Barford, M.D.

TREATING GALL STONE COLIC

One of the most painful conditions known to man is the passage of a gall stone into the intestine. The tearing of the lining of the tube as it passes along is almost beyond human endurance.

It is not to be wondered at therefore that morphine is injected not only to allay the pain, but to relax the muscles in walls of the vessel through which the stone is passing.
 However, many physicians hesitate to use morphine because of the danger of the patient forming the morphine habit.

I heard recently of a physician who showed a patient to suffer about six attacks, lasting from five to six ours each without giving him any morphine. The patient finally underwent an operation and had the stones removed.

However, during the attacks he says that had it been possible he would have taken his life rather than undergo the pain. His doctor was afraid he might become a morphine addict.

It is with great satisfaction therefore that physicians have learned of a method developed by a French physician whereby this terrific pain can be controlled without the use of morphine.

Just as your dentist inserts a local anesthetic into the gum surrounding the tooth, so this new physician injects a local anesthetic into the skin immediately over the gall bladder.

In all cases immediately after the injection, the pain disappeared and the abdominal muscles relaxed. The gall stone was passed in a few minutes. The power of the anesthetic lasted from four to six hours.

Where there was continuous dull pain and discomfort in the region of the gall bladder, the injection was repeated daily for from ten to fifteen days.

I believe you will admit that this simple treatment of injection into the skin will be of great help to the physician who has conscientious objections to the use of morphine.

Y.M.C.A. BOWLING.

In the Ladies Afternoon League, the Rovers took four points from the Husters who were away below their usual record from as they are a hard team to beat when going right. Mrs. Gossline was high bowler for the Huslers and Miss Holway for the Rovers.

Things were sure humming in the prize competition last night. One of the league games being postponed, gave the boys a chance to get in some prize games, and as a result there are a bunch of them all close together, with everybody very much in the running as nobody has been anybody's sen-tinal as yet. The ladies division is still anybody's race as yet as the eye bowlers do not seem to have their eye on them very well so far, this week.

FIRST VISIT IN THIRTY YEARS

R. W. E. Burnaby Attended Ontario Business College in 1929.

Paying his first visit to Belleville after 30 years absence, Mr. R. W. E.
 Burnaby, Maritime trader, commissioner, was accompanied by the changes that have taken place here. Mr.
 Burnaby was a student at the Ontario Business College at that time when the late J. W. Johnston, M.P., and J.
 W. Robinson were the chief institutions. They were assisted by a teacher, named Hawke, who was in charge of the college yesterday, looked over the registration during his student days and had a short chat with Messrs. I.
 L. Moore and P. H. Henry.

Mr. Burnaby recalled that the Baptist Church was situated at that time

McDONALD'S CORNERS YOUNG MAN IS LOST

From McDonald's Corners, Ontario, a letter was sent to the Belleville Police Station addressed to the Chief of Police, asking for the whereabouts of a young man, Albert Gordon Goodwin, who has not been heard of by his mother for some time.

The disappearance of the young man is causing his parents much anxiety. A kindly neighbour who knows of the case sent word to the Belleville Police station the facts of the case and wondering if the local force had heard of the young man being employed in this city.

TWELVE TONS OF POULTRY HANDLED

On Friday, November 29th, nearly twelve tons of dressed poultry were sold at the second annual poultry market at Trenton, about twice the quantity brought in last year.

The following is a comparison of prices at Trenton, with those paid at Napapan on the day previous, where years of experience has resulted in better average quality:

Napapan—Turkeys, 30c to 36c; Geese, 18c to 21c; Ducks, 20c to 25c; Chickens, 22c to 27c. A few at 29-30; Fowl 20c to 25.

Trenton—Turkeys, 30c to 36c; Geese, none offered; Ducks, 25c to 25c; Chickens, 22c to 26c (a few at 28); Fowl 18c to 24c.

WARDEN BAILEY GIVES WELCOME TO COUNCILLORS

Final Session of 1929 Hastings County Council Opened Yesterday

GOOD ATTENDANCE

Governing Body Has Accomplished Much During The Past Year

Convening for its final session, the 1929 Hastings County Council opened yesterday afternoon, and following the reading of the minutes, the warden, George A. Bailey, gave a warm welcome to the various committees assembled to discuss their programs for this session. No business was transacted in open council, but starting this morning at 10 o'clock the work went ahead.

Warden Bailey in his remarks welcomed Deputy Reeve Wesley Gray, of Huron, to the council. He expressed his sympathy with the family of Deputy Reeve's James W. Embury, the sad bereavement, and speaking for the council as a whole, lauded the departed member who passed away this summer.

Mr. Gray, a former member of the council, who is well known here, was selected to fill the position made vacant by the death of Mr. Embury.

The warden declared that he was very glad to welcome the councillors back again, saying that all the committees had functioned well, and that he had received splendid support from every member, as well as others connected with county work.

He was especially glad to see Mr. W. H. Niggent, county clerk, and hoped that he had fully recovered his health, which for the past year has been poor.

"It was the intention of the Roads and Bridges Committee to build three or four miles of permanent roadway in the county during this past summer," said Mr. Bailey, "but following the summer session it was decided that the money should be spent on a large road which was completed in 35 and 40 miles of road have been repaired, and are now in first class condition. The roads of this county, as you know, were never in better shape, and I am much pleased with the results obtained by our Roads and Bridges Committee this year. They did not have a great deal to do with road work, but they made what they did have go a long way."

"One and three-fifths miles of new permanent road was constructed this year under the Suburban Area Commission, at a cost of $35,000. This amount is, of course, divided between the city of Belleville, the province of Hastings County, and the Standard Pavement Company, which has been doing the work and giving good satisfaction, and the Tweed road, where the paving has been done, is in fine shape. More work will be done on this road next year."

Mr. Bailey stressed the fact that this had been a lean year for the farmers, as the crops were not so good as formerly, and the dairy industry had fallen down. Dairy products were lower in price and there was not the same quantity, with the result that the farmers had been hit hard. It was only a temporary condition, the warden averred, and the year 1930 would be a better one, and he hoped, undoubtedly be different and better.

In a short review of the various committees and their work of this year, the chief executive showed that the Finance and Public Property Committee had done good work in the enlargement of the present heating system of the county buildings. This system had not given satisfaction for some years, but everything was arranged now that the buildings were being heated properly, and satisfaction was guaranteed.

The House of Refuge Committee had done good work, and although they had not been allowed a great deal of money for repairs, what they had been given was put to good use. The building was painted this year for the first time in 21 years.

Mr. Bailey admitted that formerly he thought the money spent on publicly by the county was almost wasted, but he had changed his opinion, and he felt that this year at least, all the money spent had been for the better.

He had been glad to be in the position to give the county's advertising, asking for various products of Hastings, and he was sure that there had been no better county exhibit at the Toronto exhibition than Hastings County's in conclusion, Mr. Bailey declared that this had been the best year of his life, and he was glad to have been a part of it.

BUYING KEENER ON WALL STREET

Main Trend to Higher Prices But Some Waves of Selling

New York, Dec. 4.—Stock prices made further recovery in today's market under the leadership of the public utilities, but waves of selling swept over the market at intervals and cut down some of the gains. Trading was again at a broad scale with the clear running a few minutes behind the market.

The day's business news was mixed in character. Announcement of another series of "Christmas dividends" and further raising of credit conditions stimulated some buying. The demand for the public utilities received considerable impetus from a revival of the merger rumors involving American Water Works, Columbia Gas and other large power and light properties.

Steel shares joined the advance after an early period of hesitancy despite the relatively low rate of steel mill output and the iron age report that the daily average of pig iron production last month was the lowest since September, 1928.

Special strength of American Rolling Mills was based on reports of further profitable patent agreements.

Call money remained unimpacted at 4-1/2 percent, but funds were available in the outside market as low as 3-1/2 percent.

Recent strength of the British French and German currencies in the foreign exchange market increased the possibility of additional gold shipments abroad.

American Water Works was the leader of the public utility group, soaring 11 points. American and Foreign Power, North American Construction, American Power and Light, Brooklyn Union Gas and Western Union sold 5 to 8 points higher.

Columbian Carbon resumed its spectacular advance by soaring twelve points.

FIVE CLUBS TO COMPOSE CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE

Canada Cement Draws Bye For Opening Games—Other Details

A well-attended meeting of the City Hockey League last night. Presidents are bright for the best group in the history of the association and a double-header will be held one night a week at the new arena. Five teams will start in the drive for the Leysburne and the Barrows cups.

W. C. Leysburne popular local optimist was named Vice-President of the league last night as was Mr. Sandy Burgess the donor of the city trophy.

The teams represented last night and who will start the schedule were: Y's Men's Club, A. Walters, Canada Cement Company, Mr. Long, Almonte "Hoos" Gibson, Frank Electric Ernie Finkle and the Glaco Club, Don Hunt.

The Maximites were expected to enter but at the last minute decided to play in only the Bay of Quinte League.

Canada Cement drew a bye for the opening game and as a result will have the advantage of one week in which to get the team in shape.

Eric Collins is referee-in-chief of the league and two other officials, Percy Cole and Lorne Cook were named. These will officiate at the discretion of the President and in cases of dispute O.H.A. players will be allowed on each team. The league will start as soon as ice is available at the arena.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

MRS. WALTER CHOATE

Many friends attended the last rites of the late Mrs. Walter Choate, whose funeral took place yesterday afternoon with the beautiful service in the home at Robins Mills, being conducted by Rev. Mr. Knox, the pastor of the church. Following the service in the home the funeral cortege proceeded to Robins Mills Church where the same minister conducted the ceremony. The eulogy delivered by the church was in progressive in tone, solemn and the church was filled with those of the late Mrs. Choate's friends who held their dear. Flowers which were placed in the casket were from the Interment took place at Mountain View Cemetery. Pall bearers were Messrs. G. Choate, Jesse Choate, W. Choates, H. File Charles Wood and Ferris Wood, who were all relatives of the deceased.

-Xmas Gifts

FOR centuries Linens and Handkerchiefs have held a premier position for gifts, because it is merchandise of intrinsic worth and a lasting symbol of friendship valued.

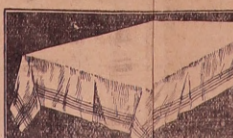

It has long been the endeavor of this store to offer Linens at the lowest possible prices. In order that the greatest number might be able to make use of this time-honored fabric. To this end we have been fortunate this year in securing a very complete and attractive range of merchandise at phenomenally low prices and we are offering these Linens at such popular prices as to be within the reach of all.

22-DAY LINEN SALE STARTS DEC. 5TH, ENDS DEC. 31ST—COME EARLY!

WE are the sole representatives in this locality for the nationally-known brand of "ROSE OF SHARON" Linens and we cordially invite you to inspect this range of merchandise, which embraces many new features including latest solid colorings in Damask and Rayon. As this range is very comprehensive it is impossible to itemize all of the prices, but our sales staff will gladly show you our complete range.

YOUNG JUDEANS CLUB IS FORMEDMr. J. Berger Is Named President Of New Society

Jewish young people have formed a club known as the "Young Judeans," which is strictly Jewish in its nature.
Although basically a club, it has some of the attributes of a Bible class, since the members of the club propose to hold Bible classes with Rabbi Gerstel conducting the classes, assisted by A.
Kroch.
The acting president until the club gets really under way is Mr. J. Berger, and the secretary-treasurer being Miss SophieSAFE. Later on there will be an election of officers who will hold their term of office for one year.

The Jewish people are interesting themselves in many things. Only recently a woman organized a Ladies' Auxiliary and they have been doing good work ever since. The younger members are right to the fore and have some very progressive ideas.

SCHEDULE OPENS HERE JAN. THIRD

Belleville, Napanee and Trenton will compose the local Junior O. H. A. group. A meeting was held at Kingston yesterday with George Van Horne acting as convener. It was originally planned that Queen's University Juniors should be included but they decided to remain with the other Kingston teams and Gananoque. This should make a tidy group and the Belleville kids will need to step to win. Three referees were appointed as follows: Bill Green, of Belleville; Eddie Watts, of Napanee; and Ross Burt, of Trenton. The schedule was drawn up as follows:

Friday, January 3rd, Napanee at Belleville

Monday, January 6th, Belleville at Trenton

Friday, January 10th, Trenton at Napanee

Tuesday, January 14th, Belleville at Napanee

LEAFS MAKE IT THREE IN A ROW

Defeated Americans on Home Ice Last Night By a 6 to 0 Score

Toronto, December 4.—Displaying a speedier and cleverer brand of hockey than their opponents, the Maple Leafs added a 6 to 0 defeat to the New York Americans at the Arena Gardens last night while seven thousand or so highly delighted cash customers shouted approval.

The Leafs showed many symptoms of having studied up on Mr. Calder's new forward pass system of play, and most of their goals were the result of clever manipulations around the New York net. It was the third straight victory for Connie Smythe's players, and they lent it further distinction by scoring their second successive shut-out being the only team in the N. H. L. to date to accomplish this feat—a difficult task under the new rules.

Cotton's Big Night

Harold Cotton was the outstanding star of the game, and his tireless efforts in trying to make life unpleasant for Mr. Worters in the New York net provided a feature to a rather one-sided contest. Cotton was a torment to the New York defense all the time he was on the ice, and he scored two goals and assisted in two others. Captain stickhandling and passing was a treat and he has never given a better display since he became a member of the Toronto team. He was given plenty of assistance by his teammates, for Leafs showed the Americans few weak spots and hustled them practically every stage of the game. Even when penalties left the locals a man short the Americans were unable to do more than make spasmodic dashes which were not effective. The best scoring chance they had came in the opening period, when Masson caught the Leafs with only "Hap" Day on defence and Chabot in the net. Masson circled Day, but "Red" Horne streaked in from behind and spilled the New Yorker before he could shoot. Horner drew a major penalty for the offense, but he undoubtedly helped to keep Mr. Chabot's shutout record intact.

Young Conacher Also Stars

Charlie Conacher was the only other Toronto player to get more than one point in a scoreless day. He scored goals on a neat bit of teamwork with Joe Primeau and Harold Cotton, and in less than a minute later combine with Cotton to score another goal. Cotton netting the puck on Charlie's pass.

The fans were interested in seeing the two Conacher brothers opposed to each other, but the speed of the young star made him too nimble for the other member of the defense. Charlie bumped Lionel into the boards once, but it was a brotherly exchange and merely to inform the big fellow not to take any undue liberties. The younger Conacher sifted in and out of the New York defense with ease a time and he was only prevented from getting two or three more goals by the clever work of the agile Mr. Worters.

Penalties Prove Costly

The Leafs earned all their tallies. The teams battled their way through the opening period without scoring a goal. The Leafs looked much the better on the play, however, and it appeared only a matter of time before they would break the stone-wall resistance of the diminutive Worters, who gave a remarkable exhibition of puck-stopping in the first period. But Sheppard drew one early in the second frame, and while he was serving his time the Leafs tallied their first goal. Cotton sliding the puck into the net through Worter's feet following a scramble near the goal-mouth. Worter was crowding in just room for the puck to glide in at his feet and Cotton loomed the rubber down and was given an assist.

A penalty to Conacher about five minutes later also proved costly to the Americans, Blair and Bailey working a clever bit of passing to get a clear shot on the net. Blair driving the puck past Worters from close quarters on Bailey's pass.

MARITIME TRADE COMMISSIONER IS SPEAKER AT KIWANIS CLUB

R. W. E. Burnaby Heard With Keen Interest By Members

R. W. E. Burnaby, Maritime trade commissioner, addressed the Kiwanis Club of Belleville yesterday afternoon. Mr. Burnaby assured his hearers that the Kiwanis Clubs of Ontario and Quebec would have a most hearty welcome at Saint John on the occasion of their annual convention to be held there next summer. He suggested that they plan to visit the other provinces at this time and outlined a proposed trip for them through Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and the North Shore of New Brunswick.

He reviewed the economic history of the Maritime provinces under the headings: Before Confederation, Confederation, the Depression Period, the Agitation for Maritime Rights, the Duncan Commission on Maritime Problems, the Appointment and Duties of the Trade Commissioner's Office, and Marketing Problems.

Before Confederation

In these days the Maritimes were prosperous. They were the days of wooden ships and iron men. The industry provided employment for many both directly and indirectly. They were manned by native sons, loaded with lumber and fish which were exported. They were foreign traders. They had their own tariffs and made their own treaties. These were prosperous days, more so than in Upper Canada.

Confederation

He referred to the important part played by the Maritime statesmen in bringing about Confederation; to the first meeting held in Charlottetown in 1864; the agreement to build the Intercolonial Railway; to provide a market in central Canada for Maritime products and of the yearly payments to be made from Ottawa for governmental purposes in lieu of the lost revenues from their own tariffs.

Depression

He referred to the advent of the iron ships which took the place of so many wooden ships; of the loss of lumber markets; the difficulties encountered by Canadian tariffs in export trade; of the fact that the railway proved to be a siphon which worked the wrong way (it brought western produce in and eastern people out); how the Maritime factories were unable to meet the competition of mass production of upper Canada; the period of unemployment and the migration to the United States; how the Ottawa payments proved inadequate for the government needs; of the general freight increase from 1912 to 1926 which throughout the rest of Canada was 55 per cent.

while the Maritimes suffered under a 92 per cent increase. This period of depression brought about different conditions and the agitation for Maritime rights, the effect of the 20 per cent freight reduction for government purposes, the findings of this commission which made 31 recommendations and the general effect upon the morale of Maritime people; the result was a new hope, courage and optimism; and he assured his hearers that the Maritimes today were enjoying a share of Canada's prosperity.

He referred to the railway development; establishment of the C.N.R. Steamship Line to the West Indies; nationalization of Saint John and Halifax harbors; new hotels, roads and better boats to and from Boston and New York; the increased tourist trade and assured his hearers that the best market for most Canadian products was in Canada. While he agreed with the slogan of buying within the Empire, he added, "If you cannot get it in Canada," This meant the development of inter-provincial trade and that trade, consisted in buying as well as selling. He found that Ontario buyers were ready and willing to buy where they sell. The balance of trade today between the Maritimes and Ontario has been all one-sided.

He assured his hearers that the great need in the Maritimes was industries to provide employment for their own population. For many years the Maritimes have suffered this economic loss of educating men and women until they arrive at the age of production and then have them go away to another country.

The future of the Maritimes depended largely upon the implementing of the recommendations of the Duncan commission. This would mean the nationalization of the all year round Atlantic ports of Saint John and Halifax. He hoped to see the day when Maritime coal would be used in Ontario in place of so much that is now imported. He referred to the new methods of curing and packing fish and the growth and development of this industry; of the new pulp and paper mills; of the hardwood industry; of the Malabar salt mines; of the steel industry; of the gypsum and plaster business; potato and fox industry. He said that in one generation the Maritimes provinces had switched over from being foreign traders to using domestic traders. He impressed upon his hearers their responsibility as Canadian citizens in bringing about an economic confederation which means the development of inter-provincial trade.

He closed by inviting his hearers to become acquainted with the Maritime provinces that they spend their holidays in the Provinces-by-the-Sea.

Secretary's Report

This year I have the honour of bringing to you the 50th annual report of the Women's Christian Association. There has been considerable activity in the various departments and we wish to express our deepest appreciation to all the workers. We especially wish to thank our president, Mrs. Mikel, under whose able leadership another successful year comes to a close.

HOME FOR THE AGED

This year the work of the Home for the Aged has again been carried on under the efficient supervision of Mrs. H. L. Walker, chairman of the board, and her faithful co-workers. Each of the ladies on the Home's board for one month of the year, assumes the responsibility of the buying for the Home. Only those in close touch with the work can realize the time and thought necessary to accomplish this difficult piece of work on a very limited allowance.

During the year various necessary repairs, including the reconstruction of the barn, were made. The need for a larger Home, in spite of the Old Age Pension, is still imperative and at the May meeting a committee was formed to confer with Mrs. J. A. Arnold Thompson, architect, re-plans for the enlargement of the present building.

We cannot pass without expressing our thanks to Mrs. Palmer, the matron, for the patient, conscientious and efficient manner in which she discharges her many duties.

INDIGENT

The work of the Indigent Committee has again been busy. Our chairman, Miss Lynch, and her capable committee, composed of ward workers, have had a busy year. Owing to the usual winter unemployment, in many cases coupled with illness, much relief was required. At Christmas time, the management of Miss Lynch, the churches and other organizations distributed 147 hampers to those who otherwise would have but little if any Christmas cheer.

At the February meeting the following resolution was passed, having previously been passed by the Indigent Committee:

"That as it has come to the notice of the Women's Christian Temperance Association that there are cases of marriage of persons under age who are mentally, physically, morally and financially unfit; be it resolved, that the members of the Ministerial Association be asked to fully investigate cases before marrying such persons."

At the June meeting it was moved that a letter be sent to the City Council and the Police Commission asking that men confined in jail be given hard labor and that their earnings be turned over for the support of their dependent families.

The following resolution was also passed at the same meeting:

"That the Indigent Committee have decided that relief will not be given to families who have automobiles in their possession."

HOSPITAL. The financial reports of the Belleville General Hospital, which are received monthly by the association, are most encouraging. During the year repairs and improvements, both in the buildings and about the grounds, have been numerous.

In September the Board of Governors announced the hospital free of debt to the city. The Women's Christian Association congratulates and expresses gratitude to the Board of Governors for the very excellent manner in which they have handled the affairs of the hospital.

In conclusion, the Women's Christian Association wish to again ask that more women of this city offer themselves for work in the organization. During the year there are always workers who are obliged to drop out and in order that the work may continue others must be found to take their places.

The Women's Christian Association which is a civic organization and non-sectarian in character, does a very important piece of work in this city and every organized body should send at least one representative to its meetings.

May we ask the interest, co-operation, active assistance and prayers of all? All of which is respectfully submitted.

Home for the Aged Report

In presenting the annual report of the Belleville Home for the Aged for 1929, I am very glad to say that the ladies of the Board of Management have been diligent in their efforts on behalf of the Home and have given me every assistance in my position as chairman. Two new members have been added to the board: Mrs. Fred Smith, 184 William Street, and Mrs. S. D. Lazier.

Owing to the many necessary repairs to the buildings, which were undertaken and completed last year, very little money has been expended this year in that respect and everything about the property is in good condition. At one time the board considered seriously building a wing on the house to provide more accommodation for men, as applications were made in a few instances for accommodation when room was not available. After having plans drawn by Mr. J. Thomson, architect, and having them approved by the government, it was decided it would be better to postpone any building operations until 1930, so that the effect of the Old Age Pension on future applications for admission might be more intelligently dealt with.

During the year two old people have been placed in our charge. There has been one death in the Home, and one man removed to the Rockwood Institution at Kingston. At present we have, in our care five women and nine men, all in good health, caring for their age and all contented and comfortable.

According to our government report there have been 5,199 inmates, days during the year.

We have been advised that a legacy of $50.00 from the estate of the late Jennie Anderson, and one of $500.00 from the estate of the late J. J. B. Flint. These amounts have not yet been paid to us.

The net receipts from our tag day on September 28th last were $364 and we expressed our thanks to the public and to those who had assisted us, through the city newspapers.

The management of the Belle Theatre entertained our old people at the theatre one afternoon, and they thoroughly enjoyed it all.

The Metropolitan stores sent their Santa Claus to visit the Home a few days ago, and made gifts to all. This year of Christmas made them very happy.

During the matron's absence on vacation, Mrs. R. M. substituted very efficiently.

Too much can't be said in praise and appreciation of Mrs. Palmer in her position as matron. She is conscientious, kind and capable, and in only two years as chairman, not one complaint has been made to me in respect to her, by any of our old people.

The C. D. S. are sole agents for the Hoover Vacuum Cleaner. This agency is only been acquired very recently, and we will see that the Hoover representative will call on you, in the near future.

He brings to you a very important message: It will pay you to know the difference between a vacuum cleaner and a Hoover. To know the difference between a surface cleaned rug by a vacuum cleaner, and a thoroughly base cleaned rug by the Hoover method.

The Hoover representative will show you this difference clearly and courteously in your own home by a demonstration. Hoover cleaning is sanitary—it cleans your carpeted, upholstered furniture, bedding, etc. Special terms during the Christmas campaign. Old cleaners taken as part payment.

Indigent Committee

The annual report of the Indigent Committee of the Women's Christian Association at this fiftieth anniversary sary of this organization presents a repetition of the work carried on by the same committee since the first year of its existence.

The past year has been a very busy one and the heaviest work has been with the coming of cold weather.

An epidemic of influenza which was prevalent during the winter months, taxed both the interest of the workers and our financial resources to the utmost.

The usual seasonal unemployment, convictions of heads of families for offences, confinement to jail and old age were some of the causes responsible for the giving of relief during the year. The passing of the Old Age Pension Act, recently, will to a certain extent, relieve our Committee of the duty of looking after the needs of many cases.

In January last, the City Council made a grant of $350.00, for the year, but unfortunately the calls on our funds were so many, and so heavy that it was found necessary in October, to ask for a further grant to finish out the year, for this purpose $50.00 extra was given. During the year 101 families had relief in the shape of fuel and groceries.

In December the dispensing of Christmas cheer was supervised as usual by this department. The request of the late Hon. H. Corby was distributed as follows—58 tons of coal, 1-1/2 cords of wood and $145.92 in food, clothing and other necessities given to 114 families.

Hampers of food, donations of clothing and toys were sent out by all the Churches, the Kiwanis, Rotary, Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion, the Girl Guides, Eastern Star and private citizens and in order to prevent overlapping this committee co-operated in the distribution of gifts by supplying names, addresses and information concerning families. In this way 143 families were remembered.

Much individual case work was carried on by the ward convenors, who left nothing undone in their efforts to assist the needy.

The Emergency Fund has been of great assistance to our work during the year. Many extraordinary calls have been made upon it, as it is used for special cases of relief not covered by the City grant which is used to provide only the bare necessities of life such as fuel and the plainest of food. This year the sum of $187.49 has year are:

been expended. Donations are always thankfully received, for the calls are numerous.

Group Conference

The Chairman of this Committee recently attended a group conference of Relief Officers of the Province at the Autumn Session of the Social Service Council of Ontario. At the meetings, problems relating to relief work in the different municipalities were fully discussed and much information obtained.

Co-operation has been maintained with the Government Employment Bureau, the Children's Aid Society, the Canadian Legion, the Victorian Order of Nurses and other organizations during the year.

Thanks of the Committee are due to the Nurses Miss Webb, and Mrs. Orrill for the services rendered to indigent patients, also

EIGHT CONTESTED AWARD AS BEST COUNTY ORATOR

Brien O'Connor, of Deloro, and Cora Moffat, of Tweed, Winners

SPEECHES ALL WERE OF A HIGH ORDER

Six Girls and Only Two Boys Appeared as Future Spell-Binders

Once more the Annual Oratorical Contest for the Warden's medal has passed into history, and two more of Canada's future orators have been crowned. Brien O'Connor, of Deloro, won first prize in the girls' section, and Cora Moffat, of Tweed, won first prize in the boys' section. Runners-up were Helen Morrow, S. S. No. 10, Sidney, and Frank Compton, of Tweed.

Each year the Warden of Hastings County presents medals to the best boy and girl orator in the public schools of the County of Hastings, and the interest manifested by both pupils and parents speaks well for the success of the undertaking.

Sixteen pupils of various schools throughout the county had given notice that they intended to enter, but when the time came to start the meeting there were six girl contestants and two boys. The boys were called upon to speak first, the ultimate winner, Brien O'Connor, being first on the rather long programme, and Frank Compton being second. Of the girls, Miss Cora Moffat took first, and the runner-up spoke last on the program.

Deloro Lad First
Brien O'Connor, in his speech on "Safety First" brought out points which would be well for all to keep in mind. Mr. O'Connor is a pupil of the Deloro Separate School, and his teacher should be proud of the manner in which he carried off the first prize in the boys' competition.

Miss Cora Moffat, daughter of the principal of Tweed High School, in her prize winning effort, spoke on "Canadian Poets" and gave a clear, concise account of the Canadian poets. Miss Moffat warned to her subject and delivered a most enthusiastic speech, which was duly appreciated.

The judges, Mr. J. O. Herity, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, A. E. Dobbie, editor of the Stirling News-Argus and W. H. Nugent, County (Please turn to page 5)

SATURDAY MARKS END OF SEASON

After That Steamers Must Keep Their Own Channel Open

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., December 6.—After Saturday night the responsibility for keeping open the channel through the ice in lower St. Mary's river, will devolve on the steamship owners themselves, the Lake Carriers Association, which has been directing ice breaking operations so far, have decided. The Association will suspend operations after that date, when it is expected most vessels still in Lake Superior will have made their way down.

Four tugs returned to the Bottleneck today, going down the river in the van of steamers "Lobanov," "Harrison," "Berrington," "Hartley," "Hartwell," and "Davis." They are devoting considerable attention to the steamer "Laketon" stuck in the up-bound channel.

CO-OPERATE FOR PASSING OF BILL

London, December 6.—A meeting of the Labor Parliamentary party today decided not to press any amendments of a financial character to the unemployment Insurance Bill but to co-operate in getting it through as quickly as possible. Much political interest attached to today's meeting in view of the government's withdrawal of the clause in the bill dealing with the disqualification of unemployed persons whose efforts to obtain work might have been deemed insufficient.

400 REPORTERS AT CONFERENCE

Elaborate Preparations For Coming Discussion of Naval Problems

London, December 6.—Arrangements of the most elaborate kind are under way for the Naval Conference according to information given the Canadian Press today. The thirty actual delegates to the Conference will be attended by about one hundred and fifty experts, but this formidable body of deliberate opinion will be eclipsed in numbers by newspapermen.

Nearly four hundred reporters from all parts of the world will sharpen their ears and pencils. There will be eighty from the United States, sixty from London, forty from France, thirty from the Dominions and 75 from other nations of whom about thirty will represent Japan.

REPORT ANIMALS CAUSE CANCERS

Commission Make Startling Statement—Open Field For Research

London, Dec. 6.—Evidence that cancer is caused by a specific germ attaching animals and human beings indiscriminately is brought forward by the Westbound Field Commission for cancer research, whose preliminary report is published in the British medical journal. "We met cancer in all kinds of wild and domestic animals, pet animals and animals used for food," the report says. This opens up a wide field of possibilities which the commission is exploiting. It is pointed out that without the knowledge of the animal sources of infection, it is impossible to understand, much less control the outbreaks of the disease in man.

MacALPINE EXPLORER BACK FROM NORTH

Toronto, December 6.—Richard Pearce, Editor of the "Northern Miner" and a member of the MacAlpine expedition returned home today. He did not appear to be the least bit affected by the weeks of privation, and intense cold which he was forced to undergo while the expedition was waiting to be rescued from Cambridge Bay, Victoria Island.

SUFFERED BROKEN ARM

Famous Dog Hero "Togo" To Be Preserved as Museum Piece

Poland, Spring, Maine, Dec. 6.—"Togo," the Siberian husky who led the dog team which carried serum to diphtheria-stricken Nome four years ago, was placed aboard train here for his last journey. The conqueror of thousands of miles of Arctic wastes, "Togo" will be preserved for posterity as a museum piece. Thirteen years old, weary and infirm, Togo was taken to Newhaven, where he will be killed to spare him further sufferings of age. His body will be placed in the thousands of miles of Arctic wastes, Peabody Museum at Yale.

$1400 FOR RINK RAISED BY GIRLS IN RADIO DRIVE

Twenty-Two Pretty Young Hustlers Sold Tickets To Whole City

MISS FLAGLER TOPS LIST OF WORKERS

Mr. W. H. Ireland, M.P.P., Will Draw the Winning Number Tonight

Directors of Belleville's new Arena expressed gratification today when they were informed that twenty-two of Belleville's prettiest girls had succeeded in raising over fourteen hundred dollars by the sale of tickets on radio donated by the Stewart-Warner-Almonte corporation. The radio which will be drawn for tonight is a made-in-Belleville model and was donated through the courtesy of Belleville's Radio Den, local distributors. Mr. W. H. Ireland will draw the lucky ticket previous to tonight's game between Varsity and Queen's hockey teams.

The idea had its birth in the mind of Mr. W. E. Howson, General Manager of the local Almonte-Stewart Warner branch. Six weeks ago the girls met at the Belleville club and the program was thoroughly explained to them. They readily agreed to co-operate and immediately the campaign was launched. Local citizens were in sympathy with the arena and the girls found a ready sale for the tickets. Not only were hundreds sold in Belleville but people as far west as Edmonton and Calgary will be well to learn the result of the draw tonight.

Miss Flagler Tops List
To Miss Camilla Flagler of the Almonte staff goes the honor of having disposed of the most tickets. She sold $24.25 worth which is really a remarkable record and she will receive a suitable prize for her efforts. Miss Vera Brown, also of the Almonte staff was second and her total amounted to $27.50.

The campaign has been conducted along most rigid and careful lines and every purchase of a ticket will have an equal chance to win the splendid new radio. This will be one of the big features of the opening night. The girls who took part were Misses Vera Brown, George Ray, Violet Wheeler, Marie Genoux, Camilla Flagler, Jessie Tilly, Kathleen Genoux, Helen Symons, Loretta Curry, Janet Miles, Irene Hallam, Madeline Bell, Evelyn Coulter, "B" Holmes, Bernice Davidson, Clara Gruij, Beila Stevens, Helen Pinkle, Evelyn Tilly, Margaret Tilly and Theo Reid.

WORKMAN DROWNED IN THE ST. LAWRENCE

Brookville, Ont., Dec. 6.—Douglas McDonald, of Low Point, N.S., a blacksmith in the employ of J. P. Porter and Son, contractors to the deepening of the Brockville narrows, was accidentally drowned this morning off Coronation shoal, a short distance west of here in the St. Lawrence, when he fell overboard from a tender attached to the firm's drill boat. He had been employed by the concern for two years. Cleanup operations designed to recover the body are in progress.

NEW CHARGES LAID

Frauds Laid to Harry Now Total Nearly Nine Million

London, Dec. 6.—At the resumed Guild Hall trial of Clarence Harry and his three associates on charges of obtaining two million dollars in securities and money by false pretences, the prosecuting attorney today announced new charges against the defendants involving about six and three-quarter million dollars. Harry was a widely known promoter who suffered financial collapse during the recent stock market crash.

AVOID TROUBLES, DRIVE TO RIGHT

Traffic Officer Frink Has Good Advice For Winter Motoring

Traffic Officer Frink has some advice and some warnings for motorists which it would be wise to follow for safety in winter driving. "Deep ruts on the highway are perhaps the main cause of trouble," said Mr. Frink, "and most of this trouble could be avoided if cars would keep to their own side of the road instead of driving down the centre. This practice would make a double set of ruts so that there would not be the difficulty in meeting and passing cars."

"On slippery pavements it is perhaps natural for drivers to keep as far away from the edge of the road as possible, but as long as all cars do this it means that there is only one pair of deep ruts making plenty of trouble for the whole winter. The Department of Highways will use snowplows on the main travelled roads but the plow, of course, does not clean right down to the cement and ruts are bound to form."

MISSING BOAT IS SAFE AT KINGSTON

READY NOW FOR OPENING TONIGHT OF BIG ICE RINK

Colorful Ceremonies To Mark Important Event In City Life

DRAW FOR WINNER OF RADIO OUTFIT

Hope Mr. W. J. Hume Will Be Present—Hockey Officials Here

Weeks of endeavour by the Board of Directors, zealous, painstaking, but rapid efforts by the contractors and earnest co-operation on the part of civic organizations and individuals will be consummated tonight on the official opening of Belleville's magnificent new artificial Ice Arena. It will be one of the biggest nights in the history of the city and will mark a new era of athletic expansion here. Those in charge of the ticket-selling report that a full house is assured by the sale of the covered pasteboards in the last few days.

No stone has been left unturned by the Board of Directors to make the event one that will not soon be forgotten in Belleville. Two time hockey teams will provide the feature attraction, while colorful ceremonies will precede the game. The Varsity and Queen's teams will bring their strongest line-ups here and Belleville fans will be assured of a splendid evening of sport.

Hope Mr. Hume Will Attend
The Directors expect that Mr. William Hume, who provided the nucleus of the fund for the erection of the new arena, will be here to face the pack and officially open the vast amphitheatre.

Chief officials of the Ontario Hockey Association, including Mr. Richard Butler, of Lindsay, President of the Association, W. A. Hewitt, of Toronto, Secretary, W. A. Fry, of Danville, Immediate Past President, and Sheriff Paxton, of Whitby, former President and life member, will be here. All these gentlemen, it is expected, will say a word to the crowd through the amplifiers which penetrate to every corner of the auditorium.

Draw For Radio

Mr. W. H. Ireland, popular local member of Parliament, will draw the lucky ticket on the radio donated by the Stewart-Warner Company. The ticket-selling campaign on the radio was completed today and the twenty-two Belleville girls who assisted in the campaign received four hundred and thirty dollars' worth of tickets. These young ladies will be rewarded with season tickets to the arena as well as other prizes. The result of the campaign is particularly gratifying to the directors and those in charge of the affair. The girls will be entertained at a dance in the Belleville Club Rooms tonight, which will be attended by members of the Queen's and Varsity teams and others.

All Comforts Provided
The huge illuminated time-clock and score-board have been installed and patrons at the game will be afforded most comfort and consideration. The ice-makers have provided a splendid sheet of ice for the opening game, the lighting facilities are of the best, similar to those in the leading arenas in the country.

The Directors have spent time and money in the equipping of the arena to meet with everyone's approval and their job has been well done. It now remains for the citizens to show their appreciation by filling the rink to its capacity tonight.

HIGHWAYS BLOCKED IN WESTERN AREAS

REVENUE GROWS, SO DO EXPENSES

Canada Collects Ten Million More Than Spends Twelve Million

Ottawa, December 6.—Canada's total ordinary revenue for eight months of the fiscal year, which ended November 30, last, was $219,218,838. For the corresponding eight months period of a year ago, the total ordinary revenue of the Dominion amounted to $208,784,629. The increase, therefore, amounts to $10,435,569.

Canada's ordinary expenditure during the eight months just ended was $239,884,848, or an increase of $12,420,839 over the total for the corresponding eight months of the last fiscal year.

WALL STREET IS CHEERFUL AGAIN

Prices up on News of Stock Splits and Reduced Brokers Loans

New York, December 6.—The unexpected four-for-one split up by the General Electric Company, one of America's premier industrial corporations, turned the course of stock prices upward today after an early period of irregularity. With the exception of the tobacco, which were heavy on the announcement of cigarette price cuts, all leading groups participated in the advance, the gains ranging from one to nearly twenty points.

The decrease of $38,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans brought the total to the lowest level in more than two years, and just about half of the record-breaking figure established nine weeks ago. Call money continued to hold firm at 4 1/2 per cent but bankers' acceptances were advanced 1-8 of one per cent. The recent change in the character of the money market was illustrated by the announcement of a 31-8 per cent coupon rate on the new government short term financing, which contrasts with the rate of 51-8 per cent in September, when credit stringency was acute.

General Electric, which sold as low as 168 1/8 in the November break, crossed 250 for gain of more than 18 points on the announcement of the split-up and proposed increase in dividend on new stock. Other electrical issues rallied in sympathy, Westinghouse climbing 81-2 point to 150, or 6 points above last month's low. Western electrical instrument advanced more than three points.

Philadelphia, Dec. 6.—Cameron Cook, a messenger for the Bank of Philadelphia and trust company was shot to death today by three men who seized his bank bag containing, it is estimated, thirty thousand dollars in cash and cheques. The bandits escaped.

ISLAND MAY BE UNDER THE SEA

Paris, Dec. 6.—Mystery of the missing island of St. Paul remains unsolved. Since October 2 no word has been received of this possession of France which lies in the south Indian ocean away from regular steamer lanes. It is assumed a volcanic eruption has caused the island to sink. As the island is of volcanic formation, however, there is some nervousness lest the tiny colony has been swept by a seismic eruption. INMATES DECIDE TO CONTINUE AS HOME RESIDENTS

Only Seven Old Age Pensioners Elect to Leave House of Refuge

360 BENEFICIARIES IN HASTINGS COUNTY

County Council Rapidly Finishing up Routine Work For Year

Three hundred and sixty residents of Hastings County have had their applications for Old Age Pensions granted, according to the report of the Old Age Pension Commission read before the County Council this morning's session. Thirty-nine of these have been inmates of the House of Refuge and these inmates have the option of assigning their pensions to the Home and continuing their residence there or of leaving to look after themselves. Of the thirty-nine inmates twenty-four have decided to remain where they are, seven are leaving, but the other eight have been adjudged mentally unfit to make a decision for themselves, and will be retained under care.

Pensioners Report

There was much discussion of the report which was finally accepted. The full report reads as follows: His Honour the Warden and Members of the County Council: Gentlemen: We your committee appointed at the June session of the County Council beg leave to report as follows:

At the first meeting held in July, Mr. J. G. Crawford of the Central Board at Toronto was present and explained to us the Old Age Pension Act. 465 Applications have been received to date and 360 have been granted subject to the approval of the Central Board.

Thirty-nine inmates of the House of Refuge have applied for the pension and all of them have been granted, while 24 of them assigned $18.00 per month, of the pension, to the County. Eight applicants were not mentally fit to decide and seven others wished to take their pensions and leave the Home. The committee think that they should not be allowed to leave without some (Continued from Page Three)

PRINCE FIXED IT FOR SCHOOL LAD

But Letter is Private and No One Knows What He Said

London, Dec. 6.—Prince of Wales has made peace, and the boy who was suspended from Leyton High School by the headmaster for having asked the Prince to autograph a book will be allowed to return to school. The Prince wrote a letter to Lawrence Gill, the school boy's father, which Gill said contained some good advice upon which he acted. Gill said the letter was marked private and he therefore declined to allow its publication. "Now what did the Prince say?" was being widely asked today.

ITALIAN PRINCES TO CALL ON THE POPE

TODAY'S THOUGHT

We must never throw away a bushel of truth because it happens to contain a few grains of chaff. — Dean Stanley.

WIDEN BENEFITS OF MOTHERS' ALLOWANCE

Addressing delegates to the convention of the Women's Institutes at Toronto, Hon. Dr. Jamieson, chairman of Mothers' Allowance and Old Age Pensions, referred to a matter which has often been discussed, but which has as yet been devoid of action. He would recommend, he said, that the mothers' allowance plan be amended to provide for the wives of long-term criminals.

There must be hundreds of inmates of Ontario's penal institutions whose punishment is exceeded by the sufferings experienced by their innocent dependants. A widow with children is infinitely better off than is the mother of a convict's offspring. Such an allowance as Dr. Jamieson suggests conceivably might be the means not only of keeping the families of long-term convicts from want, but of effecting the reform of the errant husbands.

Another interesting statement made by Dr. Jamieson was that the Board was considering embracing, under the mothers' allowance plan, mothers with one child. A widow with one child is but little less handicapped to fight life's battle than the mother of two. If she goes out to employment some one must be engaged to care for the youngster in her absence, and the drain on the weekly income is altogether likely to constitute a real problem.

It was understood when the mothers' allowance plan was inaugurated that it was in the nature of an experiment subject to revision. And Dr. Jamieson's statements can only be interpreted as meaning that, as presiding officer, feels that the time for revision is at hand. The government at Queen's Park, with a notable record of achievement in matters of this kind to its credit, may be expected to give the board's promised recommendations sympathetic consideration.

PUTTING HISTORY ON ICE FOR FUTURE

Great Britain's new Central Library for the Cinema, for which a building is to be acquired in London, opens up possibilities of greater interest, perhaps, to coming generations than to the present one. There are many remarkable contemporary events, which may be seen in motion pictures today—but supposing there were authentic audible pictures of Columbus embarking on his voyage to the New World, or the Pilgrim Fathers arriving in America, or Shakespeare acting in one of his own plays? Yet films comparable with these will be available for posterity. From the screen famous men and women of today will speak present-day history directly to the people of coming centuries.

On the present generation in all countries rests the high responsibility of preserving historic films and talking records suitable for transmission to future ages. It is only recently that steps have been taken in Great Britain to found an institution which should become a sort of record office for films believed to have historic value. At this central library films made in various parts of the British Empire will be examined and classified, and those deemed specially worthy of preservation will be put in "cold storage." The Scott antarctic film is one that has been acquired

An Indian picture, "Imperial Delhi," is another. There are obviously countless similar opportunities for all countries to select memorable scenes in the national life, and perpetuate them for the benefit of future generations.

Something might be said for preserving all films that are made, just as all British books are preserved in the British Museum. But as this would certainly be too expensive, wise selection is a matter of duty for the present and of vast interest for the future. Important ceremonial events, scenes of the Great War, and records of travel and exploration, should obviously have a place. Pictures showing President Hoover and Mr. MacDonald, G. Bernard Shaw or Henry Ford, the opening of Parliament, or scenes in Wall Street, should be included. But perhaps what will most of all interest persons 200 or 500 years hence will be intimate, characteristic pictures of ordinary men and women going about their every-day affairs. The librarians of the cinema must look on the present with the eyes of the future.

BREAKING UP DUNNING'S MACHINE

The Anderson Government is being freely criticised by Liberal organs for its slaughter of Saskatchewan civil servants. But it is well to remember that the notorious "Dunning machine" which held the province in its grip for years, was founded on the civil service. The backbone of the "machine" was the highways department, but the rest of the service furnished many of the necessary "parts."

If Premier Anderson does nothing but wreck the "machine" he is doing a good work. But if in addition he is filling the service up with men who will attend to their legitimate duties instead of playing politics then the people of Saskatchewan should arise as one man and call him blessed.

DOCTOR'S TIP ENDS COLD CAUGHT IN OFFICE DRAFT

Quick, Tempting Way to Stop Head Cold, Cough, Chest Cold Now Used By Many Here

Numbers of Belleville people have found that colds can be ended quickly—often in a few hours—by a method that is temptingly pleasant to use. Altho many have certified this as the best of home use among adults and children. That's why leading Belleville drug stores guarantee quick, sure relief on prompt refund of the small cost.

Mrs. L. and E. Marston, for example, was treated for a severe head and chest cold caught in a "drafty" office. Just a few pleasant doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, her doctor reports, gave surprisingly quick relief. By night she had overcome the disagreeable "coughy" stage of her cold and in its morning she was again at work. Examination next day showed that this initial certified medication had removed all trace of the cold.

Cases reported daily in this paper are all certified by the attend ing physicians. They show that Ayer's Pectoral is ideal for home use among adults and children. That's why leading Belleville drug stores guarantee quick, sure relief on prompt refund of the small cost.

STEAMER RELEASED
 Port Arthur, Dec. 5.—The Patterson line steamer Thorod which ran aground at Point Porphyry November 9, was released yesterday and brought home today by salvage boats. She will be docked when the cargo is removed.

A romance of mining has been disclosed in Nova Scotia when a long abandoned mine was investigated and found to contain one of the richest gold lodes ever discovered in the province. The mine had been worked with crude methods many years ago and then given up. New claims have now been filed and prospects are very encouraging. There are said to be many abandoned mines of rich possibilities in the province.

Carrying 286 passengers and a total of almost two million Japanese oranges, first cargo of the fruit to reach Canada this year, Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia, docked at Vancouver recently after a record trip from the Orient. The vessel had aboard a number of Canadian delegates to the Pacific Relations Conference held at Kyoto, Japan.

Direct contradiction of the opinion of Col. Frederick Palmer, American war correspondent, that it would be well for Christian churches to withdraw their missionaries from the Orient, has been voiced by Bishop W. H. "Christian missions to China and Japan were never doing better than at present," said the bishop who is in charge of Eastern Missions for the Methodist Episcopal Church of the Southern United States.

The province of Nova Scotia is on the threshold of a period of unprecedented development judging from the record business being handled during the last year by the Dominion Atlantic Railway and the scope of the preparations now under way for the development of tourist traffic," says George R. Graham, vice-president and general manager of the railway, in a recent interview.

Total amount of life insurance carried by the people of Canada is at present about $5,500,000,000 or approximately $500 for every man, woman and child in the Dominion. The United States with $750 per head of population is the only country in the world that exceeds Canada in the amount of life insurance carried.

The 1929 total yield of potatoes in Canada is estimated at 74,446,000 bushels from 545,229 acres, valued at $67,453,000 compared with $2,658,000 bushels in 1928 from 509,064 acres, valued at $40,874,000. Quebec province produced the most with 32,320,000 bushels.

Canada's Royal Agricultural Fair, largest of its kind on the American continent, opened for its eight annual session on November 26 at Toronto with over 17,500 entries, a total that breaks all previous records. Two thousand two hundred exhibitors entered, including 500 from the United States.

COLOSSAL DRAINAGE PLANNED BY EXPERTS
 Berlin—A project for reclaiming a vast section of Europe capable of supporting 20,000,000 people and which sank into the North Sea 500,000 years ago, is being discussed by engineers. It ever materialized, it is sponsors believe the scheme would go far towards solving Europe's problem of over-population.

Technically the plan is feasible, say the engineers. They do not, however, attempt to forego the long political problem of dividing the land among England, Belgium, Holland, Denmark and Germany would be solved.

The project contemplates a huge dam, some 600 miles long from off Spurn Head, England, to the northern end of Denmark and another dam

CARMEL FAMILY ARE HONOURED

Mr. and Mrs. John Lattone Visited By Many Friends

On Saturday evening, the home of Mr. John Lattone was invaded by their many friends and neighbors, to have one more social evening with them before their departure. Mr. Lattone has given up farming on account of the ill health of Mrs. Lattone. The evening was spent in singing and music. About 11 o'clock the guests were called to order and the following address was read by Miss Grace L. Simmons:

"Dear Mr. and Mrs. Lattone and Bernice—We, your friends and neighbors have gathered here tonight to spend one more social evening with you. Most of us have spent many happy hours here with you, but tonight we sincerely regret that we are about to lose you from our midst. We understand, fully, that you are about to move in a new home and we sincerely hope that wherever you choose a home you will choose rightfully. It is satisfying to know that if it is our loss it will be somebody's gain, for you both have been very true friends, willing to help and willing to give your services in whatever labor you were asked to do. Jack, we sincerely wish God's blessing to go with you and your family, for without his help we are weak.

"As a small token of remembrance, we ask you to accept this table, not for its value, but to show you in some way the love we have for you all; and that it stands for love, friendship, unity and remembrance. With it goes our best wishes for a bright, prosperous and happy new home.

"We hope that this will not let you forget us and that we will look for you to come and visit us very, very often.

"Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors:

MRS. W. SIMMONS
 MRS. W. CLAPP
 MISS G. SIMMONS.

Mr. and Mrs. Lattone were presented with a beautiful solid walnut Chesterfield table. Although taken very much by surprise, Mr. Lattone made a very suitable reply, thanking his many friends.

Miss Horten, Mr. Horten, Mr. Simmons and Mr. Selles and others gave speeches of regret on losing Mr. Lattone and his family, as they have lived there a good many years, and were always ready to give a hand when needed. The remainder of the evening was spent in music, the ladies serving a dainty lunch. The evening was brought to a close by singing "They are Jolly Good Fellows."

Of appetite, the thought should be first of the teeth and if the X-ray shows them to be free of infection and the tonsils are "suspicious" it is really foolish not to have the tonsils cleared infection by the above method or if necessary the removal of the tonsils.

You will remember that painful joints are often forerunners of organic heart ailments.

STIRLING HOCKEY DANCE

One of the most successful dances held by the Stirling Hockey Club took place last evening in the Town Hall at Stirling. A large crowd attended the event and enjoyed the dance, music that was played by the Ben Ton orchestra of this city. An excellent dance programme delighted the patrons of the dance.

CAR WAS IN GEAR

When Earl Morden, of Foxboro, cranked his car on Front Street about three-thirty yesterday afternoon it was unfortunately in gear and started on a trip up the sidewalk from in front of Domenico's Fruit Store for a distance of about 100 yards, where it crashed into a Hydro pole. Beyond alarming pedestrians and slightly damaging the pole no particular harm was done.

ISLANDERS WAIT THE RETURN OF CHIEFTAIN

Sydney, Australia. — A 4-year-old son of a Seventh Day Adventist missionary is heir to one of the most powerful chieftainships at Barotonga, an island in the Cook group.

Pastor Henry Hill and his wife were stationed in the South Sea island when their son was born. The aged chief of the natives named the boy as his heir and when the family returned to Australia he insisted that the baby should be trained to take his place in the councils of the tribe.

Now word has come that the chief has died and that islanders are awaiting the return of their infant ruler.

WELSH SINGERS PLEASED LOVERS OF GOOD MUSIC

Capacity Audience Heard Fine Singing at Tabernacle Church

Tabernacle United Church was filled to the doors last night with music lovers from all over the city and district who had gathered to hear the Welsh Imperial Singers put on a programme of classical and semi-classical music. Those who missed this splendid musical treat missed something well worth while, as everyone who heard the company of twelve young singers were duly impressed.

Under the capable direction of Prof. Eustian Davies, the Imperial Singers interpreted many of the really high class works of music to perfection, and by far. One of the real treats of the evening, however, was delivered by Norman Evans, 17-year-old pianist with the Imperial Singers, who rendered Chopin's Waltz in C sharp minor to perfection. As an encore, Mr. Evans responded with a part of Beethoven.

The singers started their programme with "A Psalmist," by Handel, which was well appreciated. Directly following this, Mr. Morris Wrench rendered a bass solo, "Friend O Mine." The chorus of twelve was then heard in two numbers, "Ye Brave Brigades" and "Boys of the Old Brigade." The latter number especially was the subject of many complimentary remarks, although all were appreciated.

Harry Williams then sang "The Garden of Your Heart," Mr. Williams has a pleasing tenor voice, and the fact that he was heartily encored showed that his song had been well rendered. "Carry Me Back To Old Virginia," that old time negro favorite, but sung in original time was then given by the whole chorus, followed by a baritone solo, "Mary O'Neill" by Howell Williams.

What was considered by many to have been the best number of the programme was next heard, it being "The Lost Chord," sung by the entire chorus. In response to repeated applause, the chorus rendered "The Sword of Ferrara," followed by a tenor solo, "Mountain Lovers." Then came Mr. Norman Evans' pianoforte selections, followed by a bass solo, "Asleep in the Deep," by Jack Newbury.

The two final numbers by the Chorus were "All Through the Night" and "Sleep, Gentle Lady," both of which were much enjoyed. Following the singing of these two numbers, it was announced that the Imperial Singers would be in Belleville until next Monday morning and that they would have charge of part of the service at Tabernacle Church next Sunday evening. Rev. A. E. McCutcheon will continue the regular service for half an hour, and then the Imperial Singers will render a half hour programme of sacred songs and choruses. They will sing at Trinity Church, Napanee, on Sunday morning.

TORONTO SKIER HERE YESTERDAY

S. T. Riggs Rests in City While on Marathon Trip

Mr. S. T. Riggs, member of the Toronto Ski-Club, passed through the city yesterday, stopping for an eight-hour rest in the Y. M. C. A., prior to finishing the last lap of his journey to Napanee. The trip to Belleville took thirty-six hours.

Mr. Riggs left Toronto on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock and arrived in Belleville at approximately three o'clock in the afternoon of yesterday.

Practically no skiing is done at all in this vicinity so that the sight of a skier proved quite an attraction, especially with the youngsters, who congregated about him at the "Y" and listened interestedly to him telling of his trip.

"Just for love of the sport and to keep in physical condition," was the sole reason that he gave for his journey. On reaching the eastern town, he intends to stay with friends over the week end, returning to Toronto via rail, on Sunday.

Just For The Feminine Reader

A DEBT TO DAME FASHION

The woman who has a well stocked wardrobe is no doubt justified in declining to welcome a complete "boom verseyant" of feminine style. The introduction of longer, more sophisticated apparel is without question causing just as much criticism, comment and speculation as did the innovation of the shorter, more juvenile mode. And fashion is the culprit. Fashion is a tyrant, a nuisance, but what can we do? say the women who follow her implicitly. Fashion is ridiculous, not to be tolerated, say their more contentious sisters.

Strange as it may seem, however, many of those who most stubbornly resist the whimsies of fashion are also among those who take the keenest delight in some particular manifestation of her influence, who take pleasure in visiting museums where distinctly varying styles of clothing portray the foppishness and trippiness of bygone centuries, who take pride in discerning the particular reign or dynasty under which a certain chair or snuffbox originated, and who become exceedingly agitated at the theatre if any of the cast are discovered guilty of wearing a costume not of the period in which the play is laid.

Ah, who would relish the appearance of Mr. Pickwick in a Roman tunic, or Sweet Nell of Old Drury in the rags of Boadicea? Absurd, you will admit, but a condition which might easily have existed had our ancestors not succumbed to the insroads of advancing styles. Fashion may be a tyrant; she may even be ridiculous; but for the color and variety for which she is responsible, let us make a gracious bow.

WHAT WILL IT DO?

Women are saying: "Pinkham's Compound keeps me fit to do my work." "I was nervous and all run down. Now I eat better and sleep better." "It helped my thirteen year old daughter." "I took it before and after my baby was born." "I'm gaining every day."

SOME HELPFUL HINTS FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

If the finish on the oak floor has become so soiled that it seems necessary to remove it, do not use lye or caustic potash, as these darken the flooring and will ruin the surface so that it will require treatments with acids and alkali to restore the natural light color of the oak.

It will be better to scrub the floor with wood alcohol, then bleach it with oxalic acid. Put one ounce oxalic acid crystals in an eight-ounce bottle of water for a saturated solution and add as much of this as required to the water used.

After the floor is thoroughly dry apply the original finish.

Add a little petrol to the furniture cream when polishing furniture to prevent finger marks.

When in a hurry to fry cold cooked potatoes sprinkle them with flour and they will brown more quickly.

For filling small soft pillows, try milk weed silks. They are much softer, and when they become hardened place over a heat for a couple of hours and they will be as fluffy as when first made.

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

Apricot Tarts

Four pastry shells (baked), two cups apricot pulp, 12 marshmallows, sugar. Put the stewed apricots through a food chopper, add the marshmallows, cut in bits, and fill the shells with the mixture, decorating with the remaining marshmallows also cut in bits. Pop into a hot oven and bake until lightly brown.

Prune or peach pulp may be used in the same way.

Potatoes Maitre d'Hotel

1 pound potato balls
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon butter
Chopped parsley
Stock
Cream.
Boil either very tiny new potatoes

Children's COUGHS

Mother! Give your children a few Peps tablets to suck every day. Breathing the agreeable medicinal fumes given off by Peps is like breathing invigorating pine forest air. or a sufficient number of balls, made from large potatoes. The potatoes ought to be boiled only a short time, so as to avoid having them too soft.

Cream the flour and butter and add enough stock and cream to obtain a fine cream sauce. Add the potatoes, parsley and salt to taste and heat on a medium fire until they reach the boiling point. Serve very hot.

Cole Slaw Piquant

2 cups shredded cabbage
1 tart apple cut in strips
2 tablespoons chili sauce
2 tablespoons diced celery
Mayonnaise or French dressing
Mix together the cabbage, celery, apple and chili sauce, and moisten with dressing. Serve very cold.

"CHRYSANTHEMUMS"

"Big, fine ones, lady.
Balls of shaggy gold,
Or russet beauties.
Like the lake oak leaves
That linger after Every other tree
Has dropped its brightness
On the frosty ground."

"No," I said softly.

"None of these, my friend,
These fluffy flowers
Of stately elegance.
At home, I have some tiny yellow ones
That gleam like golden nuggets
In the sun.
And back of them are ruddy russet Blooms
And tawny tans,
And some of purest white.
Ah, no, my friend,
I do not need your flowers."

"Compared with my bright
Homely little blooms,
That hold the frosty secrets
Of the night,
Hidden far down
Within their petaled hearts,
Yours are but lovely Town Aristocrats."

"But when I stoop
To pick my country flowers
I find a fragrant echo lingering there
Of summer's full and radiant delight."

PREMIER'S FATHER HAS DISAPPEARED

Regina, Sask., December 5, (Saskatchewan Press)—James Anderson, father of Hon. J. T. M. Anderson, premier of Saskatchewan, disappeared from his son's house here yesterday and has not been found. The premier notified the city police, who instituted a search. Mr. Anderson is 77 years of age, and has been in ill-health.

Anaemia Weakness of the Blood

Pallor of the lips, gums and eyelids is proof that the blood is thin and watery. Anaemia is the name given to this condition.

Anemia is most prevalent among girls and young women. The school girls of today are as a result of an anemic condition of the blood and the consequent upsetting of the nervous system.

The remarkable success of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in cases of this kind is perhaps the best proof that it goes directly to the formation of pure, rich blood. And pure, rich blood is the foundation of the health and strength of the whole human body.

CHAPTER 70 THE NEW LANE

Madelon had written to Mme. Guilbert acquainting her with her intention to enter a French convent. They had kept up a correspondence through the years that Madelon had spent as a student in the French home. She was very fond of the French woman and felt that she owed her the two happiest years of her life.

Her letter, with regard to the convent, brought forth a stormy reply. Mme. Guilbert begged, implored in vain. French and French-American, that she reconsider her decision. "The poor Andre," she wrote, "even yet he pines. Do not, chérie, do not. I beg, put yourself away from the world that has so much to offer you. Convent walls are chill. The nun's habit will be irksome to your soft flesh which has known silk. Prayers and curfews are well for the old, but not for youth, which should dance through the warm night."

"When however, the Frenchwoman became convinced that her pleas were vain, she wrote announcing that she was returning to France for a visit and suggesting that Madelon accompany her. She would conduct her to the convent and 'leave you, weeping, at the door, ma pauvre bébé.'"

Madelon was delighted at this offer of a companioned voyage. But, since Mme. Guilbert was leaving within a fortnight, it forced her hand a little, by that time, but she felt that her slightly premature departure would not be inconvenient to either of them.

The evening she chose to approach her uncle with the announcement of her intention proved a forceful reminder of other similar momentous interviews.

It was just after dinner that she followed him to the library where it seemed that all matters concerning her destiny were discussed.

Vividly, she remembered the hour when he bade her put Duane Parley out of her life forever; and again, that never-to-be-forgotten hour when he had told her that she should never marry Julian Barton, either with his permission or without it.

Would he take from her, now, even the consolation of the Church? But strangely, he made no protest. When she had told him her wish, he remained silent for a long minute, then he said quietly:

"You have thought this over well, Madelon?"

She bowed her head in mute assent.

You may live to regret this irrevocable decision."

"I think not," she answered steadily. "When I went to school at the convent, I seriously considered taking the vows. But the nuns advised me not to give up the world until I was old enough to know what I was doing. It means little to give up some thing of which one is ignorant."

"You are not happy here?" Lane's grey eyes pierced her.

"He hesitated. When he spoke his voice was gentler than she had ever heard it."

"You blame me for your unhappiness, Madelon?"

"I thought ever fiber of her being cried 'Yes, yes, a thousand times over, something of the self-abnegation which she was soon to embrace permanently made her answer:

"No, thank you, Stephen. One cannot blame a human being for what Fate wills... I suppose I was destined for this, from the beginning."

"I have been very wrong in my judgment of you," it was the first time Stephen Lane had ever admitted an error. Madelon knew that Andre's softening influence was already at work.

"I have been too arbitrary in my decisions," he went on. "Until recent I never believed that women had sufficient intelligence to order their lives wisely."

Madelon remained silent. There seemed to be nothing to say. She even felt a little embarrassed. It was painful to see an arrogant spirit lower its proud crest.

Once, she would have desired nothing better than to bring Stephen Lane to his knees, to hear him confess to a mistake. But now she felt only pity. Out of her own suffering, a beautiful tolerance had been born.

"I thought—indeed I hoped," Lane went on tentatively, "that you might be happy at the return of young Barton. It was another mistake I made, sending him away years ago. I misjudged the boy. He has turned in to a brilliant and successful man."

"Yes," her tone was determinedly light. "I am glad he has made good for his own sake. But you must not reproach yourself on my account, Uncle Stephen. You were wiser than I. It was only a boy and girl affair. We have—both—forgotten."

(To be Continued.)

ST. JULIEN CHAPTER A GENEROUS GIVER

The chairman of the Board of Man-agement of the Home for the Aged has submitted the following addition to the annual report of the Women's Christian Association.

"I am sincerely sorry to have omitted from my report on the Belleville Home for the Aged, submitted yesterday at the annual meeting of the W.C.A., an item touching on the whole-hearted generosity of the ladies of the St. Julien Chapter, I.O.E. No organization or individual has been more faithful in the past in generous continued support to the Home than has St. Julien Chapter. Every two weeks throughout the year they give to the men a quantity of tobacco and to the women, candies. Aside from this they give freely of furnishings of every kind to the home, and their willingness to do and give at all times, has been fully appreciated by every one who is in any way connected with the Home.

I regret having overlooked this state-ment in preparing my report, and I hasten to draw the attention of the citizens of Belleville to the facts.

HUGE SEA DAM WILL BE BUILT AT CARDIFF

Cardiff, Wales. — A huge sea dam costing roughly $20,000,000, which would make Cardiff and other Welsh coast towns more important world harbors, is contemplated by the Great Western Railroad Company. The dam, which would be constructed on the northern side of the deep water channels which run into the Cardiff docks on the Welsh side of the Bristol Channel, would open up this port as a great trade and passenger route linking Canada, the United States and South America, with Wales, the Midlands and Western England.

It would extend from the Cardiff breakwater to Penarth, and would transform Cardiff from a tidal port to a deep water harbor capable of sheltering the biggest liners.

Hon. Vincent Massey has discussed at the State Department the proposal to force those who work in the U. S. to live in the country, the Canadian Press learned yesterday at Washington.

LIBERALS NAME NEW OFFICIALS

Chas. Hanna Will Head
Party for the Ensuing Year

At the Liberals Club Rooms yesterday afternoon and evening a very enthusiastic meeting took place. Important business took place when the election of officers for Trenton, Belleville and the County of Hastings was held. In the afternoon session the election of officers for Hastings took place. "Charlie" Hanna was elected President, Peter McLarin, of Cobville, first Vice President; Dr. Boyce, of Deseronto, second Vice President; D. Clark, of Chapman, Treasurer and William Thompson, of Belleville, the Secretary.

In the evening election of Liberal officers for Belleville were: Pres. Harold Holton; First Vice-Pres., Anne Hurley; 2nd Vice Pres., George Clifton; Secretary, J. D. O'Flynn; Treasurer, Thos. Harris.

Liberal officers of Trenton elected were: Pres. C. Richardson; 1st Vice Pres. Mrs. L. Post; 2nd Vice Pres., Harold Turney; Treasurer, Don Fraser; Secretary, H. Cory.

RESOLUTIONS

The meeting passed the following resolutions:—Liberals of South Hastings assembled at Belleville the 4th day of December, A. D. 1929, desire to place on record their entire confidence in the leadership of the Right Honourable William Lyon Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada and assure him of their whole-hearted support.

Compliments Dunning
South Hastings Liberals assembled at Belleville the 4th day of December, 1929, most respectfully offer to the Honourable Mr. Charles A. Dunning, their congratulations on his promotion to the high and important portfolio in the Federal Government, namely that of Minister of Finance and Deputy-General of Canada.

South Hastings Liberals assembled at Belleville the 4th of December, 1929, most respectfully record the passing of one of Canada's distinguished sons and gifted statesmen in the person of the Honourable James Alexander Robb, Minister of Finance and Receiver-General of Canada.

To Mrs. Robb and the bereaved family, we most respectfully beg to extend our sympathy in their irreparable loss. A loss which is universally felt throughout the whole nation.

EIGHT CONTESTED

Clerk, as far as could be told, had a hard time deciding between Miss Moffat and Miss Morrow, for first prize, but when the award finally was made not a voice was heard in protest.

Frank Compton, of Tweed, was second in the boys' section.

Valued Prizes

The prizes given are well worth winning and for such trophies the entry list will no doubt be larger next year. Mr. Compton took as his subject: "School Fairs," and full justice was given to this important angle of education.

Miss Helen Morrow, runner-up for the girls' medal, took as her subject the question of "Corporal Punishment." She maintained that corporal punishment did more to fill our prisons than any other single agency, and quoted authorities on this subject. Miss Morrow, who comes from S. S. No. 10, Sidney, is to be congratulated on the splendid showing made, as she came second ahead of a high-class field.

Miss Evelyn Drinkwater, of Tweed, although failing to win one of the medals, gave a good speech, the subject of which was "Why I am proud to be a Canadian." Canada was envisioned as the Land of Opportunity, and with thoughts such as Miss Drinkwater expressed, Canada should have little to worry about in the future.

"The Causes and Benefits of Education," was the subject taken by Miss Mary Dean, of S. S. No. 8, Kingston. Miss Dean clearly showed that she had gone fully into her subject, and the enlightening remarks she made opened up new vistas to her hearers.

Canadian Poetess

One of the speeches which received honorable mention particularly was that of Miss Helen Hicks, S. S. No. 9, Thurlow, who gave an autobiography of the great Canadian poetess, Pauline Johnson. Miss Hicks followed the eventful life of Miss Johnson from the time she first saw the light of day near Brantford until she passed away in British Columbia, and told of the "interesting" and delightful interlude. Miss Hicks recited a few of Miss Johnson's better known works also.

Miss Gladys McMullen, of S. S. No. 6, Rawdon, took as her subject: "Why I like to live in Canada," and gave some illuminating reasons why she did. Following the speeches, Warden Bailey presented the medals to the winners, and various councillors presented cups and prizes to School Fair Winners.

KI-Y HOCKEY LOOP READY FOR OPENING

The Ki-Y Executive will this year be composed of three representatives of Kiwanis: Mr. Dan O'Donohue, Mr. E. Shapiro and Mr. Bruce Bottom, along with J. E. Shortt, and R. B. Morden of the Y. M. C. A.

One representative of each team entering the Ki-Y series will also sit on the executive. Age groupings will be same as last year. The executive will meet on Monday next December 9th, at 8:00 p.m. in the Y. M. C. A. and all teams desirous of entering should have a representative at the meeting.

OSHAWA POLICE ARE PRETTY SORE

Bar all Reporters from Station Following "Crime-Wave" Stories

Oshawa, December 6.—Aroused by what is claimed to be the sensational journalistic tactics adopted by some of the Toronto newspapers in connection with a hold-up here last Saturday, and the two other hold-ups and five burglaries which have occurred here recently, the Board of Police Commissioners for Oshawa, through Chief Constable Owen D. Friend, has expelled all newspaper reporters from the city police offices, has closed the police "blotter" or record book to reporters, and has absolutely refused to everybody welcome.

Mrs. Tulk, Mrs. Casement, Mrs. Sweet and Mrs. Mack were at the fancy work tables. Mrs. Mosier, Mrs. McEldwaine, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Dafoe and Mrs. Murphy looked after the home cooking. Mrs. Connell, Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Wesley MacDonald were in charge of the Cafeteria table. Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. Fred MacDonald and Mrs. Harris served. Assisting Mrs. Star at the Rummage table were Mrs. Darlington and Mrs. Baxter. Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Rogers poured tea. Mrs. J. Hall sold tickets on a quilt. Proceeds amounted to $105.00.

give any further police news to either the local or the Toronto press.

Members of the Oshawa City Council—which is to have the Chief Constable appear before it to explain about the "crime wave"—almost without dissent condemned this latest order, and a battle royal on the issue is looked for.

News Distorted

Mayor T. B. Mitchell, a member of the Police Commission, speaking to The Globe tonight, declared that this move was a direct result of the sensational way in which recent crime news from Oshawa has been distorted and featured in certain Toronto newspapers.

A similar move of barring the press from the police office and police records was made Tuesday evening by Chief Friend on his own authority. After a three-hour conference with members of the press, the Chief retracted his order, but, with the backing of the Police Commission, it was again put into effect last night.

APPOINT NEW TRADE COMMISSIONER HERE

Wellington, New Zealand, December 6.—J. W. Collins, secretary for the Department of Industry and Commerce has been appointed New Zealand Trade Commissioner in Canada. It was announced here today. After establishing a Canadian office, Collins will report on the prospects of increasing New Zealand's trade on the eastern seaboard of the United States.

YOUNG ANGLER BAGS UNIQUE FISH CATCH

Powell River, B. C.—(CP).—Stanley Johnson, a youth of this place, was having great sport recently playing an 11½-pound salmon which he hooked off the Powell River wharf. But along came the grandfather of all the local cod, tipping the scales at 42 pounds and swallowed Stanley's catch. It looked as if the cod would win out against the young angler's tackle, until the boy's father managed to gaff the cod and landed both fish on the dock. It was the heaviest catch ever made in local waters on a single rod and line.

McALPIN FLIERS REACH STONEY RAPIDS

Winnipeg, Dec. 5.—Enlarged forces of rescued and rescuers, including six members of the McAlpin party, swelled the population of Stoney Rapids radio post to-day. Into Stoney from Fort Reliance were flown a group of ten men by pilots Dwyer and Sutton. The four hundred fifty mile hop from Reliance to Stoney centred the evacuation operations at that point.

Fort William Ont., December 5.—Weather conditions on the upper lakes are much improved and the temperature is warm. The Lake Shippers Clearance Association has a wireless message that the "Matheson" has locked through the Soo, en-route for Fort William and the "Donovan" is also en-route up the lakes.

MRS. J. W. COOK IS NAMED PRESIDENT OF MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the W. M. S. of John Street United Church, was held on Wednesday afternoon, December 4th, at the home of Mrs. Russell George Street, with a good number in attendance.

The president, Mrs. Cook, occupied the chair, opening the meeting with the hymn: "It came upon the midnight clear, that glorious song of old," Scripture reading from the 2nd chapter of Luke, after which Mrs. Ferguson offered prayer.

Very satisfactory reports for the year were received from the secretary and treasurer and the various other departments of the society. It was decided to continue the group system for another year with the following ladies as leaders: Mesdames Moore, Ross, H. Hill, Denike, Ferguson, Cook, Archibald and Miss Day's.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:—Honorary Presidents—Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Hodgkinson.

First Vice-President—Mrs. Archibald. Second Vice-President—Mrs. Sherman. Third Vice-President—Miss Davis.

Secretary—Mrs. Ferguson. Treasurer—Mrs. Denike. Secretary of Christian Stewardship—Mrs. Cronk.

Secretary of Temperance Education—Mrs. H. Hill. Literature Committee—Mrs. Benson and Mrs. Boulton.

Supply Committee—Mrs. Sullivan and Mrs. Ross. Strangers' Committee—Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Armstrong and Miss Corbett.

Associate Helpers Secretary—Mrs. Buchanan. Birthday Secretary—Mrs. Gordon Smith.

Missionary Monthly Secretary—Mrs. Hodgkinson. Social Committee—Mesdames R. Boyle, Pinkston and Catcher.

Mission Band Leader—Mrs. Branscombe. Musical Committee—Mrs. H. Hill and Mrs. Moore.

Press Secretary—Mrs. George Boyle. The repeating of the Lord's Prayer in unison and a social half-hour with Mrs. Russell and Miss Davis as hostesses, brought a very successful meeting to a close.

Santa Claus' Letter Box

Belleville, Ontario.
December 4, 1929.

Dear Santa Claus:—I want a bicycle and an aeroplane for Christmas, this year. My little sister, Joan, wants a doll's bed and a telephone. Thank you for all the nice things you brought me last year. I'm going to be a good boy. Good-Bye.

GEORGE MOXAM.
34 Hillcrest Avenue.

103 Yeoman Street.
Belleville, Dec. 5, 1929.

Dear Santa:—I thought I would drop you a line to let you know I would like to have a train of cars, pair of mittens and a horse and a little dog. Nuts, oranges and candy. Well I will close Santa and hope you will not forget me on Christmas Eve.

Your Loving Friend,
RONALD DERBYSHIRE.

Dear Santa Claus:—I thank you for all you gave me last year and I want a car and a garage, a train and tracks, a little horse and wagon.

Your Friend,
TEDDY DORAN,
361 Bleeker Avenue.

Springbrook, Ont.,
December 3, 1929.

Dear Santa Claus:—My name is Gordon Bateman. I am seven years old and have been a very good little boy.

I would like you to bring me a box of tools and a watch. I have a little sister, Marjorie, who is six years old. She wants a big doll and a little telephone and don't forget my little brother, Don who is four years old. He wants a aeroplane and a box of blocks and being us all some candies, nuts and oranges.

We thank you for the things you brought us last year. We will leave you some Christmas cake and coffee on the table.

From Your Little Friends,
GORDON AND MARJORIE AND DONNY BATEMAN

Belleville, Ontario.
Dear Santa Claus:—I think maybe your brownies told you that I have been in bed ever since August and that I have got lots of lovely toys from my friends so you won't have to bring me so many this year. But I would like a jumping-jack, a birthday ring, my birthday is in January a doll's carriage with windows in like a real baby carriage, a doll's high chair and a little stove and a frying pan and a kitchen set.

I will leave some cocoa and some Christmas cake and plum-pudding on the table by the Christmas tree.

From Your Little Friend,
MARGARET GRACE CLARKE
361 Bleeker Avenue,
Belleville, Ont.

Dear Santa— I want to thank you for all the presents you brought me last year. This year I would like a little car and garage, a shooting set, a tool set and some candies, oranges and nuts. I will leave a cup of tea and some cake.

Yours Truly,
GERALD DORAN

BODY POISONS MENACE HEALTH

Kellogg's A-L-BRAN Will Rid Your System of Them

By neglecting constipation, body poisons get in their deadly work. Headaches, listlessness, cloudy complexion, which are the first signs, soon are followed by factors that wreck health, ruin ambitions and steal beauty.

You can guard against constipation with a simple remedy—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It is a delicious cereal—100% bran—that brings sure, natural relief from this widespread evil. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because it is a bulk food. It sweeps the intestinal tract of poisonous wastes and stimulates normal action.

Results are guaranteed. Just eat two tablespoons daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Serve it with milk or cream, fruit or honey added. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Use it in cooking—recipes are on the package.

Don't neglect constipation. Begin eating ALL-BRAN today. Sold by all grocers. Served in hotels, dining-cars and restaurants. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

of hockey stockings. Santa I just want to tell you how old we are, I am nine years old, Billie is six years old and one more thing Santa when you come I will leave you a cup of tea and a nice piece of Xmas cake. And a piece of mother's pudding.

Your little friend,
Helen and Billie Chamberlain.

92 Gordon St.
Many thanks Santa Claus for the lovely things you brought me last year. I have tried to be a good girl ever since last year hoping you would remember me this year and bring me a wicker Doll Set, a Doll's bed, a toy kitten cabinet and a sleigh. If there are any of these things you haven't on hand bring me a little truck.

Wishing you a Merry Xmas.
Your Little Girl,
Marion Clarke.

Dear Santa Claus:— I am writing to tell what it is I want for Christmas. First my sister wants a doll and a little carriage and a tin tea set. My brother wants a wagon and a train and a sleigh. My sister wants a sleigh, a pair of roller skates for summer. My brother wants a sleigh and if he can have one I want a pair of roller skates for summer, a sleigh and a box of paints and a pencil box. We all so want one or two games like table tennis, and we want some candy and fruit. We are all looking forward when the morning will arrive when we will wake up and find the toys we have asked for. We have only just come out to Canada and we hope that Santa Claus is as kind as he was in England. We will leave you nice warm fire and a cup of tea and a piece of cake.

WHALEN MISSING

Several New Players Join the Squad—Juniors
Out Soon

Eddie Thomas sent his proteges through a good work-out at the arena last night before a fine crowd of rail-birds who were impressed by the first showing of the Maroons. The boys took things easy with Manager Thomas directing operations from the sidelines while Bill Green was on the ice with the candidates. Several score of hockey fans graced the pews to look over the material and they are convinced that Belleville will be represented by a strong team. The locals will hold another practice on Monday night while the lads who are out for a place on the Junior O. H. A. team will be paraded before the management early next week.

Young "Dimp" McKinnon was the only goal-tender out last night and the half-pint was kicking them out in his own inimitable style. He will guard the twine for the Juniors again this season. McKinnon was under fire several times last year and he stood up well under the test. Jimmy Ethier and "Ab" Young, who will compose the defence with the Juniors, were going great guns and both appear to be in good condition.

One of the bright features of the work-out was the presence of Frank Coyer on the defence. Coyer was an absentee last year but he has put on no weight and while he did not over-exert himself last night he will step on the accelerator after he has ironed the kinks out. Murray Green regular defence player with the Canada Centre team was Coyer's running-mate last night and Murray should grab off a place for himself. He needs a little training but should develop into a smart boy.

Visitors Try Out

"Bob" Davis, of Trenton, was stepping around with his running mate, Norm Johnston and both these lads should be fast enough to catch a regular position. Johnston was one of the chitren boys playing in the Junior O. H. A. group last year and Eddie Thomas made no mistake when he grabbed him off. Davis will probably play with the Striking team of the Trent Valley League as well. The two Cannings, Johnny and Henry were teasing around in great style and both of these players appear to be ready for intermediate company. Bob Scott, who is one of the city's all-round athletes is always in the pink of condition as he is playing baseball all summer. "Scotty" has made a warm place for himself with Belleville fans and he will be a popular favourite when the Maroons step out. Simpson and Day two former juniors completed the squad last night. Eddie Thomas has one or two other players whom he will introduce to the crowd shortly.

Several of the old faces were missing last night and "Dave" Whalen was conspicuous by his absence. Whalen has vowed his intentions of retiring from the game but fans are hopeful that he will reconsider his decision. Johnny Hubbard did not don a pair of skates last night but was content to watch the practice from the sidelines. Alex Weir may be out later while some of the other old players may not be able to resist the temptation to don the blades for one more year. Dan Jeffery is slated to play goal for the Maroons providing "Benny" Bowen does not put in an appearance.

In the prize competition, several of the boys were trying their skill again last night, but didn't seem to have their eyes on their very well as nothing sensational happened and it is still anybody's race. The same goes for the ladies' division, and it looks like the dark horses have a great chance this week.

In the Ladies' Afternoon League the Crescents took four points from the Pro-Tems, who were a little below their usual fine form. High bowlers were: Mrs. Ferguson, 110; 117; 65; 293; Mrs. Torrance, 65; 82; 139; 287; Mrs. Archibald, 63; 81; 53; 202; Mrs. Pinkston, 119; 71; 114; 334.

The Junior League game between Ontario and C. N. Moguls resulted in Moguls taking all four points. High lights were: R. Hardwick, 246; 198; Mason, 237; Symons, 221; 239; Randall, 195; 193; 242; Schrider, 196 and Armstrong, 236 and 191.

DEIGEL TO-DAY WILL MEET HAGEN

Los Angeles, Calif., December 6.—Over the knolls and valleys of Hillcrest yesterday raced the two "golfers" of the field, Leo Diegel and Walter Hagen, to turn in decisive victories but the real going thrills of the day traced their source to a former open titleholder who fought his way out of the shadows of defeat to stay in the running for the National Professional Golfers' association championship.

While Diegel, defending champion and Hagen, chief challenger, were sailing through an easy third round of 36-hole match play, Smiling (Johnny) Farrell, of New York, met and matched a stern golfing test, to come from behind and nose out Craig Wood on the 37th. Trailing from the start in the morning's round, Farrell was two down at the eighteenth and in the same position at the 27th. On the 31st Wood styled his opponent to win the hole and go into a three-up lead. LABRADOR HAS BRIGHT FUTURE

Prof. Sears Directing Promotion of Agriculture in Frozen Land.

Amherst, Mass. — Prof. Fred C. Sears of the Massachusetts Agricultural College here has just returned after a summer spent in the interest of agricultural development in Labrador. He expressed himself as optimistic over the agricultural prospects of the region. His work was in connection with the Grenfell Mission.

Prof. Sears described a ten-acre field which has been cleared of fir, spruce and hemlock at Northwest River. The soil, he said, is sandy and success is anticipated in the growing of asparagus, strawberries and raspberries and potatoes. The rapid growth of vegetation during the few weeks of warm weather is almost unbelievable, he said. Potatoes planted on July 28 were sufficiently grown to use on October 1. He witnessed cabbage grow in four weeks from spinning transplants to fully developed heads.

Following his investigation of the summer of 1928, the professor shipped to St. Anthony apple, cherry, crabapple and plum trees. He found them making excellent growth on his visit this year.

Prof. Sears' research was directed to promotion of agriculture in a region where winter holds sway approximately eight months of the year, and where the frost never leaves the substratum of the soil. Seven substations have been established in Labrador and tests are being made on growth of both ornamental and commercial plants, as well as fertilizer and acidity tests, the raising of alfalfa, drainage and improvements of garden vegetables.

Prof. Sears has had 30 years' experience in investigational work, ten of which were spent in Nova Scotia. His investigations have carried him into Canada and eastern and western United States.

One of the most interesting phases of Prof. Sears' work in Labrador is that relating to the introduction of flowering plants. Red flowers are virtually non-existent in Labrador—why, it has not been explained. Blue flowers thrive and Prof. Sears hopes that red ones will be made to blossom as well.

STUDY OF POLES TO BE STARTED

Scientists Plan Extensive Arctic Cruise Aboard "Graf" Zeppelin

Washington, D. C.—Over the top of the world it once encircled, the Graf Zeppelin, bearing scientists and explorers who envision an unbroken control of the Arctic, will cruise in April and May. Memorable expeditions have opened up narrow tracks into the Arctic but great gaps exist in man's scientific knowledge of polar conditions that scatter their influence to the inhabited world.

Through systematic and widespread observations, for which the basis will be laid by the Graf's flight, a permanent control will be established by scientific studies conducted so far by the explorers who envision an unbroken control of the Arctic, will cruise in April and May. Memorable expeditions have opened up narrow tracks into the Arctic but great gaps exist in man's scientific knowledge of polar conditions that scatter their influence to the inhabited world.

Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, famous Norwegian explorer, will be the scientific leader. Included in his scientific staff of 15 will be Sir Hubert Wilkins of Australia, H. U. Sverdrup, noted Norwegian explorer, and three American scientists. The expedition is sponsored by the International Society for the Exploration of the Arctic Regions by Means of the Airship, more frequently known as the Aeroarctic society, for a preliminary reconnaissance surveying the way to more intensive studies in later years.

Polar phenomena will be studied for their effect on weather and climate, surroundings will be taken in the sea, and meteorological observations so important in the development of air navigation will be taken. Arrangements in the United States are being made by John A. Fleming of the Carnegie Institute of Washington and acting vice president of the American branch of Aeroarctic.

The project envisions a control of the Arctic regions by which knowledge may be secured where and when it is needed, a control impossible in the age of sledges and seaships but forecast in the success of expeditions with planes by Hrd. Wilkins and

Like an Expert She chose Fada!

I SEE you have finally decided on the Fada!

"Yes, isn't it a beauty?"

"How did you make up your mind?"

"Well, we allowed Fada to be put in on trial, and were very much impressed by it. No radio could sound more lovely and real. We were all for keeping it, but thought we had better hear some other advertised radios, whose prices were a little lower."

"What happened?"

"Why, we were more convinced than ever that Fada was the best value of all, even if it did cost a trifle more. After listening to live other radios, we were finally convinced that no other radio has such a beautiful, natural tone as Fada."

"So you thought this difference worth paying more for?"

"Certainly! It is well worth it. A few dollars more bought us a radio that we are going to enjoy and be proud of for years and years."

Elison, and with airship by Amundsen, Ellsworth and Noble.

From northern Norway, at Tromsø, the dirigible will start April 1. Its destination will be Fairbanks, Alaska, definitely selected as the base because of the government railroad which connects it with the west coast, permitting the transportation of gas and supplies.

From Fairbanks the Graf will head again over uncharted regions, areas in which only narrow strips have been covered by explorers. Looping close to the pole, it will return to the base. Its home flight to Norway will carry it over more unknown territory. Capt. Ernst Lehmann and a crew of 34 will operate the big ship.

Eastern Ontario Cheese-Makers Meet Here

APPOINTMENT OF NEW FIRE CHIEF AGAIN SHELVED

Catherine and Church Streets will be Blocked Off for Sleight Riding

ACCIDENT PREVENTION
City Engineer Will Proceed With Plans for Free
Rinks

It was expected that a successor to the late Chief Brown would be appointed by the City Council last night but the City Fathers after being in committee for nearly an hour were unable to reach a satisfactory conclusion to the problem and as a result it was again shelved. It is understood that two of the present members, Acting Chief Lynch and Joshua Canning are in line for the position. The matter will probably be threshed out at the next meeting.

The free skating rinks will be proceeded with at once under the supervision of the chairman of Public Works the chairman of the Executive and the City Engineer. The rink in Foster Ward will be placed in the City Tourist Camp. The accounts for the rental of grounds and dressing-room accommodation in connection with the operation of the free rinks last year was given by the City Engineer as follows: Foster and Queen Rink, $310; Hallway Street rink, $310; Tourist Camp, $342 and supplies for King George, $35. The total cost was $1,022. City Engineer Mott stated that the Parks Board was opposed to the use of that part of Victoria Park lying at the corner of Dundas and Front Street owing to the fact that the ground is riddled for the growing of flowers. A rink will be erected in the tourist camp as the lighting facilities are already installed while cushions will be erected and a dressing room built.

Catherine Street Hill and Lower Church Street will be blocked off between the hours of five and ten p.m. for sleight riding. A.H. George Reid stated he was in favour of it so long as the city was not held liable for accidents. It was first proposed that Catherine Street Hill be the only place where sleight riding could be held but Ald. Rollins felt that the city was taking a selfish attitude in providing the west hill with facilities and leaving no side for the kiddies on the east side.

Ald. French brought in the resolution to block off these two hills which was passed by the Council.

Ald. Tice again said it was imperative that stop-signs be placed on Coleman Street where accidents are apt to happen. Ald. Reid, chairman of Public Works promised to investigate at once.

Residents of Hillside Street protested the bill for closing the street on the grounds that no oil was laid during the present year.

A communication was received from City Engineer Mott with regard to alterations which are proposed by the British American Oil Station at the Southeast Corner of Dundas and Front Street. The Company are asking to ramp the sidewalk. The matter was referred to the chairman of Public Works and the City Engineer with power to act.

The City Treasurer has been authorized to make the proper transfer of the salaries of the Superintendent and Engineer, also truck, car expenses and crushed stone between the several accounts as designated in the Engineer's report of December 2nd, 1929.

HASTINGS YOUNG MEN WILL JUDGE

Twenty-five young men from the Agricultural School at Foshoro left for Kingston this morning where they will judge cattle at the various fairs around there. The party is under the supervision of Mr. Wilson, the district representative for agriculture.

The party chartered a bus from the Collaist Service this morning to make the trip. They will return some time tonight. This afternoon they will tour through the penitentiary.

CHEESE-MAKERS KIWANIS' GUESTS

Good Entertainment; Kiwanians Plan Christmas Tree

Kiwanians at their regular weekly luncheon this afternoon were hosts to the Cheesemakers of this district, assembled in convention in the city at the present time. On behalf of the Cheesemakers, Mr. Jim Irwin, honorary president of the Cheesemakers' Association, expressed the appreciation of the guests for the welcome Kiwanians had extended them.

First Class Entertainment

Rarely have Kiwanians enjoyed a musical programme of the calibre they listened to today. Duncan Cowan, Fred Musgrave and Fred Alexander, of Toronto, in charge of the entertainment at the Cheesemakers' Convention, were the artists and their numerous vocal and instrumental numbers were exceptionally well received by the large audience. With Kiwanian Charles Hanna acting as "booster" today the luncheon was featured with appropriate souvenirs and special prizes for the lucky ones. Led by the trio of guest musicians, Kiwanians and their guests displayed some real community singing.

Getting down to serious business, Kiwanian George Bonisteel reported good progress being made with arrangements for the Kiddies' Christmas Tree and party which will be held in the next week or so. Ernie Pahey also reported that Christmas baskets would be prepared as usual by the committee in charge and many needy families thus aided at the Christmas season.

A letter was read from the Secretary of the School Board thanking the Club for its substantial grant towards the formation of a boys' band in this city. Kiwanian Ross Hunter is in charge of the formation of this band and will make a definite progress report in the near future.

Support Ki-Y Hooley

Secretary Joe Shortt of the Y.M.C.A. spoke briefly concerning the Ki-Y Boys' Hooley League. Entries have been made and Kiwanian and Y. Officials will co-operate as in the past to make the league possible and successful.

TERRIFIC GALES TAKE BIG TOLLS

Scores Die in Land and Sea Disasters in Great Britain

Paris, Dec. 10.—France had somewhat of a respite today from the wild storm that has been sweeping the coast and the inland districts costing 32 lives and a loss of at least half a dozen steamers and fishing vessels as well as enormous property damage. The weather bureau, however, predicted new gales beginning tomorrow. Collisions with many coastal points were still interrupted today and full check-up of loss of life and property was not obtainable. The largest loss of life was that of 34 seamen drowned when the Italian steamer the Chieri sank in the Bay of Biscay.

THE WEATHER

Moderate east and north east winds, clear and moderately cold tonight and Wednesday, probably some light local snow or sleet.

EXAMINING BOARD
Apprentices Must Serve Three Seasons and Pass Dairy Tests

Beginning this morning the second Annual Convention of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association was held in the City Hall, with approximately one hundred and twenty-five members and eight instructors of the Association in attendance at the event. The convention commenced at nine-thirty with Association business, only being discussed. Members of the Association, only, were present at the meeting. Very little business was discussed before Mr. W. Henderson and Mr. John West were appointed auditors. It was moved that future qualifications of apprentices be presented before the Association. It was voted that a resolution be passed whereby apprentices would have to serve three seasons and pass the Dairy School Course, or, to serve two seasons Dairy School Course and one additional season.

It was resolved that no permits or certificates be issued by the Department of Agriculture, unless endorsed by an examining board, appointed by the Central Ontario Association. This was all the business that was discussed at this morning's session, after which the registration of members from all parts of the country. Registrations were as follows:

UNITED STATES STEEL A LEADER

Varied Trading on New York Exchange Feature Today

New York, December 10.—The stock market alternately blew hot and cold today in the reflection of frequent shifts of speculative sentiment. The market opened irregularly lower, rallied briskly before the end of the first hour under the leadership of United States Steel common and then bobbed up and down the afternoon, with the gains outnumbering the losses. Trading showed a marked falling off in volume.

United States Steel common, which ran up sharply yesterday on unfounded rumors of an early stock split-up and then plunged downward on the announcement that the directors were likely before the regular meeting on the last Tuesday of January, advanced 4-1/2 points to 184-1/2, but had difficulty in maintaining the gain. The monthly tonnage report showed an increase of nearly 39,000 tons in unfilled orders last month, the third successive increase, but this was accounted for largely by the sharp curtailment in operations rather than from increased business. Railroad shares were in good demand. The consolidation of the Norfolk and Southern Dividend being effected by an increase from $7 to $8 in the annual rate of Virginia Railway, Pittsburgh and West Virginia was marked up five points, Union Pacific 4-1/2. New York Central 4-1/4 and Baltimore and Ohio, New Haven, New York and Harlem and "Katy" common jumped three to nearly four points.

CHAPTER ENTERTAINED

Last night the members of Minerva Chapter Eastern Star were entertained at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Adeline W. Weymark. Bridge and euchre were played by about fifty guests. Prizes were won by Miss Blecker, Miss Sims, Miss Shorrey, Mrs. McIntosh, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Fink, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Wray, Mrs. Irish, Mr. Wotton, Mr. D. Rowe, Mr. Weymark and Mr. Wilkinson.

Mrs. McGuire, Worthy Matron, recognized with Mrs. Wray, an appropriate feature was Stephen's play, "Star of Bethlehem" beautifully interpreted by Mrs. Singer, who was accompanied on the piano by Miss Davis.

DENIES RIFT IN RANKS OF PARTY

Col. MacAlpine Says Aerial Explorers Will Again Visit North

Toronto, Dec. 10.—Lieut. Col. C. D. H. MacAlpine returned to his home here today after many weeks of privations while waiting for his party to be rescued from Cambridge Bay, Victoria Island. Col. MacAlpine appeared to be little the worse from the ordeal and was smiling and laughing at his home. He lost considerable weight during his absence.

"One of the great features was how we worked together," he said, "and it was told that it was suggested there had been a special need, but we were prepared this time for all eventualities. We had shovels and everything necessary to dig ourselves out. The last trip was not one stroke of bad luck, it was a whole chain of bad luck. The storm pushed us out of our route and one piece of bad luck followed another. Our experience has taught us many valuable little things which will be useful in our next trip."

TO OPEN NEW WING

On Thursday afternoon the Officers and Directors of the Belleville Council will open a new wing which has been under construction since last April. On Thursday afternoon and evening the general public are invited to visit the institution. The Superintendent and nurses will be in attendance to conduct the visitors through the building. Some changes and renovations have been made in the present building which will be of interest to the citizens of Prince Edward County.

EDUCATIONAL HEAD SCORES TEXT BOOKS

Vancouver, Dec. 10.—Stories in which the British warships are described as "the hated enemy," taken from supplementary books which have been used in Canadian schools, are being used by Hon. The whole story held the British Navy to ridicule, he said.

STUDIO BURNED NINE LIVES LOST

Fire Envelopes New York Building; Several are Missing

New York, December 10.—Nine persons are known to have been killed today in a fire which swept through a three story brick building occupied by the Manhattan Studios, Incorporated, and the Pathé Motion Picture Exchange at Park Avenue and 134th St. Several are missing.

The stage was set in rear of the first floor of the studio for a miniature revue. With the cameras in position, the director ready and the cast waiting the call to "shoot," there was a flash from the back velvet drop in the rear of the stage. Flames followed and the studio crew uncoiled the hose and started to fight the blaze. Fire spread with such rapidity, however, that an alarm was turned in. By the time the fire engines arrived, the studio was a mass of flames and huge billows of acrid smoke were pouring from the structure, smarting the eyes of persons in the vicinity. When the firemen finally were able to make their way into the building, they came upon the bodies of men and women who were trapped. An hour and half later, fire was brought under control and a complete search of the ruins revealed no more bodies, leading to the belief that all except nine had escaped.

COMPENSATION IS GIVEN TO INJURED

8057 Accidents Reported in October; Decrease from 1928 of 221

There were 8,057 accidents reported to the Workmen's Compensation Board during the month of October, 44 of these being fatal. This is a decrease of 221 from the number during October a year ago, but an increase of 819 over the month of September this year.

The benefits awarded during October amounted to $78,736.62, of which $62,814.83 was for compensation and $15,921.79 for medical aid. This compares with $707,471.31 benefits awarded during October a year ago.

These figures have, according to R. B. Morley, general manager of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, stirred industrial leaders to further efforts to cut the toll of accidents by an extension of the safety work being done. Additional members are being added to the field force of the associations and an intensification of accident prevention activities in the plants will be carried out under V. L. Munimery, chief inspector.

GLENORA HATCHERIES MENACED BY BLAZE

Pictou, Dec. 10.—The Provincial Fish Hatchery at Glenora narrowly escaped destruction by fire today. About 10 o'clock this morning a near-by resident noticed smoke issuing from the roof, and raised an alarm. It is believed that a spark from a stove caused the smokes of the roof to catch fire. The whole story held the British Navy to ridicule, he said.

DISASTROUS YEAR ON GREAT LAKES ENDS THIS WEEK

Greatest Toll of Lives in Marine Tragedies Since 1913.

A LEAN SEASON
Crews Assisting to Put Ships In Quarters—Vow Never to Return

(Canadian Press)

Toronto, (By Jack Hamilton, Canadian Press Staff Writer)—Two days before the official ending of navigation, sailors of the Great Lakes have given up the unequal fight against storms and ice, and today navigation is closed. With the exception of one or two boats which are on their way to winter storage headquarters, all vessels are safely tied up and the work of "laying up" is proceeding. Engines are being smeared with heavy oil, decks covered in dishes, lines and things that contribute to the comfort of crews are being stowed away.

The navigation season of 1929 has been marked by tremendous storms with many vessels being lost, and many lives paying the penalty of attempting to crash through the mountainous seas. Not since the black Friday of 1913 have so many boats been wrecked. Numbered among the victims this year are the Andaste, the Milwaukee, the N. J. Nessen, the Maplewood, the Wisconsin, the Pikey, the Chicago, the Senator, the Kiowa and the Sardinian. Ten major wrecks in all. The same number were lost in 1913, but in that year the loss of life was much greater. In the storm of Friday, Saturday and Sunday of that year, 240 lives were lost. This year, approximately one hundred perished, with the greatest number, 54, going down aboard the ill-fated car ferry "Mule" on Lake Michigan. But it is over now.

Home For Christmas

Crews will continue working in the majority of cases, for another week or so, and then the "Home For Christmas" rush will begin. For some weeks the sailors will remain at home. The usual statements regarding the indivisibility of making a living by sailing, "never said again" attitude, stories of hardship and heroism will again be told by members of the "bad boys" team. Then, with coming of spring, all this will be forgotten, and once again the trek for the lakes will commence. Meanwhile, the great inland seas, which contribute so materially to the prosperity of Canada, will not be disturbed by the throbbing engines of freighters until Spring comes again.

COAST SCHOONER STILL MISSING

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 10.—The three masted schooner Neptune, carrying nineteen persons, and the schooner Lloyd Jack were still missing ten days after leaving this port with eight oiler vessels. Five were abandoned with loss of one life after the hurricane swept down on them after sailing, and one returned safely to port.

The Lloyd Jack is still off the coast while Erie May Petite, in tow of the steamer, will arrive here today.

CREW OF BOAT ARE BROUGHT TO SAFETY

New York, December 10.—Eleven Newfoundland fishermen, captain, mate and crew of the schooner "Cander Deal" arrived in New York today aboard the United States liner "Republic" which picked them up before daylight last Friday after they had been blown many miles out to sea.

HASTINGS YOUNG MEN WILL JUDGE

Twenty-five young men from the Agricultural School at Foshoro left for Kingston this morning where they will judge cattle at the various fairs around there. The party is under the supervision of Mr. Wilson, the district representative for agriculture.

The party chartered a bus from the Collaist Service this morning to make the trip. They will return some time tonight. This afternoon they will tour through the penitentiary.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"Most injustice is not inflicted cr-liberally, but because people do not take the trouble to think things out."
—Rudyard Kipling.

McKENZIE KING IS STANDING PAT

Premier King's London speech did not do much to popularize political oratory or to clarify the political atmosphere.

The one point for commendation is the Premier's intimation that the Pensions Act will be rewritten to make more just, if not more generous, provision for veterans suffering from disabilities that result from the war.

But his tariff stand will take a deal of explaining. How, for instance, is Imperial trade to be cultivated if nothing is done to shut out the inrush of American products? For the Premier with the taste of Saskatchewan applause in his mouth can see nothing wrong with a tariff that allows U. S. to sell $2 worth of goods in Canada for $1 Canada sells in the United States.

But the whole trend of the Premier's two hours of floundering can only mean that the government intends to stand pat on the tariff as well as on all other important issues.

LABOR EMBARRASSED BY OWN FRIENDS

At last the extreme left wing of the British Labor Party, which has committed itself uncompromisingly to the full Socialist program, has broken out in revolt against the more cautious policy of the Labor Government. The occasion was the debate over the unemployment insurance bill which increases insurance benefits to the unemployed—principally to young persons and dependents—by an amount which will cost the state about $12-600,000 a year.

The bill is regarded as the utmost concession which the Treasury can afford or which this minority Government could hope to carry in the present House of Commons. But it falls far short of what the ministers themselves had promised before the election, and still further short of the reckless offers of "work or maintenance" made by Labor extremists.
"Maintenance," as they used the word meant state payments to unemployed on the same terms as if they were, in full work.

The nucleus of this extremist force consists of five irreconcilables who are entrenched in Socialist constituencies in Scotland. Some eighteen other Labor members are solidly with them. The wider sympathy they command within their party is shown by the fact that in one division against their own government they mustered 39 votes. The rank and file of Labor members in Parliament are indignant that members of this group should have weakened the government by organizing votes against it in the House of Commons, and disciplinary party action has been demanded.

The movement, however, is rather a demonstration of force than a real declaration of hostilities. The left wing members have no desire to destroy the government, and only vote against it when it is fairly sure of Conservative or Liberal support. But the most significant fact about the situation is that the government does not venture to resist their extravagant demands as wrong, but merely as inequitable—because Labor lacks a majority in the House of Commons.
What, then, would be the influence of the extremists in a future Parliament where Labor might have an independent majority and could not excuse its moderation on the ground that it is powerless to do more? There is no obvious danger that these irreconcilables may compel the party to move toward the left. There is, however, another possibility. The Labor Government, sobered by power and realizing that the mass of the country do not favor extreme courses, may turn to the opposition for help against its own "wild men."

That Body Of Yours

By James W. Barica, M.D.

NOISE

There was a time when the inhabitants of a large city liked to talk about the noise and bustle of their streets.
That day has passed and now the arguments are as to which of the large cities—London, New York, Paris, or Berlin is the least noisy. And physicians in these cities are now taking an active part in trying to get rid of the various avoidable noises.

It is not just the fact that noise annoys you, but that it can have a serious effect upon your health, is what is stimulating these physicians to do all that is possible in suppressing it.
The Chamber of Physicians of Berlin has drawn up and adopted a number of resolutions in which they embody all the various kinds of noise, and noise of factories, noise of street, and noise of home. They state in part that "Factory noises may be injurious to the workmen themselves or to the neighbours living in the vicinity."
The traffic employed, passengers, and persons living near the traffic home or dwelling noise may have injurious effect on the occupants of the dwelling and on the neighbours!

Now something is bound to be done about noise when it comes to a matter of money and damages, because this will bring about a lessening of the noise quicker than anything else.

Damage claims against factories against street railways or bus lines, or even dwelling houses, because of noise are now an everyday occurrence not because they "annoy," but because they injure the health.

It isn't only the loudness of the noise nor how long it lasts, but the other factors are (a) is one forced to hear it? (b) Does it interrupt work or rest? (c) Does the fear of the repeating of the noise affect the nervous system?

Now what actually happens or can happen to that body of yours from the effect of noise?

In even normal healthy persons it may cause, an increased pulse rate, irregularity and palpitation of the heart, headache, excitability, ear noises, depression of spirits, and the tendency that noise causes to your body and mind brings on fatigue much sooner.

So you'll agree it is now up to us all to do what we can to prevent noise.

SUGGESTS FIVE YEAR TERM IN THE HOUSE

London, Ont. (By Canadian Press)—
It is time that the length of term of the Ontario House was made five years instead of four years, says the London Free Press editorially. The term of office for the Dominion is five years, and for all western provinces have the same period. The eastern provinces alone continue a four-year period.

Christmas Cakes

STILL REMEMBER 'GLORIOUS DEAD'

Flame of Patriotism and Remembrance Still Burns Brightly.

Quebec, Que. (By Canadian Press)—
Under the name of "Dorothy Gilbert," a young Quebec newspaper woman writes from London to the Chronicle-Telegraph the following moving account of Armistice Day—
"Patriotic Remembrance, what are they worth after 11 years of peace?"
I asked myself. The years have rolled by one by one, and I am forgetting the dead are but memories—men who died for an ideal. "Fools!" say one. "Heroes!" exclaim others. But it matters not, fools or heroes, their end is the same and after 11 years they must appear as dim shadows.

And London, the huge, the world metropolis pre-eminently a city of living, what time has she to think of the dead? Alas, how little I knew my London!

On the eve of Armistice Day I set out for a quiet stroll and unconsciously turned my steps towards Westminster.
It was evening; a light fog mingled with the darkness, and as I approached the House of Commons, Big Ben boomed the hour of seven. The regular Sunday evening hush had descended on the city and my thoughts were far away. It was only when I had reached Westminster Abbey that I became conscious of my surroundings. People were standing in groups near the huge doorways, and some little children, curious, I approached and looked through the railings. The whole ground was red—the redness broken by little realized crosses. It watched, and at last planning peoples—one for every loved one who had fallen on the battlefields of France. Slowly they walked around each little cross; an old man with poor rheumatic knees stopped painfully to place his red token of Remembrance; a tall officer of the Guards, who, when he encountered my inquisitive eyes breathed in a husky whisper "For a Pal!" Smart, beautifully dressed women and girls; sad-faced mothers with gnarled hands, tiny tots who laughed with glee at the sight of the scarlet flowers which planted his poppy, and little by little the side of the Abbey was flame-colored, a miniature Flanders Field hidden in the shadow of the mausoleum of Kings.

From there I turned to Whitehall, and so reached the "Glorious Dead."
The "Glorious Dead" is a long, low and at the side of the "Glorious Dead" Empire. Four stalwart policemen guarded the flowers banded high against the monument. Never had I seen such magnificent wreaths! Roses, carnations and autumn flowers and leaves had been brought into beautiful forms, real triumphs of the florists' art! There were some too, that looked as if they owed their design to humbler and less skilful hands. A small bouquet of poor chrysanthemums, lying bravely among a pile of roses, caught my eye.
I lifted the card—a rather crumpled card, written in a laboured, uneducated hand—

historic lineages, Colonel Donald Cameron was commanding officer of the Cameron Highlanders, composed principally of members of his clan, with whom he served in South Africa and in France.

The Cameron Highlanders were raised in the reign of George II, who promised that they should never be drafted into any other regiment. After the Battle of Waterloo the War Department tried to draft the Cameron Highlanders into another regiment but Sir Allen Cameron told the Regent: "You may tell your royal father that he may order the regiment to hell, and I will ride at the head of it, but he dare not draft us." And the Cameron Highlanders have never been drafted.

The present Colonel Cameron is the 25th chieftain of the clan. The family possesses estates extending over 125,000 acres.

How many daddies' and granddaddies and sons were commemorated in that pile of flowers? And then, as I stood musing, a woman came timidly up, she looked young, and had that drawn expression and sharp features peculiar to the poor of London. For a moment she gazed at the magnificent flowers, then, turning from me, extracted some coins from her purse, and old woman was kneeling down; in a few seconds she returned with a tiny bunch of violets. Half-shy she placed them among the other tributes and then glancing at me with very bright eyes, vowed, "It was to 'ave been my 'usband, miss."

So Remembrance was not just a word after all; the dead were not shadows, and London was not too busy to be grateful.

On the morrow the whole nation paid official tribute to the gift of peace.
And with the aid of poppy and cotton, proclaimed that they had not died in vain. All London turned out and with wonderful reverence rendered the thousands of poppies with bowed heads, I was thrilled and excited. On the stroke of 11 the whole city was wrapped in the silence of the dead;
having no place to rest, flattered wearily over the motionless crowds.
During two minutes the prayers of a nation ascended on high, while in the silence I thought of the paper poppies lying in the shadow of Westminster Abbey, and the poor drooping chrysanthemums with the crumpled card, and the tiny bunch of violets—and a girl's bright eyes.

"To the Glorious Dead!"
And I knew at last that the flame of Patriotism and Remembrance burns as brightly as ever.

Marriage.

London, Eng. (By Canadian Press)—
The engagement is announced of Miss violet Cameron, elder daughter of Col-

Lady Hermione Cameron, and Mr. John Stewart of Ardvorlich, Perth. Both Miss Cameron and Mr. Stewart are

LAUREL-HARDY COMEDY
FOX NEWS

NO EPIDEMIC HERE

Although many people of Bellevue and vicinity are suffering from colds, there is very little evidence of an epidemic of influenza here, according to Dr. Cronk, Medical Health Officer for Bellevue. Dr. Cronk informed the intelligencer today that what little sickness there was in the city was not to be compared to the epidemic of last year.

Y'S MEN'S DANCE

The Y's Men's Club members are holding their Ball tonight at Johnston's Academy, and invitations have been sent to most of the younger set in the city. The ballroom has been decorated specially for the occasion, and along with special dance numbers and novelties, this should be one of the feature events of the season. Broads' Serenaders will supply the music.

MINOR ACCIDENT

An accident occurred yesterday about five o'clock in the afternoon on the Foxboro Highway just north of the city when cars driven by W. J. Dettor, R. R. A. Stirling and H. Seelye, of Sprinkbrook, sideswiped. Mrs. Dettor was the only one to receive any injuries, she having her arm cut by flying glass, but not seriously. Both cars were badly damaged, but damages were settled amicably. H. T. O. Frink investigated.

SAFE WAS REMOVED

Interested spectators lined the sidewalk on Front St. today as a gang of men removed the steel safe which has been in use in the Bank of Commerce since it was built. Owing to the alarm and enlargement of the present Bank of Commerce Building, a newer and larger safe will have to be built, and the old one, a work of art in itself, had to make way for the new.

AGAIN REMANDED

Gordon Calvert, of Puller, who was arrested on charges of robbery while armed, breaking, entering and theft, and escaping from lawful custody, was remanded in custody today until Thursday morning when he will appear before Magistrate Mikel to stand trial. Provincial Constables Hill and Gray were instrumental in apprehending the youth at the time of his first arrest, and Officers H. C. Palmer and Sylvester effected the second arrest.

FAILED TO APPEAR

William Newell, of Oshawa, charged with a breach of the Liquor Control Act, failed to appear in court when his name was called today and a warrant for his arrest was immediately sworn out. Newell appeared before Magistrate Mikel on Nov. 16th and had his case enlarged until today but although his name was called three times he did not put in an appearance.

BAND AT RINK TONIGHT

The Arena Directors announced today that there would be a Band at the rink tonight for skating and a large turn-out is expected. The loud speaker which was installed by Bonte's Radio Den has been adjusted, and the music is much better now than on Saturday night. It will be tried out between bands tonight and on Saturday night will be used for the next skating night. This loud speaking equipment is exactly the same as installed in Toronto Arena, Fort Erie, Niagara Falls, Hamilton, Collingwood, Creemore and Meaford, and will doubtless give every satisfaction.

The convention then adjourned for the luncheon hour. At one-thirty this afternoon the Convention was re-opened Mayor Harry Greenleaf addressing the Cheese-makers and welcoming them to Bellevue. He paid tribute to the work of the Association in glowing terms. "Co-ordination was the only means of attaining the necessary objective," he said.

The response to the address of welcome was given by Mr. J. N. West, President of the Stirling Association. Mr. W. E. Brennan, President of the Association, then delivered his address to the gathering, which was as follows:—

"As we assemble to close the second year of our Association activities, it must be a source of much pleasure to realize that our Association has strengthened during the most trying season that makers can recall. The excellent results attending our efforts in 1929 gave us every reason to recognize and a confidence in his ability which added strength to defend his good reputation throughout a season of adverse weather conditions, low ore production and lower prices for our product. These conditions were without a doubt the principal cause for the production of a raw material which forced every maker to bring into play every last bit of his ability to produce an article which would enable him to retain his own good name and that of this Association." Mr. Brennan stated.

Continuing he said, "We realize that our record is lower than 1928 but we may all congratulate ourselves on having an Association which has been largely instrumental in holding our record to a slight loss. I firmly believe, along with many others, that had no cheese-makers Association existed last year, our record in 1929 would have been one which we would not refer to with pride and satisfaction. The fact that this Association has been able to produce a record which has given all makers an experience in one year which ordinarily would not have been obtained in the space of many years." I do not feel at all optimistic when I predict that given a season in 1930 of fairly good working conditions, the makers of Central Ontario will eclipse all records for a high percentage of special and first grade cheese.

I want to remind all members and producers that our aims and objects will continue to embrace the best interests of makers, producers, and others interested in this industry. For the first time in history cheese-makers have been in a position to defend their own interests. We were called into action on the question of Sunday cheesemaking and successfully defended that privilege. By co-operation with Mr. Barr and the Ontario Dept. of Agriculture we have assisted in eliminating many undesirable and unqualified makers.

We petitioned the Ontario Dept. of Agriculture to appoint a new chief instructor to fill a vacancy created by the retirement of Mr. Puhov. Our request was not granted, and this makes me feel that it has worked an injury to the instructional staff and to makers.

"I am of the opinion that this Association should have authority to regulate the granting of permits and certificates. A board of examiners appointed by the makers would certainly be in a position to judge fairly, by knowing the parties and circumstances, and by being outside the pale of political or other harmful influences. All will agree that the makers themselves would be jealous to protect their own reputations and interests. This would also relieve the Department of Agriculture of a responsibility which brings them harsh criticism," said Mr. Brennan.

Probably one of the most acute problems facing this industry is the action of a few unscrupulous cheese companies and factory owners who hire makers at less than a fair living wage, thereby lowering the morale of all makers, having a tendency to force out men of high ability and leaving the poorly paid, partially qualified, makers to keep up the record of high quality which has already

JARVIS-TWINING

On Monday, December 9th, at the Tabernacle United Church, a quiet wedding took place when Miss Charlotte Twining, of Bellevue, was united in marriage to Mr. Morgan Frank Jarvis, of Toronto. Rev. A. E. McCutcheon officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis will reside in Toronto.

CHEERTSY VICAR BREAKS THE LAW

London, Eng.—(CP).—Marriages in England are required by law to be solemnized between the hours of 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. The Vicar of Chertsey, the Rev. E. Leachman, confesses that he inadvertently broke the law recently by celebrating a marriage after 3 o'clock. He consoles himself, however, with the reflection that his transgression happened when "summatime" was being observed, and that the marriage therefore took place within the specified hours, according to Greenwich time, which was the only reckoning in Queen Victoria's reign, when this statute governing the matter was passed.

In any event, a happy couple need be under no apprehensions that their marriage is not valid. The irregularity renders the year none liable to penalties for felony, which used to run as high as a sentence of transportation but are now limited to penal servitude. The law requiring marriages to be celebrated after 3 o'clock in the morning and 3 in the afternoon was instituted on account of the number of abuses which had crept up in regard to the celebration of marriage. The provision aimed more particularly at making the time of the marriage convenient for any possible objector to be present.

turned to our producers hundreds of thousands of dollars. Action of this nature not only affects the principal in the case but also many companies and makers in the surrounding districts.

We have consistently tried to avoid becoming known as a "union" and I want to say that if that condition ever becomes a realization it will only be because we are forced into it by cases as described.

I feel that the makers are taxed too heavy when besides supporting entire by their own Assn., they are required to pay toward the support of the Eastern Dairyman's Assn. If they want to compete for prizes which are donations, the cash prizes being less than the cost of the government grant to one fifth of the producers, that that Association it seems more unfair when we realize our own Association receives no grant whatever.

I appeal to all makers to assist this organization by their advice and attendance at meetings and convention. No Association ever received more advisory assistance and encouragement from dairy officials and dairy associations. If a maker will not endeavor to better his own situation he should not expect his brother makers to do that for him without recognition. I exhort all makers to do their own share, to elect officers, who by their executive ability direct action in the best interests of all and finally give them the support they deserve and require.

I thank the directors, members and all others who have by their efforts made this Association one which we may all refer to with pride, respect and appreciation.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

MRS. S. SIMONS

Mrs. Sophronia Simons died in Buffalo, N.Y., on Saturday. The remains were brought to Bellevue yesterday afternoon and were interred in the family plot, Bellevue Cemetery, Rev. A. E. McCutcheon officiating at the graveside ceremony. Two sons accompanied the body here, Mr. G. S. Simons of Buffalo, and Mrs. Ross Simons, of Buffalo, N.Y.

BENJAMIN ACKERMAN
The remains of Benjamin Ackerman, aged Canadian resident, were laid to rest in Albany Cemetery yesterday afternoon.

Tribute was paid to the memory of the deceased at the service held in his home in Canbyville, by Rev. Merrick, at two o'clock, following which the funeral procession went to Elmwood Cemetery where the last choques were read at three o'clock. Many attended the burial ritual. Bearers were Messrs. B. W. Cole, T. Smith, A. Holgate, W. Jones, B. Reddel and J. Bush.

JOSHUA LANG

Last tributes were paid to the late Joshua Lang, one of Bellevue's best known citizens, yesterday afternoon.

Service by Rev. L. S. Wright, pastor of Holloway Street Church, was conducted in the home of the deceased, 49 Dunbar Street. The funeral cortege then proceeded to Holloway Street Church for service at two-thirty. Many were in attendance at the church. After the church service the funeral procession went to the Bellevue Cemetery where the burial took place.

The services were under the auspices of the I.O.O.F., Bro. Harry Bannister, N.G. and Bro. George Kerr, Chaplain, having charge of the service. Many brethren and close friends were present and beautiful floral offerings bore testimony to the memory of the late Mr. Lang.

Ballbearers were Messrs. Harry Bannister, Charles Frost, George S. Kerr, John A. Coon, Robert W. Adams and Thos. Walters, who were all members of the I. O. O. F.

DOCTORS SHOW QUICK WAY TO END COLDS

Many Here Helped by Pleasant Hospital Method Doctors Advise For Home Use

More and more Bellevue people like Edward B. Russell, are finding how quickly colds may be ended by a pleasant hospital method which doctors advise for home use.

The sudden change in weather recently caused Mr. Russell to catch a severe cold. He neglected to do anything about it until congestion started spreading so fast that he became alarmed.

Acting on the advice of his doctor, Mr. Russell then started taking double doses of Ayer's Pectoral, a hospital certified compound of wild cherry, tri-pin hydrate, etc., which physicians have named as the best of different widely known methods tested for hard cold, coughs and chest cold.

Relief began quickly, the doctor reports. Within a few hours after the first dose of Ayer's Pectoral, congestion had cleared up rapidly. That night he slept comfortably and in just a day or so examination showed that all trace of the cold was gone. Note: See other cases reported daily in this paper—all certified by the attending physician.

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

Golden Fruit Cake

Cut into small pieces enough green cherries to make 3-4 cupful and leave overnight to drain. Leave overnight in 1/2 cupful of orange juice; 1/2 pound of light colored seedless raisins chopped coarsely, 1/2 pound of candied cherries and candied pineapple and 1/4 pound citron, shredded. In the morning chop coarsely 1/2 pound of blanched almonds and mix with 1 cupful of shredded coconut and 2 ounces of rose water. Cream 2 cupfuls of butter, then add gradually, creaming the while 2 cupfuls of sugar. Add 1 teaspoonful of almond extract, the yolks of 8 eggs, well beaten, and the nut mixture. Sift 4 cupfuls of flour twice and add it to the batter alternating with 1/2 cupful of orange juice. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and add the fruit last. Pour the batter into well-greased pans lined with paper. Steam large cakes two hours, then bake two hours longer in a very slow oven—275 degrees. Small cakes require steaming about one hour and baking half an hour.

Fruit cake batter is to hold the fruit together, hence no baking powder is used in such recipes. Fruit cakes should be cooled at least 12 hours before being packed away to ripen, then wrap each cake in a cloth and leave it in a cool place, preferably in a covered crock. A sound apple in the jar lends just enough moisture for ripening the cake.

Ising for Fruit Cake

Beat slightly the whites of 2 eggs, add 1/2 teaspoonful of cold water and 1/2 teaspoonful of lemon juice, then a little at a time, 1 1/2 cupfuls of confectioner's sugar that has been sifted twice. Beat the mixture vigorously for 12 minutes for a very nice lining. If by that time it has not begun to stiffen, add more sugar and continue beating until it is thick and smooth, when it is ready for spreading.

SOME HELPFUL HINTS FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

Double blankets are much easier to handle, both in laundering and bed-making if cut apart and bound separately. They are nice, too, on a warmer night when one may be removed if they prove too warm. The next time you wash your blankets cut them apart first and bind. You will enjoy them more.

Simmer the pulp of two pounds of grapes till tender, then press through a colander or sieve to eliminate seeds. To this sifted mass add the skins and cook till these are tender before stirring in one pound of sugar. Cook till thick, turn into sterilized jars, and seal.

Pails used for garden work garbage or other rubbish purposes need not be thrown away when they spring a leak. If you putty the holes thoroughly and then paint over it inside and out, you will find it does nicely.

Place candles in the refrigerators for a couple of days before using them to make them last longer and not drip.

VISIT THE LAND OF SUNSHINE

Some people travel extensively—Ocean cruises to far countries, Europe, etc. Why not spend a few months this winter in California—the land of sunshine and play, where climatic conditions are unexcelled the year round? A fascinating country of much charm, mountain scenery of great grandeur, colorful deserts, splendid cities and beautiful beaches where bathing is the universal pastime. Golf, tennis and polo are also very popular while yachting, fishing and hunting can be enjoyed to the full—Dancing in the warm moonlit nights for those who choose.

When visiting California travel one or both ways via the Canadian Rockies and stopover at Vancouver and Victoria. Superb hotels, fine golf courses and magnificent scenery enroute make this well worthwhile.

Full information, literature, etc., will be gladly supplied by any Canadian Pacific agent.

DECORATIONS FOR THE CHRISTMAS TREE

Illuminated outdoor Christmas trees may be made to speak a cheery holiday message by placing an illuminated motto upon them.

These illuminated mottos may be made in the lantern style. Just as the colored paper lantern made upon a frame work and hung over an electric globe permits the cut design to become illuminated, so a large box with a cut motto design may hold an electric globe and permit the motto to stand forth illuminated.

Corrugated paper boxes can be secured at the grocery stores and a lantern can be made more quickly and easily by using one of these than by constructing a framework of wood. Leave the front side of the box open for the design and let the other sides and ends be closed. Over the open side tack the motto design.

As these mottos are to hang out of doors and may be subject to rain or snow, the design which is tacked on should be of a material which will not be spoiled by the moisture. Black cloth is suitable for the background of the motto. Cut the letters out from this. Then the light will shine through the cut letter spaces, making the motto stand out clearly. Colored cloth of a pastel shade should be placed over the cut design. If the colored cloth is sewed on the sewing machine to the black cloth foundation around the outline of the motto, lettering, it will make the face of the lantern strong enough to withstand a few days of wet weather.

One electric globe of 40 watts will be sufficient for a box. When cutting the hole and suspending the globe in the box, place the globe so that it will hang without touching the box at any point, to prevent any possibility of the paper or cloth catching fire. The most secure way to fasten the box on the tree is to nail it to the trunk. Before the black cloth face is tacked on the box, nail a board lengthwise on the back of the box so that the board will extend a few inches above and below the box. When the lantern is completed, nail the box to the trunk of the tree by means of this board at both the top and bottom of the board, or if driving nails into the tree, is objected to, rope the board to the tree.

Who is Your Skinny Friend, Ethel?

Tell him to take McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets for a couple of months and get enough good healthy flesh on his bones to look like a real man.

Tell him, it's the only way to take those grave-like hollows from his cheeks and neck.

Tell him that thousands of thin, puny, peaked, scrawny men all over America have improved this physical health and appearance and bless the day they first heard of these wonderful sugar coated tablets so full of weight producing and health building essentials.

Ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets, Doyle's Drug Store and every druggist sells them—60 tablets—60 cents—economy size $1.00. Almost any thin man or woman can put on five pounds of healthy flesh in 30 days or your money will be refunded.

One woman put on 15 pounds in six weeks. Children grow robust and strong, feeble old people feel younger in a few weeks.

Ann Patterson was also one of a large family of nine and was the daughter of parents who lived to the ages of 73 and 75, father and mother.

XMAS IS SPENT IN WEST INDIES

Governor-General and Lady Willington to Return in January.

Vancouver, B.C. (By Canadian Press)—British Columbia is finding the British West Indies one of her most profitable export markets. During the past three years a business of more than $3,500,000 has been developed with the islands by exporters and shippers from Vancouver and this trade is rapidly expanding.

This business is a direct result of the steamship service that has been in operation through the Panama Canal between British Columbia and the chief ports of the British West Indies. Shipments going from Vancouver include such items as flour, oats, box shooks, potatoes, canned milk, newspapers, paper boxes and bags, rope, biscuits, canned fish, lumber, shingles, roofing paper and brushes.

As a result of the comparatively cheap water haul British Columbia has been able to compete on favourable terms with port on the Atlantic seaboard in catering to this British West Indian trade.

BRAVE LADY DOCTOR WORKED IN COLLIERY

London, Eng. — (CP). — The bravery of a woman doctor was acknowledged with a burst of cheering from the crowded court at enquiry into an explosion at Cadzow Colliery, Hamilton, when three men lost their lives. Doctor Nora Steele, who practices in the vicinity of the colliery was summoned as soon as the explosion had occurred. She at once descended the mine, and worked her hardest in the dangerous surroundings to restore life to three men. At the enquiry the agent for the relatives asked permission publicly to thank Dr. Steele for her brave attempt. There followed a hearty burst of applause from the court. Dr. Steele, who had just finished her evidence, was obviously embarrassed, and stepped down hastily from the witness stand.

Thirteen members of the Basmach tribe were executed by shooting yesterday as bandits and murderers. "GOLD DIGGERS OF BROADWAY" ARRIVE

Brilliant Caste In Latest All Colored Singing and Dancing Extravaganza

Song Hits Galore Feature Brilliant New Picture

The '20ers versus the '40ers!

The bearded miners of the California gold rush days of 1849 were mere pikers compared to the finely feathered feminine Broadway gold diggers of 1929 with their charms, their wiles and their ability to get pay dirt from the most forbidding prospects, brought forth in "Gold Diggers of Broadway." Warner Bros. and Vitaphone 100% natural color, singing, talking, dancing picture in technicolor, which comes to the Belle Theatre tomorrow.

A glittering and spectacular comedy of Broadway's chorus girls on and off stage, the gold diggers in the picture, impersonate miners of both periods. On the stage, in which they appear in an elaborate "show within a show," the lovely ladies appear as Forty-miners in the attire of gold rush days, singing and dancing to tune of "The Song of the Gold Diggers," one of the many song hits written by Al Dubin and Joe Burke, celebrated Tin Pan Alley writers. After theatre hours they became real gold diggers and pursue their digging activities, to the discomfiture of big butter and egg men, college boys and millionaires' sons.

The ways in which they "dig" their boy friends for shiny nuggets form many of the comedy situations in this brilliant extravaganza which was one of Belasco's great stage successes.

Nancy Welford, Winnie Lightner, Ann Pennington, Lilyan Tashman, Gertrude Short and Helen Foster play chorus girls in "Gold Diggers of Broadway," while other principals in the cast are Conway Tearle, William B. Keefe, Nick Lucas, Armand Kaliz, Lee Moran and Albert Gran. There is a beauty chorus of 100.

Robert Lord did the adaptation of the Avery Hopwood play; Larry Ceballos the stage presentation, and direction was in charge of Roy Del Ruth.

OLD LIGHTHOUSE FINDS LOCATION

Silent Sentinel, Built in '61
Commemorates Pioneer Shipping.

Toronto, Ont. (By The Canadian Press)—An interesting old Toronto landmark, the old Red Lighthouse, has found a permanent location on Fleet Street near the site of the approach of the old Western Channel through which it guided thousands of ships in the early days of Toronto Harbor. It will serve to commemorate the days of pioneer shipping. Owing to reclamation and development operations it now stands far back from the lake front.

The lighthouse is one of the oldest historical landmarks on Toronto harbor, built in 1861. It has, during its 50 years of active operation, guided over 300,000 vessels of all kinds into an out of Toronto harbour.

There is a wealth of interest attached to this old and silent sentinel. If it could speak surely it could relate some thrilling tales of shipwreck, loss of life and heroic rescue. Of the wreck of the steamer Queen City in 1855, and of the schooner Royal Tar in 1856, both of which, in their efforts to reach the safety of the harbor during a heavy gale, ran aground in the channel at the entrance to the harbor, and their old hulls remained a menace to mariners for some years.

How the rival steamers Turbina and Macauba crashed together opposite Queen's Wharf in August, 1906, when, of four vessels seeking shelter in the harbor, only one, the schooner Van Straubenzee, succeeded in navigating the Western Entrance.

Of the other three, how the steam barge Resolute, in command of then-famous "Cap" Sullivan, founded a short distance west of Queen's Wharf, while her consort, the P. B. Locke, and the three-masted schooner St. Louis, realizing that the shallowness of the Western entrance made it impossible for them to reach the harbor, anchored, intending to ride out the storm, only to find that their anchors were dragging, and that they were slowly but surely drifting on to a lee shore.

How life belts were served out on board the Resolute, and the two lifeboats launched, one of which capized with the loss of five lives. How "Cap" Sullivan, clinging to the canvass top of a cabin was driven through the channel to the Northern Elevator Wharf, where he was rescued by the high watchman.

How at midnight the life-boat, in tow of the tug Maggie R. Mitchell, made two trips and rescued the crews of P. B. Locke and St. Louis. These are but a few of the many tales the old Red Lighthouse could tell. Three or four masted schooners, square-rigged barques, paddle-wheel steamers and propellers, wooden ships, composite ships, steel ships, and even trucks like Knapp's roller boat, passed by the lighthouse during the 50 odd years it was in service.

Today the old Western Channel is filled in and buried. Fleet Street and the Boulevard Drive have taken its place as an artery of traffic, and the old Red Lighthouse, which in days gone by guided a yearly average of 5-713 vessels into and out of Toronto Harbour, now witnesses a daily procession of motor vehicles numbering from 10 to 12 thousand, passing east and west along which promises to be the greatest industrial highway in the Dominion of Canada.

League for the 1929-30 season 405 down last evening in the Y.M.C.A.
Approximately twenty teams which entered in the four groups which will again comprise the league. Last year there were eighteen teams and altogether one hundred and seventy eighty boys playing; the league this winter promises to see both more teams and more players—evidence of the growing interest in winter sports and in the popularity of the Ki-Y League. As in previous years, the Kiwanis Club and its officials of the Y. M. C. A. are co-operating in promoting the league and another successful season seems assured.

New Executives
At the meeting last evening, Mr.
Dan O'Donohue of the Kiwanis Club League for this season. Mr. Bruce Bottom, another Kiwanian, was chosen Vice-President; Mr. Joe Shortt, of the Y.M.C.A. Secretary; and Mr. Ralph Morden, Assistant Secretary. Section chairman for the four different groups include Reg. Moncrief, Ed. Shapiro Russell Smith and Dave Martin.

It is hoped to be able to play the Junior and Juvenile group games at the Arena. Bantam and Midget games will be played as before on the free rinks and at Simpson's. The executives of the league will make immediate arrangements for ice surfaces available, and the schedule drawn up within the next few days. With hockey weather available earlier than usual this year the league should be well under way before Christmas.

WOMAN'S DREAM CAUSES PROBE

Body of Yermouth Man Is Found in Maine Tree-Trunk.

Yarmouth, N. S.—A woman's dream has solved the mystery which surrounded the disappearance more than a year ago of Thomas Comeau, brother of Mrs. Joseph Gaudet, wife of the assistant chief of police in this town.
Comeau's body had been located in the trunk of a tree in a Maine wilderness near Skowhegan, where he had been working as a lumberman, and authorities are now seeking further details as to the manner in which he reached his death, according to the story which has reached here.

On the edge of these woods lived
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reynolds, her father, Mrs. Comeau and her husband. On April 19, 1928, Comeau went fishing with Frank Reynolds and never returned. Reynolds stated, as a reason for Comeau's non-return, that he had gone to Eustis and shortly after Reynolds failed in health, was examined and finally committed to the Bangor insane asylum. A few days later Raymond Ryan of Starks, Maine, was visiting the Reynolds family and inquired as to the health of Comeau. To Ryan, Mrs. Reynolds' hope twice that number have been disclosed the fact that Comeau had never returned, neither had he been heard from and that she had had the most alarming vision one night about midnight in which she saw the shadowy form of Comeau and heard him cry: "He's killing me. He's killing me!" This apparition has been constantly in the mind of Mrs. Reynolds but she feared to relate her suspicion.

Ryan immediately went to Deputy Sheriff George Walker, North Anson, recounted what Mrs. Reynolds had told him and the wheels of justice began to turn. A check-up of the circumstances of Comeau's disappearance led to another man being implicated and the police interviewed Ar-drew Edgar, confined for a minor crime in the Androsoggin jail. Edgar became more and more nervous when questioned concerning the disappearance of Comeau and finally admitted that he knew the woodsmen was dead.
His version of the affair was that Reynolds killed Comeau for the $200 Comeau had saved from his earnings as lumberman in the Starks woods. He agreed to lead the authorities to the dead tree stump in which the body of Reynolds' victim had been hidden and a posse of deputies immediately left for the scene. All statements of Edgar proved correct for the skeleton of a body, believed to be that of Comeau, was found in the decayed trunk of a huge tree, completely hidden by a growth of leaves and branches. The theory of the police is that Reynolds sneaked up behind Comeau and felled him with a blow of his axe.

Frequently he builds his subterranean streets and highways under man's automobile roads, and inevitably a cave-in occurs, leaving a dangerous
"chuck" hole in which to break car wheels and springs. Ridding the farms of these pests has proven a problem not alone in Arizona, but in other western states as well. The biological survey, however, has made marked success both with poison and with spring traps and is gradually getting the upper hand.

FINE PRIZE FOR CITY'S BOWLERS

W. E. Rowsome Donates Splendid Trophy For Winners of Series

Fans are already talking about the double-header at the Belleville Arena Wednesday night and indications point to a big crowd. The donation of a splendid cup by Mr. W. E. Rowsome will stimulate interest in hockey among the district teams and it is hoped to make the series an annual one. As soon as a team is beaten the club is automatically eliminated from further competition. A fast set of games are promised tomorrow night.

In the first tilt the Belleville Maximites will take on the fast-travelling Stirling team of the Trent Valley Hockey League. The Maximites are champions of the Bay of Quinte League and are holders of the Bert Cann trophy, while the Stirling team captured the honour in the Trent Valley League for the last two seasons and have but to trounce the others to gain permanent possession of the trophy in 1930.

The Maximites had a fast work-out at the arena last night and fifteen players turned out. Some smart material was unearthed out of the timber that put in an appearance. Manager Lorne Cook will have little difficulty in choosing a first-rate team to meet the northerners. Sam Currie and Donahue were in the nets while Jack Arnott and "Hot" Gibson were on the defence. The Canning brothers, Jack and Henry, were going great guns on the forward line and will be sure starters, while some of the other candidates created a fine impression. Harold Buck, who has been playing ball for DeLeon will line up with the yellow shirts. Buck has all the earmarks of a smart hockey player. Two other kids who were stepping nicely last night were Burns and Mott of the Collegiate team. These lads are young and lined up well with the rest of the forward line. Al Wardhaugh is still the same little shifty player and was wearing his very round the legs in great style. Murray Green will alternate on the defence. This outfit should be strong enough to give Stirling a real battle. Others who are lined up well were Johnny Baker and Bert Houston. The Maximites will have a stronger team than last year. Habs and Bill Canning were unable to get out owing to illness.

"Billy" Whitty is an astute hockey mentor and he may spring some surprises when the red and whites take to the ice Wednesday night. He has captured the honours for the last two years and with such players as young Morton in goal, Parnel and Davis of the Trenton Juniors, Wallace, Harry Ingram and Ackerly, the Maximites will have their hands full. The Stirling team will likely bring a large band of recruits with them for the struggle.

Trenton's Chances Good

The second game of the big bargain night affair will see the Trenton and Campbellford teams mix it. Campbellford are reputed to have the best team in years and according to reports from the north country they will be the team to beat for the Trenton Valley League. Cowie, Runion, Whitton and a number of other fast players will be here with the team from the north. It is also stated that a fast centre player from Cobourg, who is tossed in his net with the Campbellford team and a splendid goal will no doubt result. Dave Terry over at the Trenton Grossete plant has most of last year's Trenton Juniors. He will have Steenberg in goal with Bowen and Hutchinson for defence. Eddie Allure, Shensel, Anderson and other players of repute will be with the visitors.

These games will serve to get the teams in shape for the season and were promoted by the Belleville Arena Company. The teams will take a small percentage of the gate while the remainder will go to the arena. Another double-header will be staged next Monday night with Norwood and Tweed and Pictou and the Y's Men's Club of Belleville mixed in the fray. The admission price is small and lovers of

The pre-season "Tournament" sponsored by the Belleville Arena Company gets under way tomorrow night, when Stirling and the Belleville Maximites and Campbellford and Trenton hook up. The teams which lose these games will be eliminated, so it is apt to be a battle right from the drop of the hat.

Stirling won the Trent Valley Hockey League last year, and the Maximites won the Bay of Quinte League, so it will be a battle of Champions as both teams are practically intact from last year.

The first game, that of the Stirling-Maximites, will start at seven thirty sharp, and fans should be on time or they will miss one of the best games of the season.

Immediately following this game, Dave Terry will trot out his Trenton team for their fixture with Campbellford. Little is known of the northern team, but most of their Interscholastic Championship team of a few days ago is still in the town, and they will field a strong team. Trenton have such old reliables as Rube Shensel, "Sun hockey will get a real treat by attending. Ken Colling and Rourke, of Pictou will probably handle tomorrow night's tussle.

"High" Anderson, and others, strengthened by Norm Johnson of the Juniors, Beall, and the Allure boys. They will be hard to beat.

Next Monday the other four teams entered will get into action, they being Norwood, Pictou, Y's Men of Belleville, and Tweed. On the following Wednesday the four winners will play another double header, and the week after that will see the surviving two teams battle it out for the splendid trophy donated by W. E. Rowsome of this city.

It should be a series well worth watching, and will likely be an annual affair.

"Gunner" Arnott, star center player for Preston for the past five years and before that the star of many a Belleville team, has announced his retirement from hockey.

The flashy center player who was one of the most colorful players in amateur hockey received several tempting offers to turn professional while at the height of his career, but refused them all. He is now in business in Preston, and says he will not don the "skates" again to play hockey. Although not a fast skater even when at his best, "Gunner" was a wonderful stick handler,

ISSUE CALL FOR

THE PROSPECTS

Maroons Held Stiff Work-Out Last Night—New Goalie Out

Eddie Thomas has issued his annual call for Junior O. H. A. material and the kids will step out tonight. It is expected that a couple of dozen youngsters will be seeking places and Manager Thomas is going to have his hands full to pick out the best of them. Three of last year's players remain eligible: "Jimmy" Bailey, "Al" Young, and "Dimp" McKinnon, the kid goalie. The defence positions will therefore be fortified but it will be necessary to re-build the forward line. About fifteen kids, graduates of the K-Y League, U.S. City League and the various school teams will be out for places. All have ambitions and they will be given every opportunity to show their worth tonight. It is also expected that one or two outside lads will put in an appearance. The fans will get a chance to look over the timber to carry on the splendid record which has been built and regularly scored more than his allotment of goals. He will be missed by the Preston Riverides.

Maximites held their first practice of the season last night at the new arena, and about fifteen players turned out. They promise to be one of the strongest teams to represent this city in any league. The Maroons were out at seven o'clock going through their grind, although they do not have a game until the 10th of January. They entertain Queen's here on that date.

Belleville's new arena is a credit to the city and to Eastern Ontario and the fans of that place, after en during the tumble-down shack games were played in for years, appreciate to the fullest the accommodation provided in the new arena.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

up by the local midgets in the last three years.

The Maroons went through another stiff work-out last night and some new players were in uniform as they took the eye of the rail-birds. Chief among these was Desseau, a little Frenchman, who is engaged at St. Michael's Academy here. Desseau, a goal-tender, was kicking and battling them out in super-fashion and the fans liked his style and he created a favorable impression. Jeffery was in the nets at the other end of the ring. Frank Goyer and Murray Green were on the defence and both boys are looking better at every practice. Goyer has years of experience behind him while Green has yet to play in his first Intermediate game. Bob Scott, the Canning boys, Buck Baker, Simpson and others were tearing around and Manager Thomas gave them all a close scrutiny. "Bub" Davis of Trenton is trying hard for a place. Norm Johnston was an absentee last night while "Daw" Whalen has yet to put in an appearance. Fans are hoping that Whalen will alter his decision to retire.

Manager Thomas may get a line on some other lads when the elimination series starts tomorrow night. There may be some green players in the ranks of the district teams whom he will line up.

OLD - TIMERS TO DISPORT SELVES

Hockey Game Between Rotary And Kiwanis Is Latest Move

Shades of Jack Markat "Whiny" Winchester and Harry Brown! but the old boys are at it. Yes Sir! The boys of the old brigade are going to play hockey. Real honest to gosh hockey too, and the fans are going to get a peep at some of the old hockey hummies within a few short weeks. The Arena Directors are planning a monster ice carnival within a few weeks and among the features to be included is a proposed hockey game between the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs. What! you say no hockey players there? Well you're going to get the surprise of your life!!!

We shouldn't divulge this bit of news although we're not bound to secrecy but some of them have already been on skates and are getting in shape for the struggle. One afternoon recently some of the aspirants for these teams had a work-out behind closed doors at the arena and one or two rail-birds who managed to get a peep have assured us that the old-timers have yet to lose the art of handling a hockey stick. Prominent players, leaders in the legal realm, well-known druggists, merchants and business men will step over the boards when the call is issued.

The Old Boys were at Ed Thomas' store last night choosing their sticks for the practice sessions. They shunned the type of shilleigh now in vogue and gave strict orders that, at least four inches should be cut off the handle of each. They scoffed at the style of hockey that is played now and have assured all and sundry that they will dish up some real sport for those who wish to see. Did you know that "Sandy" Burrows was one of the great goal-keepers to ever wear a Belleville uniform and did you also know that Dr. "Van" Blackie was one of the greatest defence players ever turned out at Queen's University? Did you know that Bryson Donnan cuts a mean figure on the blades and is one of the aware Eddie Thomas is one of the sweetest forwards in the ranks of the old brigade? Here's another choice morsel. "Charlie" Cameron, yes the same genial "Charlie" of the legal firm that bears his name was regarded as a fine hockey player in his college days. And that's not all!

"Jack" McKewen has agreed to supply the arena and handgrips for the big night and has ordered a new shipment of both.

That's the latest gossip from the arena and if the Directors go ahead with their plans for a big ice carnival with a Kiwanis-Rotary hockey game it will be the biggest treat of the year. Carnivals in Belleville were popular in former days and with the new arena all the facilities are offered for such an event. Let's have some more suggestions along this line.

EXPEDITION ENDS HISTORIC FLIGHT AROUND WORLD

Touched at Points Where Natives Still Have Stone-Age Culture.

Gloucester, Mass.—A thirty thousand mile expedition of scientific research for the Field Museum of Chicago ended when the auxiliary brigantine yacht Ilyria returned to this port. Her log book reads like a volume of high romance and adventure.

The Ilyria sailed from Boston last November, under command of Captain S. D. Brouillette, a native of Newfoundland. She carried a crew of 18 and a scientific staff of nine.

The scientific staff: Cornelius Crane, 34 years old, leader; Karl P. Schmidt, chief of scientific staff and herpetologist; Walter A. Weber, ornithologist and artist; F. C. Worder, Taxidermist; Dr. W. L. Moss, ship's doctor and anthropologist; Dr. A. W. Herre, ichthyologist and biologist; S. N. Shurtleff, motion picture photographer; M. N. Fairbank and C. R. Feary, general assistants.

Some of the high spots of the expedition, in brief, were as follows:

Haiti—During a visit of 8 days a collection of birds, bats and lizards was made. Mr. Schmidt also caught some little known snakes. A considerable series of fishes was collected by Dr. Herre.

Panama—The Ilyria was laid up at Panama for three weeks while repairs were made.

During this time the scientific staff made a visit to Barro Colorado Island in Gatun Lake and secured specimens and photographs of the following: two toed sloth, three-toed sloth, Derby's woolly opossum, manatee, armadillo, silky ant eater, crocodile, and many birds.

Cocos Island—A two day stop was made at this favorite hunting ground of seekers for buried pirate treasure. A collection of birds was made. Galapagos Island—A stop of 12 days was made and the following specimens collected: 2 Galapagos Giant land tortoises (rare, captured alive), 20 marine iguanas, many over 36 feet long; 4 land iguanas; 2 Galapagos Petrels, 5 large sea turtles, 2 flightless cormorants and many species of fish and birds.

Marquesas Islands—Between the Galapagos and Marquesas Islands, a distance of 300 miles, the Ilyria cruised 18 days without sighting land or another ship. Fish and birds were collected at the Marquesas.

Tahiti and Moorea—Fauna was scarce but beautiful specimens of fish, Fiji Islands—Dr. Moss secured some anthropologically valuable measurements of the skulls of representative natives, with blood samples. Fifty specimens of a curious long-tailed fruit bat were taken. New Hebrides—The natives are still very wild and warlike in many places and cannibalism is not extinct. Members of the expedition inspected a cannibal village never before visited by white men. They were accompanied by the English District officer, a Mr. Adam.

Solomon Islands—Rare birds and lizards were captured during a nine day stop. As natives of some of the islands were so warlike they were not visited.

New Britain—Stop made for fuel.

New Guinea—The heart of this enormous island is still unknown to white men because of difficulties of transportation and warlike natives. Forty days were spent here. Three members of the expedition, five over portions of the jungle in an airplane. With Fr. Kirschbaum, a Catholic missionary, acting as pilot, the Ilyria ascended the Sepik River, largest in New Guinea, a distance of 450 miles, farther than any vessel her size had gone before. The party then proceeded in small boats 35 miles, to a point never visited by white men except by the German expedition of 1912. The natives were found to be still in the stone age, undecided whether to run or fight. Presents banished their fears and no blood was shed. More than 600 specimens were obtained in New Guinea.

Celebes—An eight day yielded specimens of tailless apes, flying lizards, hornbills, wild bear, babirusa (pig deer) and dwarf buffalo.

Altogether, more than 1500 specimens of birds, 100 mammals, 2000 reptiles and amphibians and 10,000 specimens of fishes were obtained.

ANTIQUE DEALERS WELCOME TARIFF

A 50% Ad Valorem Duty
Levied on All
Antiques

Vancouver, B.C. (By Canadian Press.)—At least one class of Canadian business welcomes the United States tariff proposals, and that one is represented by the dealers in antiques.

Among the many clauses added to the proposed tariff is one which will levy a 50 per cent. ad valorem duty on antiques, regardless of age. At the present time pieces that date before A. D. 1800 have been admitted duty free. This departure is hailed with jubilation by antique dealers here, for they declare it affords protection to Canadians and also to their business standing.

This question of age of furniture has been a sore spot with dealers for some time. They may sell Chippendale chairs, guaranteeing the date of manufacture to have been in the eighteenth century, but a customs appraiser may have different ideas, and so the dealers' venality is questioned, and the United States resident sighs and pays the duty, believing that he has been "done" once again.

"Every year hundreds of orders are shipped from Vancouver to United States points. Furniture which is fairly modern or at least dates within the past 100 years, comes under the duty clause, anything older is imported as a rare piece and enters freed. That is as far as the local dealer is concerned.

Then enters the customs man, usually suspicious that the furniture is fake; that the "worm-holes" were part of the manufacturers' ruse and made with a drill. It is all part of the customs man's scheme to force the importer to pay duty, say the dealers.

Genuine antiques are becoming scarce as collectors take them off the market. One well-known dealer who

STILL WORKING ON FLYING SITE

Bayside W. M. S. Held Meeting At Home of Mrs. Geo. Bush

Bayside, Dec. 12.—(Special).—W. M. S. held their December meeting at the home of Mrs. Geo. Bush. Details will be furnished later.

The annual S. S. convention was held at Aiken's 3rd Convention of Sydney, November 26. Officers appointed were the same as last year. Teacher training, Rev. A. S. Doggett; temperance, Rev. E. B. Secumith; children's division, M. Lloyd; boys' division, Harry Reed; girls' division, Mrs. Frank Jeffery; young people, W. C. Morrow; adult, B. C. Miller; home department, George Sine; missionary, Mrs. W. J. Bush.

The delegates were: Miss Green, of Stirling; Miss Jeffery, Belleville; Miss Gay, Trenton; Miss Caldwell, Toronto; Miss Hunt, Bayside; Geo. Saylor, Trenton. Mr. H. K. Denyes addressed the meeting, his subject being "Men of Courage." W. K. Merrick, on "The Value of Religion to Youth." Rev. Mr. Isaac spoke also. The county president is Rev. A. S. Doggett; the secretary-treasurer is H. K. Denyes.

The Ladies Aid held a bazaar at Bayside school house. A good crowd attended and a nice sum was realized. Breen O'Connor of Deloro, was first prize on his oration, "Safety on the Highways." It would be a good thing if our provincial government read it and maybe build sidewalks, for children who have to go to school on the highway.

Another neighborhood dance was held at Riley's pavilion on Friday night. There was not as large a crowd and only half of the orchestra showed up.

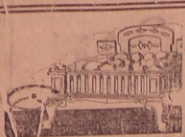

The two sales held here by Harry Hess and Percy Wink were both good ones. The stock was in good condition and fair prices were realized. Mr. Hess has moved to Trenton, but Mr. Myers will not move until spring.

Gordon Jeffery is home on the sick list.

R. Trumbull, of Trenton, had his garage burned last week.

In the airplane section many men and teams are busy in taking off a point of land on the shore, and filling in a marsh behind it. Two steam shovels are at work and several trucks. It was said there were 40 teams and 600 men last week. There are not so many now the ground is frozen.

At Centra United Church at a splendid entertainment, the popular Grand Street Orchestra, Trenton, assisted.

At Albany the Women's Institute put on a banquet for the boys who won the stock judging prize at the Royal Winter Fair. The teams were Frank Hoff, Sherman Black and Harold Munro. A large crowd was put to do the boys honor.

This winter nine companies will cut timber from the crown lands in Hastings, Peterboro, Haliburton and Muskoka. The timber is mostly hemlock, spruce and hardwood. There will be 21 camps and about 700 men. The excursions to the camps has already commenced.

War has been declared by Chinese samplers on members of the Chinese Nationalist party and according to police, Chinese "hatchet men" are being brought to Toronto to fight the Nationalists.

HORSE SUFFERED A BROKEN LFG

Minor Accidents on Streets Of Picton Injure
Two People

Picton, Dec. 12.—(Special).—While crossing Main Street from the barber shop of his son, Mr. Harry Bowers, Mr. James Bowers was struck by a truck belonging to the firm of H. S. Collier. Mr. Bowers had stepped from between parked cars directly in the path of the car. He suffered injuries to his leg which will confine him to his home for several days.

Mr. Isaac Vanmeer lost a horse as a result of an accident this week when a car ran into the team he was driving. One horse had its leg broken and had to be shot. This is the second horse that Mr. Vanmeer has lost as a result of figuring in accidents with motor cars. In spite of the slippery roads, no other serious accidents are reported, the majority of motorists evidently using caution.

Alcohol Conservatives have announced their annual meeting in the town hall, Cherry Valley, on Wednesday, December 18th.

Picton Conservatives will gather on Friday evening, Dec. 16th, for their annual meeting, in the Young Men's Conservative club rooms.

Warden W. H. Montgomery is entertaining tonight at the Royal Hotel at the annual warden's banquet. Among the guests will be the two judging teams from Prince Edward County which were successful at the Royal Winter Fair and Ottawa Winter Fair.

Mr. James Grimmo of Albert College spent the week-end in Picton, being one of the 100 boys' and girls' conference held there. Mrs. Mary Cowan, Cannifton, and Miss Robina Templeton, Belleville, also took part in the conference. Gordon Lapp, field secretary of the Boy Work Board, Toronto; Rev. Manson Doyle, Young People's secretary of the United Church, and Arthur Kerr, Tweed, were also leaders.

Prince Edward County Poultry Association has decided on the dates, Jan. 21, 22 and 23, as those on which to hold their annual poultry show. Prof. Graham, Guelph, will be asked to act as judge. Golden pheasants will be exhibited and there will be other attractions. Picton's show is one of the largest and best in the province. Mr. C. G. Rutter, Picton, is secretary.

Just For The Feminine Reader

A FAREWELL TO LEGS

(From January Cosmopolitan)

I am all confused. I thought Cosmopolitan was doing a good deed when we published, last month, an article by Dr. Draper advocating that men dress as sensibly as women. Dr. Draper said we were a lot of sheep. We dressed uncomfortably because it was the fashion to dress that way; women had much more courage in dress, and because of that courage they were being comfortable and getting to be so vigorous and healthy that before long men must take a back seat.

To and behold! Just about that time the Paris dressmakers decreed that women should not be comfortable any longer. They must return to long skirts, long gloves, long hair, high hats, corsets.

"They'll never do it," I said. "I was wrong. They are doing it." As Fannie Hurst says in a vigorous protest in The New Republic, "The woman shopping has not much choice in the matter. Not only are the simple, brief fashions of yesterday not on view, but if they were it would be impracticability to buy them. It not only takes crusaders' strength of purpose to be 'special,' but they are too expensive to be special. It is conspicuous to be special. One swallow does not make a summer and one revolt or two revolts or two hundred revolts in so mammoth an issue, do not make a revolution."

"At the moment, the ridiculous spectacle is seen of millions of women about to climb into corsets, trains, long gloves and collars. True, we are not the only sheep following the bell. Frauleins, Mademoiselles, Signorinas are also being led to slaughter, but that does not lessen our plight. Here is one of the most important emancipations of woman in the past twelve years, about to go for naught."

I am told that the women who haven't good-looking legs and the women who had to diet to maintain the slender figures that went with the frocks they've been wearing are enthralled by the new fashions, and that they far outnumber their sisters to whom Nature gave shapely legs and slim lines. I can't believe that. So far as I have been able to observe—are more pretty legs in the world than the other kind. And if I were young again and in my courting days, I'd much rather hug one of the lissomest, uncorseted figures of 1929 than gather an armful of whalebone as we did in 1899.

WIND IN LATE AUTUMN

The wind rides out at dawn,
His heart is very proud,
He wears a floating plume,
And trumpets long and loud!

He rides against the hills
And dares the canyons deep;
The pine-trees moan and call,
The leafless willows weep.

He hurls a veil of gray,
Across the flaming sun,
The clouds in marshaled lines
Along the sky-ways run.

He drives the sails at sea
And battles with the waves.
The sea gulls wheel and cry
And seek their ledgy caves.

All day he huggles far Against a sullen sky;
All day the autumn leaves
In drifts go winging by.

He mounts the twilight wall
And flutes so sweet and low,
The purple gates swing wide
And only soft winds blow.

Consomme a La Henry IV.
King Henry IV. of France was a connoisseur of fine food, and it was his wish that every peasant should have a chicken in his soup pot. Of course, his ideal was never attained, but the thankful subjects named a favored French way of preparing a delicious chicken consomme after the King. The recipes printed below are planned as usual for four.

1 chicken, 1 stale roll, 1 garlic, milk clove, 1-4 pound ham, parsley, white pepper, 1 egg, beef bones, 1-2 pound soup meat, soup greens.
Select a young and fat chicken. Clean well and remove the neck and wings. Take off the meat and skin from both neck and wings and chop very fine with the ham. Soak the stale roll in milk, squeeze dry and add to the meat mixture. Chop finely the chicken liver and gizzard, parsley and garlic. Stir into the mixture and bind together with one raw egg. Season to taste with salt and white pepper and stuff the chicken, sewing it up with white thread. Boil the chicken with the usual soup green and beef meat and bones on a slow fire and skim carefully during the first fifteen minutes. When the chicken is tender, serve the soup in any desired way. Place the chicken on a platter and surround with vegetables. This is a very little known but delicious way of preparing a consomme.

SOME HELPFUL HINTS FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

When kettles and pots are adopted into kitchens they are bright and shining. There is a finish on them which is worn off very quickly in the average kitchen, because very few people know the best care for them. The following suggestions may help the housewife.

BUY HOME PRODUCTS

Toronto—(CP).—Women are buyers of food and clothes are asked by the Globe, editorially, to consider the Canadian trade report, ending with October. "If we are up $6,000,000 a month in imports and down $1,000,000 in exports—the reason for Canadian consumers seems to be clear. We have heard much of the slogan 'Buy Home Products' for two years, and if we believed in it we can now practice it to real advantage. There has not been a time since it was adopted when it was so generally needed."

"During the next five months we have to make up an adverse trade balance of $6,000,000. If we reduce our imports to those of last year we shall have gone a little more than one-third of the way. We have, therefore, to do much better. We have to substitute home products for imports to the extent of $1,000,000 a month—a formidable task for 10,000,000 people if they give serious thought to it."

CHEESE MAKERS NAME W. DREWRY NEW PRESIDENT

Makers Must Have Endorsement of Boards Say Delegates

PURE STARTERS

Apprentices Must Have 3 Year's Experience In Factory

At the resumption of the Second Annual Meeting of the Cheesemakers for Central Ontario yesterday afternoon, Mr. J. H. Echlin, instructor in Cheesemaking in the Eastern Dairy School, was the first speaker to be called upon.

He complimented the organization for their splendid convention and for their splendid banquet last night. Continuing he said: "You have been told that a great fault lies in dairy defects. I find that we are driving into a serious condition of affairs and we must overcome it. He said that too many alkali tests were being used. He talked on the question of pasty cheese, saying that there was no need for this in the Fall of the year and that many of the makers were not thoughtful in considering the weather conditions."

He was firmly of the opinion that the industry was not encouraging the right type of man for the positions of cheesemaking. He said that the present high pitch of the industry, as a better knowledge of cheesemaking was taught to the young apprentice before the branched out into business on his own.

"Training makes the man successful," he declared, "and barriers must be set up so that a better knowledge will be given to the prospective cheesemaker." He prophesied that some time there will be "graded students," which means in order of ability.

Mr. J. N. Truelove, president of the Eastern Ontario Cheesemakers' Association, was also present and expressed his appreciation of the excellent organization here. He intends to have the next meeting held by this association extended from half a day to two days. He advised his listeners to look upon themselves as artists of the business and not mere laborers and their business would prosper thereby.

"The Importance of Pure Starters in Cheesemaking" was the topic for the speech chosen by Mr. Donald C. Shutt, of the Bacteriology Department, Ontario Agricultural College.

DOCTORS SHOW QUICK WAY TO END COLDS

Many Here Helped by Pleasant Hospital Method Doctors Advise For Home Use

More and more Belleville people, like Edward B. Russell, are finding how quickly colds may now be ended by a pleasant hospital method which doctors advise for home use.

The sudden change in weather recently caused Mr. Russell to catch a severe cold. He neglected to do anything about it until congestion started spreading so fast that he became alarmed.

Acting on the advice of his doctor, Mr. Russell then started taking double doses of Ayer's Pectoral—a hospital certified compound of wild cherry, turpin, Hydrastis, etc., which physicians have named as the best of different widely known methods tested for head colds, coughs and chest colds.

Water In Preference To Steam He said that the past season had been a very trying one for all concerned. The main trouble, though, was in the starter. Bacteriological examination of commercial starters proves that as a rule they are relatively free from yeasts when distributed. The cause, he found, was in the sterilization of the starter cans, lids and dippers. Boiling hot water, and not steam, were found by him to be the best form of sterilization there is in use. Steam has a tendency to cool on coming out of the nozzle. He advocated the cans being upturned on a small platform and the nozzle being inserted through a hole underneath and dry steam impinged into the cans. In this manner the steam retains its original boiling temperature. If allowed to remain for three minutes in this way the cans will be entirely devoid of yeasts. Thermometers must be sterilized in boiling water.

He was strongly against the use of borrowed starters from other factories since they might be badly contaminated with yeasts.

"Pure water is an absolute necessity if a bad flavour is to be avoided. Bad smelling water should never be used for setting vats. In all doubtful cases the water should be boiled and then cooled to the required temperature. Drilled wells seem to be the safest for use, but records have shown that even these may be seriously contaminated with germs. The only sure method is by having a bacteriological analysis, which can be arranged through your local instructor. The greatest danger of water contamination is in the spring when the ground is soggy with water, which seeps down into the wells and other sources of supply. A simple method is in boiling all water used in setting the vats. This is in the means of every cheesemaker. Any factory that is subject to bad flavours would be advised to take this precaution.

"See that your water is clear, pure and good," he concluded.

Another speaker who was totally unexpected was Mr. J. P. Griffin, of the Ontario Milk Producers, of Toronto. He spoke along the lines of co-operation in all branches of the cheese industry.

Following his somewhat humorous discourse, the auditors' report was heard and found correct. Following which the officers for the year 1930 were elected.

President W. E. Brennan, who has occupied the Presidency for the last two years in a very capable manner stepped down from office and the Vice President for 1930, Mr. W. Drewry, elected as president.

The New Officers

The following are the officers elected for the forthcoming year:

President—W. V. Drewry, Warkworth.

Vice-President—H. S. Channell, of Hillier.

Directors—W. E. Cooper, Sunbury; J. N. West, Stirling; and E. I. Babcock of Napawan.

Auditors—R. J. Dulmage, Concession and G. V. Henderson.

Secretary-Treasurer—John Dugden

ed—Granting of Certificates and Permits.

We, The Central Ontario Cheesemakers Association respectfully request the Provincial Agricultural Department not to issue certificates or permits to cheesemakers who have not received the endorsement of the Boards of Examiners for their respective districts, such boards to be set up by the Western, Eastern and Central Ontario Cheesemakers Association. We believe that this step will tend to a closer co-operation between the Dairy Department and the Cheesemakers Association and will ultimately make for the betterment of the cheese industry in Ontario.

Re Qualifications of an Apprentice We, The Central Ontario Cheesemakers Association recommend to the Provincial Department that the qualification of an apprenticed cheesemaker be three seasons' experience in a factory and pass a Dairy School course before being granted a permit to operate a factory. We would recommend that the apprentice attend the Dairy School after his second season in the factory.

Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture.

We, The Central Ontario Cheesemakers Association are proud to have the privilege of expressing to the officials of the Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture our appreciation for the splendid assistance which they have given us in our organization work. Not only do we appreciate this assistance but we are encouraged by their approval which has been so well exemplified throughout the year. We know that they have considered our Association and its objects very seriously and to have gained their commendation is one of the greatest achievements we could hope for. We assure them that we will try to be worthy of their respect which we now enjoy and hope that they will give us every possible opportunity to co-operate with them for the betterment of the industry.

Promote Competition Eastern Dairyman's Association Prize Competition.

We, The Central Ontario Cheesemakers Association take this opportunity of requesting the Eastern Ontario Dairyman's Association to throw open their prize competition to all cheesemakers operating within their territory without it being compulsory to be a member of the Association, namely, that of promoting a competition among makers to improve their percentage of high grade cheese and we believe that if any maker had the opportunity of competing in your competition your object would be more nearly accomplished. As you know our Association is self supporting and consequently we have to call on our members for that support, which appears to be as much as the members are able to finance.

To the Cheese Factory Patrons

We, The Central Ontario Cheesemakers Association, once again take an opportunity of expressing to our patrons our appreciation of their co-operation for 1929. We realize that without your help we could not have accomplished the work of the past year so well. You have shown us that you are heartily in sympathy with our progressive movement and by your action you have dispelled any fears we might have had regarding your co-operation. Your encouragement which has been manifest at our meetings has been an incentive for us to try and do better in our work. The splendid understanding which is now enjoyed between us has brought us together and has been means of a fuller realization that our interests are alike. In the coming year we know that you are going to give us your assistance and we know that by having the confidence of each other the best results will be obtained.

Regarding accepted rejected Milk We, The Central Ontario Cheesemakers Association would respectfully request the Provincial Department of Please Turn To Page Six

ESCAPED INJURY IN AUTO CRASH

Springbrook Motorist Figured in Accident on Highway Near Belleville

Springbrook, Dec. 12.—(Special).—
The United Church Sunday School will hold their Christmas entertainment December 19, in the Orange hall here.

Mr. Hiram Murray and Miss Hazel
Batesman had tea with Mr. and Mrs.
Percy Munby on Sunday last.

Miss Helen McCoy, of Marmora, is spending a few days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Heath.
Mr. and Mrs. Lorne McConnell of Belleville, spent Sunday evening at the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs.
T. C. McConnell.

Mrs. Fannie Linn has gone to Florda to spend the winter with her daughter, Eva.

Mr. George Mason and Misses Hazel
Bird and Tillie Heath spent Sunday evening in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Fitzgerald spent Sunday at the Carling place.

Auto Accident
Mr. Murray, Fleming met with an accident at Belleville on Friday evening. Murray had gotten out to scrape the ice from his windshield when a car camp up behind his car, hitting it and doing much damage. The occupants escaped without any injury.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Switzer of Omemee spent a couple of days at the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Thompson, last week.

Following repeated attempts to question members of the British government on the reported declaration of Irish Free State ministers with regard to appeals to the judicial committee of the privy council, the speaker of the House of Commons yesterday laid down a ruling on the matter.

Notice to Creditors
In the Estate of George May, deceased.
NOTICE is hereby given that all persons having claims against the estate of George May, late of the Township of Sidney, in the County of Hastings, Farmer, deceased, who died on or about the 6th day of November, 1929, are required to forward their claims, duly proven, to the undersigned, on or before the 24th day of December, A.D. 1929.

AND NOTICE IS FURTHER
GIVEN that after the said date the Executors will proceed to distribute the estate, having regard only to such claims as they shall then have had notice.

DATED at Belleville this 26th day of November, A.D. 1929.
Clayton Hermon,
Executor.

Maternity Suite
Possibly the most needed of the services afforded by the Hospital addition is the maternity suite of three rooms which have been recently equipped by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fraser, of New York City. This suite comprises operating room with latest type maternity bed, doctors' and nurses' wash-up room, and nursery. The latter is an attractive little room with its five tiny steel cribs, its hangings of dotted muslin and gowns with figures of children at play. Walls are finished in pale blue. Visitors will not be permitted in the room with babies, but through a double window may view the babies from the main corridor. This is a hospital safeguard against infection.

Next to this suite is a sterilizing room with electric equipment of the latest type for sterilizing instruments and dressings, and the manufacture of distilled water.

Diet Kitchen
A diet kitchen is next with Frigidaire electric refrigerator, Moffatt electric range, sink with drainboard and wall cupboard.

Well Equipped
Hospital rooms are equipped with all steel furniture—beds, dresser, stand-able and chairs. The beds are of the Simmons make with Beauty-rest mat-resses and adjustable springs by which the patients' head or feet may be raised along with the mattress to any desired position, thus doing away with the old method of propping up by pillows. The bedside table-stands have a concealed swinging arm supporting a wash-basin. Electric globes throughout the new section are of the adjustable type which may be turned so as to shield the patients' eyes when desired. Beds are furnished with Kenwood blankets. All furniture is equipped with rubber casters. Every room has a clothes cupboard.

Many Furnish Rooms
In nearly every case donors have come forward to provide for the cost of the furnishing of rooms. Brass plates on the doors will name the rooms as follows:—The Maria Noxon room, The Professor Archie McMech-an room; the G. M. Hicks room; the W. H. McDonald room; the W. J. Carter room. The new section has one public ward with four beds. The Wilson room, in the old wing has been transformed to the new section, as its old location has been set aside for a public waiting room for visitors, which provides a much needed convenience.

It has been finished in attractive fashion.

Quick Service
A system of house phones, five in number, now connects various parts of the hospital, so that conversation and instructions may be quickly relayed from various parts of the institution.

With the new elevator it is not likely that the stairway in the new section will be used much. It serves the purpose of a fire escape, however, as it is set aside from the corridors by fireproof steel doors. On each floor fire protection is provided by a Montgomery hose reel in the corridor, which is a 50 ft length of one and a half inch hose, approved by Fire Underwriters.

Every window has Vita Glass, a new type of glass which permits the heating ultra-violet rays from the sun to enter the room. Outside walls of the new wing are filled with four inches of insulux which makes the building practically fire proof, as well as makes for warmth. Above the ceiling of the upper floors, four inches of the same material is used.

On each floor is a bath room with tiled floor and wainscoting, and an installation of bath tub, lavatory and sink.

All lights are controlled by a central switch panel on the lower floor. Each corridor has night lights of low candle power. The balcony now faces the Picton Bay, which is a very pleasant outlook for convalescent patients.

The basement of the new section will serve as a general store room, and is possibly a little later on will have as well laboratory and spirit room.

In the old section the Bedell, Greenbush, Rose Hall and Bristol rooms have been re-decorated during the past few months.

Visit Building Thursday
Monday the public viewed with interest these many changes at the Hospital, and left with the conviction that its hospital, as in many other things,
At any rate, it is a very fine small hospital, equipped in a way to give a splendid service to the people of this district. When funds are available it is the hope of the Superintendent to have one of the rooms set aside as an X-ray room.

Building and alterations made this year have cost in the neighbourhood of $5,000, which has resulted in increasing the Hospital debt somewhat, although a large proportion of the expenditure was covered by bequests made to the institution.

Hospital Staff
Following is the present staff of Prince Edward County Hospital: Miss Laura J. Gallen, superintendent, has been with the institution since its establishment in 1919, she served for a year as assistant to the late Miss Wood, and in 1920 became superintendent, a position which she has energetically filled ever since. She is now restored to good health after a serious illness in the Spring. The night surveyor is Miss Mabel White, R.N. In

SECTIONSTIRLING ELIMINATED MAXEMITES
FROM THE ROWSOME CUP SERIESTrenton Put Campbellford Into Discard In Second Game

GOOD CROWD

Maximite on Short End of
2-1 Score; Campbellford
Lost 3-2

Billy Whitty's Stirling hockey team and Dave Terry's Trenton puck chasers won the first games of the Rowsome Cup series last night, but both were extended to the limit to do so. Stirling put the Belleville Maximites into the discard by the score of 2 to 1, while the Crescents men from Trenton eliminated Campbellford by a 3 to 2 score. Both games were packed with thrills from start to finish, and the fans who missed them missed some real good hockey.

Over six hundred of the faithful turned out to watch the games, and thus showed that they are behind good hockey in the new Belleville Arena. Undoubtedly more will be out next Monday night when the Y's Men of Belleville take on Pictou, and Norwood plays Tweed. And when it comes to the semi-finals on Wednesday, the rink should be packed. So far, Trenton and Stirling have qualified for the semi-finals and they will meet in the first game on Wednesday night next. The other game on that night will be between Monday night's winners.

At the start of the first game, Mr. W. E. Rowsome donor of the cup faced the puck to officially open the series which will be completed before Christmas. Mr. Rowsome wished the teams the best of luck, and presented the cup which he has donated for completion.

Maximite's Early Lead
In the opening fixture, between the Maximites and Stirling, the local team held a one to nothing lead from the middle of the first period until the middle of the third, when Stirling notched their first on a rather lucky play. Jack Ackers was forced into the corner after rushing, and passed the puck out in front of the goal mouth, where it was deflected off Murney Green's skate into the net. A few minutes later Harry Lynam went down on a beautiful shot from the right wing slipped the puck into the corner. Curry had no chance on either one of these.

Murney Green scored the Maximites' lone tally after eleven minutes of play in the first period when he went through the whole Stirling team, and single-handed, back-handed one past young Morton. Both goalies were at the peak of their form, and stops of the sensational variety were common occurrences.

Trenton Classy Team
In the Trenton-Campbellford fixture, decided into the net off M. Green's Rube Shensel and George Filion started both getting nice goals and combining well together. Frank Filion scored the third and deciding goal for the Trenton team. The Campbellford aggregation were never in the lead from start to finish, but they kept fighting all the way and the third period was one of the best of either game. Shensel scored on a pass from G. Filion for the first goal early in the first period, and early in the second period McArthur drifted one in on Stenberg from the blue line. From then on until the middle of the third period it was a deadlock until George Filion took a pass from Shensel and put his team one up on the Campbellford team. A few minutes later E. Filion scored on a shot from the blue line, and it looked to be all over with Campbellford. They kept right on trying, however, and with one minute to go, their hard work was rewarded with a goal by Labrash. There was not enough time left to score again, however, and the game ended 3 to 2 in favour of Trenton.

Maximite-Stirling

First Period

H. Canning rushed and made a nice play, but Morton saved. Buck lost a good chance to score when he lost the puck into the defence. Stirling combined and tested Curry, who saved. Stirling had the better of the play as far as combination was concerned, but Maximites were better on the individual rushes. Jack Canning had an open net to shoot at, but his shot just dropped over the top. H. Canning was given a penalty for tripping Davis, Stirling scored, but the goal was disallowed as the goal judge said the puck went through the side of the net. But H. Ingram made a nice rush, but Ingram missed the pass out from the corner. Murney Green went through the whole team and scored. Play continued fast with neither team having much advantage. Maximites 1, Stirling 0.

2nd Period

J. Arnott scored on Morton, but the referee ruled that he threw the puck in, and it was disallowed. H. Ingram handed out an illegal bodycheck and was given a penalty. Morton made a wonderful save after Murney Green went right through the Stirling team again. Davis gave Curry a few anxious moments in the nets, but the threat was finally turned aside. Belleville again scored, but the play was off side, and the goal was disallowed. This period ended with little to chide from between the two teams.

3rd Period

Stirling was getting through the Maximite defence more often than usual at the start of the third period, and when J. Ackers was forced into the corner, he shot the puck out in front of the goal mouth, where it de-skated. Both teams were battling for all the time. Jack and Henry Canning combined, but Morton again made a wonderful save. Harry Ingram put Stirling in the lead by a hard shot from the right, which landed in the far corner of the net, giving Curry little or no chance on it. Murney Green missed an open net, but G. Filion scored the third goal for the Stirling team. The game ended 2 to 1 for Stirling.

Trenton
Trenton led all the way in this game, Shensel scoring one in the first few minutes, and then there being no score until late in the second when McArthur got one for Campbellford to even it up. George Filion then put his team one up on Campbellford, and a few minutes later in the third period Frank Filion scored to make it three to one. Labrash in the dying minutes of the game scored another for Campbellford and the final score was 3 to 2 for Trenton.

Y.M.C.A. BOWLING.

In the Ladies Afternoon League the Hustlers lived right up to their name and took all four points from the Pro Tems who seemed to be a bit off form. Perhaps Mr. Kelley sort of underplayed them with her 255 score in the first game. Good singles besides this were Mrs. Laughlin 182, Mrs. Kelley 167, Mrs. Ferguson 180. High bowlers were Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Kelley.

The O.S.D. League game resulted three points for the O.S.D., one point for Albert College. Mr. McGrimmon's 186 and Dr. McMullen's 293 were nice efforts for Albert, while Miss Heagle had the excellent score of 234 to top the O.S.D. singles.

In the Suit Roll several more had a shot at the scores. The early bowler is wise too because the five highest at end of this week if still in the running at the end will have first choice of all the singles.

Play-off night bowlers will be handicapped on League averages.

RECREATION BOWLING

Two smart games were played in the Ladies Senior League at the Recreation Alleys last night, all four teams going well over the 2000 mark. The Crescents rolling the best score when they came from behind in their final game against the We Don't Knows to win two points after dropping the first and second game. N. Bly rolling the best score with 601 for the Crescents while for the We Don't Knows, I. Ethier led the way with 563.

In the second girls game the Nationals got off on the right foot by winning the first game from the Knock Outs by 8 pins, but the Knock Outs came back strong in the second and third game and counted three points. S. Ford for the winners and M. Lynch for the losers were the highest bowlers for their respective teams.

The C.N.R. Shops Junior Mens' teams were right in good form last night in their league game against the Teaco, the shop men walking away with all four points and rolling up a nice total score of 2853 against the Teaco's 222 who were playing a man short. H. Robinson for the shops was high man with 655 for three games and P. Revell rolled up a nice single of 285.

For the Teaco J. Mason was high all round.

Sportograms

Any hockey fan in the city who missed last night's Rowsome Cup series game, sure missed some of the best. Both games were won by the narrow margin of one goal, and the score alone shows that the games were interesting. Maximites held a one to nothing lead over Stirling for two thirds of the game, and then the Red Shirts from the North piled in two in the last period to win the game and the right to enter the second round of the elimination.

Trenton was never headed by Campbellford, but for over a period the score was deadlocked at 1-1, and with just a minute to go, Campbellford slapped in their second goal. It was a fighting finish, and both teams were almost exhausted, as it was practically their first time on ice this season.

Maximites and Stirling each had one practice, and it showed in their team play, which was more finished than that of the second game.

Poke-Checks and Jabs

Hockey as is Hockey!

Yes sir, the Rowsome Cup series certainly got off to a splendid start last night at the arena.

Over six hundred people thought so anyway.

Both games were real sizzlers and there was plenty of action for the cash customers.

Stirling, Trenton and Campbellford brought large delegations and you can wager your discarded B. V. D's that the whole town of Stirling will be down next Wednesday night when they go into the semi-finals. At least that's what Bill Witty says.

Dave Terry, Manager of Trenton, says the same thing, so it should be a big night.

The Arena Directors were more than pleased with the result and this pre-season series was certainly a move in the right direction.

The Rowsome Cup has stirred up a heap of interest and Belleville fans are going to see some real hockey before Christmas.

Don't think these boys from the north don't know their hockey. You have yet to see Tweed and Norwood in action.

Harry Moore came up from Deseronto to see his former protegee "Buster" Whittin in action and the pudgy little Campbellford center was in the thick of the fight from the start.

Pictou will tie into the Y's Men's Club and Tweed will lock horns with Norwood next Monday night, Don't miss these two franchises.

At least one Belleville team is still in the running.

Campbellford tried hard in the dying moments and they came near tying it up.

P. Hodgson 411; E. Graves 361; J. Doe 450; total 2237.

In the second weekly prize competition at the Recreation Alleys Miss Stella Ford is leading in the three strings with a total score of 661 name 218, 218 and 225. In the girls class T. Morrell is still high with 888. Mrs. P. Belnap and Pat Belnap are leading in the mixed doubles with 414. Mrs. Belnap rolling 204 and P. Belnap rolling 214. In this class the girls can play any bowler they want and play as many games as they care, their higher combined single score to count.

The Maximites lost a tough issue after leading for two periods. The locals were outweighed and were out-

Fans can now sit back and wait for the next games, on Monday night next, when the other Belleville entry, the Y's Men's Club of the City League, will play Pictou, of the Prince Edward County League, and Norwood will play Tweed. Norwood have some heavy fast players, and Tweed is about the same. It should be a good battle.

The Y's Men's Club have such players as Derby Jeffrey, in the nets, Harry Drew, and Cap Rooney on defense. Bob Scott is one of the wings, Jack Trausch, Gar Anderson, Morley Davidson, Army Armstrong, Vern and Alex Weir, and a few others. They had a practice last night, and showed that they will hold their own. Pictou is an unknown quantity, they having been out of competition with Belleville teams for some years, but their County League is a live organization, and they should be able to pick a good all star team from their four teams.

lucked around the nets.

This young Morton certainly played a bang-up game in goal for the red and white. He stopped the proverbial million.

Stenberg was given a busy session in the Trenton net in the last few minutes.

Pictou will choose the pick of their County League for the game with Don Roe's Y's Men's Club.

The ice was in good condition and despite the fact that some of the boys were on skates for the first time it was a real evening of sport.

The Maximites will play Stirling an exhibition game in this village on Monday night. This set-to will get the Witty clan in shape for the semi-finals.

There was no hard feelings between the teams and everything ran as smoothly as clock-work.

It was reported that Campbellford kept two dark horses under cover, thinking they'd have a cinch with Trenton. It was just too bad for the northerners. They guessed wrong.

He's forty-five if he's a day," said "Daw" Whalen in referring to Trenton's veteran player, "Sunfish" Anderson. The old boy is still going strong.

INTELLIGENCE OF CHINESE PEASANT

Manchurian Farmer Has Many Fine Traits To His Credit

Kyoto, Japan.—A picture of feudal times unveiled in the present was conjured up for the conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations here, by the report of a Russian economist E. E. Yashnov, on the ways of the Chinese in Manchuria, who are flowing into the Three Eastern Provinces in the greatest tide of modern times, causing both prosperity and conflict by their migration. While dwelling upon the primitive character of many Chinese arrangements, M. Yashnov compared the Chinese farmer favourably with the Russian peasant in being so intelligent in the handling of his crops that Northern Manchuria had never had a general crop failure.

"When bandits appear in small villages in North Manchuria," according to M. Yashnov, "one may see scenes which remind one of feudal times. The house of the richer peasant is usually surrounded by a cement wall and sometimes a brick wall which has very strong gates and small turrets. The defenders appear on these turrets with varied armaments ranging from pebbles and stones to the most improved rifles."

"The Chinese peasant has developed, as a result of four thousand years of experience, certain traits which give him a great stability in the struggle for existence. Among these is his capacity to adapt his seemingly fossilized technique to conditions of time and space, his willingness to work and his patience; his extreme parsimony; the modesty of his demands, and the absence of any excessive addition to alcohol drinks. Though he is physically weaker than the Russian peasant, he is far superior in psychic stability."

A surprising note on the place of women was struck. "The Chinese woman in Northern Manchuria does not take part in the work in the fields, not even during harvesting time," according to this Russian authority, "but all land as all other property is inherited in the male line by sons and in absence of sons, by the brothers of the deceased. The heirs are under obligation to support the mother and marry off the girls. Only seldom when there are no heirs in the male line, do women inherit the land. Also, if the sons are minors, the widow becomes the manager of the property."

DAIRY HEIFERS REARING COSTS

Method of Properly Raising Young Heifers is Stressed

Fifty dollars may be regarded as a high price to pay for a yearling heifer, but if she has been reared this far in a manner to give her proper development, this price is little enough. Indeed, when the costs are all taken into consideration there is no profit in selling a twelve months old heifer at fifty dollars. Records were kept of the cost of food consumed by six heifers of Ayrshire, Holstein and Shorthorn breeding from birth to one year of age.

They were fed whole milk valued at forty dollars per ton until from three to four weeks of age when this was gradually changed to skim milk valued at four dollars a ton. A fat substitute valued at seventy dollars a ton was added to the skim milk. This was fed until the calves were three months of age. It was composed of one part flax seed and four parts of crushed oats with the hulls sifted out. When the calves got older one part of crushed oats was replaced by corn meal. Each calf was fed from one quarter to one pound of this fat substitute per day, the amount depending on the age and condition of the calf. The coarser foods consisting of hay and roots were fed from the time the calves were able to use them. After the milk and milk substitute were discontinued in the liquid form the calves were fed a dry mixture consisting of three parts bran, two parts crushed oats, one part oilcake and one part brewers' grains. The aim in feeding was to keep the calves growing steadily.

In the account of this experiment which appears in the report of the Superintendent, Frederick Experiment Station, for last year, published by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, it is shown that reared in this way the calves weighed an average of 625 pounds per head and that the year's growth had been produced at a cost of $46.04 for food.

Technical Service Council Has Scheme to Keep Canadians.

Toronto, Ont. (By Canadian Press).—Three hundred and forty Canadians most of them graduates of Canadian universities, were placed during the past year with Canadian manufacturing concerns and other business establishments by the Technical Service Council, according to reports submitted by Balmer Neilly, vice-chairman of the Executive Committee, at the annual meeting of the Council here tonight.

Included among these graduates were 40 who after leaving Canadian universities went to live in other countries. They were brought back to Canada and placed in positions here. Forty young engineers from the British Isles were also placed in Canadian positions. Encouraged by the success attained to date, members of the Technical Service Council unanimously decided to continue and enlarge the scope of their efforts. The Council was organized less than two years ago for the purpose of keeping university graduates in Canada, and to bring the universities into closer touch with Canadian industrial, financial and transportation conditions. Among organizations co-operating with the Council are those representing manufacturing, banking, transportation, mining, departmental stores, engineering concerns, trust companies and other institutions.

The Council reported that many Canadian industries employed men with

The chairman, R. S. Parsons, in welcoming the members of the Council present, stated at the request of the executive he was acting temporarily as chairman in place of the late Sir Edward Kemp, to whose memory he

SUPREME COURT HOUSES VOLUMES OF A RARE AGE

Old Statute Book Dates Back to the Time of Edward I.

Qttawa, Ont. (By Canadian Press).—In a one-time tradesman's workshop, and now known as the Supreme Court of Canada, there is one of the oldest books in the New World. It is a law book containing the Statutes from the time of Edward I to the 29th year of Elizabeth. These statutes are printed by Richard Townley, Lancashire.

Nor is this ancient and jaundiced tome the only senile relic of the book maker's art. Novelty though it is, with the old-fashioned look still partly left on the outside of the wood and leather cover, there are a few other priceless tomes, notably of the 17th century. John Seiden's book, for instance, printed in 1740, when Holland with Von Tromp was enjoying its brief suzerainty of the sea, contains Greek, Hebrew, Sanskrit, and Italian print, and in a gloriously picturesque sample of the old bookmaker's art.

John Calvin's dictionary of 1679, Dutch law books, yards of shelves containing French books printed by authority of one of the Louises, Belgian Statutes, and thousands of other century old books that are positively irreplaceable are all contained in this wonderful law library that one careless match could reduce to ashes. The curators of these big chunks of printed matter live in perpetual fear that these books, so inadequately protected, may some day become food for a fire that will through the old non-fireproof building like a train through a tunnel.

PAPALS HONOUR MARTYRED MEN

Over 200 Will Bear Title of "Blessed" Before
Names

Vatican City. — Over 200 English Catholics, priests and laymen, martyred for their faith in the period between 1594 and 1679, will be solemnly beatified in St. Peter's basilica with an imposing ceremony some time during December. In another ceremony of the same sort the Rev. Father Ogilvie, Scottish Jesuit who suffered martyrdom during the same time, will be similarly honored.

The most conspicuous figures among those destined to the title of "blessed" before their names, by virtue of their beatification, are Fathers George Haydock, John Roberts, Arthur Bell, Robert Southwell and Philip Howard, Earl of Arundel. The persecutions began under Queen Elizabeth and continued through the reigns of James I and Charles I, and under the commonwealth. There was a fresh recurrence of executions upon the discovery of the so-called Catesby plot, in 1678. Some were put to death on the gibbet at Tyburn, others hanged in the cathedral towns of the English counties, and still others were left to die in prison.

In all, there are 244 victims of the religious strife in Great Britain whose "causes" will be examined prior to November 12, the day when the so-called general congregation meets in the Vatican, the Pope himself being present. Owing to the difficulty of establishing the identities of several of the victims, and doubt as to whether or not they actually did suffer martyrdom, not all of the 244 will be accorded beatification, but in any case it is certain that the honor will be given to at least 200 of their number.

A pilgrimage of Scottish Catholics will come to Rome for the beatification of Father John Ogilvie, known by the title of "venerable" since the 17th century. Father Ogilvie was brought up as a Calvinist, but converted at the University of Louvain. He entered the Jesuit Order, was ordained priest in 1613, and at his own request was sent into Scotland as a missionary, knowing that a price was on his head. After nine months of preaching in Edinburgh and Glasgow, he was betrayed by informers, and was said to have been tortured during months in prison in a vain effort to make him reveal the names of Catholics. At this end he was condemned and hanged as a traitor.

At a cost of $25,000,000 four huge piers will be erected at Jersey City, N. J.

SCUTTLED SHIPS AT SCAPA FLOW

Last of German Battleships Salvaged and Towed to Dock.

Rosyth, Scotland. — The last of the scuttled German warships of Scapa Flow has been towed in, bottomsides up, from its parking place on the floor of the ocean. Ten years of barnacles have been scraped from the hull, and amid the clang of sledgehammers and the hissing of torches, this once great ship is being reduced to junk. Oddly, perhaps significantly, this final reduction of a proud fleet to junk metal is being completed at a time when statesmen are concentrating as never before on the problem of reduction of navies and at a time when evacuation of the Rhineeland is ringing down an asbestos curtain on the World War as waged upon the land.

When the sailors of the surrendered German fleet opened the sea-cocks of their ships at Scapa Flow June 21, 1919, they created a problem in salvage that taxed to the utmost the ingenuity of modern engineers. Only three light cruisers and some smaller vessels were successfully beached by British crews that day; the other scuttled warships went to the bottom. One by one, however, they were pumped full of air and floated down from the Orkneys to the dockyards here. The first to be brought to the surface was the destroyer V-70, a big ship of the 80 class, which had sunk in 20 fathoms in the center of the Flow. That left 28 destroyers, 10 battleships and five battle cruisers.

PRINT THIS ABOUT Joint-Ease Says Druggist

"Joint-Ease" is selling like hot cakes in my store, because it is a wonderful and speedy remedy for all joint troubles.

"But why not impress on tens of thousands of suffering people some of the things that dozens of my customers tell me almost daily."

"Some say that it knocks out lumbago over night—others that for chest colds and sore throat it has no equal, while many insist that there is nothing for neuralgia, neuritis and even head colds and vile nasal catarrh."

Answering the above letter, we, the makers of Joint-Ease, know that what this thriving Ottawa druggist says is true, but we still maintain that Joint-Ease is prepared for stiff, inflamed, painful, swollen joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, fingers or spine.

You'll like to use stainless Joint-Ease, for with just one minute's rubbing, it soaks in through the flesh directly to the ailing bones, joints and ligaments—that's why it succeeds—for when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—and without any waste of time all swelling and congestion disappear. Made in Canada—costs only 60c a tube. Doyle's Drug Store, Dolan the Druggist sells lots of it.

Your Children's Health Depends on Safe Food

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

You, as a conscientious mother, buy the best food for your children, prepare it with scrupulous care and cook it correctly. Yet, even the best food becomes unsafe unless it is kept at the proper degree of cold, which medical authorities agree should be 50 degrees or less—always.

There is only one way to be sure that your children's food is fresh and healthful—correct refrigeration. There is one refrigerator that assures you of scientifically perfect refrigeration at all times—the General Electric.

There are now more than 300,000 homes enjoying the convenience, economy and protection of General Electric Refrigerators—and not one owner has spent a single dollar for repairs or service.

The simple mechanism which you never need to oil, is mounted on top of the cabinet and hermetically sealed in a steel casing. It has an accessible freezing regulator, makes a generous supply of ice cubes and creates no radio interference. Its cabinet is easily cleaned and sanitary.

We shall be glad to help you select the model suited to your need and tell you about the spaced payment plan.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"As there is much beast and some devil in man, so is there some Angel and some God in him. The beast and the devil may be conquered, but in this life, never destroyed."—Coleridge.

WHEAT KING

Once again, the world championship for wheat goes to a Canadian farmer, Joseph H. B. Smith, of Wolf Creek, Alberta, the new "wheat king" is an immigrant from the Motherland, as many former champions have been. The land on which he grew his prize-winning grain was, a decade or so ago, virgin bush, which he cleared and cultivated himself. It is situated hundreds of miles north of the international boundary and so this new success supplies another proof of the fact that there is no better agricultural land to be found (that of northern Canada). When Hermann Trell captured three world championships with wheat, oats and peas grown in the Peace River country he gave a sensational demonstration of the richness of the soil and the suitability of the climate. There is no limiting the territory available in northern Canada for farmlands in these days of scientific achievement. For it must be remembered that the wonderful results obtained are due to the work of specialists who have achieved miracles by their elaborate experimentation with grain. The boundary of practical farming operations is being pushed farther and farther north, until the idea, which still prevails in the minds of too many, that this dominion is a country which has length without depth has become ridiculous.

Not only has Canada done extremely well with her wheat specimens at the Chicago show, but the contest for the oats championship was a very close one, an Alberta exhibitor taking second place to a Montana farmer. A Saskatchewan grower secured first place with two-rowed barley, and a B. C. man took the championship for field peas. Many important awards went to Canadian cattlemen, Ontario scoring heavily in the honors. This province was particularly successful in the sheep-breeding competitions also. In the horse division, a Saskatchewan breeder took the junior and grand championships for stallions and the senior and grand championships for mares. It is altogether a very impressive showing. When one remembers what a vast area of uncultivated land yet awaits the plow in the northern parts of the western provinces, it is impossible not to get enthusiastic regarding the prospects. A veritable empire stands ready for exploitation.

BRAIDED RUGS

Grandma's at our house to stay! And she's braiding rugs today. Sitting in her rocking chair. Rainbow colours round her there. Shirts—old yards and miles, I s'pose. That once were nothing but old clothes. Dyed and cut, and rolled up tight; And Grandma braids them, day and night!

Blue and yellow, red and green. White and black, and shades between—Grandma picks each strand with care. And fascinating braids grow there.

Then she sews them round and round—Not a weak stitch to be found. How we watch; and oh, what fun When another rug is done!

One rug Grandma gave to me. 'Twas my old coat once, you see. How I love its blue and white! In my little room at night.

That Body Of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

DANGER OF THYROID EXTRACT
 When examining the entrails for the last Wrigley Marathon swim we came across a boy of sixteen who weighed 230 pounds. He was a bright, good-looking youngster and had done a considerable amount of swimming. On questioning he told us that he had always been fat—at a baby in fact.

Now while dieting and exercise may be of help here, this is really the type of case where the thyroid extract is especially indicated. The juice of the thyroid gland, situated in the neck, is, as mentioned before, like the draught in a furnace—it makes the fuel burn. If there is too much fuel—too much draught—the fuel burns up too quickly, and hence we find these thin individuals with rapid hearts.

If there is not enough juice or draught then the fuel does not get used, and gets stored as fat in the system.

The fact that the thyroid extract helps burn up the fuel and prevent overweight, has come to the ears of many of our overweight folk, and with out consulting a physician they commence using it.

Now this is a most dangerous practice and physicians all over the world are coming across cases where the heart is beating rapidly and irregularly and on close questioning find that the thyroid extract has been taken to reduce weight.

If you are overweight why not go at the reduction in a sensible manner? If you have always been overweight, or become overweight at puberty—13 to 17 years of age—see your family doctor and he will likely prescribe thyroid extract and by watching its effect keep you within safe limits.

Decrease In Cheese Production

Following are a few of the salient points delivered by Mr. John Burgess at yesterday's session of the cheese-makers' convention.

Cheese Grading—Dominion (1929)

Year	No. Cheese	Value
1928	1,597,295	1,273,874
1929	1,597,295	1,273,874

Decrease (18.7 per cent) 293,311
 Up to the end of July, the decrease was small, amounting to 22,308 boxes, or 2.3 per cent, but from that time on, the decrease was heavier each month until the end of the season.

Month.
 August 38,425
 September 91,884
 October 97,980
 November 41,834

This decrease was confined largely to the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, although P. E. Island also had a decrease of 1,791 boxes. It may interest you to know that P. E. Island had 97.07 per cent first grade cheese this year, an increase of 34.5 per cent, since grading began in 1923.

Ontario
 No. Cheese 1,041,876
 Value 1,063,854
 Decrease (16 per cent) 166,854

Quebec
 No. Cheese 506,533
 Value 381,763
 Decrease (24.6 per cent) 124,470

Both provinces show a very heavy decrease and while the lower prices for cheese last season is compared with 1928 may have been a factor, there is

If you were thin as a youngster, and even past puberty, and then began to put on weight, you can look after the job of reducing without much advice from your doctor.

First find out from the usual tables of height and chest measurement just what you should weigh. If you are 35 per cent overweight cut down on your food intake that much—cutting down about 30 to 35 per cent on fats, bread, and vegetables, and about 15 to 20 per cent on meat and eggs. Meat and eggs keep up your strength during the reducing process.

In addition to this, gradually increase the amount of exercise taken, and in a few weeks you can gradually increase your food intake again and still be slowly reducing. I think you are wise to reduce your weight if you are more than 10 to 15 per cent over weight, but why not go about it in a safe and sane manner.

Quality Always Higher Than Price

no doubt that the hot, dry weather which resulted in a shortage of water and feed of many farms, along with milk being diverted to other channels which usually cost the cheese factory, is the main cause of the decrease. The fact that the decrease was heavier each month as the season advanced indicates that this statement is correct. I understand that Quebec had better weather conditions than Ontario. However, there was an extremely heavy drop in the number of cheese graded from Quebec province during October and November which has raised the percentage of decrease for the season from 17 to 24.6 per cent.

One of the pleasing things about the Quebec cheese is that the quality was better than last year. Up to October there was an increase of about 11 per cent in first grade cheese, but this was reduced to one-half per cent by the end of the season, owing to inferior quality in the last two months. Quebec, however, is making good progress in improving the quality and, while she is still about 9 per cent behind Ontario in first grade cheeses, there is no doubt that more progress has been made during the last two years than in all the other years put together since grading began.

In addition to that, the first grade quality is of a higher standard than formerly and there are many factories particularly in Lake St. John of Chateaufort, which make pretty much the same type of cheese as are made in this district—heavy body with meaty texture—or, in other words, the type recognized as finest Westerns if the flavor is sound.

Ontario, with 95.5 per cent first grade, has a record which is better than most people expected, taking the unfavorable weather conditions into consideration, and had it not been for the high standard set in 1928, I imagine there would be a general feeling of satisfaction. At any rate, the record is a good one, and shows that a great majority of the makers are doing their best to maintain or surpass the standard set last year.

In 1928 there were 92 factories in the province with 100 per cent first grade. This year there were 69 factories in this group—33 factories are located in the central district, 27 in eastern Ontario, 8 in western Ontario, and one in northern Ontario.

I cannot give you the standing of the counties or districts at the present time, but there is no doubt that the districts will be slightly lower than last year. One thing which pleases me very much is that the average score of the first grade cheese is higher than in 1928. This is a very important feature because cheese which are only liners for first grade when ten days or two weeks old, do not hold up to the grade as well as the high scoring cheese and we should make a big effort to reduce the number of liners.

One of the most interesting things in connection with our work this year is compiling the average score for each factory. Our records are very incomplete at the present time, but we have sufficient work done to show that there are many cases where one of more vats have been picked out owing to defective quality, and the average score for the season is considerably better than in other factories which had a higher percentage of first grade cheese.

To my mind, this is a proper basis on which to show the standing of any factory, because the high scoring cheese represent the type which are the most dependable and if a good maker is so unfortunate as to have a few vats picked out, that is no reason why he should not receive full credit for turning out the best type of cheese throughout the season. Some objection may be raised to placing the standing of factories on this basis by makers who have a few no grade cheese. No score is given in such cases, and, of course, it affects the average score very much. I have no doubt, however, that the makers will not be penalized unless the defects indicate that the makers themselves were responsible for the no grade quality.

Defects in Under Grade Cheese

In looking over the defects in under-grade cheese this year, I find that in the forward of the season, the flavor defects were largely confined to "rancid" and "slightly rancid" with a small proportion "not clean" or "fruity." In the last half of the season, flavor defects were just reversed and there were three times as many described as "not clean" and "fruity" as compared with rancid flavors. This would indicate that the early part of the season when factories are getting under way and the milk delivered perhaps three or four times per week, is the worst as far as rancid flavors.

When the hot weather comes, whey tank and unclean flavors, which are difficult to describe, are the most prominent. These flavors usually develop into a heavy, unclean odor, resembling a dirty whey tank.

In some sections, food flavors are very prominent when the cheese are ten days or two weeks old, and it is possible that defective flavors may be carried up to some extent. There is no particular objection to food flavors if they clean up as the cheese matures. At the same time, the grader should be careful to not overlook these cheese as they rarely develop that nutty, cheesy flavor which is so desirable on our best type. Turnip flavor, of course, is an exception, but, fortunately, we have not been bothered much with turnip flavor during the past two years.

Workmanship on the under-grade cheese was not as good last year as in 1928. In the forward of the season and, including the month of August, many vats were picked out on account of the cheese being acidic, then later on, some of the makers went to the other extreme and made cheese which were lacking in acid.

JAPANESE SEND NAVAL EXPERTS TO CONFERENCE

Reijiro Wakatsuki, Former Premier, Heads List to Attend Conference.

Tokyo. — An expert in statecraft and economics, an authority on naval affairs and an artist in the ways and means of international intercourse and agreement will make up Japan's delegation to the London naval conference. Reijiro Wakatsuki, former premier and economist, will head the delegation. His naval colleague will be Admiral Hyo Takarabe, minister of the navy in the present and former cabinets, while the guide through the mazes of diplomacy will be Tsuneo Matsudaira, ambassador to the court of St. James, and until last year the Emperor's envoy to Washington.

From the outset the Japanese government made it known a man of "prime minister calibre" would go to the proposed naval conference. A survey of available men of this eminence soon pointed to Wakatsuki as the outstanding candidate. The imminent of a general election, expected next January or February, made it certain that neither Premier Yuko Hamaguchi nor any of his cabinet colleagues would leave the country at this time. All three of Japan's delegates have lived in England and have some knowledge of English, but Matsudaira is the only one that is at home in that tongue. The delegation must depend on Matsudaira for thorough knowledge of the language in which the conference will do most of its work.

Wakatsuki, now 63 years old, began his official career as a provincial tax collector soon after graduation from the Imperial University of Tokyo where he specialized in French law, the basis of the Japanese codes. He rose to political prominence through various posts in the ministry of finance and reached the cabinet in 1912, when he became finance minister under Prince Katsura. He held the same portfolio in the Okuma cabinet organization two years later. For almost a decade he was out of office while his party was in the opposition, but he returned to power with Count Takakaiki Kato, under whom he was home minister from 1924-26. When Count Kato died in March, 1926, Wakatsuki inherited the premiership. The Wakatsuki cabinet fell in

PROTECT PLANTS IN THE WINTER

Fruits Should Be Carefully Tended During Cold Months.

Among fruits, the strawberry is the one which needs protection in winter in most parts of Canada. It is a shallow-rooted plant, and it is liable to be heaved by frost and the roots killed. A light covering of straw, preferably marsh grass free of weed seeds, just before winter sets in, is desirable to prevent this, and has been found effective on the dominion experimental farms, and have the methods described for other plants below.

Grapes also need protection in the colder parts of Canada where grapes ripen. While vines may not be injured by winter, buds start into growth early in the spring, and late spring frosts kill them, and so destroy the crop. By laying the vines down and covering with soil, this can be prevented as the soil need not be taken off until warm weather in spring.

Raspberries need protection also, especially in colder districts where snow either comes late or there is very little snow during the winter. In extreme cases, such as some parts of the prairie provinces, the canes should be entirely covered with snow while in winter bending down the canes and holding the tips down with snow, will help ensure their being covered with snow early.

Hybrid Tea Roses, Hybrid Perpetuals and Climbing Roses should be protected in all but the mildest parts of Canada. Earthing up the base to a height of eight or ten inches is a good method, the tips being bent down and covered with soil. Another good plan is to put an inverted wooden trough over the roses, and cover the strawy manure. Leaves are good for protection. For Climbing roses, boxes filled with dry leaves, or covering with heavy paper or earth, all make good means of protection.

A light covering of strawy manure or leaves over the herbaceous border will help bring through things which would otherwise be killed. Narcissus are much tenderer than tulips and need some protection under extreme conditions without early and adequate snow protection.

TITLED BRITONS OWN MANY ACRES

Edmonton, Alta. — (CP) — Titled Britons own about 15,000 acres of Alberta farm lands among them these acres having an assessed value of approximately $110,000, says the Edmonton Journal. Of these, the Duke of Sutherland carries the largest holdings, and pays the most in taxes. The Duke of Sutherland, the Sutherland Land Company, among them, own 3,202 acres.

Earl minto is the second largest holder, with 1,908 acres. He is closely followed by the Prince of Wales, whose famous E. P. ranch consists of 1,655 acres. In addition to this, however, the Prince leases another 1,440 acres, so that his total holdings are 3,095 acres, which brings him actually into second place.

Lord Chylesmore has 1,380 acres to his name in Alberta, and Lord Rodgey, 618 acres. The Earl of Egmont still holds 320 acres near Eridid in southern Alberta. The Duke of Sutherland and the holding companies bearing his name, pays the largest amount of tax, the assessment on the combined holdings being $57,000 in round figures. Earl Minto is assessed in a valuation of $16,830, and the Prince of Wales, $15,170. Lords Rodney and Chylesmore also are assessed in considerable sums of their holdings.

JAPANESE ENTERPRISE EXTENDS TO COTTON

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. — Japanese enterprise is entering the cotton manufacturing industry in the Amazon Valley, according to Frige Guching, official of one of the largest Japanese cotton manufacturers. The cotton of Ceara is used extensively by European mills. The Japanese plan, instead, to both raise cotton and manufacture it into cloth in Brazil, Guching said.

His company also will raise and manufacture silk. The industry started several years ago in Sao Paulo with worms and mulberry shoots from Japan, and has prospered.

MISSING PASTOR FOUND WORKING AS FARM HELPER

Ingersoll Divine Said To Have Been Suffering Financial Worries

HALTED SERMON

Choir Girl Turned Leaf In Book Which Ignited
Strange Spark

Ingersoll, Dec. 14.—Turning of the leaf of hymn book during a sermon furnished the spark that touched the tinder of a mind fraught with high nervous tension and is said to have finally induced the amnesia which led to the disappearance of Rev. N. H. Reibling from his home in Rodney last Sunday.

The hymn book incident, one of a succession of minor worries, heaped upon the major worry of deep financial concern, proved the climax of the minister's mental distress, it was learned today.

Mr. Reibling was found today working as "Mr. Roberts" on the farm of John Ancombe, Dereham township. His brother and a son, learning that a man answering the missing pastor's description had been seen on the Ancombe farm, visited the place and made the identification. The minister insisted that he was Mr. Roberts, declined to discuss his movements since the day he disappeared, and seemed loath to leave his new employment.

Mrs. Reibling, his wife, stated last night that her husband had recently had financial worries which, she added, were in no way connected with the stock market crash. This trouble had so upset him that the slightest criticism was greatly magnified in his mind.

Then, two weeks ago, a pianist took offence at some of his remarks and left the choir. On Sunday the climax came. During the service, Mrs. Reibling's sermon a member of the choir inadvertently turned the leaf of a hymn book.

Dramatically, evidently under great strain, the minister halted his sermon and declared that he could not go on if there were to be such interruptions.

After the Sunday services he took his club bag and left his home, apparently to visit friends in a neighboring town. On Monday, unknown, he appeared at Ancombe's farm, answering an advertisement in a London newspaper, applied for work and was hired.

There he worked for four days, apparently quite accustomed to work around the barn, cheerful and contented.

AGREEMENTS SOON WILL BE SIGNED

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 14.—Agreements for the return of natural resources to the provinces of Manitoba and Alberta will be signed this afternoon according to present plans of the Dominion Government. Premier John Bracken, Manitoba and Premier J. E. Brownlie, Alberta, are both in the city and if arrangements are not suddenly changed, they will be called to the East block for the formal signing within a few hours.

P. E. I. FAIR DATE FIXED

Charlottetown, P.E.I., December 14.—The provincial exhibition in 1930 will be held from August 18 to August 22, inclusive; directors of the exhibition decided today.

WILL REPLACE BRIGHTON BRIDGE

Government Employees
Now Surveying for
New Structure

By this time next year the Overhead Bridge between Brighton and Trenton, which has almost daily claimed its toll for the past few years in property damage and injuries to motorists, will be no more according to reliable information. The Department of Public Highways has decided to build a long over-head bridge with no turns, which will eliminate the winding death trap which is now in existence.

According to the Brighton Enquirer, Provincial Highway Patrolman W. H. McQuid has given out the information that the land required has all been acquired and Government employees are now on the spot surveying for the new structure.

NINTH FISHING BOAT REPORTED ALL RIGHT

St. Johns, Nfld., Dec. 14.—Three missing schooner Neptune with nineteen on board, is reported "All right" about seven hundred miles southeast of this port, by the liner Cedric, which was on the Neptune's rescue for a fifteen days out, the Neptune is now accounted for of a fleet of ten vessels, which sailed on the night of November 29 for Bonaville Port. Lloyd Jack is still unreported.

KINGSTON ROAD DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENTED PLAY

Amusing Program Is Given At Prince of Wales Community Club

Last night the Prince of Wales Community Club staged another of their high class entertainments which scored a complete success and delighted the large audience present.

The program consisted of two excellent plays given by the talented Kingston Road Dramatic Club of East Belleville who have been presenting plays with great success since early October, and a selection of vocal and instrumental songs and recitations, which formed an interlude between the one-act plays.

The first play was a comedy entitled "Two of a Kind," the leading role being capably handled by Miss J. K. Redner as Mrs. Rebecca Rhubarb, the mother of a family. The part of the daughter, a very modern girl is taken by Miss Lorna Ridley. Many amusing incidents were scattered throughout the play and sent the audience into peals of laughter. The second play, a near tragedy, was entitled "Just Like a Woman." The leading roles are taken by Mr. Charles Skelcher as Mr. Joshua Smith, Miss J. K. Redner takes the part of the mother and Mr. G. W. Varty acts as Mr. Bartholomew Smith.

The plays scored a great success and the Prince of Wales School is to be congratulated on the splendid program.

WORKER KILLED IN MINE BLAST

Charge Explodes When Dynamite Was Being Thawed Out

Kirkland Lake, Dec. 14.—James Willis, veteran prospector, and an employee of Lake Shore mine, was killed and three other persons injured Thursday morning when five sticks of dynamite exploded, it was learned yesterday. It is understood Willis was endeavoring to thaw out the sticks of dynamite over a stove.

William Thorpe and William Birnie are in hospital suffering from severe bruises and shock, while Gus Landus was temporarily stunned. The blast occurred in the workshop of the diamond drill gravel pit, 15 miles from here.

An inquest was opened last night, but adjourned for a week to enable Birnie and Thorpe to be present. Willis' head was almost blown to atoms, parts of both arms were torn off and the right leg was smashed below the knee.

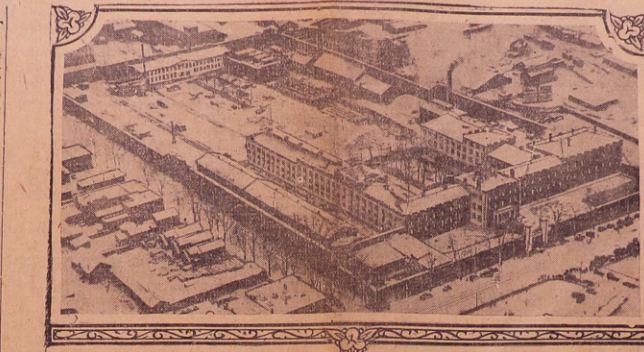

Willis was at one time an associate of Harry Oakes, president of the Lake Shore mine, it is said. He is believed to have a brother in Montreal.

Modest Art Says He Will Knock Wilson Into Heap of Ash Cans

Canadian Press
Chicago, Dec. 14.—Charles Arthur (the Great) Shires and Lewis (Hack) Wilson, White Sox first baseman and Chicago Cub centre fielder, respectively, have been signed for a four-round fight here in January. So much interest has been shown that the promoter is trying to get the Chicago Stadium for the affair.

Their records: Shires, knockout over Dan Barry, last Monday; defeated Lena Blackburne, manager of Sox, Lou Barber, travelling secretary of same club, and a couple of house detectives, in a hotel room battle in Philadelphia.

Wilson, liked Edward Young, milk man, who made remarks about the pudgy outfielder during a game, no decision with Roy Kopp, Cincinnati pitcher, and a victory over Pete Don

WHERE CONVICTS MUTINIED

The photograph here shows Auburn prison, where in one of the worst jail riots in the state of New York's history, eight convicts and one warden lost their lives. The uprising continued for several days, and the rioters died in the final assault and bid for liberty. All convicts who took part in the mutiny, even in a minor degree, are being charged with first degree murder.

SINGLE MEN ARE WITHOUT WORK

Citizens are Urged to Assist in Providing Labor
Where Possible

The industrial situation in Belleville at the present time, compares favorably with other seasons, in so far as local manufacturing firms are concerned. Most factories while they are operating with full staffs are not taking on additional help, and the surplus labor at present registered, at this office for employment is comprised of workers who have been employed on outside construction work, a great number of these are married men with families, according to the report of Superintendent I. F. Green, of the Government Employment Office.

In nearly every case Employers are giving preference and consideration to Belleville workers, the problem cases today are the single men who cannot get any assistance from The Poppy Fund, or the City's Welfare Dept., and who find themselves without funds, in order to carry on with their boarding houses, while at the same time "are anxious" for work.

Whatever helps Labor, helps general business, Employment for the Laborer and the Factoryman means general prosperity. The wages labor receives for Paving and Sewering and Sidewalking new streets or tearing down old buildings and erecting new ones, and for the manufacture of material, this money will go from the pockets of labor to the grocer, the butcher, baker, clothier, the Radio dealer and the Garage man, all will benefit by it if the majority of the workers are local people.

Citizens in general are invited to use this office when in need of workers for the many little odd casual jobs around the home.

McPAIL AGAIN HEADS POOL

Regina, December 14.—For the sixth year in succession A. J. McPail yesterday was elected to the presidency of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool. L. C. Droulette was named vice-president.

THE WEATHER

Moderate north west to north east winds, mostly cloudy and little colder tonight and part of Sunday, probably followed by light local snow Sunday night.

LIFE RESIDENT OF BELLEVILLE DIES

Mrs. C. H. Vermilyea, Widow of Well-Known Business Man Passes

Following an illness of only a few days, Henrietta Vermilyea, widow of Clement H. Vermilyea, died at an early hour this morning at her late home, 122 East Bridge Street. Mrs. Vermilyea sustained a bad fall last week and gradually her condition grew worse until all hope for her recovery was abandoned last night. Her husband, the late Clement Vermilyea, who was one of Belleville's veteran business men died suddenly at his home last February.

Mrs. Vermilyea was a woman of charming personality and was well-known in Belleville where she had lived all her life. Active in religious work, she took a particular interest in the affairs of the Ladies' Aid at Bridge Street United Church, where she was a regular attendant.

Born in Sidney Township, Mrs. Vermilyea was the youngest daughter of the late William and Catherine Donnelly. After her marriage to Clement Vermilyea, she came to Belleville, where she affiliated herself with a number of service organizations, including the Ladies' Aid and mission societies of Bridge Street Methodist Church.

Surviving are two daughters: Mrs. Mabel Allen Allen and Mrs. Marjory Grace Ketcheson, both of Toronto; one sister, Mrs. Charles Amey, of Winnipeg; and three brothers, Denmark Donnelly of St. Louis; Henry Donnelly, of Belleville; and G. Donnelly, of Rochester, also remain, while four grandchildren mourn her loss: Mr. Kenneth Allen, of Belleville; Miss Patricia Allen, of Toronto; and Miss Elizabeth Ketcheson and Master Paul Ketcheson, of Toronto.

STUDENTS COMMENCE XMAS EXAMINATIONS

Yesterday all the pupils of the Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School commenced their Christmas exams. For several weeks everybody in the school has been studying, and those who have not been working as they should have been during the term, are making up for their mistake by increased burning of the midnight oil.

Quietness reigns throughout the school. In all the classrooms the students are busy pouring over their examination papers. This will last until just prior to the Christmas holidays, when school books, and exams, will be sent into the discard for two whole weeks. The holidays commence on Friday, 20th.

TWO MEN SHOT IN HIGHWAY BUN FIGHT

Port Huron, Mich., Dec. 14.—Two men, one a state trooper were wounded in a gun battle near Peck, Sanilac County, early today. Trooper Larry Meahan, St. Clair, received a bullet wound in the leg and the other man, A. W. Sherwood, has his jaw shattered by a bullet. The battle started when officers attempted to stop an automobile containing three men. Instead of obeying the command, the men opened fire.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL STAGED ANNUAL EVENT

Pleasing Christmas Program Given Before Large Audience

Baptist Sunday School staged a successful Christmas entertainment last night in the Sunday School rooms. The attendance was especially large and the rooms were filled to capacity. Mr. P. C. MacLaurin was chairman of the excellent program and made a few opening remarks. The performance proved very entertaining to the large audience, three numbers, The Toy Shop, in which the pupils each took the part of toys, the Pantomimes and the closing Pageant, "The Birth of Christ" were of especial note. The programme in full follows:—

Carols—"Caroling On", by the whole school.

DROP IN PRICE OF CAR MARKERS

Owners of Motors Welcome
Announcement By Premier

This month motorists will feel the benefit of the Ferguson Government's $200,000 reduction in motor license fees, as promised during the election campaign. According to latest word, the 1930 markers will be ready for distribution by December 15th.

Owners of four cylinder cars and lighter sixes will pay only five dollars this year for their licenses. These cars come within the low fee class which includes all automobiles up to, and including twenty-five horse-power.

Motorists driving cars of from twenty-five to thirty-five horse-power will pay ten dollars for their licenses. In this class comes heavier sixes—in the type of car usually described by dealers as medium priced. Big car owners whose cars develop thirty-five horse-power or over will pay twenty dollars for their licenses.

Auburn, N.Y., December 14.—Five of 12 guns missing from the Auburn prison arsenal and believed to have been used in Wednesday's convict riot, have been recovered, prison officials announced today.

Cash Box Containing Funds For Kiddies' Christmas Tree Rifled

To think that in the city of Belleville there is some person or persons so heartless as to deprive a number of kiddies of a little Christmas cheer and happiness, is a sad thought, but nevertheless true.

On Thursday afternoon some unknown party entered the Legion Hall the door of which is always open, and in the absence of the cautions keeper stole the sum of $14.00 which had been donated toward the Canadian Legion Christmas Tree Fund for children of returned soldiers. The money had been put in a tin box and placed in the canteen. This sum of money, though not large, in an ordinary case, means a lot in this instance.

SALVATION ARMY BANDSMEN ARMY MUSIC FESTIVAL

Auto Accident Will Prevent Officer's Appearance
Here on Week-End

Salvation Armyists in the city will be disappointed to learn that they will not have the pleasure of hearing Col. J. Noble, of Toronto, address them this week end, since he, in company with his wife, were in a serious motor accident around Simcoe.

The information is to the effect that Colonel and Mrs. P. Noble were returning from Tillsonburg to Toronto when the accident happened. Mrs. Noble was badly injured and is still in the hospital at Simcoe. Colonel Noble was badly shaken up and is unable to keep the date set for his visit. His visit here has been deferred until January, when he will be in Belleville three days, namely, the 11th, 12th and 13th.

The week end is known in Salvation Army circles as "Bandmen's Week End," when meetings will be held under the supervision of various members of the band.

On Monday there will be a social hour, held at six-thirty in the Sunday school rooms, under the auspices of the bandmen, welcoming the newcomers from Wales. Later in the evening, at eight-thirty o'clock, there will be staged what is known as a "Billboard of Music".

On Tuesday evening the Salvation Army will start their Christmas serenading, in the western section of the city and Station Street. It is expected that they will reach good an objective as they have done in years past. The work done by the Army in aiding the poor is a worthy one and is done conscientiously. The eastern side of the town will be "Caroled" just before Christmas.

COE HILL HOTEL BADLY GUTTED

Fire-Fighters' Work Impeded
By the Zero
Weather

Fire of unknown origin broke out in the New Commercial Hotel at Coe Hill early yesterday morning and completely gutted the place, several guests narrowly escaping with their lives, the fire having made such headway before it was discovered. Everything is a total loss, as it was impossible to save any of the contents.

With the mercury at 23 degrees below zero, and no fire fighting equipment in the village, little could be done to offset the fire demon. Mr. C. S. Rollins, owner of the establishment had just recently rebuilt, renovated and furnished the new hotel. His loss will be heavy, as, although some insurance was carried, it will by no means cover the loss.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"There are more Mormons in London than in Salt Lake City, but their wives don't know it."—Lord Dewart.

OF BEES AND BOOKSELLERS

No, bee, as any student of bees and booksellers would not doubt, admit, is ever busier than a bookseller in the holiday season. This, one might say, represents his shining hours, though the book trade is nowadays pretty well through the year. Neither the automobile, the motion picture nor the radio, each one of which has been declared potent against the reading habit, prevents an enormous annual sale of books; and with all these books the gracious bookseller and his pleasant staff of polite assistants is held to reasonable familiarity by an inquiring public, never more inquiring than in the month of December.

A bookseller has recently written a book about bookselling, which, says he, is "the most hazardous end of the book business" because "a publisher and an author may make a handsome profit on a book that is a loss to the bookseller." Hardly has the inquiring public finished with one holiday season before publishers and booksellers begin thinking about the next; by early summer the bookseller, it's more or less shrewdly examining what the publishers will have to offer for the holiday season—an anxious period, for what he then orders, and does not later sell he can return. The order is his Rubicon. What awaits him when he has bravely crossed it? "A demand springs up for a book. Is it really catching on, or is it merely a flash in the pan? Getting stuck on orders is one of the easiest things in the world of bookselling."

The modern bookseller must be familiar with his wares. When comes the summer, come also the advance copies of the autumn novels, and "ten novels can be read in a week in old moments." With them arrive in advance the travel books; our jolly bookseller, evidently a rapid reader in his armchair, has "been through as many as fourteen in a week-end." 'Tis true that one cannot read through, cover to cover, all the biographies, autobiographies, contributions to history or the fine arts, outlines, juveniles, volumes of poetry or what not. Emulating the bee in this so different garden, one may at least gather some knowledge of each, and be intelligently ready even for that typical demand of the holiday season, "I wish a book for a child of seven who is very advanced for his age."

THE ADJECTIVES GO ON PARADE

The adjective is a perfectly respectable word and entitled to its place in the vocabulary of the average citizen. When attached to a sunset, to the song of a thrush in the sycamores perhaps to the glimmer of a pumpkin in candle light, an adjective vivifies and informs, but when it becomes harnessed to the season's latest books it kicks up its heels like a skittish colt, and often runs away and distributes itself all over the landscape.

For instance, take some of the announcements now to be found in catalogues and bold headlines referring to the quality of volumes intended for the holiday trade. A cursory foraging among these bright bits of sale comment shows that a score of novel are "astounding," epoch-making, "masterful," powerful, "deliciously funny" while the advertisement of man; a biographical work assures the reader that some literary favorites, untrumpeted and unused, must now be swept away in the tide of "astounding" personal revelations that are nothing short of "brilliant," "fascinating" and "revolutionary."

Several of these "masterpieces" incidentally carry prices which literally beggar any ordinary adjective. Apparently some publishers have decided that imaginative description should not be confined to the inside of their books. Many of the "blurbs" on the outside need only a few more "finest" or "greatest" to lift them onto those giddy heights of "adjectivity" so far attained only by motion picture announcements. Indeed, the superlative grows almost as loudly these days from the pages of newspapers and the fronts of billboards as from the high reach of the screen. The one mute merchant "who makes a better mouse trap" in a remote retreat now employs a megaphone and an electric sign to "help the public" beat a path to his gate.

A natural reaction to all this hulla-balloo and exaggeration is that many persons discount its claims paraded in print by overzealous salesmen. It is perhaps better to employ some restraint, or the supply of highly commendatory adjectives may run short, and then folks will have to depend on their own judgment.

FLAT OR ROUND CHESTS

Some years ago I spoke about examining the chests of recruits for overseas service, and that the only young men rejected for having a chest that was too small, admitted that they had not played much as youngsters.

Why? Because the parents were afraid they would get hurt.

Now were these chests flat, as you have understood was the case with weak chests?

No. These chests were actually rounded, and apparently deep.

What did they lack? Width.

For years our text books have taught us that the weak tuberculous chests were flat, and those of us who have had an opportunity of examining many chests of boys and girls have noted that the weak or tuberculous chest was not flat but actually rounded and deep in proportion to its width.

Because as an actual fact the tuberculous chest, in the majority of cases, is a primature or baby chest.

You have seen a baby's chest, and if you will remember, it is about as deep as it is wide.

But Nature didn't intend to have it remain in the proportion. As the boy or girl grows older the chest widens more than it deepens, so that at the age of 14 to 16 the width should be nearly two inches more than the depth, and at the age of 21, the width should be three inches more in the man and two inches in the woman.

And so we read now in one of our medical journals that Dr. S. A. Wiseman, of Minneapolis, finds that the tuberculous chest appears to be round, deep, and narrow. The healthy chest tends to be flat and wide.

The reason the tuberculous chest appeared to be flat was because the outstanding symptom in tuberculosis is tiredness and so as the patient stands or sits his shoulders droop forward, and as you look sideways at him the chest of course appears to be flat because the shoulders are so far forward. If the shoulders are drawn or pulled back ward, the chest will look round, not flat.

And Dr. Wiseman says further "exercise in early childhood can help to develop properly the underdeveloped chest."

This likewise bears out our observations in the examination of our patients. Not a single recruit was rejected for having a chest that was too small, who had ever played any games as a youngster.

The lesson to parents is obvious. See that your youngster plays.

His son, James, four years old, was dead. The child drank nearly a full bottle of "moonshine whiskey," which had been hidden on the shelf.

SEVERE STORMS TIE UP TRAFFIC

Old King Winter Has Reared His Hoary Head in Earnest

Toronto, December 13.—Although the season is young, there are few tricks in hand of King Winter which he has not played in Ontario. The cold wave which started late in November was today displaced by higher temperature and a sleet storm played its part in giving the people of Ontario something new in the weather line.

The storm created an inconvenience to the telephone and telegraph communications and made walking dangerous. The downtown streets here were ankle deep in sleet. Many persons suffered minor hurts from falls, while motor accidents were numerous. Reports from various places throughout the province stated the highways were blocked by snow and motor traffic was impossible in some cases.

MRS. P. SNOWDEN ON THE PROBLEM 'UNEMPLOYMENT'

Asks All Parties to Co-operate in Solving Difficult Question.

London, (By Canadian Press)—Mrs. Snowden, wife of the Chancellor speaking of the Exchequer, in the presence of the Employment Minister, asked Mr. Thomas to admit that no party could settle the unemployment problem, and to invite all parties to get together and deal with it energetically as a nonpolitical issue. The "Daily News" comments Mrs. Snowden's courageous observation, and appeals to the Prime Minister to communicate forthwith in the sense indicated with the leaders of the two Oppositions.

The situation has become far too serious for any party or political consideration. Unemployment—widespread and prolonged—overhangs every other single question in the life of the nation.

Mrs. Snowden is a remarkable woman. Clever, good looking, an organizer, a housewife, full of energy and earnest conviction, courageously candid, and a really fine speaker, she has succeeded in making a world-wide reputation of her own, while retaining a particular distinction as the wife and helpmate of such a man as Philip Snowden. "Without the help of my wife," Mr. Snowden said when the Empire Conference was over, "I could never have achieved success." She is probably better known abroad than any other British woman.

FARMER'S WIFE GIVES SOLUTION

Less Production and More Profits Would Eliminate Troubles.

Toronto, (CP).—A Farmer's Wife writes from Peterboro County to the local press saying that if farm life is to attract people of today there must be less production and larger profits. The first would eliminate trouble over too long hours on farm overwork, and that bugbear to the farm housewife, the hired man. The second would necessitate a system of bookkeeping, and I hope ever farmer would start the new year with some system of keeping accounts. It need not be elaborate, and there can surely be found one member of each family ready to check up all the income and expenditure on the farm. The farmer must demand a selling price for his goods, with the determination that he will either get it or stop reducing. Most of us are getting tired of this habit some farmers have of asking a buyer or storekeeper what he is paying today for this or that.

I hope the United Farmers and Farm Women's Convention in session will discuss these problems. And such

WANTS SANTA CLAUS TO BRING NEW NOSE

(By Canadian Press)
 Sparks, Wis., December 13.—Eight-year-old Doris Gray, whose mother is dead and father missing, wants Santa Claus to bring her a new nose. Doris lost hers when the cupboard tipped over on her. In a letter to a local newspaper, she asked for only one gift, County Judge Richards is playing Santa, and has arranged for the little girl to go to a hospital for treatment.

questions, too, as these: Why in the press is there quoted a difference of about 10 cents per dozen on fresh extra eggs delivered by the country shipper in Toronto, and the retail price? Why should the farmer pay shipping charges on eggs, cream or milk when he also pays shipping charges directly or indirectly on meat goods he buys? Why are we farmers' wives receiving only 50 cents per dozen for eggs, and the other day a city dealer's wife told me she was paying 90 cents per dozen for eggs in Toronto, and "they were nothing extra, either?"

SNAKE PENETRATES A MINE TO BITE MINER

Salisbury, Rhodesia. (CP).—An unusual accident occurred in the Glove and Phoenix mine. One of the natives working at the pumping station at the seventh level was bitten by a brown snake which measured some three feet in length. The native was promptly hauled to the surface and taken to the hospital, where antivenom serum was injected, with satisfactory results. The point agitating the minds of the people concerned is how the snake got there.

The Goodyear blimp Volunteer yesterday gave warning of fire to police at Los Angeles.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

December 12, 1929.

Dear Editor: I notice that a concert for the benefit of veterans and children of veterans, is to given next Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the Belleville College, and am sure that the citizens will be liberal in their offerings for this worthy cause. In the article concerning this concert, the statement is made that "there are hundreds of veterans located in Belleville who are at the present time in very straitened circumstances." The Women's Christian Association makes a complete survey of each ward of the city and keeps a record of all families needing help, of whom they become aware. The Association does not wait for application to be made for help but keeps a close touch with the families where help is required before application is made. The names are kept private and the Association would be pleased to receive information and names comprising the hundreds of veterans needing help. However, may I draw attention to the fact that the highest number of families in Belleville requiring help from city funds, in any one year, has been 149, and these comprised all classes as well as veterans.

If it is incorrect to say that "hundreds of veterans are in straitened circumstances" it would be unfortunate to have this statement broadcast through the country concerning Belleville conditions. If the statement is correct, the situation should be relieved at once, otherwise it might prejudice outsiders against Belleville.

The Association and I, myself, personally, would consider it a great favor if anyone knowing of or hearing of any family needing help, would telephone any of appended list of ward convener who are able to tell what has or is being done for this family at the present time or for Christmas. There has been some overlapping of the country's Christmas cheer through our city churches, clubs, other organizations and private individuals. Last year some families received as many as six hampers for Christmas, just because information of these families was not procured through the Association. Let us have the Christmas cheer and the source from where cheer will be given.

DEDICATE NEW ORGAN AT JOHN STREET CHURCH

Splendid Memorial to Mrs. R. J. Graham Has Been Installed.

The organ was constructed by the well known firm of Savasart Freres St. Hyacinth, Quebec, who, by their fine workmanship, have brought fame to Canada and have won for themselves a place in the annals of organ builders in the world. They have built and installed over 1300 pipe organs in Canada and the United States, South America, France, Japan and South Africa. The serial number of John Street's new organ is 1347.

There are three manuals and pedals and the action is electro-pneumatic. The great organ is placed in the south part of the chancel, the choir in the north and the swell and pedal in the centre. The console, or keyboard, is of the latest design, known as the English console, with the stops at an angle of 45 degrees and is a masterpiece of mechanical ingenuity. There are 560 electro-magnets in the organ, the total length of the wire wound on the poles being 100 miles. The length of wire in the cables leading from the console to the various divisions of the organ is 30 miles, making a grand total of 130 miles of insulated wire in the magnets and cables.

The wind-blowing apparatus consists of a main blower, operated by a 3 h.p. motor placed in a specially constructed room in the basement. This motor also operates a generator which supplies the electricity for the electro-magnets and cables, upon which the action of the organ depends. There are three bellows in the organ for its various divisions.

There are 2168 pipes in the organ. The largest pipe is 16 feet in length and weighs approximately 400 pounds. The smallest pipe is about the size of a lead pencil and weighs only a few ounces.

The tonal scheme of the organ is not only complete and well balanced but artistic talent is manifest in the voicing of all stops. With 30 speaking stops of charming tone color, consisting of flutes, diapasons, strings, obboes, vox humana, clarinet, euphonium, harmonica and at varying pitches in the tonal resources of this instrument are well nigh inexhaustible. So far as is known the vibra-harp is the first to be installed in a church organ in Canada.

This organ is planned to produce a sonorous effect in which the foundation tone predominates, being re-eminent of the quality of lead and sustain the congregational singing. The great delicacy and characteristic quality in different registers, the dignified power of the whole organ, the softness and the perfect blending into one agreeable and massive tone which is not lacking in brilliancy, are all successful features of the instrument.

It will be known as the "Memorial Organ," donated by Mr. R. J. Graham and family in memory of the late Mrs. Graham, an ardent church worker, and whose wish it was that John Street Church should be equipped with a modern pipe organ. Special services will feature the dedication tomorrow. Mr. Leo Riggs, organist and choir leader, will have charge.

WEDDINGS

MOUNTNEY-BRADFORD

A quiet wedding took place last night at 8 o'clock in St. Thomas Church, when Miss Elizabeth Bradford of this city was joined in marriage to Mr. Charles Wm. Alex Mountney, also of this city. Rev. John Lyons officiated at the ceremony. The young couple were attended by Mr. Charles Mountney and Miss Lydia Bradford. Mr. and Mrs. Mountney will reside in Belleville.

KNOX — MAYBEE

On Saturday, December 7th, an event of considerable interest to the many friends of the contracting parties, took place in the village of Brighton, when Miss Florence Evelyn, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Maybee, of that place, became the bride of Mr. Charles H. Knox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy L. Knox, of Glenmillar.

Promptly at 2:30 as the strains of the wedding march filled the room, the young groom, accompanied by the officiating minister, entered the drawing room and took his place under a beautiful arch of exquisite design, and was immediately joined by the fair bride, who was given away by her father.

Dr. J. D. Knox, of Ameliasburg, great uncle of the groom, officiated, and in the midst of silence appropriately solemn, pronounced the young couple husband and wife together.

After hearty congratulations had been offered by all present, and the necessary documents had been filled and signed and witnessed by Mr. Lorne H. Knox, brother of the groom, and Miss Letta V. Wright, a delicious buffet luncheon was served, after which the happy and popular young couple left by motor for eastern points, followed by a shower of good wishes and congratulations.

MAYOR CHARGES ORILLIA OFFICER

Says Police Head Rode On Pass and Pocketed Money

Orillia, Dec. 14.—Chief Louis Mayeur, J. B. Johnston, charged the town for railway trips taken on police business while possessing a pass entitling him to free transportation and with promising leniency to an accused person in the event of his testing, has retained as counsel M. B. Tudhope, prominent local barrister.

Making departure from usual procedure the police committee have invited the attendance of the whole of the council at the investigation of the charges to be held Monday night. It is suggested by one of its members that neither the press nor the public will be denied admission to the proceedings.

In laying his charges against Chief Johnston, such scandal should visit the town. Mr. Johnston claimed to have in his possession an affidavit supporting his charge of improper methods being used by the chief to secure a confession of guilt. It is understood that the affidavit is signed by one Franklin Bull, charged here some time ago with indecent assault and released when the case against him was dismissed upon the ground of insufficient evidence. Mayor Johnston has declined to make specific charges at the police committee investigation Monday.

SOUGHT TO EASE HIS CONSCIENCE

Race Track Follower Leaps To Death in Front Of Train

Meriden, Miss., Dec. 14.—Driven to desperation by brooding over having pushed his companion out of a race horse express car, John Meehan, race track follower, jumped to his death yesterday in front of a freight train and confessed to suicide.

As the train bringing the car load of race horses from Maryland to New Orleans entered Meriden, Meehan leaped through the door of the horse car directly in front of a passing freight train. The train passed over his body. Before he died he said he sought suicide to ease his conscience for pushing his companion to his death "somewhere up north."

He explained he wished to kill himself the same way he had his friend.

Meehan was well known in racing circles.

OSHAWA STORES ARE TARGET FOR PETTY THIEVERY

Oshawa, Dec. 14.—Ties and handkerchiefs were in demand with cash in burglars' loot last night on Oshawa's latest crime, like all others in the city's crime wave, unsolved.

The victim was C. D. Murray, 29 Burke Street, who reported that $10 in cash disappeared with six ties and several handkerchiefs from his home.

The burglary was unique in that it was the first time that articles other than cash have been stolen from a

ALLEN PICKEREL

Allen Pickerel, aged eighty-five, prominent in Orange Circles and of the old timers of Trenton, died this morning.

The late Mr. Pickerel had been in good health up until a short time ago when he was suddenly taken ill. He had lived in Trenton all his life and leaves a large family surviving.

CARLIE MOXAM

The funeral of the late Mrs. Carrie Moxam, who died on Wednesday last, took place yesterday afternoon from her late residence, 10 Highland Ave.

A beautiful service was held in the home conducted by Rev. Dr. Bell, at two-thirty. Mrs. Fred Houston sang several solos at the service. At the Belleville Cemetery, where the interment took place, the same minister conducted the burial rites. A lovely array of floral offerings bore testimony to the esteem in which she had been held by her friends and neighbors.

Fall bearers were kinsmen of the deceased, being Messrs. George, William, Douglas, Harold and Frank Moxam, sons, and William Lafferty, son-in-law.

WILLIAM REID

Mr. William M. Reid, formerly of Springfield and well known through out this district died in Peterborough Friday evening, Nov. 7:30. He was born in Huntingdon sixty years ago, being the youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Miles Reid. He had been ill for several months. He had lived in Peterborough about fourteen years, coming here from Stirling and was engaged in the garment business. His wife predeceased him forty years ago, leaving two sons, Archie and Bailey of Peterborough, one sister, Mrs. Colden, of Toronto and one brother, Theodore of Stirling. He was a member of George Street United Church. The funeral will take place in Peterborough on Monday afternoon from his son's residence, 373 Rogers Street, services at two o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. E. J. Milyard, of George Street United Church.

Interment will be made in Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough.

SOME HELPFUL HINTS FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

The careful woman is quite particular what soap she uses in her household. For laundry and cleaning purposes she always uses a mild soap—one with no free alkali—to avoid injury to colors or finishings.

Soap in solution is more satisfactory because it cleans more evenly and safely than soap in a cake. Soap flakes and chips are convenient for this purpose and make suds so quickly that these products have become popular with housewives. If you have a favorite soap in cake or bar form that you prefer to use you can chip it yourself, and the easiest way to do this is to rub it over the grater.

Thrifty housewives make soap because they consider it a good way to use up waste fat and bits of soap, but they usually use lye in making it, so home-made soaps are likely to contain free alkali and should be used with caution, both on fabrics and painted or otherwise finished surfaces.

Don't plan a dinner without one green vegetable.

Soap rubbed on door hinges will prevent them from squeaking.

A few newspapers will make an excellent pad for your ironing board.

Be sure the material is worth the time spent on it before making over an old garment.

The home dressmaker will find a smooth, firm, well-padded ironing board one of the greatest aids to efficient sewing.

Representations with a view to the appointment of Dr. P. A. McIntosh of Spencerville to the senate have been laid before Premier Mackenzie King.

WHAT'S NEW (From a Woman's Standpoint)

The shirtwaist and skirt costume has been revived by English golfers.

New York reports that ermine, white and cream, caracul, fitch, black broadtail and blue-grey squirrel lead for formal wear.

Jersey blouse is a distinct rival to the slip-on sweater with which sports were so frequently completed.

Long sleeves are being added to the dinner frock and little bodices and long, low-placed fullness dominates the evening models.

Printed chiffons and printed crepes in small all-over designs are declared prevalent in the showings of Paris houses, both for afternoon and evening wear for winter resorts, and with these printed dresses, large hats of bangkok or novelty straws are described.

As the afternoon and evening gown grows longer the sleeve silhouette changed and fuller sleeves are inevitable while circular flounces, draped forearm and jeweled sleeves may seem a trifle quaint, but they are quite in harmony with the sweeping length of line.

Paris reports that there are signs that dark gloves of the slick kid variety are going to replace the standard beige and grey in the future. Black glaze kid pull-on gloves already are considered smarter than light ones by the Parisian women for wear with dark silk costumes and dark tailcoats.

The police have failed to find any trace of John L. Wright, real estate operator, who has been missing from his home in Windsor since Wednesday night.

Just For The Feminine Reader

ADDRESSING YOUR CARDS AND GIFTS

An interesting point of etiquette is involved in the addressing of envelopes containing greeting cards or invitations. Even this comparatively small detail is based on consideration for others, which is the foundation on which all rules of etiquette and good manners actually stand. Such an address as "Mr. and Mrs. John Adams and Family" is too inclusive to conform to the rules of etiquette, as it shows lack of consideration for the various members of the household. Except in certain extreme cases, where the family includes so many that it would be almost impossible to send individual invitations or greeting cards, each member of the family should be personally addressed. It is permissible, however, to address two or more sisters as "The Misses Adams" and two or more brothers as "The Messrs. Adams," thus giving at least a certain degree of individuality to the invitation or greeting.

Another method of address which may be considered, when the members of the same family are too numerous to mention individually, includes all the names on the same envelope.

This requires careful gauging of space if an attractive appearance is to be the result. Such an address should be either squarely blocked on the envelope or each line slightly indented. If the writing is small and the envelope sufficiently large, this can be successfully accomplished and be considered correct from the standpoint of etiquette. The address will read: Mr. and Mrs. John Adams The Misses Adams The Messrs. Adams 28 The Avenue Farnham, Maine.

While this may seem a somewhat wholesome method of addressing six or more persons, it is preferable to the inclusive words "and family." In cases where two households are related or are otherwise on terms of informality and intimacy, a gift intended for the happiness of the entire family may be given by the other family and tagged with an appropriate degree of pleasantness, though the outer wrapping should be formally addressed to the mother and father of the home. The inside tag for instance may read:

"To the Adamses from The Browns With loving greetings to all."

Beautiful hair!

Modern hair dressers arrange the hair so beautifully that it's bound to attract attention. That's why it's so important to guard its color and lustre; keep it in perfect condition.

There is no surer, simpler way to do this than with Danderine. The time you use your brush, just moisten it with this delicately fragrant liquid. Then as you draw it through your hair, it removes the excess oil; brings out the natural color; makes the hair fairly sparkle with new life and lustre.

How much easier it is to arrange the hair afterwards. How it stays in place. And try "setting" the waves with Danderine. They stay in so much longer.

Danderine quickly dissolves the crust of dandruff; puts the scalp in the pink of condition; helps the hair to grow.

Chocolate Doughnuts

1 egg, 1 cup sugar, 1-3 cup cocoa or 2 squares of grated chocolate melted with 1 teaspoon butter, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 5 1-4 cup flour, pinch salt, 1 cup milk.

Beat egg, add sugar and stir thoroughly. Add cocoa or chocolate. Sift baking powder and salt into a little flour and add alternately with milk. Stir in enough flour to make a stiff dough, stiff enough to roll out, using about five cups. Cut and fry in deep fat. A delightful change from the ordinary plain doughnuts.

RICH MINCEMEAT

One and a half pounds lean beef boiled tender (meat fine when cold), two pounds beef suet, three pounds raisins, two pounds currants, two pounds apples, chopped; two and a half pound brown sugar, half pound candied mixed peel, two lemons boiled and chopped fine, quarter pound shelled walnuts. Put the above ingredients over the fire with a little water or sweet cider. While heating add one teaspoon ground ginger, one teaspoon all-spice, one teaspoon mace, one teaspoon nutmeg, one tablespoon salt. Boil all together 20 minutes. If sealed and it will keep for months and become more mellow with age.

WOMAN DOCTOR TELLS STORY OF BLAZING TRAIL

Dr. Augusta Stowe Gullen Was First Canadian to Graduate.

Toronto, Ont., (By Canadian Press) — Courage and a determination to blaze a trail on for Dr. Augusta Stowe Gullen the honour of being the first woman physician to graduate from a Canadian University. But it was her gallant spirit, her wholly charming personality and her deep love for her fellowmen that earned for her the sincere warmth of affection and devotion which marked the gathering of distinguished members of the medical profession at the Academy of Medicine when her portrait, painted by Allan Barr, was presented to the Academy by the Medical Alumnae.

"Here is our own country," said Dr. Gullen, "we find that there was born at South Norwich, Conn., in 1831, a little girl, who later became Mrs. Emily Howard Stowe, a woman of great force of character, undaunted courage and by temperament a pioneer, who, after proving herself the successful mother of three children, found her thirst for an education which would enable her to help other mothers and children still so strong in her that she was impelled to steal quietly across the border to the south of us, to a school of medicine where women were admitted as students."

"In 1867 she graduated and returned joyfully to her native soil to serve her country women, but it was not until 1880 she was admitted a member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario, when she became the first woman physician permitted officially to practice medicine in Canada. During these years, she and her only daughter, Augusta, became inseparable pals, and with a spirit almost beyond the imagination of any but the true pioneer, she urged her daughter to follow the trail and to break through the early convention of this country. And so it happened that just 50 years ago this past October, and one year before her mother got her official license to practice—a shy and sensitive young girl in her teens, collecting all the courage she could muster, went forth to register in the great friendless halls of the man-inhabited college—and she carried on—though she admits not lashed closed her eyes on many nights from sheer loneliness. In 1883 she graduated from our own Toronto School of Medicine, which at that time was in affiliation with Victoria University.

Quebec Women Ask for Rights

People are Both For and Against the New Franchise.

Montreal, Que., (By Canadian Press) — "Feminism is one of the problems Quebec has to grapple with at the present time," declared Pierre Beaulac, K.C., speaking at a meeting of the Junior Bar Association. "It is an outgrowth of the world war. During that troubled period, women volunteered their services, worked side by side with men, and took a most active part in the life of the nation."

The Province of Quebec is essentially traditionalist, not easily swayed by new ventures. Feminism is welcome by some and deplored by many. The champions of that movement are listing new support from day to day. Women have developed in their own ranks eloquent leaders. Their repeated demands have found an echo in the press in Parliament and the homes. The question is now whether or not you are a feminist. "Am I one?" was the enigmatic query of the speaker.

Quebec Women Ask for Rights

People are Both For and Against the New Franchise.

Montreal, Que., (By Canadian Press) — "Feminism is one of the problems Quebec has to grapple with at the present time," declared Pierre Beaulac, K.C., speaking at a meeting of the Junior Bar Association. "It is an outgrowth of the world war. During that troubled period, women volunteered their services, worked side by side with men, and took a most active part in the life of the nation."

The Province of Quebec is essentially traditionalist, not easily swayed by new ventures. Feminism is welcome by some and deplored by many. The champions of that movement are listing new support from day to day. Women have developed in their own ranks eloquent leaders. Their repeated demands have found an echo in the press in Parliament and the homes. The question is now whether or not you are a feminist. "Am I one?" was the enigmatic query of the speaker.

OPTOMETRY REAL ADVANTAGE FOR MODERN PEOPLE

To see clearly and without difficulty to be able to study, to read, without strain and inconvenience, is one of the greatest gifts enjoyed by any man, woman or child.

Every sensitive human being appreciates the fact expressed in the above statement. Yet, more than fifty per cent of this and any other educated nations have defective vision. Statistics prove this. The percentage taken in all ages and all occupations, the child in the school is far from being exempt. Many a child with a brilliant mind is classed as "slow to learn" because of some easily remedied afflic-tion which throws the intricate human mechanism out of tune. In an almost unbelievable number of cases the trouble is seated in the eyes and can be remedied easily almost instantly.
Many an adult with perfect vision had impaired, but properly corrected vision when a child.

Many an adult is today handicapped, has had a possible brilliant career ruined because of neglect—neglect to his eyes in the days of his childhood or his youth.

More than half the employees in every industrial institution could do more and better work if they enjoyed the benefits of perfect vision. Many

"Go North Young Man"

"Unlimited development in Canada's Northland" is one of many striking phrases taken from a book just off the press on the Dominion's new era of rapid development. A Canadian should have written the work, but it was an American who did so, and perhaps it is better because it is written by one who has been suspected of boomeranging his own country. An outsider writing of Canada may be conceived to have written dispassionately.

In "Go North Young Man" (McGraw-Hill, Toronto), Courtney
Ryley Cooper has somewhat altered Horace Greeley's advice of two generations ago. After giving much study to his subject, he thinks that young Americans should seek their fortunes in this Dominion and its steadily expanding frontiers. He is fascinated by the big things he has lately seen being done in northern Quebec, northern Ontario, northern Manitoba, northern Saskatchewan, northern Alberta and the Northwest Territories.
Mr. Cooper repeats the forecast that Canada will some day be the dominant state of the British Empire, and he proceeds to explain why the new country is making good its promise.
The reason, he says, is this New North, cramped with minerals, thundering with possibilities for hydroelectric development, sufficiently titillating at intervals to assure small fortunes to hard-working pioneers. And everywhere it bristles with the spires of soft woods which return almost ten for ten in newsprint and sulphate papers, to say nothing of the development of calciferous fibre which produces the silky rayon and kindred products. This is the land which lately belonged only to the Indian trapper and the dog-sled driver, to the wandering factor of the Hudson's Bay Company and the lone French-Canadian prospector.

The area under development rapidly spreads and, says the author, "As the men pour in to pour the millions of dollars, hundreds upon hundreds of them, money from the United States, Twenty millions for the new railroad, for something else; twenty millions more for a year's railroad building, ten millions for the development of a single mine, another million for prospecting—just to find out if a piece of ground is worth spending a real sum of money upon."

Suddenly, overnight seemingly, the north country began to crack wide open. A crevice is extending across the north of the whole Dominion now, widened more in the last three years than in all the history of Canada.
From Labrador, across the Ungava country, into northern Quebec, across the New North of Ontario, and through the Patricia district, into Manitoba, and northwest into the Bar-ren lands and beyond, across Saskatchewan and Alberta, and British Columbia, and into the Yukon, the northward push is going forward like the skirmishing lines of a tremendous army.

The westward flow of empire in the history of the United States is puny compared to it. In fact, there is no comparison; the dramatics of the Alaskan rush were easier to describe because they were concentrated. But there were no more prevalent.

As the writer points out, this northward push, incidentally, is not one which merely quests for gold or other minerals, like the chase of 98. It includes agriculture and the opening up of farming districts, but it is not soley concerned with that, as was the opening of Oklahoma and the opening of the Kansas Pacific and the Union Pacific, but that too, is in the past. For there is even more in the present, to the north, manufacturing, agriculture, mines, water power, the hope of oil and coal, smelters, railroads, opening of new steamship lines cities—all these are the impulses of a country which has been, until the last few years, a mere frontier in every sense of the word.

As might be expected, the author deals with the Great Laurentian Plateau or Pre-Cambrian Shield which occupies most of central and northern Canada, overlapping for a few miles into the United States south and west of Lake Superior. Starting with this slight extension of the Canadian shield into Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, he points out that it has given the world the Michigan copper mines and the Mesabi iron upon which is based most of the industrial prosperity of one-half the republic. In Canada, the same mineral formations have produced most of the widely distributed mining camps of all the central provinces.

As already indicated, Canada's rapid development in the last few years is based in great measure on the abundant and wide distribution of her water powers, which provide ample motive energy for the utilization of her timber forests and mineral resources.
The "Duke-Price" interests on the Saguenay River are developing more than a million horsepower for one project alone, the control of the whole in aluminium market. One unit is in operation and the rest are under instruction. To gain a true idea of the water powers available, all one has to do is to visualize an industrial map of Canada from the east to the west. If an incessant string of pulp and paper mills located between the Atlantic and the prairie provinces, 132 in all, all of them running on water power, and some of these power plants developing as much as 100,000 horsepower.

After one finishes with paper mills, one can turn to the smelters and mine mills which are dotting Canada from the Rockies to Quebec—and again it is the musky water that is turning out the copper, the gold, the silver, and the lead and zinc to keep a nation busy with manufactures. —Christian

BERMUDA LACKS IN PURE WATER

Houses So Built That They Will Gather Falling Moisture.

Toronto, Ont.—(CP)—Adele Haines
Austin, waiting in "Saturday Night" of a visit to Bermuda, says: "It matters not whether one be rich or poor, black or white, one's dwelling must be built of coral limestone cut from hillside quarries, in blocks two feet long and six inches high and from six to twelve inches from the front to back, according to the desired thickness of the wall.
Seldom do the houses have cellars below the ground level, usually only a few inches of soil have to be removed to expose the rock. For the roof a special close grained coral is selected and cut into levelled slates, like shingles. No nails are used; the overlapping course is held by strong cement mortar. The roof is then coated with cement followed by layers of lime wash.
The result being a water tight roof."

The lack of fresh water is one of Bermuda's greatest problems. Although the island covers approximately 20 square miles there is not a drop of fresh water save that which comes from the sky. Fancy drinking rain water!

We had visions of swallowing distillers with each drink, for our thirst-iest was one of recollection of rain water was one of old water-tight barrel standing near a leaky cave house, breeding mosquitoes and bacteria, but catching water. Our fears were quickly allayed when we learned that under rigidly enforced laws each house must have the roof waterproofed twice a year, and each house must have a suitable water catch and storage tank which also comes under the law, and must be kept clean. There are no factories on the island to pollute the air with smoke and no motors. We saw much drink that did not fall from the skies!

Montreal—Announcement of two new awards for competition in Canada was recently made by Col. G. A.
Hodgetts, C.M.G., director general of the St. John Ambulance Association, presented first aid trophies to winners among the men of the Canadian National Railway's shops at Point St. Charles. A tyro trophy is open to all teams in the Dominion which have not won a senior trophy, will be open for competition next year. Dr. Keith Hutchinson announced that he and his brothers were making arrangements for the donation of a trophy in memory of their father, Dr. Alex. Hutchinson, medical officer of the Grand Trunk System, who died recently. Dr.
Hutchinson was one of the pioneers of

BUSINESS NOTES

WHY NOT A MOTOR CAR

Nothing the family would appreciate more than a good car this Christmas.
Always appreciated, Christmas Day with Surprise them on Christmas Day with the gift of a Reo from Assestine and Sons, local Reo Dealers, Moira Street.

GLASSES ALWAYS ACCEPTABLE

For Mother or Dad, Sister or Brother, a new pair of glasses from Leybourne's, Optometrist, Front Street, is just the thing. They make a gift that will give years of useful service.

A GIFT FOR THE CAR

For the motorist, a gift for the car is always appreciated. Quinte Battery Service, Dundas Street, carry a line of accessories that any motorist would welcome. A set of shock absorbers for instance makes an ideal gift.

TREAT YOURSELF

Treat yourself for Christmas; have your hat cleaned at Maraskas Shop on Front Street, opposite Victoria Avenue.
A good cleaning costs little and Mar-askas will put your old hat in first class shape for you in short order.
Do it now and be ready for the holiday season.

DOUGHNUTS FOR CHRISTMAS

Speaking of Christmas presents don't overlook your order of Christmas doughnuts and cakes from Tarlington's for the festive season. Tarlington is still making and selling his well-known line of doughnuts, cakes and pastry and they may be secured at almost any grocery and provision store.

TIRES FOR GIFTS

Tires make ideal gifts, and Firestone tires especially are the kind that any car driver will recognize as among the Best. See George Deline, local Firestone distributor and have him show you the complete Firestone line.

WITH A WASH-RACK

An automobile that can be taken apart and parked in the kitchen has been invented by Englebert Zachka of Berlin.

Although slightly under regulation size, the car can carry two passengers.
The body is constructed of canvas. The garaging process of this little machine consists of parts of a jig-saw puzzle.
First, the body is detached and folded into neat bundle; then the chassis is dismounted. Each piece that makes up the frame is numbered, and fitted.
Steering wheel and post, wheels, motor and body rods each are separate units.
The affair has three wheels and can be assembled in a few minutes.

GOING UP

Dollar volume of sales of General Motors products in the third quarter of the current year reached $49,327,555 as compared with $49,158,789 in the corresponding quarter of last year. This brought the volume of net sales for the first, nine months of 1929 to $1-287,477,542 as against $1210,408,566 in the first three quarters of last year.

TICKETS, PLEASE

With tourist travel for the season establishing a new record, Quebec is determined to eliminate the "road hog" who dawdles along at a low rate of speed obstructing general traffic.

Everything, including a police ticket, comes to him who tarries too long on Quebec highways.

SPLITTING HAIRS

Count 131-2 grains of wheat, weigh them carefully, and the result is a source, is that limit in tolerance allowed above or below the fixed weight set for the pistons used in the new Viking, 90 degree V-type, eight-cylinder engine.

This "air-spitting" fineness is one of the many intricate mechanical operations performed to give perfect balance to the reciprocating parts of the Viking engine.

TAXIS WITHOUT DOORS

A fleet of two-seater taxicabs of unusual design will appear in the city shortly. The cabs will have two curved sliding panels forming the front of the passenger compartment, instead of doors. These can be operated by the driver without leaving his seat, or by passengers. There is accommodation for two when the movable arm is raised.

1 tablespoon gelatin

Cut up crab meat into small pieces

Chop celery and cabbage. Whip the cream and add the mayonnaise and gelatin which has been dissolved over hot water. Combine with celery, cabbage and crab meat. Place in wet mould and chill thoroughly. Serve on lettuce leaves.

Moulded Cheese Salad

2 cups hot milk

1-2 cup grated cheese

1 envelope gelatin

1-2 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon mustard

1 teaspoon vinegar

1 egg

Pimentos.

Melt cheese in hot milk. Stir together vinegar, gelatin, salt and mustard. Dissolve in a little of the hot liquid, then stir in melted cheese and well-beaten egg and cook until it thickens. If the mixture curdles, use an egg beater. Pour into moulds lined with cold water. Cool. Serve on lettuce with boiled salad dressing and garnish with sliced pimentos, green pepper or olives. This also makes a good sandwich filling.

Apricot Souffle.

Rub drained canned apricots through a puree sieve. To 1 cup of pulp add

1-2 teaspoon salt and 1-2 cup sugar and heat in double boiler. Beat whites of 3 eggs stiff and dry then fold them into the hot fruit pulp.

Grease timbale or custard cups, sprinkle with sugar and fill with fruit mixture. Set in a pan of hot water, bake until firm at 375 deg. F. Chill.

Unmold, and serve with golden custard sauce. For sauce, beat the 3 yolks slightly, add pinch of salt and 1-4 cup of sugar. Into this stir 2 cups hot milk. Cook in double boiler, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Pour into cold container, add 1 teaspoon vanilla, and chill.

Poems Old And New

HEAVEN FOR HORSES
Shuffle along, O paint cayuse!
Prick up your flydown ears, we've swung
The pasture gate to turn you loose,
To let your carcass, sprained and sprung,
Your rattling bag of bones now pass
To a paradise of grass.

Never again a pain to come
From panniers prounding on your side
Like cudgels clattering on a drum;
From saddles that gall your tender hide;
From the rake and sweep of grinding
rovels
And spurs that stab your bowels

Time for a blench's holiday!
Time now to watch the clouds roll by
To nibble the knee-deep salty hay,
To roll and sprawl your heels on the
sky;
O paint-o! bid yourself in clover.
The pull of the years is over.

Nothing to do now, but placidly stand And wait till your sagging head shall
sink;
And the ghost of you, with a flaming brand,
Will gallop over the world's brink
To heaven, with a dim white rider attitude
Your ribs on a ghostly saddle.

Heaven for horses!—a billowy plain
With blocks of salt in mountain rows, Timothy tall as pines, and grain
atrandle
In oceans up to your nose;
Where a horse forever may plant his feet
In rivers of oats and eat.

Heaven!—no starry refuge there For the mice that worry you into flight,

Santa Claus' Letter Box

81 Church Street,
Belleville, Dec. 8, 1929.

Dear Santa Claus: I hope that when you are visiting Belleville this coming Christmas that you will come to my house and leave a big doll for my sister, Lillian, who is 8 years of age, and a pair of skates for myself, whose age is 6 years, also a box of treats. Hoping you will have a safe journey on your sleigh.

HOW TO RAISE HOUSE PLANTS

Freeela Is One of Easiest Bulbs to Grow Inside.

One of the easiest of all fall bulbs for growing in the house, even in a window of a steam-heated house, is the freeela. It can be bloomed successfully with very little trouble. Most of the fall bulbs are known as Dutch bulbs because Holland is the centre of their production. The freeela belongs to the class known as Cape bulbs because it originated in South Africa and is a close relative of the gladiolus and a member of the iris family.

Originally known only as a white, then with the addition of a yellow, we now have this delightful bulb in a wide range of colors including reds, oranges, yellows, pinks, and purples. The freeela is a very hardy plant and will grow in yellow and with interesting variegations and shadings. It has also been greatly increased in size and beauty of form.

The freeela, besides the beauty of its colorings, is delightfully fragrant. It has become one of the most popular of winter flowers. Now is the time to get pots going for winter. The bulbs are botanically known as corms or solid bulbs, a true bulb such as a tulip or an onion consisting of a series of layers, while a corm is all in one piece, the gladiolus being an example.

They should be planted, half a dozen to a 5-inch pot, about an inch below the surface of the soil, which should be kept damp but not wet and set away in a dark closet until they have made about an inch of leaf growth. They should then be brought to the light and set in a window to grow until they bloom. The foliage resembles a miniature gladiolus. The one care that must be taken during their growing period is not to allow the soil to dry out. Give good drainage by putting broken flower pots, crockery, or coarse pebbles in the bottom of the pot and use a porous soil. Lighten heavy black soil with torpedo or white sand.

The most unfavorable condition as a house plant is too high temperature. Put them in a window as far away from the radiator as may be. If the atmosphere is too hot and dry the buds may abort. The atmosphere is not one that should be permitted for the good health of human beings.

Girl Guide Activities

The Girl Guides of Belleville are modest and unassuming and apparent by believe in the Bible adage of not letting their right hand know what the left is doing. This is a commendable attitude, still we believe the public would like to know from time to time what the girls are doing. Company Three wants new hats. They have had the old ones some seven or eight years! Now the girls have a Hat Fund. They collected nearly a ton of old paper and sold it, and last Saturday the seniors ran a Thrift Shop in the City Hall, whilst three Patrols sold home cooking, and a nice little sum was added to that Fund. I might add that the old hats are being sent to a newly organized Company in North Hastings.

Watch for this column next Saturday.

MANY THOUSAND LEAVE STATES

435,000 Native-Born Seek Permanent Habitation in Other Lands.

Washington.—(AP)—Nearly half a million American citizens have left the United States to take up residence abroad during the last twelve years. Of these, 435,000 were native-born, while 62,000 were naturalized, and the Department of Labor, in its annual report, said they had sought "permanent, or at least extended" places of living in other lands.

The figures, which were compiled by the commissioner general of immigration, said that during the last 22 years nearly 4,000,000 resident aliens of the United States left with the stated intention of living in some foreign country. About 12,000,000 immigrant aliens were admitted during the same period.

"The number leaving the country has diminished greatly since the quota law went into effect," the report said, "but even now 25 alien residents emigrate for every 100 immigrants who enter for permanent residence, compared to 33 emigrants for 100 immigrants for the whole 22 years."

Y.M.C.A. BOWLING.

In the Teachers League, Albert College just stepped out and took four points at the expense of King George. The story is Albert College were right in form while King George did not appear to be able to keep pace. Dr. Bishop rolled the high singles of 231, 191 and was best for three games with 530. McKimmon's 188 and Mrs. Lounsbury's 183 were next high. Miss Cook's 138 was the best single for the fair ones.

Delaney final standing of the Junior League regular schedule: A Group—C. N. Moguls 17, Maple Spillers 11, Five Aces 10, Houston Co. 8, Metropolitan Stars 7, B. Group—Rail Stars 21, Cherry Pickers 21, Ladies 16, Rollers 16, C. N. Shops 11, Serenaders 8, Moose 6, Tigers 1.

Moguls and Maple Spillers meet

Monday night in play off for A Group while Cherry Pickers and Rail Stars meet Tuesday night for B Group championship.

Tonight will likely see several more toppling them in the big roll of the suit and grab off the choice of alley for the play off which goes to the highest five players in this week who remain in.

Teachers League
Albert College—Miss McPherson 364; Miss Steele 302; Mr. Orlinmon 472; Dr. McMullen 455; Dr. Bishop 580; total 2173.
King George—Miss Cook 345; Miss Tolson 271; Miss Lounsbury 339; Mr. Kells 379; Mr. Brown 340; total 1673.

RECREATION BOWLING

Tonight winds up the second weekly prize competition at the Recreation Alley and no doubt some of the leaders now will be ousted before the evening is over. The following are leading to date. Miss S. Ford in the ladies high three string class, T. Morrell in the gent's three string, while Mr. and Mrs. Beinaup are leading in the mixed doubles.

In the ladies class Miss P. Holway is only a few points down on the leader while in the gent's class C. Brown has two good scores to work on to overcome the leader. In the mixed doubles anything can happen as the highest score is 414 for the two players.

The Breakaway and the Frontenacs were one of the ladies junior league games last night, the former team taking three points and the latter one. Miss J. Grants 524 and E. Smith's 493 were the best for their teams.

The Ponies and the Whoopies were the second girls junior game with the Ponies having a little advantage over the Whoopies by taking the first two games and total and losing the final game. High bowlers were M. Pomeroy 532 and A. Bradshaw 450.

There were three other games started in the different league last night, but as their were players short on each team the games will be finished off at a latter.

Ladies Junior League

Frontenacs—A. Tompkins 364; G. Doehler 445; A. Wilkins 445; E. Smith 493; total 1747.

Breakaway—V. Holson 448; J. Grant 524; B. Grant 431; M. Hodger 408; total 1811.

Whoopies—M. Asselstine 433; S. Doyle 400; B. Canfield 430; A. Bradshaw 450; P. Brockhurst 366; total 2079.

Ponies—H. Kemp 423; M. Pomeroy 532; I. Dracup 412; Mrs. Reppard 403; V. Breach 441; total 2211.

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Newspapermen appear to have their own troubles too. Washington, Dec. 28.—Now it can be told how it was a very Merry Christmas for a good many newspapermen in Washington. As an aftermath of the fire in the White House offices on Christmas Eve, stacks of the troubles of correspondents are going the rounds. A veteran correspondent called up his wife: "My dear, I'm awfully sorry but I cannot get home tonight. The White House is on fire."

ANGLO - RUSSIAN PACT INCLUDES ALL DOMINIONS

Propaganda Article in 1924 Treaty Confirmed By Sokolnikov

DIFFERENCE SEEN

Each Part of Empire May Confirm Protocol Separately

London, December 28.—The Foreign Office last night made public the notes exchanged on December 20th between Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, Foreign Secretary, and Ambassador K. Sokolnikov, of Soviet Russia, confirming the protocol on propaganda drawn up at the Anglo-Russian conversations at Leves in October.

The undertaking against circulation of propaganda agreed to, embraces on the one hand, Great Britain, India and on the other hand, Russia. Ambassador Sokolnikov's note accompanying the main document says, after confirming the propaganda article in the treaty of August 8, 1924, that the Russian Government "has considered that undertaking as extending to the British Dominions (Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, the Irish Free State and Newfoundland).

Agreement with Dominions. Consequently, as the Government of any Dominion shall have regulated its relations with the Union of Soviet Republics in such manner as the circumstances may require, the Government of the U.S.S.R. will be ready to repeat, on the basis of reciprocity, the undertaking referred to, in a separate exchange of notes with such a Dominion."

The Soviet note about the Dominions is especially important in its mention of South Africa, where police informers recently accused Communist propagandists of causing trouble among natives.

Foreign Secretary Henderson's note about the Dominions says that each of them will regard the undertaking on propaganda in the 1924 treaty as having "full force and effect as between themselves and the Government of the U.S.S.R."

Official circles do not believe that the apparent discrepancy in the text of the Russian and British notes is important, but it may mean that each Dominion will have to confirm the protocol with a separate note to Russia.

SCHOOL CONCERT WELL ATTENDED

Prince of Wales Pupils Presented Two Delightful Plays

Prince of Wales School held their Christmas Concert last night in the school auditorium. A large crowd attended and enjoyed to the full the splendid program presented by about 75 pupils. Mr. Kenneth Bird, principal, capably acted as chairman. To Miss Irene Young and Dora Osborne went the credit for the two excellent plays produced. The children conducted themselves in a faultless manner and no mistakes were made.

The first play presented was entitled "Key to Jack Canuck's Treasure House." The little sketch embodied the spirit of "Canada for Canadians" and was very entertaining. The second play was "The Music Box." The children taking part in this second number all did their parts well. The large audience showed their approval by hearty applause. In between the two plays Christmas Carols were sung and after the program the children were given nuts and candies and a gift from the well-laden Christmas tree.

Chinese Refused to Accept Japanese Envoy, Hence The Disagreement

FIRM ATTITUDE

Ulterior Motives Seen For Japan's Insistence In This Matter

Tokio, December 28.—The already tense atmosphere of the whole Far East, from which undercurrents lead to Manchuria one way or another, today was heightened by the curious situation involving Chinese-Japanese relations due to the outgrowth of Chinese objections to the appointment of Torikichi Ooba as Japan's Minister to Peking.

China recently refused to accept M. Ooba's appointment, and today Torikichi, Minister of Foreign Affairs, some what surprisingly informed China, through the Shanghai Consul-General, that Japan considers Nankin's attitude "a wanton disregard of international courtesy," and warns Nankin officials that if the attitude is continued diplomatic relations between Japan and China will suffer seriously.

Real Reason Alleged. A Foreign Office official states that this means simply that if China again refuses to accept M. Ooba, Japan will revoke recognition of Nankin.

While Japan's thus extremely firm attitude shocks some quarters here, observers trace the present situation to Japan's peculiar attitude to the Manchurian trouble, claiming that the Chinese-Japanese strained relations do not actually concern Ooba at all, but result from the failure of the two countries to reach an agreement regarding the Soviet invasion.

World Aids China. A foreign diplomat here, who is apparently unbiased, but whose name naturally is withheld, strongly hinted today that he believed Japan had deliberately prepared diplomatically and militarily, to enter the Manchurian dispute on China's side, but had been unable to secure certain assurances from Nankin.

The Government's publication of an alleged Soviet plot to overthrow the Japanese Throne, and consequent disputes over the Sakhalin fishery concessions, prepared the way diplomatically, he said, for Japan to appear in the eyes of the world as justified, especially since Japanese citizens in North Manchuria apparently suffered hardships from the Soviet invasion.

EXPECT SEVERAL NEW PEERAGES

Premier MacDonald Wishes To Strengthen Party in House of Lords

London, December 28.—Several new peerages are expected in the New Year's honours list. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald is anxious to increase the labor force in the House of Lords, in which chamber the government at present is considerably weak. The matter obviously requires delicate handling by the Prime Minister.

Probably a dozen more or less retired trades union leaders of the old time semi-political type could be found for the labor benches in the Lords if only a system of life peerages was instituted. This, however, would require legislation and even so Mr. MacDonald's present needs would not be satisfied. He wants at the moment young men of first class debating ability to combat the experienced peers of the Conservative and Liberal parties. And it is difficult to see how he can find these without running the risk of gravely depleting his debating team in the Commons.

An interesting rumor is that C. P. Scott, veteran editor of the Manchester Guardian until recently, and one of the foremost editors in Great Britain, will be given the order of merit. There are several official vacancies in this order which is entirely at His Majesty's personal disposal.

Scott, during the last 30 years, could have had any honor up to a viscountcy through any Liberal prime minister. If he would be awarded the O.M. he would join such eminent writers as Barrie, Bridges and Galsworthy.

Prisoner Mesmerizes Policeman and Makes Good His Escape

Chicago, December 28.—This long out for Gene Tunnay had nothing on him. He went to Tony Hinz of Calmet City police station, took last night. The sergeant had arrested a fellow who turned out to be a mesmerist. "Mesmerist?" "You give me, 'I don't believe it,'" the sergeant said. "However I will gladly demonstrate." That's O.K.

Long Lived Family

Seventy-three years is the average age of five members of one family, who are holding a reunion here today. This family is shown in the above photograph. From left to right:

They are: Front row—Mrs. Josephine Hughes Maguire, Minneapolis 95; Mrs. Elizabeth Kerrison, 93 Darling Ave., Toronto, 83; Mrs. Joan Wood, 371 Auder Ave., Toronto, 81; Back row, John P. Hughes, 6934 Queen Street W., Toronto, 72; G. W. Hughes, Waterloo, Iowa, 70; All its members were born on the farm of the parents in Tecumseh township, Simcoe county. Their mother lived to be 92 and their father 77.

INSTALL OFFICERS AT MOIRA LODGE

Fine Musical Programme Given By Y's Men's Male Chorus

Moira Lodge, No. 11 A.P. & A.M. met in the Masonic Temple last night to install their officers, on the occasion of the annual celebration of St. John's Night. The officers installed for the year 1930 are:

1. M. P.—Bro Alec Kidd.
W. M.—J. W. Cook.
S. W.—R. P. Orr.
J. W.—M. W. Barlow.
Secretary—George Dulmage.
Treasurer—J. W. Barlow.

The beautiful ceremony of installing the officers was presided over by R. W. Bro. J. W. Barlow, assisted by the following Past Masters: H. W. Morgan, C. Kahley, William McIntosh, Dr. Kinneir, H. J. Hall, H. W. Dillnutt, G. Dulmage, A. E. Barlow, F. G. Chamberlain and H. Thompson.

Presentation to the retiring Master of a Past Master's jewel then took place and a beautiful basket of roses was given to the installing officer.

I. P. M. Alec Kidd acted as chairman of the proceedings during the entertainment part of the programme. Many musical numbers were rendered and went to make the occasion one that will be remembered.

Solos were given by Miss Helen Luscombe, Jack Andrews, Harold Howard, R. D. Arnott and Perce Cole. The Y's Men's Male chorus gave several time selections, which were much enjoyed by the lodge members.

Arctic Flight Was Cancelled. Berlin, Dec. 28.—The Area Arctic Soc has issued a statement that the proposed North Pole Expedition in the dirigible Graf Zeppelin has been called off for 1930 but that it is fully expected the flight will be made in 1931. On December 23 the Berlin offices of the Zeppelin Company announced that the flight had been cancelled. Previously there had been a difference of opinion between Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the craft, and Captain Walter Bruns, secretary of the Aero Arctic Society, as to the feasibility of the proposed flight.

BOXER HURT

Willie Davies in Hospital After Falling Through Ropes

Toronto, Dec. 28.—Willie Davies, Charlestown, Penn., flyweight boxer, injured in his ten round bout with Steve Rocco at Toronto last night, spent a "fairly good night" in St. Michael's Hospital. Doctors will thoroughly examine the boxer today and it is thought he may be able to leave the hospital within a day or so. Davies, while wrestling with his opponent, fell through the ropes and struck his head on the press table. No decision was given.

PRESENTED PLAY LAST THURSDAY

Young People of West Huntingdon United Church Gave Programme

The young people of West Huntingdon United Church presented their annual play "An Old-Fashioned Mother" at Foxboro Presbyterian Church parlors on Thursday, Dec. 26th. In spite of the bad conditions of the road the building was filled to capacity. Judging from the applause of the audience the performers were successful in their effort to present a good program. The play was splendidly enacted and the actors were well suited to their roles. Mr. Elmer Post representing Jeremiah Gosling was perhaps the best character in the play and received much applause from the assembly.

BOY PARLIAMENT FORMALLY OPENS

Acting Lieutenant Governor Sir William Hearst Delivered Speech

Toronto, Dec. 28.—The Ninth Tuxis Boys' Parliament, in session at Hart House, University of Toronto, was formally opened last night by the Acting Lieutenant Governor, Sir William Hearst.

In his speech from the throne, Sir William announced the following program of legislation as before this year's session of the Parliament: A bill providing for the raising of $13,000 through the sale of bonds; a bill providing for the continuance of Camp Tuxis, a bill dealing with the question of world friendship, a bill providing for the furtherance of Trail Ranger and Tuxis work.

Before the proceedings of the Parliament commenced William Jenne, American delegate from Philadelphia, spoke on boys' work in the United States and expressed admiration for the Canadian form of government.

The following is the announcement of his Cabinet made yesterday morning by the Premier, Melville, Chairman: John Lauman, Waterloo; Finance, Bob Young, Walkerville; Provincial Secretary, John McKeown, Kirkland Lake; Education, Wilfred Bishop, Norwich; Publications, Don Buchanan, Toronto; Camp Tuxis, John Hamilton; Ministers without portfolio: Wesley White, North Bay; Gilbert Farrell, Windsor; William Leonard, Lakefield; Graham Thompson, Kingston. Premier Jenne took the post of Minister of World Friendship.

D. B. Poole, National Secretary of the Boys' Work Boards of the Dominion, spoke at the dinner of the Parliament at Hart House. Outlining the work being done throughout the country for boys, he said: "We are going to influence the destiny not only of this country, but of other countries as we must work together and increase, as we must work together and increase."

He made a plea for increased effort in understanding the foreigner, for the spread of Christian living, and for a spirit of co-operation.

The session of the Parliament goes on today. The standing committees met this morning and the second sitting of the House this afternoon.

Pheasant Hunters Shot Lad's Pigeons but Paid $49 For It

St. Catharines, December 28.—The shooting of two Archangel pigeons on November 29, the last "open" day for pheasant shooting in this district cost $45. For the pigeons, and the Police Court costs.

Frederick Howarth was the complainant, and he said it was the actions of the Forbes, Sydney and his son which caused him to bring the charge. "I considered it very unsportsmanlike on their part that they should come along and shoot my boy's pigeons after we allowed them the run of our land to shoot pheasants. The boy saw them close the pigeons, and young Forbes threw them into their car and drove off down the road. My boy and I followed them in our car, and when we caught up with them and addressed them, they gave us their names and addresses. They said: 'There's the car number; take it I had to go to all the trouble to write to Toronto and get their names.'"

THORNTON OPTIMISTIC CONCERNING OUTLOOK FOR NATIONAL RAILWAYS

President Expresses Satisfaction At Result of Trip To England

RECENTLY RETURNED

Present Is Time For Prudent Courage, And Not Pessimism

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—(G.P.)—The Canadian National would go ahead with its program of betterments and extensions. Sir Henry Thornton, president of the railway company, assured a party of newspaper men yesterday. Sir Henry spent the morning in conference with Hon. C. A. Dunning and had lunch with Premier Mackenzie King. This was his first visit to Ottawa since his return from England. "This is no time to take to one's heels," Sir Henry said. "It is no time to shout pessimism, but it is a time to be prudently courageous." His company had embarked on new works because they were needed in order that it could better fulfill its transportation responsibilities to the people of this country. These would be gone ahead with. The company could continue to do its utmost to give its employees work and he did not see any reason for anxiety.

One of the objects of Sir Henry's visit to England was to discuss with bond holders and trustees for bond holders in London the proposal to re-construct the financial structure of the Canadian National railways and amalgamate the various companies which now make up the system into one corporation. Certain permission had to be obtained from the bond holders of some of the lines to such a procedure. "I am satisfied with the result," Sir Henry told the reporters. "I cannot say more than that."

Financial Reconstruction. It was pointed out to the C.N.R. president that Mr. Dunning some time ago had expressed the hope that the legislation to re-construct the finances of the system would be introduced this session of parliament. "I think it can be said that he has no reason to be less hopeful now," Sir Henry said, adding, however, that it was a government matter in which he did not wish to express an opinion.

"I think there is more money to be made in England than in any other country in the world except Canada," Sir Henry asserted. However, the methods both as regards railway operation and various lines of production would have to be changed if Britain House, University of Toronto, was for macy.

PREMIER SILENT AFTER MEETING

No Announcement Made Regarding Appointments to Vacant Posts

Ottawa, December 28.—Today's meeting of Cabinet brought no statement with respect to Cabinet or other appointments. At the conclusion of the meeting, the first to be held since the return of Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, from London, Mr. King had nothing to announce.

The Prime Minister professed ignorance when told that Hon. T. A. Crerar was reported to be on his way from Winnipeg to Ottawa. Mr. Crerar had not told him that he was coming to Ottawa, said Mr. King. He understood that Mr. Crerar had been planning to go to New York.

No indication was given of when definite word may be expected respecting Cabinet appointments. When asked, the Prime Minister merely replied that there would probably be an announcement in the new year.

Assuming that Mr. Crerar is on his way to Ottawa and not to New York, it is suggested that he may be coming here to be sworn in to the portfolio of railways. He should reach Ottawa some time Sunday.

THE WEATHER

LARGEST IN WORLD

R-101 Will Have Surgical Operation Performed

London, Dec. 28.—As a result of its recent trials, Great Britain's new dirigible, R-101, will undergo a surgical operation. The big ship will be cut in two parts and a section of 75 foot length, containing a gas bag capacity of 2 1/2 million cubic feet, will be inserted, before the halves are "sewed" back together again. The length of the new ship will be eight hundred feet, which will make it larger than its twin, the R-100 and hence the largest dirigible in the world.

SOVIET SENDING ANOTHER THREE SEARCH PLANES

Additional Work Being Done In Rescuing Carl Eielson

BIG FOOD SUPPLY

Machines Have Special Apparatus For Flying In Far North

Moscow, U.S.S.R., December 28.—Commander Melnikov, of the Soviet military air force, announced last evening that an additional Russian expedition of three aeroplanes would shortly be sent to join the search for Carl Denison and Earl Boriand off the Siberian coast.

These planes will be equipped with special apparatus for work in the Far North, and the pilots will be provided with specially made fur-lined clothing to enable them to resist the severe Siberian frosts, during which the temperature sometimes sinks to nearly 100 degrees below zero. Each of the planes will carry a food supply sufficient for several months.

The Soviet Government last night offered a reward of about $1000 for any information indicating the whereabouts of the American aviators who have been missing for six weeks. They also broadcast an appeal to the villages of Siberia asking for general assistance in the search.

Canadians Getting Ready

Fairbanks, Alaska, December 28.—While the north was silent yesterday concerning the search for Carl Denison and Earl Boriand, Alaska air men lost between Teller and Cape Siberia, since November 9, six Canadian fliers were assembling their three Fairchild cabin planes for the hop across approximately 400 miles of waste land to Nome.

With the temperature hovering between 20 and 20 degrees below zero, Captain Pat Reid worked with his pilots and mechanics from the moment the huge ships were lifted from the flat cars upon arrival here yesterday. As the fliers gathered their ships, replacing wings taken off for shipment and tuning powerful motors, Captain H. A. Oakes was preparing supplies and equipment for the fliers on the first hop into the north.

WAS CELEBRATED GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hill, of Madoc Married Fifty Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. James Hill of Madoc, had the distinction of celebrating their golden wedding anniversary on Christmas Day. The happy event was celebrated at the home of their son, Mr. Arthur Hill, 189 Foster Avenue. The family were present in an extended company, many friends of the gratulations and a large number of happy couples dropped in during the day to wish them many more years of happy wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill have lived in Madoc for the past 28 years. Both are enjoying good health, and Mr. Hill leads an active life directing the affairs of his farm. They are both strong members of the Presbyterian Church, attending services regularly every Sunday. Their married life has been blessed with six children all of whom are living. They are George and Fred, of Madoc; Mrs. C. A. Martin, of Detroit; Mrs. M. Young, Mr. Arthur Hill and Mr. K. S. Hill, B.C.T. staff city. Mr. Hill celebrated his birthday on August 28th, and Mrs. Hill will be 72 years of age on January 24, 1930.

BRITISH LEAVE THE RHINE

On December 12 the British army of the Rhine hauled down their flags and ended eleven years of occupation. The troops taking part in the ceremony at Wiesbaden were a detachment of the Second Battalion of the Royal Fusiliers. After a long roll of drums and the Royal salute, and amid the strains of the National Anthem, the two Union Jacks were slowly pulled down by Regimental Sergeant-Major Saunders, of the Royal Fusiliers, and Quartermaster Sergeant Hartness, of the Royal Artillery. The latter, in 1926, had the honor of hauling down the flag at Cologne, so the experience was not new to him. He was one of the first British soldiers to cross the Rhine in December, 1918, and previously had been in the retreat from Mons, and was wounded at La Cateau. This veteran, like the others, is glad to get home, but he expressed regrets at leaving a territory in which he had made many friends in the eleven years of occupation.

General Sir William Thwaites, commander-in-chief of the Rhine army, in formally taking leave of Dr. Ehrlicher, the chief German official of Wiesbaden, expressed his appreciation of the attitude of the local authorities during the occupation of Wiesbaden and district by the British troops, and in reply received a testimony of unstinted praise of the soldiers of occupation, whose behaviour was generally good. The German authorities sought to convey their gratitude for the fair manner in which the soldiers had conducted themselves, and the natural relief at the cessation of occupation was tempered with a feeling of regret that such good associations were about to be severed. The exchange of compliments was sincere, a fact vouched for by correspondents of London and other British newspapers, who sent lengthy dispatches to their respective journals.

During the dragging days towards the end of the war, it was not uncommon to read predictions that relations between enemy forces would never be restored to their old friendly order. It was predicted that the occupation of German territory would be marked by severity and that there would be intense hatred of the soldiers by the civilian populace. With regard to the British troops, these forebodings did not see fulfillment. The British did their duty faithfully and with consideration for the civilians, and the latter grew to appreciate the situation with the result that friendliness was born and grew strong. The retiring soldiers have returned to England with an honorable record of service in what had threatened to be an unpleasant duty. They have done their task well and have won the respect of the conquered. Their actual conduct had done more to promote international peace than any number of conferences. They have shown that the British can be powerful and determined foes, and at the same time be considerate on the day of victory and after. British prestige has been enhanced in Germany by the Rhine occupation just ended.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A bill to abolish the speed limit for motorcycles and motorcars is soon to be piloted through the British House of Commons. Full responsibility for safety is to be placed upon the driver. This means that the old rule of ten to fifteen miles an hour in the villages will give way to: Better be safe than sorry.

Because a few wards have failed to place themselves on the side of prohibition—one at least by a very narrow margin—it would be idle to say that Scotland is wet other than climatologically. There are districts in Scotland as dry, figuratively speaking, as the Sahara.

A little lesson in geography: In 1917 what were the names of the following cities: Istanbul, Cobb, Oslo, Leningrad, Peking? And what is the present name of what once was Byzantium?

That Body Of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

SUN AND CLOTHING

During the warm weather the news papers carried items about a man who created considerable amusement by wearing his pyjamas on the streets of a large city, and he was not molested. In his home town in the South he was arrested for doing the same thing. It is incidents like this that bring forcibly to the mind the fact that man does everything to shut out sunshine and its benefits.

It is for this reason the use of lamps to give artificial sunlight is now popular in hospitals and homes. Regular use with about one minute on each side of the body, the exposure is gradually increased to a half hour.

In addition to this cures are now given artificial sunlight to cure milk and even foods are irradiated, as giving these sun rays is called.

Now what this means is that man is just beginning to realize what the sun was meant to do for him; to give him, together with fresh air, the maximum amount of health.

Living in a temperature zone, as most of us do, it is of course impossible for us to go about without clothing.

But what about the bright days with shining sun? Unfortunately, we feel it necessary to cover the entire body during hot and cold weather, and thus shut out these health giving rays.

Unfortunately also in most cities there is so much smoke and in others so much fog that much of these ultra-violet rays are shut out, and do not reach us.

Our women folk are using sense in the matter of clothing; little children are using "sun suits", but men still cling to the type of clothing that shuts off most of the beneficial rays of the sun.

Now I don't expect to have any influence in changing the style of men's clothing. That is dictated by fashion and usage. However if we could all get the idea that our bodies were to have the sunlight even in the temperate zone, then we would all take our own methods of securing it.

Some would wear clothing whose texture permits the rays to enter; some would get outdoors as much as possible and permit a portion of the body to be exposed from time to time to the sun's rays; and others with sufficient money would purchase the air and mercury lamps which give off the ultra-violet rays.

TO APPLY FOR PRISON PAROLE

Leavenworth, Kas., December 27.—Application of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Arctic explorer, for parole from his sentence of fourteen years nine months for conspiracy to use the mails for fraud will be heard at the January meeting of the Federal Parole Board.

Dr. Cook, admitted to the federal penitentiary here April 6, 1925, has served one-third of his term and automatically is eligible for parole on his record of good behavior. All of his associates in the oil promotion scheme, which led to his conviction, were paroled three years ago. Dr. Cook's health has been failing under confinement and friends say he cannot live through his full sentence. He is editor of the prison newspaper, The New Era.

Dr. Cook started one of the most spectacular controversies of modern exploration when he announced, September 1, 1909, that he had reached the North Pole. First accused of fraud, out the world, he later was branded a faker. Admiral Peary said he found no evidence at the pole of Cook's visit, and scientists, said Cook's documentary proofs of the achievement were of dubious authenticity. His claim later was defended by several noted scientists, including Capt. Roald Amundsen, but today he stands generally discredited.

PLAY THE GAME

Someone dealt a hand one day
And gave a man a king,
But the man across the way
He hardly gave a thing.
But the king that seemed so strong
Was really little use.
For the other came along
And trumped it with a deuce.

Luck is quite important, yes,
And yet I often claim
It also matters more or less
The way you play the game.
Often in this very town
When out to bridge and stop,
I have seen a king fall down
And seen a deuce stand up.

Life's a little game of cards,
But that's not nothing more;
It's been said by better hands
In better words before.
Here's the great unchanging law
That always is the same:
What matters isn't what you draw,
But how you play the game.

—Douglas Malloch.

IODINE NEEDED FOR LIVE STOCK

Losses Prevented When Fed Breeding Stock At Right Time

Poor management and not poor luck is at the bottom of many of our live stock losses. It should always be borne in mind that practically all our domestic animals are being kept in an abnormal environment. Under natural conditions they would roam at will, and instinct would direct them to the various foods to keep them in healthy condition. From this it will easily be seen that the aim of the stockman should be to supply conditions as near to the natural as possible.

During the summer months, there is little need for worry, when the stock is on the open range, but when confined part of the time as is the case with dairy cattle, or where it is known that a district is difficult in a certain vital element, even at this season, care must be taken in balancing up the ration, particularly in supplying the mineral.

Take the case of iodine, for instance. As pointed out by Dr. Lionel Stevenson, Provincial Zoologist for Ontario, there is no substitute for this. Goitre in lambs and calves, halitosis, pigs, joint ill in foals, are all likely due to a lack of iodine in the rations fed to the breeding stock. In some sections of the country, there is a natural deficiency of this material and iodine should be fed in small doses all the year around, in other places it is not so essential during the stable season. But, as the drug costs but a few cents per animal per year, and as it is easily procured and handled, it is cheap insurance. It is particularly essential that iodine be included in the feed of pregnant animals, to ensure healthy offspring.

In a pamphlet on this subject, prepared by George B. Rothwell of the Dominion Experimental Farms, and distributed by the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers' Toronto, which organization will mail copies on request, the necessity of iodine is stressed and the practical ways of feeding it are described. Potassium iodine is by far the most generally used of all forms of iodine, points out Mr. Rothwell, who adds that this material may be purchased from Live Stock Co-operative as associations, supply houses, and drug stores and prepared at home by mixing with salt or the drinking water. Stock solutions are usually prepared. As does vary with the different animals, to attempt is made to go into details. In this limited article Mr. Rothwell in his bulletin has covered the whole subject, and livestock men are advised to send for his directions before starting to add this vital element to the rations for their live stock.

NOVA SCOTIA'S SALT INDUSTRY

Railways Action Is Beneficial to the Maritime Salt Industry

New Glasgow, N.S. (By Canadian Press.)—Nova Scotia salt is placed in a position where it can compete successfully with that from the United States, by the Maritime rates reduction, and the action of the Railway Commission in preventing cutting of transportation costs on foreign product guards that market, it was asserted here by an official of the Malagash Salt Company.

The company, it was stated, has been making efforts to secure a share of the Ontario market and doing it successfully. This effort would be continued until the extent of possible sales there might be realized by the fact that in Toronto alone 12,000 tons of salt similar to that produced in this province was consumed annually. Other demands elsewhere in that province brought the total consumed to many thousands of tons. It was in the market that the Malagash Company had been sharing and hoped to extend its influence.

Explaining the start that the Railway Commissioner had taken in preventing under-cutting of the Maritime rate, Chief Commissioner McKewen said in Ottawa that while the Board of 21 cents a hundred pounds to Cornwall and 22 cents to Ottawa, on salt from New York state, The Board had ruled, however, that the rates to these centres should not be less than 23-1-2 cents, as such rate was to apply over the New York Central lines to movements in Canada.

The new factory of the Electric Auto Life company of Toledo, erected in Surin within the last two months, yesterday was declared completed.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

JOHN ARTHUR JEFFRIES
The funeral of the late John Arthur Jeffries, of Chattron, was held yesterday afternoon from the Tickle and Browne Private Home on Victoria Ave., with the interment taking place in the Belleville Cemetery. NEW YEAR'S DANCE

On New Year's Eve the Utopia Club will hold another of their famed At Home in the Moose Auditorium. Many will doubtless attend to "Dance out the Old Year and Dance in the New" to the strains of the music supplied by Charlie Goyer's New Bon Tons. Novelties and prizes galore will make the occasion an outstanding one.

MAKING PROGRESS

The many friends of Mr. R. G. Geen will be pleased to hear that he is satisfactorily progressing towards recovery. He left the hospital on the 26th coming home in good shape after the journey. On Sunday morning and evening he was able to attend Divine Service where public thanksgiving was offered for his progress. Monday he met with his Rotarian friends and on Christmas Day was at Church, really a wonderful recovery.

NEW JUNIOR HOCKEY PLAYER

Another fine hockey player was added to the ranks of the Belleville Juniors this week when Douglas Runions of Campbellford arrived in the city. Runions plays left wing or centre and although only 17 years of age has done some splendid work with the Campbellford aggregation in the Rowson Cup series, playing with them against Trenton, here, two weeks ago. He is now working at the Alente.

SNOWPLOW BUSY

The snow plough was busy in Foxboro last night, clearing away the snow from the roads. The roads are quite passable now and motorists are not having much trouble in navigating their way.

ORANGE FURCHIE

The Orange Furchie of Dec. 23rd was a huge success. Mr. Wm. McKenna won the door prize. The following prizes were won by: Ladies 1st, Mrs. M. Stark; 2nd, Mrs. W. Carter; 3rd, Mrs. M. McKenna; Gents 1st, Mr. Yerex; 2nd, Mr. J. McEneaney; 3rd, Mr. G. Conners. The Rummy prize was won by Mrs. L. Soules.

ABLE TO BE UP AGAIN

Mr. J. L. R. Gorman, real estate agent who has been laid up with a bad attack of influenza for the past two weeks is now able to be up again. Mr. Gorman will not resume his business responsibilities until after the first of the year.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Wheat prices underwent an early sag today, more because of lack of any aggressive buying than as result of pressure to sell. Trade was of year end sort, mainly in nature of readjustment of accounts. Opening 1-8 to 5-8 off, wheat market afterward declined little more and then rallied. Corn, oats and provisions were also easy, with corn starting at 1-2 setback to shade advance and subsequently receding all round.

CANOE CLUB JR. HERE MONDAY

Play Exhibition Game With Belleville Juniors At Arena

Monday night's junior exhibition game between Trenton Canoe Club Juniors and the local kids promises to be a real fast game of the winter pastime and Manager Ed. Thomas is lining up a fast outfit for this game and also for the regular O.H.A. schedule.

He has five of last year's juniors to pick from they being McKinnon in the nets with Ethier and Ab Young in front of him besides these there are George Simpson and "Happy" Day all of the smart junior crowd of last year. There are also three or four new lads in town who are shaping up as likely looking players and one of these especially is young Runion who hails from Campbellford. This lad has been training nicely and will get all kinds of chances to make the team. Two boys from Perth are going to school here and have shown enough in practices to warrant a good tryout. Just who Manager Thomas will send over, the boards Monday night is not known but is well trained and one that will make the Canoe Club boys step every inch of the way.

The game will start at 8:30 sharp and it is hoped that a full house will greet the kids as they play real smart hockey and should be given every encouragement.

There is also a possibility of another exhibition game here on New Year's night (Wednesday) between the Intermediates and a team from the Ottawa Valley.

The seniors are shaping up well with such players as Derry Jeffery, Murray Green, "Soup" Goyer and Bill Green for defense duty. On the front line there will be Jack and Henry Gunning, Bob Scott and one or two others, which shape up well and look like a team which should take a lot of beating.

SOMETHING NEW

IN NECKLACES

Something a little different from the usual string of beads is the "scarf necklace." This consists of a single long chain devoid of any fastening or clasp but with tasseled or other ornamental ends. This type of necklace can be wound around the throat in any way the fancy of the wearer may dictate. The ends are an important feature as they may hang in front or at the side and be of equal or different lengths, the middle of the necklace being adjusted in choker style around the throat and kept in place by the weight of the elaborated ends.

A favorite arrangement of the "scarf necklace" is to place it around the neck as if it were to close in the back, then cross the ends and bring them to the front. Women who like to string their own beads are delighted with this style, as the chain can be made no longer than would ordinarily be found in the shops and the loose hanging ends often give becoming length to the figure. Another advantage in making this type of necklace is that there is no clasp to adjust and a variety of beads can be combined in one string. For instance, the centre length that forms the choker can be of enamel or metal links, the long ends of beads repeating the color effect in a general way. A gold linked bracelet was recently used in this way for the choker, with brown and gold colored irregular beads for the long, swinging ends.

WELSH TOFFEE A RARE TREAT

Confections, sweet but not too sweet, are the holiday exceptions juveniles are permitted to enjoy within limits. A hard, dark toffee, lightened with flecks of Brazil nuts, may be given to them with little fear of digestive upsets—a small piece goes a long way.

In Wales around Christmas time a toffee of this kind is made for the children. Black molasses, butter, brown sugar, cooked over a low flame, become Welsh toffee.

One pound package brown sugar and one-third cup black molasses, one heaping tablespoon butter, one-half cup sliced Brazil nuts. Cook to 260 or 270 degrees F. or to a very hard ball. Yield, one medium sheet. Lighter molasses and brown sugar yield a lighter toffee than the original. The sugar thermometer is not imperative, although the right temperature is more easily ascertained with it than the testing-in-cold-water method. The sliced nuts are spread in the shallow square pan.

Pour the molasses into the saucepan and add the sugar, stirring until the two are well mixed. Place the sugar thermometer in the saucepan. Let the mixtures come to a boil slowly over a controlled flame. Molasses burns easily. When the mixture is boiling look at the clock; boil the molasses and sugar 15 minutes after boiling.

ing in earnest begins. Stir constantly to keep the syrup from catching and scorching.

Fifteen minutes does pass and the stirring arm is not paralyzed, strange to say. Add the butter and continue boiling and stirring. The temperature is rising. A little syrup dropped in cold water begins to harden. The thermometer registers 250 degrees. Slowly, slowly, it passes 260. At this temperature the drop of syrup plunged into cold water is quite hard. A little more cooking and the temperature reaches 270. The ball of syrup becomes a marble in cold water and cracks against the side of the cup.

Quickly pour the scalding hot toffee over the sliced nuts spread out in the bottom of a buttered shallow pan. Don't scrape pan! Just before it is cool, mark off into small squares with a knife. When cold break off a few squares or samples. Wrap the rest in waxed paper and store in an airtight box.

Welsh toffee so protected keeps perfectly several weeks.

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

Cocoanut Cakes

3 cups grated cocoanut
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 egg whites.

Mix the cocoanut and sugar together and bind with the egg whites. Make into balls with your hands or drop from a teaspoon onto well-greased cookie sheets. Bake in a moderate oven—325 degrees—about 15 minutes. These little cakes are sure to be liked even by those who say that they do not eat cocoanut. Makes two and a half dozen cakes.

Cranberry Foamy Sauce

1/4 cup butter
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 egg well beaten

1/4 cup cranberry juice, sweetened.

Prepare the cranberry juice by cooking one-half cup of cranberries with one-fourth cup of water until the cranberries are very soft. Cream the butter and confectioners' sugar well together and beat in the egg. Just before serving add the heated cranberry juice. This crimson sauce is particularly good with cottage pudding.

Orange Foamy Sauce

1/4 cup butter
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 egg well beaten
3 tablespoons orange juice.

Cream the butter and sugar together as for hard sauce and add the egg. Beat well. Just before serving beat in the orange juice, which has been heated to the boiling point.

Fairy Sauce

1-3 cup butter
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg, separated

1/4 cup cream, whipped

Cream the butter and sugar and add the vanilla. Beat in the egg yolk. Just before serving fold in the whipped cream and the stiffly beaten egg white. Pile on a serving dish and dust with cinnamon. Serve quickly.

Concerning the Action and Characters JULIAN HAMMOND, a retired engineer, unmarried and rich, lives on his southern estate, "FAIRFIELDS." He lavishes money on his worthless nephew, NORMAN PLATT, who tells Hammond that Mrs. Rita Carstairs, a mutual acquaintance, has matrimonial designs on him.

THE PLATONIC FRIEND

Rita Carstairs was waiting on the Virginia side of the bridge. She had turned off the motor highway and chosen the shade and shelter of a clump of willows. Her glossy, chestnut mount, cropped the grass daintily. The reins were slack; the rider gazed pensively across the river, serene and silvery in the August sunlight, darkened only by the menacing shade of the towering promontory known as the "Three Sisters."

Even when she heard the quick rhythmic beat of hoofs approaching, Mrs. Carstairs retained her pose. She knew she made a graceful figure under the green shade of the willows. Her profile was her best feature and she kept it turned toward Hammond. The long, slender line of her lovely, white throat showed to advantage. It made her small, fair head seem frail and flower-like. Her hair was so delicately blonde that it seemed to blend with the silvery background, to be one in shade and substance with the gently-flowing river.

"Have I kept you waiting long? I'm sorry," Hammond drew rein beside her. She turned her head and let her peculiar, gray eyes, so pale that their color could scarcely be accurately determined, rest gently upon him.

"I really don't know whether I've waited longer or not; it is so lovely. I was lost in dreams." She drew a soft sigh, gave a last glance at the murmuring river, and gathering up her reins. "Shall we go on?"

Side by side they cantered back to the road, choosing a short cut, untraveled by motorists, that would bring them to "Fairfields."

"How good you are to ask me to lunch today," she said. "You must know what it means to get away for a few hours from the beastly hot town. Tell me, Jules, do you never think of yourself? Are you always so kind to everyone?"

"I am thinking of myself today," he told her, smiling. "It is you who are granting the gracious favor of your presence. This is my birthday." He spoke with a rather wistful expression in his eyes. "It also chances to be the anniversary of my coming to Fairfields. I want to celebrate, somehow."

"Your birthday?" she echoed. "Oh my dear Jules, why didn't you tell me? Why didn't you let me bring some little gift to show you how deeply I appreciate our wonderful friendship?"

He shook his head. "You give me enough—simply by coming to lunch with me. Rita, I do value our friendship. It makes me very happy to hear you say that it means something to you, too."

She reached over and laid a slim, gauntleted hand on his arm. "It means everything," she said gravely. "Everything. I was so lonely until you came, Jules." She sighed all at once. "And I think you are a little lonely even now."

He glanced at her quickly. "What makes you say that? Do I not seem happy?"

She shook her head, her gaze following the ribbon of a road that unwound between fields ripe with harvest.

"I don't know what it is—perhaps I have a psychic gift—anyway, I feel a wistfulness in you, as if you, a fine, strong man, were still a little child craving tenderness and understanding."

He laughed a trifle awkwardly, as one who suddenly finds an outsider stumbling upon a secret which he cherishes and of which he is secretly a little ashamed.

"Your psychic gift makes you very keen, Rita. I do crave tenderness and understanding, perhaps, because I've had so little of it. I've spent my life in out-of-the-way corners of the world with men whose aim and ambition was to conquer the wilderness, to hew out of an inexorable nature the pathway of civilization—as we so lightly and often erroneously call it. There is no place for the individual in big, vital work like that. I've never learned to play. I've never found the peace that means books and leisure and pleasant people—until recently. And now—" he broke off with a trace of a frown.

"Now," she finished softly, "you're disappointed? The peace to which you'd looked forward during all those hard years is far from a perfect peace?"

He didn't answer, because he couldn't answer truthfully, and she sighed. "Well, Jules, no matter what you think of us—the people you've chosen to play with in this new world of yours—we all think you are wonderful. So kind, so charitable, so thoughtful and generous."

Her eyes were limp with feeling. He felt suddenly embarrassed for no reason that he could name, and was glad of the diversion of a gate to be opened. From there they would ride across the fields to the rose-garden of the old manor.

"How beautiful it is!" murmured Mrs. Carstairs, as her eyes caught the glimpse of the green slopes which ended in a riotous mass of color—a thousand and roses in full bloom. "Oh Jules, stilled by the city in summer. It's you are a dear to ask me here! I'm frightful to be too poor to go away to the mountains or seashore."

"Poor! You!" His brows lifted skeptically.

"Oh, I have a little." She shrugged disdainfully. "I dare say you're thinking of my box of an apartment and my frocks. I do make out. I'm clever enough for that. I learned when I was the wife of an army officer and had to pinch and scrape to keep up an appearance on a pittance. But since my divorce and the poor, little sap of alimony—" she shrugged.

"Jules, you can't know what it means to a sensitive woman, who loves beautiful things, to be dependent for her very life on a pittance that the law gives her—that may any day cease to be. It's humiliating, degrading."

Suddenly, she smiled, stretched out her hand, and said softly: "Forgive me for intruding a bitter, personal thought on the happiness of your anniversary. Let's be very happy and gay."

She slid off her horse into the arms he lifted for her, remained in their circle for a moment, and ran up the steps of the old manor.

"As soon as I've removed the dust and made myself beautiful again, I'll join you in the rose-garden," she called gaily.

Hammond's housekeeper, genteel and hair-haired, in rustling, black silk, greeted the guest and led her through the wide, airy hall and up the paneled staircase with its white columns and mahogany rail. Oil paintings of ancestral Hammond's looked down from the lofty walls. There was a huge fireplace, filled with fragrant pine logs, at the far end. All about were bowls of roses, pouring fragrance on the mild summer air.

Rita Carstairs' eyes narrowed, as she took in the familiar loveliness of the old house, which wore its charm and dignity like a proud mantle.

She walked with lifted head and the air of one who already feels herself mistress of a coveted domain.

WHAT'S NEW (From a Woman's Standpoint)

A new sleeve is one that can be tied at the elbow.

A Paris woman of a well known set electrified the Ritz when she walked into the lobby recently wearing a dress with an Empire waistline.

News from Paris heralds the advent of stripes for turtlene and done in skirting silk crepes and even cottons, they promise to be exceedingly popular.

New York notes that colored pique is effectively employed for blouses to complement jacket and skirts of a woolen in a darker shade in the southern models.

Brown, dark green, black and navy blue are cited by fashion authorities returning from France as important millinery colors.

Color may be interesting in the wool alone this spring, as used in interpreting suits, but the note of effective contrast introduced by the coupling of a silk blouse in markedly dissimilar shade is generally approved and adds much to the ensemble.

Mrs. Louise Cromwell Brooks McArthur, prominent society leader in the national capital, is said to be engaged to marry Lionel Atwill, and it is reported that the wedding will take place on New Year's day at Mrs. McArthur's estate near Baltimore.

Shoulder-blade jewelry is going to be rather evident among the correctly dressed women of Europe this winter, and the double-tailed choker necklace, which is a beautiful piece of work in a wide range of styles, is going to do the job of camouflaging the very bare back of midday in fine style.

SOME HELPFUL HINTS FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

Hardwood floors will never show the effort one puts on them by shellacking or varnishing unless they are perfectly clean beforehand. It will probably take some sort of a dirt remover to get off the previous soiled varnish and wax before the refinishing can be done. It is a big job, and think twice before you do it yourself if your floors are very dirty.

When it is necessary to fit a candle into the holder, dip end of candle in very hot water and without delay press it into the holder. If it is too large, the softened wax will yield to a slight pressure and the candle will fit; if it is smaller than the holder opening, hold it in place until the melted wax around the bottom hardens.

Heat often makes parchment lamp shades so brittle that they crack easily. If they are already cracked, hold the crack together and shellac over it several times, both inside and out. The clear white shellac fills in the crack. When this is thoroughly dried, shellac the whole shade inside and out and you will be delighted to see it come out shining and looking like new.

If ink has been spilled on the carpet, soak up as much as possible with a blotter. Then saturate the spot with fresh milk. Let stand for 15 minutes then blot up the milk. Rub with a clean cloth and all ink will have disappeared. Ink spots of long standing will have to be treated with oxalic acid.

THE WHITE FROST GARDEN

Old Jack Frost was here last night. Left a garden all in white. Left it on my window, see? As a glad surprise for me. White chrysanthemums, white ferns, white gladioli in urns. Oh! it's such a pretty sight—Jack Frost's garden, all in white.

Thought I heard him in the night. As I lay there snug and tight. Whizz around the chimney bricks. Up to his fantastic tricks. But I didn't call out at all. Just rolled snugly in a ball. Closed my eyes and didn't peep—Then I must have gone to sleep.

This morning mother called out: "Claire!" I woke up and it was there. Sparkling in the bright sunlight. Fit for any king's delight. Crystal moss and lily ponds. Spreading palm leaves and ivy fronds. Oh, it's such a lovely sight. Jack Frost's garden, all in white! —Marcia B. Aldrich.

SEEKS TO FIND SAFEST PLANE

New York. — What is the safety aircraft for the average man to fly?
A dozen aeroplanes and two autogyros are at Mitchell Field seeking to answer that question in tests in the aircraft competition sponsored by the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the promotion of aeronautics.

A prize of $100,000 goes to the craft which meets all the requirements and scores the greatest number of points by exceeding the minimum conditions.
Awards of $10,000 each will go to the next five craft which give the best performances.

Nine conditions of safety must be met by the winning aircraft. What is wanted, the Guggenheim Fund points out, is a plane which will land at a lower speed than the average plane; take off more quickly and climb faster; make flatter and steeper glides and remain under control at all speeds and altitudes, even though the pilot, owing to weather conditions, is unable to maintain an even keel.

Various means of meeting these conditions are employed by the 14 aircraft entered. Some represent radical departures from conventional design.

Wing slots and wing flaps, variable camber and variable area wings, wings of variable incidence, and just simple aerodynamic stability are employed to meet the conditions of the contest.

Among the unusual departures in design is the monoplane of Vincent J. Burnell, with wings which may be extended or contracted at the end to vary the area—a problem which has intrigued aeronautic engineers for years. The camber, or curve, of the wings also may be changed.

Twenty-seven craft were entered in the safety competition, but 13 were either withdrawn or failed to meet conditions.

SCIENCE COMPARING APES WITH MAN YET

Cambridge, Mass. — The scientific quest to learn whether man and gorilla may have had a common ancestor is simplified by facts published in a monumental gorilla study at Harvard University.

The publication explodes former beliefs that there are 15 different species of gorillas, and finds that there is only one. Although the Harvard work does not touch upon the ancestry question, it removes a lot of confusion from the research pathway of those who compare apes and man.
It shows precisely the family characteristics of the existing gorilla and the measurements are of the same kind employed by anthropologists and palae-ontologists who study both prehistoric man and prehistoric apes.

The gorilla studies were made by Dr. Harold J. Coolidge, Jr., assistant curator of mammals at the Museum of Comparative Zoology.

ADDED EVENTS ON NEW YEAR'S EVE

Theatres and Wong's Cafe Will Present Frolics Tuesday Evening

Residents of Belleville and district will have a number of attractions offered them this New Year's Eve which will form an addition to the regular New Year's Eve dances of former years. Two local theatres are offering New Year's Eve Frolics for their patrons, commencing at eleven-thirty Tuesday evening, and both of which include previews of popular talks to appear the following three days. New cities of various kinds will be on hand in the theatres and other attractions offered to help patrons celebrate the occasion in customary hilarious fashion.

At Wong's. In addition to the entertainment offered at the theatres, Wong's Cafe will stage a gala New Year's Eve Frolic, their first, of course, as the new upstairs Dining Room was opened only last summer. The Frolic here will include dinner, dancing and the usual New Year's Novelties. The Harmony Kings orchestra will supply the newest popular melodies, and patrons of Wong's are anticipating an enjoyable evening.

U.S. RAILWAY INCOMES DROP

New York, December 27 With but few exceptions, the November net operating income of American railroads, as made public today, showed decreases as compared with the figures for November a year ago. The Missouri Pacific was one of the exceptions, its reports showing an increase from $865,089 for November, 1929 to $2,004,063 for last month.

New York, Dec. 27—Efforts to extend the post holiday rally on the New York Stock Exchange today met with increased resistance. Scores of issues were marked up one to ten points in the early trading, but heavy profit taking which started around mid-day substantially cut down most of the gains, and sent a sprinkling of issues below last night's final quotations.

MODERN WHALING METHODS SHOWN

Modern System In Use Would Greatly Surprise Old Salts

New Bedford, Mass.—Veteran skipper of this famous whaling centre recently heard from Captain John Gomes that what was new to them of their old profession. Captain Gomes of the tanker Swiftland, while at Curacao, Dutch West Indies, inspected a modern whaling expedition. His description follows: "There arrived in Curacao recently, one large whaling ship accompanied by seven small whale catching ships. This fleet carried the Norwegian flag and had just been launched in Norway. The vessels called at Curacao for fuel oil for the long voyage to the South Seas.

"The whaling ship, the S. S. Kosmos, is 550 feet long and has a 77-foot beam and a depth of 32.5 feet. Her deadweight tonnage is 32,000 tons. This vessel is capable of working 24 whole a day and has seven whale catchers accompanying her of 241 tons and carrying a crew of 15 men each. The Kosmos has 10 officers and 217 men and has many innovations never dreamed of by the old time whaling masters. Among them are an airplane and a motor launch to spy out the whales of sufficient size to warrant attacking, a refinery aboard the ship, and compressors on the starboard side of the vessel. This latter operation was called by old time whaling skippers the 'oil works'.

"The speed of the Kosmos is 12 knots an hour and that of the accompanying vessel 14 knots. The only class of whales this fleet is to hunt are fin backs and blue backs. Small whales will not be taken as it is considered better to allow them to grow larger before killing.

"The whalers carry harpoons with bombs inside. These bombs weigh 15 pounds and explode in three seconds. The harpoon itself weighs 130 pounds and is fired by a 3-inch gun. It has a 7-inch line.

"When a whale is sighted by the aerial signals are sent to the Kosmos, and the seven little vessels are sent to scout the whale. After the animal is harpooned it dies instantly. The whale is then hoisted to the upper deck by winches on a 75-foot skid. The steel cables used in this hoisting apparatus measure about seven inches in circumference. As soon as the whale reaches the upper deck, which is only a matter of a few minutes, it is 'blubbered' in about 12 minutes and the blubber slides over to the compressor and refinery.

"Between decks on the Kosmos is one mass of tanks of different sizes and shapes. All the operations on these tanks and compressors are controlled by electricity. After the oil pressed by these tanks and compressors, it is stored in the lower holds and between decks."

Captain Gomes said the Kosmos was still under construction with a force of carpenters, mechanics and ship fitters hard at work on her as she sailed away for the South Pacific.

PAPER PLANT IS SET IN MOTION

Maritimes' Newest News Print Mill Plant Cost $14,000,000.

Liverpool, N.S.—By Charles T. Bruce, Canadian Press Staff Writer.—From sulphite mill and grinder room the product of a fallen forest travelled today through giant felt presses to emerge as the first newspaper produced in Nova Scotia. Seventeen months in the making, The Maritimes Paper Company's plant at the village of Brooklynn, Queens County, officially began its output at the touch of a switch.

Premier E. N. Rhodes of Nova Scotia and Colonel C. H. L. Jones, General Manager of the Company, were present as the series of processing machines swung into action—marking, chipping, grinding and digesting Nova Scotia wood, and turning out the finished product at the source of the raw material.

Actual work on the Mersey plant began in June, 1928. Today its machines have a daily capacity of 250 tons of newspaper, representing the refining of 375 cords of wood, and a production value that places the newspaper industry in the province second only to coal and steel in manufacturing.

Built on solid rock at tide-water, the mill stands at the mouth of the largest river in the province. Two million bricks and $450,000 worth of structural steel have gone into the construction of its several units. Thirteen million gallons of fresh water daily available nearby, are required for its processes. Water will be the chief means of transport utilized by the plant, both in bringing wood to the machines and carrying away newspaper to the presses. The company's steamer, the "Mask land", specially constructed for the freighting of paper, has a capacity of 4,100 tons.

The driving force behind the mill is the river near the outlet of which it stands. Electrical energy is supplied by the three developments of The Nova Scotia Power Commission on the Mersey. The turbines driven by the water in the wood and sends it through the bark room, the clipper, where four foot lengths are reduced to chips, puts it through the digester acid of the sulphite mill or the grinders of the "grinder room" and through various processes to the two paper mills, each with a 16 hour capacity of 125 tons of paper.

The Mersey Paper Company, Limited, was incorporated on July 31, 1928. I. W. Killan, who was chiefly instrumental in its construction, has been intimately connected with newspaper for practically all his life. As a boy he sold papers in the streets at Yarmouth, where he was born, and today among other interests he numbers ownership of a Canadian daily newspaper.

TREES ARE FACTOR IN DETERMINING DATE

Washington, D. C.—Out of the silence of the prehistoric past the National Geographic Society has at length drawn the answer to the most baffling riddle in the pre-Columbian history of the United States—the dates at which scores of important Indian ruins of the southwest were built.

Just as human fingerprints unerringly have yielded up criminals to the law, so have the annual growth of tree trunks given up to science the calendar record of 1,200 years of history beginning with A. D. 700.

An exhaustive study of the trunks of living trees, compared with the record of sun-spots and other natural phenomena led scientific expeditions of the society to establish a definite relation between the two. It was then possible to compare the annual growth rings of the timbers of the southwestern Pueblos to living ones which were growing at the same time and fix the date at which the prehistoric buildings were erected.

TO FOIL RUN-RUNERS

Ontario, December 27 (CP)—Run-runners on the St. Lawrence will find themselves up against a difficult combination when the navigation season of 1930 opens. Arrangements have been made for establishing a flying base at Port Maitland, Island of Anticosti. From there patrol planes will operate, their duty being to spot illegal smugglers.

NEW YEAR'S EVE HOCKEY MATCHES

Maximities To Play at Stirling And Y's Men At Tweed

On Tuesday evening of next week (New Year's Eve) the Maximities will journey to Stirling for another exhibition game with the villagers and this game will likely prove to be a fast and furious affair. The Stirling team already this year have trimmed the locals twice and the battery boys are out to redeem themselves on Tuesday night.

Bill Whitty the fox leader of the Red and White likes nothing better than to take Lorne Cook's orange and team into camp and those two teams have never failed to provide a snappy game. Stirling looked to be headed for the Trent Valley laurels again this year and it will take a real smart team to beat them to the wire. With Whitty in the attack and the Ingram boys on defence, Whitty has a stone-wall rear guard, then he has Jack and "Hi" Ackers who need no introduction, for centre and left wing. Whitty is a real threat on any man's team on right wing, then for subs there is "Bub" Davis late of the Trenton Juniors and young Fraser a high school boy who is coming along nicely one or two others.

The Maximities likely line up in the following order with Bedard in the nets Art Young who is playing real smart hockey this year and Jack Arnold on the defence, Henry Canning and Harold Buck will look after centre, Jack Canning and "Hoot" Gibson for left wing, Johnny Hibbard will look after the right boards. With this line up it looks as if Whitty's gang are in for a hard game. Perc Cole will likely handle the ball.

Y'S Men and Tweed

The Y's Men of this city and Tweed are supposed to play an exhibition game in Tweed on the same night as the Maximities-Stirling game and if the game is played it will just about decide who is favored for the Rowsome Cup elimination series which have been constructed on Caledonia Island.

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING

The boys who have set up scores in the Suit of Clothes will be advised to watch the board at the alleys to see if they are still eligible for the major prize. Tuesday and Monday should see some great spilling to see who starts in the finals Tuesday night. Any high three string counts, so anything can happen and the handicap idea gives each bowler a chance at the new attire. Who would want his hand at this—the biggest individual prize ever offered to bowlers in the city.

TWO TEAMS IN QUINTE LEAGUE

Napanee Will Not Likely Enter A Team This Year

It begins to look as if Trenton Cresto team and Belleville Maximities will be the only entrants in the Bay of Quinte League this season as nothing much has been heard from Napanee. If such is the case then it is likely that the two teams will play a triple schedule for the Bert Canning Cup which is now held by the Maximities. It is possible that the Alemites and Maximities will throw in their lots together when the league gets under way as Art Young, Harold Buck, "Hoot" Gibson and one or two others have been lining-up with the Maximities in all their exhibition games and are beginning to know what it is all about and beginning to show plenty of team play. It would be a good move if such a union was formed and then go under the name of Alemites-Alemites hockey club in this league.

MARITIME FISHERMEN ARE LEARNING UNITS

Halifax, N. S. — "It will be a wonderful thing for the Maritime provinces, and have much to do with the future prosperity of the country, if we can get that great mass of people working together," said Dr. M. M. Coady, of St. Francis Xavier University, to whom the Federal government has entrusted the work of organizing the fishermen of the province by the sea.

Dr. Coady has already organized the fishermen of Cape Breton Island and the counties of Guysborough and Halifax. When the organization of the federated groups is completed, Dr. Coady will call a meeting of delegates from the different federations in a Maritime conference. Then a Maritime group will be organized to handle the big problems of the hundreds of small groups and control the destinies of the thousands of fishermen who ply their trade along the shores of the three provinces.

Dr. Coady said his work was lightened by the eagerness of the fishermen for organization.

Royal Bank Reports Assets Over One Billion Dollars

Annual Statement Reports Total Assets of $1,001,442,741, a Gain For Year of $92,046,856 — Profits of $7,145,137 Largest Ever Reported by Canadian Bank—Deposits Amount to $772,087,768, An Increase of More Than $67,000,000.

For the first time in his history, Canada has a bank with total assets in excess of one billion dollars. The annual statement which is now being forwarded to shareholders of The Royal Bank of Canada shows assets as of November 30th of $1,001,442,741, a gain of $92,046,856 over November, 1928. In addition to reporting profits of $7,145,137 that constitute a new record in the history of Canadian banking, the statement contains evidence of the exceptional strength of the bank.

Strong Liquid Position

Liquid assets amount to $409,275,965, an amount equal to 46.91 per cent of liabilities. The cash on hand and in banks amounts to $157,632,114. This is equivalent to 18.07 per cent of the bank's liabilities to the public. The principal items among the liquid assets are Dominion and Provincial Government securities of $96,543,143. Canadian municipal and British colonial and foreign public securities $17,400,156 railway and other bonds, debentures and stocks $15,468,621. Call loans in Canada are practically unchanged as compared with a year ago, while those abroad show an increase of over $27,000,000. It is understood that this increase is accounted for by certain special deposits of a more or less temporary nature.

From this business viewpoint, the extent to which the bank has taken care of the increased commercial requirements of its customers is a matter of special interest. Commercial loans in Canada now total $364,053,352, as compared with 1928,315,472, an increase for the year of more than 171,000,000.

Deposits bearing interest have continued to show substantial gains and now stand at $591,389,470, an increase of $67,728,562 during the year, while the balance of profit is $7,145,137.

INDEPENDENCE IS NOW CRY OF NATIONALISTS

Dominion Status Not Satisfactory to the All-Indian Congress RAISE FLAG
Round Table Conference in London to be Boycotted, is Claim

(Associated Press Cable)
Lahore, India, December 30.—The executive committee of the All-India National Congress party today declared for complete independence for India just prior to the opening of the 44th Congress.
Mahatma Gandhi, long a leader of the National movement, led the fight against the proposed Dominion status in the British Empire and introduced non-co-operative measures to enforce the Congress party demands for independence. These included refusal to attend the round table conference called to meet in London to discuss the political situation of India, and favoured boycott of the central and provincial legislatures with authorization for a programme of civil disobedience and non-payment of taxes when the committee think it advisable.
The opening of the congress was attended by 30,000 persons. Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, as president of the Congress, raised the National Flag, which he declared must never be lowered while a single person remained alive in India. The throng greeted this with cheers and cries of "Long live the revolution." They then through the police cordon and swarmed toward the platform. Several persons fainted in the crush, including Abbas Tyabji, a congressional veteran.
In his presidential address the Pandit said: "We want end exploitation of the poor in India and to get the reality of power, not merely the livery of office." He described the Dominion status as the shadow of authority for a handful of Indians, but mere repression and exploitation of the masses. With a dramatic appeal, he said: "How can we co-operate when our comrades lie in prison, and there is no guarantee that real freedom will come to us? Despite the golden harvest and heavy dividends, the mud huts, hovels and the nakedness of five people testify to the glory of the British Empire in India."
The Pandit termed himself as a

NOMINATIONS AT TRENTON TODAY

Mayor Fraser Greeted By Acclamation; Old Council Should be Returned

Townpeople of Trenton appear to be quite satisfied with their present Mayor and Council and the likelihood is that there will not be an election on January 6th.
Today the nominations for Mayor and Council were received in the Town Hall. Nomination for mayor took place between the hours of ten and eleven o'clock while those for the Council, School Trustees and Public Utilities Commission were named from twelve until one o'clock.
At the nomination for Mayor, Mayor Fraser was given an acclamation. All the old Council were returned by acclamation with two new seekers of office also being nominated. There were Mr. Luther Parks and Mr. N. J. McFair, both of whom are well known in Trenton and should have a large following. However, it is not yet known whether they will accept the nomination and the probability is that they will pull out.
Those composing the old Council are Dr. E. A. McQuade, Herbert Mayhew, Harold Graham, J. J. McNabb, Geo. Sprengle and Chester Lott.
All in all the interest is lax. Last year's Council headed by the energetic mayor have the entire town behind them. During their term of office they have accomplished much for the town of Trenton who are not slow, by any means, in realizing it.

TRANSFERRED FROM GLENORA HATCHERY

(Special To The Intelligencer)
Pictou, December 30.—Walter Hicks has been transferred from Glenora Fish Hatchery to Port Pictou, as manager there. Mr. N. T. Quinlan is the manager here and Mr. George Ryckman is first assistant. Millions of fish eggs are now in the process of hatching at the Glenora Hatchery.

REAL HEROINE

Saved Children

Frances Lee, a 10-year-old girl, proved to be a real heroine when she succeeded in saving the life of her mother, Margaret Lee, from the disastrous fire which snuffed out the lives of William and Keary Lee, aged 8 and 3 1/2 years respectively, at their home in Toronto. Miss Lee took the baby in her arms and jumped from an upper window to a snowbank.

THIRTEEN ARRESTED BY NARCOTIC SQUAD IN NEW YORK CITY RAIDS

SPECIAL BED
Heavyweight Boxer Had Red Eight Feet Long Made on Berengaria
New York, Dec. 30.—A special bed, eight feet long, was built by the Cunard Line on its steamship Berengaria for the accommodation of Primo Camera, giant veteran heavyweight boxer, who will arrive here tomorrow for several bouts. Camera is six feet ten inches tall and weighs 285 pounds.
Four Said To Be Leading Figures in Three Wide-spread Rings ACT IN CHICAGO
Raids Resulted From Information in Papers of Late Arnold Rothstein
New York, Dec. 30.—In a series of raids last night and today, federal narcotic agents arrested 13 men, four of whom, they said, were leading figures in three narcotic rings operating along the North Atlantic coast and as far west as Chicago.
Federal Attorney Tuttle said the raids were the result, largely, of information obtained from the papers of the late Arnold Rothstein, slain Broadway gambler.
Information which led to the arrests also was obtained, the police said, as the result of the arrest a year ago of Jacob Unger, alias Klein and Meyer, an alleged narcotic ring principal aboard a train at Buffalo.
The most important of those taken last night and today the agents said, were James de Mayo, 34; Joseph Gialla, 31; Frank Cartalano, 23; and Louis Black, all of New York. Among the other men arrested was John Hosan, 27, of Hoboken, N. J.
Mr. Tuttle charged that an investigation had revealed that in some New York speakeasies narcotics were sold over the bar.
Chicago, Dec. 30.—Federal narcotic agents revealed today that William Bailey, reputed contact man between mid-west dope peddlers and the New York narcotic ring, several of whose members were arrested in raids last night and today, is being held here.

SAMOAN NATIVES KILL POLICEMAN

Native of Ireland Beaten to Death as Exile Returns

Wellington, New Zealand, Dec. 30.—Unrest among the Samoan natives culminated this week-end at Apia in the most serious disturbance in the history of New Zealand's administration of the islands. Large numbers of Mau, men members of the League of Samoans, formed a parade of honor to welcome the return of A. G. Smyth, following his two-year banishment for the formation of a revolutionary citizens' committee.
Among the Mau the police recognized a number of natives wanted by them for various offenses, but their attempt to arrest them was the sign for a mass attack on the administrative officers, who were unarmed. A party of police, armed with pistols, quickly arrived and managed to get all the police clear except Constable William Abraham, a native of Belfast, Ireland, who was killed with an axe and beheading. The Mau then attacked the police station, but were driven off by machine guns. Later they wrecked telephone lines east of Apia.
Sir Joseph Ward, the Prime Minister, summoned the New Zealand Cabinet to consider the situation.

PRINCE TAKES LAST HUNT WITH HOUNDS

Melton Mowbray, December 30.—The Prince of Wales took another run with the hounds today, this time with the famous Quorn Pack. It was his last hunt in England before leaving Friday on the resumption of his South African hunting trip, interrupted a year ago by the illness of King George.
Prince planned to return to London tomorrow and to pay a round of farewell visits before sailing for Capetown on Friday.

Parachute Jumper Will Defy Death Here New Year's Day

Parachute jumpers are a novelty in this district, so when Jack McGovern, of Toronto, leaps from one of the Leavens Brothers' planes on New Year's Day, there will, without doubt, be thousands watching him with bated breath. McGovern is a qualified jumper, having made hundreds of jumps and as he says: "it has never failed to open yet."
Last Saturday at Trenton, McGovern was scheduled to leap from the plane and a large crowd gathered to see him flit with death, but when the plane reached a height of 1200 feet, it was

PREMIER FERGUSON HOME FOR A REST

Kemptville, Ont., December 30.—A year of steady progress and prosperity for Ontario during 1929 is foreseen by Premier G. Howard Ferguson. He gave out this optimistic message when he arrived here to spend a few quiet days at home. It was the first home coming of the Premier since the provincial elections. Many of his old acquaintances were at the station to give him a routing welcome.

THE WEATHER

SMUGGLERS ARE SHOT DEAD ON THEIR RUM SHIP

Fourth Man Wounded as Patrol Fire on Rum Row Vessel CHANGED COURSE
Guns Directed at Stern When Speedboat Swerved Into Fire
New London, Conn., Dec. 30.—Three liquor smugglers are dead, a fourth is critically wounded, and liquor to the value of $600,000 and three rum boats were seized Saturday night and early yesterday as a result of the most comprehensive drive of the Coast Guard in years against the activities of rum-runners. Even yesterday the drive was being continued with the possibility that it will not stop here.
The three men killed and the one wounded were aboard the speedboat Black Duck of Newport, R.I., which was heading into Newport when sighted by the Coast Guard patrol boat, CG-920, in charge of Boatwain A. C. Cornell. The patrol boat opened fire when the rum-runner tried to run away, and machine-gun bullets rained the pilot house when the rum ship turned and diverted the fire from her stern. Overlaken soon afterward, the Coast Guardmen found the three dead men in the pilot house with bullets through their chests, and the wounded man lying on the deck with his right arm badly shot up. The patrol boat took the four men into Newport and rushed them to the Newport (Please turn to Page Two)

MEAL REFUSED TRAMP BEAT BOY

Police Search for Hobo Who Attacked Young English Lad
Peterboro, Dec. 30.—Reminiscence of the early days in this district when lawless tramps forced settlers to give them food and assaulted them if they refused, is the incident that occurred near Fowler's Corners last week.
A tramp entered the home of Joseph Hunter and demanded food from the hunter man, William Haw, an English boy who was alone in the house. The lad explained that the owners were away and that he could not give away their food. The surly tramp answered that if the refusal jumped upon the lad with a rain of powerful blows, leaving him in a pool of blood. The man then ran away.
None of the youth's wounds proved serious, but he is badly bruised and about the face and his glasses were broken.
Provincial police investigated and are searching for the assailant.

SEVEN KILLED WHEN GALE HITS ENGLAND

London, Dec. 30.—At least seven persons were killed and a greater number injured in a southwest gale which swept Great Britain, Western France and intervening seas over the weekend. Although the gale subsided last night, the weather bureau promised 1929 would probably pass out equally boisterously. Many people were injured and much damage caused in Northwestern Germany when a 75-mile gale swept across. Many structures collapsed.

CHAMPION SETTER LAY SIX DAYS IN SNOWBANK, BUT IS RECOVERED

Winner at Royal Winter Fair One Month Ago Had Accident STRUCK BY TRAIN
Blood Transfusions and Egg Nogs Brought Dog Back To Life
Toronto, Dec. 30.—Champion English Setter Rackets Flash, quietly English setter, who lay six days beneath a snowbank, went home from the hospital yesterday in the arms of his master.
Still weak still somewhat wobbly on her long, thin legs, she is little the worse for her experience. And veterinarians state that after a few days' convalescence in the quiet of her kennel her recovery will be complete.
Three weeks ago today the champion disappeared. Frantically they sought her far and wide. Gloom settled over the Concord kennels.
They did not know that she had been struck by a train that a section man had hit her on the head to put her out of misery and had dropped the broken body in a ditch.
Two weeks ago passers-by noticed a mark in the snow and on investigation brought to light the still-breathing form of the champion English setter.
Drinks Brandy Egg-Nogs
She was rushed to Campbell's veterinary hospital and every effort made to save her life. For days brandy egg nogs were poured down her emaciated throat and blood transfusions given day after day. She lay motionless except for the weak flutter of her silky tail and the gentle movement of her sad brown eyes.
Yesterday she stood to have her picture taken.
She had often had her picture taken for she was famous. She has carried off honors all over the continent in both bench and ring. Just a month ago she had been proclaimed champion at the Royal Winter Fair.

NOMINATIONS IN THURLOW TODAY

Nominations for Reeve, Deputy Reeve and Councilmen for the Township of Thurlow took place this afternoon, in Camlinford Town Hall.
Mr. R. M. Mitchell and Mr. J. G. Sills were nominated for Reeve with Wesley Gray and Charles Gallery being nominated for Deputy Reeve.
Nominations for Councilmen were as follows: Douglas MacDonald, George Correll, Ben Gavers, R. M. Mitchell, Harry Townsend, P. N. Belanquell, Frank Walker, J. G. Sills, Daniel Shaw, James Hoffman, Earl Benyes, James Mosher, R. Howard, Andrews Cranston, W. B. Tufts.

Cup That Cheers Will Flow Freely in New York This Year

New York, Dec. 30.—With New Year's eve one night away, there is no time to indicate that the ushering in of 1930 will be less exuberant than the celebrations of past years. Night club proprietors, hotel men and theatre managers seem to be looking forward to the big night with unqualified optimism.
Judging by cover charges Harlem will entertain a bigger proportion of merry makers than ever before. Times Square is expected to be the whoopee centre as usual. An extra force of 200 patrolmen and mounted police will be on hand to make their customary good-natured and more or less futile effort to keep the square open for traffic.
Whether because the boys have been luckier than usual in running the stuff in or because the late financial upturn has caused a slump in demand, the liquor supply seems to be cheaper than in most prohibition years.
A feature of the celebration at the new Hotel Clinton will be a life-size mechanical hellboy. It arrived from Europe yesterday. The non-tippable employe will write the names of inebriated guests on a large card, make all necessary announcements and serve as assistant master of ceremonies when the grand entertainment is staged.

BORDER ENTRY CURB AIMED AT LIQUOR TRAFFIC

U. S. Plan Would Limit Crossing to Certain Points of Border SMUGGLING RAMPANT
Effort Made to Overcome Congressional Opposition to Scheme
Washington, December 30.—Prohibition of border crossing except at designated points and enforcement of the prohibition by patrols along the coastguard along the 2,500 miles of the Canadian border is part of the tentative plan of the Treasury Department for the stoppage of the transportation of liquor from Canada to the United States. The Treasury may further propose that under this regulation ports of entry numerous enough to take care of existing traffic along the border shall be established.
As the situation stands at present, Canadians may cross into the United States at any point on the border provided that a report is made at the nearest customs station. If the contemplated project is carried into effect this practice will be stopped.
Under-Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, in explaining the possible proposals of the Treasury to the Canadian Press yesterday, said that an erroneous report had been made to the effect that the number of the ports of entry would be decreased. He understood that the scheme under consideration was wholly dependent upon the willingness of the Canadian Government to agree. He thought that the United States and the United States would be equally advantageous to both countries and he understood that the Dominion Government was putting up some new stations.
A report that what would be proposed would amount to a closure of the Canadian border and the establishment of an armed patrol between customs houses turning the international border into something resembling a European frontier, was frowned upon.
The difficulty of providing for legitimate border-crossing by farmers or tradespeople in the outlying sections might be taken care of by a limited, without special permit or formalities.
The explanation offered to the Canadian Press would appear to draw some of the teeth of opposition already manifested in Congress to proposals to tighten the border-crossing regulations. An example of the attitude of some members of Congress is found in the assertion of Representative Pittenger (Please turn to Page 2)

CONTRACT FOR SPUR LINE LET

Kingston Job Will Be Done By Rayner Construction Company
Kingston, Dec. 30.—Mayor W. H. Craig on Saturday forenoon received official word from the Canadian National Railway headquarters at Montreal that the contract for the work on the spur line for the new grain elevator at Little Cataraqui Bay had been awarded to the Rayner Construction Company Ltd. of Toronto, and that work would be completed by March 1st.
Mayor Craig was greatly pleased over the good news from Montreal that the work is to be undertaken and the people of Kingston will also be glad to learn that this most important work will be undertaken without delay.
Every effort possible will be put forth to have as many Kingston men as possible employed on the railway construction work and for this reason today arranged to go to Toronto along with Allan Stroud, of the Government Employment Bureau, for the purpose of taking up the question of the employment of local men with the construction company which secured the contract.

LOST AN EYE WHEN STRUCK BY CHIP

MANUFACTURER DEAD

Stuttgart, Germany, Dec. 30.—Wilhelm Maybach, one of the leading German automobile manufacturers and widely known for his developments in the automobile field, died today. He produced the Mercedes car.
The injured victim is Antonio Pina, who suffered slight head injuries. Mrs. Lionel Pina, who was also at work in the barn, escaped without injury.
An inquest was held at St. Antine's hospital, corner of the district and the jury returned a verdict of accidental death.
Evidence heard by the coroner and his jury was that at six o'clock, at the time of the day's work of threshing the grain after the eight hundred bags were placed in the loft, it was seen that the floor was sinking upon them. The workers tried to prevent the collapse. The weight of the floor and the grain on it was too much for them and the floor fell. Four of the victims were buried beneath the debris and were killed instantly while Mrs. Pina and Antonio Pina dashed outside. Antonio Pina was struck on the head by flying pieces of wood.

FOUR DEAD WHEN FLOOR CAVES IN

Weight of 800 Bags of Oats Proved Too Great For Loft
St. Julie de Vercheres, December 30.—Four persons were killed outright, one was injured, and another escaped without injury when they were caught beneath a barn floor which caved in at six o'clock last evening. The floor gave way beneath the load of 800 bags of oats which had just been placed in the loft of the barn.
The dead are: Magella Pepin, 17 years of age; George Aime Pepin, 17 years of age; Armand Ismael Savaria, 18 years of age; Benoit Blain, 12 years of age, of St. Julie de Vercheres. The injured victim is Antonio Pina, who suffered slight head injuries. Mrs. Lionel Pina, who was also at work in the barn, escaped without injury.

HUMANITY AND DIPLOMACY

An urgent call to humanity has shattered the niceties of diplomatic usage, and it is well. For six weeks Lieut. Ben Eielson, an American aviator, and his mechanic, Carl Brown, have been trapped in the frozen fringes of the Siberian Arctic. Their known food supply is good for two weeks more. Heroic attempts at rescue carried on from the Alaskan shore have been unavailing. Immediate assistance is imperative, and that assistance can best come from the Russian government.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, has appealed to Secretary Wilbur, pleading that the Soviet government be approached directly and promptly. Mr. Wilbur's response will, we believe, please the American people and the Russian people. He did not stand out for diplomacy. He stood out for humanity. A dispatch was sent directly to Moscow, and whether or not this means that the United States has recognized the Soviets, it does mean that needed relief parties are on their way to the marooned aviators.

Secretary Wilbur could not have done less, but his very act serves to reveal rather dramatically something of the niceties of diplomacy. There are quibblers who must be alarmed at Mr. Wilbur's bold step. How was it possible for him to communicate with the Soviet government, which is not "recognized," and which therefore must be officially non-existent? What official map in Washington could possibly disclose the location of the city called Moscow?

But such arguments are unreal arguments, and Secretary Wilbur saw them as such. Non-recognition, while in itself a perhaps necessary policy, should never be construed as a literal phrase; and while the United States may for cogent reasons withhold an exchange of ambassadors with Russia, it does not mean that the American people have any hostility toward the Russian people or that the American public is unaware of the uprooting struggle through which the Russians are passing. Herbert Hoover did not ask the Soviet revolutionaries to repudiate the gospel of Karl Marx when he brought them relief from famine in 1921, and America did not ask the Soviet fliers to subscribe to the Federal constitution when it heartily welcomed them on their world tour. Humanity is its own diplomacy.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Automobile schools have long been in existence, but it has remained for Minneapolis to establish the first Automobile Safety School. Coeducational, this school, founded by Judge Hall of the local traffic court, enrolls only reckless drivers, and teaches them only one subject—safety in the operation of a motor vehicle. Further than this, to all "students" has previously been offered the choice of paying a heavy fine, or attending school for a term of five weeks. Such safety schools might well be established in other cities also.

Airplane passengers between McMurray in Canada and Alakivik and the Arctic Circle will not need much experience to make them accomplished travelers, if the old dictum that experienced travelers always travel "light" is accepted at its face value. On this route $2.70 is charged for each pound of baggage in excess of twenty-five pounds!

Mountain climbing de luxe is to be provided in New York State, where a road will take automobilists within 200 feet of the top and an elevator the rest of the way. But what will happen if a party should get out of their car and see a neat little sign: "Elevator not running?"

It is traditional that early settlers carried water for family use long distances—maybe twenty or forty yards—but to the fish in the Shedd Museum, Chicago, belongs the distinction of having sea water hauled from the coast of Florida.

New York is to mark all spots of historic interest along the State roads. Let us see, what is the limit of speed a car can travel to enable one to read up on the State's historic spots?

Again the Salvation Army proves at this time of year that it is one army which needs no limitation of armament.

but whether it is due to infection or accident should be the question to be answered. If the pain is in the same spot every time, but disappears when you get your body at rest in a certain position; if you had no pain in that region previously then you may be sure that the pain is due to the accident or injury.

If, however, the pain came on gradually, is perhaps at centre of lower back or on both sides, seems a little easier when walking, is even worse at night, then you have an infection of some kind—rheumatism as it is called.

Now I know that this looks like a simple way of telling the difference between sciatica or lumbago, from an injury, and that due to infection, but it is right in the majority of cases. Of course there can be a localized tuberculosis or other infection in the spine, but that is a rare case.

Now that we do about it. If due to accident rest is the first indication, and a few days in bed is good treatment. Then follows strapping with adhesive tape, two inches wide, from a pain, two in the middle of the hip bone at its base, across the back to the same point on the other side.

If adhesive is too high and comes across the points of the hip bone itself, it may actually pull on the joint where the pain is, and greatly increase it. After a week of this adhesive, a belt with lower strap covering the same region as adhesive, should be worn for months or years if necessary.

If pain is due to infection, get after the suspected area—teeth, tonsils and so forth.

Don't suffer with back pain.

WINTER'S MEMORY

On many a cold and bitter day As snugly I lay dozing, I used to hear my father say: "The water pipes are frozen. Get up! Get up, my little chap. We've got to thaw the kitchen tap."

With water hot we would anoint. The pipes exposed to weather. Or place a lamp beneath each point. And laboring together 'Till hands and knees were numb and sore.

The plumbing system we'd explore.

The house is warm, the pipes run free. Oh, happy son and daughter, However cold the nights may be, We're never out of water.

I've never had to shout: "My lad! Get up! Get up and help your dad!"

Yet when return the winds that blow With every bleak December. Those hardships of the long ago I joyously remember.

In that one happy memory My father oft comes back to me.

Oh, 'tis from hardships which we share.

Grow memories we treasure, Love deeper sinks its roots in care Than in the soil of pleasure. If but our water pipes should freeze severance from glad memories. You, too, might own glad memories.

Socialist Republican, and advocated complete national independence. He urged immediate boycott of the legislatures, and the organizations of a peace full mass movement for a "no tax" campaign. And he said he would play an important part in the world movement which has begun in America. If India ignored the world she would do so at her own peril.

At the committee meeting preceding the Congress, an amendment offered by Subash Bose providing for complete severance of participation in the British Government was rejected by a vote of 131 to 89 after Gandhi had made his plea.

Gandhi, although arguing for ultimate independence, and proposing a broad program of non-violent resistance to British rule, said that he wished to proceed step by step, and did not advise that his programme be put into effect in its entirety at this time.

London, Dec. 30.—The Sunday Times said that if the All-Indian Congress were truly representative of all Indian its resolution demanding complete independence would be the most grave and momentous ever since the mutiny of 1857 "but in point of fact the Congress is nothing of the kind."

The paper contended it was composed

I can see a lot of dangerous possibilities in the plan of Mr. Mills to close the highways to Canada. Why don't they consult members of Congress before they do that?"

A report was that people would be made to provide a sufficient force of armed men to march or ride between one customs house and another along the international boundary to prevent a single man from crossing except at a port of entry.

The plan seemed reminiscent of the story of a two-strand bar wire for stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The bar-wire fence report occasioned some mirth in Washington and was flatly denied the day after it appeared.

Hospital, where it was revealed that 3 of them had been instantly killed. This seizure occurred at 2.30 o'clock yesterday morning in heavy fog. The speedboat and 500 cases of liquor found aboard were brought to the Coast Guard station here.

Run Boat Burns

A fire broke after the patrol boat, a converted submarine, for the patrol boat, near Montauk Point. While attempting to escape signals of identification, Boatwain Otto Benz noticed a flare aboard, and ordered his men to board the boat. Upon arriving, they found the hold of the run ship a roaring furnace. A volunteer crew boarded the vessel and extinguished the flames, and found that the crew had taken, to small boats, Boatwain Benz ordered a boat overboard and went ashore to attempt capture of the

Admiral's Comment

Washington, Dec. 30.—Rear-Admiral Frederick C. Billard, Commandant of the Coast Guard, said last night: "The Coast Guard has the job of stopping liquor smuggling at sea. It is not a job that can be handled with soft words and amiable gestures. The Coast Guard is used to carrying out any duty given it, with vigor and determination."

"It means business about this matter, and acts strictly within the law. If a smuggler elects to defy the command of a Coast Guard craft to stop, he runs a serious risk of getting hurt through a course of action that the law has specifically authorized for a hundred years."

crew, but was unsuccessful. In danger of sinking the Flor del Mar was hauled out with buckets, part of her cargo of 4,000 cases of assorted liquors was transferred to the patrol boat and then the vessel was towed to the section base here.

Crew Escapes

At 8.15 yesterday morning Boatwain R. B. Cash, in charge of the CG-221, sighted the fishing schooner Roamer in Napeague Bay, off Long Island. Shots from shore warned the crew of the Roamer of the presence of the Coast Guard boat, and the crew took to small boats and escaped to shore.

The run ship was found to have 500 cases of liquor aboard, and, after efforts to capture the fleeing crew failed, the boat was towed to the section base here.

The capture of the three boats brought to a climax an intensive drive which has gone on over the past week Lieutenant R. G. Jewell, in command of the patrol boats operating off this section of the coast, acted on a hunch Saturday night and ordered every boat available to join in the concerted effort. All the vessels seized last night had been trying to land their cargoes under cover of the fog.

Registered at Halifax

The Flor del Mar is of Halifax, and is said by the Coast Guard to be one of the vessels comprising the few which usually remain 50 miles at sea to supply smaller boats with cargoes of liquor. Saturday night she evidently was trying to make a landing here.

The crew of the CG-220 and Lieutenant Jewell were deeply affected by the deeds of the three men. Had the speedboat stopped or had not made the fatal mistake of turning broadside into the hall of machine-gun fire, it is contended by the Coast Guard that the men would not have been killed.

Admiral's Comment

Washington, Dec. 30.—Rear-Admiral Frederick C. Billard, Commandant of the Coast Guard, said last night: "The Coast Guard has the job of stopping liquor smuggling at sea. It is not a job that can be handled with soft words and amiable gestures. The Coast Guard is used to carrying out any duty given it, with vigor and determination."

"It means business about this matter, and acts strictly within the law. If a smuggler elects to defy the command of a Coast Guard craft to stop, he runs a serious risk of getting hurt through a course of action that the law has specifically authorized for a hundred years."

FRENCH TALKIES TO BE TRIED IN QUEBEC

Montreal, Que. (By Canadian Press) Quebec will be the testing ground for a French language talkie by Solange Zukor, head of the Famous Players Company, announced in this course of an interview here recently. Mr. Zukor anticipated for it a success which will lead to the production of talkies in other languages. Spanish pictures being tried out in Mexico and South America.

Hollywood, Mr. Zukor said, will become even more the centre of the picture industry through the talkies. He admitted that talkies tended to make foreign lands more eager to produce their own films, but he stated that no organization has developed anywhere that can compete with that of Hollywood in the enormous technical matter of making talkies, and he pointed out that one alone technical staff can produce talkies in any language simply by changing the cast and the play script.

RESCIND RIGHTS ON JANUARY 1ST

Chinese Nationalist Government Issues Mandate Effective on that Date

Shanghai, December 30.—The Nationalist government took measures last night to rescind extra-territorial rights of foreign nations in China effective January 1. This was despite the only partial acquiescence of several governments to the Chinese insistence that foreigners be tried in Chinese administered courts, yielding the right to trial by courts in China maintained by their own governments.

As a result of the Nationalist government's central political council having ordered the state council to prepare "practical measures for abolition of extra-territoriality in China," the latter body tonight issued the following mandate:

"In every sovereign state, foreigners as well as its nationals, are equally amenable to its laws and the jurisdiction of its tribunals. This is an essential attribute of sovereignty.

"For more than 80 years China has been bound by an extra-territorial system which prevented the Sino Government exercising judicial power over foreigners in China. So long as extra-territoriality is not abolished, so long is China unable to exercise full sovereignty.

"For the purpose of restoring her jurisdictional sovereignty, it is hereby declared that on and after January 1, 1930, all foreign nationals in China now enjoying extra-territorial shall be subject to Chinese jurisdiction. Executive and judicial yuans (departments) are hereby ordered to instruct the ministers concerned, to prepare as soon as possible the means to execute this mandate and submit them for the examination of the legislative yuan for promulgation and enforcement."

INDIAN PARTY TURN UP SAFE AND SOUND

Prince Rupert, B.C., Dec. 30 (G.P.)—The party of ten or twelve Indians missing since Christmas, when they left here for Kikatha in a small launch, arrived safely at the destination on Saturday night, according to word received here. Meeting stormy weather after leaving here the party took shelter between the islands and had been overlooked by a search party.

WEATHER

(By Canadian Press)
Nome, December 30.—Heavy skies and the coldest weather thus far this winter continued today to hinder the aviators in Alaska and on the Siberian Coast in carrying out the search for Carl Ben Eklund and Earl Bodman, missing since they left Teller for the icebound trading ship "Nanuk" seven weeks ago. The temperature dropped to forty below zero here late last night, and it was even colder at other points.

CRERAR MAY BE CHOSEN TODAY

Expect Hon. Robt. Forke Will Go To The Senate

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—At today's Cabinet meeting it is expected that Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration will be appointed to the Senate.

While it is understood Hon. Thomas A. Crerar, who left Winnipeg for the East last Friday morning, has gone to New York on business, he is expected here later in the week, but it is probable that his appointment to the port folio of Railways and Canals to succeed Hon. Chas. A. Dunning will also be announced to-day. As there is only about a month remaining before the opening of the session, it will require practically all that time to permit of the passage of the bill by the House of Commons, and of the by-election for Mr. Crerar.

It is probable, too, that some other appointments to the Senate will be announced to-morrow and possibly one to the Supreme Court of Canada to fill the vacancy caused about three months ago by the retirement of Mr. Justice Mignault.

ENGLISH RUGGER VERY POPULAR

Montreal, Que. (By Canadian Press)
English rugby appears to be increasing in hold on the Canadian fans and 1930 already promises to be a banner year for the sport which has a firm grip in the Maritimes and British Columbia and a good growing following in Quebec and Ontario.

R. E. Merry, member of the Ontario English Rugby Union executive, during a recent visit here, stated that an invitation is expected from Japan to send a Canadian fifteen on a tour of that country, that two squads from England may play exhibitions in Canada and that a British Columbia team may tour the Eastern Provinces in the near future.

These arrangements, all of which are tentative, follow closely on an invitation from Yale University to the Montreal English Rugby Club to play an exhibition game at New Haven next fall.

The English teams expected here are Cambridge University, which will probably tour the country playing against various Canadian outfits, and the English squad, picked to play test matches in New Zealand.

Should all these games be played in 1930 interest in the game as played in this country will be undoubtedly revived to a tremendous boost.

LABOR MINISTER ANSWERS CRITICS

Feels That National Conference Was Not Justified At This Time

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 30.—The annual unemployment problems affecting only certain sections of Canada for a period of two or three months would not justify the hurried calling of a National Conference such as was suggested recently, declared Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor. The Minister said he did not fear criticism because he had refused to be stampeded into calling such a conference at a moment's notice. "Such a gathering was called some time ago in another country and what happened?" he asked. "Labor was asked to sign an agreement that it would not seek higher wages or change existing conditions. So far employees and employers of this Dominion have been able to take care of their problems in a satisfactory manner."

DEMONSTRATION BY YOUTHS OF INDIA

Ammadabad, India, December 30.—When Sir Frederick Sykes, Governor of Bombay, arrived here today, the Youth Independence League staged a demonstration outside the railway station, waving black flags and shouting: "Fredrick Sykes, go back home."

ROYAL MARRIAGE HELD THIS WEEK

Special Detectives Guard Coaches of Train Carrying Belgian Princess

Brussels, December 30.—Police authorities, guarding against any attempt against the lives of the Royal Family, are taking extensive measures to protect the royal train, which will convey the Belgian wedding party to Rome next Friday for the marriage of Princess Marie Jose to Crown Prince Leopold. The royal Italian train, due Wednesday evening in Brussels, has eight coaches and will be entirely in charge of Italian personnel. Strict orders have been given not to allow anyone on board the coaches during the stay here and the train will be guarded day and night by special detectives.

HOME ECONOMICS ARE GAINING MORE FAVOR

Toronto, Ont. (By The Canadian Press).—There should be houses made to a point of high perfection, meals gauged to a calory, seasoned to a point and budgeted to a fraction in this city if the registrations at centres where education has a domestic bent may be taken as an indication of how feminine interest is turning.

At the university where economies rank high as an honor course, the popular household science courses have been chosen by 36 more students than last year. At the Central Technical school there has been a steep increase in the number of girls who have applied for domestic science, while other feminine branches, notably that of millinery, have faded into oblivion.

The Toronto figures tell a story different from recent findings in the United States. Women in the east, particularly in New York and its environs, regard kitchens as necessary evils.

TENNIS PLAYER KILLED

Berlin, Dec. 30 (G.P.)—Hans Moldenhauer, noted German tennis player, died here today of injuries suffered in an automobile accident. He was hurt when the machine skidded and collided with a street car, and died shortly afterwards.

HOW TO KEEP BRUSHES CLEAN

It takes half the curse from the house-cleaning job to start in with plenty of clean rags and brushes. A complete household equipment should include spiral brushes for the radiators, wicker chairs and bedsprings; a long-handled scrub brush to keep the hands out of dirty water, and soft fibre brushes for shades, ceilings, mouldings and polished floors. If your brushes are of a good quality they can be kept clean and soft by washing in lukewarm soap, softened if necessary with a little ammonia. Animal fibre brushes made of mule's hair, pig's bristles and the like are a bit more expensive, but they will wear longer and give better service. Household experts say. However, some brushes made of vegetable fibres such as palm, rice root and Tampico are best for rough scrubbing because they are firmer and can better withstand hot water.

Animal fibres are softer, smoother and more lustrous than vegetable fibres which are sometimes made into good imitations of the more expensive brushes. The test of fibre is a practical method of distinguishing between the two varieties. Animal hair will shivel at the end and give off an unmistakable odor of burning hair; vegetable fibre will burn to an ash.

ELABORATE CLOTHES ARE HERE FOR THE SEASON
Whatever else has been accomplished by the introduction of long skirts and raised waistlines, a simple and endless topic of discussion has been provided. Whether or not the individual likes the new silhouette seems to be of absorbing interest to the individual, but the world at large is ordering, buying or wearing it.

According to those who are in the know as to what is being prepared for fashionable winter events, long skirts and decidedly elaborate fashions will prevail, not only gloves, but headresses being brought back to life. Velvet, metal and coarse tulle with satins are rumored everywhere as the leading fabrics. It is thrilling to realize that precious jewels and furs will contribute their glow and richness and that color is expected to overbalance either all-black, all-white or a combination of the two. At most brilliant first nights to date black or black and white have stood conspicuously forth as the choice of the smartly dressed. With the familiar reds and greens in evidence one will feel more at home with the new silhouette. Incidentally one reason given for the predominance of black this season is that women feel impelled to try out the new line in a conservative color and to make their first great adventure into long dresses in black. Generally speaking, the silhouette has passed the speculative stage for evening, but one is cautioned to temper the line to the individual figure. If proportions are taken into account the new line is inclined to flatter.

SOME HELPFUL HINTS FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

Hearty meals should be followed by light rather than rich desserts.

Comfortable shoes make shopping and holiday entertaining easier for the homemaker.

Molasses is recommended for children's sweets because it is rich in iron and calcium.

Regular meals and hours for the child are especially necessary during the holidays to counteract the strain or added excitement.

DANGER AHEAD A Tale of Love and the Love of Money By MILDRED BARBOUR

THE FRIENDLING GREETING CHAPTER III

Hammond went to the library and looked through his mail while Rita Carstairs repaired the damage which dust and heat had done to her complexion.

It was a long process, for she was not as young as she looked, and her appearance required extreme care. Her friends gave her twenty-seven years—but her enemies—there were a number, mostly of her own sex—said she was thirty-two. Her enemies were correct. But all her life she had taken exquisite care of herself. Only her modesty could have told the secret of her ash-blond hair and the rose-leaf complexion that showed no trace of line or shadow.

She was slim and graceful and wore charming frocks. She was the type of shopper from whom saleswomen flee—the kind which demands to see every model in the shop and then goes away without buying, but with mental sketches and copious notes from which some little seamstress-by-the-day evolves an identical costume in cheap materials.

Mrs. Carstairs had a position to maintain in Washington society. Her brief married life had given her entrance to a smart circle; she had since enlarged its scope until she went everywhere, knew everybody of note, and attended all the fashionable functions of official society. But it was no easy task, this keeping up appearances on a slender income. She found it wearing, arduous, aging. And she intended to scrap it, to trade it for money and security when an opportunity came.

She believed she saw an opportunity hovering on her horizon right now!

In the library Hammond went through his letters. There were many, mostly of the same kind. Begging letters from individuals and from organizations, shopkeepers announcing new lines of apparel, young students wanting to sell commodities to put themselves through college, invitations to dinner and lunch and tea—all with a string to them—from people who courted rich, popular eligible bachelors, from people who liked to have it known that one of the world's most famous engineers was at their board, from widows who had had an eye to re-marriage, from politicians who sought financial backing, from promoters who could use a few extra thousands, from social climbers who wanted their names linked with his in the social columns.

As Hammond read one letter after another, a whimsical smile touched his lips. In spite of himself and all unconsciously, a little shadow of bitterness crept into his eyes.

Of all that mass of letters, there was not one to wish him a happy birthday—not a single friendly greeting, not a disinterested note in which the whole jumble of correspondence! He thought whimsically how little he meant to the crowded busy, selfish world in which he was moving. Everywhere in Washington he was fêted, flattered, made much of. He had more invitations than he could handle—if he had wished to accept, which he rarely did! But for one friendly handclasp in the whole lot! All cheap, shallow, empty, motivated sham!

He swept the whole mass of letters into the waste-basket with a single gesture and rose from his desk, feeling a curious hurt, which he told himself with a shrug, was silly and unwarranted. People in this busy age didn't observe birthday anniversaries, even if they knew the date. After all, he doubted very much if any one knew. He was not communicative about himself. He had not told even Rita Carstairs until that morning, and she was his closest friend. He had not mentioned it even to his nephew.

"There's no fool like an old fool," he reminded himself as he lit a cigarette.

And then, as he glanced down to drop the match into an ash tray, he dropped a little square, white envelope that had fallen on the floor from the sheet of correspondence—one that he had not seen and which remained unopened.

He slit it with a bronze blade and drew out a card on which was written in a firm, graceful hand: "Wishing you many happy birthdays. In grateful remembrance, Stephanie Hall."

Hammond knew suddenly why he had been so bitter and disappointed a few minutes ago. In his heart of hearts he had waited for this, even though he had not known what it was he was waiting for.

He had never seen Stephanie Hall, even though for several years she had remembered his anniversary and Christmas with a little card of friendly greeting. How she knew his birthday, he could not guess, unless her father had mentioned it to her. Her father—far older than Hammond, but yet his best friend—had been his partner in many a hazardous undertaking, when they had sought to span a river or dam a flood or burrow through the solid rock of a snow-clad mountain.

Hall had lost his life in the Andes and there had been difficulty making the insurance company pay his orphaned daughter. Hammond had used all his influence and had retained legal talent to fight for the claim. When the money was finally paid, he had added a sum from his own fortune, binding the lawyers to secrecy. So the daughter, just out of school, was left with a comfortable income. She had written to thank Hammond for his activity in her behalf, and after that she had sent him a card each Christmas and another on his birthday. And since she had inaugurated the custom, she had never failed in its observance.

Hammond's heart was warmed and cheered by her thoughtfulness. He tucked the little card away in an innermost recess of his desk and looked at the drawer.

When Rita Carstairs, radiant and assured, came downstairs, he was smiling softly. She thought it was her presence in his house that had made him appear so boyish and happy.

WHAT'S NEW (From a Woman's Standpoint)

Shanting in white and pastels will be smart for southern models.

Fine flesh color stockings are the favorite for party frocks this season.

The delicate use of fagoting and two-color trimming distinguishes many of the handmade imports.

Suntan shaved lapin, which suggests galyak, are being featured for southern resorts and spring fashions.

Boudoir jackets of soft white fur-lined with pastel brocade are being shown in smart New York shops.

Many of Britain's women's athletic clubs are making a specialty of cross-country running this winter, and the famous pioneer club, the London Olympians, turn out in full force every Saturday afternoon and cover three strenuous miles in the neighborhood of Wimbledon.

Jacquard patterned cottons, wide-wale pique and handblocked peasant cottons figure in fashions advanced for resort wear.

In Charleston they still eat dinner at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, for in the days of King George before the Revolution smart people served dinner at 3 and Charleston people don't like change.

Earrings have returned to fashion with zest, and these in real or simulated crystal, ruby, sapphire, emerald and jet are long drop affairs, quaint in style and withal quite sophisticated.

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

Curry of Beef

Cut the leftover beef in small pieces and reheat in a sauce composed of spoon baking soda. Blend in 1 1/2 cups milk and stir in two lightly beaten eggs. Beat the batter until full of bubbles and pour into the pan with the roast beef, about 20 minutes before the beef is to be taken from the oven. Baste occasionally with the hot fat after the pudding is risen.

Banana Boat Salad

This will prove a delight to those fond of bananas, but not a salad to be tried on strangers. Bananas have too strong a flavor to serve unless you know the taste of your guest. Allow one small banana for each service. Peel the fruit and scoop out the centers, leaving the outline of a boat. Fill with equal quantities of diced canned pineapple and chopped celery, and garnish with mayonnaise or boiled dressing and maraschino cherries.

Hockey fans in this neck of the woods are going to get their fill of the fastest game in the world—at times—before the winter is over judging by the ambitious schedules of the Belleville teams. And tonight the Juniors will take on the Toronto Canoe Club Juniors in an exhibition tilt which should prove interesting enough to pack the Belleville Arena. to beat this year or they have some real scoring power and are strong on defence and in goal as well.

Although the Canning twins will be missed from the squad, there are one or two others who will take their places and chief among these is young Runions, who showed here for the first time in the Campbellford-Trenton Rowing Cup game about three weeks ago. He is working in Belleville and will likely be with the Juniors tonight.

"Bimp" McKinnon will likely guard the goal, with Ab Young and Jimmy Ethier on defence. Both these lads have improved wonderfully in the past year and should be in for their best season. Who will compose the forward line seems a mystery as yet, but those who come to the Arena tonight are sure to see a good game.

On Wednesday night, New Year's Night, the Smith Falls Seniors will be the guests of the Belleville Seniors in the local first game. Smith Falls are in the Intermediate Senior Group and fans can get some idea of the class of hockey they are going to see this winter by the game Wednesday night.

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING

Several folk hand at the Sult roll Saturday night and tonight should see some heavy hitting by some who hope to get in at the last minute. Some of the boys who are just in, had better keep an eye on things tonight or they will not be among the starters in the final tomorrow night.

est to both those participating and to their friends who care to attend as spectators. The bowling alleys will be open for use during the greater part of the day. For the junior section of the membership there will be the privilege of a shower and swim in the morning, this to include the Prep. also, Junior school and Employed boys. The use of the gymnasium will, however, be restricted to the senior section of the membership, young men and business men participating for the most part.

At 9:30 a.m. an interesting Volley Ball game will take place in which the benedicts will oppose the lancers. Many of the more-experienced players are numbered among the former but by no means will all the experts at the net game be found on the one side of the white line when the umpire calls "Play ball." In the ranks of the sharpshooters are Dr. Haffner, Phoebe Black, Capt. Davis, "Army" Armstrong, Vern Weir, M. Two out of three fifteen point games will decide the verdict.

The Junior Players, the majority of whom will be found in the ranks of the Intermediate candidates this year, are a range group of ball tossers who display a nice combination game and know what to do with the ball when they arrive at a favorable shooting position.

Opposed to them will be players of greater experience but to the same degree lack the team play to the same degree as their more youthful opponents. The ex-juniors are called by many of the fans to bring home the bacon but in any event it is bound to be a hectic affair since it has evolved from a challenge by last year's near champions.

During the afternoon the gymnasium will be free for senior members who wish to engage in handball or other favorite pastimes. The swimming pool will likewise be available to the senior section of the membership.

INDIA WISHES HER INDEPENDENCE

Gandhi Resolution Is Given Approval of Congress Committee

Lahore, India, December 28. — The working committee of the Indian National Congress today adopted a resolution sponsored by Mahatma Gandhi, Nationalist leader, declaring for a policy of independence for India. No modifications were made in the draft as it came from the executive and it will now go before the congress proper, which opens on Sunday.

The resolution urges boycotting of the central and provincial Legislatures, a campaign of non-payment of taxes, and civil disobedience where necessary. Amendments which had in view the boycotting also of the schools and the law courts were, however, turned over to another committee.

It is expected the Nationalist Congress will adopt the resolution, if so, it means the Nationalist section of Indian opinion will abstain from participation in the round-table conference in London which is to follow publication of the Simon Statutory Commission's recommendations on Indian constitution reform.

CITY LEAGUE
SCHEDULE

The officers of the Belleville City Hockey League have arranged the following schedule for the winter campaign, which is printed along with the Junior and Senior O. H. A. schedules, so that Belleville folk may see at a glance just when there is a hockey game. This will be the only schedule of the City League printed, so team managers, players and others interested should clip this one and save it.

The executive discussed the resolution for four hours. The committee's deliberations closed on a more peaceful note, however when Dr. Ansari and Mrs. Maidu suggested the door should not be closed to further negotiations. Gandhi himself replied that, even in the case of the most militant, Irish programme the door had not been closed. In all political warfare opponents could always meet peaceably.

FOUR MEN LOST

Craft Capsized in Detroit River During Liquor
Seizure

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 28. — Four members of the crew of three rum running boats are believed to have been drowned last night in the Detroit River, into whose waters they plunged to escape arrest by Customs Border Patrolmen. Two other members of the crew were rescued from the river by Inspectors who also seized the smugglers' boats with a cargo of liquor valued at more than thirty thousand dollars. The seizure was made near Wyandotte after officers had stopped three boats coming from the Canadian shore. As they drew alongside, four men jumped into the river and struck out for the fourth boat. This craft, according to the officers, was equipped by the combined efforts of the four men to climb aboard. Two original occupants of the fourth boat

CRERAR TO HAVE AN ACCLAMATION

Unlikely That He Will Be Opposed in Brandon Constituency

Brandon, Man., Dec. 28.—Hon. T. A. Crerar, forecast as Canada's new Minister of Railways, will be granted an acclamation in Brandon. It is believed. Political feeling in the city at present would indicate that the President of the United Grain Growers will not be opposed should he decide to contest the Brandon seat as a means of re-entry into the House of Commons. The retirement of Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration and present member for Brandon to the Senate is expected to be announced soon. It is understood here that Mr. Crerar's appointment and Mr. Forke's retirement will be effected by the New Year and that a by-election at Brandon will early result.

MOVING INTO NEW QUARTERS TODAY

Mr. W. H. Patterson, contractor for this city, is moving from his present business location in the Chamber of Commerce buildings to No. 5 Turnbull Street, which is the old skating arena. The change will take place this afternoon. Practically all of the office equipment has been transferred to the new site, which will be more convenient for business.

In the new building there will be two new offices and a combined warehouse in which can be placed the company trucks, stamboliers and other equipment.

FAIL TO FIND TEN INDIANS IN BOAT

Prince Rupert, B. C., Dec. 28.—Long and diligent search has failed to reveal any trace of the party of ten Indians, five men and five women, who sailed from here Christmas afternoon in a small boat for Kitikotla, where they expected to arrive that night. There was considerable open water to cross and it is now believed that the small craft was swamped.

MUSIC OF TODAY HAS NO APPEAL

Modern Lays Leave The Audience Cold Declares A Noted Critic

Toronto, Ont. (By The Canadian Press).—A musical critic in "The Telegram" finds in connection with a concert given by young women, that modern music leaves the audience cold no matter how well given. "If the average modern lyric was purged of its sentimental little bits it is to sing about. One of the singers he says—'Most of her modern songs were like that, not easy and restful to listen to and certainly 'over the heads' of nine out of ten common or garden concert-goers—even in Royal York environs. It was a joy to hear Miss Winnifred MacMillan play the piano. She has splendid technique and a temperament that finds a beautiful expression in the simplest cadence. Her playing of the Elizabethan songs was masterly without a touch of the austere or the academic. You wanted to hear her in Beethoven and Chopin, or in Debussy and Liszt. She must have something to say in such work that would be good to hear. But alas! so much of what she played in the accompaniment, and practically all her solo playing, was of the psychocentric-modernistic-spasmodic sort that you despair of ever hearing long, delicious phrases with something like poise and serenity in them."

Josefa Hofmann, daughter of the famous pianist, Joseph Hofmann, who was married the day before Christmas at Alken, South Carolina, to Howard Cliff Fair, a master at Alken preparatory school. The couple were married in the Tea Cottage in the Hitchcock Woods and both they and the guests were attired in riding habits. After the ceremony and reception the couple rode away on horseback.

LATE MEMBER OF FOREIGN LEGION IN BELLEVILLE

Has Completed Seven Years Service With That Organization

In the blood of some there is always a touch of the adventurous, an impulse that cannot be restrained, especially in these modern times. Such a man as this is James D. Gordon, born in New Brunswick, who has all his life engaged in the pursuit of war. His career has been that of a stormy petrel. At the present time Mr. Gordon is in Belleville, having arrived only a few days ago from New York, whence he landed after having concluded a seven-year term with the French Foreign Legion in Morocco.

Speaking to a representative of the press this morning, the man told an account of his adventures since he was a lad of 18.

Mr. Gordon was born in New Brunswick, and as his name indicates, of Scotch parentage. His father was a soldier in the Boer war, after which he came to Canada in 1890.

In the year 1911 Gordon felt the irresistible urge to see service in the army. He signed up with the 10th Battalion of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, who finally overcame the forces of Diaz, who had ruled for 60 years. This lasted from 1911 until 1913. From 1913 until 1916 he was with the United States Cavalry in Mexican border service. From 1916 until 1919 he was with the 28th Battalion of New Brunswick, fighting for Canada and the Empire in Flanders.

After the conclusion of the war he was a member of the "Black and Tans" employed during the trouble of the Irish Free State from 1919 to 1920. In 1921 he came back to Canada, but the hum-drum life in the cities did not have an appeal for very long. In the same year he thought that serving in the French Foreign Legion would have a spice of adventure, as if all the previous wars that he had been in were not enough. From 1922 until October of this year he served with the Legion. Behind the Legion there is a veil of romance written and re-written by storytellers who for the most part have not told the story as it really is.

Gordon said "that the Legion was no Sunday School picnic. But taking things generally, it was not so bad." His last station was at Melita, although he had been situated for a time at Sidi-El-Abbas. Their work was a routine, consisting of skirmishes with the Rifles and Touaregs. On his discharge he held the rank of adjutant, which in the British army, would rank the same as a sergeant-major. A soldier gets two sous a day and an adjutant a franc. At the present rate of exchange 20 francs are equal to $1. Many while Russians and Germans compose the personnel of the Legion, he informed the writer, and only Frenchmen are allowed to command as officers.

Some days ago he arrived in New York from Liverpool on a tramp which took 18 days to come over. He arrived in New York on the 19th, was on Ellis Island for two days and eventually came to Canada.

"If another good war" occurred he would join up, he informed the scribe.

Miller Lash, K.C., prominent Toronto financier, whose marriage to Miss Clarice E. Brodie is taking place today. Miss Brodie, who has been Mr. Lash's private secretary for some time, was formerly the private secretary of Sir Thomas White.

LONGER DRESSES FOR THE EVENING

The Mid-Season collections shown in Paris display no radical departures from the styles inaugurated in the Winter openings, but merely refinements of them, indicating that Paris has definitely adopted long dresses for evening, while the Paris correspondent of "Mayfair", in the January number of the magazine just published. Enumerating features well established in Paris, and that will quickly make themselves throughout the fashionable world, he says:

"Afternoon dresses will be slightly longer, the width starting low. The studio robe or frock—a mark back to the tea gown of the 90's—is a popular innovation. Milliners are evolving an evening head dress. Felt is increasingly softer, draping like other materials. Many incrustations of satin and small pleatings are seen on lingerie. Tweed points and beaded tricot are novelties for sweaters."

Despite the protests of stout ladies and younger women who urge for freedom of limbs, Paris has sealed the long skirted dress for evening wear, so that the silhouette remains a striking feature, writes the "Mayfair" fashion expert.

QUEBEC WOMEN DEMANDED VOTE

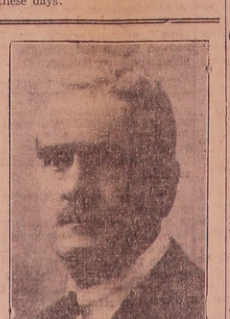

Montreal—Girls bearing sandwich boards recently paraded Montreal streets to draw attention to the fact that women are allowed to vote in Federal elections, but not in provincial. They made a tour of the main streets and marched round the court house. On their board in French and English was this announcement:

Do you know—that Quebec women are supposed to have enough intelligence to vote in Federal elections, but not enough to vote in provincially?

—that Premier Taschereau has said Quebec women may have the vote when they ask for it? Now that you do know—will you ask for it through your deputy? Published by the committee of the Quebec Women's Club.

YOUNG GIRL PROVES EXCELLENT HARPIST

Montreal, Que. (By The Canadian Press).—A girl's passion for collecting French Canadian folk-songs has been turned to good account by Miss E. Murray Panet, a graduate of King's Hall, Compton, Quebec. An expert harpist, Miss Panet last summer was installed at the Manor Richelieu, Murray Bay, and there it was found her delicate instrument, the harp, was ideal for the rendition of the old melodies which became fashionable in these days.

Norman H. Wardell, Toronto boxer, who has invented an amusement device, the "Aerial Glider," which is said to provide all the thrills and sensations of aeroplane travel.

SCALE OF NURSE WAGES OBJECTED

Montreal, Que. (By Canadian Press).—Objection to the action taken by the local association of Registered Nurses in raising the schedule for nursing service was taken by Dr. Charles F. Martin, Dean of the Faculty of Medicine at McGill University in an address to the graduating class of the Parker School of Trained Attendants.

"I have learned with regret that the local Association of Registered Nurses here has decided to establish a scale of prices that is prohibitive to a large proportion of the population. Our citizens as a whole have not yet learned to budget for their nursing in serious illness at the rate of $150 a day—for that is what it will mean to remedy the attention of two nurses daily over a period of weeks or even months," said Dr. Martin. Saying that he spoke for the majority of physicians, he continued: "Frankly, I believe that such a decision can only tend to antagonize both public and the profession and lead to hardships among nurses at large. I see, as I am told, over two hundred fully trained nurses on the register today seeking employment. Surely this was not the time for an effort to initiate a change of such nature."

The amount cited by Dr. Martin to a patient in hospital for two nurses' service daily, is made up as follows: six dollars each for a nurse, or $12 three meals each per day, or six meals at 75 cents per meal, $4.50, making a total of $16.50.

HUGE TIDAL WAVE CAUSES DEATH

Newfoundland Fisherfolks' Homes Destroyed By Water

By C. E. A. Jeffery, Canadian Press Correspondent.

St. John's, Nfld. — Through generations of witnessing a living from the sea, and knowing instinctively how to deal with its varying moods, the fishermen of the South Coast of Newfoundland have become almost immune to any sense of danger. They strive with the storms and derive the same pleasure from their victories as the members of a team from their loss on the football field. When they lose out as not infrequently happens, they take their defeat stoically, and reckon the lives which the sea takes as the toll which some time or another must inevitably be paid as the price of the harvest from its depths.

Home from the ocean in their humble dwellings, they have come to believe, even though the billows roll in within a few feet of their doors, that safety is their unquestionably. Ashore the game was over, they were no longer looking for trouble. On Monday, Nov. 18th, they had fought a storm all day. As darkness came on they made for the shelter of their coves. Their boats had been made snug and their gear stowed away when the solid earth trembled and their houses were shaken to their foundations. Never had such a thing happened before. There was uneasiness everywhere, and while they were still asking each other what could have been the cause, another shock, more violent than the first, intensified the alarm. Darkness only added to the terror of this unknown thing. Some said an earthquake; others believed that the end of the world had come. The telephone office, their one connecting link with the outside world, could obtain no reply to enquiries, apart from nearby settlements.

Then came a message from St. Lawrence: "My God! The sea is coming in!" Burin, the chief settlement on the coast, had just received it when a wall of water was seen bearing down upon the town. Coming with the speed of an express, it gained in height as the funnel-shaped arm of the bay compressed the on-rush. There was no time to warn people whose homes were in the landwash. The turmoil of water caught them, lifting some of them bodily and crushing others into a mass of splinters. Confounded for a moment by the invasion of the land by the ocean, the fisherman with the greatest self-possession rushed to the rescue. In the roar of waters and the crash of breaking timber, cries for aid came from all directions, and in the gloom it was difficult to tell where assistance was most urgently needed. Headless of danger men leaped on houses as they were receding from the shore, and smashed in doors and windows, and as the dwellings were again flung shorewards by successive waves, they seized the opportunity to fling women and children to others waiting to receive them.

It was due to the freakish action of the sea which in some cases carried buildings to sea and back again three times, that many lives were saved. One household of ten people escaped after their home was for the third time flung against the shore. Then it went down into the maelstrom. One man's path was blocked by a floating house as he was rushing to the rescue of his family. Unable to proceed, he saw his home containing his wife and family, borne to sea on the crest of the receding waters. For a while he tore through the darkness seeking a boat. He found a boat, but his home had been swallowed up.

In one little hamlet of 17 houses, five remain. The places where the others stood are as clean, as though they never had been occupied. The waterfront in most of the stricken area, formerly cluttered up with stores, fish flakes, wharves and boats, is now when the Creator first made it—bare and forsaken, but for the stricken and bewildered fishermen standing listlessly, seeking in the foam that is strewn over the surface of the coves some trace of those so suddenly snatched away, or bending now and then to drag from the water some useless piece of wreckage that he recognized as once forming part of his home.

It is little wonder that one finds a disinclination among these stricken people to start work again. They are stunned, their womenfolk and children are gone, their life's work destroyed, without fuel, without light, without food, without the wherewithal to play their trade without hope—what is left to restore their spirits. That will pass, however. Given the means to renew their work and once again they will pit their strength against the elements.

It has been discovered since the disaster that in certain places where vessels could formerly lie at anchor there is not sufficient water to float them. An examination of the shore indicates that the tidal wave attained a height of not less than 100 feet, as buildings situated at that elevation above the ordinary level of the sea were destroyed. One shop stocked with goods, was lifted by the tidal wave off its concrete foundation and deposited in a meadow 200 yards away from its site, and nothing in it was disturbed. The telephone office occupied by the girl operator who sent the warning to Burin, lies at anchor in the middle of the harbor. She had barely time to make her escape when it was swept away.

A search through Newfoundland history discloses that once before a similar catastrophe visited this coast. In the year before the American civil war, a tidal wave 20 feet high swept in and took a toll of 300 lives.

BERMUDA ASSEMBLY WELCOMES CANADIAN

Hamilton, Bermuda. — Col. Thomas Cantley, representing the constituency of Picton in the Canadian Parliament, was welcomed at the Bermuda House of Assembly by his short stay here in the course of his tour through the West Indies on the Lady Hawkins, which also carried Their Excellencies the Governor-General of Canada and Viscountess Willingdon.

Rev. W. J. Hurlow, formerly of New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, home town of Col. Cantley, welcomed the latter when he disembarked here. Col. Cantley was then escorted to the House of Assembly and welcomed by Hon. J. P. Hand, O. B. E. The Canadian member of parliament followed the proceedings with keen interest from a seat next to the Speaker.

GOVERNMENT HAS COMPILED SOCIAL AND LABOR ACTS

Annual Statement Compares Labor Laws Of The Different Provinces

Ottawa, Ont., (By Canadian Press)

Of interest to labour throughout Canada, a compilation of labour legislation enacted by the Dominion Parliament, and the legislatures of the nine provinces has been issued by the Department of Labour. Other statutes which effect chiefly working people but which are primarily social rather than labour legislation are briefly summarized. The report is a compilation to the end of December last.

Furnishing a comparison the laws of the different provinces, the compilation answers a considerable demand for information from Canada as well as other countries. This is the third one of this kind issued in the Dominion, the first being published in 1915 and the second in 1920.

Chief among the federal statutes included in the report are the Trade Unions Act, Labour Department Act, Conciliation and Labour Act, Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, Employment Offices Co-ordination Act, Technical Education Act, Alien Labour Act, Old Age Pensions Act, Railway Act, Canada Shipping Act, sections of the Trade Mark and Design Act regarding trade union labels and sections of the Criminal Code dealing with the Trade Unions and intimidation and violence in industrial disputes.

The Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, passed by the Dominion Parliament to aid in the settlement of industrial disputes, in addition to its application to disputes coming within the jurisdiction of the federal authorities, has been brought into force with respect to disputes that come within provincial authority in all provinces but Ontario, Quebec and Prince Edward Island, through provincial legislative action.

An analysis of the various provincial laws in the report indicates a certain degree of the uniformity in the Canadian laws for factory inspection, the regulation of mines, workmen's compensation, minimum wage for women and others. In the case of the two last named, similar methods of administration have been adopted. With the enactment of the Saskatchewan Workmen's Compensation Act in 1928, to come into force on proclamation, all the provinces, except Quebec and Prince Edward Island, will have a collective liability system of compensation administered by a provincial board. The Quebec Act, which came into force in 1928, is administered by a provincial board. The Quebec Act, which came into force in 1928, is administered by a provincial board. The Quebec Act, which came into force in 1928, is administered by a provincial board.

There are, however, important points on which the labour provincial laws vary. The minimum age for employment in factories is 14 in the eastern provinces and 16 or 15 in the western. The hours of labour permitted to young persons and women vary with the definition "young person" and from the 48-hour week in Saskatchewan and British Columbia to the 10-hour day and 60-hour week in the eastern provinces. Certain provisions for health and safety are fairly general throughout the provinces but some legislatures have imposed more stringent regulations than others. There is even more variation in the legislation on employment in shops.

The Old Age Pensions Act of the Federal Parliament is a new development in Canadian legislation. This statute provides for federal assistance to persons to indigent persons over 70 years of age. In Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba, Ontario and Saskatchewan, legislation has been passed taking advantage of the Dominion statute. The old age pensions system is also in force in the Northwest Territories.

Other recent developments in the field of labour legislation include the British Columbia House of Work Act providing for an eight-hour day for all workers in industrial undertakings with limited exceptions and the Male Minimum Wage Act of the same province. These are the first laws of this kind in Canada. Earlier legislation restricting hours was applicable only to women and young persons in certain classes of work or to such occupations as mining. Similarly, laws to establish minimum rates of wages applied only to female employees, except in Alberta where male employees may not be paid at a less rate than women and girls whose wages are fixed by the Minimum Wage Board.

BUILDINGS WERE BUILT IN 1792

First Executive Council Structure Remains Historic Relic at Kingston

Kingston, Ont., (Written for The Canadian Press by G. H. Williamson)

On Queen street in Kingston still stands the first Parliament buildings used by the Executive Council of Upper Canada. It is a small, wooden structure and stands beside St. Paul's Anglican churchyard which contains the tomb of Rev. Dr. John Stuart, father of the Church of England in Upper Canada. Colonel Sir John Simcoe presided at the first Council session as lieutenant-governor on July 8, 1792. Hon. Richard Cartwright, who was a member, founded the Cartwright family in Canada, a family which has been prominent in political and military circles for more than a century, and whose descendants are still to be found in Vancouver, B.C., Winnipeg, Toronto, Kingston and Ottawa. Sir Cartwright son of an English father and a Dutch mother, and born in Albany, N.Y., remained true to Great Britain at the close of the American Revolutionary War and came to Canada. His grandson, Richard J. (afterwards Sir) took part in the discussions which resulted in the Canadian Confederation, and 30 years later was a member of the Liberal Cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

It appears that Governor Simcoe had planned and outlined a military road from one end of Upper Canada to the other, to which he gave the name "Dundas Street", supposedly with a view to accomplishing his idea of fixing the capital on the present site of London. Hon. Richard Cartwright protested against the employ-day and night.

ment of 100 men of the "Rangers" in cutting a road from the head of Lake Ontario to the River Tranche (now Thames) where there was not a single inhabitant, instead of employing them in the service for which they are ostensibly raised, of opening roads and building bridges between the different settled parts of the country.

"Alvington House", the home of three successive Governor-Generals of Canada when Kingston was the seat of government of Upper and Lower Canada, 1841-1844, also still stands and is one of the finest residences in Ontario. It is owned and occupied by Mrs. Richardson, widow of the late Senator H. W. Richardson. "Alvington" is situated on the shore of the harbor and was built by Baron De Louguet, the fourth Baron of the distinguished family of Le Moyne de Louguet, which gave two governors to French Canada. His ancestor, Charles de Moyne, was a contemporary of the Chevalier de La Salle.

When Lord Sydenham settled at Kingston, the then "Alvington" with some additions, became the vice-regal residence. It was near this home that Lord Sydenham, one of Canada's ablest governors, was fatally injured when his horse stumbled and fell, and it was at the vice-regal residence that he died on Sept. 19, 1841, two weeks after the accident. Lord Sydenham had expressed a desire to be buried near St. George's Cathedral, and his remains repose in a vault under that edifice. Sir Charles Bagot, a nephew by marriage of the Duke of Wellington, was the next vice-regal occupant of "Alvington". Early in November, 1842, Sir Charles was stricken with illness and died the following May, his body being conveyed to England for burial. Sir Charles Metcalfe, afterwards Lord Metcalfe succeeded Sir Charles Bagot as governor. During the time he occupied the office of governor there was great turmoil in the legislature. The removal of the seat of government to Montreal in 1844 relieved Kingston of being the death place of a third governor for Lord Metcalfe did not long survive a malady from which he had suffered before coming from England.

"LINE SQUALL" TO BE GUARDED AGAINST

Valentine, Nov. 26.—(By Canadian Press.)—It is mounted on billboard-sweep prairies during the winter for information on the dreaded "line squall."

The "line squall," one of which ended the career of the dirigible "Shenandoah" Nov. 28, 1931, is a very rare and is one of the most treacherous atmospheric conditions for aviation. It is usually a squall or thunderstorm of long front and little breadth.

Champions of Canada

Champion revolver shots of all police teams in Canada is the proud distinction won by Canadian Pacific Railway team No. 1, of Ontario, who shot it out with crack teams recently making a total of 1412 points out of a possible 1500. E. W. Deady, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is shown in the photograph presenting the open championship revolver cup.

The Dominion championship and the provincial championship trophies to Constable W. E. Tingman, captain of the C. P. R. Police team No. 1 of Ontario, who are winners of all these prizes. Horace C. Grant, general superintendent for the railway in the Ontario district, is standing in the background. The presentation was made at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto.
